Paramount To Judge Beauty Contestants

Yoder Receives Letter
From Director of Studio
Publicity Offering Services

Jim Yoder, editor of the Gem of the Mountains, today received a letter from Terry DeLapp, director of studio publicity for Paramount Pictures, Inc., offering their services as judges in the "most beautiful coed" contest which is to be a feature of the 1938 Gem.

Editor Yoder has already made plans for each women's group on the campus to choose its most beautiful representative sometime this week. The contest pictures of the entries are to be taken next week.

Paramount's annual college picture—this year entitled "College Swing"—is now in production. The cast includes such celebrities as Martha Raye, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Bob Hope, Ben Blue, Edward Everett Horton, Betty Grable, and Jackie Coogan. The point of the offer, as stated in the letter, is not one which will put the contest on a movie career basis, but the offer of a qualified trio of experts to pick the winners strictly on the basis of beauty.

New Award Given By Ag Engineers

Beginning this year, an award will be presented annually to the most active agricultural engineer, announced Bob Linkhart, president of the Ag engineers, at the Agricultural Engineers meeting Wednesday. He also outlined the qualifications that would be made the basis of selection.

After a group discussion, Bob Linkhart and Ben Humphrey were selected to represent the agricultural engineers on the Associated Engineers council. Tentative plans for an agricultural engineers' social were also made.

Botany Professor Sails for Europe

Dr. Floyd W. Gail, head of the botany department, left Thursday morning for an European tour. He will spend one day in Chicago, one in New York, then sail for Germany and France. Italy and Sweden will be included in his tour, where he will observe scientific work. Mrs. Gail will not accompany her husband, but instead will visit friends and relatives in Nebraska and California.

Dr. R. F. Daubenmire, assistant professor for two years, has temporarily replaced Doctor Gail as head of the department.

Fort Hall was the principal point where travellers reloaded for the long trip down the Snake to the Columbia.

Miners Complete Dance Plans; Guarantee 500 Bucks to All

With a guarantee of a 500-bucks' return, the miners made final preparations for their annual Miners ball, Saturday, by a concerted ticket sale campaign conducted in the main entrance of the Administration building yesterday. Dance will be held in the Women's gym.

Similar to decorations last year, tables with sawdust under them will surround the dance floor. For individual parties, tables will be reserved. Colored floor lights and stringers overhead with the long bar for the "hard lickers" at one end will

Montana Sparkplugs

PICTURED ABOVE are four of Coach "Jiggs" Dahlberg's University of Montana Grizzly basketball stars. Jim Seylor, junior, holds down the pivot position. He is a junior, stands six feet two inches. Joe Mariana, also a junior, is from Miles city, Montana. He is the smallest man on the Grizzly squad, standing only five feet six inches. He plays in the forward position. Ty Robinson, six feet and one inch tall, spells off Jim Seylor in the center position. He is playing in his senior year. Dale Galles, five feet and 10 inches tall, is a promising sophomore on the Grizzly team. He was handicapped earlier in the season by a broken bone in his foot, but since then has showed plenty of promise. Bill Lazetich, Montana's high scoring ace, is not in the picture. Coach Dahlberg's entire varsity squad is recruited from the state of Montana.

Argonaut Notice

All Argonauts who have served on the editorial staff of the paper for five semesters should turn in their names to William Ash, editor, as soon as possible, it was announced last night.

According to the ASUI constitution, students who have served five semesters on the staff are eligible to receive an Argonaut award approved by the ASUI executive board.

Play Postponed Until Feb. 25

Conflicting Events Force Delay of "The Merchant of Venice"

Because of conflicting events scheduled for February 11 and 12, the presentation of the Shakespearian drama, "The Merchant of Venice" will be postponed until February 25 and 26, Miss Jean Collette, head of the dramatics department and directors of the forthcoming production, has announced.

To enable all students to attend both basketball games and play, it was necessary to change the date of the play so as not to conflict with the Oregon games, February 11 and 12.

On February 18 and 19 a theatre conference will be held in Seattle. Both Miss Collette and John F. Sollers, dramatic instructor and scenic artist, plan to attend.

The two weeks' respite from presentation will enable the actors to add all the finishing touches to their interpretation.

Halversen Speaks To Ag Members

Dr. William V. Halversen, university bacteriology department head, spoke before 40 members of the college of agriculture at their monthly luncheon meeting yesterday at the Student Union building. Trends in the life span of the average American was the topic upon which he spoke.

Pointed out with aid of chart and graphs was how the average age has lengthened since scientific methods have been available.

"The average length of life has increased materially," declared Dr. Halversen. "About 100 years ago the average length of life was from 25 to 75 years. At the present time average length of life for men is 59, for women, 63."

He also indicated that it should be understood that the economic status of individuals has lengthened the life span.

There has been a reduction in our mortality which has been largely brought about by elimination of epidemics and other menaces, the speaker said.

Rifle Team Seeks Frosh Helpers For Target Work

The university rifle team needs help in operating targets on rifle range. Firing in their first telegraphic match and commencing the Ninth Corps area match this week, the riflemen have been seriously handicapped by having to regulate their own targets, Capt. Edwin Waters, rifle coach, asserted today.

To cooperate with the team, the military department has offered credit for the work. To any freshman who works in the rifle pit from 2:30 o'clock until 5 o'clock on week-day afternoons, or for the same length of time on Saturday mornings, two excused absences are allowed.

"In other schools such an invitation brings throngs offering their assistance," declared Captain Waters. "Here, it fails to bring any kind of a response."

Freshmen wishing to take advantage of this two-fold opportunity to jointly help the team and themselves must: first, notify their military instructor before the excused absences; no more than two absences will be granted to the same man; and such excuses do not apply to outside drill, nor to the fourth hour Thursdays.

Volunteers are requested to report to Sergeant Morgan on the armory rifle range.

OPTICIANS RECEIVE HISTORY PAINTINGS

A new series of optical history paintings has just been received from the Bausch and Lomb Optical company, Rochester, N.Y.

According to Dean D. S. Jeffers, school of forestry, who obtained these reproductions, they will be hung in the science laboratory although the subjects are suitable for any classroom or library.

Included in this group are: the pictures of Alhazen, an Arabian mathematician; one of Christian Huygens, the Dutch astronomer and physicist; and that of Fraunhofer, the brilliant young physicist.

New Harmonica Band Will Make An Appearance Soon

A re-organized harmonica swing band will soon make its appearance, according to an announcement by Floyd Trueblood, the new director.

The band will meet every Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Women's gymnasium. Enlisted at the next meeting will be new players for the spring semester, according to Mr. Trueblood. He warns that this is the last chance for ambitious harmonica tooters to get a berth in the organization.

Roll Nears 2600, Say Last Reports

Second semester enrollment was just short of 2600 students Thursday night, according to the last report from the bursar's office. Late registrations still coming in, two weeks more for graduate students to enroll, the figure stood at 2,594 as the office closed.

This figure includes only those students who have paid their fees in full, not those who have filed registration cards.

Among those included in the 2,594 total are certain industrial students and others affiliated with the university not given full student standing. Complete figures to be released from the registrar's office early next week, will indicate the actual number of regularly enrolled students now attending the university.

SKIP TICKETS TO BE SOLD

Tickets for the annual Splinter Skip, sponsored by Mortar Board, will be sold by members of Mortar Board next week, at which time it will be possible to receive programs.

The cost of the tickets will be $1, and the dance will be held in the Student Union building, February 22, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

New Union Building Managerial Plan Announced By President Dale; To Have Recreation Hall Hostess

Separate Polls To Be Used In Next Election

Two separate polling places will be provided for the forthcoming class elections if the formal recommendation of the student-faculty committee is approved by the ASUI executive board, stated Argonaut Editor Bill Ash, member of the committee, after a meeting Tuesday.

The 10-man board, which is composed of an equal number of students and faculty members, has no legislative authority, but hopes to improve matters which come under its attention by making recommendations to the proper authority.

The difficulty encountered in conducting elections makes advisable the erection of an additional polling place, believes the board.

Library Receives Six Volumes Of Science Books

The University of Idaho library has just received a gift of six volumes of old chemical and medical books from the library of the late Albert Anderson, one of the pioneers of the Palouse wheat country.

The gift was made by his daughter, Mrs. Barbara Rice, Moscow.

Like many early westerners, Mr. Anderson was a doctor, school teacher, preacher, and farmer. He was one of the farmers who agitated for and helped secure rural delivery of mail in the Garfield-Palouse section. He was a Civil war veteran and politically an active socialist. He came west in 1881 and died near Palouse in 1914.

The books are of considerable interest from an historical point of view. "The Manual of Chemistry," published in 1830, contains a copper plate engraving of an interior view of a laboratory which is something of a contrast to those of today.

FORESTRY SCOUTS HUNT PROSPECTS

Personal representatives of the forest service from Ogden and Missoula will be on the University of Idaho campus next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. These men, who are seeking future forest service prospects, will hold conferences with the upper division students in the school of forestry.

Pathologist Scans Crop Diseases

Specializing in research, truck crop disease is the main interest of Wallace Virgin, new assistant professor of plant pathology at the University of Idaho. Mr. Virgin recently returned from the University of Wisconsin where he has been working on his doctor's degree in this particular phase of agricultural work.

Mr. Virgin is a 1935 graduate of the University of Idaho. Since that time he has been working in the crop research at Wisconsin. Although he graduated as a major in agronomy, his special interest lies in the crop disease work.

Mr. Virgin is now teaching one class and carrying on crop disease research in cooperation with the university experimental stations.

Out-of-State Cars Must Buy New Licences

Automobile owners whose cars are carrying 1937 out-of-state licenses must secure Idaho 1938 plates upon the expiration dates in the states where they were purchased, according to an announcement by J. L. Balderston, commissioner of law enforcement. Commissioner Balderston called attention especially to the Washington, Oregon, and North Dakota plates which expired December 31. March 31 is the deadline for last year's licenses in Idaho.

Students Flock To Course In Personality

Presence of more than 100 students at the first session of the personality development course made necessary the division into two groups, one to meet at 11 a. m. Tuesday and the other at 4 p.m. Wednesday. President H. C. Dale, Prof. C. W. Chenoweth, Dr. J. W. Barton, Lawrence Chamberlain, and Dr. A. C. Lemon will conduct the courses.

Aims of Course
"Development of an intelligent, self-directing individual who can meet his problems in a wholesome, self-directing way, is our objective," Doctor Lemon explained. "None of us can expect to be made social lions or outstanding successes by going to this class a few times, because the development of personality is a long, slow process."

Students were given a list of suggested discussion topics and asked to express their preference so that the problems of interest could be covered. Also distributed were personality trait tests, whose purpose is to determine in what departments the individual needs help. Individual gradings can be secured from the psychology office, announced Doctor Lemon.

Relations Club Surveys Europe

Political factions, theories of government, racial differences, and economic circumstances constitute the conflicts between the countries of Europe, according to Student Annabel Wetzel, who gave a survey to the International Relations club members Wednesday night.

It was pointed out that the World War was a clash of imperialism, while any war today would result from inability to maintain successful economic systems.

HOWARD ELECTED TO BAR COMMITTEE

Dean Pendleton Howard of the college of law has recently been notified of his appointment as a member of a sub-committee for Idaho acting under the Committee on Cooperation of the section of legal education and admissions to the bar of the American Bar association.

MARSHALL INTERPRETS
Because Dr. C. E. Marshall feels that students are not getting proper interpretation and perspective of daily news, he has offered to lecture on current worldy topics provided his English Constitutional history students come 10 minutes early to the class which meets twice a week.

Robert Robinson to Head Dining Room; Mrs. Mabel Whitehurst To Be Hostess; Kalbus Heads Book Store

In order that the Student Union building may more conveniently and economically serve as a student center, an experienced manager has been appointed to head each of the three main departments in the building. James Kalbus, former general manager, will remain in charge of the book store; newly appointed are Bob Robinson, head of the dining room and fountain service, and Mrs. Mabel Whitehurst, hostess in charge of the recreation and social hall.

Artist To Appear In Feb. Assembly

Public Events Committee
Announces Kayla Mitzel, World Famous Violinist

Kayla Mitzel, one of the world's greatest violinists, will make her appearance on the campus this month, according to Dean J. F. Messenger of the public events committee. Since she returned from an extended tour in Europe only last fall, public demand makes it difficult for her to set an exact date for her performance. Miss Mitzel is one of few feminine violinists who are destined to take a place among the great of all time. She is the acclamation of foremost critics and authorities. She is a Canadian-American of Hungarian and Russian descent; her violin talent has been developed through study under the world's finest masters.

At 16, her first major engagements in America brought critics' enthusiasm rarely accorded a young artist. Following these successes, she was retired from public performance to return to Europe for further preparation. In 1933 came her first regular tour, which included London, Berlin, Amsterdam and The Hague. She was re-engaged in almost every city in which she played.

Washington Athletes Hunt Cougar For New Mascot

Somewhere in the Northwest probably roaming in the wilds at this moment, is a young feline destined to become the mascot ruler of Washington State athletics. The young beast will succeed to the throne lately occupied by "Butch," cougar king of Cougar sports.

Chris Rumberg, student president and captain of last fall's football team, announced that the board of control has decided to go ahead with plans to obtain a new cougar as well as to continue the campaign to build a fine new house for the mascot.

UNIVERSITY FARM GETS NEW HOUSE

Newest and most outstanding addition to the university poultry farm is a newly completed 14x60 foot pedigree breeding house which fills a vital need for breeders of high class poultry. By careful management of departmental funds and sale of the turkey crop, the poultry husbandry department has been able to purchase materials, according to Prof. C. E. Lammman, department head. Labor is by a special group of NYA students under direction of Prof. H. E. Lattig, agricultural education department head and assistant dean of the college of agriculture.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the new managers comes the following statement of policy from University President Harrison C. Dale regarding operation of the Student Union building.

(1) The Student Union is primarily a recreational center for students, providing quarters where both men and women may gather. It is financed jointly by the university and the ASUI. Mrs. Whitehurst is in charge of the social use of the Union. To her all matters affecting the recreational uses of the building, including booking of dances, meetings, should be referred.

Mrs. Whitehurst's appointment comes as an attempt to eliminate the confusion which has arisen regarding the arrangement of parties, meetings, and exchange dances in the building. She will have charge of such student services as matinee dances and dancing lessons, formerly under the direction of the dean of women. An office for the use of the new hostess is being provided by remodeling the women's cloak room in the southeast corner of the old Blue Bucket ball room.

Kalbus will remain unchanged, an informal lodging and meeting place for students living both on and off the campus.

(2) The Student Union houses the offices of the ASUI president, the editor of the Argonaut, the editor of the Gem of the Mountains, the Associated Women students, and the graduate manager. These offices are responsible for the maintenance of their quarters, though general overhead such as light and heat is borne by the university.

(3) The Union contains the Student Book Store, Mr. Kalbus, manager, reporting directly to Floyd Decker, university purchasing agent.

(4) The Union maintains the assembly room (over the old Blue Bucket inn) and the ball room. Scheduling of these rooms is in the hands of Mrs. Whitehurst. Only student organizations or organizations closely affiliated with the university may use either of them.

(5) The Student Union restaurant, commonly known as the Blue Bucket room, will be handled by Mr. Robinson. The restaurant, like the university dining halls, is operated primarily for students. Faculty and visitors to the university, when accompanied by members of the university community, are welcome to eat in the Blue Bucket room.

Mr. Robinson comes to the university from Cook's Nut shop, Spokane, where he has served as manager of the food service department.

Mrs. Whitehurst has served for the past year as hostess in the Ellensburg hotel, Ellensburg, Wash. She has the degree of B.A. from Dennison college and M.A. from Columbia university. Besides serving as hostess at the Union, she will serve as assistant business at Hays hall.

Helmets For Caps; Guns For Diplomas

YOU Northwestern men who are about to substitute the helmet and uniform for the cap and gown should be happy today. Our peace-loving President in his valiant search for the key to peace has asked Congress for 18 new battleships.

Men of Northwestern those battleships are being built for your protection. Those doves of peace insure all of you a safe passage to the war zones of Europe once the conflagration starts. Heaven only knows into how many bits you will be blown once you do arrive.

Our President knows that in this country there is a real business recession. He knows that people are once again tightening their belts and frequenting the breadlines. And so he goes to the root of the difficulty and asks Congress for a billion dollars with which to buy battleships, aeroplanes, and other OFFENSIVE weapons. Mules were significantly not included in the "defense" budget, because the President knows that he has enough jackasses in Washington who will support this "peace" policy.

Our President has been fostering a drive against the monopolistic practices of big business. His spokesmen cry that this is "a war to the end." And the President turns around and secures 18 new battleships, so that the foreign investments of those monopolies can be safeguarded at all costs.

Our President knows that we are in no danger of a foreign invasion. If he thought differently, he would erect anti-aircraft guns and long range cannons in New York harbor. Instead he demands 18 floating fortresses—to carry our defense thousands of miles across the ocean into other people's business.

We haven't fought a defensive war since the Revolution, and we didn't take this country from the Indians by methods of Christian charity. Our President gives every indication that, when that boiling pot of Europe boils over, we are going to be in a position to get burned.

WHY? WHY? WHY?
First there is the argument that we cannot do without our foreign trade. Do you know that the total market which we would lose in case of a European war is just one-third of the "lost market" we ran across in the depression? It would be far better to suffer a severe depression than to suffer a severe war. It cost $25,000 to kill a man in the last massacre; that money would buy a lot of bread for persons thrown out of work through loss of foreign markets.

Then many cry that we must put up a good front, so that other nations will not harm our nationals or seize our foreign investments. As much pride as the United States took in making Japan apologize for the Panay incident, let us remember that aeroplanes in time of war cannot direct their bombs to harm enemies and avoid neutrals. Nor can we deal sanely with nations insanely fighting for their lives. We will either fight on very little provocation, or we will fight only if our country is in danger of invasion. No amount of bluffs will cover up the real attitude of 125,000,000 people. Building 18 new battleships clarifies our position. We will fight at little provocation. Soon that provocation will present itself when we try to maintain the freedom of the seas in times of war.

Preparedness does not prevent war; it breeds war. A national defense measure is all right if it only cases the fears of the uninformed and gives men who would otherwise be on relief something to do.

A national OFFENSE measure is unjustifiable. So are 18 new battleships.—Northwestern Daily.

Dates 'n Doo Dads

Flash! Temporarily, at least, Ronald Parke has passed his Phi Delt pin to Rachel Braxton. We hear he's gonna take it back for a while later on to hang on an initiate. Maybe there's a catch to that—or will it just fasten the pin tighter? (Jarbed words, but clever. Get it? The "catch")! Wow!

There is certainly a conspicuous absence of ATO frosh over in the Bucket these days, isn't there? Guess just a nice, constructive criticism is goin' on over there.

Wonder if Wally McGill's face ever gets red when he meets his ex-wife face to face on the campus. (Just a sudden thought.)

Several people say that the Kappa fireside was a bit too formula to be much fun! (Inside source.)

What on earth has happened to that beautiful romance between Woody Reed 'n Fran Wilson? She's been looking lonesome for a long time now.

P. G. C. club: (people gettin' chummy!) Phil Remaklus 'n Eleanor Redfield, Jack Butler 'n Phyllis Thomas, Stacy Hallberg 'n Jennie Claire Costock. I don't care if you do think this column is lousy and too short today. Can't think of another derved thing—and I'm not gonna try! Goo'bye!

Wonder how Dick Phinney likes St. Maries? You see, Mary K. Nelson took him home with her this last week-end and showed Dick the ol' home burg. Clair Cunningham, one of Mike Ryan's leather lungers, seems to be getting his inspiration from Beatrice Curtiss. Nice gal, Clair. Saw Otto Nelson cuddlin' Betsy in the armory, basement of Memorial gym. Oh, you kid!

Dear Marmaduke,
Don't misunderstand me. I haven't any axe to grind, but I'd certainly like to bury a guillotine in somebody's cranium.

Things used to be O.K. for the musician on this campus before Sigma Nu's own Fran Pierson enrolled at the University of Idaho, but now, since we've gone "big time," our swingsters have received a definite set-back. The whole change in the music set-up at the Blue Bucket has been beautifully screened by publically presenting the situation in a favorable light and emphasizing the obviously advantageous features of the new plan, but until now, the drawbacks have not been mentioned.

I do not contend that an augmented dance band at the Bucket is not, in itself, a desirable thing.

sirable thing, but I do say that in the long run the benefits of the imported panacea are of a dubious nature in regard to the fraternity and sorority dance and the individual musician working his way through school. The group houses will encounter great difficulty in obtaining an orchestra for their chapter dances, and as for Joe Swing, himself, it amounts to a loss of $8 each month.

I hear the Phi Delt's gave fair warning to all competitors the other night that they would be strong contenders for the Song Fest cup this next spring. At exactly 1:00 a.m. Thursday morning they rendered "Does I Love You Truly Keh G. Yeah" with elaborate disharmony and amazing dissonance.

True Confession

From the Bench

Whatever else may happen in the Montana series this week, it seems apparent that the games will not have spectators filing out or nodding in their seats before the final whistle. Complaints about the first Oregon State game last week that it was too dull and too slow will not be repeated after the Grizzly series. Montana doesn't play that kind of basketball.

Proof that Lazetich, Mariana, Saylor, and company's high-speed, wide-open hardwood tactics are dangerous to any team was furnished again Monday when the Grizzlies upset Oregon's title-bound Webfeet. Further proof lies in the detailed plans Coach Twogood is mapping out to hold down the Montana attack.

"They have the ball here" points out "Twogie" in a practice session this week. "Then, WHISH, they're under the basket to shoot."

Instructing offensive team in a scrimmage to polish up the regulars' defense, he added, "Speed! Hurry! Shoot before they get set; from the middle of the floor if you want to."

Montana's system is a crowd-pleasing system, but it is more than that. It has been described as a wide-open style that works fast, takes chances, and depends upon luck. However, a team that can score 58 and 49 points against Oregon on two successive nights is not depending on luck alone. There is plenty

A short session in the gym before practice is all that is necessary to convince one that not all the coaches on the Idaho staff are basketball coaches. The spectacle of Bob Tessier trying a long shot from the side of the floor is nothing less than inspiring. Coach Ted Bank, after vain attempts to convert some mid-court masterpieces, walked off the floor with this comment: "It's a silly game, isn't it—trying to push a ball through a little ring?"

"I AM ONE OF THE MILLIONS WHO PREFER CAMELS" SAYS RALPH GREENLEAF WORLD'S CHAMPION IN POCKET BILLIARDS

FOURTEEN different times the news headlines have flashed: RALPH GREENLEAF WINS WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP. In a special interview during his recent championship play in Philadelphia, Ralph said: "I'd say the most important rule in this game is to have healthy nerves. And on that score, I think, Camels have a lot extra to offer. One of the main reasons why I've stuck to Camel cigarettes for twenty years is—they don't ruffle my nerves."

HE IS COUNTED THE GREATEST POCKET-BILLIARD PLAYER OF ALL TIME. Here Greenleaf executes a difficult massé shot, requiring split-hair accuracy, faultless stroking, and healthy nerves. And the world's two famous masters of the cue—Ralph Greenleaf and the 18.1 balkline billiard champion, Willie Hoppe—are both Camel smokers.

And America as a nation shows the same preference for finer tobaccos that Ralph Greenleaf does!

Faculty-Student Badminton Tourney Planned Here

In an effort to create further interest in badminton on the campus at the University of Idaho, the physical education department announced yesterday that a student-faculty badminton tournament was being planned for March.

The game, already extremely popular in the larger cities throughout the United States and in the British Empire, has been gaining remarkable progress throughout the country. Considered as more exhausting than tennis, it offers an excellent opportunity for the average student to participate in a competitive game from which he can get considerable exercise.

All those interested in entering the tournament are urged to communicate with Glen Jacoby at the athletic office in the Memorial gymnasium so that plans can be formulated immediately.

Swimming Meet Postponed Until Later Date

The Idaho-Washington State swimming meet, slated for this Saturday, has been indefinitely postponed. The Vandal's next meet will be with the powerful University of Washington team at Moscow on February 11.

Coach Tessier's swimmers are working out regularly at the pool, and have come a long way since the start of the season. On the squad are two men new to the team the second semester who are expected to become consistent point winners. Dick Slade, frosh swimmer last year and ineligible during the first semester, swam a dead heat in the Oregon meet. MacBeal, transfer from California who is a prospective halfback on next year's football team, is a specialist in the sprints and dives.

Boxers To Meet Kellogg Club

After a hard evening's work against the Spokane Y.M.C.A. last night, Idaho boxers will take on the Kellogg Athletic club fighters tonight at Kellogg.

Scheduled for the main event are Ernie Jensen vs. Verne Earling, 165 pounds; and Joe Fallini vs. Clyde Geist, 145. Jensen, who makes his initial appearance in the ring tonight, will have his hands full when he tackles Earling, present Seattle Golden Gloves title holder.

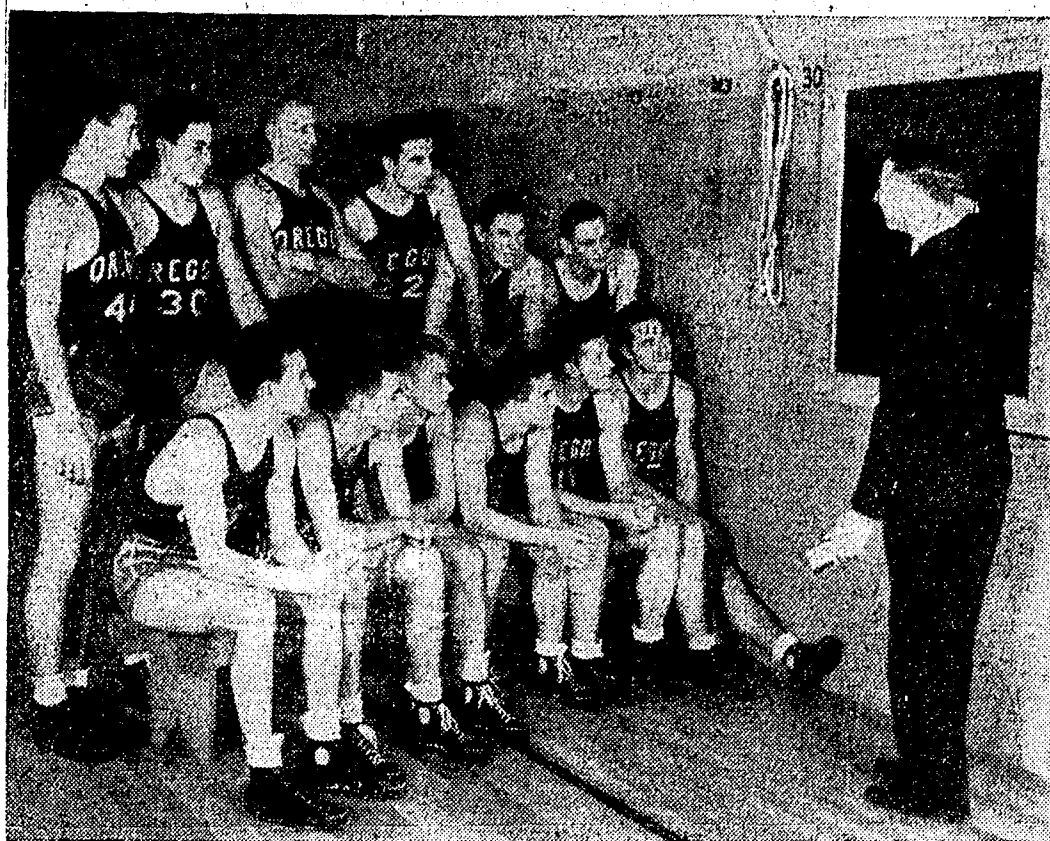

Kara Meets Siler

At 125 pounds, Hank Straub will tangle with Buzz Briggs, one of the best amateurs in his weight in the west. Briggs has reached the semi-finals in tournaments in the East.

Frank Kara will try to keep his undefeated record when he meets Earl Siler at 135 pounds. Idaho's Carl Kierulf will meet Iver Lysing of the K.A.C. at 155 pounds.

Arrangements are almost complete for a match with the Meraloma Athletic club of Vancouver, B. C., to be held at Vancouver March 15, announced Louie August today. The Meraloma club holds the western Canada championship and is in Australia representing Canada in the present British Empire games there.

Coach Louie August Calls For Novices For Tournament

All novice and intramural boxing aspirants are asked by Coach Louie August to begin training as soon as possible. Several hours each week have been reserved for supervised coaching of inexperienced men.

From 4:30 to 5:30 Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons Bud Benoit will have charge of both the novice men and the intramural hopefuls in Memorial gymnasium 108. These men may also train the second and third periods each Monday and Tuesday in the boxing room under Coach August.

Winners of the novice tournament will meet winners of similar tournaments from Montana, Gonzaga, and W. S. C., according to Coach August. The intramural boxing tournament will be held some time in March. Any student not on the freshman or varsity boxing team is eligible in the novice matches.

Unusual lighting effects will characterize the Spur drill which will be given during the half of the Oregon-Idaho game held here on February 12. Work has already been started on the drill with practice on the general principles of drilling. No specific drills have been tried yet, but they have several very interesting ones to present.

It has been the custom of the Spur organization to give at least one drill during the basketball season every year. This year's drill promises to be one of the best yet to be given, according to members of the organization.

U. of I. Boxers Win 3 of 5 Bouts From Spokane 'Y'

The University of Idaho boxing team earned a hard-won 3-2 decision over the Spokane YMCA squad in a fast five-round bout before a packed house at the "Y" in Spokane last night. Louie August coaches the Vandals, while brother Joey August coaches the Spokane club.

In the third round main event, Ted Kara, classy Vandal frosh and former Olympic team captain gave Lloyd Rolph, Spokane, seven pounds and a thorough working over to take a fast decision. In a close, fast semi-final event, Rex Pegg, power punching Idaho frosh, decisively defeated Lyle Pollard, giving the Spokane welterweight plenty of trouble in the second round. Ralph Miller, Idaho varsity captain, decisively Jackie Dolan in the closest bout of the evening.

Mickey Pease, YMCA welter, earned a borderline decision from Joe Fallini of Idaho. Buzz Brown's wild swings were no match for Pete Ceranussa, Vandal 140 pounder, but the Spokane boy was awarded the victory over the visitor. This was an extremely unpopular decision.

Judges were Billy Wilson and Lefty Farnsworth. Walter Wall and Ray Mauro took turns at refereeing.

Grunt and Groan Men Meet Here Next Week

The Idaho wrestling team, coached by Burt Huntington, is rounding out final training for the match to be held with the University of Washington wrestlers February 11.

Although no teams are picked for certain, it is highly probable that Steve Markov will lead the heavyweight class for Washington. Idaho won the two clashes last year, but both are on a fairly even basis this year.

Coach Huntington has stated that team tryouts will be held the latter part of the week. An eight-man representation will be selected from the 25 men now on the squad. Three probable starters for the Vandals are Ober, Sanner, and Pavkov. However, men picked for the squad will be known for certain early next week.

The Huskies may enter several Japanese wrestlers. There are also a number of lettermen returning to their team this year.

American Falls got its name from the fact that a canoe load of Americans came on the falls before they realized it, went over and were drowned.

Robert W. Barnes

one of many tobacco experts who smoke Luckies

"I OFTEN invest $2500 a week in tobacco—$2500 of my own hard-earned cash," says Mr. Barnes. "So you can see that the only way I've stayed in business 10 years is to know tobacco.

"Now I know Lucky Strike tobacco and it's top-grade. That's why I've smoked Luckies for eight years now.

"Lots of other independent buyers, auctioneers, and warehousemen I know smoke Luckies for the same reason."

Yes, sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts like Mr. Barnes, Luckies have over twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.
