University Holds "Open House" Tomorrow

Ya Catch the Piggy This Way

Full Program of Events, Displays Planned

Skeptics and unbelievers may become converted tomorrow when they climb to the third floor of the Ad building and watch Jack Butler, psychology major, give an actual demonstration of hypnosis as part of the psychology department's show.

Butler during the past year has acquired a reputation for his hypnotic techniques and will give them an airing for all interested as part of the extensive All-University day program.

20 Women Invited To Banquet By Mortar Board

Mortar Board, honorary for outstanding senior women last night serenaded 20 junior women and invited them to attend Mortar Board's Narthex Table, formal dinner at which they will be guests of the organization. Each spring Junior women outstanding in scholarship, leadership, and activities, are tapped at the May fete after the serenade and Narthex Table.

Those recognized last night by Mortar Board were Virginia Young, Carolyn Norris, Joyce Tucker, Delta Delta Delta; Macey Mott, Alpha Phi; Helen Wilson, Jo Anne Tretner, Delta Gamma; Rena Echer, Ridenbaugh hall; Jean Mann, Rachel Swayne, Catherine Stover, Hays hall, Helen Hoffman, off the campus; Arlene Deobald, Ellen Cox, Kathleen Orr, Forney hall; Catherine McGregor, Dorothy Bayne, Gamma Phi Beta; Adell Clemmer, Kappa Alpha Theta; Doris Johnson, Mary Fran Marshall, Phyllis Paynter, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The formal dinner will be held Tuesday, May 5, at the Hotel Moscow, and Mortar Board members for next year will be chosen from the women invited to the banquet.

The Little International, annual Ag club show, will begin tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock on MacLean field, featuring fitting and showing of animals. The parade will begin at the Great Northern depot at 1:30 p.m. and wind across the campus with bands, floats and championship show animals. The Following the practice of last year those students who, with the recommendation of their dean or the head of their department, are asked to serve as guides or who will be assigned to prepare or demonstrate the various exhibits on All-University day (Saturday, May 2) will be excused from classes Saturday morning. The names of those excused should be presented at the next meeting of the academic council, President Harrison C. Dale announced yesterday.

procession will reach the campus about 2 p.m.

Evening entertainment will be furnished by the ags at the Latah fair ground and will include stock judging and music by the Campus club quartette.

Liaison Officer of Navy Arrives; Radio Trainees Expected Soon

The navy's coming. When will those naval radio trainees get here? Nobody knows. From where will those men come? Nobody knows... but the navy's coming. Part of it is here already.

Lieut. Louis I. Nadeau, liaison officer for the 13th naval district at the school here, arrived on the campus this week with his staff, and has established headquarters in the north end of UCB.

Blue Key Pledges Nine Men To Organization

Nine men were pledged last night to Blue Key, national upperclassmen's activity honorary. Men pledged were notified during dinner at their group houses. Pledged were George Beito, Knox Craig, Bob Ellingson, Jay Garner, Madison Lewis, Gene Luntney, George Oschner, Bob Robinson, and Ray Wilson.

Requirements for Blue Key membership are a cumulative grade average equal to the all men's average for the preceding semester, and participation in extra-curricular activities, according to Nelson Park, president of the local chapter.

Activity points are given according to a weighted scale. Seven hundred points are required for juniors, 800 for seniors, said Park.

BETTY ARMSTRONG TO WED
Betty Armstrong, Gamma Phi Beta, will wed Lieut. Robert Angell, former student, in Texas Saturday noon.

Stacked boxes of naval equipment, radio headphones, and other equipment now fill one room in the south end of UCB, and Robert Retherford, recently appointed technical supervisor for the program, reported that most of needed supplies have arrived.

Install Equipment.
"We are installing it now as fast as we can," Supervisor Retherford stated, "and expect to have things ready when the men arrive."

According to previous announcements that followed the signing of the contract with the navy, the first contingent of some 150 men to begin training here, were to arrive "about May 1." Three instructors have been named by Mr. Retherford to train the first group.

The instructors, subject to the approval of the board of regents, are Kenneth Hungerford, Boise, employee of the state game department; Hale Napper, Boise, district engineer for WPA and licensed civil engineer; and John Stanley Crawford, St. Maries, foreman of the state highway department. Heads Announce Program Of Songfest

The complete program for the annual songfest to be held Friday, May 8, was announced last night by Douglas Campbell and Jean Mann, co-chairmen of the affair. The fest, sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota, will be held on the lawn at the north entrance of the Administration building. It will begin at 8 p. m.

"Madonna" and the Pi Beta Phi sweetheart song, "In the Gloaming" and "Stout Hearted Men" will be sung by the Campus club, directed by Ivor Bauman. Kappa Alpha Theta's songs will be "A Theta Dream" and "Stardust," directed by Phyllis Akers. Delta Tau Delta, directed by Richard Gordon, will sing "Climbing Up the Mountain" and "My Delta Queen."

Gamma Phis Will Sing
Gamma Phi Beta, directed by Helen Foster, will sing "My Prayer" and "Good Night Little Sister." Directed by Weldon Cole, Alpha Tau Omega will sing "Our Jewels" and "Dancing in the Dark." Two fraternity songs will be sung by Delta Gamma, "You on the Campus" and "Anchored." They will be directed by Jo Anne Tretner. Beta Theta Pi will sing (Continued on Page Six)

Gale Mix To Leave for Army; Perry Culp Takes Over Job

GALE MIX

Graduate Manager Gale Mix will leave tonight at 7:20 o'clock for Ft. Douglas, Utah, to be inducted into the United States army as a first lieutenant. Perry Culp, assistant graduate manager, and publicity director, will take over the graduate manager duties for the rest of the year, President Harrison C. Dale announced yesterday.

Mix received his orders to report this week with reinstatement of his army commission, which had elapsed in 1939 after being in effect for 15 years. Although it is indefinite which branch of the army Mix will be stationed, it is hinted that it will be in the military intelligence division.

Mix was granted a leave of absence from the university for the duration of the war. His wife and small boy will remain in Moscow until after school is out and will then rejoin Mix unless he is stationed abroad, Mix said.

Culp has been assistant graduate manager and publicity director for the past four years.

A Fellow's Standards

It's a bit peculiar how a fellow's standards of values get turned upside down when he comes to college. We got to thinking about that the other morning when we were caught in a jam of students late to their 8 o'clocks.

The bell had rung, classroom doors had banged shut with what was supposed to be a sound of finality, and school was officially in session. But in the halls, on the stairs, and, yea, even down the campus sidewalks there were those still on their way to 8 o'clocks.

Now when a fellow was going to grade school it was always sort of a disgrace to be tardy, and the straggler was usually treated to nasty snickers and pitying looks. Proud was the one who could boast no tardy slips.

Then, in high school—well, maybe not so much—but even there the kid who was never late was rather respected. It was the same with absences. A fellow used to get awards, or certificates, or something for never being absent. Some even made the front pages of the paper for going to school for ever so many years without ever being absent.

But you sort of find things different when you come to college. It's all right if you want to get to all of your 8 o'clocks on time, but you don't brag about it. It just isn't done if you ever want to be a leader and get elected to something. And fella, if you've never skipped a class—well, you've just never been to college, that's all.

Guess there's not much one can do about it, though. You go to college, and you change. But you'd think they'd let a fellow know—might add an appendix to the handbook.—K. C.

Communique Comment

According to unconfirmed reports, Mussolini will soon meet Hitler in one of those infrequent tete-a-tetes that enable Il Duce to find out what the Axis will think and remind him of the dear, dead days when they met as equals—before he played lone wolf in the mountains of northern Greece and got bitten. Conferences between the two fascist chiefs often precede some world-shaking move by the Berlin-Rome bloc, but the situation on the home front in Italy and in the Reich may take up time at the next meeting.

In Rome, rapid reorganization of the Fascist Party seems to be under way. Corruption in connection with the "black market" in rationed commodities has been traced to officials near the top of the party hierarchy, and some heads may roll. In military and political circles, resentment is being expressed openly against the army of German "experts" that is "co-ordinating" the Italian economic system with that of the Reich. The traditional anti-German sentiment of the masses has been intensified by Hitler's demands for thousands of Italian laborers for service in Germany and for more Italian cannon-fodder for the Russian front. Haunted by the approach of old age and badgered by Berlin, Il Duce seems to be losing his grip on his own party.

Transportation and labor problems plague the Reichfuhrer as he enters the third summer of his war. In spite of the seizure of French rolling stock, the German railways are in a state of decline. Priorities for war industries and the armed services make it difficult to get materials for the repair of equipment and oil for lubrication. Each night the R.A.F. over the Reich and saboteurs in the Occupied Zones turn their energies to the destruction of railway yards and bridges. Conscription of two million war prisoners and two million civilian workers from Italy and the conquered nations still leaves a serious labor shortage. The widened powers given by Hitler to the local Nazi gauleiters this week render absolute the control of the central government over the movement of workers.

Only irrational optimists can assume that actual revolt is imminent in Hitler's Reich. The anti-Nazi underground movement lacks the necessary arms, and the leaders of the stature required for a national rebellion are in concentration camps, in exile, or at rest in quiet graves. For the present, the mass of the German people seem to be loyal to Hitler—partly because they fear the vengeance of the conquered nations in the collapse of German military resistance that might follow a large-scale revolution. Decisive defeat for the armies of the Fatherland might pave the way for widespread unrest. As in 1918, it will probably take military disaster to crack the fabric of the German state.

Dodge Interviewed For Fellowship

The first Idaho student to be interviewed by the Alfred P. Sloan foundation, Bob Dodge, student in the college of law, returned this week from Salt Lake City where he was interviewed in regard to a fellowship government management course.

Applications have been received from all over the nation, with last week's interviews boiling these down to 35 of which Dodge is one.

From this list 10 will be selected for the fellowship of $150 a month for 18 months of study at the University of Denver.

Tomorrow is All-University day. Hundreds of high school kids from North Idaho will flock to the campus—weather and tires permitting—to get a taste of the pomp and show of college life. They'll see the technical side of the university all laid out in the Engineering building, the Geology building, Science hall, and others. Women will see the home economics department—all spruced up. Yes, high school students will see the university dressed up in its Sunday suit, but how about the pair of dirty cords and sweat shirt?

The ordinary aspects of college life—the all-night bullfests, the coke and coffee sessions in the Bucket, the softball game in the middle of Elm street, the 8 o'clock class, and the lights shining late at night in Morrill hall—will be lost in the shuffle for the pomp. Yet, is it fair to the high school students to show them the university as a fairgrounds?

Some of those students undoubtedly will enroll in the university next year. Will they be disillusioned? Will they expect that university life—though dimmed by the war—will be just a glorious World's fair in miniature? Unless they've seen the university in its ordinary work and play clothes—the dirty cords and sweat shirt—perhaps they haven't seen a true cross section of the university.

Jason isn't arguing that the elaborate displays and ceremonies of All-University day should be discarded because it does not represent a true life picture of Idaho—only a painted and dolled up replica. All-University day should mean more than that. It should be an all-out effort on the part of the present group of students to convince the visiting high school students of the merits of their alma mater; it should be a chance to show the prospective college freshmen about the inner workings of college. It should be an opportunity to lessen the breach between college and high school by a bond of mutual friendship and cooperation.

But All-University day isn't entirely for the high school visitors. It is an opportunity to weld the university student body into a more compact unit and eliminate the schisms, misunderstandings, and lack of knowledge between the different schools, colleges, and departments of the university. It should be a factor in solidifying the university into one composite group, pulling together rather than a bunch of groups, all after the same objective, but pulling in a different way and different time.

The sweet young thing entered the office of the fashionable dog kennels and tripped up to the handsome young man at the desk. "I want a pet," she cooed. "Me too, but we have a helluva strict boss."

"So you're lost, little man? Why didn't you hang on to your mother's skirt?"
Youngster—"Couldn't reach it."

Sketches Of Conversation

SUCH IS LIFE

"This is the pay off—I took her out once—to a show, spent my good money on her and she didn't even ask me to her house dance two-weeks later!"

"Sure he's a drip—but his friend that we always double date with really has a classy car—and the car and its girl friend are on the verge of a break up—See what I mean?"

"Yeah—I took her out twice and the third time I took her out she wouldn't even kiss me good night. Don't be a sap—of course that isn't what I tell the fellows—NO! I wouldn't take her out again on a bet. What an icicle!"

"Of course I can't ask Jim to our dance. They've already had theirs—Yet Jack took me to the Prom but he has his pin planted on a home town gal—no future in that—he's on the baseball team—can't see it, myself. What am I going to do?"

"Did I tell you?—You've gotta help me! Look, it's this way—Bill just called and he thinks he has a date with me Friday night—That's ridiculous—I'm sure he said Saturday—because Phil called me a week ago and asked for Friday. Bob asked me to his formal dance a month ago!—and I just remembered It's Friday night!—wait a minute—this is nothing! Jerry is coming up tomorrow—and will be here all week—Who's Jerry?—well, he belongs to the pin in the drawer, you know, the one I got Christmas. —No, he isn't in the air corps—the wings belong to Johnnie—what do I do now?"

"If she won't go steady I won't go with her at all. How can I remember to always call her up a week ahead for a date—or ask her to the house dance two weeks ahead of time?"

"What do I think about her?—listen to this one—I said, 'Having a good time, cooky?'—She said—'Lamb chop, you fascinate me!'—Ugh."

The public events committee moved away from its traditional program Wednesday to present Rufus Rose marionettes, and drew the biggest crowd of the season. Two performances of the little troupe played to an auditorium packed with goggling eyes and craning necks.

Majority of students who saw the show attended out of curiosity, applauded heartily all the way through and left comparing plays to "Silly Symphony."

The morning audience saw "Van Winkle" and those who dropped in around 4 o'clock saw the same show plus "International Review" a variety of acts with characters of differing nationalities.

Dogs Steal Show.

High point of both performances was acting on the part of Rufus and his helpers who spoke for their wooden and paper marionettes.

Hit of the shows were the dogs: in the morning Rip's loopy jointed hound, in the afternoon a wandering flesh and blood canine who passed by and couldn't resist. The show stopped while he placed his front feet on the miniature stage and sniffed, fascinated.

Colorado President Tells Facts on Navy V-1 Plan

Freshmen and sophomores now under 20 years of age who are interested in the navy's new V-1 program are urged to sign up immediately, according to President Robert L. Stearns of the University of Colorado, who yesterday outlined the program to the university administration. President Stearns said that the V-1 program would close for sophomores this June and that it was substantial if many of the present freshmen class would be accepted next year.

President Stearns was one of the five university presidents who were instrumental in the organization of the V-1 program and has been touring the western states explaining the program to university and college officials.

Physical Different.
President Stearns emphasized that the physical examination for the V-1 program, a navy plan designed to enable freshmen and sophomore college students under 20 years old to complete two years of university work and then take an examination for entrance into the V-5 and V-7 programs leading to an ensign commission, is not as rigid as other navy physical examinations. He pointed out that students are passed if their physical defects are correctable in two years.

In outlining the program, he said that students enrolling in the V-1 program as freshmen or sophomores are asked their preference for the V-7 (deck officer) or V-5 (aviation pilot) program. Upon completion of two full years of college, an examination is given to test the qualifications of the applicant for continuation in the V programs. Those seeking advancement in the V-7 program are permitted to continue school and those seeking the V-5 program are sent to flying schools as soon as vacancies occur. Should the student flunk the examination or quit school he is inducted into the navy as an apprentice seaman, but is given a good chance for advancement to petty officer posts, according to President Stearns.

New Plan

George Greene, athletic director, is inaugurating this week a new sign-up plan for users of the university tennis courts.

"Papa," said the small son, "what do you mean by college bread? Is it different from any other kind of bread?"
"Yes, it's a bigger and better loaf."

Two Hostesses at Luncheon Tuesday

Two hostesses, Mrs. J. Irving Jolley and Mrs. William Olson, entertained at luncheon and bridge at the hotel Tuesday when their guests were members of the Housemothers club, a group of hall, sorority and fraternity hostesses augmented by the women who chaperone campus parties week-ends.

Three tables were arranged for bridge in the small banquet room after luncheon with prizes for the game going to Mrs. Gladys Babcock and Mrs. R. F. Daubenmire. Mr. and Mrs. John Sollers are receiving congratulations today on the birth of a son at the Gritman hospital this morning. Mr. Sollers is an instructor in the University of Idaho English department.

Day and night thousands of civilian volunteers at Army authorized observation posts report Aircraft Flash Messages to Army "filter" centers—by telephone. From this information, each plane's course is charted on filter maps... relayed to operations boards such as the one shown above—by telephone. Should checking prove the aircraft to be an enemy, the telephone would play an important part in the defense strategy... in warning endangered communities... in mobilizing civilian defense units.

Bell System men cooperated with Army authorities in designing and providing the telephone facilities used by the air defense system. This is but another example of a war-time job well done.

Cougars, Vandals Meet In "Cellar Series"

Home play of the intercollegiate season for Guy Wicks and his Idaho Vandals begins Monday afternoon at 3 p.m., as Washington State comes to MacLean field. Buck Bailey and his Cougars have managed to win but one game of six played, while Wicks and his crew have yet to break into the win column.

Idaho's second game with the Oregon State team at Corvallis was rained out yesterday afternoon and will not be played in accordance with conference rules. Wednesday, in the first game of the OSC series, the Idaho team lost 16-3, after leading the first five innings.

Washington State has shown splashes of pitching and hitting strength but has managed to combine them only in their first game of their season when they beat Oregon. Cliff Chambers pitched a five-hit game for the Cougars while his teammates were collecting six hits and two runs from Oregon's Bubalo.

Lose Five Straight.

The Vandals return this afternoon from an eight-day non-profit trip into the Willamette valley and Seattle. The Idaho team lost a doubleheader to the University of Washington last Saturday, then went down twice before the Oregon Ducks and once to the Beavers of OSC.

Second game of the Palouse empire play will be Tuesday afternoon when the Vandals go to Pullman for the second game with WSC.

Harry Amacher, catcher for the OSC team, hit the first homer of the intercollegiate season Wednesday. Jack Newell and Veto Berlus were the Idaho hurlers in the game that was a tight battle through the first five innings, and then the OSC batsmen began collecting hits and the Vandal infield collapsed. Idaho was charged with nine errors, OSC, three. The Vandals scored six hits to OSC's 13.

Vandals Meet WSC In Strength Test

A "skeleton" four-man Idaho weight team will tangle with Washington State strongmen tomorrow at Pullman. The match, slated to start at two o'clock, is the first intercollegiate weight lifting match in Vandal athletic history.

Making the trip to Pullman are Roger Guernsey, student instructor, Allen Aitken, Marshall Spencer, and Dave Hanford.

You can't blame the girls for not going out with those damn Engineers. They leave blue prints all over you.

Schmidt Slates Team Scrimmage

With only about five to eight practices left in spring football season, Coach Francis Schmidt was hoping to scrape together two teams to hold a scrimmage session this afternoon.

Several scrimmage sessions have been held this season, but Schmidt has never had two full teams on the field. Late classes and labs have combined to handicap the Idaho coaching staff in their work.

Joe Malta was appointed captain for one team, while Dan Davidoff and Milford Moses were named co-captains of the other squad. Additional end strength was added to the squad when John Evans, star of last fall's freshman squad and a baseball addict, turned out. He has been looking good considering the short time he has been out, Schmidt said.

Here's More About— Liaison Officer

All are licensed radio operators.

Former Grads.

Two members of the present radio training program are former Idaho graduates, and sons of Idaho faculty members. Supervisor Retherford is the son of the late Prof. J. E. Retherford, a member of the university's European history department at the time of his death. Mr. Hungerford is a graduate from the school of forestry, and the son of Dean C. W. Hungerford, head of the graduate school.

Established here with Lieutenant Nadeau in his new headquarters are G. T. Schultz, chief boatswain's mate; V. P. Sittaro, radio-man second class; and C. N. Dightman, yeoman third class.

Classes for this first group will be held in UCB and the old Forestry lab building. A new classroom building to hold 50 is now being constructed between the Idaho club and Willis Sweet hall to be used for a classroom for the naval radio trainees as the number arriving increases. A total of 12 instructors will be employed when the total of 600 has been reached.

Optimist

It's a comb, but it isn't doing any good with this head of hair, fully a sixteenth of an inch high now since the shaving last week. The man with the comb is Ralph Hollingsworth, Vandal diving star.

Net Team Plays Washington Here Today

Idaho's tennis team, beaten in its first two starts, will be trying for its first victory of the season this afternoon when they tangle with Washington's Huskies on the Memorial gymnasium courts.

The matches, scheduled to start at 1:30 o'clock, will mark the home debut of the Vandal netmen.

A revamped Idaho lineup will face the invading Huskies, after the disastrous Oregon road trip last week. Kent Barber moved into number one spot replacing Bud Doane who dropped to the second position. Captain Elmer Jordan will play in the number three spot, Sumner Delana, number four, and southpaw Dale Polak, number five.

Idaho doubles combinations will have Barber and Jordan on one team with Doane and Delana handling the other match.

Washington, winner of four straight northern division tennis titles, is once again a heavy favorite to capture the crown. Rival coaches consider the Huskies the strongest team in the northwest. Bob Odman, lanky veteran, leads the roster of the Seattle team. Odman was runner-up in the northern division singles championships last season. Odman and "Righty" Eden form the Huskies number one doubles combination.

Jordan announced that the Idaho-Whitman match, postponed last week by rain after two matches had been played, would probably be re-scheduled for sometime next week. The Vandal captain said that adverse weather conditions hampered the Idaho netmen in both Oregon meets. Against Oregon they played on smooth indoor courts, while at Corvallis they were forced to play outside, despite threatening weather.

"Sorry, madam, but licenses are issued only when your form is filled out properly."
"Why, I like your nerve sir! We can get married no matter what I look like."

Greene Outlines Sign-up Plan For Net Courts

A sign-up plan for users of Idaho tennis courts was announced last night by George Greene, director of athletics. Director Greene said that he has plans for the numbering of courts and assignment of courts to players by a system of registration. This will prevent congestion and allow more players to use the courts, he believes.

Details of the plan have not yet been completed, but Mr. Greene indicated that students would be able to register for the court by phone, but would have to call at the Men's P.E. office for a ticket entitling them to play on the court. There will be no charge, he emphasized.

The courts in front of Memorial gymnasium will be numbered 1 to 4, and those near Ridenbaugh will be numbered 1 to 8, he said. Two new nets have arrived and will be placed on the Men's courts soon, he said. Other work on the courts recently was the repainting of lines and much repair work on the nets of the men's courts. The work will be continued on the other courts, he said.

"Hey, waiter, you've given me a wet plate."
"Wet plate, hell. That's your soup."

OSC Golfers Play Idaho Today

Idaho and Oregon State golfers are today competing in conference play over the Idaho links. The schedule of play has the individual matches set for this morning with the best-all matches for this afternoon.

Oregon State players here for the meet are Ray Weston, Daniel Boone, George Strong, Frank Smith, George Wieman, and Ray Wood. The OSC team will play Washington State tomorrow.

Idaho players competing will be Bill Holzer, captain; Rudy Franklin, Stan Jones, Sunday Provenzano, Norm Larkin, Chuck Taylor, and Bob Smith.

Trackmen Meet Oregon State Tomorrow

Ryan Seeks Third Straight Victory of Year Over Invading Beavers

Vandal trackmen, undefeated in two consecutive dual meets, make their final home appearance of the season tomorrow, clashing with Oregon State's Beavers on MacLean field at 3 o'clock. Last year the Beavers won from the Idaho squad 76-55 at Corvallis.

Following the OSC dual, the Vandals will take a two week vacation, then finish off the dual season against Montana at Pullman May 16. They will travel to Seattle for the northern division meet at May 23.

Last week the Vandals showed surprising strength in overwhelming Washington State. In spite of rainy weather, rain, and cold winds the Vandals have been working out all week in preparation for invading Beavers.

Be Troubled

Lack of knowledge concerning Oregon State team strength is given Idaho mentor Mike Ryan trouble in deciding what events season was successful last week when the Beavers bested Oregon 5-3 in the annual relay meet between the two schools. Top individual star on the Corvallis aggregation is Don Findlay, northern division broad jump champion last year, who has made over 23 feet in that event, and has reached 6 feet 2 inches in the high jump.

John Mandic, of OSC basketball fame, has cleared 6 feet 3 inches in the high jump. Other Beaver standouts are Captain Tommy Blair in the 440 and 880; Bob Stevens, sophomore shotputter; Gene Gray, football playing sprint star; and distance ace Bob Fischer.

Idaho's Vic Dyrvall and Bob White will be favored in the distance events. The dual between Gray and Clark in the sprints should be outstanding.

Play Class Plans 4 Productions

Members of the fundamental play production class will turn theory into practice next week when they present two one-act plays on Tuesday, and two on Thursday, John F. Sollers, dramatics instructor, reported today.

Tuesday's plays will include a sentimental comedy, "The Far Away Princess" by Sudermann, directed by Barbara Sherwin and Beverly Bistline; and a sophisticated comedy on hypnotism, directed by Arlene Grendahl and Betty Jo Jeffers.

The presentations for both nights will be given in the U-hut, with the curtain scheduled to go up at 7 p. m.

"Part of the evening's entertainment," Mr. Sollers said, "will consist of a demonstration of scene changing in full view of the audience."

"Would you scream if I kissed you?"

"How could I if you did it properly?"

Foresters Expand Bucket Display

Several new displays have been added to the Foresters' exhibits in the Bucket lounge during the week.

The largest additional display is on fire detection and fire fighting. Instruments to determine the azimuth of the fire, and maps blocked out to show the reading given by lookouts are shown in detail.

Implements displayed in connection are a backfiring torch, a brush hook, the McCloud tool, a flame gun, and a back pack fire pump. Also shown with this display is a large illuminated picture of an ideal camp, a forest fire, and Priest lake.

A number of pictures on range management showing changes in the land because of overgrazing and erosion are on display in the lounge.

Exhibits of various kinds and cuts of wood make up another display.

by dayle molen

First of what may be many, new plans to be instituted by the physical education department is the tennis court sign plan announced last night by George Greene, director of athletics. Gone should be the many complaints that a person never get a court when he wants it, and that the same courts are always "hogging" the courts.

Although the complete plan has already been announced, Greene indicated that it would not be necessary for any student to appear in person to sign up for the courts. A telephone call will be enough to register a desire for a court at a certain hour. One person of each singles or doubles group desiring to play must call at the office for a card or ticket of the kind which will indicate the court assigned to them and the hours to which they will be limited. Courts are to be numbered, and preparations for this are already underway.

A long range prediction for this system could be that the tennis enthusiasm will grow to the point where enough students would be playing the net game to warrant its inclusion in the intramural program. Such an addition to the intramural program might strengthen the Idaho net teams.

IT'S LEAVE OFF LEAVIN'

"Hey, Frank, can I leave my coat here?" "Say, Frank, is it all right if I leave my clubs up here tonight?" "I guess these things will be all right here, won't they?" Such are a few of the numerous requests for "locker space" at the little house on the No. 1 tee of the Idaho golf course. Frank James is a pro, and Joe, and he does what he can for the players, but it is hard to see his point. One full room of his home is completely occupied by golf bags, shoes, and during the day, many articles of clothing that are left in his office by the players.

The proper answer for this lack of space that faces most of the Idaho golfers would be a club or locker room attached to or near the pro's house. Such a club room could have lockers to be rented out to those who dislike to carry their clubs to the course every day. Benches, a desk for the conduct of the link's business and soft-drink accommodations could be installed.

Now, of course, is a bad time to ask for such a room in the light of the restrictions on private and public building. And the answer would seem to be for the students or faculty members who are causing the problem to solve it for themselves the simple way. Keep their equipment in their own homes when not in use.

Folk Song Symphony To Open Program For National Music Week

Music week, to be presented at the university during National Music week, will start Sunday evening, May 3 with a Folk Song symphony and end Friday night, May 8, with the annual Song fest. A musical program will be presented each night during the week.

The Sunday night presentation of the Folk Song symphony will be the first appearance in the west. The symphony, to be given by The Treble Clef club, the University singers, and the University symphony orchestra, is a program of old folk songs done in modern style. Such old favorites as "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Summer Time," and "Sweet and Low," will be among the numbers presented. John Hans, soloist, will sing "Danny Deever" by Damrosch. The symphony will be given at 4 p. m. in the university auditorium.

Sarles to Play
The Monday feature of Music week will be a senior recital by Richard Sarles, pianist. Sarles was one of the winners in the Spokane Musical festival this year and will go to Spokane Tuesday to play with the Spokane Civic orchestra in their National Music week program. Marion Partner, contralto and a festival winner will also appear with the civic orchestra. Sarles' recital will be held May 4 at 8 p. m. in the university auditorium.

Tuesday the Moscow high school music department directed by Charles McConnell, will contribute its part to Music week by giving a concert at the Moscow high school. The high school orchestra, chorus, and band will all take part in this program. Some of the outstanding numbers will be "Finlandia" by Sibelius, "Overture Romantic" by H. M. Johnson; and "Rhythms of Rio" by David Bennett. The program will be given at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Piano Duet
Two pianos will be the Wednesday feature. Carolyn Norris and Dean Elder will give a joint piano recital in the university auditorium at 8 p. m. Their program will include selections from Mozart, Brahms, Chopin, Debussy, and Strawinsky.

The Thursday program will be a recital by Myrtle Leonard, instructor in the university music department. Miss Leonard, a contralto, will be accompanied by Helen Bullock. Miss Leonard's program will include German and Spanish selections as well as many American favorites. The recital will be held May 7 at 8 p. m. in the university auditorium.

Women To Manage Carnation Sale

Phi Chi Theta, national business women's honorary, is now making plans for the sale of carnations for Mother's day. Lists will be posted in each group house and hall during the middle of next week. Both red and white carnations, which will be distributed on the evening of May 9, will be available.

Alpha Kappa Psi, national business men's honorary, will manage the lists in the men's houses and halls.

BOMBING PICTURES

Pictures of the structural damage done in the bombings over London will be shown by Prof. A. S. Janssen at the regular meeting of the Idaho Society of Engineers Saturday night. A business meeting will follow the dinner at the Elk's club.

Spinsters are lucky because the only men who know anything about them are dead.

PIGGY

Seven women have entered the greased pig catching contest, one of many novelty features to be presented during intermission at the "Little International" judging contests, which will be held at the Latah county fairgrounds Saturday.

Contestants in the chase will be Barbara Sutcliff, Delta Gamma; Erma Smith, Forney hall; Merrie Lu Kloefer, Hays hall; Wilma Leichter, Ridenbaugh hall; Phyllis Hamon, Alpha Phi; Helen Collins, Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Carmelita Rea, Pi Beta Phi. Other special events will be a hog-calling contest, a pie eating contest, and songs by the Campus club quartet.

Here's More About— Heads Announce

"Moonlight Serenade" and "My Beta Girl." They will be directed by Dean Elder.

"Moonlight on the Campus" and "Kappa Lullaby, will be sung by Kappa Kappa Gamma, directed by Carolyn Paynter. Sigma Nu, directed by Jack Leishman, will sing "Long Day Closes" and "The White Star of Sigma Nu." "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" and "Under the Moon" will be sung by Delta Delta Delta, directed by Carolyn Norris. Phi Gamma Delta, directed by Alfred Robinson, will sing "Dedication" and "Jubilate." Alpha Phi, directed by Betty Jo Bakes, will sing "Alpha Phi Fire-side" and "Now the Day is Over."

Plans Formulated For Tent Show

The Tent Players, summer theatre for Idaho dramatics students, will pull the curtain on its first play of the 1942 season June 9, with ten experienced actors and 20 new students on the roster.

Plays under consideration for summer production are "Night Must Fall," "The Male Animal," "Morning's at Seven," "Out of the Frying Pan," and possibly a melodrama, "No Mother to Guide Her."

The troupe's tent will be erected in the same spot as last year, on sixth street, just west of the Campus club. Tent may be larger than before, and the show may continue nine weeks this summer instead of seven. As last year, admission will be 44c or $2.25 for a season ticket to six plays.

John F. Sollers, director of the Tent Players, predicted ominously that the draft may affect his cast, and take some seasoned men away from the show. Experienced players this summer include Gayle Manion, Dennis Savage, Don Swinney, and Dorothy Peebles.

"There's a man hanged himself in the cellar."
"Well, did you cut him down?"
"No, he wasn't dead yet."

Bill: That girl over there says you look like a man she can trust. Do you know her?
Art: No, but her faith is familiar.

Punning Policy Presents Perplexing Problem

Sigma Alpha Iota Initiates Six

Sigma Alpha Iota, women's music honorary, last night initiated Jean Bonneville, Marvel Houx, Marjory Aeschliman, Margaret Potter, Marjory Miller Jones, and Betty Brown.

Mrs. Walter Hutton, the organization's province president from Des Moines, Iowa, arrived yesterday for a few days visit at the Idaho chapter. She will be honored with a banquet tonight and a luncheon tomorrow.

Initiates Wednesday gave a pledge musical. The group will hold another music program this afternoon.

Women Scholars Plan Initiation

Initiation will be held Sunday morning at Forney hall for the 20 women who made the required 3.5 grade average last semester for Alpha Lambda Delta, underclassmen's scholastic honorary for women. Following the initiation at 9:30 o'clock a breakfast will be held.

To be initiated are Barbara Mears, Mary Elizabeth Pennell, Judith Rupp, Frances Freeman, Alfrieda Gilbertson, Margaret Stillinger, Florence Marshall, Frances Marshall, Julien Paulson, Eldoris Erickson, Marion Franson, Betty Brown, Cecile Shelton, Jean Bonneville, Della Doumacq, Dorothy Anne Hauge, Marjorie Aeschliman, Virginia Dempsey, Amy McGregor and Eleanor Arms.

Election of officers for next year will also be held Sunday morning. A pledge quiz will be given Friday noon at 12:30 at Forney hall.

It wasn't just another student making bright remarks over the phone—it was a Glee week publicity gag.

Phones rang at all campus group houses last night so those on the receiving line might hear an unknown voice say, "Warp and wool, thank you." Absurd perhaps, but a curiosity-rouser following the policy being carried out on posters scattered around campus likewise bear the warp and wool tag.

Explanation: the freshmen have labeled their spring celebration the "Warp and Wool Week." No tongue-twister too.

The idea came from the cotton cord theme being carried out at the sports dance which will climax Glee week. After investigating weaving terms it was found that the wool is the thread that crosses the warp in a woven fabric. A little involved, but it means easy decorating and has nice punning possibilities.

More than 50 freshmen tried out for the assembly cast but dancing and specialty material needed, Director Dennis Savage has announced. Ralph Joslyn and Ed Dalva have collaborated in writing the script and Ellen Cooper is assisting Savage in producing the play. A 10c admission charge will be made for the assembly which is to be presented Thursday, May 14.

AWS Council Fetes New Officers

New officers and council representatives were honored at the annual AWS banquet held Wednesday evening at the Bucket. Dean Beatrice Olson spoke to the group. Marge Thompson, retiring president, and Rena Echer, next year's president, gave reports on the AWS convention held in Salt Lake City last week.

Home Economists To Present Demonstrations

The home economics department has prepared a display of home furnishings, clothing, textiles, food and nutrition, and household equipment, for the Consumer Center, which will be the main theme for the exhibits to be shown Saturday.

The department will open to visitors at 8:30 a.m. Demonstrations of craft cookery and textiles will begin by 9:30 a.m.

The style revue will be held at the Bucket at 1:30 p.m., and will be centered around war-time campus clothes and defense garments, with women's motor corps outfits and nurses uniforms as the special attractions in the show.

Twenty women will model the latest fashions of the campus, including spring and summer styles. Several men will also model the latest modes in men's wear on the Idaho campus this season.

Foresters To Hold Wild Life Movie

Motion pictures of wild life are to be shown by the school of forestry for All-University day visitors tomorrow afternoon. The pictures will be given in the Bucket lounge throughout the afternoon.

Following a meeting of the Society of American Foresters at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, a banquet will be held in the Student Union building at 5:45. C. L. Billings, general manager of the Potlatch forest, will be the principle speaker. Reports will also be made by seniors in the forestry school.

Gymnasium. Military equipment, relics, and souvenirs will be on display. Uniformed guides will conduct visitors through the exhibition.

U-Hut footlights will glow at 4:30 and 8 p.m. tomorrow when dramatics students do their bit for all-U day with an original play by Miss Jean Collette, dramatics instructor. They will also give make-up demonstrations at 4 and 7:30 p.m., preceding the play.

Novelty feature of the day will be the home economics department's style show of war-time fashions, scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in the Bucket ballroom. The unusual predictions of both men's and women's clothing as it may soon be, will be accompanied by a commentator and appropriate music.

Botanists have erected a model mountain which will show types of vegetation growing at various heights. It will be on display all day in the botany laboratory in Science hall. At 7 and 9 p.m. colored slides of Idaho wildlife will be shown.

Model Geyser.

The geology department will display its model geyser, built by Dr. J. D. Forrester, head of the geology department, and a graduate student, which will be exhibited all day. The model, which accurately works under conditions duplicating nature recently rated an article in "Science" magazine.

Great works of art will be exhibited in the Art building by the department of art and architecture. Students will give a demonstration of silk screen printing. Zoologists will have on display specimens, models, and preserved organisms, and an exhibit of stuffed skins in room 201, Science hall.

The university swimming pool will be open all afternoon for swimmers who bring their own suits. There will be no fee charged, according to the physical education department.

This year's All-University day will carry out the theme, "Idaho Mobilizes for Victory" and will show how the university is participating in the war effort.

Visitors will register at the Student Union on arrival and may obtain detailed programs showing time and place for each event. Each department will furnish guides to show university guests and students through the exhibits and to tell what Idaho is doing in 1942 with America at war.

Spurs Hold Daily Practices For May Pole Dance

By Claire Bracken

"Be careful with my hair," came an agonized cry.

"How about getting out for road work?" puffed a second disconsolate lassie. "If I don't do something drastic I'll wear completely out a long time before the end."

No, these phrases are not snatched from a physical education class, but came from members of Spurs, who for the last week have been practicing every noon for their traditional May pole dance. Lunches are left almost untouched, as women leave on the double time for the Women's gym where practices are held. And, according to most of the dancers, football would be a cinch in comparison to keeping steps right, keeping time to the music, and above all, keeping those ribbons from getting tangled.

The grand right and left creates the hair problem, for if ribbons are not held correctly or are not raised at just the right time, one of the girls will have the peculiar sensation of being scalped.

16 Dance.

Even though there are some disheartening features, as far as the dancers' own feelings are concerned, the practices are coming along nicely, according to Mrs. W. H. Boyer who is directing the dance.

Only 16 of the 24 Spurs have to contend with the strenuous skipping and dance steps, but seven of the remaining eight complain daily of seasickness. It is their job to hold down the pole, and there's no telling which side of the pole will try to misbehave. The one Spur not accounted for is Helen Foster, who takes her daily exercise at the piano playing for the dancers.

Light spring formals, and the green of the campus in the spring as background make the Spur's annual dance one of the most

Home Ec Honorary Initiates Seven

Phi Upsilon Omicron, national home economics honorary, initiated seven new members Monday at its annual initiation meeting held in the home economics department. The new members are Lucile Hafversen, Lois Lemon, Edna Lucyllo Roberts, Marjorie Call, Elizabeth Walker, Frances Larsen, and Lucile Eyrich.

The initiation dinner for the new members was held Sunday afternoon at Hotel Moscow with former president Vera Nell James acting as mistress of ceremonies. Special guests were Miss Bryden, Pullman, charter member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, and Miss Mullikan, Moscow.

Helen Hofmann, president, gave a short talk on "The Phi Upsilon Omicron of 1943."

Business Students Slate Banquet

Student businessmen and women will dine next Wednesday night in the Blue Bucket when they hold their annual business school banquet, sponsored by Alpha Kappa Psi, and Phi Chi Theta, business honoraries.

Handling the affair is Lee Merrill, assisted by Alta Mae Mullin. Guest speaker will be Dean Heflebower, of the WSC school of business administration.

Tickets for the banquet are on sale at group houses and in the business office for 75c each.

Engineers Plan Exhibits For All-University Day

Five divisions of the college of engineering are dressed up for all-University day tomorrow, with working models of a water filtration plant and a rayon producing machine, a dismantled airplane, a miniature sulphuric acid plant, black light, and tools of trade for agricultural, chemical, civil, electrical, and mechanical engineers.

A "knocked-down" Piper Cub airplane with fabric removed, to rest in the Engineering building, to show inner construction of wings and fuselage, and details of the instrument panel. The plane found a happy hunting ground there after a beginning pilot cracked it up. Mechanical engineers will also hold a gas model airplane race in the lot back of the heating plant at 3 p. m., and will display a number of airplane models used in aircraft spotting practice.

Black Light

A model training table of the type used for training radio operators will be exhibited by the electrical engineers, who will also demonstrate black light and a high voltage insulation test.

Civil engineers will place a wooden beam on supports outside the building and give a prize to the person who most correctly guesses the weight required to break it. The beam will be broken at 5 p. m.

Speaker Describes Norway Under Nazi Domination

Speaking on the position of Norway under Nazi domination, Ivan Jacobsen gave members of Chandler Bragdon's classes yesterday a new slant on the European situation.

Jacobsen was studying at the University of Oslo in Norway at the time Germany occupied the country. Later he was arrested for reasons still unknown to him, and kept in a Nazi prison for seven months. Later he was sent back to America after an exchange of prisoners with Germany. He is now making a lecture tour of the country, speaking to students and adult groups.

Saw Cooperatives

An American citizen, Jacobsen left for Norway several years ago to continue his study in that country. He was there in time to see the famed cooperative system in operation and to find a city where there was no unemployment, and which boasted some of the finest living and housing conditions in the world.

After the German invasion, Mr. Jacobsen continued, came the Gestapo, a food shortage and Quisling hatred. The Norwegians are united in opposing all efforts made by German agents in an effort to win them over. Even though all high officials have been imprisoned, strong opposition is still being carried on, to such an extent that letters are making their way through the lines uncensored.

Census Loyal

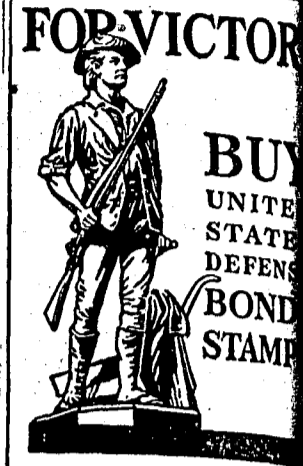

Jacobsen said that loyal Norwegians have made their way into the censor ranks so that not even that branch of the German service is working efficiently in this Scandinavian country.

Soloist

Miss Myrtle Leonard will sing next Thursday night in the university auditorium as feature of music week. She will present a full evening's program.

Maintaining that all the odds of control of subordinate true, Mr. Jacobsen presented student's picture of life in a ravaged country. Although he not answer any direct question concerning his experiences being imprisoned, he did give inside story of personal observations in conquered Norway.
