The GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

You know, U. of I. students, we're pretty lucky! While a large portion of the world lives in constant fear of air raids, fights in steaming tropical jungles, or works eight hours a day or more in a defense plant, we enjoy the privileges of living the lazy, care-free existence of college students.

At times, we can almost forget there's a war on—the headlines in the daily papers seem significant only when something big happens—we are reminded a little when the Minute Maids sell us stamps on Thursday nights—and we see uniformed men on our campus. But we fail to see the implication of a battlefield or a warship in their khaki or navy blue coats. The war seems remote, and campus life goes on—perhaps not as usual, but at least it goes on.

We're privileged characters. Not everyone goes to college ever in peaceful times. And now, whether we realize it or not, we're left in college instead of being drafted into industry (at least no action of this kind has been taken yet) for a purpose. We have a responsibility just as great as the riveter or the soldier—and perhaps in the long run it's even greater. Their task is concerned with the immediate, present; ours with building the future.

Our privilege here at an institution of learning is to absorb as much knowledge as possible; our obligation to society is to apply this knowledge so that we may become citizens capable of casting an intelligent vote—citizens aware of the forces in our world that cause poverty, wars, depressions and insecurity—who have knowledge and the will to use their influences to alleviate them!

A society is no more irremovable to social evils than are the people who compose it. Here's a question that may prove embarrassing: "What sort of nation would we have if everyone were just as informed—no better and no worse—that you are now?" A superficial exposure to learning, a night's cramming and an hour's scribbling in a blue book, will not equip us with the ability to solve tomorrow's problems. We must arm ourselves now for the task that awaits us—the building of the sort of world we want!

Ready To Vote?
A few of us are 21—of legal age. But right now the possibility of suffrage being extended to 18-year-olds is gaining momentum. Seriously, are the majority of us ready for this opportunity, and will we be even at the age of 21? Too many of us are accepting college pretty lightly instead of concentrating our efforts to gain a comprehensive knowledge of national and international conditions.

Yes, we are the youth of the nation. The same ones that say that former generations and their narrow status quo theories brought on this world mess. We're the same characters that boast that when our time comes to assume the leadership that we'll fix things up right. And we probably will! But unless the desire to learn of world affairs is given a couple of shots of adrenalin, we shall undoubtedly find that the way we "fix" things will result in an even worse mess.

Concerts Attract Servicemen And Students

Concerts and recitals are taking the spring spotlight in the music department these days, as both a recital and concert were presented early this week and another concert is scheduled for Sunday evening. A student recital is scheduled for tonight in the auditorium.

Tuesday evening, a concert dedicated to all servicemen on the campus and local service groups was presented by the university band and by Joseph Brye, marimbist, with E. J. Marty directing.

Featured on the program were songs symbolizing the various service organizations: Zimmerman's "Anchors Aweigh," "There's Something About a Soldier," by Gay-Yoder, and "Marching Along Together." With Mr. Brye as soloist, the band played selected South American and English folk melodies and "Gitanarias" by Lecuona. As an encore, Mr. Brye played "Embraceable You." He had arranged the selections.

A novelty number, "Pop! Goes the Weasel," arranged by Cailliet, highlighted the groups of band numbers.

Attic Club Shows Cubist Art In Famous Film

"The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," starring Conrad Veidt, one of the three most famous films of all times, was presented to students and faculty last night under the sponsorship of the Attic club in connection with the modern art exhibit featuring cubists and abstractionists.

Three other films, "Don Juan's Wedding," "Misunderstood," and "The Golem" were also shown. Following the entertainment, refreshments were served and cubist and other modern art was displayed.

"Dr. Caligari," in which the stage settings are of cubist design, is one of the new films that has remained constantly in circulation since its production in 1919. It has never been popular; it was not seen outside Germany for some time after it was made and then often obscurely in small cinemas and private clubs while German films were still taboo in ex-enemy countries. While it has directly contributed little or nothing to the development of cinematic art, it has played an important part in film history.

The influence of this film has been almost entirely outside the studios. When it was brought to America in 1921 by Samuel Goldwyn, when it was finally seen in Paris and London, it acted as a powerful stimulus to critics, and attracted new and intelligent audiences to the cinema and conferred prestige on it. It encouraged repertory cinema movements in the larger cities.

63 Women Attend Home Ec Day

Home economics day at the university last Saturday brought 63 girls and their sponsors to the campus as the high school clubs of the northern district of the State Home Economics association convened.

After attending the luncheon, served at the Bucket, the group retired to the new ballroom for the annual style show. Clothes appropriate for college women at the many occasions of campus life were shown.

In the evening, a fireside was held at Ridenbaugh hall. Featured on the program was Joseph Brye of the music department who played two of his piano compositions, "The Woman" and "The Shopper." Following this, Miss Margaret Ritchie, head of the university home economics department, spoke to the girls on "Women in Home-Ec Today."

Cement Mixer

Campus co-eds, civvies, and sailors clicked heels and rubbed elbows Wednesday evening from 7 to 9 p. m. in front of the Phi Delt house at the U of I's newest social function, a street dance.

In an effort to stimulate lagging campus social life, the Phi Delt and Fijis jointly sponsored this "cement mixer," to which everyone on the campus was invited. The crowd danced to the music of the nation's top dance bands through the courtesy of the Phi Delt record player.

Bert Dingle and Ray Dills were the social chairmen in charge of the affair.

Freshman Days To Highlight Weekend Campus Activities

Lt. Heath Conducts Drive For Air WAC Enlistment

With the arrival of Second Lt. Joanne Heath, air WAC, the current national drive for enlistment of young American women to serve with the army air forces takes on new vigor on the Idaho campus.

Lt. Heath, a graduate of Cornell university, and a Kappa Alpha Theta, is endeavoring to acquaint the women of the university with the great and desperate need for air WACs. To those who are unacquainted with the term air WAC, it stands for Women's Army Corps assigned specifically to the army air forces. Their role in the current war is one of the greatest honors obtainable by the women of today. They are now handling 239 various types of positions, including flying assignments formerly allotted only to enlisted men and officers. The various types of work assigned to air WACs are control tower operations, weather observation, meteorology, Link Trainer instruction, medical and dental technicians, clerical, and many more numerous technical positions.

Old Slogan Abandoned
To acquaint women with the critical necessity for air WACs, the previous slogan of "join and free a man for combat" has been laid aside. The slogan now might well be, "join and take a job left open by a man already in combat." Lieutenant Heath stated that as the situation is now, jobs on our training fields here in the United States are being left open, because the men handling them are needed so very badly overseas where they can strike that much harder at the enemy. Nevertheless, these jobs are critical, and should they be left undone our training operations would of necessity suffer greatly.

General "Hap" Arnold hopes that 100,000 women will become enlisted for service as air WACs, so that our great fleets of bombers and fighters may continue to roar over Germany and Japan. (Continued on page 4, col. 1)

Kappa Phi To Hold Formal Dinner

Delegates to the national convention, to be held in Kansas this month, include Lois Deobald, president; Barbara Ravenscroft, program chairman; and Mrs. Hugo Johnson, sponsor of Kappa Phi. The purpose of this convention is to plan the program for the next year, with all chapters aiding in this work.

First Sgt. Bertram C. Lutesinger of the ASTP personnel has been transferred to Winfield Scott, Calif. Orders also have been received for the transfers of Cpl. Joseph Devlin and Cpl. Chester Jones.

A prize also will be given to the group house presenting the best stunt, and students and faculty members will be the judges. Admission price is one war stamp, and Minute Maids will be on hand to assist with sales. The serenade will follow later in the evening.

Tickets are 25 cents apiece and will entitle the owner to enter each house. Proceeds will go to the Red Cross.

Traditional Green beanies are being distributed in all houses tonight. They are 15 cents apiece, and will be worn by all freshmen throughout Freshman Days.

Students Afflicted

Only two students are now afflicted by scarlet fever at the university infirmary, Mrs. Jesse Buchanan, supervisor, revealed. Since the disease was noticed on the campus more than a month ago, not more than three persons have been confined with the disease at one time.

Communique Comment

Spain's agreement with Britain and the U. S. this week shows that Franco is now ready to make concessions that hamper his old ally, Hitler, and play into the hands of the Allied powers. His willingness to drive a bargain with our side at this time is evidently based upon fear for the security of his own regime in the event of decisive Allied success in the invasion of Western Europe.

The Soviet Union was not and could not be a party to the Anglo-American agreement with fascist Spain. The U.S.S.R. and the two great democracies are still a long way from reaching an accord in regard to the internal affairs of Spain. Such an accord would be difficult to achieve because the Kremlin has consistently opposed Franco as the tool and ally of Hitler—while the makers of British and U. S. policy have since the start of the Spanish Civil War of 1936-39 favored arrangements that tend to protect the interests of the authoritarian elements in Spain. Whitehall and the State Department are still pre-occupied with the necessity of preserving "order" inside the Iberian Peninsula.

Allied reconquest of France would sever the links between Franco and his protector at Berlin—and would put the Iberian Peninsula next to a French government directed by anti-fascists of the moderate and extreme Left who would lose no time in smuggling aid to the Leftist forces working underground inside Spain against the tyrannous and inefficient Franco regime. In spite of the dulcet words of Archbishop Spelman, Franco's government is already hated by the large majority of the Spanish people. In addition, the Caudillo faces plots designed to oust him from the high seat of power within the camarilla of army generals, landowners, big businessmen and political opportunists that surrounds him at Madrid.

British liberals are urging the Allied powers to drop Franco and recognize Dr. Juan Negrin, the last constitutional premier of the Spanish Republic, as the head of a Free Spanish government. Certain figures in the British Foreign Office and the U. S. State Department seem to be working for the retention of political power in Spain by the same general group that now surrounds Franco and opposes squarely all demands for social and economic reform. In order to achieve that end, Franco himself might be "allowed" to resign—and his regime followed by one with a democratic facade behind which the direction of affairs would remain in the hands of the leaders of the Right who ganged up with Hitler and Mussolini to destroy Spanish democracy in 1936-39.

Students Present Ideas For Post-War SUB

In an effort to discover what the students on our campus think should be included in a post-war student union, a tentative survey was made by Betty Ann Craggs among students picked at random. A variety of answers, some of them practical, some of them slightly fantastic, were forthcoming to the question: "What do you think should be included in a post-war student union?"

June Gee—Kappa Alpha Theta—"I think it would be nice to have other recreational rooms such as bowling alleys, ping pong; other wise it's O.K."

Phyllis Swayne—Delta Delta Delta—"an outside terrace for dancing and lounging in the spring and fall, and a skating rink would fill the bill."

Thomas Rowland—Sigma Chi—"One improvement would be a homey room with a fireplace for relaxation, talk and get-togethers."

Joyce Taylor—Alpha Phi—"I really think that after the war we will need a larger room for fountain service. After dances and at intermissions the fountain service is overcrowded."

Lucille Cummings—Gertrude house—"I'm in favor of a small, comfortable, informal room where clubs such as International Relations club can meet."

Reed Fife—L.D.S.—"We need bowling alleys, of course, billiards, ping pong, a swanky soft drink fountain, a movie projection room with first class movies and a good stage for student entertainment"

Ruth Geddes—Alpha Chi Omega—"I think our student union should include a central lounge just for visiting, with soft davenport, a radio, and ping pong tables, in short, just like the one at Pocatello."

Sumner Johnson—Kappa Sigma—"We could use a check-cashing service, and a package-wrapping service. And how about selling a few groceries for those of us who like to have something to eat in our rooms."

Marjorie Call—Delta Gamma—"Why not have a music room with a grand piano, a phonograph, and all the popular and classical records for the use of the students? Since we're going into this in a big way—why not have a co-ed dress shop?"

Betty Rife—Gamma Phi Beta—"It seems to me that we should have a more indirect lighting system in the lounge. We are asked to conserve, let's conserve electricity."

Dale Ablin—Beta Theta Pi—"As I see it we need a pool room, bowling alleys, and some new furniture."

Betty Jean Rice—Pi Beta Phi—"We should have facilities for buying stamps and mailing letters and packages. Also a game room, beauty parlor, and an outdoor swimming pool."

Elizabeth Rofinot—Kappa Kappa Gamma—"The two things that we really need are a cleaning service and a good dress shop."

Bob Desaulniers—Phi Delta Theta—"This campus needs a student union with recreation rooms, a theatre, men and women's clothing shops, a barbershop and a kitchen in the back for banquets."

Barbara Long—Mary house—"We should have a women's lounge, ping pong, darts, and shuffle-board upstairs, and a larger dancing space down-stairs. Also more hidden nooks and free banana splits every Thursday."

Anyone can tell you the advantage of pigtails. They are cool, comfortable, and don't get mixed up with a coat collar.

Pigtails Dominate Coed Coiffures

What happened when 450 men left the campus? Why, the women let their hair down! This isn't meant figuratively, it's literally true.

Have you noticed the predominance of pigtails lately. Perhaps it's due to the retreat of the ASTP, or perhaps it's due to the advent of spring with all of its accompanying leisurely notes.

Pigtails are not the most glorious coiffure in the world, it might be pointed out. They transform the sophisticated college woman into a naive little girl again. But who cares? With all of the advantages

"More jobs, and more special fields of training are open at this time for women in Navy blue, than ever before," the ensign continued. "And all questions about the WAVES will be answered, and I shall be especially happy to talk with women between the ages of 20 and 36 about what they can do to help win this war."

May Weather Inspires Many Idaho Picnics

Picnics are the highlight of the first week of May. Off to Robinson Lake went the Delta Gammas and Phi Delta-Fijis last Sunday. Fifteen Thetas picnicked near the ASUI golf course last Friday afternoon, while many other students went on similar parties and enjoyed the summer sunshine.

Last Friday night the Moscow Tri-Delts were guests of the Delta Delta Delta chapter in Pullman at a special dinner. The following night the new initiates of Tri-Delt entertained the upper classmen at a special dinner party. The theme for the evening was "Club White Flame."

Alpha Phi entertained four dinner guests on Sunday. They were Dorothy Knapp, Helen Orville, Venice Johnson, and Jerry Merrill. Enjoying dinner there Saturday night were Vivian McLaughlin and Claire Stroud, both of St. Maries, Idaho. Wednesday night the Thetas and Delta Delta Deltas held an exchange dinner.

In honor of their seniors, the Gertrude, Mary, and Elizabeth houses held a formal dinner which was followed by a formal dance at Mary House last Wednesday evening.

Engagements Told Miss Dorothy Anne Hauge, Gamma Phi Beta, announced her engagement Monday night to Pvt. This is no time to lose your memory!

IN NEARLY ALL Americans there's a streak of natural optimism.

We know the war won't be over tomorrow. We know there may be a long, hard fight ahead.

But we can't help looking forward to the beautiful and wonderful-seeming days of Peace.

This is all right unless...

Unless it makes you relax your efforts to win the war...

Unless it makes you lose your memory of what happened after the last war was won.

Don't lose that memory now. Don't forget the depression... the poverty that hit the farmers... the bread lines in the cities... the soldiers looking, looking, looking for jobs, and not finding them.

Remember that Peace brought difficult economic problems, economic stresses. And this time, we must be ready to meet them.

This time we must make sure of having a real financial cushion... to ease the transfer to normal peacetime business, peacetime employment, peacetime living.

That's one big reason why you should buy War Bonds

...and hold on to them... and there are others.

Every War Bond you buy, every one you hold to maturity, will keep bringing you $4 for every $3 you invest today.

And that steady flow of buying power will make jobs. It will create markets for peacetime goods. It will do a lot to insure an America that's prosperous and sound... the kind of America we all want when this war is won.

So let's not forget the lesson of World War I. Keep buying Bonds. Keep hanging on to them. They're your security... your Country's security... for the days of Peace!

Idaho And WSC Share Victories In Two-Game Series

FIRST BOUT
Last Friday, the Idaho Vandals defeated the Washington State baseball team 5 to 2 with "Lefty" Bill Carbaugh, freshman hurler, allowing only three hits. Darroll Waller, freshman hurler for W.S.C., and a former school mate of Carbaugh's at Gonzaga high school, allowed the Vandals seven hits and struck out four.

Carbaugh's masterful hurling boosted the Vandals to a win despite a game marred by 13 errors, seven tallied against Idaho players. "Lefty" had the Cougar batters under his thumb most of the game, allowing five bases on balls while striking out eight.

Idaho took a first-inning lead as Pyne was safe on an error by Yoshino, and John Kuroda singled into right field to drive Pyne home, Kuroda taking second on the throw to the plate. Carbaugh then singled into right to send Kuroda home for the second out of the inning. Right fielder Ed Putnam and Pyne scored in the second frame as a result of hits by Jim Brown and Dale Ablin. In the third inning, center fielder Sumner Johnson completed the Vandal scoring when he and Ablin pulled a double steal.

Waller scored in the fifth, and second baseman Byron Yoshino tallied in the seventh for WSC's two scores. Both runs were unearned as a result of Vandal errors. Carbaugh silenced a WSC threat in the seventh by fanning 6-foot 8-inch Vince Hanson, left fielder, with the bases loaded. Friday's win gives Carbaugh to wins and no losses for the season while Waller now has one win and one loss.

SATURDAY DISAPPOINTMENT

Washington State's baseball team defeated the Idaho Vandals in the second of the four-game series Saturday at Pullman, by a score of 10 to 8. Bob Anderson, freshman, who served two years in the navy before getting a medical discharge, took over in the second inning and received credit for the win.

Anderson set the Vandals down the last seven innings with only three runs, none of which were earned, and smashed out four singles in five tries. The Cougars took the lead in a wild second inning when they scored six runs. Idaho had previously gotten five runs in the first two innings.

Tomio Horita started the Cougar six-run second inning spurge with a homer with two aboard. Chuck Brayton, shortstop, got a homer with none on in the sixth for the Cougars. For the Vandals, it was second baseman John Kuroda who led the way—he got two triples and two singles in five trips to the plate.

Washington State got the two winning runs in their half of the eighth inning as a result of a walk, a hit, and two Idaho errors. WSC hit pitcher Len Pyne for 14 hits while Idaho hit Hanson and Anderson for 12. Idaho committed six errors while WSC totaled four.

Foresters Discuss Educational Needs

and on all the main fronts of this war. Should our air operations cease, or even decline in magnitude, we may well fold the books on victory. Lieutenant Heath remarked to several of the women on the campus that it is air power that is softening up the enemy for the great invasion, and it is air power that will police the conquered territories and give cover to the men of our ground forces. Now that no more drafted men will go to the air corps, there is only one answer to the problem of personnel for the AAF. That answer is women.

The knowledge obtained in school will be of great benefit in fitting women for a job in the air forces. By applying that knowledge, rapid advancement is assured.

Women interested in the air WAC may get in contact with Lieutenant Heath at the Kappa Alpha Theta house from 4 to 5 p. m. every afternoon for the next two weeks.

Missionaries Trim Vandals In First Track Meet

Idaho's cinder men resorted to workouts this week for a return meet with Whitman after the Vandals suffered a defeat from the Missionaries, 70-51 last Saturday.

Whitman displayed power in the sprints and in the weight events to win the meet, despite the supremacy of the Vandals in the distances and the scoring efforts of Jay Gano, former Moscow high school star. Gano took firsts in the high jump and the low hurdles and a second in the high hurdles for 13 points, high tally of the meet.

Arima Wins Two Events

Tom Arima, Idaho distance man, won the one and two mile events easily with 50 yard leads in both races. Arima was the only other Idaho man to take two firsts in the meet. Whitman's double winners were Charles Beckman in the sprint events and Joe Miller in the javelin and discus.

Bill Falls, Idaho junior, caught two Whitman rivals in the 440-yard run and held his lead to win in 51.8. A strong wind that pushed dashmen to the good time of 09.9 in the century and 22.1 in the four-long held distance runners back and prevented good times. Soldiers stationed on the campus were also entrants in the meet.

Coach Mike Ryan commented that this was really the first week the squad has been able to practice as a track team should. Before the meet last Saturday, the team was able to have only one day of competitive practice. The track is now in fine shape, Ryan said, and the limited man power of the squad should improve considerably.

This Saturday, the Vandals travel to Walla Walla where they will again meet the Whitman squad.

The summary:
100-yard dash—Won by Beckman, Whitman; second, Smith, Whitman; third, Yellen, Whitman. Time .09.9.
220-yard dash—Won by Beckman, Whitman; second, Falls, Idaho; third, Smith, Whitman. Time .22.1.
440-yard dash—Won by Falls, Idaho; second, Endenholm, Whitman; third, 880-yard dash—Won by Lockwood, Ute; Whitman. Time .51.8.
1 mile run—Won by Arima, Idaho; second, Lautourette, Whitman; third, Carter, Whitman.
