President Discloses Proposed University Budget

Dale Explains The Situation

Dale Discusses Finances Before Convention

The proposed university budget for 1941-42 will total $1,456,583 when it is presented to the legislature for action, President Harrison C. Dale told about 120 delegates to the North Idaho chamber of commerce meeting at a luncheon in Chrisman hall yesterday noon.

President Dale revealed the budget total proposed for the forthcoming biennium after discussing university finances. The proposed total is more than the university received for the last biennium but less than was requested from the legislature two years ago, the president said.

The request this year has been reduced, not because the university did not need the full amount asked for at the last session, but because certain expenses will be less for the 1941-42 year, he explained.

A new boiler reduced the fuel estimates $25,000. Construction of the Gritman Memorial hospital reduced the need for additional infirmary equipment, he said.

Paints Dark Picture Reviewing Idaho's financial history since 1927, the president presented charts to show "the critical condition" of the institutions present finances. In the current term, he pointed out, the university received $400 less per day than it asked for. Taking the year 1927 as a 100 percent ratio between enrollment and appropriations, he showed that 1939 produced a 53 per cent ratio—53 (Continued on Page 2)

Buchanan To Head National Group

J. E. Buchanan, Dean of College of Engineering, has been appointed chairman of a national committee under the civil engineering division of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, according to a letter he received recently from Lorenz G. Straub, chairman of the civil engineering division.

As chairman of committee I on educational policy and teaching methods, Dean Buchanan and eight other members will study and report on educational policy, such as may effect the civil engineering division and instructors in engineering.

This is expected to lead to a better integrated policy for civil engineering instructors on problems peculiar to their own particular field.

Seniors Complete Dance Plans

Plans for the Senior ball, first all college formal of the year, are nearing completion, according to committee heads. Ticket chairman Sam Zingale announces that tickets will soon be on sale in all men's group houses.

Music will be selected tonight after committee heads check orchestra preferences obtained during the past week by phoning numerous campus socialites.

All Student Affairs In response to inquiries received from underclassmen, we wish to stress the fact that all students may attend the dance," co-chairman Anne Stoddard and Myrl Clark said. "Some have the false opinion that it is exclusively for the seniors."

Special numbers are being planned in view of the possibility that a Spokane radio station will give a half-hour broadcast of the ball.

Bids for programs will be received this afternoon by the general chairman and Phyllis Morrison, head of the program committee.

Recitals To Start

First of a series of departmental recitals will be held Monday, December 2, at 5 o'clock in the auditorium, Prof. A. A. Beecher, head of the music department announced last night. Programs for the recital will be announced later. The recital is for music students only.

Garner Commits Suicide, Leaps From Window

Jack Garner, a former student now living in Pullman, died last night after leaping from the third-story window in Lindley hall about 6:35 p.m. yesterday. Poor health, an ill-fated love affair, and financial troubles were given as motives for Garner's taking his life, according to Dean of Men Herbert J. Wunderlich.

Garner, enrolled last year as a sophomore in pre-med, was visiting Elton Leavitt, of Lindley hall, prior to his leap. He had attempted, friends reported, to take his life Sunday evening with a knife.

Witnesses to the suicide attempt were Mrs. Mabel Frazier, cook at Lindley hall; Bob Baysinger, and Charles Thomas. Baysinger and Thomas were walking along the sidewalk on the north side of the dormitory when Garner leaped from a third-story window. "He became caught in a tree when he jumped," Baysinger reported. The tree broke his fall. He struck the sidewalk about three feet in front of us."

Garner was rushed to the university infirmary where he remained in a "critical condition" all evening, according to Dr. Harold D. Cramer. He suffered severe head injuries and a brain concussion from the fall. He died at 10:30 o'clock.

Garner was employed in Pullman. His home was in Burley.

First Tests Prove Plant Efficient

Testing of the new campus heating plant is nearly completed, said R. W. Lind, buildings and ground supervisor and the unit will go into use soon.

"Everything is installed and operating satisfactorily," he said. "The boiler will be in use, but will be given efficiency adjustments over a period of several weeks. After completion of this testing, the job is accepted by the owner."

Ten months of work have gone into the new plant, under legislative appropriations of $90,000. Under construction since last January, an average of 20 workmen was employed during the main construction period.

Contracts for the boiler were let jointly to the Powell Plumbing and Heating company of Moscow and the Rushtlight heating company of Portland.

Young To Become Bureau Head

Walker R. Young, graduate of the Idaho engineering school in 1908, and former supervising engineer of the Central valley project in California, has been promoted to assistant chief engineer of the bureau of reclamation with headquarters at Denver, according to an announcement by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, says Dean J. E. Buchanan of the college of engineering.

Valley of California superintendent since 1905, Young was formerly a reclamation engineer on the Arrowrock dam near Boise. He is noted also as the formulator of the original designs and estimates for Boulder dam.

In 1931 he was appointed construction engineer in charge of the building of Boulder dam, highest in the world, and remained in charge during the entire construction period.

Women Construct Decorations

Under the supervision of Miss Marian Featherstone, freshmen in home-economics have been engaged in their annual custom of making Christmas decorations.

The decorations, similar to the Mexican charm strings sold in large novelty shops, are made from gaily colored gourd, gilded pine cones, and shellacked catapods, these items being native to this region.

Bank Announces Appointment Of Leon Green

Idaho Graduate Replaces Glenn Jacoby As Physical Education Professor

Leon Green, Idaho '37, has been appointed to succeed Glenn Jacoby as associate professor of physical education for men and instructor during the latter's year's leave of absence for army duty, announced Coach Ted Bank.

Regular right end on the Idaho football team of '35 and '36, Green graduated with a B. S. degree in physical education and the distinction of being one of the ablest men ever to complete the Idaho P. E. course, says Coach Bank.

At Burley After graduation Green went to Burley where, as director of physical education, he inaugurated one of the finest P. E. systems in the state. He received his master's degree at Idaho in 1940.

"We were lucky to get him for a short term appointment," says Coach Bank.

Already busy with his work, Green states, "I consider this a wonderful opportunity to follow my chosen work and feel that there are many opportunities in Idaho schools for P. E. graduates."

Green is married but has no children. He hopes someday to obtain his doctor's degree from Columbia university.

T.M.A. Will Choose Modern Venus At Ball Saturday

Discarding the fabled Venus who has enthralled generations of men with her curves, et al. Tau Mem Aleph will use a Hollywood star as the measuring stick for picking "Miss Idaho" at their Artists and Models Ball sport dance in the SUB Saturday night.

"Venus is too plump" Walt Gugnioni, committee member said yesterday.

Form letters have been sent to all women's group houses and each group will put in the measurements of whom they consider to have the most beautiful figure. Judges will select the one corresponding most to the movie queen Saturday evening. Gugnioni announced yesterday that the decisions should be in by Wednesday. A loving cup will be awarded the winner. The cup is now on display at the SUB.

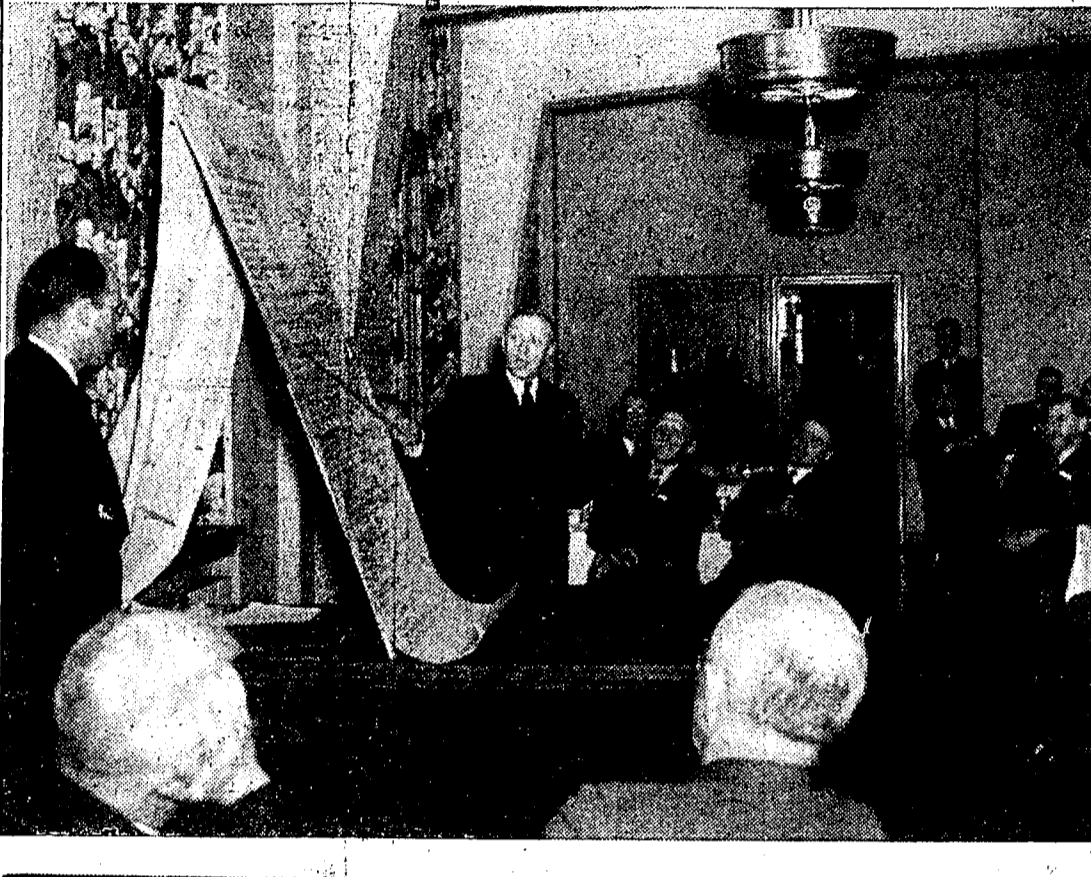

Committee members for the ball include Gugnioni, Bill Kinnear, Rex Blodgett, and Ken Falen.

Patrons for the dance will be Dean and Mrs. Herbert Wunderlich, Dean and Mrs. Ralph Farmer, and Prof. and Mrs. Robert Walls.

75 Members Attend Breakfast Meet Of Catholic Group

About 75 members of the DeSmet chapter of Newman club, national Catholic students organization, attended the communion breakfast held in the parish hall last Sunday.

Tom Glazebrook, president of the club, presided at the breakfast. A business meeting was held and the group joined in singing popular songs. It was decided to form a study club during December and to hold another breakfast on the third Sunday in January.

Argonaut Errs; Horn Doesn't Object

Charles Henry Horn, university student, who recently qualified in class No. 1 under the military draft, probably will enlist in the regular army at the close of the school year rather than wait until the July 1 deadline for drafted students is passed, according to H. W. Chatterton, secretary of the Latah county selective service board.

Chatterton pointed out that the Argonaut in a story last Friday, had erroneously stated that Horn was a conscientious objector. However, Chatterton said, the student "is eager to take up arms for the United States or serve his country in any other way."

Riflemen Pledge 15 New Men

Fifteen new men were pledged by the Pershing Rifle unit at a meeting last Tuesday. Those named were: Marvin Adamson, Stewart Clelen, Donald Howard, William Smith, Robert McLaughlin, Clyde Martin, Byron Stratton, Hugh Sorenson, Eugene Thompson, Virgil Haynes, Gordon Dailey, Burke Hudleson, Frank Hyke, Robert Cree, and Dale Burkhalter.

Two resolutions were adopted by the group at the general business meeting following the pledging. The first was the announcement that the merit system of choosing non-commissioned officers will go into effect this week. The second rule adopted states that "insignia shall be removed from a member if he is dishonorably discharged from Pershing Rifles."

Women Will Begin Debating Monday Night

Women intramural debaters will begin their formal arguments next Monday at 7 p. m. on the question, "Resolved that the nations of the western hemisphere should form a permanent defense union."

The schedule for the first-round is Delta Gamma, affirmative, versus Alpha Chi Omega, negative; Hays hall versus Kappa Alpha Theta; Ridenbaugh hall versus Gamma Phi Beta, and possibly Kappa Kapa Gamma versus Foreynery hall, if the latter enters.

Scholars To Initiate Three Men At Monday Meet

Phi Eta Sigma, national scholastic honorary, will initiate three new men at a ceremony to be held at the Sigma Chi house Monday evening. Pledges to be initiated are Weldon Cole, Russel Wilson, and Nelse Peterman. A banquet at the Blue Bucket Inn will follow the initiation ceremony.

The reelection of Dr. Erwin Graue as faculty advisor, a position he has held continually since '35, was announced by Dick Groshong, president of Phi Eta Sigma.

Foresters Organize 'Old Time Band' For Get-together

Something new in the foresters' way of thinking is the organization of the "Old Time Band" and the Foresters' Glee club.

The "Thunder Mountain Boys," as the band will be called, is headed by Edwin Jankowski and was formed to provide entertainment for the foresters at their frequent get-togethers.

Harmonicas, guitars, a jug, squeeze box, washboards, and a mandolin are among the instruments which compose the band. The glee club is under the direction of Royale Pierson, and is still in its formative period.

"We have about 15 men turning out for the practices, with a surprising amount of talent in the group," Pierson says.

The glee club is a carry-over from the songfests held on the beach at the forestry summer camp and with the aid of the Idaho Foresters song book, will attempt to carry on the songs of the Idaho Foresters.

Myers, Killian Begin Expansion Trips

Lieut. Col. Reginald R. Myers, and Master Sergt. Ray Killian of the Sixth Regimental Headquarters staff of Pershing Rifles visited the University of Oregon last week on the first of a series of expansion trips planned by the officers.

Most significant news learned by the officers on their trip to Eugene was of the organization about in three weeks of a company of Pershing Rifles by the Oregon school, according to Lieut. Col. Myers.

and that the T club had taken the matter over and it soon disappeared. Dean Wunderlich appointed Johnson and Les McCarthy to ask the T club to act on the situation once again.

Sunday Dancing Discussed
When the subject of the legality of dancing in the SUB lounge on Sunday was brought up, Ann Maguire, president of the Associated Women students, stated that the decision should be left to different religious groups on the campus.

Dean Jeffers asked the council exactly what the status of dancing on days throughout the week other than Sunday was, and Wunderlich appointed Bob Swanson, Inez Brown and Ann Maguire to report on what the limitations were.

Dean Wunderlich said that the council would meet again in two weeks and a definite time for meetings would be arranged at that time.

John Miller To Give Travel Talk

John B. Miller, Idaho graduate in mining engineering who has been employed as an oil geologist with the Standard Oil Company in Colombia, South America, will give a travel talk with moving pictures Friday, at 7:30 o'clock in Science 110. His appearance here is sponsored by the Associated Miners.

Mr. Miller held a teaching fellowship from June, 1936, until July, 1937, when he went to South America. While working in the swamps, it was so hot they had to use air conditioned house boats. Mr. Miller reports. During his travels, he took many pictures, some of which he will show Friday night.

"Family Portrait" Provides Problems In Staging

by Bill Fox

When those of us in front row center come to view the ASUI production of "Family Portrait" next December 5 and 6, it will be only in the spirit of seeking an evening's entertainment. Which is as it should be. Yet if we were aware of what is going on behind the curtain before the house lights dim, we might wonder why we are not permitted to look into what appears to be a fine exhibition of leger-domain. As we sit back and talk to our neighbor between curtains, the scene is shifting; then in another moment we are transported from a simple courtyard to a city street.

"Family Portrait" provides an excellent study of technical problems in staging. Its four complete sets and six scene shifts demand the use of almost every known technical trick which our limited facilities and stage space permit.

"We're doing what the 'Golden Boy' company couldn't do here," remarked J. F. Solters, art director for the show; "We're using wagon stages."

Two almost complete sets will be mounted on movable platforms off stage, to be rolled in place with the scene changes.

Da Vinci Painting Copied
One whole set was provided by Leonardo da Vinci over four hundred years ago. A copy of one of his famous paintings is being reproduced on a 30 by 20 foot drop curtain to provide background for a familiar and famous setting.

Incidental to the production, but complicated enough to require the services of over 25 crew members working nearly a month in advance of production, are costumes and properties. Providing costumes with no definite styling or period for 40 actors is no small task in itself.

Nearly all of the 150 separate properties have to be either made

Marshall Captains Sophomores To Championship

Championship laurels of the Women's Athletic association speedball tournament held in the women's gym Monday afternoon went to the sophomore speedball team who defeated the freshmen women 9 to 7.

Although the junior team is the runner-up in the tourney, it chalked up the largest number of points, 46, with only 23 points scored against it. The freshmen tallied 40 points and the sophomores, 34. Merl Delp took scoring honors with a total of 24 points. Barbara Long came second with a score of 16, and Vera Nell James, third with 13 points.

Mary Fran Marshall captained the winning team which was made up of Alta Mae Mullin, Ruth Ellen Jackson, Pat Unternahrer, Mary Jane Elder, Marcia Gwinn, Phyllis Paynter, Jean Richardson, Marjorie Cruickshank, Marian Johnson, LaVerne Greiser, and Mary Gano.

Basketball practice will begin next Monday at 4 o'clock in the women's gymnasium.

Vocational School Trains Men For National Defense

38 Learn Blacksmithing, Welding, Gas and Diesel Mechanics Techniques

Training of men for national defense is the job of the National Defense Training school, located in the agricultural engineering laboratory buildings on the north edge of town now training 38 men. That it has been successful is proved in the plans being made to double all classes, according to Elmer Humphrey, local supervisor.

Operating since August 12, without fanfare or ballyhoo, the school is giving finished training to men who have had initial experience in blacksmith work, welding, and gas and diesel mechanics. Ten welders, three blacksmiths, and four gas and diesel mechanics have been sent out from the school as trained men in their field since the course began.

"We are forced to restrict the size of our classes in the three trades," Mr. Humphrey said, "because we are limited both as to facilities and space to handle any more at one time effectively. However, we have petitioned for permission to install lights and operate two shifts, thus doubling the number of men we can train."

Dual Sponsors.
The school is being sponsored by the state department of vocational education and the university's department of agricultural engineering. The buildings and equipment are furnished by the university, which uses them also for agricultural engineering laboratories and the teacher training program. The state department furnishes supplies and the personnel. It is planning to increase the present equipment, Mr. Humphrey said.

"Over half of our trainees," the supervisor said, "are taken from the WPA ranks as long as they can supply men with sufficient aptitude. We take only men that have some knowledge in one of these fields. Our job is to top off that training here. The rest of our trainees are sent to us from the Idaho employment office."

The hardest class to fill, he said, is the one for blacksmith work. Nearly everyone wants to be welders. The blacksmith shop, occupying one building, is well-equipped with 16 forges. Trainees before they are through with the course learn welding, upsetting, and forging.

Those who handle the instruction include, beside Supervisor Humphrey, L. A. Messersmith, blacksmith instructor; W. Knight, welding instructor; and J. E. Marmion, who teaches the gas and diesel course. Although there is no official connection to place the men after they finish the course, the school does what it can to get jobs for the men.

Former Editor Weds Doris Franson In Moscow Church

At the Moscow Presbyterian church Saturday, in the presence of intimate friends, Edward Dakin, former Argonaut editor, and Doris E. Franson, Winnemucca, Nevada, were married.

Mrs. Franson was attended by Mrs. Thomas Burham, Lewiston, J. Robert Walker, a fraternity brother of Mr. Dakin, was best man. Dr. O. L. Walter officiated at the ceremony.

Mrs. Dakin is a graduate of Idaho, where she majored in social science. She was a member of Vandaleers, Sigma Alpha Iota, vice-president of the junior class, secretary of the executive board, president of Hays hall, a member of two national honoraries, Spurs and Mortar Board, president of Westminster guild, and was active in music, dramatics, and student politics.

Dakin graduated from Idaho last year, where he majored in journalism. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon and was president of the fraternity for two years. Dakin was active in campus publications, and was a member of Blue Key, Silver Lance, and Sigma Delta.

He is now a reporter on the Gazette-Commoner at Colfax, Wash. where the couple will reside.

Engineers Will Hold Annual Lab Picnic

Mechanical engineers will hold their annual lab picnic Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the machine shops west of the post office, Chester Westfall, Associated Engineers president announces.

During the evening, demonstrations of the dynamometer, gas and steam engines and turbines will be held. Purpose of the meeting is to acquaint new mechanical engineering students with this machinery and promote a wider acquaintance among the students to stimulate attendance and give the affair a social flavor, refreshments will be served, promised Westfall.

The dying request of the Civil War veteran was: "Let me be buried in my old Union suit."

Turkey Takes Toll Of Hashers

Too, too much cold turkey swelled the infirmary roll last Friday and Saturday as seven Christmas hall "hashers" and kitchen workers enrolled with a case of ptomaine poisoning.

Friday noon, they decided to get a jump on the rest of the fellows and eat the left-overs from the Thanksgiving turkeys.

"It was good turkey, but we paid the price," said one of the hashers, as he left the infirmary Saturday evening.

Miss Exton Tells Of Upswing In Student Health

"It is only within the last 20 years that health education has come to figure prominently in our school systems," Miss Bess Exton, secretary of the American association of health, physical education and recreation, said last night when she addressed physical education majors.

"It was during the 20's that the national program for health gained momentum, but during the depression progress was halted because of lack of funds, but since 1938 there has been a revival of interest.

Cooperation helps
Miss Exton told of the co-operation between the National association of the NYA and the CCC which has helped with constructive work in improving the nation's health.

She told of a bill before congress now which will call for a well defined program of national health education.

Miss Exton is on an extended tour of the state under the sponsorship of the Anti-Tuberculosis association.

Three combined rehearsals will precede the production of the "Messiah", which will be presented by a chorus of 300 voices under the direction of Prof. Alvah A. Beecher in the Memorial gym, at 8 p. m. on Sunday, December 15.

Vandaleers, University singers, a high school chorus, and local church choirs will practice together Sunday, December 15, at 2 o'clock. All rehearsals will be held in the Memorial gym.

The "Messiah" is one of the greatest of all musical selections and is especially appropriate for the Christmas season, according to Professor Beecher. He said that to his knowledge, the oratorio had not been presented in Moscow for several years.

Prof. Carl Claus will choose and direct a 25-piece orchestra which will accompany the singers. All will be dressed in dark suits or black dresses.

cents spent per student in comparison with $1 spent per student in 1927.

To meet the crisis, he explained, the university has been forced to reduce salaries, leave positions vacant which were left by men who resigned, crowded classroom facilities, and abandon many projects and activities.

Costs Low
Presenting a table to compare the cost per student in "unified" universities, the president demonstrated that Idaho's cost per student of $297 per year is lower than any other school's except Nevada and Tennessee. By "unified universities," he explained, he meant those which were located in one place to serve the whole state, rather than those which maintained various schools and colleges in different localities.

Using tables and charts to illustrate, the president explained the university's physical plant, resident instruction, research, non-resident instruction, and other programs. He stressed services rendered by the university to every part of the state.

"Not Critically"
"We do not say these things critically," he declared after pointing out the effects of decreased appropriations. "We are your servants. We feel, however, that you, as citizens of the state, will be interested in the facts. What interpretation you give to these facts is entirely your problem."

The Christmas luncheon was followed by a tour of the campus by the group. A banquet was held at Hotel Moscow last night, and the group will continue sessions there throughout today. Governor-elect Chase Clark was the speaker at the downtown meeting last night. Governor C. A. Bottolfsen was reported ill at his home and did not attend the meetings.

MAPLECOURT MUTTERINGS
The several hundred basketball fans who took time out Friday afternoon to watch the Vandal intrasquad game came away from Memorial gym with their eyes well filled. In a slam-bang battle, an underdog "White" team outscored a "Red" five, 48 to 33. Now, the upset didn't impress the fans half as much as did some of their individual performances. General teamwork on the part of both fives was a little ragged around the edges, but the following box score should give one some idea of who was "clicking" on the court Friday.

Table with columns: Name, fg, ft, pf, tp. Rows for "Reds" and "Whites" players including Steele, Turner, Hilton, Hopkins, I., Lynk, Harris, Hoobing, Foster, Sullivan, Jones, Hodges, Snyder, Thompson, Anderson, Hopkins, V., Holt, Rosenberry, Bechtel, Benson.

Casually commenting on the players: "Rook" Hilton with his "fake" shot probably climbed several notches toward the Northern Division high-scoring crown; Ron Harris will prove one of "the" ball-handlers and high scorers; George Steele and Ray Turner, transfers from the Southern Branch, have the height and aggressiveness to be constant threats—Turner's backboard work is the smoothest seen on the Idaho club since the passing of Brendon Barrett; Irv Hopkins, veteran, promises to be a floor general similar to "Chick" Atkinson; Dick Snyder, former Moscow star, has a tricky "hook" shot that can't be stopped; Stan Jones, Boise J. C. transfer, looks smooth on offense and defense; Phil Modges, Montana lad, is the fastest flash on the floor and a consistent scorer. Spark for Idaho's 1940 casaba dynamo will be provided by Merlyn Anderson, Vandal mighty mite.

HELL TRAVEL FAR—BY TRACK AND BY TRAIN
That Sugar Bowl invitation recently received by Phil Leibowitz, Vandal distance king and holder of the Northern Division mile record at 4:12.2, should be the start of brilliant windup to a great track career. As a senior this year, Phil meets along with the best that the nation's colleges can offer in the way of competition—or perhaps race on the cinders of the Tiger track at the Princeton Invitational next spring.

Only time will tell whether Leibowitz gets the big-time bids, but the Sugar Bowl invitation is certainly a favorable indication. Entries to most of the bowl races are limited to eight, which means that those accepted have to be tops in cinder-cruising. The tall Vandal star will be pitted against Missouri's "Lonesome John" Munski—so called because he's usually far in the lead; Leslie MacMitchell, NYU distance star; Walter Mehl, Wisconsin running ace; and others.

Leibowitz should also be the fine start of a record-breaking long-distance relay team. Sophomores Vic Dyrigall and Bob White could capably handle two "legs" of the team, while Veteran Bob Neal—who will be back in track togs during the indoor season—could complete a team for the four-man event. Relay meets are becoming more popular and more prevalent every year, and this is "the year" as far as Idaho's chances are concerned.

"Whites" Trounce Favored "Reds"

An underrated "White" quintet defeated a "Red" five 48 to 33 last Friday in the first preview of Coach Twogood's '40-'41 basketball team. Several hundred fans watched the intersquad game in Memorial gym. Halftime score favored the "Whites" 24 to 10. Veteran Otis "Rook" Hilton, "Red" center, led in the game's scoring with 16 points garnered by seven field goals and two conversions. Dick Snyder, "White" center, paced his team with 14 counters.

Most of the "White's" points came from spectacular long shots while the "Reds" made many goals near the backboard. The Vandals will concentrate on defense in preparation for their first pre-conference game with the Whitman Missionaries at Walla Walla Friday, according to Coach Twogood.

Tessier Appoints Managers

John Howard and John Chamberlin were appointed junior managers of minor sports by Coach Bob Tessier at a minor sports managers meeting last night. The appointments marked the first time that the minor sports manager setup has included junior awards.

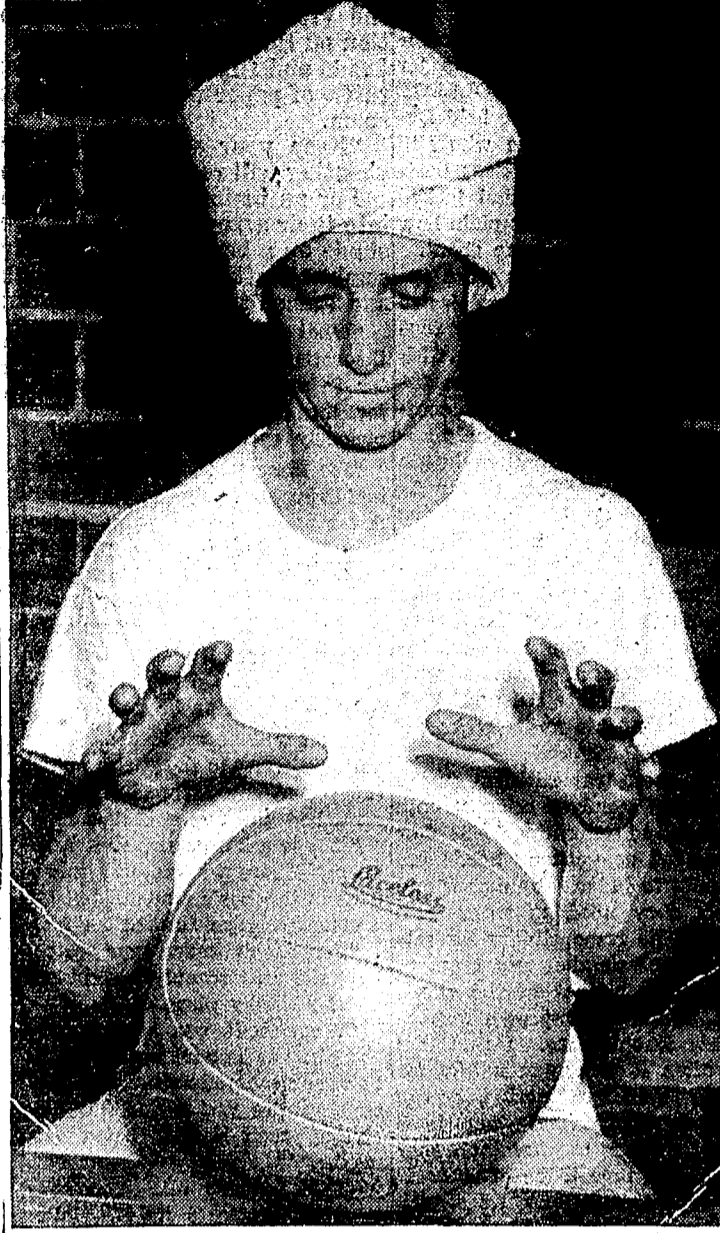

Other minor sports appointments were Sam Auger as fencing manager, Gerald Lattig as golf manager, and Dale Reynolds as tennis manager. "There are still many openings for any who wish to turn out for managerial positions," announced Coach Tessier. Those wishing manager positions should see Tessier.

Frosh Mentor Calls Hoopsters For Initial Drills

First freshman basketball turnout has been scheduled for 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, according to Coach Walt Price. Freshmen must furnish their own equipment, he says. Price will hold three practice sessions next week on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday to cut the squad down to 30 candidates. Starting November 9—with the varsity on their barnstorming tour of the middle-west—the freshmen will hold regular after-noon practices. After the varsity returns home the Vandal Babes will hold nightly practice sessions. No definite schedule has been arranged for their freshmen yet, according to Price.

Dreams never come true until we wake up.

Merlyn The Mystic

Turbanned Merlyn Anderson is shown here peering into the future of the Idaho maplecourt season, trying to forecast the fate of the Vandal hoopsters in northern division play this winter. Coach Forrest Twogood hopes that the speedy guard is seeing as bright a future as peppery Merlyn has been showing in recent practice sessions.

Idaho Mermen Churn Pool In Strenuous Drills

Swim sessions will begin in earnest for Idaho's mermen now that the football season is over, Coach Bob Tessier announced yesterday. Six lettermen are turning out daily along with all other non-award aspirants, Tessier says.

Returning lettermen are Byron Thomas, Earl Peebles, Jim Kircher, Bud Hunter, Al Dodds, and Mac Beall. Hunter and Dodds are two-year lettermen. Mac Beall won this award in 1938 but did not return to school the following year. Also expected back is Dick Slade, two-year letterman who did not compete last year.

'Mural Sports

A change in intramural directors has failed to slow the pace of Idaho's intramural sports program. Leon Green, former Vandal athlete, was sitting behind a large desk in the athletic office Monday where last week sat Coach Glen Jacoby, who has been drafted into the army for a year. Mr. Green looked right at home. He acted as if he had been doing this job all year. There was no indication that there had been a shift in department heads.

The volleyball season will be over next week. All teams of division A will have completed their regular schedules by tonight and will start, probably tomorrow, running-off divisional play-offs. Next week division B will finish their schedules and play-offs for the university championship will begin.

Plans are already being mapped for the basketball campaign which will begin about the second week of December for teams of class A. Table tennis is also being outlined. By the end of the week standings will have been tabulated to find out just how teams have been stacking-up during the campaign.

Latest volleyball results: Monday—Willis Sweet I over Chrisman I, 15-3, 15-10; Phi Delta Theta over Alpha Tau Omega, 15-5, 15-10; Delta Tau Delta over Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 15-4, 11-15, 15-1; Lindley I over Idaho I, 16-14, 8-15, 15-12; Chrisman II over Idaho II, 15-2, 15-6; Willis Sweet II over Lindley II, 15-4, 13-15, 15-5; Sigma Chi over Kappa Sigma, 15-12, 16-14; and Sigma Nu over Delta Chi, 15-5, 13-15, 15-12.

Musicians Will Hold District Meeting

A luncheon Saturday noon at Hotel Moscow will open the meeting of the North Idaho Music Educators. Prof. A. A. Beecher, head of the music department and president of the organization announced yesterday. A recital will be held in the auditorium in the afternoon. Faculty members Hall Macklin, Robert Walls, and Lee Gibson will be featured in the recital, which will include a violin demonstration by Prof. Carl Claus.

Idaho Grad Trains As FBI Agent

Several former Idaho law students have applied for positions as special agents in the F.B.I. and one, a member of the class of '40, has been accepted, according to word received by Dean Pendleton Howard direct from J. Edgar Hoover, head of the F.B.I. It is impossible to publish the name of the student accepted because of government regulations concerning publication of names of special agents. He is now in Washington, D. C., attending the government training school.

Mix Gets Tickets For Rose Bowl

Moscow football fans planning to attend the Rose Bowl football game in Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's day may secure their tickets before leaving home by making application to Gale L. Mix, Idaho graduate manager. Mix said that Idaho was allotted a certain amount of tickets to the game each year and that Idaho fans were welcome to purchase them. The price is $4.40 and those desiring the pasteboards should make their wants known within the next few days.

Leibowitz Places Eighth In National Meet

Phil Leibowitz, Vandal distance star, placed eighth in a field of 89 collegiate runners from 22 schools in the national collegiate cross-country championship race at East Lansing, Mich., yesterday. Places of Vic Dyrigall and Bob White, Idaho sophomores who ran in the meet, were not available at Argonaut press time.

Coach Announces Hoop Schedule

Season basketball tickets for the Idaho Vandal basketball season are available at the office of the graduate manager in the Student Union building, Gale L. Mix, Idaho managerial head, said today. Twelve games have been scheduled for the home season with four non-conference games and eight battles with conference members. December 2 is the first date for Coach Forrest Twogood to send the Vandals on the home court in competition against Eastern Washington college of Cheney, Wash. Games with Whitman and Gonzaga form the balance of the non-conference slate. January 18 is the first home conference game with Washington State college.

Confused Collegians

The college student's attitude on the war abroad and conscription have recently occupied much of the time, it seems, of writers and lecturers. Panel discussions, columns, speeches—all have concerned themselves greatly about how the students feel about it all. And many of such comments have implied or said bluntly that the youth of today is surprisingly lacking in enthusiasm, even patriotism, for the work of national defense.

Just what is the student's attitude today on our defense program, our policies abroad? Certainly, he is not all for it, nor is he completely opposed. Some students may be found at both extremes. However, for the most part, the attitude of students might be more properly defined as one of bewilderment, hesitation, doubtfulness. And from that the older generation read unwillingness to serve, cowardice, selfishness.

It is on the natural grounds of experience that our elders base their assumptions. Didn't they answer the call in the last war, cheerfully, enthusiastically? Didn't they, too, give up jobs, and opportunities just as valuable to them as we may have to forget? That's all true. To those questions, we of this generation must heartily agree. Then, why our bewilderment? Let us ask a question or two.

Have our elders forgotten so soon what they taught us for so long? Do they recall that we were raised in the backwash of the last war and that from the time we were old enough to understand were hammered with the ideals of peace and horrors of war? Have those same people forgotten the pains they went to in order to educate us by motion pictures, first hand accounts, books that we had had no business going to Europe; that to meddle "over there" brought us nothing but unpaid loans?

Not all of us have forgotten. Is it any wonder that we are a bit cynical, a bit bewildered as we see the whole story begin to unravel again with practically the same slogans that were derided so freely in the days after the last war? Can we help but ask questions when we see the cripple veterans of the last war selling flowers for a dime while billions are raised for national defense?

Boots, Galoshes, And Snow

Beauty or comfort? It's a controversy that Idaho women are facing now that snow flakes have blanketed the campus and white rubber boots have replaced galoshes and rubbers as a preventative against damp feet. Women say the Russian-like footwear is comfortable and chic (it was featured in Mademoiselle and Vogue). Men say the overgrown galoshes are sloppy and detract from feminine beauty.

It resolves into the age-old issue of whether men or women will dictate fashions for the feminine students on the campus. The male specie appears to have definite ideas on what's what in fashions; but, when asked for reasons for the disapproval, they give a vague but decisive, "It's sloppy." Women counter with the facts that the footwear, known as "flight boots," is practical, warm, and appropriate with sports clothes worn on campus. Women students will probably continue to wear the boots as long as snow is on the ground.

Perhaps the phenomenon of hundreds of white boots sloshing along to classes can be explained in another way. College students are not children, nor are they adults in the full sense of the word. While they are in college, they can indulge in some childish fashion whims which would be frowned on in the business world. This is especially true of women. They can, and do, wear accessories which good taste would not permit in an office or in the social circles of young married women. To white boots, if placed in this classification, can be added knee high socks, hair bows, mittens patterned after boxing gloves, corduroy baseball caps, and girlish pinafore frocks. Such fashions may be a flight back to the joys of youth before entering the dignity of true adulthood.

Communique Comment

In August, 1798, the British fleet under Nelson crushed the French at the Battle of the Nile and effectively cut off Napoleon's army in Egypt from its supply base in France. In November, 1940, the successors of Admiral Nelson are isolating Marshal Graziani's Italian force in the desert of western Egypt by their control of the shipping lanes of the Mediterranean. Mussolini's dream of Oriental empire, like Napoleon's, may be shattered by Britain's naval might.

It is reported that the Italian divisions under Graziani are immobilized on account of the break-down of a large part of their mechanical equipment. Hitler has sent to the harbors of southern Italy and Sicily tank and truck replacements to enable Graziani to push on toward Alexandria. But the aggressive alertness of the British squadrons between Italy and Libya is keeping Il Duce's convoys in port and is piling up the much-needed Nazi equipment on the docks of the chief Sicilian ports.

In the meantime, the Italians with Graziani are alarmed over the prospect of a sudden about-face by the French officers—including Weygand—in French North Africa. Continued Italian failure in Greece and Egypt may encourage Weygand and his colleagues to shift to the standard of General de Gaulle. Such a move would threaten Graziani's army of 200,000 with an attack from the rear by a force of equal or greater size.

The fact that the British are sending contingents of their own troops into Greece may be read as an indication that they consider their position in Egypt relatively secure, now that naval supremacy in the Mediterranean rests with their fleet. Britain does not have more than 150,000 soldiers in Egypt and Palestine. To send part of this small force to Greece, in the face of Graziani's invasion, would be foolhardy if there were a danger that the Italian commander could replace his disabled tanks and trucks and drive eastward.

Letters

To the Editor:
Criticism is well taken concerning committee appointments for the on-coming ALL COLLEGE SENIOR FORMAL to be held December 7th. For those who still think that all student class business is performed behind locked doors, I would like to explain how these appointments came about.

The committee heads were appointed by representatives elected by the direct vote of nearly 2000 members of our student body. This organization is known as the Independent Caucus. Other committeemen were unanimously appointed by the committee heads. Speaking as a member of the ASUI, I would much rather see the appointments made in this democratic way than by any one student head. The criticism should come do the fact that the minority is represented only through independent class officers. This will never be corrected until both the Independents and Greeks get together politically.

Also, there was criticism on the number of members selected both as heads and committeemen. Our competent committee heads are the ones to judge the number and whom they need to work with them. The responsibility for setting up the number and types of committees is that of the president, which was my own responsibility in this case. I find that too often it is human nature for people to sit back until they can complain about what has been done than it is to offer their suggestions in time to be of use.

I hope that it does not stretch the imagination of too many individuals when I say that all action concerning this famous annual formal has been taken with the outcome of the dance at heart. To put on this highly respected formal as is planned, it is taking the cooperation and talent from all corners of the senior class. This is reflected in the competent dance committees.

It is interesting and encouraging to find our student body so vitally concerned with putting over this formal. Those of you who are slightly skeptical of the methods used are appreciated equal to those who have complete confidence in the set up. For those slightly skeptical, it should be of your interest to know that the Senior dance committees are working in perfect harmony and with outstanding progress. Regardless of which group you're in, we are all working toward putting over the greatest formal in the history of our university.

To The Editor:
That spooks walk abroad on the Idaho campus is not denied by observing and fair minded students. But when, in a recent letter to the editor that was published in the Argonaut, the ungrammatical author of said letter reported the demise of a Mary Ellen Hartigan, he overstepped the bounds of fair comment.

Let it here be understood that the Miss Hartigan mentioned above is very much alive; the young lady is not among the deceased and objects to being referred to in the past tense.

The well-meaning but misguided or misinformed, S. W., author of the libelous letter should be cautioned about making statements that refer to living persons as dead.

The one circumstance that would tend to reduce the damage that might have been done by the publication of the falsehood, is that the content of the offending letter was of such a nature that few persons would wade through the verbiage of the first three paragraphs of the letter, and would not, therefore, reach the misstatement that appeared in the last paragraph.

amount to something with its artificial activity point system.

Certain results may be expected from such a situation. The activity level descends to the high-school stage. The "inside deal" proponents are provided with perfect alibis for keeping the doors or opportunity closed to those who want to extend their education beyond the classroom. The campus settles into the dreadful lethargy common to the haunts of those who have lost their curiosity.

Yes, the campus looks generally quite black to Jason today. He would be so much relieved if someone would even become angry at such a diatribe as this.

You Must Maintain Discipline

by Frances Hardin

"Describe the political and governmental background of the Victorian period." Maureen Anderson wrote the question on the blackboard and half turned, watched the 20 bent heads and fitfully scratching pens. That and the occasional rattle of paper were the only sounds in the small high school room.

"Keep your eyes on your own papers. Anyone caught cheating will receive an F for the semester." For an instant the pens lifted. Maureen looked defiantly into their accusing, resentful eyes, then past them at a green shade on a back window, flapping back and forth in the December draft. "What a damnably ugly room," she reflected and turned to write the next question.

"What were Carlyle's political theories?" Precisely, she dotted her i's and marked a numeral X for the last question, then suspiciously eyed the class.

"Joe Simmons, you were cheating! Bring your paper to the front." A car hummed by, slowing at the school zone sign, and a piece of chalk rolled off the blackboard, shattering into countless fragments. Nervously the class stirred, turning to watch the red faced boy. His chair creaked in agonized tones as he rose.

"That will be an F, Joe. Have you any thing to say?" Crumpling the paper, she dropped it in the scratched tin waste basket.

"It was a hard quiz, Miss Anderson." There was nothing impudent in the boy's manner, but for a moment, anger flushed her face. "You didn't know your material," she said sharply and picked up the stubby piece of chalk.

Of course it was a hard quiz. They had to be hard quizzes. Hard quizzes meant discipline, and they couldn't fire you if you had discipline, even if they hated you, maybe.

"That will be all. You have twenty minutes to finish. Better get busy, Joan." Despairingly, the girl re-read the question, and Maureen, watching her, knew that she wrote "Carlyle's political views" and slowly drew a long dash.

Funny how they never told you about hard quizzes back there. They told you about the "individual" and "democracy" and how you should probably go to church. And all the time you took notes and got B's in your blue books. But you were thinking about the Senior ball.

"These grades will count half on your semester grade, and I'm not grading on a curve." Someone gasped audibly. "I warned you the quiz would not be easy."

Standing at the window, Maureen watched the big gobby flakes drift down. They still had ten minutes. She probably had the best discipline in the county, and she had maintained it for three Science has pointed out that Camels are definitely slower-burning (see left). That means a smoke with more mildness, more coolness, and more flavor.
