Fun, Ain't It?

At long last, the old rah rah spirit seems to be seeping into the Idaho student body. Student cheering at the Utah game was said to have been the best in years; the rally for the returning team last Sunday morning was unexpectedly large, even if the majority of ralliers were just a bit sleepy eyed. Student enthusiasm is keener than in recent years. Why? If the special open air train to Pullman for the Idaho-W. S. raphers from Life magazine are really on the train to snap pictures of student life at Idaho, the story book and movie version of going to college will be more than fiction at Moscow.

Perhaps the shakeup in the athletic setup has had a large share in the shaping of student attitude toward the lighter side of campus life; perhaps it is an escape mechanism de-signed to push into the background the many unpleasant problems to which the international situation has given rise: it is infinitely more pleasant to speculate on the football game next week than on the long white envelope sent by the local draft board. But whatever the cause, the change has come. It may be foolish to yell your head off at a football game instead of silently watching the play. But it's kinda, -F. M. fun, isn't it?

Skier Kaare Engen Picks Wrestlers Report For Training Two Winter Sites Nine men reported last night to Hank Juran, wrestling team

Kaare Engen, nationally famous skiing expert, spent Saturday and Sunday mornings touring Moscow mountain and selected two sites for winter areas for Idaho skiers.
