Gilmur Leads Huskies To 44-37 Victory

Students Approve Plan to Obtain Bookstore Control

Student representatives of the Independent council, Interfraternity council, and Pan-Hellenic council Saturday gave the "go ahead" signal to the proposal that ASUI obtain ownership of the Student Union bookstore. A committee, appointed by Harry Lewis, chairman of the bookstore advisory board, will confer with President Harrison C. Dale about financial arrangements of the plan. It was suggested at the meeting that obtaining ownership of the Bucket Inn be embodied in the proposal. It was pointed out that profits from the bookstore would be directed toward purchasing the Bucket. Ed Benoit suggested that the plan for students to advocate would be a proposal to get the board of regents to turn over the ASUI so that no money would have to be borrowed. The ASUI could sign a note for the purchase and make arrangements to liquidate the note from bookstore profits. Lewis pointed out that obtaining the Student Union bookstore would be the first step in a long program to increase student responsibility on the campus. He urged the committee to contact President Dale were Benoit, Still, Norma Lou McMurray, Ellingson, Rena Eccher, and Mercer.

Up in the Air

Ray Turner, lanky Vandal center, goes up in the air to grab this rebound shot off the Idaho backboard last night against the Huskies. Big Ray was held to 7 points before he fouled out of the ball game with the score tied 32-32. Washington went on to win 44-37.

Late Drive Stops Idaho; Teams Meet Tonight

Rallying in the last three minutes of play, Washington's Huskies defeated Idaho 44-37 in the first of a two game series here. Both teams will meet again tonight starting at 7:30 o'clock.

With Chuck Gilmur pouring the baskets in for the Huskies the Washington club's late drive proved too much for Idaho.

After Von Hopkins had put the Vandals out in front with 6½ minutes to go with a long right hander, his only basket of the game, Gilmur tipped in two baskets to clinch the verdict.

The defeat shoved the Vandals deeper into the conference cellar with one victory against seven defeats, while the Huskies moved back into a tie for the top spot in the division with Washington State.

Washington took an early lead in the opening minutes of the game as Vandal shooting was off, but the Wicksmen came back to pull within two points of the Huskies as the halftime ended with Washington ahead 19-17.

Idaho tied the game up with nine minutes gone in the second half 30-30 when Steele scored, then went into the lead on three quick points by Cliff Benson. Bird put Washington out in front with a foul and field goal but Hopkin's clutch shot reversed the situation. Then came the hot Husky finish.

Loss of Ray Turner, big blond center, midway in the final period, hurt Vandal chances. Turner, currently leading divisional scorers in average points per game, got only six points, all coming in the first half. Eleven fouls were called on Idaho and six on the Huskies.

Gilmur, working beautifully under the basket, bucketed 18 points for game scoring honors. Benson got 10 points for Idaho, while Norm Dalthrop of the Huskies and Vandal George Steele got nine each.

Lacking anyone to match the height of Gilmur after Turner left the game, the Vandals couldn't stop the Washington giant. Gilmur dropped in 12 points in the second half.

Field goals were even, with each team making 17, but the Washington margin came on 10 successful free throws. Officials were Emil Piluso and Dwight Aden.

Dr. Alexander To Address Student Body Friday

Speaking on "Problems of Freedom," Dr. Ruth Alexander, woman economist, will address Idaho students Friday morning at 11 a. m. in Memorial gymnasium. Classes will be shortened.

Widely discussed for her views on economics and the American way of living, Dr. Alexander has received both criticisms and commendations since becoming a nationally known speaker. She defends capitalism, bases her anti-socialistic offensive on Karl Marx's theories and philosophies.

Extensive travelling in nations under different rules interested her in Marxism, and she wrote a thesis on the subject which earned her a doctor's degree, and a chance to explain her views on the lecture platform. She made her debut on the stage of the New York Town hall, where some time before she had appeared as a concert pianist.

Opposes Planned Economy. Dr. Alexander was married before she began her lecture career, and now has three children, none of whom will probably ever slip into the "slovenly mass thinking habits and escape to easy entertainment" which the economist heartily condemns as a ruination of democracy. She is equally opposed to what she calls "planned economy," a trait which has caused her to be picked at thoroughly by other economists. Those who uphold her views say she reflects the ideas of millions of Americans, less articulate.

Enrollment Nears 2100 Figure

Registration figures mounted to 2,072 yesterday afternoon, and students are still registering for next semester, making the outlook for the spring session less gloomy than had been predicted.

Those who heard the University of Washington predict an enrollment drop of 25 per cent foresaw a barren semester with a dearth of students and university income. While figures show a definite drop over last fall's registration line, Idaho will not suffer as much as many other institutions throughout the nation.

Dean of Men Herbert J. Wunderlich yesterday expressed hope that no one would have to be cut from NYA payrolls, despite the slash inflicted at the semester in NYA funds. "Enough men have dropped out of school," he said, "to make it possible, I think, to operate as usual for a while at least." He announced that if the payroll ends May 15 instead of June 15, the extra month's allotment may be spread out and help meet the deficiency.

Helen Jepson Sings Here In Concert Next Week

Helen Jepson, glamorous Metropolitan Opera soprano who will be heard February 19, in Memorial gymnasium has crowded into her career a notable series of successes in opera, concert, and radio.

Her debut at the Metropolitan was made opposite Lawrence Tibbett, and she has sung the leading role in operas such as "La Traviata," "Faust," "La Boheme," "Pagliacci," "Otello," "Manon," "Martha," "Thais," and "Tales of Hoffman."

Two other important revivals in which Miss Jepson sang leading roles were "Pelleas et Melisande," and the "Love of Three Kings."

She is also one of the leading artists in the Chicago Civic Opera company where critics labelled her the greatest singer of her day. Miss Jepson has been in demand as a soloist in concert and oratorio, with appearances at Carnegie hall, as solo soprano; at the big May festival in Cincinnati, as soloist in Verdi's "Requiem," in Bach's "St. Mathew's Passion" and in Dumer's "Stabat Mater."

Students will be admitted to the concert, presented under the auspices of the Community Concert association, on their ASUI books.

Nominees include Marion Wilson, nominated by Sigma Chi; Jean Hunter, Sigma Nu; Elaine Thomas, Beta Theta Pi; Dorothy Coon, Alpha Tau Omega; Dorothy Sutton, Lindley hall; Marjorie Miller Jones, LDS Institute.

Vandaleers To Hold Semester Trials

Vandaleer tryouts for second semester will be held Tuesday and Thursday at 4 o'clock in the Music hall. All interested students are invited to attend.

Golden Fleece By Jason

Next Friday the rally committee, a live wire organization this year that promotes halftime entertainment at the basketball games, conducts pep rallies, etc; is sponsoring the first "nickel hop" on the Idaho campus in order to raise funds to reimburse the depleted pocket-books of committee members. Originally billed as a Red Cross benefit the "hop" has been changed to a "Salvation Army benefit" as the Red Cross stipulates that on programs which uses the Red Cross' name all net proceeds go to the charitable organization. By donating 50 per cent of the proceeds to the Salvation Army, the rally group can pocket half the proceeds.

Although a standing ASUI committee, the rally committee receives no money from the ASUI treasury. The $50 given the rally committee by the Spokane Athletic Round Table the first of the year was spent soon and recently all expenditures have been made by contributions from individual members of the rally committee. The chairman "shelled out" $8.50 last night to the unicycle rider at the halftime intermission of the basketball game; he spent $2.50 out of his own pocket for roller skate rental a week ago; and members of the committee dug into their wallets and purses for $6.50 to obtain two old Vandal warmup jackets for the new yell queens.

Yet what kind of thanks do they get? Halftime entertainment for tonight's basketball game was originally scheduled to be a marching demonstration by Pershing Rifles. The militarists had agreed to use up the whole intermission period and handle the entertainment; yet they cancelled the demonstration Sunday evening. As a result, the rally committee scurried hither and yon to line up entertainment for the game tonight.

And what kind of thanks do they get?

Communique Comment

Last week's bombing and anti-British riots in Tangier may have been merely the will of Allah—or they may add up to a pawn's move on the Mediterranean chessboard by that self-appointed "protector" of the Arab and Moslem peoples, the dictator at Berlin. Franco's troops have occupied what was the international zone of Tangier since June, 1940. It may be Hitler's intention to provoke the British to disciplinary action against the Spanish authorities in Tangier—action that would anger Madrid and force Franco into hostilities against John Bull.

The Axis seems to be stymied for the present in French North Africa. In the fourteen months prior to his dismissal last November from the post of Vichy's proconsul in North Africa, General Weygand appears to have been successful in weeding out of the French army and colonial service in that region officers officers and administrators who were willing to collaborate with Berlin. Now that Weygand is under house arrest in France, trusted subordinates (such as Resident-General Nogues of French Morocco) have been carrying on his policy of strict non-cooperation with the German and Italian missions which are trying to fit the French African empire into the New Order.

The Tangier incidents may be part of a German effort to get control of the Spanish section of Morocco and use that area as a base for stirring up revolts by native tribes in the French Zone. Such a program would be designed to weaken the position of Nogues and his anti-Axis assistants. During the war of 1914-18, the Germans provided Moroccan chiefs rebelling against the French with arms and money. In the two decades after 1918, the French authorities in Morocco were less ruthless than their countrymen in Syria, but the Nazis can find native leaders there today who are ready to rise against their French "oppressors." Under the heroic Abdel Krim, the Riff tribes held out against French and Spanish armies in 1925-1926. As late as 1937, French planes and troops were rushed to Morocco to crush a nationalist uprising.

Control of Spanish Morocco would give Hitler a base for an attack on Gibraltar from the south, across the 11-mile strait. Domination of French Morocco would provide him with the facilities of the Atlantic port of Casablanca with its railway connection with Oran on the Mediterranean. Casablanca would serve the Axis as a base for U-boats harrying the British shipping route to the Far East via the Cape of Good Hope—and as a springboard for a Nazi invasion of the Azores or Madeira.

Riflemen To Hold Second Smoker

Strictly Technical

Heads of all colleges and schools might well study the program of reading that Dean Pendleton Howard of the college of law has set up in his college for student participation this next semester. It should be surveyed not so much for the particular books that are suggested, but rather for the underlying basis for its inception.

Students in the college of law must read during the semester five books outside of their regular required law studies. These books are all related to the field of law, but are in the fields of history, philosophy, biography.

The profession of law, Dean Howard writes in introducing the program to his students, "is more than the practice of a technical art." There is the basis for the project, and it may be applied to any of our specialized fields today.

That there are difficulties, some of them very great, we must admit. Undoubtedly Dean Howard as well as the heads of the various schools and colleges recognize them. Curriculums are crowded with required subjects highly essential to maintain standards. Students are forced into a high degree of specialization in order that they may

Musical Monkey-Shine.

The music faculty members let down the hair last Friday night at a Red Cross benefit musicale and the public ate it up. Artists busied their art. Faculty wives and faculty members kicked high as Floradora girls; whiskered Alvah Beecher bellowed in a barber shop quartet. The few score of students who braved the long hike to Moscow high school enjoyed the program—spiced with the right amount of humor and mixed with high quality music.

Several students have indicated that they would like to see the program put on at the university as a Red Cross benefit. The music department has learned the program, the costumes are available, and is willing to present it for university audience. Yet no administrative steps have been taken by the "higher ups."

Jason's suggestion would be for an early staging of the panorama—before the program goes "cold" and musicians lose their enthusiasm over contributing their talents gratis for Red Cross and enjoyment of students.

Add to that the cry today for speed and need of vocational training, and your program for broadening the education base assumes even more complications. Yet with all its complications and difficulties, there are none who would deny that such a plan badly needed in most of your specialized fields.

Engineers skilled in a particular branch of their field, foresters well versed in the flora and fauna may both be excellent trained men; but they may not be well educated men. There is the skill of "a technical art" differing from the plumber, the mechanic only in the higher degree of skill and specialization—training for the mind instead of the hands.

We need skilled men. We need them fast. But we need men, too, who can see beyond the narrow confines of their job. We need farsighted men, who can plan, adjust, we need good citizens as well as good lawyers or engineers. We want men tolerant, broad minded, flexible.

A true education does not give you the attributes, but it points the way. We like the program instituted by the college of law. We hope it indicates a new trend in professional and technical fields.—K. C.

Wandal Freshmen Down Lewiston Team 43-30

Wandal Babes chalked up their sixth consecutive basketball victory when they defeated the Lewiston Normal Loggers 43-30 last night in the Memorial gymnasium. Coach J. "Babe" Brown used 13 players during the game.

The game originally scheduled between Mike Sullivan's Bearcats and the Freshmen tonight has been cancelled, Coach Brown said. However, Saturday night the Babes will struggle with Washington State's Cougar Kittens in a preliminary game to the varsity contest. It will be the finale of the four game series between the two clubs. The Idaho yearlings have now defeated Lewiston twice, Washington State three times, and the Kellogg All Stars once.

The game was wild and rough, but a strong second half drive which netted 18 points clinched the victory for the Babes. Half-time score was 25-19 for the Freshmen.

John Evans copped high scoring honors for the freshmen by getting 12 points. Bob Ryan, freshman, and Boggs of the Loggers were second with nine points each. Montgomery, Normal high scoring ace was held to three points. Idaho made five out of 14 free throws while the Loggers sank seven out of 13. Presnell, Normal, was the only player having four personal fouls. Dean Lewis and George Bell refereed the game.

Final Call Issued for Track Team

Final call for track candidates went out last night as the Wandal track team began organized drill work after a month of light practice. Students who fail to turn in at this week cannot try out for the team unless they have a legitimate excuse, Mike Ryan, track coach, announced.

Time trial will begin next week as the Vandals begin serious work for their first meet. The Idaho undermen went outside yesterday working out on the grass.

"I'm taking applications and making interviews now," stated Lieutenant Beck, who has set up headquarters in the ROTC office. "I will return in March with an examining physician and staff to make enlistments."

Interested students, who are not able to see Lieutenant Beck may get the necessary information and application blanks at the ROTC office, the marine officer said. Students enlisting in this branch of the service are allowed to complete their college work, or are given six months notice if they must be called before then.

Washington Stops Vandals Twice In Three Meets

Vandal fencers averted an Idaho shutout in the minor sports carnival with Washington's Huskies at Seattle Saturday as they eked out a 5-4 victory over the heavily favored Washington club. Vandal wrestlers lost 6-2 while the powerful Husky swim team paddled to a 42-28 win.

George Redford and Lewis Nonini, veteran Idaho foilmen, paced the Vandal win as Redford won three matches and Nonini two. Other Vandals on the team were Dick Shaver and Sherman King.

Idaho mermen won two first places in making a surprisingly strong showing against Washington. Ralph Hollingsworth captured first place in the diving competition while the Vandal 400-yard relay team finished in front of the Huskies. Steele Barnett, Art Acuff, Don Anderson, and Jerry O'Connor surprised the victorious Idaho relay squad. Other Vandal points came from second and third places.

Greaves Breaks Wrist

Captain Hank Juran and LaVern Bell were the only Idaho winners in the wrestling meet, both winning by falls in the 165-pound and heavyweight divisions respectively. The Vandals suffered a double loss when Harley Greaves, only 121-pounder on the team, broke a bone in his wrist early in the match. Until the accident Greaves was holding his own.

Washington won two matches on falls, three on decisions, and one by forfeit. Idaho forfeited the 155-pound match when Jim Ellsworth became ill just before the team left for Seattle.

Saturday the Vandals conclude their dual meet season with a return match with W.S.C. grapplers here.

Marksmen Tangle With Cougars

Idaho riflemen will conclude their three meet series of shoulder to shoulder matches with Washington State tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in Memorial gymnasium. Each team has won one match.

Mitt Team Loses To Gonzaga; Meets OSC Next

Idaho boxers were beaten 4 to 2 by Gonzaga leather pushers last Saturday night at the Gonzaga gym. Two draws and several hair-line decisions showed that Idaho fighters were improving, Bob Knox, ring mentor, said.

Idaho fighters meet Oregon State boxers next Friday and Lewiston normal next week, Knox said.

Idaho forfeited the 120-pound bout to Gonzaga and Gonzaga in turn forfeited the 127-pound match.

Bill Williams, Idaho 145-pounder, drew with Tony Felice and Darrell Lott, Idaho, drew with Wes Deist in the 155-pound division.

Chace Anderson, Idaho's 165-pounder, was outpointed by Jerry Cohen, Gonzaga forfeited the 175-pound bout and Warren Briggs, regular Idaho 175-pounder, fought in the heavyweight division. Outweighed 25 pounds Briggs lost the decision to Earl McCanna, Gonzaga heavyweight.

Gordon Ross, Clark Chandler, and Nelse Pederman fought exhibition bouts in the 127-, 135-, and 155-pound divisions.

Rally Committee Completes Plans for "Nickel Hop"

Social chairmen of men's houses and halls met yesterday with the rally committee to lay final plans for Idaho's first "Nickel Hop" to be held Friday night from 9 to 11:30 p.m. at every women's house on the campus.

Held on the order of a giant exchange dance, the hop will be conducted so that men may shift periodically from one house or hall to another, while women stay in each house to entertain men who pass through.

Price for the affair has been set at a nickel for 15 minutes of dancing, with five minute interlude while men change houses; a certain number of women will remain in each house and no more men may enter than the number of women there.

"There will definitely be no men's stag lines," rally committeemen emphasized after yesterday's meeting, and explained that the number of women in each house would probably exceed the number of men allowed to enter.

"No Dates." Proceeds from the hop will be divided equally between the Salvation Army and the student athletic fund, a nest egg used for half-time entertainments, yell team expenses, etc.

There will be no advance ticket sale, and nickels must be paid at the door.

No other activity has been scheduled for Friday night, so that every women's house and hall will be available for the exchange. "No Dates" was the ultimatum handed down by the committee.

Phillips To Place Emphasis On Singing At Games

A resurgence of spirit through the medium of school songs is in store at the Idaho-Washington game tonight, according to Yell King Bibb Phillips. Emphasis will be placed on singing school songs. Singing will be accompanied by the Pep band.

"Go, Vandals, Go," "Here We Have Idaho," "We're Here to Win," are three of the numbers that will be sung tonight, according to Phillips. He said that most students were familiar with the words of these numbers, but two rarely used songs would also be sung.

Students are requested to bring copies of the two songs following; "Here's a Toast to Idaho," and "Come Fellows."

Here's-a Toast to Idaho, She's the U for You May Her Fame Go Marching On All the long years through May we forever glorify Her standards that wave on high. Here's a toast to Idaho
