Library To Close At 9:30 Week Nights

Reduction of NYA allotments forced university library heads to announce yesterday that starting Monday the library will close at 9:30 p.m., rather than 10 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings. The library will not be open Friday evenings.

"It is thought that this course will cause little inconvenience or loss of time to individual students," it was stated yesterday. "It will free 20 hours of desk work for other kinds of work, and will save an appreciable sum on the electric bill."

The announcement said that the reduction in NYA expenses forced the library either to shorten periods of service, or give less service during the time the library is open.

"After most careful consideration, the library officials have reluctantly decided that the best course will be to close the library a half hour earlier in the evening," the announcement said.

Daylight hours will remain the same: 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. on week days and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Work Resumed On Lab Building

Work on the new Engineering laboratory was resumed this week by contractor J. D. Berry, President Harrison C. Dale announced yesterday. Two or three laborers began preliminary work on the building and a full crew is expected to start operations as soon as weather permits.

Construction on the dairy building just west of Morrill hall is expected to start soon, President Dale said. More material vital to the building arrived this week and completion is foreseen soon.

"It is still indefinite whether or not we will obtain any copper wire for the refrigeration of the dairy building," President Dale said. "However we can lay the conduits and 'pull' copper wires through the conduits after the building is constructed."

Refrigeration equipment constitutes the major portion of the dairy building.

Towles Announces Contest Close

Thursday noon is the last possible time for entries in the Junior week theme contest, Jim Towles, general chairman, announced yesterday. The contest is open to all students, and theme suggestions will be judged by Junior week committee heads. The winning theme will be awarded $5. All entries must be in an envelope, and should be submitted to Towles at Sigma Nu.

Completed committee lists will be announced by all committee chairmen Tuesday, Towles stated. General committee heads will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in SUB.

PLEDGE LEADER NAMED

Frances Marshall was elected president of the Alpha Lambda Delta pledge class at their last meeting according to pledge mistress, Marylu Jensen. Both members and pledges of the group will meet Tuesday at 5 p.m. at Forney hall.

Vandal Marksmen Win Corps Rifle Match For Second Time

Second Championship in a Row

Team Wins Right To Enter National Shoot

Idaho riflemen won the ninth corps area ROTC rifle match for the second consecutive year according to an announcement from the Office of Lieut. Col. C. W. Jones. The team fired an unofficial score of 3788 to eclipse their last year's score by 31 points. Idaho riflemen will now enter the national matches.

Official score has not been announced, but as the targets were scored here before being mailed to Presidio, San Francisco, the team had 3788 points, Lieut. Otto A. Nelson, rifle team coach, said last night. The team finished firing February 14.

High three teams for each corps area enter the national ROTC rifle matches and Lieutenant Nelson said the Idaho team would probably begin shooting in that match late in March. Riflemen are now firing in the Hearst trophy match, a national contest open to all RTC units. Last year Idaho placed second in the Hearst contest.

ASUI Board Downs Motion To Void 'Week' Appointees

The ASUI executive board this week rejected a motion to void all Junior week committee appointments until the ration of Greeks and Independents were more evenly divided on chairmanships. The motion, submitted by Boardmember Sennett Taylor died for want of a second.

Taylor explained that only four Independents had been given committee chairmanships as compared to 13 United Students and that if such a condition were allowed to exist that the rift between the rival political parties would grow.

Taylor pointed out that the Independent-dominated freshman class probably would appoint committee chairmen also on a one-sided basis, with the Junior week appointments as a precedent.

Harry Lewies and Rudy Franklin were named on a committee to see Athletic Director George Greene about changing requirements for athletic awards. Fred Siegfried's appointment as chairman of the dance committee of the Student Union Activities board was approved.

Argonaut awards for five semesters service on the editorial staff of the paper were granted Tom Campbell, Dorothy Bayne, and Catherine McGregor. Argonaut awards for three semesters service on the business staff were approved for Armour Anderson, Tom Sneddon, Dick Ryan, Milton George, and Patsy McGrath.

Capt. R. V. Lundquist, instructor in fire assaying, of the mines faculty, has been ordered to active service March 9 at Edgewood arsenal, Md., in the chemical warfare service.

10-Point Cut Rule Applied To Spring Vacation

Two rulings were made by the academic council this week, one applying the 10-point cut rule to single holidays, which will include Easter holidays, and the other providing a means for students to secure permission from their parents to extend vacations without receiving the penalty.

The official statement released by Dean of the Faculty Jay Grover Eldridge, chairman of the committee formulating the rules, is as follows:

"It is generally recognized that the experiment made last November of not applying the '10-point cut penalty' for absence in connection with the single holiday, Thanksgiving, did not work well. There was an excessive number of absences for a considerable part of the week, and in some cases classes were completely abandoned. In view of these facts, a special committee of the academic council has been working upon the whole matter of absences for single holidays and longer vacations. When the committee reported on Wednesday two actions were taken:

Single Holidays.

"The first extends the penalty to single holidays (which are likely to be fewer in future years (Continued on Page Three)

AWS To Nominate Officers Monday

A general nominating assembly for women will be held Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the Bucket, according to Marjorie Thompson, AWS president. The nominating committee report will be given and nominations from the floor will be accepted.

Election will be next Wednesday with voting booths in the Administration building.

Fraternities Pick 12 Councilmen

Eleven fraternities placed new men on the Inter-fraternity council to fill chairs which will be left empty by the graduation of senior councilmen, at a dinner meeting in the Kappa Sigma house Wednesday night.

Elected to the council, which governs inter-fraternity relations, were Ralph McColm, Sigma Chi; Jack Morris, Lambda Chi Alpha; Ladd Hamilton, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Carl Minden, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Bob Pace, Delta Chi; Jack Numbers, Kappa Sigma; Bill Bakes, Sigma Nu; Bill Eimers, Alpha Tau Omega; Bob Walkley, Delta Tau Delta; Jack Mosher, Phi Gamma Delta; and Tom Harland and Stan Parks, Phi Delta Theta. Beta Theta Pi will not elect its council representative for another month.

President Jim Towles appointed Bob Korman to editorship of the annual Fraternity Handbook, and proposed four new projects Wednesday night for discussion by council members: an alumni fraternity association composed of town men and faculty members, a council advisory board, a pledge council, and an interfraternity news letter.

Printing of date cards and rushing rules will be handled by Bill Mout, Tom Harland, and Ralph McColm.

BETA'S INITIATE NINE

Beta Theta Pi announces the initiation of Randolph Clements, Richard Beier, John LeMoyno, Dale Greeley, Albert Benoit, Morris Swanson, Robert Blandford, Talmage Hawkins, and Arthur Blomgren.

Debate To Begin For Women

The annual women's debate tournament, postponed last fall, will begin March 16, according to Marc Boles, manager. The tourney is sponsored by Delta Sigma Rho, debate honorary.

Representatives from women's groups will meet Monday at 4 p.m. in the ASUI office. Since the outbreak of war with Japan, the question announced last fall has been abandoned. The new question is "Resolved: That the democracies of the world should form a federation based on the principles of the Atlantic charter."

A trophy will be awarded to the winning group. The cup is now held by Delta Gamma.

At least eight houses must enter if the tournament is to be run off, according to Boles. Rules will be read to house representatives at Monday's meeting.

Engineers To Hold Dance March 14

The annual Engineers ball will be held March 14 in the SUB, Bob Ralstin announced yesterday. Larry Spencer's orchestra will play.

The main feature of the ball will be a kiss-o-meter. This kiss-o-meter was built by engineering students. Couples will enter a booth and stand of two steel plates. While they kiss, the needle on the outside will register the amount of feeling they have put into it. The couple with the most electrical kiss will receive a prize.

Following committee heads have been appointed: programs, Ken Andrew; decorations, Don Konen; and publicity, Harold Brevick. Tickets for the ball are 75 cents for engineering students and $1 for other students.

Communique Comment

Tuesday night's raid by the R.A.F. on the arms industries of the Paris area sounded the death-knell for appeasement of Vichy as far as London is concerned. If French envoy Henry-Haye fails this week in Sumner Welles' special quiz on French aid to the Axis in Libya, Washington may abandon soft words and treat the Petain government as a junior partner of the Axis. Rough-tough treatment of Vichy by the Allied-foreign offices may swing France into a military alliance with Berlin, but it may also lead to violent action within France by anti-German and anti-Vichy elements in the population—Frenchmen of good will who have resented the conciliatory policy of London and Washington toward Vichy.

It is doubtful whether the mass of the French people share the angry horror over the casualty lists from Tuesday night that is expressed each hour by the Vichy leaders and by Hitler's henchmen in the Paris press. Frenchmen must look with some distrust on the official death-toll as given out by the Nazi authorities in Paris and by the men of Vichy. The admission by Darlan's chief secretary that the bombed plants were producing war material for the German army weakens the force of the Vichy charge that the British bombers struck only at the civilian population.

In the Petain cabinet, a tug-of-war seems to be going on between a pro-Axis group in the pay of Berlin and moderates who oppose further French collaboration with the Reich. Interior-Minister Pierre Pucheu and Information-Minister Paul Marion are two leaders of the pro-Axis bloc. Their plan is to line up France as a military ally of the Axis and mould their homeland into miniature Nazi state. Pucheu is organizing a special secret police on the Gestapo model and an "elite guard" that will resemble Heinrich Himmler's SS troops. Premier Darlan with his fanatical hatred of the British serves this group as a useful tool at present, while Pucheu and Marion pave the way for the return to power of their friend, Pierre Laval.

In recent months, the moderates in the Vichy ministry have been able to sabotage several of the projects of the Pucheu-Marion clique through quiet obstruction. In this they have been aided by the members of the civil service, most of whom regard with suspicion the Germanophiles in the cabinet. Admiral Leahy, U. S. ambassador at Vichy, has helped to stiffen the moderates in their opposition to the pro-Nazi ministers and has been castigated by the controlled Paris press for his "machinations." Petain's refusal to knuckle under to the pro-Axis bloc can be ascribed partly to Leahy's diplomacy.

FIVE MEN TO DEBATE

Five debaters will go to Pullman today to take part in round table meetings and an extemporaneous forum on inter-American affairs. They are Keith McCarthy, Milton George, Sylvan Jeppesen, Dale Greeley, and Blaine Evans.

The war took another slash at the university this week when library officials announced that the library would close half an hour earlier on week nights and omit Friday entirely. The NYA appropriation for the university was pared considerably this year and the library had to take its share of the reduction.

The library apparently had two alternatives: (1) either cut down the quality of service offered and stay open the same hours, or (2) maintain the same standard of service and cut down the hours. The latter plan was adopted.

Naturally, it isn't a plan that will be cheered. Whatever hour of the day you pick, there'll be some students who would like to be in the library studying. Perhaps they are living across town and haven't adequate studying facilities in their room. Perhaps they'll need a book out of the library. But its absurd to contend that the library should stay open all night to accommodate the few stragglers who would study. It should be the policy to provide the greatest amount of good to the greatest number of students.

That policy has been adopted. Compared to other nights the library is open, Friday night's attendance is probably the lowest. Bucket dances, motion pictures, and the sights of Moscow dwindle the library crowd to a handful.

By 9:30 p.m. on other nights, nearly all of the women have hurried home to get in before the dean of women's curfew rings and with no attractive legs to pass by, men students are willing to go home. Sure, closing the library early will effect some students; but before the war is over, students will look back and decide that this is only a small notch in the belt compared to the other notches taken when Uncle Sam tightens the belt again.

Dr. John G. Kirkwood, of the department of chemistry at Cornell university, will speak March 10 to members of Idaho and WSC chapters of Sigma Xi, national scientific honorary, at a joint meeting in the Hotel Moscow.

Speaking on "The Structure of Liquids," Dr. Kirkwood, one of Sigma Xi's national lecturers for 1942, will discuss recent experimental and theoretical advances in the study of liquid structure.

Track Team Opens Spring Season

Idaho trackmen open their spring season this weekend with the interclass meet at Memorial gymnasium. Field events open the meet Saturday, while running events are scheduled for Monday.

Trials in the running events will be held Monday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, with the finals scheduled for that night at 8 o'clock. Field events, excepting the high jump, will be held in the Cavalry barn on 6th street Saturday morning and afternoon.

Each track candidate will be expected to participate in at least two events, said Coach Mike Ryan. Events open to novices only will be the 40-yard dash, the 300-yard run, and the 600-yard run. Events open to both novices and veterans will be the 40-yard dash, 300-yard run, 600-yard run, 1000-yard run, 1 1/2 mile run, 45-yard high jump, pole vault, 12-pound shotput, and the 35-pound weight throw. An eight-lap interclass relay will climax the meet.

WAA Postpones Swim Meet

Previously scheduled to begin tomorrow, women's telegraphic swimming meet has been postponed until Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock and Saturday at 1:30 p.m. Three practice hours remain for women who have not yet completed the eight practices required for entrance in the meet. Heart and lung check is also needed.

Events that are open are the 25- and 40-yard free style, breast, and back strokes; 75-yard individual medley, 100- and 75-yard free style medley.

Alec Miller To Talk On Sculpture

"Wood Sculpture from Egypt Today" will be discussed by Alec Miller, Camden, Gloucestershire, Eng., in an address at the art building Monday at 11 a.m. Mr. Miller is lecturing under the auspices of the Waid fund of the American Institute of Architects.

Tourney Head

Eighteen couples have entered the Cardinal Key bridge tournament, according to Chairman Arlene Deobald, above. The tournament, to be played with set hands, will open tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Student Union building. Other couples wishing to enter the tournament may call Miss Deobald at Forney Hall. The $1 entrance fee must be paid at the door Saturday.

Pre-Medics Name Representative

Eulaine Helmers, president of Alpha Epsilon Delta, pre-med honorary, was elected last Friday to represent the organization at the national convention to be held early in April.

Members also discussed holding the annual open meeting in the future. This is sponsored by the honorary to acquaint pre-med students with the organization.

Grades are being investigated now, and eligible students soon will be invited to pledge.

Here's More About RIFLEMEN

No man for the ninth corps area match, scoring 383 in four position firing. Gene Bassett was second with 382 points, William Wright 381, Cecil Hill 378, James Canning 377, Bob Robbins 373, Martin Fry 372, Marion Bush 372, Earl Crea 371, and Merle Songstad 370.

In the ninth corps match last year the Idaho team scored 3757 points, 21 points higher than the winning score of the year before.

Ripon college, Michigan State, New Mexico State, and Texas A. & M. were last week added to the lists of teams losing to Idaho this season. Idaho scored 1905 for a five man team, and 3772 for a ten man team. Ripon scored 1877, Michigan State 1860, New Mexico State 2690, and Texas A. & M. 1875. Scores from Drexel university, University of Kansas, and Pennsylvania State have not yet been received.

Here's More About 10-POINT RULE than in the past, due to the condensed school year and early commencement).

"The second formulates a new kind of petition for extension of vacations during the school year, the effect of which will be to lay before the parent or guardian, the undergraduate student's request for extension of leave, his reasons for the same, the comment of his dean, and the probable result upon his grades of such extended absence. The parent's expressed wish under these conditions will then be returned on a special card to the university authorities before the beginning of the vacation.

"This special permission form will be obtained by the student from his dean. In the case of absences requested for the purpose of securing employment (particularly during the Christmas holidays), a letter from the prospective employer must also be filed.

"This ruling goes into effect for the short Easter vacation this year."

Students To Begin Code Classes

Code classes, open to all students in the university, will begin Monday, according to Hubert E. Hatrup, instructor in electrical engineering.

Classes will meet four times a week from 4 to 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Four classes will be held each day in different rooms in the Engineering building for students at different speeds.

Beginners should register in rooms 200 and 201. Students who have had some code training register in rooms 202 and 206.

East-west team scores were: Flathers and Collins, Hays hall, 86; Kaufman and Gorton, Kappa Sigma, 86; Marian Heath and Joyce Tucker, Delta Delta Delta, 86; Honey and Bob Lee.

Turner Sets New Record To Top ND Scorers

Bucketing 13 points in his final collegiate game, Ray Turner shattered both official and unofficial northern division scoring records against Oregon Saturday. Turner finished up with 192 points, six better than Wally Palmberg's official mark set in 1936, and one better than Laddy Gale's unofficial mark in 1938.

An accident shortly before the end of the first half threatened to put a last minute halt to his drive for a record. In a mixup under the basket, the curly head-souvenir hunters in the dressing room after the game. He lost several small articles of clothing. Many wires poured in and former record holders Gale and Palmberg both congratulated the big Vandal.

Modest and unassuming Turner gave much of the credit to his coach and teammates.

"I owe a lot to both the team and the coach for the part they played during the season," he said. "Breaking the record was my biggest thrill, but it was a wonderful feeling when it was over."

Besides the record, Turner brought back from the Willamette valley the basketball with which he scored the 13 points that placed him in undisputed possession of the northern division scoring record. Turner plans to collect the autographs of all of his teammates on the ball and have it lettered to commemorate the performance.

ed senior's glasses were shattered, splattering glass all over his face, neck, and the front of his uniform. As soon as the accident occurred Howard Hobson, Oregon coach, was running up and down the floor shouting for a doctor. However, the Idaho star came back for the second half minus his glasses and with a patch under his right eye.

Ray Turner Wins Second Spot On All-ND Team

Ray Turner, Idaho's northern division scoring record holder, was named to the northern division all-conference team by a near unanimous vote of players and coaches following the close of conference basketball play. John Mandic, Oregon State, was the only player winning unanimous vote. He was awarded 110 votes, Turner received second number of votes with 109.

Third number of votes went to Marvin Gilberg, Washington State, and other places on the first string went to Bob Morris, University of Washington, and Gail Bishop of Washington State.

Mandic won the center position, Turner and Gilberg were named as forwards, Morris and Bishop, guards.

Paul Jackson, Warren Taylor, George Andrews, all of Oregon, Don Durdan, OSC, and Norm Dalthorp of Washington were named to the second team. No positions were given as three are forwards, two are guards.

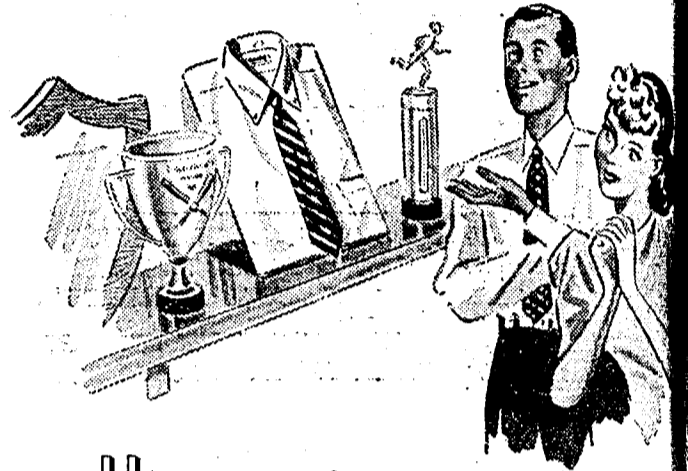

Turner also tied for the center position with Mandic on the all-conference team chosen by the University of Washington players and coaching staff. Gilberg was the only unanimous choice winning a forward spot. Other members of the first team were Andrews, Beck, and Scott Witt of WSC. Named to the second team at forward was Ted Thompson, sharpshooting Idaho forward.
