Cave Couple Wins Prize At Prom
Edna Lucille Roberts and Naomi Harshbarger were awarded the prizes for the most unusual costumes at the co-ed prom in the women's gymnasium Wednesday night. They were attired as "cave men".
Strange characters, ranging from those in costumes of former years, to those who attempted to reveal the fashion trend in the future, were Miss Margaret Ritchie and Miss Louise A. Stedman.

Dean To Stretch Sunday Hours For Women
Dean Beatrice Olson has asked those students attending the Idaho-Utah State game at Boise this week-end to leave for Moscow before 3 p. m. Sunday. She emphasized that they drive carefully.
Women students returning to the campus have been granted 11 o'clock permission. All other girls will observe regular Sunday hours.

Women Elect Managers For Leisure Sports
At a Women's Athletic association meeting Tuesday, Vera Neil James was elected recording secretary, Elsie Mae Stokesberry, basketball manager; Merl Delp, baseball manager; Marjorie Cruickshank, rifle manager; and Rachel Swayne, swimming manager.
Practices for the horseshoe tournament will start Monday afternoon behind the Women's gymnasium and will be held from 3 to 4 p. m. every afternoon, according to Mary Ellen Dunkle, manager.
Mrs. Nedra Lowtas, WAA leisure time advisor, announced that if enough interest is shown, bowling rates of ten cents a line will be granted women on Saturdays from 9 to 12 a. m. and every afternoon before 4 p. m. at the Moscow bowling alley. Groups of four or more must bowl at the same time and women must have ASUI tickets to get rates. Free instructions will also be offered and women will receive WAA points.
More Practices Offered
Because only 10 more speedball practices are left before the interclass tourney, Mrs. Ruth Manca, WAA advisor, will permit women to attend her class from 3 to 4 p. m. every afternoon. Two such practices will count for one hour of WAA practice. Eight hours of practice are required for membership on a class team.
Tennis manager Phyllis Paynter requests that women have their first and second rounds of the tennis tournament played by Friday night and write outcomes on the record sheet in the basement of the Women's gymnasium. Tennis finals are scheduled for November 13.
Two constitutional amendments were proposed at the meeting. One amendment would limit the regular WAA meetings to one a semester, and the other would give the executive board power to replace any vacancies in the offices caused by failure of students to return to school. These amendments will be voted upon at the next monthly meeting.

'I' Club Women Map Tentative Plans For New Activities
Boasting the largest membership in the last four years, the women's "I" club started their year's activities Wednesday at the first regular meeting in the Women's gymnasium. Elsie Mae Stokesberry, president, reported that the "I" plaque award, given annually to a women's residence, will be based this year on Women's Athletic association membership.
Tentative plans to hold joint entertainments with neighboring letter-winning college women were discussed. A new constitution was adopted providing for regular monthly meetings. "I" club women also decided to help Mrs. Nedra Lewts with the Women's Athletic association sports program.
The following women have earned their necessary 1250 points and are members of the "I" club: Elsie Mae Stokesberry, Helen Campbell, Eleanor Axtell, Merl Delp, Lovina Marsh, Evelyn Quinn, and Bernice Bacharach.

Cramer Discusses Health Problems
About 50 students, housemothers, and proctors attended the annual tea given at the infirmary Tuesday evening. Dean Beatrice Olson gave a short talk and Dr. H. D. Cramer discussed student health and explained how students are taken care of in the infirmary.
Each year Dean Olson invites house presidents, housemothers, hostesses, and proctors to this tea for discussion of student health problems.

Vagabond Vandals Meet Aggies Tomorrow

A light workout today will culminate the Vandals' preparation for their clash with Coach E. L. Romney's Utah State Aggies at Boise Saturday. The game will be the fifth meeting of the two elevens, with Idaho holding the scoring edge in the past. Coach Ted Bank's Vandals have won two, tied one, and lost one in games with the Aggies.

Grid relations started in 1936 when the Aggies won 10 to 0. In 1937, the teams battled to a scoreless tie, and in 1938 and 1939, the Vandals won 14 to 0 and 19 to 7 respectively.

Utah State Whips Redskins Last Saturday Utah State chalked up its first win of the season in edging the University of Utah Redskins 7 to 6. San Jose State defeated the Aggies 19 to 0, and the University of Colorado downed them 26 to 0 in the season's first two starts.

With right half Earl Acuff the only Vandal on the injured list, Idaho will be virtually at full strength for the Aggie contest. Rex Englekirk and Fred Nichols both right halves and only other Vandals injured in the Boston college game are slated to see action Saturday.

Students Will Pay Regular Rates

No special transportation rates will be given students who plan to attend the Idaho-Utah State football game at Boise this Saturday.

The usual round-trip ticket on the Union Pacific will be $16.90 and $14.25 on the bus.

Freshman Gridders To Meet Montana In Vandal Debut At Kellogg

Vandal freshman gridders will make their 1940 debut tomorrow at Kellogg when they angle with University of Montana freshmen. Coach Walt Price and 30 Vandal Babes will leave tomorrow morning for the game that will mark first appearance of any Vandal team in Kellogg and the first contest between the two freshman teams in 12 years.

"We are going to be stronger defensively than offensively this year and the opposition is going to find it tough work packing the ball against us," said Coach Price.

"According to reports, the Montana team is a strong outfit and will give our offense a lot of trouble too," he added.

Freshmen Starters

Defense Taxes Stop Further Printing Of Faculty Tickets

"Just to make things straight," Bob Swanson, independent council head, explained this week what happened to the faculty ticket plan which was sponsored last year by the council. It would have enabled instructors to buy season tickets and attend ASUI functions on the same basis as students.

"So generally approved was the idea that over half the tickets had been printed to retail at $10 before national defense taxes sent the price sky high and made their printing impractical," Swanson stated.

The tax would amount to about $2.50 he explained. About $5.00 would go to opponents in athletic games and matches, and the remaining $2.50 would not be sufficient to pay ticket costs.

Sportlight Reflections

by bob wethern
FACTS, FIGURES, 'N HEADACHES

You don't need a certified public accountant to total the points that the Vandals' 1940 opponents have been piling up both against them and other teams, but an adding machine certainly would come in handy. Below are listed the teams that the Idaho eleven has played and will play, with awesome figures that said opponents have amassed this fall. The teams are listed in respect to their scoring ability, not the order of games scheduled with Idaho.

Team	Points	Opp. Points	Games
Nevada	193	6	4
Boston College	160	27	4
Gonzaga	70	16	4
Oregon State	67	19	4
Washington	64	19	4
Utah	55	41	4
Washington State	40	46	4
Montana	24	45	4
Utah State	7	51	3
	680	270

The figures, of course, do not necessarily give the true power of each team. Strength of the opponents played varies a great deal. It does indicate that each team has the ability to score and does when it runs across a weak opponent.

SALT IN NEW WOUNDS

Bostonians like their spuds both mashed and fried. Last Saturday's score would indicate their leanings toward the former dish, and the following excerpts from a Boston Sunday Post's news story points out that they are also plenty adept with a frying pan.

"The University of Idaho Vandals traveled 2,800 miles to find out yesterday afternoon what everybody who follows football in the East knew a long time ago, to wit and viz.—Boston college is one of the nation's strongest football powers. The Eagles didn't prove it yesterday at Fenway Park as they crushed Idaho 60-to-0, before a small gathering of shiverers, but they left an impression which Coach Ted Bank of the Vandals promised to bring back to the Pacific Coast gridiron scholars."

Maybe this writer is super-sensitive on the subject, but it seems that the theme of the lead was, "run along now little boy, and be more careful next time."

Even the one wilted orchid tossed the way of the Vandals had a slightly pungent odor. It was, "Also, there was the matter of Ray Davis' run—a matter which is historic to the members of the Idaho squad. Davis, easily the best of the visitors, came closer to scoring a touchdown than a Vandal has come all year. His was a magnificent burst, but Ted Williams of Gloucester ruined his chance of glory."

The Vandals are back on their own side of the fence now, and that Aggie game Saturday should mark some sort of a turning point of Idaho's 1940 football season.

The War Moves In

(Editor's Note: The following editorial was first published in the Argonaut last spring. It is featured as the leading editorial in the fall edition of "What the Colleges are Doing," published by Ginn and company. Because it has attracted such national attention, it is reprinted here.)

People are funny and college students at the University of Idaho are no exception. They drift along complacently, almost oblivious to any of the important news of the day that does not concern "L'il Abner." Then Belgian mothers flee once again along the border, and Idaho students stampede with the rest of America into a war hysteria that bodes ill for education.

On every corner you can find them talking. "We're going to war!" they will tell you. In every bullfist you will find last fall's isolationists proclaiming, "They're coming over here if they win in Europe, and we have to get ready." And some who have forgotten that there is no glamour in war will go further. "Maybe we should stop them now," they say, "before they get stronger."

You can still speak out against them. The hysteria has not reached the peak to make all who insist upon facts and reason subject to "fifth column" suspicion, but that time may be coming. And even now, your words do not convince them. You can tell them that we can't possibly enter a war because we are not ready; that our weight in Europe would almost certainly be balanced by other foes if we throw ourselves into the fight; that democracy is not so much a form of government as a way of thinking which cannot be saved by war; that the basic cause of war is international trade conflicts, and that we can never solve those problems without providing an agency for peaceful change.

They listen to you, but they do not change their minds. With the next radio report of death in Europe or impending conflict in Asia, they forget your logic and their own. The time is ripe for slogans, not for reason, and "fifty thousand airplanes can't be wrong."

Perhaps the tragedy of modern education lies in this: that you may soon become "dangerous." You who have learned to search for truth, to weigh facts, may soon find that truth and facts are puny weapons now.

The "fifth column" is gathering recruits daily in the mind of America on the march. You who are willing to fight for your country, but only if you know why and how and what you can expect to win, may soon learn not to ask questions.

Communique Comment

Hitler's conferences with Laval and Franco are an indication that the German fuhrer is attempting to bring France and Spain into a closer partnership with Berlin before making further offensive moves. He is in a position to apply pressure to both nations. The "occupied zone" of France includes the chief seaports and industrial centers, while reports from Madrid make it clear that there are upwards of 40,000 German "tourists" in Franco's dominion.

Laval, the second-in-command at Vichy, seems to be playing his hand carefully in an effort to get the best possible terms for France in the eventual peace settlement. Laval has in the past consistently worked for the formation of a "Latin triangle" of France, Italy and Spain to dominate the Mediterranean and balance German power in central Europe. Both he and Baudouin, the French foreign minister, are anti-British in sentiment and sincerely friendly toward Mussolini.

It is possible that the Laval group in the Vichy government hopes for the development of a split between Rome and Berlin, now that the area controlled by the two fascist powers is widening. Il Duce has always looked upon Spain as his special province; domination of Spain and Gibraltar by Rome would make the western Mediterranean an Italian lake. Hitler on his part is determined to use Spain as a jumping-off point for Nazi penetration into Latin America. A politician of Laval's shrewdness may be able to use the conflict of Axis ambitions at Madrid to France's advantage.

Franco, ruling a Spain that is still binding up the wounds of the 1936-1939 civil war, will try to stay out of hostilities until he is certain that the Axis bandwagon is rolling toward decisive victory. The Spanish leader is, however, under pressure from a bloc of pro-Axis chauvinists in his own cabinet who consider Hitler a modern improvement on Julius Caesar.

'Coach Deserves Our Support,' Says Dale

No apparent confirmation of rumors coming from southern Idaho early this week that Coach Ted Bank, head of the athletic department, might be ousted could be found at Moscow yesterday.

President Harrison C. Dale refused to comment on the reports but said that Coach Bank is entitled to full support from students and football fans.

The rumor originated at Twin Falls Monday afternoon in a press dispatch carried to a Boise paper quoting an unnamed alumnus to the effect that Bank would not be retained as Vandal coach next year. Coach Bank's present contract runs through the current year.

Bibliography Lists Idaho Minerals

Forty-two minerals produced commercially or known to be present in Idaho are listed in an abridged bibliography of the mineral industry of the state issued this week by the Idaho bureau of mines and geology.

"All 42 are of commercial value, depending upon demand, market price, etc.," explains Author W. W. Staley, of the bureau and school of mines staff. "The importance of gold, lead, zinc, and silver in Idaho hardly needs mentioning, but the wide distribution of so-called strategic minerals such as antimony, arsenic, bismuth, copper, manganese, molybdenum, cinnabar, and tungsten is not generally known."

Purpose of the press bulletin, No. 19, is to aid engineers and prospectors in locating written information on the great variety of minerals occurring in the state. The bulletin merely lists alphabetically and on a map the minerals and the counties in which they are found.

Saturday To End Sign-up Period For Voters

Hesitant or forgetful students and faculty members who have not registered for the national election November 5 will have until November 2 to do so, according to information received from the county auditor's office yesterday.

The office also requested that all students who intend to use the absentee ballot method of voting should send in their application at once, or it will not be valid for the election. The request should be mailed to the county precinct in which they reside.

town students, representing the balance of power on this campus, would be fair game for the political appeals of the United Students. The Greeks could be expected to try to win them over if their party leaders gave up the T. N. E. philosophy that "elections must be stolen in order to be won."

And in that shining period of Idaho's political development, party discipline would not be enough to hold the downtowners in one group or another. The parties would have to offer something. The fact might result in elections on issues rather than by machines. At least it's worth trying.
