

Prime Contributors to 'Time Capsule'

CENTER OF ATTRACTION at yesterday's Semicentennial celebration was J. W. Brigham, 84-year-old Genesee farmer and only living founder of the university. He is the center figure in the above figure, too. He is shown at the assembly in Memorial gymnasium as he deposited his greetings in the copper box or "time capsule," which will not be opened until the occasion for celebrating this institution's 100th birthday.

Infirmary Treats 6,168 Cases During Semester

Measles Top Contagious Diseases; Tuberculosis X-Rays Total 450

Students guessed the number of infirmary cases handled during the first semester to be between 2,000 and 3,000 below the actual figures, it was revealed today by the amazing fact that 6,168 calls were made to the clinic and 1,184 bed cases were handled.

On October 10 116 calls were made—the most calls made in any one day to the infirmary. Tuesday, December 13, found more bed patients than any other day, 27.

"These figures," said Dr. Harold D. Cramer, "show the number of hospital admissions to be more than twice the number of a year ago. Students going to the infirmary before ailments become serious is good preventive medicine and enables us to cut down the number of serious illnesses."

Measles numbered highest in the final count of contagious diseases with five. Two cases of chickenpox, one of lobar pneumonia, and one of tuberculosis were reported. Both the measles and chickenpox cases were treated after Christmas. That fact, Dr. Cramer believed, proved the germs came from students' home towns and not from the campus.

Debaters To Face Opposing Schools During February

Idaho debaters will tangle with Northwest Nazarene college here February 8 on the question, "Pump Priming;" with Brigham Young university here February 11; and with Linfield college at Linfield, Ore., February 16, 17, and 18.

At Linfield the debaters will have the choice of debating on "Pump Priming" or "United States Isolation." The individual debaters may, if they wish, enter the extemporaneous, after-dinner, and oratorical speaking contests.

Chenoweth Writes For Ed. Journal

Appearing in the January issue of the Social Frontier, the journal of educational criticism and reconstruction which serves as the medium of expression of the John Dewey society for the study of education and culture, is an article by Prof. C. W. Chenoweth, head of the University of Idaho's philosophy department. The Dewey society is one of the organizations identified with Columbia university, New York City.

In his article, entitled "Undemocratic Myths," Professor Chenoweth discusses many phases of the development and functions of democracy; what it is and what it isn't. He views democracy more as a personal achievement than a social gift.

This article is the first of a series Professor Chenoweth is writing for this magazine on the educational aspects of existing governmental and cultural institutions.

Air Show Spotlights Peaks In U.'s Glamorous Past

Packing the auditorium stage, over 100 actors, speakers, and musicians, recruited from the student body and faculty, broadcast an exciting 30 minutes of Idaho history and Semicentennial rejoicing last night from 7:30 to 8 o'clock over five radio stations of Idaho and eastern Washington.

Crooks Wins Poll Of Radio Tenors

Richard Crooks, tenor scheduled to appear in Moscow March 6 under sponsorship of the Community Concert association, was selected as the most popular tenor of classic repertoire in a recent radio poll.

Community Concert association members were reminded today by Prof. Archie N. Jones, Moscow association president, that the date for appearance of Mr. Crooks has been changed from February 27 to March 6. This has been necessitated by the fact that Mr. Crooks will leave for an European tour a week earlier than was originally planned.

The singer will fill a number of engagements on the west coast before leaving for Europe. Crooks' career is typically American. As a boy soprano in his native Trenton, N. J., he worked hard to provide himself with means for the serious study of voice. He first sang from the concert platform when only 10. He joined the 626th Aero Squadron when the United States entered the World war.

Kenworthy Names Election Date

Assembly Meets Feb. 9 To Nominate Officers And Board Man

Candidates for second semester offices may be nominated at the regular nominating assembly to be held February 9, according to Max Kenworthy, ASUI president.

"The student body constitution," said Kenworthy, "provides that this assembly be held each semester to accept nominations from the floor. Candidates may either be named there or by a petition, handed to the president of the ASUI within 48 hours after the assembly. Only petitions presented by recognized party leaders will be accepted. With approval of the nomination by the election board, the candidate's name is placed on the ballot."

Prichard To Talk On 'Surrealism' At ATD Meeting

Prof. T. J. Prichard, head of the art department, will be given to members of Alpha Theta Delta, men's contemporary thought honorary, at the organization's February meeting, President Rod Hearn said yesterday.

That the quest for six blondes and a piano player has been successful was assertion today of Miss Jean Collette, director of the next ASUI play, "Idiot's Delight." Announcement of the complete cast will be made Friday.

SOMEONE SAID that everything went off smoothly in connection with the Semicentennial celebration yesterday — except for one thing. That was the fact that, while they were at it, it wouldn't have been a bad idea to have sealed some of the faculty and a few of the campus' student big shots in the "time capsule."

YOU CAN'T ACTUALLY give this college's student body credit for much real school spirit. They don't know the songs. They don't know the yells—or else they won't give vent to them. They don't know the faculty members or administrators. They know but few of their fellow students. They seldom cheer as loudly or as earnestly as Moscow high school at an athletic contest.

What can we, as students, do to revive the touch of personal friendship, the common tie of cooperative interest and participation in the University of Idaho and the programs which it carries out? How can we mould students who, in later years, will proudly proclaim:

"I am a graduate of the University of Idaho. Did you see where our alumni association has just raised $75,000 to help our football team beat W.S.C.?"

Just a small caution along those lines of rosy non-realities might be the revival of student-faculty assemblies. Not assemblies at night to which there is a charge and which students can't be persuaded to attend unless hounded by incredible ballyhoo—but daytime assemblies.

No, the answer to that is, from faculty and administrators: "Such assemblies would cut into class work too much."

Perhaps, but such assemblies would often be worth a thousand-fold what educational advantages some hour periods produce. They might put a bit of spirit in the old joint again. True, the powers-that-be are against daytime assemblies, but let's have a change.

It wouldn't be necessary to excuse classes for the assembly hour. The talent session could be held at a different hour each week, so that those who were unable to see the show one week because of a conflict with a class would still be able to see the following week's program.

This campus is packed with talent—but most of it has to be unearthed. Diamonds lie in the rough. Prof. Archie Jones, one of Idaho's most progressive faculty members, would be willing—even glad, in fact—to do the mining and polish the gems if he had some student organization, or a student body, backing him. He knows the talent exists among students and faculty, would be happy to take charge of discovering it, if he just had the means of displaying it to the rest of the students. In short, the regents, the academic council, or whatever body would be the proper one for such an action, should grant time for week-day, daytime assemblies.

ASSEMBLY ASHES: 20 years ago ASUI President Max Kenworthy's job was filled by E. C. Rettig. Today Mr. Rettig is president of the Idaho alumni association. Just an indication of future possibilities for men who, as students, are interested in the university they are attending.

RUDIMENT OF RUDENESS: It does seem queer that, once in 50 years, students of this university couldn't remain in their seats long enough for faculty speakers and administration notables to complete their assembly program. That premature exit of youth and adult before yesterday's assembly had been completed lacked the courtesy note that should have been extended to those in charge.

Music Masters Get Scholastic Awards; Give Operatic Bits

University Singers will present excerpts from "Faust" and "Carmen" in the spring; no musical recital will be presented Wednesday; and winners of second semester music scholarships will be named Friday, according to a triple-purpose announcement made yesterday by Prof. Archie N. Jones, head of the music department.

Work on the spring song program will begin soon," he explained. Scores for "Faust" and "Carmen" are now available at campus bookstores.

Idaho, Beaten 25-15 Last Night By Gonzaga, Will Try Again

Zags Check Idaho Second Team Closely; W. S. C.-Idaho Struggle Recounted

Perhaps disheartened, but determined to avenge themselves, the Idaho court squad has a licking in store here tonight for a surprising Gonzaga basketball team that beat the Vandals 25 to 15 in Spokane last night.

Idaho dropped its fifth conference game Saturday night to W.S.C. in Pullman, 44-27. The Idaho men had previously checked the Staters, 28-17, here.

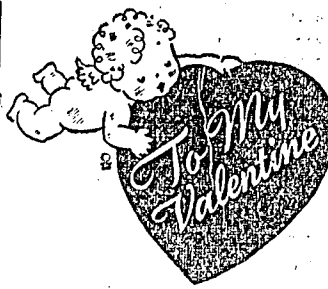

W.S.C. Frosh Beat Vandal Babes

In a preliminary to the varsity game Saturday night, the Vandal Babes lost their second straight game to the Cougar kittens by a score of 31 to 25. The game, in contrast to the 45-35 score of their previous tilt, was more of a defensive battle between the two yearling squads. Idaho's youngsters showed marked improvement in their defensive tactics compared to previous games.

Half-time score was 12 to 8 with the Cougar frosh leading the Vandal hoopers.

High scoring went to two of the State freshmen—Gebert and Atkins, who scored 11 points apiece to ring up 22 of their team's 35 points. Kenny Lynk headed the scoring column for the Idaho freshmen with 7 points.

SPORTS STAFF TO MEET

An important meeting of the Argonaut sports staff has been set for 5 p. m., Wednesday, February 1. All sports writers must be present if they expect to continue on the staff during the second semester. Meeting place was announced as The Argonaut office.

Ski Club Members Take Trials

Tests of the speed and ability of University of Idaho Ski club members were made Saturday afternoon when timed trials over a short slalom course on Moscow mountain were held. The tests will be considered in selection of a team to go to Wallace next week-end to participate in a triangular meet with the Idaho Ski club of Wallace and Washington State's team.

First place went to Hans Winbauer, who had a single run of 19 seconds and a two-run total of 41 seconds. Second place went to Jim Johnstone with a total of 44 seconds. Others who placed and their times were: Austin Helmers, 45 seconds; Dick Bingham, 48; Ron Lambert, 60; Bob Bonomi and Jack Love, 63; S. Gilbert, 64, and Bob Murray, 74 seconds.

About 35 skiers made the trip to an open slope on the north side of Moscow mountain.

Boxers To Meet Cougars in Bout For Second Try

Vandal varsity boxers have started intensive training in preparation for their fights with W.S.C. at Pullman, February 10. The eight-bout card will find the Vandals seeking a second win from the Cougars. They downed them 6-2 here December 9. Cougar boxers have vowed to get revenge but Idaho's fighters are still favorites to repeat their earlier shellacking.

Idaho Coach Louie August, now the father of a three-day old son, will have the full team back this semester with the exception of Hank Straub, veteran 122-pounder. Straub was forced to leave school because of unexpected financial difficulties. Ted Kara and Karl Killian, as well as the others, are working hard and will show their opponents plenty of anxious moments, according to the Vandal mentor.

As yet, opponents for the Idaho men have not been determined, but the heavyweight bout should find Vandal blonde bomber Karl Killian mixing it with Louie Allen of W.S.C. In their fight here Allen won by a technical knockout, when the referee stopped the fight because Killian had received a cut over his eye when the frightened Cougar butted him with his head.

High School Foes Meet Tonight

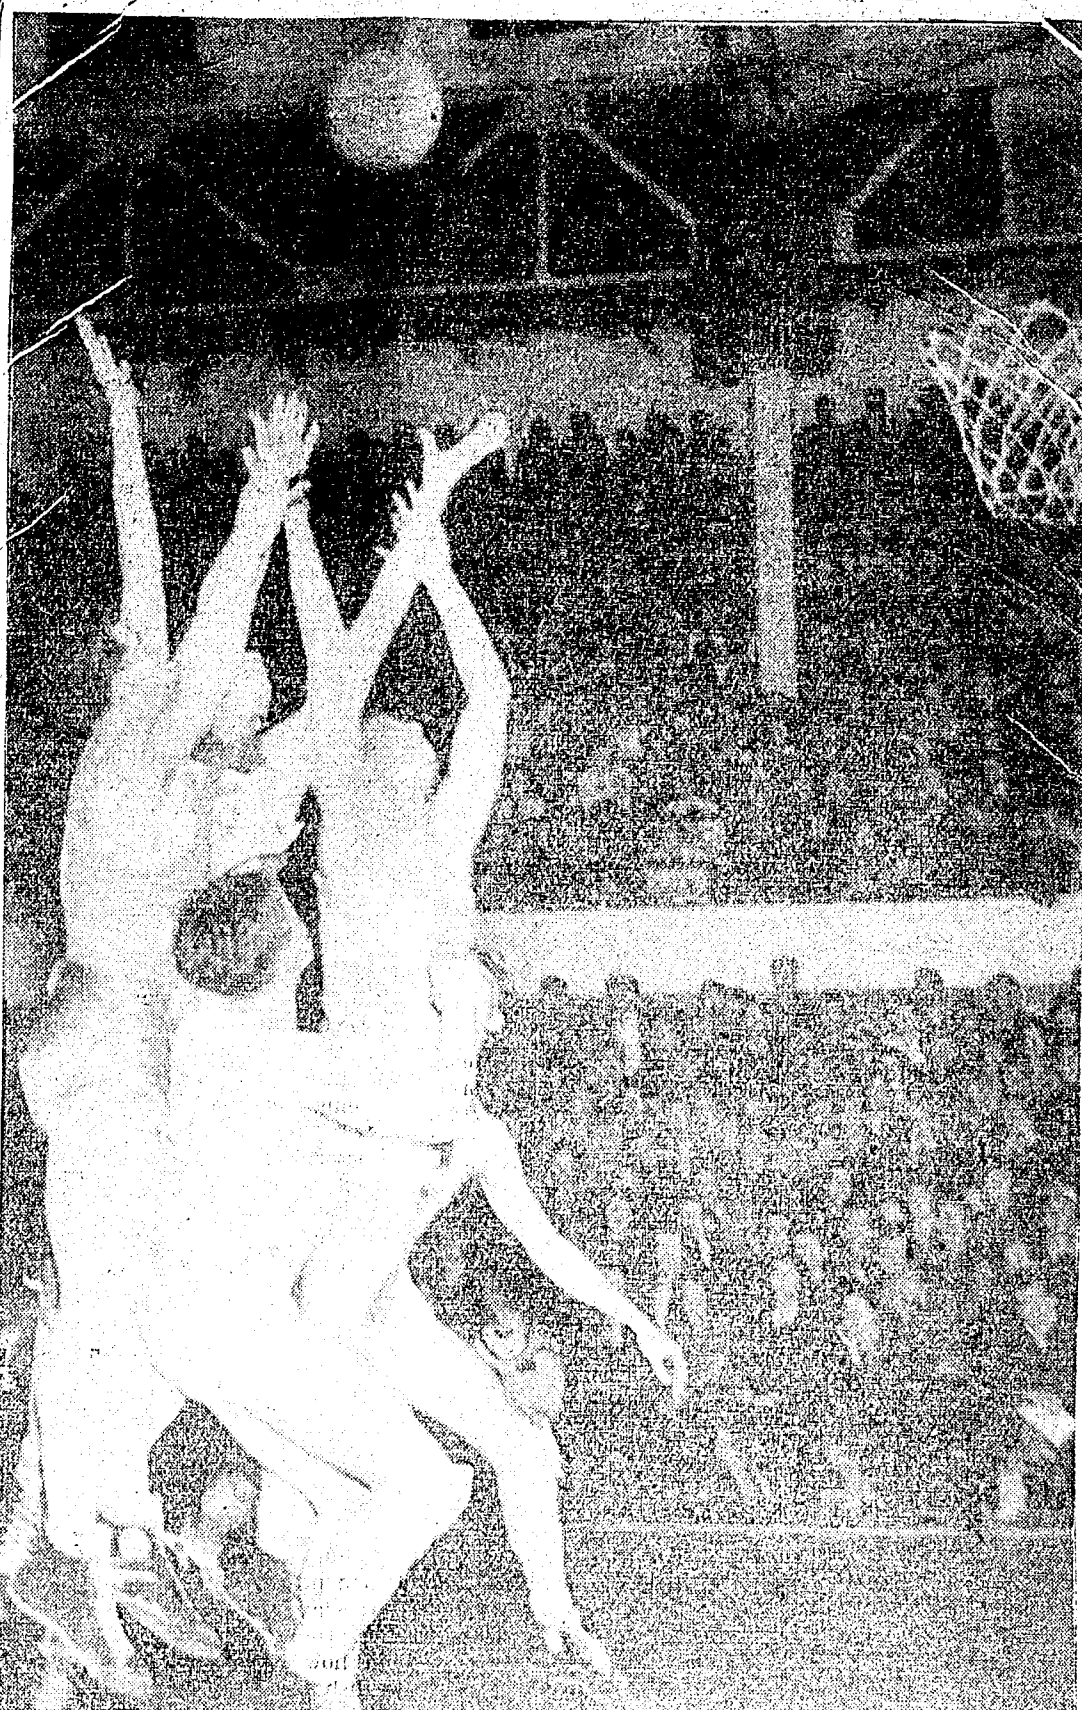

When the Gonzaga Bullpups and the Idaho frosh meet tonight, seven men on the two teams will have played against each other in North Idaho high school basketball. For the Vandal freshmen, Jimmy Foster, Coeur d'Alene; Earl Wheeler, Mullan; Elmer Jordan, Bonners Ferry; and Charles Cook, St. Maries, have played ball in the Panhandle conference during the past few years.

On the Gonzaga freshmen basketball roster are three more men who have played in the Panhandle conference. Wayne Yager and Quinton Larson are former Priest River stars, and Bill Bopp from Sandpoint, was voted the most inspirational player in last year's tournament.

Coach August Contributes Future Mittman

Boxing Coach Louie August made plans last Sunday to include a new "August" in the Idaho mitt team lineup during the 1949-50 campaign when it was announced that Mrs. August had presented the Vandal

Idaho Places Three Scorers Among High Basketeers

Although having played two less games than other leaders, three Idaho men have placed in the first 10 in the race for high scoring honors in the northern division of the Pacific coast conference including Saturday night's games.

Brenden Barrett, ball-hawking ace for the Vandals, topped the Twogood men for scores with a total of 49 to his credit and sixth position in the rankings. Ronnie Harris with 40 digits followed his teammate, and Steve Belko trailed Harris in the eighth slot. Other Idaho courtmen to break into the first 25 scorers was Lyle Smith who rested in the No. 18 post.

In the six games Barrett has played to date, he has averaged eight and one-sixth points. Continuation of the same rate in finding the hoop should ultimately put him in the third position in the northern division race for honors.

Wrestlers Await Opening Match

Captain Mike Nelson has been whipping his Vandal matmen into condition since the first of the season, getting them ready for their opening match to be held against the W.S.C. grapplers on February 11.

On February 18 the team will travel to Seattle to meet the University of Washington matmen. After the Washington meet the Vandal wrestlers will enter the Minor Sports carnival at Pullman on March 11. This year's team is being built around four returning lettermen: "Bull" Macy, Dennis Hess, Dale Sanner, and Mike Nelson. Babe Caccia, southern branch transfer, is also showing promise, according to the team captain.

Leading men in the 118-pound class are Herman Koppes and James Clack; for the 128-pound class, Buhl Sutton and Vern Kidwell. Bull Macy and George Olmstead are leading candidates for the 135-pound division, while Dennis Hess has a chance on the 148-pound berth. Captain Nelson and Burton Atkins are leading the 155-pound division. At 165 pound, either Voito Luukkonen or Paul Edperson will get the starting call. Babe Caccia and Ray Judge lead the 175 pound division and Dale Sanner and Tom Johnson top the heavyweight group.

Track Training Officially Begins Wednesday; Will Travel

Wednesday has been set as the day for the start of intensive track training for Vandal trackmen, Coach Mike Ryan announced this morning. Ryan also announced that Wednesday would be the final day for men interested in track to draw their equipment.

The Idaho Coach pointed out his reason for the deadline being a measure of fairness to men on the squad both from a competitive and healthful point of view. With a heavy schedule facing the Vandals, men will have to attain a condition near perfect to compete in a long list of meets ranging from Fresno, Calif., to Vancouver, B. C. If a man is not in physical shape for the meets he may experience ill effects with little or no training, according to the coach.

Only 10 days after the Vandals start their heavy training they will step into the first time trial.

With the present weather prevailing, Ryan is sending some of his distance men into the open to limber up their legs by running over the dry campus streets and roads. All time trials, however, will be held on the gymnasium floor.

Ski Run to North of City Opens to Public

A new 2,000 foot ski run located about 37 miles from Moscow has recently been opened to the public by the U. S. forest service.

According to Forest Ranger Ed F. Helmers, the course is easily reached by good roads. Students driving to the run should take Highway 95 to Potlatch, turn east on 95E through Harvard. Signs direct the skiers.

Because workmen are still applying finishing touches to the course, it will be open only on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays.

W. A. A. Nominates For Elections

Senior members of the Women's Athletic association composing a nominating committee submitted nominees for the coming election to be held Tuesday, February 14.

Those nominated for president are Mary Harvey and Virginia Calloway; corresponding secretary, Evelyn Quinn, and Betty Bowman; recording secretary, Mary Gauss and Lucille Harrison; and treasurer, Elsie Mae Stokesberry. Further nominations may be made from the floor at the time of elections.

The position of vice president will be filled by the woman having the next highest number of votes in the position of president.

At the next general meeting, after elections, a report on the revision of the point system will be given by Evelyn Williams, who is chairman of the point revision committee. Those working in connection with this committee are Anne Little and Maria Raphael.

Action will also be taken upon the playday with Washington State college and Lewiston State Normal. The tentative date for the affair has been set as February 25.

Women's mid-year rushing program, previously arranged by members of Panhellenic, has been changed due to the Semicentennial dance and the President's ball which interfered with the fireside planned by Alpha Chi Omega for last night.

All other rush parties will be held as planned with the exception of the Alpha Chi fireside, now scheduled for Friday evening. This sets silence restrictions until Saturday noon. Formal dinners will now be held Saturday instead of Friday night, as planned.

Women rushees will receive notice from the dean of women's office as to when it will be necessary to fill out preference blanks Saturday morning.

Notables Enjoy Hays Lunch

An unprecedented aggregation of university royalty assembled yesterday afternoon when members of the board of regents, honored guests, and participants at the morning's semicentennial exercises in Memorial gymnasium were entertained at a 3 o'clock luncheon in Hays hall.

Attending were J. W. Brigham of Genesee, the man who introduced the bill in the 15th territorial legislature that established the university; President Harrison C. Dale, present executive of the institution that grew out of the bill; Dean J. G. Eldridge, faculty member since 1901; Dr. Harold L. Axtell, who joined the faculty in 1902; Mrs. E. R. Chrisman; and other individuals who have witnessed the university's growth.

The Groups

Tau Kappa Epsilon entertained George John, Mount Vernon, N. Y.; Ed Vallinsky, New York; Pete Heomevitch, Marble, Minn.; Vern Dawson, and Charles Thiels at Sunday dinner.

Harold P. Flint, grand national secretary of Tau Kappa Epsilon, is a guest of the local chapter.

Mrs. J. Lyle Perickett was a Saturday evening guest of Alpha Tau Omega. Alpha Tau Omega announces the pledging of Cliff Quinn, Boise.

Bud Ingersoll and Gus Folkman, members of Alpha Tau Omega, have returned to the university for the second semester.

Mrs. Ross Stout, Kellogg, was a week-end guest of Beta Theta Pi.

Alma Mater Calls Zoology Instructor To Summer Session

Dr. Ivan Pratt, instructor in the zoology department, has been recalled by his alma mater, University of Wisconsin, Madison, to teach its parasitology courses during the summer school which begins June 24.

Doctor Pratt was granted his Ph.D. degree by that institution only last spring.

He was made a parasitologist in the Wisconsin laboratories during the last years of his work toward the doctor's degree. His doctor's thesis, entitled "Physiological Variations of the Chicken During an Infection by the Protozoan Parastemon, Elmeria Tenella" will appear in a scientific publication soon.

Doctor Pratt did his undergraduate work at the College of Emporia, Emporia, Kans., and took his master's degree at Kansas State college, Manhattan. He came to Idaho last fall to replace Dr. Charles E. Moritz, who was granted a leave of absence to continue zoological studies in France. Doctor Pratt teaches the parasitology courses here as well as the elementary zoology laboratories.

Gamblers Gambol; Whitesel To Play At Muckers' Ball

The Associated Muckers of the University of Idaho announce their Miners' ball to be held in the Women's gymnasium Friday night. Glen Whitesel's orchestra will play.

Those who do not dance may play, according to officers, officials, and directors in charge of the dance. They may play with 500 "bucks" obtained at the door in exchange for their tickets.

40 Workers Begin Tree Removal Job For Campus Drive

The projected new scenic approach to the university campus passed the planning point Saturday when 12 local WPA workers began removing trees at the east end of the quarter-mile right-of-way.

Assigned to the project yesterday were 25 more men. Preliminary work will consist principally of clearing a right-of-way through the upper portion of the thickly-planted forest nursery.

The crew is now busy at the point where the new approach will intersect the North & South highway. If mild weather continues, work should progress rapidly. The men work only five hours a day during good weather. Although the local WPA office is in charge, the project will be carried on in close cooperation with the college of engineering and the university department of buildings and grounds.

W.S.C.'s Best Riflemen Shun Tobacco

Jangled nerves apparently don't bother members of the Washington State college R.O.T. C. rifle squad, for most of them find it unnecessary to seek "relaxation" in smoking.

A survey taken recently by Captain C. D. McNary among 29 members of this year's rifle squad shows that 22, or more than 75 per cent of the squad, are non-smokers. Eighteen men on the squad have never smoked, including four of the first five shots on the squad. Four men have smoked at some time, but forego nicotine now. The other man of the top five is among this latter group.
