

Ever since Donald M. Nelson and his supply priorities and allocations board issued the statement last Thursday to "stop construction" on all projects that are not vitally concerned with national defense rumors have flown fast and thick in regard to whether the new engineering laboratory now being constructed across the street from the heating plant will be completed or whether it will be delayed until after Uncle Sam has made the world safe for British imperialism.

The SPAB can block any public works project approved by congress or any other authority simply by using its priority power to deny materials to projects. The criteria by which the SPAB would allot the vital materials will be:

1. Does this construction involve the use of appreciable quantities of such critical materials as steel, copper, brass, aluminum and bronze?

2. Is the construction directly necessary for national defense or clearly essential for the health and safety of the civilian population?

Administration officials apparently are befuddled by the maze of "ifs" in regard to the decree. President Harrison C. Dale yesterday said that he doubted if the decree would affect the new engineering building as the work has already been started on the project and that all the reinforcing steel needed for the building has been shipped into Moscow and cut by the contractors. He added that no structural steel is needed to complete the construction and that none of the other vital materials is needed.

Another university official had the opposite view on the "priority question." He indicated that the work may be held up because of the inability to get reinforcing steel for the second floor of the building. The steel has been ordered from a Seattle firm, which has been unable to replenish its supply from the steel mills since October 1 and it is now exhausted.

Contractor J. D. Berry had the following comment on the situation: "So far work is going along fine on the building, but it may bog down soon because of a shortage of steel."

Whether or not the building is necessary for national defense is up to the priority chieftains to decide, but Jason believes that if the university made its appeal on the basis of "essential for the health and safety" it would succeed—providing it would raze the old Engineering building.

POLITICAL POOH POOH

Yesterday at a special executive board meeting called to choose the election board for Thursday's balloting, an Independent party politician did his best to destroy one of the reforms that his predecessors had installed into the campus politics a couple years ago in an effort to "clean up" the political situation.

Independent party leaders went to much effort to put into operation a system whereby members of the election board shall be chosen by merit. They introduced a system to have students take an examination and have the ten highest from each political party serve on the board and finally succeeded in getting an amendment through. All fine, except that four Independents—Harvey Morgan, Lindley Hall; Hank Noel, Chrisman Hall; Ellen Cox and Marian Franson, both of Forney Hall—tied for eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh. One of the four had to be eliminated and given the first alternate position. Then what did the Independent party politician want to do? Refer back to the old system of giving this ball because it didn't have the other thing.

He wanted to give Noel one of the posts because he was from Chrisman Hall on the basis that Chrisman didn't have any other members on the board and that they had no candidates running in this election. The "swap" system of old!

It amounted in effect to an effort to destroy one of the foundations upon which the Independent party was founded several years ago—that of promotion and determination by merit rather than favoritism.

However the Independents didn't use that reasoning as a basis for determining their three election board members out of the four who tied. They went on the assumption to utilize the younger students and thereby knocked Senior Harvey Morgan down to the alternate position. Which may or may not be justified. Jason doesn't think so.

Students Will Vote Thursday For Class Officers

Craig Announces Dad's Day Appointments

Committees for the annual Dad's day celebration to be held this year October 25, were named last night by Knox Craig, general chairman. All committee members will meet with Dean Beatrice Olson, Dean Herbert J. Wunderlich, and the rally committee Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the ASUI office.

"As in past years, the men's and women's houses having the highest percentage of dads present that day will be awarded cups," Craig stated. "A gift will also be awarded the dad coming the farthest for the game."

No cards will be mailed out to dads in the state this year, but Craig urged all students to write their folks letters inviting them to attend that day. Tentative plans call for a rally Friday night with a student-talent show to be staged in the university auditorium. Half time entertainment for the Idaho-Willamette game is being planned. Register Friday.

Dads will be registered Friday afternoon and Saturday morning at the Student Union building. They will be admitted to the football game for the tax price, Gale Mix said. Students registering their dads should bring their ASUI books, so dads can obtain tickets.

Committees named are: registration, Wayne Thompson, chairman, Marilyn Jones, John Kantjas, Marion Johnson, Adene Hyde, and Virginia Newton; publicity, Tom Campbell, chairman, Don Carlson, Carol Anderson; house entertainment, Dorothy Bayne, chairman, Helen Hamilton, and Lee Raglan; assembly, Ed Davis, chairman, Frank Hyke, Betty Boles, and Frances Hardin.

Working in conjunction with these committees will be the rally committee of Ozzie Walsh, Mary Ellen Hartigan, Ladd Hamilton, Bob Robson, and Maxine Mulrony.

Yell Kings To Call Roll at Rally

"Roll call" will be called at the rally Thursday night when the football game leaves for Logan and its game with Utah State on October 18. All group residences will be expected to answer the roll call with a yell, according to Yell King Ozzie Walsh.

The rally will start at 6:30 o'clock in front of the Bucket. It will be led by the yell team, Spurs, IK's, and the Pep band. Short talks by team members are scheduled.

There will also be a rally Sunday morning to welcome the team back. Students will gather at the station at 8:45 a. m.

Famed Artists To Play In Pullman Monday

Music lovers will get their first taste of the talent scheduled to appear on the Community Concert program this year Monday evening, when the internationally famous piano duo of Bartlett and Robertson are presented in Pullman.

Idaho students will be admitted by presenting their activity tickets, as all concerts on the series are sponsored jointly by the student bodies of Washington State college and Idaho and the Moscow-Pullman townspeople concert organization.

The duo has been widely acclaimed as the "best loved piano duettists in the world." They began their careers separately. Ethel Bartlett was born in London and Rae Robertson in Iverness, Scotland, and each was recognized as an artist in his own right before they met.

Following their marriage, each continued his own career for a short time, but tired of being separated and so gave a two-piano recital "just for fun." This was the start of their new career. Beautiful Woman. Ethel Bartlett has been called

Today, They Work—Next Week?

The new Kirtley Engineering laboratory now being constructed across the street from the university heating plant is rapidly taking shape despite Donald M. Nelson's decree to "stop construction" on buildings not vitally affected with national defense. Concrete has been poured and the foundation for the building is nearly completed. Whether or not the construction of the building will be delayed or stopped by national defense priorities is a matter of speculation and variance in opinions among university officials.

Authority on Far East To Lecture Before Idaho Students Monday

Journalist, traveler, photographer, author and commentator all in one man will be the program feature next Monday when Deane Dickason, noted Far East authority, lectures at Idaho as a feature of the season's lecture series, according to Dean T. S. Kerr, chairman of the university public events committee. The assembly will be held at 11 a. m. in Memorial gymnasium.

The islands of the East Indies will form the substance of Dickason's lecture, and their importance internationally will be reviewed in the light of recent events in that sector and in regions bearing upon it.

Dickason 18 years ago resigned his post as city editor of a Denver paper to sail the seas as a newspaper correspondent, lecturer, motion picture producer and publicity director for world cruises. His journeys have taken him around the world 20 times and have afforded him a fairly far reaching knowledge of the Orient. His motion pictures include the "Port o' Call" series and the feature picture, "Virgins of Bali," both directed, narrated and photographed by the traveler himself. East Indies Important.

Because of the role the East Indies are fated to play in coming world events as the storehouse of raw materials, Deane Dickason's talk will cover angles not revealed before by a speaker at Idaho. His recent visits to centers of intrigue in both Europe and Asia will bear weight in his discussion of the East Indies, and their part in today's war and tomorrow's peace will be brought to light.

Larson Recovering

Dr. W. E. Larson, specialist in soils with the extension service, who received a compound knee fracture in an automobile accident near Montpelier last week, is recovering in a Salt Lake City hospital, it was reported yesterday.

Academic Council To Settle Thanksgiving Question

The academic council will meet tomorrow to discuss the possibility of changing Thanksgiving vacation to November 20 instead of November 27 as was originally set last year said, "Bartlett and Robertson play like a criterion. One measures all piano teams by them."

Executive Board Names Ravenscroft To Supervise Election Tabulation

Students May Get Directory Soon

The student directory will be issued about the latter part of October, according to O. A. Fitzgerald, university editor. The list of faculty members was received by the publications department Wednesday and the compilation of students addresses is nearly complete.

The book will sell for 10 cents and will be available at the Student Union bookstore.

McCreery Speaks To Pledges At Annual Dinner

"Fraternity Leadership" was the topic of Otis McCreery, dean of men at WSC, at the second annual Inter-fraternity pledge banquet held last night in the SUB ballroom. About 240 pledges from the 12 fraternities on the campus accompanied by house presidents, attended the banquet.

Dick Still, vice-president of the council, was master of ceremonies and Ed Riley was toastmaster.

President Harrison C. Dale emphasized fraternal loyalty, remarking that "People who are loyal to small groups such as fraternities are usually loyal to larger groups, such as their town, and their country. You do not substitute one loyalty for another when joining a fraternity. Rather, you add to the first loyalty."

Dean McCreery told how in later years the fellowship and friendship would take on its true significance. Other speakers were WSC Inter-fraternity president Bud Brown and Dean of Men Herbert Wunderlich. Jerry Todd furnished the music during the dinner.

Tryouts To Begin On Wednesday

Try-outs for the second A.S.U.I. play, "The Little Foxes," will begin Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium. John Sollers, director, said yesterday. Tentative date for the play is December 8.

The dynamic feminine lead for the Lillian Hellman show was played on Broadway by Tallulah Bankhead. Bette Davis starred in the movie version.

Mr. Sollers announced that the play would be cast and into rehearsals by Monday.

Work Begins This Week On Dairy Building

That construction of the University of Idaho's new dairy building may start the last of this week was the good news brought to the campus yesterday by Harrison C. Dale upon his return from southern Idaho. President Dale addressed a district educational meeting at Challis and from there went to Pocatello to transact business connected with the southern branch and then to Boise to confer with officials of the department of public works and with Tourtelotte and Hummel, the architects who planned the building.

President Dale reported that the university had recommended to the department of public works, the state agency supervising the two new buildings awarded the university by the last state legislature, that the basic bid of Kloepper and Cahoon of Boise for general construction and that of the Max Eiden company, also of Boise, for plumbing, heating and refrigeration be accepted.

"Since the architects now are working over plans and conferring with the contractors on adjustments, we do not know exactly what the building will cost," President Dale explained. The grand total of the bids submitted, however, plus the estimated cost for wiring the building, amounted to $100,000, or $5,000 in excess of what the last legislature appropri-

Class officers and one proposed amendment to the ASUI constitution are up for consideration in the election Thursday. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors will elect class officials, and the entire student body will either approve or reject the amendment calling for numeral sweaters for freshman fencers.

Freshman class officers already have been chosen, so their only vote will be on the proposed amendment. Graduate students also will vote only on the amendment. Election board members, who were given an examination last Wednesday, were approved by the executive board at a meeting yesterday afternoon. Ravenscroft Board Chairman.

Vernon Ravenscroft, downtown student, was named chairman of the board, and Ed Riley, Sigma Nu, was named vice chairman. Ravenscroft made the highest score in the exam by rating 100 out of a possible 102.

Independent election board members are Dale Baskett, Ralph Joslyn, Kathleen Orr, Roy Flay, Seth Corless, Melvin Alsager, Marion Franson, Ellen Cox, and Henry Noel. Harvey Morgan is alternate.

United Student board members approved were Mary Ellen Ripley, Oliver Mackey, Bill Campbell, Bob Bremer, Mary Fran Marshall, Bob Korman, Lorene Raeh, Winifred Christiansen, and Gay Bonman. Beth Riedel is alternate.

Milton Eberhard, ASUI president, announced yesterday that polls will open at 9 a. m. Thursday, ready for student balloting. Booths will be at the Administration Building. (Continued on Page Three)

University To See Known Paintings

"Injuns," a ghost town, and sweeping landscape are picture subjects for three original paintings on display in the home economics department show-case. Made available to the university by Mrs. Esther Whiting, home economics student, the exhibit is from a collection of paintings borrowed from a museum in Heyburn.

A large landscape picture hangs in the center of the case. The picture was painted by Olaf Miller, a well-known Danish painter who has studied extensively and is now living in Rupert, Idaho.

The final painting is an original by Irving Couss, a well-known painter famous for his Indian scenes. Mr. Couss is listed in most history books as a painter of Indian life, who has the ability to capture the charm and picturesque of true Indian lore. This picture by Mr. Couss is entitled "Moon Chant."

The Heyburn museum was founded by J. M. Whiting, father-in-law of Mrs. Whiting. Mr. Whiting, formerly principal of the Heyburn High school and now a resident of Moscow, became interested in paintings and founded this school museum which has gradually grown from a very small collection to a relatively large, diverse group of paintings.

Regents To Meet In Pocatello

President Harrison C. Dale will leave tomorrow for Pocatello for a meeting of the board of regents there next Saturday. He expects to return next Sunday or Monday.

The regents will discuss plans for refinancing several bond issues concerning buildings at the southern branch and also an issue in regard to the university library here. The regents will inspect the high altitude farm and extension service at Felt, in the Teton country, President Dale said. The farm, over 6,000 feet high, is being used as an experiment in raising crops at high altitudes. (Continued on Page Three)

Ted Florito, popular orchestra leader now appearing on the Pacific coast, will play in Memorial gymnasium October 22. He is shown here "ticking the ivory" for his band.

Man Who Started Arboretum At Idaho Is Dead

Funeral services will be held today for Clement L. Price, 78, former forestry nurseryman at the University of Idaho who died Sunday at his home in Moscow. Mr. Price served for 26 years with the forestry faculty, and retired from his post in 1935.

With the late Dr. C. H. Shattuck of the forestry school, Mr. Price started the nursery and the arboretum in 1910, and was recognized as an authority on the culture of forest and shade trees before coming to Idaho he had taught in the public schools of Illinois and Nebraska.

He was born in Oblong, Ill., September 25, 1863, and came to Idaho in the late 90's, being a pioneer of Latah county as well as a long time member of the university faculty.

Services will be held at the Short chapel today at 3:30 p. m. with the Rev. James Whitman officiating. Graveside services will be conducted by the Odd Fellows lodge, of which Mr. Price was a member.

Fio-Rito Composes Many Popular Song "Hits"

Ted Fio-Rito, appearing here October 22 in Memorial gym, hasn't always confined himself to waving a baton in front of an orchestra, for the smiling maestro is the composer of over 150 songs, more than half of which have become hits.

Included among his hit tunes are "Now I Lay Me Down To Dream," "Laugh Clown Laugh," "Then You've Never Been Blue," "King for a Day," "Sometime," "No, No, Nora," "Charley My Boy," "Three on a Match," "Alone at a Table for Two," and "I Never Knew."

Fio-Rito composed his first songs while he was still a Newark, N. J., high school boy. He worked his way up the length of Broadway, and didn't sell a song, but he landed a job because a publisher was convinced of his sincerity.

He began his career as a band leader in Detroit several years ago, and has been one of the country's most popular band leaders ever since.

Fio-Rito has appeared in several films, but his best contribution to the movies was the discovery of Betty Grable, who was his featured vocalist for two years. He also launched Evelyn Keyes and Joy Hodges in movieland.

Featured with Fio-Rito here will be "Candy" Candido, "The Little Man With a Thousand Voices," Allan Cole, song stylist; Frank Flynn, drummer and vocalist; Bert Traxler, "Stratopospheric Saxophonist"; and "The Three Chicks" and their "Power Diving Trombones."

Numbers featuring Fio-Rito and his band have been installed in the SUB lounge nickelodeon, and pictures featuring members of the band have been placed in the lounge show case.

Tickets for the dance went on sale yesterday. Admission will be $1.65 a couple for dancing, and 44 cents for seats in the balcony, Intercollegiate Knights officials announced.

Marion Johnson will arrange the exhibit for the Women's Athletic association, and Erma Koffel will be in charge of the Alpha Lambda Delta exhibit.

Large Crowd Tops Bucket Record

A record crowd attended the Blue Bucket dance Saturday night, due probably to the large group of students who came over from Pullman, announced Mrs. Bill Olsen, Blue Bucket hostess. It is estimated that there were between 250 and 300 couples. One hundred fifteen single admission tickets were sold in addition to the regular season tickets.

Approximately 200 season tickets have already been sold to the student dances held every Saturday night in the upstairs ballroom in the Student Union building. These tickets are good for admission to 10 out of 12 dances and sell for $3.30. If attended without a season ticket, the admission is 78 cents per couple for each dance. Tickets should be purchased immediately as there are only 10 dances left.

Dramatists Assemble Plays, Conduct Lend-Library

It's not everyone who wants to be a John Barrymore or a Katharine Hepburn, but if more people were acquainted with the Samuel French Library of Plays at the U. Hut, growing at the rate of five books per week for the last five years, there might be more aspirants. The collection of 1500 plays was started in a number of universities by Samuel French, one of the best-known of those in the play-publishing field, as a service for schools and organizations. Last year, although the library was little known, requests from 61 different sources reached the university dramatics department and resulted in the circulation of 500 plays. This year 100 cards have been mailed to those interested in an endeavor to bring to the attention of students and teachers this selection of one and 3-act plays.

This service is available to anyone interested. Patronize Argonaut Advertisers.

Coming Events

At least two acts of this year's public events program have been definitely labeled as entertainment—the marionette show and the dramatic interpreter. As for the array of other speakers scheduled to appear during the year, after the rather inauspicious opening by Clarence Streit, we are left to surmise as to the category into which they will fall.

The term "academic platform" used by President Dale in his introductory remarks last week for Speaker Streit is an apt one, and should be the underlying principle in the administration's selection of speakers. That is, if we may assume the interpretation of "academic platform" as a place where a speaker, regardless of public acceptance, if he has in all sincerity a truth to tell, a solution to give, may speak. A place where emotional garish and bombastic fluff are swept away as unnecessary superstructure.

Unfortunately such a policy has not always been followed by lecturers appearing here in the past. Whether it is because they are not aware of our "academic platform," or have had limiting instructions, we do not know. Regardless, many have failed to be objective, analytical—academic.

Last year there was Vincent Sheehan with interesting anecdotes and a slam bang dramatic finish that left you gasping, Billie he retired without proving the point. There was Cornelius Vanderbilt, who followed the Sheehan formula, but left off the big bang—he merely told stories. Pierre Van Passen came closer than any to the academic ideal. Unfortunately, time and a hungry crowd forced hasty conclusions.

We will realize the difficulty and often impossibility of any committee determining from a speaker's advance publicity his qualifications and his platform methods of presenting problems. All the lecturing duds cannot be blamed on them. But we do urge the committee to impress upon speakers that an audience of students is not the same as any casual lecture-listening audience.

Interested students, fresh from the classroom where they have been absorbing some of the fundamentals of economics, psychology, political science, do not react the same as business men's and women's clubs, whose occasional sporadic forays into the intellectual fields are chiefly extra-curricular activity to domestic and professional interests.

Your lecturer should be told that if he comes as an authority he should be prepared to talk as an authority. If he comes as a relater of anecdotes, students will be glad to accept him as such. Disgusted is the student who comes to analyze a speech, discovers the speaker says nothing; baffled the student who hears falling blandly from a lecturer's lips dogmatic, unqualified statements that would call for stern rebuke in the classroom.

If either lecturer or member of a choosing committee doubts this student reaction, he should hear discussion in classroom and canteen following a speech filled with generalities, emotional eyewash. We believe he would see the light; he would hear the word. —K. C.

No Doze

Pity the poor pledges. On top of house work, heckling, and general relegation to the state of being an underdog, they have aroused the wrath of the university librarian, who accuses them of using the library for an annex to their regular bed.

It seems that pledges, loaded down with books, arrive at 8 a. m. and immediately settle down, using the books for a pillow. The same performance is repeated during the afternoon.

Fraternity and sorority scholarship chairmen evolved this elaborate library hour scheme to help pledges get into the swing of studying, but seemingly they have succeeded only in accustoming them to sleeping in various postures, not recommended by health books.

Any person of proper mentality comes to college with the idea of accomplishing something, and they don't need someone to herd them to and from a library to get it done. If the latter is true, they shouldn't be in college.

The library is for scholarly use, not a bed room. Either fraternities and sororities should be sure their pledges are studying in the library, or furnish them with a box of no doze tablets. —T. C.

Eatin' Time

Attention editor of next year's Co-ed Code:

The Phi Delt pledge was well pleased with himself when he hung up the telephone receiver after wangling a coke date with the Tri Delta pledge whose name remains a deep dark secret. Happily he shaved, showered, and dressed for the mid-afternoon affair.

But it was a forlorn lad who returned to the Phi Delt house some two hours later. After ministrations by solicitous brethren, he told the following fearful tale: "I called for my date, she was ready on time. Everything was swell. We walked down to the coker, sat down in a booth, everything was still swell. The waiter brought us each a menu; she looked it over carefully, then blissfully proceeded to order, of all things, a steak dinner. We have heard many complimentary reports on the Tri-Delt cuisine, too."

Hey, J. Edger

There were several red faces and no small number of excuses offered by various W.S.C. officials last Saturday when, during the half-time card stunts, the top quarter of the letter O failed to materialize in the intended "Buy Defense Bonds" stunt. The pro-Nazi element, no doubt.

False Alarm

With feet aching and campus jalopies loaded to the gunwales, a score or more of excitement loving students dashed downtown Saturday evening urged by the irrefutable call of the fire siren, and the red glow that lighted the sky over Moscow. Twice the siren howled within the quarter hour, and the glow of the flames could be seen plainly from the campus. Some insisted the fire was in David's, others had diverse opinions. But on the point that it was a fire well worth going to see, all were agreed.

Wheeling into Main street, the smoke and flames could be seen pouring from Eagen's apartments over Ward's hardware store while firemen scurried around hooking up hoses and hoisting ladders to the second and third floors.

But for all the smoke, flames, and ladders, concentrated about the building, only a handful of spectators had gathered to watch the spectacle with disinterested gaze. After rushing breathlessly to the scene, the reason became apparent. Fire defense measures with full hose hookup, smoke bombs, lighting, and all the rest of the trimmings were held in countless other cities throughout the country last week as part of National Fire Prevention week. It was disappointing, though.

agricultural defense program of the United States department of agriculture, I feel hopeful that we will be able to secure the material," President Dale explained. "The secretary of agriculture is calling for increased production of dairy products for national defense and for the democracies abroad. Young men properly trained in dairy manufacture and production are essential in the realization of this increase."

"The contracting firm of Kloepper and Cahoon is ready to start work on the dairy building," President Dale reported. "Their representatives are coming to Moscow the last of this week and hope to start excavation so that the basement and ground work can be completed before cold weather comes."

The Eiden company bid was $26,994. October 30 Kloepper & Cahoon submitted the low bid of $81,305 for general construction, on basic specifications. There were no bids submitted at that time for plumbing and heating.

Crisp Announces Radio Meeting

"Ham festing" the delight of amateur radio enthusiasts, will be the feature at the first meeting of the Radio club this Friday evening at 7:30, according to Ray Crisp, last year's president. He announced that new officers would also be elected at the meeting.

Crisp said that all students interested in radio could attend the meeting Friday in the Engineering building annex, headquarters for WYUC, the university station operated by members of the club.

DOUBLES

Idaho's 9 per cent drop in enrollment has reduced the number of sets of twins on the campus from eight to three. Last year there were five sets of identical twin girls and three of men to confuse school mates and dates. This year there are only two pair of women and only one set of men.

Returning this year are Irene and Leona Tulpa, drum major-ettes with the military band. New freshmen twins are Florence and Frances Marshall from Idaho Falls.

Jean and Joyce Pierce and Muriel and Marcia Dustin did not return to school this year. The Alpha Chis lost two sets of twins—Betty and Barbara Sutherland, and Jean and Jane Jones.

Earl and Pearl Monroe are enrolled in school, and Theron and Verald Smith are not here this semester, but plan to attend next semester.

Women Experiment With Group Work

Cook book recipes were doubled, tripled, and quadrupled by home economics majors who are doing practical cooking this week.

Serving as a laboratory for students of the home management class is the Hays-Forney hall kitchen. Experiment subjects are the hall women. Seventeen women serve as cooks (in groups of three). The Hotel Moscow and the Bucket also serve as laboratories in which the cooks help and learn how to run equipment.

Yearling "Whites" Win Intra-Squad Battle

White and Blue freshman teams met in a 40-minute intrasquad game Friday night with the White team winning by a one-point margin, 7-6. LaVern Bell, assistant coach, said that it looked as if the freshmen would have a good team when all of the team's power was put into one unit.

Reports to Coach J. A. "Babe" Brown concerning the game indicated that the yearlings were not well enough acquainted with the plays to use them effectively in a game, and that the first year men probably would have to spend this week polishing their attack.

Drills last night were concentrated on running through plays to reacquaint the players with their duties.

Bell, in discussing the Friday practice session, said that the coaches had attempted to evenly divide the strength of the team, and that the "White" unit had played a better game, and was a better team than the "Blues" had been.

Promise Good Team.

"There will be a plenty good team there when we get all of the strength on the same team," Bell said. He pointed out that the team was still green, and that it would be some time before the freshmen would be polished.

The freshmen meet the Montana State University freshmen at Kellogg next Saturday night in the first game. The yearlings will also meet the Washington state college and Gonzaga freshmen. The Gonzaga game will be the only home appearance of the freshmen.

MICKLICH

Idaho's hard charging fullback, Bill (Mick) Micklich is among the leaders in grid scoring on the Pacific coast, statistics issued this week reveal.

"Mick" has scored four touchdowns for 24 points in the Vandals' first three games. He scored six points against Utah, another six against Oregon, and 12 in the Gonzaga game Friday night.

In Pacific coast scoring, Micklich is tied with Oregon's Roblin for second place behind all-America Frankie Albert of Stanford.

Albert has 22 points in three coast games, Roblin has 18 in three games, and Micklich has 18 for only two coast contests. The Utah game is not counted among coast games.

'Mural Slants

By HAROLD SEEDS

In the only intramural touch football game reported last night, Kappa Sigma was awarded a 6-0 forfeit win over L.D.S. Institute.

Play of postponed games will begin tonight and should be completed by Thursday barring bad weather. Three protested games that were allowed by officials of Alpha Phi chi, intramural athletics managers' honorary, and one game will be replayed Thursday night. These contests will mark the end of the touch football season after which the league standings will be computed.

Chief statistician this year for all intramural athletics is George Bell. Upon his shoulders falls the responsibility of filing scores and protests, rescheduling games, appointing game officials, posting league standings and other such important tasks. Bell works under Leon Green, intramural athletics director.

Freshman Runners Compete In Meet This Afternoon

Freshmen Vandal tracksters will get their first test of the season this afternoon as they compete in an all-freshman track meet starting at 4:15 on MacLean field. Six events will be held today and six tomorrow afternoon starting at the same time.

"Our freshmen have been training largely on their own so far this season and this will be my first opportunity to see them in action. We don't expect any great performances as the object of the freshman meet is mainly to orient the new men and give them encouragement," said Mike Ryan, Vandal headman.

Next week the sophomores and freshmen will meet in an intraclass meet. This will consist of the same twelve events which compose this week's meet with the possible addition of a two-mile run for the varsity cross country runners. This will be the first organized training for the varsity hurriers and will help develop more speed in the Idaho runners, says Ryan. The hurdle events will mark the initial appearance of Ted Lake, 1941 Twin Falls high school sensation, and will be his first race with college size hurdles.

Events to be held today will be the 100-yard dash, 600-yard run, one and one-half mile run, 120-yard low hurdles, high jump, and 12 pound shotput. Wednesday the 300-yard run, 1000-yard run, 70-yard high hurdles, broad jump, three-mile run, and javelin.

Director Greene Sets Date For Minor Sports Meeting

Six minor sport groups will be called in meeting Tuesday, October 21, for a general assembly, and an outline of plans for the minor sport department, George Greene, athletic director, announced yesterday afternoon.

The sport groups which will be called into the session are wrestling, swimming, fencing, tennis, golf and skiing.

"We have never had a meeting of this kind at Idaho before, and plan to use this one to introduce the new athletic set-up to the men interested in minor sports," Greene said.

The plans of the department are to gradually expand the minor sport activity until many more persons are included under the program, according to Greene.

"We want to expand the financial aid to the minor sports, and while we know that we can't do much this year, we want to let the students know what we are trying to do," he said.

The meeting will be attended by Athletic Director Greene, Intramural Director Leon Green, and Coach J. A. "Babe" Brown. The athletic heads also plan to use the meeting to acquaint themselves with students interested in minor sports, and to learn what the students would like the minor sport program to include.

"This meeting is to tell the students what we have planned, and to ask what they would like to do," said Greene. "We intend to push the sports like golf and tennis which have a high carry-over value after graduation."

The meeting will be held in Memorial gymnasium.

Flashy Runner

Manson, Clark Are Hurt In Gonzaga Battle

Idaho's razzle-dazzle football has started to click. Last week the Vandals nipped the Bulldogs of Gonzaga 21 to 7 in a night game at Spokane, and now Coach Francis Schmidt is readying his eleven to invade Logan, Utah, to battle Utah State Saturday.

The victory over Gonzaga was a costly one for Idaho for both Howard Manson, left halfback, and Dale Clark, right halfback, were injured. Manson sustained a "knocked down" shoulder, and Clark received a couple of fractured ribs.

Both gridders are expected to be absent from drills for most of this week, but will probably make the trip to Logan.

In preparation for the Utah invasion, Schmidt is working his team on a defense for the "T" formation. It was the inability of the Vandals to stop the "T" which cost them their opening game against Utah. Since that, however, the Idahoans have been drilled extensively on defensive formations.

Utah State has long been an advocate of the T formations, and this year has a team which is reported as ideal to work that system. Last week the Aggies held Colorado to 13 points while scoring seven themselves.

In the past two years, the Aggies and Vandals have fought to scoreless ties.

Micklich to Work. Expected to carry the brunt of the Idaho attack at Logan is hard charging Bill Micklich, rated among the best fullbacks on the Pacific slope. Micklich is one of the highest scorers on the coast, and is second only to Stanford's Frankie Albert in the Pacific coast conference.

Other Vandals who showed exceptional ability against Gonzaga and will be counted on to lead the Vandal invasion are Pete Hecomovitch, quarterback; Bill Lockey and Cleo Rowe, guards; Milo Anderson and Veto Berlius, ends; Irving Konopka, tackle; Ray Davis, halfback; and Manson and Clark. Lockey and Micklich, according to scouts at the Gonzaga game, were the best players in the Gonzaga stadium Friday night.

The Vandals are slated to leave Moscow Thursday night on the 7:10 train, and will work out at Boise Friday morning. After their Boise session, they will train for Pocatello. From Pocatello the team will make the trip to Logan via bus. The Idahoans will arrive in the game city Saturday. The game will be broadcast.

Guy Wicks Calls Basketballmen To Gym Tonight

Varsity basketball aspirants will meet tonight at 7:30 in Memorial gymnasium for a discussion of possible practice hours with Coach Guy Wicks, varsity basketball coach. Coach Wicks said that the group would turn out about three times a week for the next four or five weeks, and then the practice sessions would become daily events.

"We will discuss the possible times for having practice sessions tonight and arrange the sessions so that they will conflict as little as possible with the schedules of the players," said Coach Wicks.

Coach Wicks said that he expected at least 15 varsity prospects to be out for the meeting tonight, and that he believed most of the returning lettermen from last year would be at the session.

The schedule of games for the varsity has the first game set for the early part of December, and Coach Wicks said that he would like to have the team in training for at least four weeks before the first match.

BIGGIES

Jim Huntbach, athletic equipment manager at the University of Idaho, is having lots of trouble with this year's freshman football players.

Last night the first year grid-ders swarmed Jim to check out their game jerseys for the year. It happens that the freshmen jerseys are hand-me-downs from the varsity, and usually, according to Jim, are large enough for the "little" freshmen to swim in.

It was a different story last night. When Jim checked out the jerseys, most of the frosh turned them back with the report: "It's too small, give me a bigger one."

"Well," Jim said, "what could I do? The jerseys are as big as we have, and they were big enough for the varsity teams of a few years ago."

Enrollment Shows Large Increase

Three hundred and fifty nine registrants this fall has given the college of engineering its largest enrollment in history, according to Dean Jesse Buchanan and Registrar Ella Olesen.

This is a 4 per cent increase over last year's total of 347 for the first semester, Miss Olesen said yesterday. More engineering students, who are working for the Washington Water Power company are expected to swell the enrollment even more.

School May Grant Free Instruction

The university will probably grant free correspondence courses to former students whose studies have been interrupted by being drafted into the army, President Harrison C. Dale announced yesterday.

"Although there has been no need for the free courses yet, Idaho will follow the example set by several midwestern schools and grant correspondence courses free to soldiers," President Dale said.

He said that the instruction would be given free if the need arises and that the only cost to the students would be the postage to and from the university. He added that comparatively few former students had been drafted into the army and that the need for the courses has not arisen.

It is pointed out that draftees do not obtain enough money from the government for their military service to adequately allow them to continue their courses at the regular university rate.
