ASUI to Conduct Assembly Thursday; Will Ballot on Two Amendments

Men To Register for Draft in Gymnasium Monday

Dean of Men Herbert J. Wunderlich yesterday released the following official proclamation issued by the president of the United States in regard to registration of male students under the amended selective service act.

"Pursuant to the selective training and service act of 1940, as amended, the registration of male citizens of the United States, and other male persons who were born on or after February 17, 1897 or before December 31, 1921, shall take place in the United States and the territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and in Puerto Rico on Monday, the 16th day of February, 1942, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 9 p.m.

"This includes persons between the ages of 20 to 44 inclusive. All who have registered before need not register again. Students who failed to report on selective service status last fall are reminded that this was not a selective service registration."

Registration will take place in the Memorial gymnasium between the hours of 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Monday. Scabbard and Blade members will serve as registrars.

Men Add 2 Women To Queen Race

Two additional candidates for WS carnival queen were named yesterday. Mary Gano was nominated by Phi Delta Theta, and Gerrie Lu Kloefer was put up by Willis Sweet hall. These two names will be added to the list of others put up by men's living groups on the campus.

Helen Jepson To Appear Here Next Thursday

"As American as Apple Pie" could describe Helen Jepson, opera singer, who is appearing here next Thursday evening in Memorial gymnasium, according to advance information on the singer. She is sponsored by the community concert association, and the ASUI. Born in Akron, Ohio, the star sang in a Methodist church choir, and later studied in Philadelphia. She made her debut at the Metropolitan in New York in 1936.

Miss Jepson is no highbrow, for she likes to listen to and sing popular music. She is a good cook, and horseback riding and fishing are her main relaxations. Having come up the hard way, she is very fond of parties and night life. "I shall never let myself think that I am at the top," Miss Jepson has said, "or at least I shall always try to feel that the ladder is really a greased pole, with danger of one's slipping down

Economist

Dr. Ruth Alexander, woman economist, will lecture this morning at 11 o'clock in Memorial gymnasium on "Problems of Freedom." Classes will be shortened for the speech, which will discount Marxism.

Fraternity Honors Judge Ailshie

Judge James F. Ailshie, justice of the Idaho supreme court, who is in Moscow to deliver a series of lectures on mining law to students in the college of law, was honor guest at a banquet at the Hotel Moscow Wednesday evening. Present were members of Phi Alpha Delta, legal fraternity, and their guests and members of the law faculty.

Thursday evening Justice Ailshie was a dinner guest at the Sigma Chi house. He will finish the series of lectures Friday afternoon.

much faster than one has climbed up. An operatic career is a serious thing—a 24-hour job."

Appeared in 300 Cities.
During her musical career, Miss Jepson has appeared before audiences in over 300 cities and towns. She often talks with musical students and interested members of the audience after her program.

Miss Jepson, aside from operatic airs, likes to sing German, Italian, and French songs. She has unearthed several old English melodies, which she has incorporated into her program.

During her singing career Miss Jepson has made famous many operatic roles. Among them are, "Traviata," "Faust," "Pagliacci," "La Boheme," "Manon," "Martha," "Othello," "Thais," "Louise," "Tales of Hoffman," "Pelleas et Melisande," and "The Love of Three Kings."

She has also appeared with the Chicago civic opera.

SUB Board Favors Student Control Of Union Building

The Student Union Activities board went on record this week favoring student ownership of facilities at the Student Union building and the establishment of a student governing board to direct policies concerning activities at the student center.

It was agreed to back the Student Union Bookstore advisory board in its efforts to attain student ownership for the bookstore and the activities board recommended that the proposal be expanded to include student ownership of the Blue Bucket Inn and the ballroom.

A student committee met with Harry Lewies, chairman of the bookstore advisory board, yesterday to outline a proposal to present to President Harrison C. Dale asking for student ownership. The committee is expected to confer with President Dale today.

Matt Lewis was appointed chairman of the dance committee for the activities board to replace Lee Ragland. Lewis' appointment is subject to executive board approval.

Caucuses Discuss Coming Election

Independent and United Student party caucuses met last night, discussed candidates for the coming class election and the amendments, but both deferred the nominating of party slates until next week, party leaders indicated last night.

The Independent party caucus initiated a new procedure in its nominating process and is referring the potential list of nominees to hall members for discussion before the caucus picks the nominees.

The nominating assembly has been set for February 18 in the ASUI office at 7 p.m., according to ASUI President Milt Eberhard. Possibilities that the class elections will be postponed loomed this week when the executive board passed an amendment to abolish mid-year class elections. The amendment will be voted upon at a special assembly Thursday morning.

Johnston Writes Co-op Article

An article by Bill Johnston, last year's editor of the Argonaut, appeared in the January issue of the "Improvement Era" a magazine of the Mormon church, friends here learned recently.

It was entitled "Student Cooperatives at the University of Idaho," and traces cooperatives on the campus, giving praise to George S. Tanner, who helped found them here.

Proposals Would Change Election Procedure

A special ASUI assembly has been called for next Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in Memorial gymnasium to ballot on two war emergency amendments, ASUI President Milton Eberhard announced yesterday. Classes will be shortened for the assembly, the academic council decided.

Eberhard and members of the executive board will explain the two amendments to be voted upon at the meeting, he said. One amendment calls for the election of class officers on a yearly basis rather than a semester basis and the other provides for the filling of vacancies by executive board appointment rather than conducting special elections. The amendments were approved by the executive board Wednesday

Women Play Host At Hop Tonight

An innovation in the exchange idea will be tested tonight when the rally committee sponsored nickel hop is held, with all women's groups playing host to men students.

The men will rotate from one living group to another during the dancing period from 9 o'clock until 11:30 o'clock. A nickel will be charged to dance at each house. Part of the proceeds of the dance will go to the Salvation Army, and the remainder to the rally committee fund.

Dancing will change every 15 minutes, and there will be a five minute interlude to allow men to change houses. Stag lines will be eliminated during the evening, according to members of the rally committee. The number of men entering each house will be restricted, so women will outnumber them. Dancing will be continuous at all groups.

No Dates.
Rally committee members urged that dates be abstained from tonight, to help make the idea a success.

There has been no advance ticket sale for the affair. All nickels must be paid at the door.

No other activity has been scheduled for tonight, enabling all students to attend the dance.

One amendment calls for the election of class officers on a yearly basis rather than a semester basis and the other provides for the filling of vacancies by executive board appointment rather than conducting special elections. The amendments were approved by the executive board Wednesday

Election board examinations will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Ad. 311, Dick Still, chairman of the election examining board, announced yesterday.

He indicated that the examination would consist of questions on the ASUI constitution, election procedure and proportional representation. The exams are being given to determine candidates for duty on the election board.

"Material on proportional representation can be obtained at the reserve library desk," Still said.

after two afternoons of discussion. The full text of each amendment appears on page 7 of this Argonaut.

No Class Election?
"If the amendment calling for the election of class officers on a yearly basis passes by a 2/3 majority at the special assembly, no class election will be held this semester," Eberhard explained at (Continued on Page Seven)

Pep Band Show Proceeds Will Go To Red Cross

To be produced as a Red Cross benefit, the Pep Band show will provide an opportunity for campus talent to share publicity with paper drives and Bucket dances.

A 60-member cast will be used for this student production to be presented in the auditorium March 4 and 5. Tryouts are being held this week, Jack Leishman, director, announced yesterday, and anyone who is interested should contact him. Women with dancing ability have already tried out and work on the dances will begin soon.

Because this show is a Red Cross benefit, all proceeds from the 25 cents admission charge will be turned over to that organization. Business men in Moscow are donating money to cover expenses while student groups are helping with production. The show will start with a 45-minute band concert. Members of the 34-piece band, all in formal dress, will perform in front of the curtain. One of the features of this part of the program will be a trumpet solo by Howard Baker.

Hula Dances Planned.
Following this formal beginning will be the novelty numbers, the dancers, and the "hot" musicians. There will be hula dances and native music, but no war talk, Leishman said.

Walt Gugnoni has written the script for this second part of the show and will direct the acting. Costumes will be made by Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics honorary, and band music is being furnished by the music department. Peggy Tway will direct the dancers.

Golden Fleece By Jason

For the first time in several years—possibly as long ago at 1935—Idaho students will have the opportunity to amend the ASUI constitution at a special assembly called by the ASUI president. Traditionally an over-looked feature of the constitution, this practice will be used next Thursday morning to determine the fate of two emergency war-time amendments, both of which would automatically lapse after the war is over.

Purpose of the amendments frankly is to save the ASUI money. One amendment, probably the most revolutionary amendment to be introduced in recent years, would abolish mid-year class elections, allowing class officers to serve two semesters. Abolition of the mid-year election will save the ASUI about $125—which could be used to enlarge the budgets of the minor sports teams, the debate team, pep band, and other ASUI functions.

For one semester class officers are useless. The first semester, the only duties that freshman and junior class officers perform is their posing for the Gem picture and during the second semester the seniors and sophomores are as inactive. It isn't that they're shunning duties, because they aren't expected to do anything. It is an honorary position, whose chief benefits are serving as burial grounds for patronage tossed out by campus politicians.

Should the amendment be passed at the assembly next Thursday, class elections this year would be postponed and the present set of class officers would be retained until the end of the year and the executive board would appoint persons to fill the vacancies in the executive board and class officers. They would be appointed from the same political party as the now-absent officeholder was elected.

On paper it looks like a drastic political coup, designed to benefit one or the other political party. But its political effects would not operate to the advantage of either group. Of the two active classes the second semester, the spoils are split evenly between the two parties. Greeks have control of the junior class and would have charge of handing out patronage for two of the biggest campus events of the year—the prom and cabaret. The Independents have the freshman class officers by a majority of 3 to 1 and would peddle out the choice political jobs for the Glee week.

The Independents, in control of the executive board 6 to 3 before Uncle Sam and the Shoshone high school called three board members away from school, could not possibly lose control of the board under the proportional representation voting for board members. The board now stands four Independents to two Greeks and even at the worst for the Independents they would be assured of on board member elected.

Executive board members realized when they passed the amendments by a unanimous vote last Wednesday (after two afternoons of discussion on the measure) that political party chieftains might interpret the measure as a political coup rather than as a money-saving measure. They realized that possibly the measure could be railroaded through the student body by the vague wording of a constitutional clause defining the powers of the executive board that reads: "the board shall perform all other duties not herein delegated, which are necessary and proper." It could have been put into effect by an executive board order and taken to the arbitration board—composed of ASUI President Milt Eberhard, President Harrison C. Dale, and Dean D. S. Jeffers—for a test case; but it was decided to put the measure before the students in a special assembly, hoping that political chieftains would not seize upon its broad sweep of power as undemocratic or a political coup. The board was relying upon the rationalization of students to understand that the measure is designed to save their money other ASUI functions that more directly affect them.

Maybe that will be the case, but via grapevine, Jason hears that the United Student party is planning to buck the amendment task that shouldn't be hard to accomplish cause a minority of 34 per cent can defeat a constitutional amendment which requires a two-thirds majority.

Precedent has established the principle that the executive board can put into effect amendment contradictory to the constitution even after it has been defeated at general elections. For example, the election "purification" amendments which were defeated time and time again by the United Students, yet elections were conducted under those "purified" principles of executive board order of an Independently-dominated executive board.

Nothing could stop the executive board from doing the same thing this election if the amendment were defeated at Thursday's assembly. The only factor that would tend to curb the board's action in such a case would be that it was a blatant violation of the will of the people; yet the assembly Thursday a minority of 6.7 per cent of the student body could possibly block amendment. Only twenty per cent of the student body must attend the meeting to constitute a quorum and just a fraction over one-third those at the meeting could defeat the amendment. Possibly a defeat of the amendment at Thursday meeting would not indicate the will of the majority.

From Jason's sideline position, it looks saving $125 is a very wise thing. The ASUI treasury is none-too-large and tangible evidence of the curtailing that has been necessary is cancellation of minor sports events, changing Argonaut to a tabloid, the threatened cancellation of the pep band show, which was saved only by the cooperation of down town merchants, and other belt-tightening measures.

Communique Comment

Singapore's fall will enable the Japanese general staff to transfer part of its seasoned arm in the Malay peninsula to the Burmese front, where the invading spearheads have already broken through one wing of the British line on the west bank of the Salween River. Burma is not only the southern terminus of China's lifeline to the Allies: it is the eastern door to India, and India is the keystone of the British position in Asia. The Churchill government will probably concentrate on the defense of India against a Japanese thrust from now on—and leave the protection of the Dutch East Indies and Australia largely to Uncle Sam.

Penetration by Nipponese columns into Bengal by way of Burma might lead to widespread unrest in India. Some Indian political leaders might line up with the invaders in order to oust the British rulers of their homeland, but the danger would seem to be not a national revolt but extensive violence by discontented elements in the Indian population—elements which would use the emergency to make trouble for the British civil authorities or to give forceful expression to their ancient racial and religious hatreds. The 352 million people in India are divided into 45 races and over 2,100 castes and tribes: the enmities between these groups can lead to bloodshed at any time. The majority of the people are illiterate, poverty-stricken peasants, bitter against the government and against the feudal landlords who have oppressed them for centuries.

It will be hard for the Viceroy and his advisers to form a united front against the Japs in the political sphere. Led by Jawaharlal Nehru, the National Congress Party has put aside its demand for independence for the moment and declared its willingness to co-operate with Viceroy Lord Linlithgow in the defense of the country, now that the Nipponese are at the gate. The Moslem League under the fiery Mohamed Ali Jinnah is the only other organized political body. It claims to speak for the 77 million Moslems in India and it is bitterly hostile to the Hindu majority represented in the Congress Party. The Indian princes who rule over the 63 million people in the Native States (with British guidance) shudder at the liberalism of the Congress party and at Mr. Jinnah's dream of a unified, independent Moslem state within India.

STAFF HEADS TO MEET Argonaut staff heads will hold a short, but important, meeting Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Argonaut office.	WAA election pledging and installation of new officers will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Women's gymnasium.

Funnies

There would be no better way to present an example of what an excellent soldier should be than to use comic strip characters for comparison. American funnies reflect all that is ruggedly verile in men and beautiful in women. What the best soldier type would lack from funny characters could probably be rectified with Lifebuoy and Listerine.

The attributes of the prize army man could be culled from the following:

1. Joe Palooka for heroism. This intrepid fighter has just captured a Nazi submarine somewhere in the Atlantic, clouting villains with bare fists, and saving the entire American fleet by dousing a time bomb.
2. Dick Tracy for intelligence: After suc-

"Permits" Needed For Annual Ball

"Grazing permits" will be the prime necessity for admission to the foresters' ball to be held tomorrow night in the SUB ballroom, according to general chairman Roy Kuehner. The dance will be semi-formal.

Tickets for the affair have been on sale in men's residences all week, Kuehner said. Programs are being distributed when the tickets are purchased.

Evergreen Decorations.

Decorations will be based on actual forestry materials. Students have been combing the mountains near Moscow for evergreens and will also use a number of forestry signs.

Paul Cawley's orchestra will play for the dance, which will begin immediately after the WSC-Idaho basketball game. Forestry faculty members will be patrons.

Dr. Cushing Talks On Child Care

Speaking principally on the work which defense workers can do in caring for children during emergencies, Dr. Hazel Cushing, co-ordinator of family life education, Spokane, addressed a group of home economics students Tuesday.

The speaker told of establishment of two WPA nursery schools in Spokane during peace time where children of low income families are cared for during the day. Special emphasis is placed on nutrition, child development, psychology of family relations, home-nursing, and first-aid.

Dr. Cushing pointed out that this was a plan begun during peace times and the work done during the emergency will be merely an extension of that plan.

Vestry Approves Party Plans

Members of the Vestry of Canterbury society met Tuesday to make final plans for a party to be held February 17, at the church. The party will start at 7 p.m., and will last till 9 p.m. There will be dancing, cards, and refreshments. All Episcopalian students and their friends are invited to attend.

Also discussed Tuesday night was the play, "Christ Living," to be given by members of the group under the direction of Miss Jean Collette, instructor in English, on Palm Sunday at St. Mark's church.

"Snag Your Man," Women Warned

"Get your man early for the Spinster Skip," warned Mortar Board President Marian Heath yesterday when she announced that the traditional dance will be held as campus custom dictates. It will be February 23 this year, as Washington's birthday falls on a Sunday.

Each woman student may invite the man of the moment, take him to the matinee dance at the SUB ballroom in the afternoon, for which Red Jensen's band will play, and then entertain him at dinner and a movie that evening.

Working on committees to plan the dance are Vera Nell James, Norma Lou McMurray, Helen Campbell, Marjorie Thompson, and Elizabeth Bracken.

Women Sponsor Faculty Dinner

Ninety-eight faculty members and wives attended the formal dinner sponsored by the Faculty Women's club at the Student Union building last night. A unique progressive system was used during the dinner to move guests from table to table.

Incidental music during the dinner was furnished by Dick Sales at the piano. Table decorations carried out a Valentine motif with hundreds of tiny hearts scattered over the tables.

Jitterbugs.

The program which followed the dinner included jitterbug dancing by Perky Doane and Joe Garner, a Spanish dance by Peggy Tway, an acrobatic dance by Molly Mahon, and an accordian solo by Doris Keister.

Cards and dancing in both ballrooms completed the entertainment for the evening. Mrs. Ralph Russell was general chairman of the dinner. Assisting her were Mrs. Don Forrester, Mrs. Robert Greene, Mrs. Howard Stough, and Mrs. Irving Jolley, club president.

Others who served on committees were Mrs. W. H. Boyer, Mrs. Norman Nybrotten, Mrs. Chandler Bragdon, Mrs. Lee Gibson, Mrs. H. P. Magnuson, Mrs. T. W. McCartney and Mrs. W. W. Tinniswood.

Pledges Show Vocal Talents During Annual Hell-Weeks

Ingenuity of fraternity upper-classmen came into the open this week when annual hell-week festivities began in several Greek houses. The main idea the past few years has been to create quaint rhymes for pledges to recite over the phone whenever a call is received.

Still maintaining their reputation as reciters of classic material in free verse, Sigma Nu pledges this week answered the phone with:

"2465, hardly a pledge is still alive, 5642, what, kind sir, can I do for you?"

This is Sigma Nu that you have dialed

Hurry up, I'm getting riled

Its your nickel, start talkin'."

Accurate English characterized the Tau Kappa Epsilon greeting.

"How do you do, this is TKE, No one answers this phone but me.

If you'll but tell me whom to call I'll have him here in no time at all."

Self degradation seemed to be the byword of Phi Delta Theta.

I'm a little Phi Delt pledge. I sweep the floor and open the door and keep the dust from the window ledge

I answer the phone before the fourth ring,

Is there someone to the phone I may "bring?"

Key Women Plan Bridge Tourney

Arlene Deobald will be in charge of the annual Cardinal Key bridge tourney this year, according to Kay Schnieder, president of the group, yesterday. The tournament will begin in about two weeks.

Each campus living group has been asked to select at least two candidates and give their names to a member of Cardinal Key before next Wednesday. The entrance fee this year will be $1 a couple. As many teams as are interested may enter.

A cup will be awarded the group winning the tourney this year.

Women To Report For Swim Meet

All women desiring to enter the telegraphic swimming meet must be at the men's gymnasium for practice tomorrow at either 10 a.m. or 2 p.m. Women may enter the tournament only after eight practices and these can be obtained on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Other observable activities this week include the leather lunged watchdogs of Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Nu who announce the time at half hour intervals long into the night.

Vandals, Cougars Close Series Tomorrow

Idaho May Again Topple League Leading Team

Back in the win column again after a 37-32 conquest of Washington's Huskies, Vandal hoopsters will attempt to make it two in a row tomorrow evening meeting Washington State's league leading Cougars in Memorial gymnasium. Game time is set for 7:30 o'clock. A preliminary is set for 5:45 p.m.

Idaho's second victory of the conference season toppled the Huskies from a first place deadlock with the Cougars, and the Vandals will attempt to give the same treatment to Washington State tomorrow. To even the W.S.C. series the Wicksmen will have to win this final game.

Jack Friel's title-bound team has already won two of the three games played this year and will be favored tonight. After a slow start early in the year the Cougars have come back sensationally to annex the top position in the conference.

Hopkins Finishes Career.

Vonley Hopkins, junior guard, will finish his college career against the Washington State five. Hopkins will leave Monday to be inducted into the army. After earning a letter as a sophomore, the slim Vandal took over a regular post this year and has been one of the mainstays of the Idaho quintet.

Pleased by the showing made by the team in the comeback against the Huskies Tuesday, Wicks expressed confidence in the Vandal's chances.

"If they play 40 minutes of ball like they played the first 20 Tuesday, we should get the same results," the Vandal mentor said.

Center Ray Turner, who was bothered with a severe boil on his hip during the Washington series, will probably be back in top physical shape for the Cougar tilt.

Starting Lineups.

The starting lineup will probably remain the same as usual. Turner will be at center, with George Steele, who blossomed into a scoring star against Washington, and Ted Thompson at forwards. Cliff Benson and Hopkins will hold down the guard posts.

Gail Bishop will oppose Turner at center, and Kirk Gebert and

Riflemen Win Two, Lose One Match

Idaho riflemen won two of three telegraphic matches last week with one yet unreported. No report has been received from the University of Detroit. Idaho won from Oregon and Tennessee, lost to Georgia Tech.

The shoulder to shoulder match scheduled for last Wednesday with Washington State was postponed at the request of the Cougars because of registration. The meet has been tentatively rescheduled for February 25.

Georgia Tech eked out a two-point win over the Idaho marksmen 3716 to 3714 for the only Vandal loss. In the other two matches Idaho defeated Oregon 3714 to 3607, and in a meet for ROTC men only won 3714 to 3675 from Tennessee.

This week the Vandal sharpshooters are firing against Knox college, North Dakota, Dayton, Wyoming, and Virginia Polytechnic.

Owen Hunt will work in the backcourt for the Cougars. Marvin Gilberg, leading scorer in the conference, is a certainty to open at one forward while a three way fight is under way for the other starting position, between Al Akins, Scott Witt, and John Hooper. Witt will probably get the call because of his ability to play better against the slow breaking Idaho style.

Idaho Leads Washington.

It was Idaho all the way against Washington as the Vandals never relinquished an early lead. With Thompson, Steele, Turner and Hopkins dividing the scoring Idaho had a 24-13 margin at halftime.

After the Vandals had kept that lead at 31-19 in the second half the attack bogged down and the Huskies narrowed the gap to 31-27. With two minutes to go Idaho had a three point margin when Hopkins bucketed two free throws to widen the lead. Steele finished the scoring with a field goal. Idaho scoring was balanced as four men notched eight points or better. Steele led the scoring with 11 counter, besides turning in a standout job under the backboard. Turner tallied 10 points.

Frosh To Meet WSC

Matmen Will Meet WSC Team Here

Heavy practice for the Idaho wrestlers ended yesterday afternoon as the team completed preparations for a return match with the Washington State matmen here tomorrow afternoon. Hank Juran, team captain, said the freshmen and varsity teams will be ready for competition.

With Jim Ellsworth, only Vandal winner in the last W.S.C. meet, back in training after a short illness, the Vandals are expected to be much stronger than they were in the last meet. Walt Stevens, a wrestler of two years ago, and Buhl Sutton, another veteran, strengthen the team in the 175-pound and 136-pound classes respectively.

Harley Greaves broke a wrist bone in the Washington meet last Saturday and Idaho will have to forfeit the 121-pound match. The rest of the men are in good condition.

The freshman team will forfeit the 131 pound and the 139 pound classes because of a lack of competitors in those weights. Several new men are out for the freshman team and show promise, according to Juran.

The complete lineups include Laurence McGonagle 128 pounds, Buhl Sutton 136 pounds, Ralph Russel 145 pounds, Jim Ellsworth 155 pounds, Juran 165 pounds, Walt Stevens 175 pounds, and Lavern Bell heavyweight. The freshmen will include Charles Christiansen 121 pounds, Eldon Brown 145 pounds, Austin Hanny 155 pounds, Walt Manata 175 pounds, and Gordon Kalk, heavyweight.

Babes Will Seek Fourth Victory Over Kittens

Pointing for a clean sweep of the four game series, Idaho freshmen hoopsters tangle with Washington State's yearlings tomorrow night in the final encounter between the two teams. The game will start at 5:45 o'clock and precedes the varsity game.

The Vandal Babes have won six games this year without a loss. They have defeated the Cougar Kittens three times.

Other Vandal victories have been chalked up over Kellogg All-stars and two victories over Lewiston normal. The Idaho freshmen have been working out every afternoon since Monday's game.

Washington State, coached by Ray Sundquist, has had only a mediocre season this year in comparison to the undefeated squad they had last year. The Kittens have defeated Gonzaga yearlings and Cheney normal's freshmen by convincing scores. Allen Maul at forward is the main threat for the Washington State squad.

Coach Babe Brown will probably start Bob Ryan and John Evans at forwards, Jim Swarbrick at center, and Harry Costa and Del Owens at guards. Costa returned to the lineup Monday after recovering from a leg injury.

Tank Teams Race Here Tomorrow

First victory of the season will be the goal of Vandal swimmers tomorrow afternoon when they meet Washington State in Memorial gymnasium at 2 o'clock. Freshmen mermen will meet the Cougar Kittens at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Washington State defeated both Vandal squads in an earlier duel this year, the Cougar varsity winning 45-31 and the W.S.C. yearlings triumphing 39-18. However, Idaho had only five men on the varsity team that meet and consequently lost many second and third places. Eight men will represent Idaho tomorrow.

Members of the Idaho team participating will be Don Anderson, Art Acuff, Byron Thomas, Allen Feld, Steele Barnett, Gerald O'Connor, and Ralph Hollingsworth.

Boxers Meet Oregon State Here Tonight

Standals Gain Strength Berllus Returns

Strengthened by the return of Veto Berllus, last year heavyweight letter winner, Idaho will throw an improved team against the Oregon State Beavers when the two ring teams clash at Memorial gymnasium at 8 tonight, Bob Knox, team skipper, said last night.

Idaho has been defeated by Washington State and Gonzaga while the Beaver ring team won over the California Aggies and drew with Gonzaga.

Idaho's sophomore fighters have two fights under their belts. This added experience and the fact that we have to forfeit one fight should make Idaho a stronger team," Knox said.

Idaho has had no regular heavyweights, and with Berllus fighting against the Simas, 205 pound Beaver all player, Idaho's chances are much better, Knox said.

First. Gordon Ross, Idaho regular, and Fox, Oregon State, will start the evening's card meeting in the 127 pound division. In the 127 pound class, Watkins Kershaw, will meet Dick Livingston, Oregon State.

Idaho will forfeit the 135 pound division but Clark Chandler will fight an exhibition bout with Jim Allen, Oregon State regular.

Williams, one of Idaho's promising boxers, will meet Clark, Oregon State, in the 145 pound class. Both fighters had experience and it should be an interesting match.

The 155 pound division Idaho's Parrell Lott will swap punches with O.S.C.'s Don Hawkins.

Idaho's Anderson, 1941 Sugar champion, will meet Jack Johnson, Oregon State. This fight is expected to be a battle of experience against height. Anderson has the experience and Wells, Gonzaga, the height.

Idaho's Briggs, 175 pounder who defeated Gonzaga's heavyweight champion, should have an easier fight against Bill McFadden, Oregon State. Briggs has been looking good and recently lost a close fight last week although out-weighted 25 pounds.

Idaho's fighters will be admitted on activity books.

Fencers Meet WSC Matches Here

Fencers will try to make victories in a row as they meet the Washington State foil team here tomorrow afternoon as part of the show in a minor carnival. This will be the first meeting of the Idaho-W.S. fencers. Washington State won the last matches.

On Saturday, the Idaho fencers will meet the University of Washington in matches at Seattle. Team captain George Redford reported that this had been the Idaho victory over a Washington foil team for several years. Idaho is the defending northern division champion.

Idaho's men representing Idaho in the matches will be Redford, Lewis Nonini, Dick Shaver, and George Hackney. This is the team that defeated Washington last week.

Dalton Clark, Oregon State college veteran, probably will have his face full of leather tonight when he meets Bill Williams, classy Vandal sophomore, in the 145-pound division. Tonight's matches will be the first home card for Idaho boxers. The Beaver boxers are undefeated this year.

Ryan Sets Trials For Trackmen

Candidates for the Idaho track team will get their last chance to turn out this afternoon, Coach Mike Ryan announced yesterday. Time trials will start Monday and continue until March 9.

Monday afternoon, February 23, the annual meeting of tracksters will be held and plans formulated for the coming season.

Two intra-squad meets will open the season. March 9 the annual interclass meet will be held, and the following week the Vandal thinclads will compete in the intergroup meet.

March 21 the Vandals will open their regular season in the Inland Empire relays at Pullman.

LDS Students Pick Five Candidates

Five women have been chosen by LDS students as candidates for queen of the Green and Gold ball, February 21. Nominated are Marie Williams, Mervie Lu Kloepfer, Marjorie Call, Corine Williams, and Fern Meyers.

Queen of this ball will go to Coeur d'Alene to compete in the state Green and Gold queen contest.

Tickets for the dance are $1. Each ticket entitles the holder to vote for the queen.

SCHOLARSHIP ANNOUNCED
The Legion Athletic Roundtable of Coeur d'Alene this week announced that it is giving a $500 athletic scholarship to the university, according to Graduate Manager Gale Mix.

Skiers Win Right To Enter Meets

Jack Numbers, first place slalom winner, and Ellis Wickward, high Idaho man in the downhill, placed in the high five in class A competition in the Pacific Northwest Zone five ski tourney at Wallace last weekend. Jack Gunderson placed third in the class B downhill-slalom combined to win a place on the class B team.

The winners have the right to compete in the Pacific Northwest class A and B championships. The class A championships are to be held at Mt. Baker March 7, 8 and the class B races will be on there March 21, 22.

Numbers placed first in the slalom and seventh in the downhill. Wickward placed fifth in both events. Both Wickward and Numbers tied with Keith Whiting of the Idaho Ski club for third in combined ratings. Gunderson won his position with a second in the slalom and a third in the downhill.

Next scheduled met for the Vandals is an Intermountain Ski council meet at Emida February 22. Lack of snow probably will cause cancellation of the meet. March 1 the skiers will compete in an Intermountain Ski council meet at Chewelah.

Editor Announces Picture Deadline

Leaders of organizations which have not had their pictures taken for the Gem of the Mountains should contact Don Carlson, associate editor, to arrange for scheduling of pictures, it was reported last night by Editor Bob Wethern.

Most organization pictures have been taken now, and many have already been mounted and sent to the engraver. It is hoped that all other organization pictures can be taken within the next 10 days the editor said.

Hutchison's studio reported yesterday that they have filled all appointment periods for the remainder of this week, and it will be impossible to arrange sittings for Gem pictures now, because of Saturday's deadline. No report has been received from Sterner's, however, and students may be able to get their pictures taken there, if they will act promptly.

Dan Taylor Describes Peaceful Life Of Argentine Gauchos

By Barbara Mears

"Life is swell in Argentina," according to Dan Taylor, who returned last June after a three years' stay in the land of gauchos and palm trees.

Taylor, who is in the college of law, was sent to South America as a Mormon missionary. He spent a year and a half living in Buenos Aires, the capital of Argentina, and the rest of the time gaucho Taylor roamed the Argentina Pampas.

One-fourth of the population of Argentina has settled down to a rather peaceful life in Buenos Aires, he said. The city folks dress as we do, however, in the interior, it is a different story. The gauchos, who are equivalent to western cowboys, gallop about on small, sturdy horses with mantas draped across their shoulders. What we might call a masculine form of pantaloons are known in Argentina as "bombachas."

Dress is Colorful.

The women dress for the Pampas in much the same manner as American beauties deck out for the beach. They wear white blouses and graceful blue skirts—the national colors.

Though not noticeable to the casual observer the gauchos are adequately armed. Inspection would reveal a knife neatly tucked away in the back of their belts.

The Spanish girls who, according to Taylor, are "very beautiful," are carefully chaperoned. Courtship involves a procedure which takes about a year. Three months are spent in exchanging sly glances during the evening walks indulged in by all South Americans. At the end of that time the boy may take the girl home each evening for about three more months. At last the girl's mother will ask the boy into the home where they spend their evenings under the watchful eye of a chaperone. Finally after the engagement has been announced, the couple may at last sneak off for a private kiss.

Gay Carnivals.

Carnival time is the gayest season of the year in Argentina. The carnival begins the fifth of May and continues for three hilarious days. The people dress in varied costumes and fill the streets. The first two days are devoted entirely to confetti throwing, but on the last day real flowers are strewn along the streets. Small vials containing perfume are smashed near unsuspecting merry-makers, leaving aromatic odors on them. During carnival time chaperones are dispensed with and adoring boys and girls may dance to their heart's content.

The South Americans have a beverage which they serve about six times a day. It is similar to our tea and is served in a gourd with a quill. The gourd is passed from one to another in the same manner as the Indians pass the peace pipe. The hostess is always the last to drink.

Argentine natives think that everyone in the United States is a millionaire and form their opinions of our existence from our Hollywood releases.

Asked if he liked South America, Taylor replied that the life is very interesting, and the habits and customs of the people are very distinctive. He hopes to return after the war.

"Living is so cheap down there," Taylor said, "that for $15 a month you can live like a king."

Chairmen To Meet Song Leaders

Jean Mann and Douglas Campbell, co-chairmen of the inter-house song fest, set for May 8 will meet living group song leaders within the next two weeks to discuss plans for the event, it was announced yesterday.

Prof. Robert Walls has compiled a list of suitable songs for the contest, and will turn them in at the meeting.

The song fest is sponsored each year by Sigma Alpha Iota, Phi Mu Alpha, national music honoraries, and is open to all group houses on the campus.

Groups may sing two songs, of their own choosing. Sigma Nu and Delta Gamma were the winners of the fest last year.

Debaters To Go To McMinville

Blaine Evans and Ben Kinney, freshmen, will represent Idaho in a debate tournament at Linfield college, McMinville, Ore., February 19, 20, and 21. A. E. Whitehead, debate coach, reported last night.

Two teams were named last night for debate and another is to be selected soon. Dale Greeley and Vernon Ravenscroft make up the other team.

Evans and Kinney will debate the question, Resolved: "That government should regulate, by law, all labor unions."

Greeley and Ravenscroft will debate on the question, Resolved: "That democracies should form federation to establish and maintain the eight Churchill-Roosevelt principles."

Each team will debate at least six times; three times on the affirmative and three times on the negative.

Evans, Kinney, Ravenscroft, and Greeley will also enter the oratorical and extemporaneous speaking contests, and two representatives will enter an impromptu speaking contest.

Here's More About— ASSEMBLY

executive board meeting. Class elections are scheduled for February 26 if the amendment is defeated.

Purpose of the abolition of class elections this semester is to save ASUI about $125, explained Harry Lewies, who submitted the proposal to the board.

"We could hold class elections the fall and have officers serve two semesters," Lewies declared. The general ASUI election in the spring would elect executive board representatives and the ASUI president for next year and the expenditures of one election could be utilized on other ASUI functions."

Emergency Measures.
 Both amendments are indicated as emergency clauses and would automatically terminate two successive semesters after the cessation of present hostilities.

Vacancies in elective offices will be filled from candidates suggested by the political party to which the absent officeholder belonged if the other amendment is passed.

Eberhard last night emphasized the importance of students attending the special assembly, indicating that it was virtually the same as a general election.

The government is offering at least one course in trigonometry through civil service a full-time college course at the University of Southern California to provide trained civilian personnel for civilian defense needs, according to an announcement received by Bill Olson, secretary Idaho Alumni association.

Qualified men between the ages of 18 and 35 will receive a salary of $120 a month during the three-months course, and upon successful completion of the course will be recommended for an advancement. The position held under civil service is titled Junior Inspector, Ordnance Material.

Necessary qualifications include one year of resident study in an engineering course in a college or university of recognized standing; or two years of resident study in a college, university, or school of technology of recognized standing, including six semester hours in each of the following: chemistry, physics, and mathematics. Applicants must also show that included within their education there has been successfully completed at least one course in trigonometry either in high school or college.

Ordnance Inspectors.

Duties of the position will be as trainees in the capacity of under-inspectors of ordnance materials, to receive training and instruction in the fundamentals of the inspection of ordnance materials to determine compliance of such materials with technical specifications. Competitors will be rated on the subject of mechanical aptitude tests, and approximately 3 1/2 hours will be required for the examination.

Army Discontinues Summer Camp

No summer camp for advanced ROTC officers will be held this year, Lieut. Col. Charles W. Jones, head of the military department, was informed this week by a telegram from the adjutant of the ninth corps area. The summer camps would be continued for the duration of the war and for six months after the cessation of hostilities.

Complete details will arrive about 10 days, according to Jones, who ventured a prophecy regarding the immediate effects that the order will have on advanced ROTC students.

"It is possible that summer camps are being discontinued in the accelerated education program which allows students to finish college work in three years," Colonel Jones said. "Continuation of the summer camp would mean that the student would have to quit school to attend the camp, thus delaying his graduation."

Practical training could be continued at the completion of the course, it has been pointed out. There is also a possibility that juniors in military may be given their commissions at the end of this year and then sent to other schools for an additional six months' training.
