

Spring Weather Revives Interest In Colorful Apparel

Well-dressed Men Can Enjoy Shade and Fabric Variety

Balmy spring weather, reaching Moscow a few days earlier than its official arrival on March 21, brought with it a burst of color among the Sixth street strollers. Sports ensembles, seen on the campus last week, ranging from Stan Ritter's green "horseblanket" coat to more sedate one-color jackets, point to a colorful season for the well-dressed man.

Latest models in suits and sport coats feature the increasingly popular three-button single-breasted designs. With the trend toward softer fabrics the full-drape design is made more effective in both double and single breasted models by the addition of a fitted waist and in some suits and sport coats two small pleats in the front.

Sports backs will still hold an important place in the spring styles as evidenced by their continued popularity in the California resorts, said a Moscow dealer. "New sport backs are more of a belted-back modification of the old sport back and are a feature principally embodied in only the two-button, single-breasted models."

Outstanding fabrics in the new models will be covert, tweed, worsted, and cashmere clothes. Plain pastel colors, herring-bone, pin stripe, and check patterns will all be popular.

Slacks for a college town present a wide variety of colors and designs and will be particularly good with plain sport coats in pastel colors. A plain coat should be worn with patterned slacks or plain slacks with a patterned sport coat. Gabardines, coverts, tweeds, and flannels will be popular fabrics in slacks.

The new "in and outer" jackets which can be worn either tucked inside the trousers or outside are one of the latest developments in sportswear. Sport shirts will have open throats and long sport colors. Newest sportswear item is an airplane cloth slipover with ribbed, elastic-knit around the bottom, cuffs, and neck.

Stripes will be predominately popular in dress shirts and neckwear. Shirts will have light backgrounds and darker pin stripes, while ties will be generally darker in both stripe and pattern designs.

Dark and light greens, maroons, grays, and the new teal offer a wide color variety in sweaters. Button front sweaters are swinging back into the style parade, with both light and dark shades and many different patterns. Latest slipover style is the streamlined-cut crew neck, and fishtail sweaters in heavy ribbed and fine woven knits. Sleeveless, vest sweaters and slipovers are stylish in a wide range of colors.

Low-crowned, wide-brimmed blocks generally with narrower ribbons, feature the latest styles in spring hats. Principal colors will be medium shades in greens, grays, and tans.

For spring formal wear natural pigskin and white buck shoes will complete the male wardrobe with cap tip and wing tip styles predominating.

Ensembles Spell 'Shirts & Slacks'

There's a new "must" on your list of clothing needs. This means that you will have a smart new sport shirt and slack ensemble. You will have alternates for both matching wear and combination wear. For you want comfort and style for your informal hours this spring...yes, and on into summer!

How Do They Look? These new sports ensembles were formerly restricted to beach wear, but their natural ease of styling and comfortable appearance soon relegated them to all-sports occasions. While their prime object is comfort, their neat tailoring maintains a "dressed up" appearance.

How Are They Made? Gabardines, sharkskins, rough, finish linens and popular covert make up the most desirable sports fabrics for spring. Light

ROBERT TAYLOR—AND SNYDER

ROBERT SNYDER, king of the Argonaut copy desk, models here a featured suit which was designed by Don Richards of Hollywood, and is called the Santa Anita. A tan tweed fabric with herringbone pattern and a self-stripping effect combine to a smart outfit for day and sports wear. The three-button coat has wide shoulders and full drape, and the high-rise trousers have 19-inch bottoms.

Father (to young son): "When Abe Lincoln was your age, he was making his own living."
Son: "When he was your age, he was president."

linens, rayon mixtures, pongee, crash, and venetians will be big for summer.

These sports outfits are tailored just like your suit. New lines and details are included that add smartness and the desired easy appearance.

Delegates Leave For Indiana

Roper and Skiles Go East for Phi Eta Sigma

New York City this week beckons Vic Skiles and Jack Roper, Idaho's delegates to the national convention of Phi Eta Sigma scholastic honorary. Taking advantage of touring possibilities subsequent to the three-day meet in Bloomington, Ind., they plan to visit Washington, D. C., New York City, Detroit, and Chicago.

Host to the convention, which is a biennial affair, is the University of Indiana. Directing it is Herman Wells, designated in the March Readers' Digest as the "live wire" who is stretching the university campus over the state.

"We're both giving reports and are assigned to committees," explained Roper before leaving Moscow today. "We don't have full instructions yet, so don't know what else is expected of us."

Roper headed for Burley where he will meet Skiles, who left Moscow last Saturday to complete arrangements for the trip. From southern Idaho they will travel by automobile to Bloomington. After the convention they will go to Washington, where Jim Skiles, also a member of Phi Eta Sigma when at Idaho in 1935, later a student at Annapolis Naval academy, and Henry Dworshak, student here last year and son of Idaho's second district congressman, will conduct them to points of interest.

After the nation's capital comes New York and an attempt to "crash" the World's fair three weeks before it opens. Erma Lewis, Idaho '37, now doing graduate work in journalism at Columbia university, has offered to act as "guide" in the city.

Coming back by way of Albany and Niagara falls, they will drive a new car west, stopping two days at Chicago and arriving in Moscow about April 20.

His Brother Rides Toughest Broncs

Grubb Tells Experiences of Champion Rodeo Frater

Idaho may not have many national celebrities among its students, but it does have the brother of one. He is Clarence Grubb, civil engineer from Mackay, whose brother Pete is a world champion bronc rider.

Topping the roughest of cayuses for many years, Pete won world renown for the first time in 1934 when he won the bareback and saddle bronc-riding championship in New York's Madison Square Garden and the saddle bronc-riding in the Boston garden. Two years before he had garnered the Northwest championship in these events at Pendleton. In 1935, 1936, and 1938, he was adjudged the world's champion bareback rider by the Rodeo Association of America.

Both Clarence and Pete learned to ride while living on a cattle ranch in the Pahsimeroi valley near May, Idaho. Although he doesn't straddle the wild ones, Clarence considers horseback riding his favorite recreation.

Contrary to popular belief that buckaroos are careless in their health habits, Clarence said that his brother was subjected to as rigorous a training program as any college athlete.

QUEEN ARDIS

ARDIS SIMPSON (above), will reign as May queen at the annual Mother's day festivities May 13. For the honor she defeated Spokane Smith, Elena Slepcevic, Verla Durant, and Sally Mitchell in the A. W. S. election held last Friday. Rachel Braxton will attend her as maid of honor; Ann Maguire, as page.

'I' Club Completes Plans for Ball

Final plans were near completion this week for the annual "I" club ball, set for April 14, according to Chairman Earl Acuff.

The dance, in tribute to the varsity letter winners of the University of Idaho, will feature a new, enlarged orchestra under the direction of Dean Green, varsity halfback for three seasons.

In addition to the inauguration of Green's new orchestra, the queen of the "I" men will be revealed at the dance, according to Club President Dick Trzuskowski.

The lettermen's choice is presented with a large "I" blanket.

'Ags' Test Patented Fruit Experiments; Results Uncertain

Results of testing over 200 new varieties of fruits—including the patented plants—by the Idaho agricultural experiment station at the university indicate that many of them will be short lived, according to Prof. Leif Verner, head of the horticultural department.

Vacation Slackens Social Activities

Sally Mitchell, Harold Senften, Anne Little, and Dean Klopfer were special guests at the Alpha Chi-Omega initiation dance held last Saturday. "Date night" provided a theme for the dance, and telephones, date books, and other cut-outs adorned the walls. Programs of black and silver metal address books with the crest on the cover, further carried out the idea.

Mrs. John H. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Hagan, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen S. Janssen patronized. Dean Green and his orchestra furnished the music.

Delta Turn Heavenward

Delta Tau Delta entertained Charles Donaldson, Kenneth Garner, Warren Gardner, Robert Harris, Richard Hopkins, Charles Murphy, and John Sewell as guests of honor at the initiation dance Saturday. The rooms were transformed into a sphere with moons, stars and balloons in purple, white, and gold. Blue and gold programs with heavenly symbols on the cover carried out the "moon-dance" idea.

Patronizing were Prof. and Mrs. R. H. Hull, and Mr. John Hale. Chuck McConnell and his orchestra played for the dance.

Thetas Go Japanese

Amid Japanese surroundings created by Japanese lanterns and cherry blossoms, Kappa Alpha Theta upperclassmen entertained guests at its annual upperclassmen formal dinner dance Saturday. Tables were decorated in pink and white candles and pink and white hyacinths afloat in bowls striking a Japanese air to the dinner.

Mrs. Charles F. Chessman and Dr. and Mrs. Allan C. Lemon were patrons and patronesses. Music was furnished by Dick Gardner and his orchestra.

Students Must Obtain Military Uniforms

Since all military students must wear uniforms to outdoor drills which will start immediately after spring vacation, military department officials today announced that all students not having uniforms should report to the supply sergeant and have a uniform issued to them. Sgt. R. L. Meador is in charge of supplies.

Greeks Return From Confab

Rachel Braxtan, Sabey Driggs, and Dean Beatrice Olson returned Sunday evening from a three-day district national Panhellenic convention in Missoula. Recommendations for rushing on the Idaho campus suggested at the meeting will be made public after approval by the local Panhellenic association.

Approximately 200 delegates from universities and colleges in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, and Colorado attended the gathering.

In addition to business meetings, delegates attended luncheons, teas, banquets, and a Panhellenic ball at which members of the group were special guests.

John Harvey and Marian Palmer, Walla Walla, were dinner guests Saturday of Delta Delta. Sunday dinner guests of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were Louise Bowell, Eileen Adair, Helen Banbury and Betty Blake.

Mrs. V. A. Cherrington, Ruth Batt, Margaret Marcus, Helen Ghindeman, Eileen Heath, and Sally Mitchell will leave Thursday for Missoula, Mont., to attend the district convention of Alpha Phi, which will be held March 31 and April 1.

Dean and Mrs. T. S. Kerr and Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Foskett were Sunday dinner guests at the home management house. Women of the home management house entertained friends at a picnic held in their garden last Friday.

Sadie Lisapre and Helen Lusebre of Ellensburg, Madeline Gerry of Pierce, Vivian Hagadone of Plummer were Sunday dinner guests at Hays hall. Week-end guests of Beta Theta Pi were Bill Rankin of Caldwell and Jerry Needham, Reed Sower, and Bill Roodenbaugh of Nampa.

'Wire' Matches Occupy Women Shooters

A total of 482 points out of a possible 500 was turned in by five high members of the women's rifle team in last week's "wire" matches with University of Pennsylvania, University of Ohio, and Cornell university.

Individual scores for the matches were: Mary Alice Grant, 98; Helen Lindsay, 97; Virginia Allyn, 96; Marjorie Lester, 96; Frances McConnell, 95; Evelyn Quinn, 95; Helen Abbott, 94; Beuletta Nordby, 93; and Ruth Keeney, 92.

Idaho Trio Back From Conclave

Representing Idaho's International Relations club, President Jean Cleveland, Ed Johnson, and Boyd Martin, faculty adviser, spent a stimulating week-end at Ellensburg, Wash., with other students of world affairs and leading authorities on the international scene.

The Northwest conference of International Relations clubs met Thursday and Friday on the campus of Central Washington College of Education, conducted round table talks on timely subjects made important by present crises and heard recognized authorities. Miss Cleveland was elected recording secretary of the entire group, representing chapters on leading Northwest campus.

Thursday evening in the upper S.U.B. lounge, the delegates will relay for International Relations members conclusions reached in discussions at Ellensburg. Topics such as "Europe and Internal Security," "Far Eastern Crisis," "Latin - American Relations," "American Foreign Policy"—covered by conferees—afforded excellent chances for exchange of ideas.

Removal of Stop Sign by Souvenir Friend Causes Collision on Delta Chi Corner

"He soars through the air with the impact hurled Kantjas into the air where he turned a complete somersault, landed on his back on the pavement.

With two horseshoes in his pockets, a rabbit foot on his watch chain, and a four-leaf clover in his buttonhole, Kantjas, unhurt, got up, walked over to the Delta Chi lawn, and sat down to "talk it over" with chance spectators.

The sign unfortunately had been removed by some souvenir collector a few days before. The car, driven by Gordon Radford, Kappa Sigma, did not stop, rammed into the bicycle.

Chief of Police E. L. Whitmore said that the removal of a traffic sign is a state offense and subject to a $50 fine.
