"Winter Carnival" formed the setting for the Delta Gamma upperclassmen's dinner dance Saturday evening. A blue revolving ball reflected the indirect lighting while cottony snowballs hung from the ceiling. Tiny figures skiing down miniature slides decorated the walls.

Igloos, snow men, and small skating ponds were used as table centerpieces.

White programs were emblazoned with the Delta Gamma crest and tied with blue cord. Hudson and his orchestra played for dancing.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tessler, Mr. and Mrs. Howard David, and Mrs. E. C. Given.

Grouped together above is the entire roster of the Civil Aeronautics flight training class. Well along in their studies as pilots, several of the group have already soloed.

In Charge of the pilot-training course at Idaho is Prof. Henry F. Gauss, mechanical engineering head, who is standing above, center in the picture.

Musicians will assist Cheer Leaders At Pugilistic Affair

Color will be added to Thursday night's bouts between the Vandals and the San Jose Spartans by peppy music from a part of the military band, and Vandal yells led by Yell King Mitch Hunt and his dukes, announced Coach Louie August today.

The procedure has been adopted by most eastern college teams, and has proved popular, August said. The band will play Idaho songs, and will honor the San Jose boxing team with a California rendition.

Faculty Men Meet Horticulturists

Five members of the Idaho agricultural experiment station staff took prominent parts in the annual meeting of the Idaho State Horticultural association at Payette the first of this week. Pertinent matters connected with the management of industry were explained by the agricultural officials.

Dr. E. C. Blodgett, associate plant pathologist, discussed stone and small fruit diseases in Southern Idaho; Dr. W. E. Shull, entomologist, pointed out control measures for fruit and vegetable insects; Dr. Lief Verner, horticulturist, explained recent developments in thinning apples and peaches; Prof. G. O. Baker, soil technologist, reported on Southern Idaho soils and fertilizers for horticultural crops; and Prof. G. W. Woodbury cited results of experiments in onion seed production.

Dr. C. W. Chenoweth, philosophy department head at the university, was the principle speaker at the annual banquet.

cooperatives named, as the four most important accomplishments of the cooperatives, the social, economic, health, and cultural aid they have brought to members.

"The most important single thing the coops have done is to give social opportunities to the boys who otherwise would be living downtown and would be left out of social functions," said Dr. Tanner.

Praises Proctors and Hostesses.

The financial help of cutting costs so that men in the cooperatives lived for about $150 last year, healthful effect of the better, balanced meals resulting from planned menus, and the cultural benefits of group activities under the direction of proctors and hostesses are other aids pointed out by Dr. Tanner.

"We owe a lot to the fine proctors and hostesses we have had, who have been great aids in our cooperative work," said Dr. Tanner, who praises the students and the work they have done since the co-operatives have been placed in their hands.

Beginning under the direction of Dr. Tanner, the cooperatives at Idaho have grown from one group of 22 men into three organizations housing 560 students and serving food to about 20 more.

During this growth of cooperatives on the Idaho campus the enrollment at the university has increased from 1816 in 1931-32 to 2832 in 1937-38.

Traces History.

First cooperative on the campus was the LDS Institute group, which began in 1932 with 22 men under the direction of Dr. Tanner. The next year Ridenbaugh hall was opened by the university as a men's cooperative, and the LDS group went into consolidation with that group for kitchen facilities. Senior hall was opened by 24 men that year to run as a cooperative.

In 1934-35 an old fraternity house was purchased by the university and opened for use by the cooperatives, who were then able to house 160 and feed 25 more. Construction of the Idaho club followed shortly, and an old sorority house was purchased and opened as the first women's cooperative the next year.

When Willis Sweet hall was built, Lindley hall was turned into a cooperative, Ridenbaugh became a girls' cooperative, and the Campus club was built to give the cooperatives their present capacity of 560 men and women. Present cooperative group houses on the Lindley hall annex; LaVern Bell, Sigma Chi; Ben Spencer, town; and Mitchell Hunt, Willis Sweet hall.

Basketball practice starts tomorrow according to Eleanor Axell, manager.

"There will be five weeks of general practice and two weeks for tournament games. All women are required to get a physical examination from the infirmary unless they have already received a check-up for soccer. Eight practices are required to make a team."

The WAA bulletin board will carry further announcements about basketball. A large turnout is expected.

LDS To Crown Queen At Ball

Crowning of the queen will be the highlight of the annual Green and Gold ball on February 21, which is sponsored by the LDS Mutual association, Doran Peterson, general chairman of the ball, announced today.

The dance, scheduled for the Student Union building, will be open to all students. A floor show will be given during intermission. Committee chairmen include Hal Thatcher, programs; Henry Jenkins, floor show; Nondus Hoge, decorations; Betty Jo Jeppeson, coronation; Goldie Manning, publicity; and Virgil Malmstrom, ball room.

Tickets may be obtained from Harmon Toone, LDS Institute; Lee Merrill, Idaho club; Henry Jenkins, Campus club; Willard Kunz, Lindley hall; Kay Pincock, Sigma Chi; Ben Spencer, town; and Mitchell Hunt, Willis Sweet hall.

Wilde, the student body can be assured that brilliant speakers scheduled to come to Moscow next week for the Religion and Life conference will be able to travel as Idaho students should, not as many Idaho students do.

Every cent dropped into the box will go toward making the week's conferences events of great significance in student life here, conference planners pointed out.

Idaho Boxers Await Thursday Card With San Jose Spartan Roster Lists Coast Champions

Action, and plenty of it, will await boxing fans when Coach Louie August's Vandal mittmen keep their fistic "date" with San Jose State college battlers Thursday night at Memorial gymnasium in what should prove to be the season's stiffest test for the Idaho leather tossers. Gloves will start flying at 8 p. m.

The California pugilists have just returned from a three-month tour of Japan, competing with most of the top-notch Japanese clubs, and are reported to have lost only one dual match, said Coach August.

"The fact that the San Jose Spartans have been fighting regularly since fall, plus their experience, should make them the team to beat in the Pacific Coast tournament this year," continued the Vandal coach.

Kara to Meet Sellers
In one of the main bouts on the star-studded card, Teddy Kara, 1939 national intercollegiate champion, returns to the ring against San Jose's Bill Sellers, who is making the trip in place of Dale Wren. Wren extended Kara in the finals of the Coast tournament last year, but was beat out by Sellers in San Jose's all-school tourney. Kara and Sellers will meet at 127 pounds.

Coach August advises fans to take note of the 175-pound clash between Idaho's aggressive batter, Jack Patterson, and the Spartans' "fighting Slav," Pete Bolich. Bolich is the rough and ready type of boxer, and used this method to decisively whip Truman Torgensen, Wisconsin's national champion last year, said August. August predicts this bout to be the "roof-raiser" of the evening.

Zingale Draws Tough One
Another bout that should prove spectacular is the 155-pound set to between Sammy Zingale, Vandal socker who is fighting out of his normal weight, and Spartan Gene Fisk, veteran fighter who won the all-school tournament this year. Fisk is reported to be a devastating counter-puncher, and intends to way-lay Zingale by that method, August commented.

Captaining the San Jose ring team is 145-pound Bill Bolich, the other half of the Bolich combination, who trades punches with Idaho's Bruce Brooks, up and coming welterweight. Bolich is reported to be one of the best fighters in college, and last year fought a draw with Wisconsin national 155-pound champion, Woody Swancutt. However, August continued, Brooks' superior boxing skill should win for him. Diminutive Mike Folino, Vandal bantamweight, will go up against George Konoshima, Japanese lad who is in his second year on the Spartan squad, and, according to the Vandal coach, will be out to surprise San Jose's 120 pounder. Konoshima reached the finals of the Coast tournament last year.

Idaho's Alex Passie, who has moved up to the heavyweight position, will be dwarfed by San Jose's Don Presley, behemoth Negro who stands 6 feet 4 inches and weighs 230 pounds, but is expected by August to outpoint the Negro giant with speed and superior boxing.

In the 165-pound class, Vandal Laune Erickson will toss leather at San Jose's Jim Kincaid, 6 feet 3 inches and last year's Coast champion at 145 pounds. Kincaid is described by August as a smooth boxer and a crack counter-puncher. Erickson won his first fight for the Vandals at WSC last week.

Only weak spot on the California aggregation is the 135-pound division where San Jose's Chuck Kerwin, last year's coast champion, will be unable to compete. Kerwin is succeeded by Nick Nasimento, inexperienced Portuguese lad who is getting his first shot at college boxing. Idaho's Pete Cenarussa, off and on Vandal boxer, returns to the squad, and judging from workouts is expected to give the Spartan fighter a lesson in fisticuffs.

Idaho To Raid Husky Hangout; Cougars' Long Shots Win

Ten Idaho varsity basketballers will entrain Thursday evening at 5:15 for an invasion of the Washington pavillion at Seattle with a "now-or-never" determination to climb up out of the northern division cellar.

Friday and Saturday evenings in Seattle and the following Friday and Saturday in Moscow, Idaho plays four games in a row with the next-to-cellar Huskies.

Chief item in this week's practice schedule for the Vandals has been tight defense tricks to stop Hec Edmundson's big team. The Husky players, biggest in the school's history, indicate an abrupt change from Washington's former squads of relative lightweights. Bobby Lindh, sensational sophomore, fourth highest league scorer, is Washington's big poison. Washington has won only two games, lost six.

Hilton Stars in Defeat.
In last Saturday's 45 to 37 victory by Washington State over Idaho, the accurate shooting of center Rook Hilton from the foul line drew "egads" from sports writers all over the northwest. He led in total scoring with 13 points, and his consecutive free throw record was boosted to 15 points, putting him in line for an award of some kind or other.

Several times in each half Idaho tied or drew within one point of the fast, accurate Cougars, only to see a shower of long shots swish through the net and make it an uphill game again. Jennings, sizzling hot, completed five out of eight looping shots from near mid-floor, and his teammate Sundquist was almost as hot. Olson and Chase also made pretty shots from the floor.

The Vandals took many chances at Washington State's basket, but could not seem to gauge the last fraction of an inch correctly. Work on retrieving shots off the backboard was better. Atkinson, before going out late in the game on fouls, played an outstanding defensive game. Sundquist of Washington State also left the game via the personal foul route.

Piling into the train Thursday evening with Coach Twogood and Pete Hill, manager, will be Hilton and Nelson, centers; Ramey, Harris, Hopkins, and Anderson, forwards; and English, Atkinson, Lynk, and Foster, guards.

Weight men have started working out in their respective events. With other track event men getting accustomed to the gym boards for the coming relay trials, work is now in full swing.

"Those who have been intending to sign up for the track squad and haven't yet done it should do so soon, for Friday is the absolute deadline," said Coach Ryan.

Idaho's Alex Passie, who has moved up to the heavyweight position, will be dwarfed by San Jose's Don Presley, behemoth Negro who stands 6 feet 4 inches and weighs 230 pounds, but is expected by August to outpoint the Negro giant with speed and superior boxing.

In the 165-pound class, Vandal Laune Erickson will toss leather at San Jose's Jim Kincaid, 6 feet 3 inches and last year's Coast champion at 145 pounds. Kincaid is described by August as a smooth boxer and a crack counter-puncher. Erickson won his first fight for the Vandals at WSC last week.

Only weak spot on the California aggregation is the 135-pound division where San Jose's Chuck Kerwin, last year's coast champion, will be unable to compete. Kerwin is succeeded by Nick Nasimento, inexperienced Portuguese lad who is getting his first shot at college boxing. Idaho's Pete Cenarussa, off and on Vandal boxer, returns to the squad, and judging from workouts is expected to give the Spartan fighter a lesson in fisticuffs.

Maj. Rutledge M. Lawson, now stationed with the United States marines in the Philippine Islands, is expected to arrive here between June 15 and July 1 to take up duties in the department of military science and tactics, according to word received here by Lieut. Col. Charles W. Jones.

Major Lawson will leave the islands about February 17 and will visit in Africa and South America before arriving here.

Freshmen to Play Jaycees Friday

Dissatisfied with their showing Saturday against Washington State freshmen, Coach Walt Price intends to give the Vandal freshmen plenty to do in preparing for their game with Coeur d'Alene Jaycees on the Jaycee's floor, February 9. The team will spend most of its practices on offense and in improving its shooting, which in the last few games has been decidedly off. The freshmen showed in their 39 to 42 defeat at Washington State that they have lots to learn, mainly how to hold a lead after they have it, according to Coach Price. This fault can only be corrected by experience, he said.

The team has missed the services of its rugged center, Fred Quinn, who was hurt in the second Washington State game. Price said he will not be ready for another week or two, probably in time for the next Washington State game.

Lose In Finish
Weakening to a strong finish put on by the Washington State Kittens the freshmen lost a heart-breaking game at Pullman last Saturday night. Hunt, flashy WSC forward, opened the scoring with three magnificent shots from the middle of the court for 6 points. Von Hopkins, speedy Idaho guard, opened Idaho's scoring with a one handed push shot. From then until the end of the half the lead changed several times. Halftime score was 20-all.

In the second half the Vandal freshmen started strong and had a 6-point lead before five minutes had gone by. Hunt and Mahan, Cougar forwards, then took the situation well in hand and began sinking field goals from every direction to put the Kittens in front. Led by Thompson and Hopkins, the Vandal babes tried desperately to overcome the lead in the closing minutes, but they were unsuccessful.

Hunt and Mahan led the Kittens attack with 12 points each. Thompson with six field goals led the Vandals with 12 points, and was followed by Hopkins with 9 points.

the gun, at Moscow in 1939, Idaho and Oregon being tied. Bohman made his; Idaho won by one point.

Free-thrower Hilton stands sixth now, with 68 points. His present string of 15 consecutive free throws completed and many lay-in set-ups piled up the total.

Who Says Team Can't Hit Hoop?

Who says they can't hit the basket? After last weekend's northern division basketball wars, Coach Twogood found two of his Vandals in the select first 10 scorers.

Up in third place is Roy Ramey, whose deftly executed pushes from around the foul line have netted him 77 points. John Dick, Oregon terror who didn't improve his average while in Moscow, leads them all with 95. Probably the most unhappy boy in the conference this week, he missed a free throw last weekend after the final gun had sounded for a battle in which his Oregonians were trailing O.S.C. 27 to 28.

A tie would have meant an overtime period; a loss meant that the Webfets were sunk in their race for top place. The situation reminds Idaho fans vividly of Willis Bohmans free throw after

Free-thrower Hilton stands sixth now, with 68 points. His present string of 15 consecutive free throws completed and many lay-in set-ups piled up the total.

Minor Sportsmen Lose Meet To Huskies

Splashing ahead to make a clean sweep of the swimming events, 48 to 17, the Huskies of Washington went on to capture the entire minor sports program with the Idaho Vandals Friday by grabbing fencing 5 to 4; wrestling 25 to 5; and volleyball by five straight games. Failing to win a single event in the swimming, Idaho broke through the Husky stronghold when Miller threw Kanazawa for the only Idaho wrestling victory.

Dick, Frazier, and Michels led the Idaho foomen in a determined effort to stem the Washington fencing attack before bowing 5 to 4.
