

Xmastime Brings Many Parties

Cardinal Key will sponsor a Christmas party for needy children Saturday afternoon, Dec. 16, according to Evelyn Williams, president. Twenty young children from Moscow have been invited. The party will be held at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. Games and refreshments have been planned to add Christmas spirit for the children.

The WAA Christmas party was the scene of traditional holiday festivity last Tuesday in the Women's Gym. Various games were played and much of the time was spent in singing carols.

As a climax to the afternoon's entertainment, candy was passed around and Santa Claus himself made a grand entrance.

The Home Economics club will have a Christmas party Monday at 4 p. m. in the lecture room in the department. Each girl is to bring a handkerchief wrapped as a gift and they will be distributed.

Gladys Epsilil is general chairman, and those assisting are Alberta Burkman, refreshments and games; Ruth Ann Hunter, tree and gifts; Edith Benders, Practice House gift.

Dalda Dau Gamma had a Christmas party Wednesday night. Gifts were exchanged and Alice Bell sang a group of selections.

Dance Will Conclude Boosters Pin Drive After Xmas Holidays

Although pins may be purchased at any time from Inter-collegiate Knights or Spurs, a "Big Drive," in the Junior Vandal Booster pin sale will begin after the Christmas holidays according to Freshman Class President "Bow Wow" Wojtkiewicz.

He announced that a dance will be held at the conclusion of the pin sale in January. Five campus bands will play alternately during the dance and only admittance requirement will be a Booster pin, he said.

Home For Christmas

The idea of "going home for Christmas" has an almost universal appeal. Most students want to go and have a nice picture in their minds of what they will do when they get there. Somehow, though, they never go. "If I can just stretch out and sleep," the student thinks, "and get up when I like and talk to the folks, I'll be satisfied. I've been living too fast up here. I want to settle down and rest, maybe catch up on some of the things I've neglected, but do them leisurely the way they should be done. If I can just sit by the fireplace with the folks and look at the Christmas tree..."

It's a pretty picture, but most students never make it more than that. They don't slow down, don't rest, don't talk to the folks. They change their environment, but not their pace of living. They don't go home for Christmas.

Always their friends are there with ideas for parties and dances and bowls. The ideas sound exciting. The students go. The folks stay home and look at the fire. Maybe the parents have been waiting a long time to see "the kids again." Maybe they wonder what that strange big university so far away is doing to their boys and girls. Maybe they really want to get acquainted with their children again, but they don't get a chance. They don't want to "spoil the kids' good times," so they sit at home and wait for a talk that never comes. Parents almost, by definition, are long-suffering folks.

So "the kids" will have their parties again this Christmas. They will come back to the campus feeling as tired as ever. They still will be as ignorant as ever of themselves because they overlooked an opportunity to judge themselves by the mature, if sometimes narrow, standards of the home town.

They will translate the holiday spirit to mean a "giddy Christmas and a slap-happy New Year." They will never repeat with a wise man, "God protect me from my friends. I can take of my enemies myself."

To Jason:
c/o The Editor

Your column in the last Argonaut seems to have caused quite a stir among the members of Lindley hall. From all reports there has been a committee appointed to get to the bottom of this "TAXI MYSTERY."

I wonder if you or the men at Lindley ever stopped to think that there are telephones in all of the halls on the campus, and that there is such a thing as a practical joke.

I am sorry that some poor, unsuspecting fellow has been accused of this offense, and hope that the committee at the hall solves the mystery. As I understand it, the committee of the hall have appointed their super-sleuth, Ira J., to run down the mysterious culprit.

Will the Lindley Hall members please accept my condolence in view of the fact that I have caused them so much grief. Naturally I cannot sign my full name.

Signed:
My guilty conscience.

To The Editor:

Feeling that such a charge against the fair sex of our campus as that that made by A. V. in the last issue of The Argonaut, should not go uncontroverted, I now take up my pen on behalf of Idaho's blooming womanhood.

It has been my pleasure in that four years that I have been associated with a greater or lesser degree with the social life of the Campus, to have had dates with Idaho women, and to have been acquainted with those whom I feel represent a pretty fair cross section of the women here.

I have never had the misfortune of finding myself out for the evening with the type of woman Lindley ever stopped to think that A. V. so blatantly condemns. I believe they exist but are in the halls on the campus, and that there is such a thing as a practical joke.

The analysis of what is wrong with A. V.'s gripe (and I believe it is purely a gripe) seems to resolve itself into three possibilities. The first two or these three give each other a close run for first place as to probability.

1. He may be in search of first acquaintance—first date—last date petting companions. Now I am not a Mid-Victorian, but if this is the case here's my pat on the back for the gals who failed to give him satisfaction.

2. He may have had only one or two dates since he came to Idaho and happened to go out

Communiqué Comment

"The policy of a fight to the finish is wrong. Over all events there will lie the shadow of Communist Russia—and, possibly, of a Communist Germany." In these words a member of the House of Lords supported the motion of a distinguished Tory nobleman that Britain allow The Netherlands and Belgium to act as mediators and bring the present struggle between Britain and Nazi Germany to an end.

Events have moved swiftly in London in the past week. On Monday the Admiralty reported that a British submarine captain had let the German liner "Bremen" proceed unmolested to a German port because of a somewhat rigid regard for international law. On Tuesday the German Navy Office announced that the "Bremen" was safe in her German haven. On Wednesday headlines of "Why did the Bremen get through?" and "Are we at war or not?" appeared at the top of angry articles in the London dailies.

It is rumored (without confirmation) that there is a rift developing in the War Cabinet. Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax, Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon, and Lord Privy Seal Sir Samuel Hoare do not seem to regard the Munich Pact as a step backward; they may still feel that British-German co-operation for the purpose of a great campaign against Red Russia is the one ideal to work for. If the 52,000-ton "Bremen" gets back to Germany safely, that is no great worry for them. What a pity it would be to destroy a troop transport that may one day steam up Southampton Water to take on board several thousand Tommies for a Baltic or White Sea campaign against the U.S.S.R.!

First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill has already referred to the Germans as "Huns"—using the 1914-1918 terminology. He leads the fire-eating group of younger men in the War Cabinet who are, according to the unconfirmed rumor, tired of the "sit-down war" now being waged against the Reich. Large sections of British public opinion seem to support the Churchill position; but The City (the English Wall street) may be backing up the Chamberlain bloc in the War Cabinet.

with a woman or two who were somewhat of the type he maintains a majority here. If this is true he is making a rank generalization, which is a dangerous and unsound procedure when presenting one's opinions. Such a situation also shows his inability to make people feel at ease and to be the good companion.

3. The last possibility which presents itself may not be quite so strong but nevertheless is too often true. Perhaps A. V. expects his women to be the "men like vacuous" type and to keep the evening's conversation at a high pitch of animosity. Perhaps he hasn't the intellect, and, lacking that, has not attempted to develop the faculty of drawing people out and making them enjoy talking to him.

My opinion is that A. V. should be a little more cautious, not to mention, accurate, in his conclusions and should perhaps even revamp his own obviously inefficient methods of getting along with people.

Cramer Will Attend Health Meeting During Christmas

Dr. Harold Cramer, university physician, plans to attend the annual convention of the American Student Health association to be held in New York city, December 28 and 29. Doctors attending this convention are those interested in student health work.

Dr. Cramer attended the convention last vacation also. He plans to make the trip alone and will go by train.

During vacation the infirmary will be open to students who need medical services. Nurses will be in charge, and the clinic will be open from 10 to 11 a. m. every day. Students needing a doctor may secure the services of a town physician who will be called to the infirmary.

During vacation last year, the nurses were kept busy, although they had no bed patients on Christmas day.

Oregon Girl Pens Letter To Idaho "Smoothie"

"Casanova" gets fan-mail! Gentlemen preferring out-of-state, "bold" lassies, who are 5 feet 1, have deep-blue eyes, dark brown hair (with gold lights in it) and skill at dancing, may apply to "Casanova," 8741, Idaho club.

It started when his friends dedicated a song over the KWSC "Coffee Pot Parade" to the big, slow-speaking, blond, Howard Gardner. Yesterday, he received a letter from a University of Oregon woman saying:

"Have you ever had the urge to write to someone whose name was mentioned on the radio? I have, but never heard an interesting name until this morning, and even though I don't expect to get an answer, I'm taking my life in my hands and carrying out a dare of my roommates to write to you."—And followed an "un-biased" account of a young lady who might rival Idaho women.

Oregonian Majors in Journalism

"Oh, yes—my major is journalism, but I'm beginning to wonder why with the grades my dear prof is handing me—he must have been thwarted in his youth," said the Oregon freshman.

"You know, it is difficult to write this letter this morning. I'm in a 'wise-cracking, wandering mood and really intended to write a prim little letter just for the 'heck' of it. I just happened to think—what if I got the wrong room number and someone else reads this?"

"Casanova" will not be the only recipient of fan-mail. Rumors are that the Idaho club, en masse, is writing Gardner's feminine admirer.

Chief Lauds Gifts Of Freshmen

Generosity of the freshman class, was lauded yesterday by Moscow's Chief of Police, George "Tex" Sheffield. His praise came as a result of the class's intention to turn over the proceeds of the freshman Tea-Toy dance, Saturday, to the police department for distribution among Moscow's needy children.

Concurrent with freshman decision was Sheffield's disclosure that the toys would greatly add to the scarce supply now held for distribution.

Letters Home

from Naive Nan

Dear Mamma: Well, this is Thursday, Mamma, and just think, in six days I will be home and and everything, and gosh, I'll bet all the folks around home will be surprised to see me because, gosh, I've changed a lot and everything, Mamma.

In the first place, I am a lot more sophisticated than I used to be, and that is all because of three rolls which I wear on top of my head and because of the little round bells which I have got on my shoes, I also have got a pair of brown half socks which make me look awful sophisticated and a hat with a big red ribbon on the back which is awful appropriate for this time of the year, because there are bows like that on the wreaths they have in the library and they look awful lovely.

I am happy to inform you, Mamma, that I am going to sing carols with a bunch of girls that live in our hall, and we are going around and bring happiness to sad, lonely faculty members, and people before Christmas. We have been practicing every night, now, and it sounds really awfully nice. I am not singing solo, which is what I usually sing, but something that is harder, because the girl who is practicing us said I was that only one in the bunch that sang it, so you can see it is hard all right.

I think maybe she wants me to sing a solo, too, because she is always practicing me off by myself, and when I get through, she looks at me with the most admiring, sort of far-away-look, Mamma. Anyway, the part I am supposed to sing is called mon-tone.

I am going to an awful nice affair that is being held just for us, freshmen, Mamma, and I am thrilled about it, but I think it will be kind of funny, and because of it, I will have to go downtown, tonight. It is like this, we all have to bring some tea, and then in exchange, they are going to give us each a toy.

There is something else around this university that I think is kind of funny, too, Mamma, and that is something a lot of people have been talking about. You would think that in a place like this with all us cultured people that there would not be any superstitious persons at all, but it isn't true, because I have been hearing about a place that I guess must be haunted because there is a ghost who lives there and he sneaks up and down the creaking stairs and writes awful complicated papers for graduate students.

Refugee Justifies Dictator's Policies In Gov't.; European Aggression

Otto Redlich Claims Versailles Treaty Brought Reich to War

Otto Redlich, chemistry professor at Washington state college and a recent refugee from Austria presented his justification for the Hitler regime in Germany and the recent push for power by the Germans, in an interview last week. Mr. Redlich attended the North Idaho association of chemists last week.

He advances the theory that the treaty of Versailles and unreasonable post war politics in Europe forced the German people to take the step that they have taken. "Last year's events have opened the eyes of the world as to the unfairness of Germany's treatment by the victorious Allies," said Redlich.

"I have not read a single exaggerated report on Central European conditions in America or English newspapers," continued Mr. Redlich. "No report could give an adequate impression of the misery, spiritually and materially, inflicted upon the victims of political, racial, and religious persecutions in Germany and the invaded areas."

He left Austria just ahead of Hitler's troops and spent some months lecturing in the United States.

"Everywhere on my 6,000 miles of lecturing I was delighted by the friendly reception which I received," he said. "I admire very much the magnificent technical achievements, the impressive progress of science, especially in chemistry, and the vivid cultural interests of the United States."

Tomorrow night is the Holy-Day dance, Mamma, and I can go after all, because we do not have to wear a Vandal booster button after all. Well, I will be seeing you, Mamma.

Reporters Select Bell As Year's Top Man

Upon the shoulders of seven Argonaut reporters fell the nearly impossible task this week of selecting Idaho's outstanding athlete for the 1939 calendar year, and after an hour of debate and discussion, La Vern Bell, junior football, track, and wrestling star, came up with the top honors.

Rather than dub the sparkling grid ace as the "outstanding" athlete, the sports scribes would prefer to list him as one of several top notch warriors on the Idaho campus this year. So close were the nine original nominations for the recognition that a second ballot among the top four men was used to select the final winner.

Bell's election as Idaho's "Mr. Big" for this year came as a result of his athletic career coupled with his traits of leadership, aggressiveness, cooperativeness, scholarship, and temperate living habits. As a member of Coach Ted Bank's grid machine, he has consistently worked at the fullback position, earned two varsity awards, will probably garner a third "T" sweater in football next year as well as track.

Track Champion

In track, the curly-haired junior from Burley won the discus throw in the northern division of the Pacific Coast Conference championships last spring and took third place in the shot put among the cream of the Northwest's weight men. As a wrestler last spring he was runner-up for the light heavyweight crown in the northern division, and lost the title only after a fierce overtime battle with a Washington State matman.

Throughout his collegiate career he has maintained a grade average of better than "B." He was a candidate for the junior class presidency this fall and is popular with students and faculty.

Prominent in High School
In high school, Bell served as president of his student body, and ranked 20th in a class of 149 in scholarship. He still holds the record at Burley high school for the longest punt—87 yards. He was a member of the state championship basketball team from that school in 1935.

As a football man he is best known for his sensational 60-yard run for a touchdown against the powerful Utah Aggies last year at Ogden. This year he sparkled again against the same team by setting up the first Idaho touchdown with a 40-yard run from a spinner through the center of the line to the Staters' 7, and

Xmas Tree Heralds Start of Holiday Celebrations

Eighty-four colored lights outlining the big tree in front of the Administration building officially opened the holiday season on the campus Monday. Standard 10-watt lamps in red, yellow, blue, and green are being used for the decoration.

"The tree was first decorated in 1921," Ralph Kennedy, electrician, said. Miss Ferné J. French, dean of women, originated the plan. Until three years ago, we were using only 72 lamps, so I guess the tree has grown some."

Mr. Kennedy explained that the tree is connected with the campus lighting system which is regulated automatically by an astronomical dial. This clock-like device keeps the time of day and the month, and turns the lights on and off accordingly.

Although the yearling boss is anxious to start the season with a victory, he indicated he would try to use his full squad in the first tilt.

Price Whips Men For First Tilt

Freshmen Face Gonzaga Tuesday in First Game of Season

His first game Tuesday evening when the Gonzaga freshmen will come to Moscow, Coach Walt Price turned on the steam last night in an effort to smooth up 80 basketballers who have been turning out nightly. The game is scheduled for 6 p. m.

Price announced a second cut of the squad to take place immediately following the Christmas holidays. The squad will be trimmed to 20.

"If we can smooth up Cliff Benson, I'll have one of the best players I've ever had," Price said yesterday. "Bob Holt, Bill Bergeson, Ray Hoobing, Frank Stanislau, and Vonley Hopkins are some of the best freshman shot artists I've had for a long time."

Although the yearling boss is anxious to start the season with a victory, he indicated he would try to use his full squad in the first tilt.

Course Use Shows New Interest In Golfing

More than 6000 enthusiasts have tramped the fairways and greens of the university golf course in the last year, according to Francis L. James, who designed the course, and now manages it.

Used by faculty and students the course has become increasingly popular since it was opened in 1937, and through those who play on it, is becoming well-known throughout the state.

"We are continually improving the putting greens and fairways," Mr. James said. "Next season we will have additional tees and facilities for practice."

Mr. James, has designed many courses, but this is the first time he has stayed to run one after it was completed.

Martell Represents Idaho Foresters At Portland Meet

Dr. E. R. Martell, assistant dean of the school of forestry, left for Portland Wednesday night to represent the university at two forestry meetings yesterday, today, and tomorrow.

Yesterday he sat in on the hearing of the joint congressional committee on forestry. Senators and representatives in the committee took this way of getting first hand information on forestry problems in the northwest from interested individuals and agencies.

Today and tomorrow Dr. Martell will attend the western forestry and conservation meeting, a general gathering of all federal, state, and private agencies interested in forestry.

Steadiest of steadies—Vern Ravenscroft and Harriet Burkhard!

That original "Rotatin' Kid" is none other than Randy "Hello Sweetie" Wahl. He sticks to one hall tho and takes out first one and then another from Ridenbaugh. What strange powers some men have!

Duly tamed is Dave Fulton! An' the little gal that did it is none other than Marge Gordon. He's a one-girl man now and treadin' the straight and narrow!

One of the sweetest deals is the committee angle Kay Brunger works! Till late hours and during the day she maintains a constant cluster of boys. Lots of coke drinkin' goes along with gettin' up the decorations for the Sophomore Frolic tonite!

Marion "I'm Hard to Get" Longetich keeps stringin' Francis "Patience" Meagher along to keep his jewelry on his vest with, believe it or not, the lofty tale that she came here to get an education. Seems to Dol like Fritz is gettin' the education!

Wondering is Evelyn Costley. Why, oh why doesn't Wayne "Maybe I'm Shy" Tolstest pass his lovely little fraternity pin? Another wondering gal was very surprised this fall to find this same sharp lad had got a new love over the summer after they ended the school year last spring goin' steady. Rather expecting things to start where they left off was Marion "I Know Now" Maier!

Things are really comin' to a sorry pass when the bond brothers lock a fellow in his room so's he can't see his best gal! But they couldn't daunt "Resourceful" Tony Kamelovitz. He dangled an electric cord from his second story window and dropped to the ground like the man on the flyin' trapeeze, to keep his date with "Steady" Kay Jones!

Jerry "I Ain't Bashful" Davidson has asked Stan "Where Am I? Gagon to go steady. Dirty Dol admires that gal—nothing like mere conventionalism will slow her speed!

Well, that little man who wasn't there is back again so Dirty Dol will have to stop for the pause that refreshes. But remember—if you get stewed tonite you'll stew with Dolly Tuesday!

Kellogg Bouts Call Vandal Ringmen

Coach Louie August and a five-man boxing team composed of freshman and varsity fighters, will drive to Kellogg tomorrow to meet the Kellogg YMCA boxers.

Headlining the card will be Jerry Knox, star freshman lightweight last year, who has cinched the varsity 135-pound berth. Knox and Mitchell Muslin, are expected to give the crowd a fine exhibition of scientific boxing. Both boys have had previous experience.

Other bouts:
Otho Holmes, varsity, 155 pounds vs. Art Talman, Kellogg.
Lauré Erickson, varsity, 175 pounds vs. Pete Lannan, Kellogg.
Fred Posey, freshman, 145 pounds vs. Bill Hauser, Kellogg.
Jim Jennings, varsity, 155 pounds vs. Leon Tillbury, Kellogg.
Karl Greif, freshman manager, will also make the trip.

American Society of Civil Engineers presented a motion picture of the Golden Gate bridge at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Sophomores Seek Best House Xmas Decorations

Sophomore sponsored awards will be given each men's and women's house for best Christmas decorations this year, according to Kenneth Scott, sophomore president.

"Two cups will be awarded," Scott stated, "one in the men's division and one in the women's. Mention will be given the runners-up in each case."

Judging, to begin at 5 p. m., Saturday, will be done by T. J. Prichard, associate professor in the art department; John W. Howard, assistant professor of civil engineering, and John Sollers, English instructor.

Students, Alums Plan Holiday Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bank, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tessier and Mr. and Mrs. Gale Mix, will be present at the annual Idaho alumni reunion to be held in Los Angeles, December 28, according to Bill McGowan. Also attending will be Talbot Jennings, former Idahoan, and noted scenario writer. The reunion will be held at Topsy's where Ian Garber and his orchestra are featured.

The management has reserved an entire section for the Idahoans and has made a special rate of $1 for dinner, including cover charge. About 100 alumni and 100 students are expected to attend.

Dirty Dol is gettin' ready to "pucker up" what with the Sophomores plannin' their sneak preview of the ol' mistletoe this afternoon! Rumor fetches the word that the second yearmen will hang the goober sprig lavishly in and around familiar campus haunts.
Seems like datin' hours don't end for Joe "Big Gun" Allegretti at the regular time like they do for the rest of the fellows. He jes' calls for "Sometimes I Wonder" Marion Wayne whenever he feels like it! Bewilderin' is how true is his affection for Marion.
We just can't move fast enuf to keep this "Blond Devil" Bob Söwer in sight. Only last week he was schemin' lil' schemes for a love duo with Betty Lou Meenach, now he moves up the street a block to have a new dream—this time Helen Tibbury!
Limpid eyes and starry love scenes drift through this caloused old heart and it is deeply touched to contemplate those later in the same game intercepting a pass for a 35-yard touchdown jaunt. With the exception of the Montana State game, he played 45 to 58 minutes this year in every Vandal grid game. Harold Durham, the other Idaho fullback, suffered most of the season from a bad knee, which permitted him to play only a few minutes of each game.

Job Taken with Misgivings
Given the job of selecting the "outstanding" Idaho athlete by the Spokane Chronicle, the Argonaut sports staff accepted it with misgivings, realizing that it was virtually impossible to name one man as a standout over others. All honor goes to the selection made because he is undoubtedly one of the top battlers on the campus. At the same time, the staff said, students should realize that others deserve the award, but only one could be selected.
Included among those nominated for the honor were Emory Howard, Ray Smith, Chick Atkinson, Whitey Price, Earl Gregory, Earl Acuff, Dick Slade, and Merle Stoddard.

Vandal Cagemen Meet Montana Grizzly Five This Week-End

Idaho Quintet Swamps Cheney In Fast Game

Riding the crest of the victory wave with three straight wins, University of Idaho's Vandal hoopsters, 11 strong, left last night for Missoula where they meet University of Montana's Grizzlies in a two game series tonight and Saturday night.

Idaho will find much keener competition against the Grizzlies. Coach Jiggs Dahlberg's quintet showed plenty of strength and power Wednesday night in subduing Concordia College, barnstorming Minnesota five, 48 to 42. Ray Greene and Don Sandquist, veterans of last year's Montana team, led the Grizzlies in their offensive drive.

"Montana has a fine ball club with lots of height and speed," Coach Forrest Twogood said yesterday. "They have several veterans from last year and will be plenty tough to beat on their home floor. We will be lucky to get a split with them. The Grizzlies have a reputation of being hard to beat at home."

Idaho Whips Cheney
Gaining momentum early in the first half, University of Idaho's cagemen went on to swamp Cheney Normal 42 to 34 Tuesday night at Cheney in a return game. The victory marked Idaho's fourth win in five games to date this season. Idaho led at the half 19 to 8. The Vandal five continued to show fine offensive form in crushing the Normalites but showed defense weakness in several places.

Roy Ramey, hotter than a firecracker, again led the Vandals with 16 points to be high point man for the evening.

Two Practice Drills
The Vandals have been handicapped with practice this week as they toured to Cheney Tuesday night and have had only two nights of practice prior to the Montana series. Continuing to show power on offense, the Idaho quintet still revealed defense weaknesses against the Cheney five.

The Vandals arrived in Missoula this morning in time for a short workout. Following the game Saturday, Idaho will leave at once and are scheduled to arrive in Moscow Sunday morning.

Those making the Grizzly invasion are Kenny Lynk, Chick Atkinson, Irving Hopkins, Bill English, Merlyn Anderson, Milo Anderson, Jimmy Foster, Roy Ramey, Ronnie Harris, Don Nelson, and Rook Hilton.

Bainbridge Drops Semi-Final Bout

After scoring a second-round knockout in his first fight in the Northwest golden gloves tourney at Seattle, Tommy Bainbridge, Idaho 160-pound southpaw, lost a decision to Len Lowry, Chilliquin, Ore., and was eliminated last Monday night in a semi-final bout. Bainbridge fought on the Vandal freshman team last year, and was being groomed by Coach Louie August for a varsity berth, but a technical ruling made him ineligible.

According to Coach August, who accompanied Bainbridge to Seattle, the decision was unpopular with the crowd, and came as a surprise to August and Bainbridge. "The officials accused Tommy of loafing, but he was to fight twice more the same night, and naturally he did not extend himself. However, I thought he won all three rounds handily," asserted August.

August said Bainbridge was voted the classiest boxer by Seattle newspapermen after his first fight.

more than one player on the first two teams.

Selected for the first team were Clark, Willis Sweet, McBride, Phi Deltis; Johnson, Idaho club; Makela, Lindley hall; Furey, Sigma Chi; and Tronowsky, Kappa Sigma. Second team members were Smith, Lindley hall; Gualco, Chrisman; Schubert, Phi Gamma Delta; Hill, SAE; Lillge, ATO; and Price, Delta Chi.

It would take one person 141 years to complete all of the courses offered by the University of Texas.

Idaho Skiers Drill For Coming Meets In Spring Weather

Lack of snow will not stop Idaho skier's in preparing for the National Intercollegiate ski meet at Sun Valley. Strapping young men around MacLean field with ski poles in their hands jumping around like a group of kangaroos are only preparing for the meet. Such jumping with ski poles strengthen the men's arms and legs for the strenuous task of skiing.

Though the team which will compete for Idaho at Sun Valley has not been chosen, it will be picked from the following men: Phil Conley, Hans Winbaur, Martin Marquard, Phil Remaklus, Jim Johnston, Ellis Sanborn, Dick Bingham, and Ron Lambert, according to Winbaur, coach.

After the Sun Valley meet the team will compete at Wallace, January 20; at Chewelah, Wash., in two meets with WSC; and in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate meet at Mt. Ranier on March 1, 2, and 3.
