Approves Selection Of Bob Wethern To Edit Next Year's Gem

BLUE KEY BLUES

I was in the back office of the Argonaut wondering how to write a Jason column that would not make any enemies and perhaps gain me a few friends, when in came an excited "rabble rouser." You guess it! It was our old "friend," Tommy Hawk.

"Did you see that new Blue Key point list?" he asked me in a screaming voice. "It's unfair, I tell you. It's a kick in the teeth to the Independents. I know one Independent who would have been eligible for Blue Key under the old point system, but the 400 point limit for political activity eliminates him."

"What's all this?" I asked. "Explain yourself."

"Well, you know Blue Key revised its point list last week... I didn't know they had one," I interrupted.

"Well, under the new system a man can not make any more than 400 points for political activity unless he is ASUI president," Tommy explained. "Even if he is class president for eight consecutive semesters he can only get 400 points toward Blue Key."

"So what?"

"That works against the Independents now that they have the political power. It's just another scheme to freeze the Independents out of Blue Key!" And with that verbal outburst, Tommy dropped a sheet of paper on the desk and rushed out of the office.

PERSONAL GRIPES

Tommy's little episode started Jason to wonder about the Blue Key point list. Sure enough, in bold letters was the 400 point limit on political activity. The avowed purpose of Blue Key is to select the leaders on the campus for its membership. A junior needs 700 activity points and a senior, 800. If the big shot politician is a real leader he should be able to get an extra 300 or 400 points in activities other than politics. Investigation showed that the 400 point limit didn't originate with the Greeks in an attempt to discriminate against the Independents. It was the brain child of one of the staunch Independents, who wasn't thinking of petty campus politics when he made the suggestion. He made the suggestion to help Blue Key.

Of course, the revised Blue Key point list isn't perfect. There are many inequalities and omissions of activities from the list. I realize that it is practically impossible to attain one that nears perfection, but I believe that a few of my own personal opinions of errors in the point list should be pointed out. This list isn't exhaustive, but is merely a sample:

1. No provision is made for points to be given the manager of the Ag club's "Little International" show.
2. No provision is made for points to be given the varsity debate manager, other than those received by other members of the debate team.
3. The 200 points given for membership and the 250 points for captain of Scabbard and Blade is way out of proportion to the importance and benefit of that organization.
4. The 50 points a year given for membership in Intercolligate Knights is a "slam" to the organization. The IK's really do something on the campus and deserve at least twice that many points.
5. The 150 points given for being a class officer other than president is a farce. Everyone knows that the treasurer never sees any of the class's money; the secretary never takes minutes of class meetings and hardly ever writes a letter for the class; and the vice president isn't even expected to do anything.
6. Executive board members are underpaid in Blue Key points with only 300.
7. The biggest example of unfairness and the only legitimate cause for Independent squawks is the provision giving the president and house manager of social groups 200 and 150 points respectively. It isn't strictly democratic to equally award the presidents of social groups with 25 members and 200 members although their work is substantially the same. A little weighting of the point list toward the president of the large halls would be fair.
8. Who is president of Phi Gamma Delta? That secret post has been used by Kenneth Kof-

The Revolution, she comes.

The gala days of Old Russia will be revived on the campus this week when the class of '42 presents "Moscow Madness" as the central theme of this year's annual Junior week. Events scheduled include a serenade Wednesday night, assembly and mixer Thursday night, formal prom Friday, and conclude with the cabaret Saturday. Tickets are on sale at all men's group houses and the Student Union bookstore.

Junior week will begin officially Wednesday night with the traditional serenade of all group houses on the campus by a group from the ranks of the Vandaleers, augmented by a chorus of picked voices.

"Confusa Sound"

The promise of something new in the way of entertainment is for once no idle talk, according to John Cook and Ned Gnaedinger, assembly chairmen. One of the main attractions to be offered on the widely varied program will be the new "Confusa sound," a variation of the Walt Disney product which attracted much attention in entertainment circles recently. Virginia Aylor will direct the program.

Swing artists, specialty acts guaranteed to be highly original, and other entertainment will be offered in the two-part assembly program which will begin at 7:30 in the auditorium.

Following the assembly will be a mixer at the Student Union ballroom at 9 o'clock.

Mixer Thursday

After the assembly, a mixer will be held at the Student Union ballroom at 9 o'clock. Admission price will be 10c for men; women will be admitted to the mixer free. Permission for women attending the mixer will be 10:30.

The formal prom is scheduled for Friday night at the Student Union ballroom. Music will be furnished by Jarvis Palmer, who will play for all Junior week.

Department Puts Styles of 1800 On Display

An unusual display of two 19th century gowns and two 1884 copies of Harpers Bazaar, fashion magazine, are now being exhibited in the home economics showcase. The garments are the possession of Vera Nell James, home-economics student in the university.

The dresses, Victorian in style, are of two types. One is a riding-habit of 1890 which Mrs. Cora E. Stewart, grandmother of Miss James, wore at the age of 16. The other is an 1877 dress.

The magazines feature spring "wrappings" for the fashionable late 19th century young woman.

Plans for a soph-frosh water battle to open Frosh Glee days, May 15, 16, and 17, were laid at a meeting of committee heads last Tuesday, said Hugh Harper, general chairman. The battle and free street dance on May 15, will be followed by the assembly on May 16 and the dance on May 17.

The assembly will be handled by Lois Frank, Egan Drenker, Bob Vonderharr, Sybil Urness, Ralph Joslyn, Clarence Steelman, and Pat Heath. Merrie Lu Kloefer, Herbert Larsen, Don Swan, Gene Meyers, Marjorie Call, and Burns Newby, have charge of the dance while Dick Crowther, Sherman King, Harley Greaves, and Ladd Hamilton will direct publicity.

All committees will meet at the Campus club tomorrow night at 7:30 to decide on a single theme to be used for both the dance and assembly.

Will Irwin, story writer, newspaper reporter, magazine editor and dramatist. Periods will be shortened.

Mr. Irwin recently completed and published a new book, "Propaganda in the News," a popular work on the subject. Other works by Mr. Irwin include "Men, Women and War" on world affairs; "The Red Button," a novel; and "The Thirteenth Chair," a play.

The correspondent will be the guest of honor at a luncheon after his speech given by Sigma Delta, men's journalism honorary, at the Blue Bucket. Other guests include President Harrison C. Dale, faculty members, and members of Theta Sigma, women's journalism honorary.

Aid To The Government

In 1918 Mr. Irwin was called on by the government of the United States to organize a Foreign Propaganda Service, which within several months was operating in thirty countries.

Mr. Irwin is currently writing articles for the Saturday Evening Post in collaboration with Capt. Emanuel V. Voska, who was a well-known secret agent in the first world war. The articles have attracted attention because of their appeal during work for national defense.

Several journalistic triumphs that have been accredited to Mr. Irwin include the description of the battle of Ypres, of the German march through Belgium, the battle of Verdun, and the exposure of the scandal in the United States Veterans' bureau.

C. L. Billings Talks At Banquet

C. L. Billings encouraged students in business to enter private business rather than governmentally owned and operated concerns, when he spoke at the banquet for students in the school of business administration held at the Student Union Tuesday night.

Mr. Billings, who is general manager for Potlatch Forests at Lewiston, was guest speaker for the banquet. Toastmaster was a graduate of the school of business, John Aram, also from Lewiston.

Ralph H. Farmer, dean of the school of business administration, gave a brief talk.

The program included a trombone solo by Hud Neiman and a piano selection by Bob Spalding. About 95 attended the banquet.

4-H Club To Meet At Idaho Farm

Saturday, 4-H club members from nine north Idaho counties will gather at the university farm to practice cattle judging on university livestock.

The meeting will determine teams to represent the respective counties at the annual Junior Livestock show in Spokane, the second week in May.

Newman Club Meets

Miss Louise Schlader led the discussion on different phases of Catholicism at the last Newman club discussion meeting. About 20 members and Father Earl Stoeke were present.

Weather Permits Men To Sleep Extra Hour

No "midnight drills" this year was the order from the military department yesterday. Lieut. Col. C. W. Jones stated that if ROTC students continued with the same industry and enthusiasm in military that they have shown so far this year it would not be necessary to have 7 o'clock drills. This is also dependent upon the weather conditions between now and May 14, the date set for inspection.

Departure from the customary two week period of early morning drills is made possible because of the exceptionally good weather which permits one hour extra drill a week.

T Club Will Honor Winning Boxers With Stag Dinner

Idaho's national champion boxers will be honored at a stag banquet sponsored jointly by the "T" club and the Vandal Boosters tonight at 8 at the Hotel Moscow.

The hotel kitchen will be turned over to Joe DiPippo, who will supervise the cooking the meal. All men interested in university athletics, including faculty members, Vandal Boosters, "T" Club members and students will attend.

Walt Gugnoni will act as master of ceremonies at the dinner, and has arranged an evening of entertainment.

Larger universities have an annual "sports stag" where students and community members meet to hash over past and future athletic events. At most schools the affairs have come to hold an important meaning. The "T" club intends to make the banquet a yearly custom at Idaho.

Tickets for the banquet may be purchased from Perry Culp, Italo Caccia, Sam Zingale, Rudy Franklin, Pete Hill and Brick Doyle.

5 Dietitians Accept Eastern Jobs

Nine Musicians Join Phi Mu Alpha At Meeting Sunday

Phi Mu Alpha, men's national music honorary, added nine new members Sunday night when initiation was held in the auditorium at 9 o'clock.

Tom Baker, Ivor Bauman, James Buttane, John Cook, Sherman King, Billy Magionas, Donald Miller, Jack Ragland, and Sam Kirksey are the new members.

Thirty amendments to the ASUI constitution and by-laws were approved for placement on the ballots at the coming ASUI elections by the executive board at a two-hour special meeting last night. The board also unanimously accepted Bob Wethern as Gem editor for 1942. At a regular session last night and refused to accept Wethern as Gem editor.

"These amendments are designed to remove ambiguities and to bring the constitution up to date," said ASUI President McCarthy. "They affect practically every department that is under the supervision of the ASUI. I believe that it is highly desirable that such changes be made."

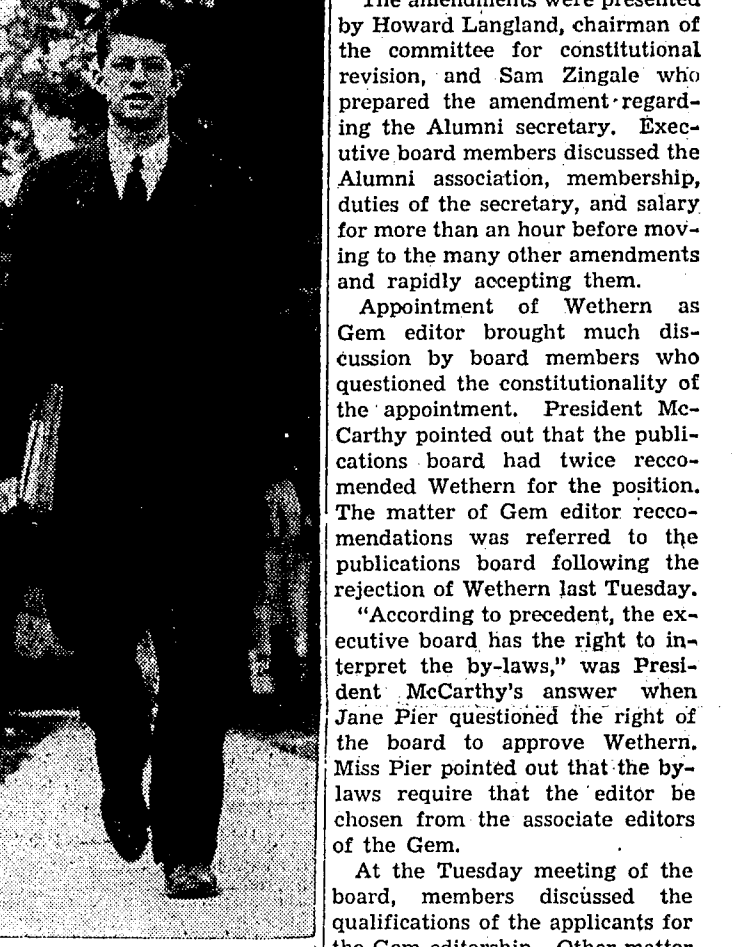

The amendments were presented by Howard Langland, chairman of the committee for constitutional revision, and Sam Zingale who prepared the amendment regarding the Alumni secretary. Executive board members discussed the Alumni association, membership, duties of the secretary, and salary for more than an hour before moving to the many other amendments and rapidly accepting them.

Appointment of Wethern as Gem editor brought much discussion by board members who questioned the constitutionality of the appointment. President McCarthy pointed out that the publications board had twice recommended Wethern for the position. The matter of Gem editor recommendations was referred to the publications board following the rejection of Wethern last Tuesday.

"According to precedent, the executive board has the right to interpret the by-laws," was President McCarthy's answer when Jane Pier questioned the right of the board to approve Wethern. Miss Pier pointed out that the by-laws require that the editor be chosen from the associate editors of the Gem.

At the Tuesday meeting of the board, members discussed the qualifications of the applicants for the Gem editorship. Other matter discussed at that meeting included

Bob Wethern, sports editor of both the Argonaut and Gem, last night was approved by the ASUI board to edit the 1942 Gem. Last Tuesday the board didn't approve Wethern's appointment and referred the matter back to the publications board, which again chose Wethern.

"Call Girl" Tells Experiences Awakening Sleepy Seniors

Pledge Finds Punching Sleepers Is a Risky Job in the Early Morn

"Call girl" is only one of many pledge duties, but it is by far the most trying. First of your many problems is trying to get up yourself. If you are supposed to call all the rest of the freshmen at 6:45 a. m., you can set the alarm for 6:30 a. m., let it run down, and finally get out of an upper bunk in a sleepy stupor at 6:41 a. m.

After a wild, vague hunt for your bedroom slippers, you put them on the wrong feet, and move the double bunk to get your bathrobe off the floor. You stumble down the steps, and grope around for the hall light. Then you remember it is burned out, and continue your dark journey to your room.

When you turn the light on, you see it is 6:44 a. m. and in the morning every minute counts. You rush madly upstairs and accidentally slam the door on the sleeping porch. An irate upper-classman yells "Quiet!"

A Risky Job

You dash around the sleeping porch, punching all the sleeping freshmen in the ribs. Punching all but one, that is. She is the mean-tempered sleeper who is apt to rise up and hit you—in her sleep. You argue with a few of the girls, and then wearily go down to the second floor again to see if you can get in a shower.

After the 3-minute shower, you wrap up in a towel, grasp the call list from the bulletin board, and climb the stairs again. This time you take the upperclassmen at the exact moment they have specified, being careful to use a gentle approach.

A light tap on the shoulder doesn't wake them, and if you shake them they wake up fighting mad. Two taps apiece usually convinces them morning has suddenly, and too quickly come. They blame you for it!

A Sleeper Lost

One person on the call list for 7 a. m. is in bed. She sleeps in a different bed every night. After hunting all over the porch, you find her sleeping with someone in a bunk in a dark corner.

In an attempt to get to breakfast in time, you dress hurriedly, rush downstairs, and just get in the dining room before the "hashers" close the doors—maybe.

Phi Betes To Hold Banquet At Hotel Moscow

Nunemaker, head of the department of modern languages at W.S.C., will address Idaho members of Phi Beta Kappa at the formal initiation banquet Wednesday, April 23, at 6 p. m. in Hotel Moscow. Idaho Women Return From Meeting For AWS Leaders

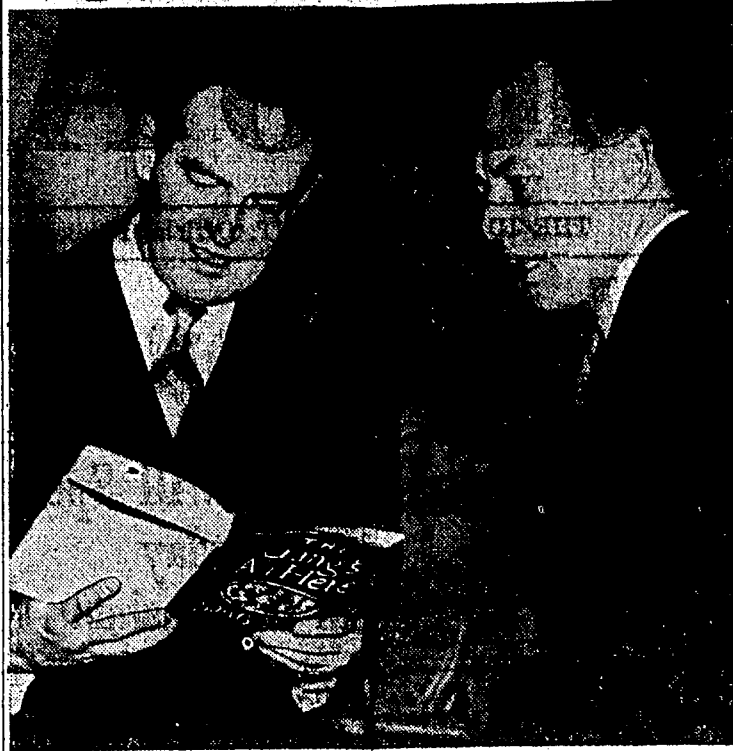

Ann Maguire, AWS president, and Mabel Ayres, president-elect, returned last week from the 1941 Intercolligate Associated Women Students' convention held at Texas Tech at Lubock, Texas, April 2 to 4.

Meetings were devoted to discussions of various topics on World Affairs, On the Campus, Campus Politics, Campus Casualness, Student Welfare Problems, and AWS.

The delegates flew to the convention, and then described the trip as "wonderful, with very good flying weather."

"Texas surely lives up to the southern reputation for hospitality. We had a delightful time," Miss Maguire said.

Stray Dog

By Mary Grunewald

Helen and Ethel were going down the walk to Ethel's house when Helen saw the little red dog. It ran up to her, wagging its tail.

"Oh, look," she cried. "Isn't it pretty? Whose is it?" "Oh, I don't know," Ethel said, swinging her arithmetic book. "It's been around here for several days. It tried to get the milk daddy put out for the cat, but he threw a stone at it. Come on."

Helen followed, a trifle reluctantly, and when they entered the kitchen where Ethel's mother was frying doughnuts she began to tell about the dog.

"Whose is it?" she asked again. "Just a stray. Someone probably went away and left it."

"But who feeds it?" Helen's eyes were wide. Mrs. Fenton laughed, a cruel, smug, grown-up laugh. "Good heavens, child, nobody. It steals wherever it can, I guess."

"Oh, poor thing. It's such a pretty red dog. Why don't you adopt it?"

"Us? With two cats already and food so high? No, it's too bad, but you can't take in every stray."

Helen stopped eating her doughnut. "Maybe he'd eat this if I took it out to him."

"Helen Williams, don't you dare! He'd start hanging around here looking for a meal all the time. Then, being not naturally unkind, and seeing the slow, gathering tears. "Don't worry about him. Someone may take him in. He isn't a bad-looking dog."

Helen consented to forget the subject for an hour, while she played with Ethel but when her father stopped by for her she began to talk as soon as she was in the car. Surely, Papa, who was always so kind to their dog and cats, would be glad to help.

"Papa, there's the prettiest little red dog in front of Fenton's and he doesn't belong to anybody, and Mr. Fenton threw a rock at him last night, and he'll starve to death, so can't we take him home with us tomorrow night? I don't think King would be jealous, do you, if there were another dog?"

He laughed as Mrs. Fenton had laughed, indulgently, aduly. "No, one cur's enough," and when she persisted said with more finality. "We can't take him, Helen."

Her mother too was immovable. More so than her father for there had been a trace of pity in his refusal. Her mother's laugh was cruel, harsh. "Another dog with King eating us out of house and home, and half-a-dozen, half starved cats hanging around the door. It would be the bunk if we had to start a dog farm."

After supper, she ventured again with timid persistence that held more than a hint of tears. "But mamma, he's so little that he wouldn't eat much and I wouldn't eat second helpings any more if we could just have him. He's so thin and he'll starve to death if we don't."

Her father belched because he had eaten too much, before he answered with irritation, "Don't you know what 'no' means, Helen? We can't afford to have him." Her mother, sloven in her size 46 print, ate the last piece of meat to save it, then dipped bread in the platter to get the last bit of grease for the dog. "You must think we're millionaires. One dog's enough for poor folks."

Selected were Betty Bean, Anastasia Cobb, Helen Dittman, Priscilla Done, Lois Hodge, Beulah Keister, Merrie Lu Kloefer, Erma Koffel, Phyllis Paynter, Carmoleta Rea, Virginia Richardson, and Nancy White. Alternates are Evelyn Quinn, Anne Whitman and Connie Stapleton.

Pilots Down Vandals, 4-3 In Home Diamond Game

Though playing errorless ball and out-hitting the Boise Pilots, Pioneer league professional team, Idaho's baseball forces dropped a 4 to 3 contest to the play-for-pay leaguers yesterday afternoon at MacLean field.

Idaho meets the Spokane Indians of the professional Western-International league Wednesday and Friday afternoons on the home diamond. Games start at 2:30 o'clock.

The defeat yesterday was the eighth for Idaho. The Vandals dropped three out of four games at Whitman last Friday and Saturday. Whitman defeated Idaho 8 to 2, 7 to 3, and 12 to 1. The Vandals won the night cap in Friday's doubleheader 7 to 3.

Score In Seventh
Boise put three men across home plate in the seventh inning yesterday to break a 1-all tie and march to victory over Coach Two-good's club. Gordie Williamson, Idaho student and second-sacker for the Boise club, started the pros on the victory path when he slapped out a single and then came in on Egnatic's three-base hit. Egnatic tallied after Rasmussen's fly out, and Futernick came in.

Babe Caccia, Idaho third baseman, smacked a home run in the opening inning to give Idaho an early lead. Caccia sent the ball sailing deep into center field over the head of Boise's Walt Lowe for the only homer of the day.

Few Circle Bases
Rook Hilton, first baseman, knocked out a three bagger for Idaho in the initial inning, but Idaho's hitters were unable to bring him in.

Twelve Idaho runners died on base during the nine innings, while only six Boise players were left on the bags. Boise was charged with two errors; Idaho none.

Boise marked their first run in the sixth frame when Futernick came in from second after Lowe had clouted a single through pitcher's box.

Catcher Kara Scores
Idaho scored runs in the seventh and eighth innings. Ted Kara, national boxing champion, and new Idaho catcher, crossed the plate in the seventh after Caccia singled. Chick Atkinson, second baseman, scored in the eighth on Snyder's hit.

Whitney Jenkins started pitching for Idaho and allowed seven hits in as many innings. He was relieved by Dick Snyder in the eighth, who finished the game without yielding a single.

Italian Spaghetti Eaters

"You have just bought a ticket to the Y club-Vandal Booster spaghetti feed, Sammy," says Italo "Babe" Caccia, Vandal athlete, to Sammy Zingale, assistant boxing coach. The spaghetti feed, to be given in honor of the Idaho national boxing champions tonight at Hotel Moscow, will be prepared by Joe DiPippo, noted chef of Italian dishes.

Thinclads Prepare For W.S.C. With Needed Conditioning

Ryan Sees Idaho's Strongest Events Strongly Contested By Cougars

Vandal thinclads yesterday began heavy workouts in preparation for their first dual conference track and field meet of the season with Washington State college, Saturday at Pullman. Rain and injuries have hampered previous practices and Idaho runners are far from top physical shape, Coach Mike Ryan says. Wednesday the Idaho team defeated Whitman college 73 to 57 at Walla Walla.

Intensive speedwork will occupy the runners' practice time while weightmen, hurdlers, and jumpers drill in their respective events. Tomorrow will be trial day for middle distance runners, Coach Ryan says.

Team's Strength Unknown
"We have had so few trials due to bad weather and injuries that I hardly know what each runner can do," Coach Ryan says. "W.S.C. has a strong, balanced team that has had the benefit of practice indoors in the fieldhouse. They are in top shape." "It will be next to impossible to get any points in the sprint, hurdle or jump events and our strongest events, the weights and distance runs, will be hotly contested," Ryan says.

Leibowitz Is Spearhead
Phil Leibowitz, defending northern division mile champion, will bolster Idaho's strength in the distance runs. Bob White and Bob Neal, distance men, have been ailing all season and will not be in top shape for the meet at Pullman. Bob Dwyer, Vic Dyrsgall, and LaMar Chapman are other distance-event runners.

"The quarter-mile event was to have been one of Idaho's strongest this season, but nearly all of the competitors are on the injury list," Ryan says. "Doug Schow, Clyde Harper, Stan Grannis and Al Cohen have all been hampered by injuries and George Whitlock, 440-yard prospect, quit track for spring football."

Whitman college's speedy track stars were hampered by a driving rain at Walla Walla and Idaho's Vandal trackmen plodded to a 73 victory. Missionary weightmen were handicapped by a recent measles epidemic and what was to have been a closely-contested meet turned into a one-sided route.

Results:
100-yard dash—Won by Bob Turner, Whitman; Harley Michaelis, Whitman, second; Frank Davis, Whitman, third; time, 10.1.
220-yard dash—Won by Turner, Whitman; Michaelis, Whitman, second; Davis, Whitman, third; time, 22.5.

440-yard dash—Won by Leibowitz, Idaho; Rhay, Whitman, second; Neil, Idaho, third; time, 54.4.
880-yard run—Won by Leibowitz, Idaho; Thomas, Idaho, second; Johnson, Idaho, third; time, 2:05.6.

Mile run—Won by Dyrsgall, Idaho; White, Idaho, second; Dwyer, Idaho, third; time, 4:31.

Sportlight Reflections

OF COACH SCHMIDT, THEY SAY . . .

From near and far and here and there, sports scribes of the northwest's various colleges have all "diagnosed" the recent appointment of Francis A. Schmidt as head Vandal grid mentor. Some of the "findings" have been soothing, others have been rather irritating, but all have been interesting. They go something like this:

Oregon Daily Emerald—" . . . Idaho is the one breather on the schedule. Everyone else thinks so, too. Francis Schmidt didn't put out typical Idaho teams while he was at Ohio State, so it's a safe bet that nobody will push the Vandals around." (Confusing, isn't it?)

The Montana Kaimin—" . . . The naming of Schmidt as Vandal coach caused quite a stir on the Montana campus. The Vandal game has developed into what is practically the big game on the Montana schedule since the rivalry started over 38 years ago. Furthermore, in a very few years the game will become with no exception, Montana's big game. . . . Students begin to wonder if Montana will ever win a game from Idaho, now. Then the fact that the Grizzlies have downed the Vandals only seven times in football history is brought up.

"Everyone is soon consoled when it is remembered that the Grizzlies have topped Idaho three times in the past five years and the question of how are the Grizzlies going to beat "re-emphasized" football at Idaho arises. . . . True, Schmidt will put a team on the field which will play razzle-dazzle football and they may win a lot of football games." . . . (Continued on a page we couldn't find.)

The W. S. C. Evergreen—" . . . A sort of surprise it was to hear that Francis Schmidt, formerly of Ohio State, had beaten out all opposition for the football coaching job at the University of Idaho. Interested Idahoians (there are a few that aren't) were amazed but pleased to hear that Schmidt chose the former freshman mentor—Walt Price—as his assistant. Vandal fans figured "razzle-dazzle" Schmidt would pick some favorite outsider for the job. The way things turned out made a great hit with Vandalville." (Agreed!)

The Utah Chronicle—" . . . Idaho publicity agents are beating the drums over the appointment of Francis Schmidt, ex-Ohio State grid mentor, as head football coach . . . replacing "doghouse" fearful Ted Bank. . . . This coaching shakeup is unanimously favored and Vandal fans are of the definite opinion that the Idaho grid squads of the future will more than make up for the sad record of the past under the tutelage of Schmidt.

"But all the while fans, writers and even players who follow the Vandals realize that it looks like another "bust year" for the bush leaguers who like to play around with major league competition. . . . Schmidt's a stickler for the popular "razzle-dazzle" brand of football . . . and this alone is an optimistic note for the Idahoans who previously have played a brand of ball as dead as Mussolini's war aims. . . . Therefore, if only for the reason that they can't be much worse, the Vandals should be an improved bunch next fall. . . . Incidentally, they will open their schedule against Utah's Redskins at Moscow, September 27."

And incidentally, Mr. Clark Lobb (author of the Chronicle's libelous comment), we hope you can make it for that game, September 27. We members of the record-breaking Homecoming crowd that is going to jam Neale stadium hope that you are present. It will be fun to "razzle" you while Coach Schmidt's Vandals "dazzle" your Utah Redskins.

AMUSING INCIDENT

It could happen only when Sammy Zingale, assistant boxing coach, was hovering in the background. On the way to Madison, Wis., Norm Jensen, Frankie Kara, Don Reed, and Claude Hansen amused themselves by playing cards. With no poker chips available, the boxers used some of Sammy's Beechnut samples for the needed units. In no time at all, the card table was a confusing conglomerate of vari-colored mints and gum. It was in such a messy state that mittmen left the table while they visited the diner for lunch.

Lurching down the aisle of the boxers' car with the sway of the train came Duane "Dewey" Allen, ex-sports scribe for the Argonaut. "Dewey," it seems, had volunteered for active service in the army and was on his way to a camp in Kentucky. He spotted the Beechnut-laden table and before he could mutter, "Where have I seen so much Beechnut before?" he had said, "At Idaho when Sammy Zingale made the rounds." He was right for Sammy had returned from the dining car while "Dewey" stood there.

"Dewey" and the "subjects" of many of his Argonaut sports stories had a fine reunion before the kachki-clad scribe departed for the Bluegrass region—with an ample supply of Beechnut in his pockets.

Sigma Xi Will Hear Noted Scientist At Next Meeting

Dr. Thomas G. Thompson, director of the University of Washington oceanographic laboratory at Friday Harbor, San Juan Islands, will be the speaker at a regular dinner meeting of the Idaho chapter of Sigma Xi, national scientific society, at 6 p.m. Thursday at Hotel Moscow.

He will discuss some of the technical phases of his research, which is supported by the Rockefeller Foundation. An election meeting of the chapter has been tentatively scheduled for the first part of the week.

Delts Choose Still

Dick Still was elected delegate to the Delta Tau Delta national convention last night. The convention will be held August 27-29 at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. Nick Lauer was named alternate.

Tennis Squad Eyes Initial Meets

A tentative tennis team roster to represent Idaho against Whitman college netmen at Walla Walla Friday was released by Dale Reynolds, manager, yesterday. Washington State college tennis players invade Moscow Saturday for the season's first conference matches.

Named to the full six-man squad were Bud Doane, Elmer Jordan, Sumner Delano, Kent Barber, Dale Pollack, and Reynolds. Squad members to compete in singles and doubles events will be selected before Friday, Reynolds says. Rains interrupted last week's practice schedule and the Vandal netmen have begun extra-hard sessions this week in preparation for the season's initial meet against Whitman's Missionaries.

I got assets. Do you know what assets mean? Sure. Assets are little donkeys.

Gridmen Finish One-Half Of Spring Sessions

Coach Francis A. Schmidt's Idaho gridmen reached the midway mark of their 30-day spring practice session yesterday but gave no indications that there would be a "let-up" during the remaining drill period. Extensive scrimmage and drill sessions will be used for the next 15 days, according to Coach Schmidt. Two scrimmage sessions are tentatively slated for tomorrow and Saturday, he says.

Defense and punt formation will be stressed in this week's drill periods with Vandal gridmen redoubling their efforts to get as much experience as possible this spring. Rain hindered a scrimmage game last Wednesday.

'Mural Sports

Intramuralists are preparing to end their 1941 track campaign this afternoon in Neale stadium. Semifinal events in the track program were run last night, and the field events were completed last Wednesday.

Horseshoe, next sport on the intramural calendar, gets underway tomorrow afternoon at 4:15 o'clock Leon Green, intramural sports director, announced.

Track points have not been tabulated but will be ready after this afternoon's races.

Final Field Results

Final results in the field events are:

Shot-put—Harris, Kappa Sigma, first; Acuff, Alpha Tau Omega, second; Beall, Kappa Sigma, third. 43 ft. 4 in.

High Jump—Konen, Kappa Sigma; Schenk, LDS; and Eimers, Alpha Tau Omega; Rush, Idaho club; Furey, Sigma Chi; and Daniels, Kappa Sigma, all tied for third. 5 ft. 2 1/4 in.

Broad jump—Madison, Alpha Tau Omega; Acuff, Alpha Tau Omega; Peterson, Idaho club. 18 ft. 4 in.

Pole vault—Welch, Idaho club; Eimers, Alpha Tau Omega; Beall, Kappa Sigma. 10 feet.

Semi-Final Track Events

Last night's semifinal results are:

Welch Grabs Places
100-yard dash—(First heat) Welch, Idaho club; Jordan, Idaho club; Madison, Alpha Tau Omega. Time: 10.9 seconds. (Second heat) Bowler, Willis Sweet; Reilly, Phi Delta Theta; Harland, Phi Delta Theta. Time: 11.1 seconds.
120-yard low hurdles—(First heat)—Eimers, Alpha Tau Omega; Welch, Idaho club; Glahe, Christian. Time: 15 seconds. (Second heat) Wilson, Phi Gamma Delta; Gordon, Willis Sweet; Whitley, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Time: 15.5 seconds.

880-yard relay—Willis Sweet, Phi Gamma Delta, and Phi Delta Theta. Time: 1:48. Alpha Tau Omega and Idaho clubmen won their 880-yard relay semifinals events last week and will be in the finals. High hurdles from both groups qualified for the finals last week.

An ancient household industry that has found its way into great modern factories is spinning.

'Spring Sessions Important'

"What we do in spring practice largely determines what we will do in the fall and it is important that everyone interested in making Idaho's 1941 football team, turn out," said Coach Schmidt. "Vacationing gridmen left the squad ranks pretty well thinned last week, but we will have to drive hard from now on."

Right Halfbacks Lacking

Freshman Joe Malta and Vince Henehen are other backfield candidates. Minor injuries have plagued the quarterback candidates, Chet Long and Pete Heemovitch but both are recovering. Long sustained a stiff neck and Heemovitch an injured arm during last week's sessions.

Association Elects Dr. Boyer As Chairman

Dr. W. H. Boyer, assistant professor of psychology, was elected chairman of the psychology and education division of the Inland Empire Education association at Spokane, April 9 to 11, and Dr. Allan C. Lemon, professor of educational psychology was re-elected secretary.

Dr. Lemon gave a demonstration on maladjusted children at the association to show the work of the Child Guidance clinic in Moscow.

It's This Way, Fellows

We're really proud of you fellows who brought back those national championship trophies. We're proud of the whole boxing squad and its coach, and think that the rally held for you last Wednesday night was a fine idea. We really think much more of you than that half-filled auditorium indicated, even though it was a better and more enthusiastic crowd than we have for most of our rallies.

To those of you who might wonder why, if we thought it was such a fine idea, we didn't bother to attend the function, we can offer as usual from our ready-filled store of alibis such explanations as, "it had rained earlier; might do it again," "Easter vacation" and the old standby, "not the psychological moment." But for most of you who have been here long, such specific statements are unnecessary. You know how we students at the University of Idaho are about such things as rallies.

We want winning teams, we like our Gem and Argonaut to be superior to any other college publications, we expect our music and debating teams to come back with cups. But we don't expect you to bother us about such things while you are in the process of getting them. That's your job! After you have done your part in the field and on the platform, here and abroad, we shall pass judgment on the merits of your work. Over the coffee and cokes, across the bridge table, we shall say, "that's good," or "fair," or, perhaps one of us with a bit more drive will venture, "shoulda seen what we did in high school."

We should be ashamed of the crowd we had at that rally. Not one, but three Idaho men received cups as national champions; and one of those three had been acclaimed the outstanding boxer of the tournament. President Dale made a special trip from Spokane to read a poem of his own in honor of the occasion; and others attending had to make special effort to get here. And we? Not enough of us right here on the campus would walk over to fill the auditorium.

But we don't feel ashamed. As a matter of fact, we as a student body don't feel much of anything; we're sort of like a vegetable; we don't get mad. We just sit and pass judgment on the affairs of campus and world.

So, "Fight on Idaho; fight on to victory!" But leave us with our coffee, coke, and table of bridge.

—K. C.

Upon the shoulders of the Yugoslav mountain fighters who still resist the German invader in what remains of their homeland, rests the future of the British Empire in the Near and Middle East. As long as the determined Serbs can keep Hitler from sending the bulk of his powerful Balkan army into northern Greece, the British and Greek forces in the defense lines that stretch westward and northward from Mt. Olympus will face Nazi units of limited size and strength.

While meting out sincere praise for the stand being made by the British and Greek troops in the mountains south of Salonika and Monastir, neutral military experts doubt the ability of the 50,000 British and 150,000 Greek soldiers in that region to hold back an all-out assault by over 400,000 Germans, aided by the Luftwaffe squadrons already operating from Salonika. Now that the German-Italian spearhead has penetrated into Egypt itself, General Wavell will not dare to weaken his Cairo garrison by sending more British divisions to the defense of Hellas.

If the Nazis are able to "mop up" the valleys of central Yugoslavia in short order and oust the British from Greece by sheer weight of numbers, the effect on the course of the war will be incalculable. German control of Greece will mean the closing of the Balkan approach to the Reich, the only feasible avenue for a British offensive now that Hitler has fortified thoroughly the coasts of the Low Countries and Occupied France. Failure of Wavell's army in Hellas to rescue either Yugoslavia or Greece will put a big dent in Britain's prestige among the conquered peoples of the Continent—and possibly convince Vichy that Germany is the horse to back.

The Battle of Greece is actually the British-German struggle for control of the Suez Canal, which has been under British domination since Disraeli's brilliant coup in 1875. Nazi seizure of the Greek peninsula might mean the ultimate crumbling of the British position in Egypt and in the Arabian states to the east. If Hellas goes the way of Norway and Poland, Turkey can be expected to buckle under and grant passage for German troops across Asia Minor to French Syria and to the borders of that recent addition to the Friends of the Axis—oil-rich Iraq.

Captain of an American passenger liner reported a whale stopped his ship at sea by being caught on the bow. And that ought to stop all fishermen cold.

mehl and Frank Fowles to get enough precious points to be eligible for Blue Key. If the president of the Fiji house is going to be given 200 points toward Blue Key, there ought to be some way of checking up on his alleged presidency. I'm not saying that Kotfmehl and Fowles weren't house presidents. Perhaps they were, but it does look funny!

TOMMY'S PAPER
 "My meditation and mental 'tearing down' of the Blue Key point list was interrupted by a gust of wind which blew into my face that piece of paper that Tommy Hawk so graciously dropped. I read with amusement: Tommy Hawk's personal opinion of the Blue Key point list:

1. Interfraternity Council; 300 points.
2. Independent Council; minus 300 points.
3. Member of T.N.E.; automatically becomes eligible for Blue Key membership.
4. Chairman of the Independent party caucus; hasn't got a chance of attaining Blue Key!

My, but Tommy's a radical cuss!
