

With November 7 looming closer and closer, Jason hastens to add her two-cents worth concerning the national and state elections. All polls and authorities agree that this will be a very close election. The presidential contest is not merely one concerning specific issues or policy, but also is a duel of personalities.

The Republican platform as compared with their views in former campaigns is almost a New Deal platform. The Democrats stand by their record with promises to meet the needs of time and circumstance with constructive legislation. But even the similarity of the party promises does not take the fervent interest away from this election. The eyes and ears of the world are focused on it. Few doubt the importance of this war time campaign. In fact, the rest of the world seems much more in tune with the political situation in America than do many of members of the A.S.U.I.—even those of us who are eligible to vote.

Soldiers Respond
After all the discussion concerning the soldier's right to vote, and the ensuing legislative action, the service men and women have responded much more actively than expected. In fact, these ballots cast by the armed forces in many instances will be the deciding votes. It is evident that these men and women realize the duty and responsibility that precedes their right to vote. It may have taken a war and all that goes with it to awaken them, but they've got the idea.

Maybe a lot of you figure that they have more at stake than you have. Or do you figure at all? If you do vote, will you follow your parents' political affiliation? This could be, and is, a good time for individual, intelligent thinking and reasoning.

Vandalism Ceases
Last week, the Argonaut spouted off concerning the vandalism which had occurred among the various groups on the campus. It is needless for us to say that we're glad the petty warfare has ceased. But neither do we believe that congratulations can be extended to the leaders of the plagiarists. They fell off their wicked beam only after university officials and Moscow police took the matter beyond their infantile hands. Some people and actions are funny—others only stupid.

Curtain Discloses Plans For Year

Veteran dramatists of the University of Idaho, members of the Curtain club, held an informal meeting Sunday evening in the university Hut and, between mouthfuls of doughnuts and gulps of cider, discussed plans for the coming year.

Curtain disclosed plans to place an Oriental display in the Administration building to advertise the forthcoming play, "Lady Precious Stream."

The dramatics honorary will meet every third Sunday of the month. Ralph Joslyn was elected president; Barbara Jo Smith, vice president, and Barbara Smith, secretary.

Campus Club Holds Annual Election

Ralph Joslyn was elected president of Campus club, independent men's hall, at a meeting held there last week. Other new officers include Robert Nelson, vice president; Donald Kamp, secretary; and Byron Anderson, treasurer.

Freshmen Douse Upperclassmen At Midnight

Is there anything more unearthly than the sound of a woman screaming at midnight? According to the residents of Moscow who live near the Campus club, there is; and it's the yearly "tubbing" of the seniors in that hall.

Not one, but two, street baths awaited the men Monday night when the freshmen found out that their "dignitaries" had been warned beforehand. Promptly at midnight, the first seniors were roused and thoroughly doused. They retired again, only to be hauled out again at 4 a.m. for a repeat process.

Executives Postpone Election; Committee Names New Board

Election of class officers, to have been held yesterday, was officially postponed by the executive board at its meeting Tuesday night. It will be held Wednesday, November 1, instead, members decided. Polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Reed Fife, chairman of the election committee, in asking postponement of the election, pointed out that since university started later this year, class lists could not be promised by the registrar's office as early as in previous years. The election was scheduled for its usual time. The class lists were ready Tuesday, Fife said, but ballots could not be printed in time.

Election Board Chosen
As a result of a quiz given Thursday evening, the following election board members were chosen on the basis of merit: Barbara Bloomsburg, chairman; Joan Clark, vice chairman; Margaret Gorman, Laura Burns, Jean Denman, Eve Smith, Mack Kennington, Vivian McLaughlin, Audrey Hartman and Evelyn Fisher. June Williams is alternate board member. A minimum score of 75 per cent was set for board membership and those receiving the highest scores were chosen by the election committee, which is composed of Fife, Mary Jane Hawley and Frances Marshall.

Constitution Tells Rules
In voting for class officers each member of the student body may vote only for the officers of that class to which he has been assigned by the registrar, according to the A.S.U.I. constitution. Also, no member of the student body may vote without first presenting to the election committee his or her A.S.U.I. ticket book, duly signed, Fife announced.

Miss Taylor Talks To Idaho Women

Miss Jean W. Taylor, superintendent of nurses and director of nursing service at Minneapolis General hospital and assistant professor at the University of Minnesota School of Nursing, spoke to women students here Monday and Tuesday on the present and postwar opportunities in the field of nursing.

Idaho is only one of 400 universities, colleges and junior colleges throughout the county being visited this fall by the college counseling staff, sponsored jointly by the National Nursing Council for War Service and the U. S. Public Health Service, which administers the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps.

Openings in the fields of nursing education and administration, public health nursing and psychiatric nursing, offer unprecedented opportunities both now and after the war, Miss Taylor pointed out. Nearly twice as many college women are responding now as compared with 10 years ago, she said.

Dr. Martin Leads Guild Discussion

Dr. Boyd Martin gave a short talk on the three challenges to students and discussed the differences between the Democratic and Republican parties Tuesday night at the Westminster Guild meeting in the student union building.

The Guild's next meeting will be the last week of October.

Street Dance Adds Zest to Campaign

An estimated crowd of 400 jive-minded college students and members of the armed forces gathered under the stars at the United Students' political party street dance Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m.

23 Candidates Vie For Yell Queen At Sat. Tryouts

Twenty-three women are competing for the positions of cheerleaders, according to Julian Paulson, president of student activity board. Each of the candidates is given an opportunity to try out before the student body at Saturday football games.

Last Saturday, Barbara and Betty Newell, Ethel Nims, Peggy Estes, Barbara Spaeth, and Mary Mansidor led the yells. Competing Saturday will be Jackie Lewis, Judy Boon, Shirley Brandt, Fleta Williams, Marilyn Williams and Betty Ann Nelson.

Lorraine Brassfield, Donna Harding, Helen Morfitt and Betty Ring 1944-45 student body yell queens, also will compete with the new contestants.

New yell leaders will be chosen by the activities board after each of the candidates has performed before the student body.

Teachers Request Annual Conclave On Idaho Campus

Because the conference held here last week-end by school administrators was such a success, it has been requested by those present that it be made an annual affair. J. F. Weltzin, dean of the school of education, said yesterday. Nearly 143 public school officials from all over the state attended the largest educational meeting ever held on this campus.

A field committee throughout the state was appointed to keep in touch with school administrators in order to find the particular problems of the school system.

The conference passed a resolution stating that educators in Idaho will endorse the activity of the Wild Life association honoring the memory of Professor C. W. Chenoweth.

Mimeographed reports of the conference will be sent to superintendents in various parts of the state. These reports will inform those officials of the resolutions passed at the general session held last Saturday.

Annual Feud Ends With Stunt

According to tradition, Sigma Chi will end their annual feud with Kappa Gamma this evening when they entertain with a stunt as reward for recapture of the sorority's benches. Howard Reinhardt is general chairman of the stunt. Participating will be the members of the 1944 Sigma Chi pledge class.

The Fiji pledges have challenged the Alpha Phi pledges to a game of touch football which will be played off today. Fijis say that refreshments will be served.

Roberts Explains Veterans Aid At Conference

Interviewing veterans who plan to take advantage of a college education under the provisions of the "G. I. bills" and discussing with faculty members problems they may expect to encounter in the new program was the task of C. E. Roberts, chairman of the advisory committee of the Boise Veterans Administration during his visit here last week. Mr. Roberts came to Moscow to attend the Idaho Education conference last Saturday and remained to confer with representatives of each school and department in a faculty meeting Monday.

Two Laws Function
"Two laws operate for the training of veterans" Mr. Roberts explained. Public Law 346 of the 78th Congress provides education or vocational training for veterans whose education or training was interrupted because of entry into the armed forces or who require a year of refresher courses before returning to their previous occupation. Any man under 25 years of age who has served in the armed forces at least 90 days may consider his education interrupted and claim a government-financed education. Public Law 16 of the 78th Congress provides for education and training to restore to employability physically disabled veterans. Under this program veterans may receive a maximum of four years of college. Tuition, fees, books, supplies, and equipment are furnished.

Vets Regular Students
Although faculty members will probably not find that veteran problems will differ greatly from usual student problems, particular difficulties may arise in regard to family relations, adjustment, and financial problems, Mr. Roberts remarked. Treatment and solution of such problems was the topic of discussion at Monday's meeting with faculty representatives. Mr. Roberts emphasized the fact that veterans in training will receive the same consideration as other students and will be subject to the same university regulations.

During the week, several potential trainees were called in from neighboring towns to consult with Mr. Roberts to arrive at a vocational objective compatible with their interests, abilities, and physical capacities. These will enter the university in February.

WAA Fills Vacancy

Frances Marshall was elected to the office of recording secretary by the WAA executive board at a meeting held October 18. Florence Marshall, former recording secretary, has not yet returned to school.

Campus Figure Relinquishes Hangout

After twenty-one years of managing the "Nest", Thompson Dunlap Matthews (better known as "Tommy") is saying "so-long" to the university students. Tommy recently sold the "Nest" to E. H. "Long" Green from whose father he bought it years ago.

Tommy graduated from Idaho in 1907. During his college days he was a charter member of Kappa Sigma.

He has run the "Nest" on strictly the honor system. Everyone helps himself and is trusted to pay for what he has eaten. He has complete confidence in the students and has been "stung" but a very few times. Tommy thinks "they are a square shooting bunch of kids, and I have been proud to serve them."

While watching the students come and go, Tommy has noticed many changes. The addition of new sororities, fraternities, halls, and university buildings has made the Idaho campus one of the finest in the west.

Tommy, his wife and two children will remain in Moscow, so students will continue to see their wide-grinning friend around town.

Sadie Hawkins' Day To Bring Annual Scramble For Men

Viewing the result of Idaho's invasion of the W.S.C. campus, Art Puckenhams, Max Call, Bud Galey and Mike Oswald seem to be slightly skeptical of Washington's mascot. "Butch" returned home from his over-night visit Tuesday.

Director Selects Crews For ASUI Production

"Lady Precious Stream," ASUI dramatic production scheduled for November 17 and 18, is now in rehearsal and crew-members have been chosen, according to Miss Jean Collette, director. The cast of the Chinese comedy is nearly complete and rehearsals are progressing on schedule. As soon as costumes are completed, publicity pictures will be taken.

The new type play features an array of talent and this, combined with the novelty of the absence of properties promises a delightful surprise for the audience, Miss Collette pointed out.

Although some crews are still incomplete, Miss Collette has selected the following student supervisors: Grace Lillard and Marjorie Mock, assistants to the director; Elizabeth Hadley, technical director; Jerry Riddle, electrician; Barbara Jo Smith and Marion Wilson, costumes; Donald Rankin, properties; Janet Polsen, makeup; Lucille Nelson, sound; and Geraldine Merrill, stage manager.

Assisting with properties are Joanne Smith, Jackie Fallis, Barbara Riechert, Venis Johnson, Jane Thompson, Pat Johnson, Marjorie Balch, Marguerite Dore, Barbara Smith, Phyllis Swayne, Maude Huggins and Artys Poughell. The property man, though theoretically invisible, is really the main player in the Chinese theatre, Miss Collette pointed out. Since there are no properties on stage, he must bring to the players whatever they need. They clean spots from the floor, serve tea to the players, and fan the players if they are hot.

Swine Breeders Attend Meet Here

Looking ahead to postwar years, nearly 100 Idaho and Washington swine breeders attended a North-Idaho purebred swine sale at the county fair grounds in Moscow, to discuss the type of hog most likely to draw market approval in the immediate future.

New ideas in disease prevention and control were discussed by Dr. Glenn C. Holm, Idaho station veterinarian; Dr. W. E. Shull, Idaho entomologist; and Dr. W. M. Beeson, associate animal husbandman at the University of Idaho agricultural experiment station.

Other addresses were given by E. J. Iddings, dean of the college of agriculture, and Herb Merman, livestock buyer for Armour & Co. of Spokane.

Miss Sleight Leaves To Visit Ensign

Julia Sleight of Ridenbaugh hall left for Chicago Monday evening to meet her fiance, Ensign Spencer R. Shortridge, of the U. S. Navy, enroute between assignments. Ensign Shortridge, a member of Delta Tau Delta and graduate in electrical engineering in 1944, was stationed at Hollywood Beach, Fla. His new assignment will be at Harvard.

"By hook or by crook I'll catch me a man," is the motto of all Idaho women to run in the annual Sadie Hawkins day race, scheduled for the half of the Vandal-Company A football game Saturday. As is customary, the first "Sadie Hawkins" to snag "her" Lil Abner will be married by Marr'in Sam in the stadium. After the ceremony the "lucky" gal will be awarded a prize.

IK Pledges 21 Men To Membership Johnson Discloses

Intercollegiate Knights held formal pledging at the Phi Gamma Delta house Tuesday, Summer Johnson, duke, announced. Twenty men, freshmen and sophomores from each men's living group, were pledged at the meeting.

They are Carl Neiwirth and Joel Mellor, L.D.S. institute; Earl Naylor and Jim Pearce, Phi Delta Theta; Charles Shiferl, Bob Remarkus and Alex Swanson, Sigma Chi; Gene Miller and Jim Mann, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; John Mast and Ken Smith, Phi Gamma Delta; Bob Gardner and Alvin Dunn, Delta Tau Delta; Bob Numan, Gene Messerbrink, Kenneth Goldsberry, Ellery Morrison and Warren Harvey, Campus club; John Dailey and Oscar Arstein, Kappa Sigma; Jim Pieroni and Dave Wooders, Sigma Nu.

The functions of this service honorary include sponsoring dances and mixers, ushering at games and plays; and, on the lighter side, choosing their traditional "Spur of the moment."

Reception Honors Mrs. Bailey

Kappa Alpha Thetas entertained Mrs. Harry Bailey, their house-mother, at a reception last Sunday afternoon with approximately 130 guests attending.

In the receiving line were Jean Bruins, house president; Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. J. A. Sandmeyer, president of the Moscow alumnae of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Mrs. T. F. Kerr, Mrs. H. L. Axcell, Virginia Dempsey, and Frances Swantek poured, assisted by Alice Woolter and Barbara Bedwell.

A program of music was presented during the afternoon, and floral arrangements served as decorations.

Macklin to Present Organ Selections

Hall M. Macklin, assistant professor of music, will present a program of organ selections tonight at the Presbyterian church under the sponsorship of the Moscow Music club. Mr. Macklin's program will consist of three parts with A. A. Beecher, head of the university music department, speaking during intermission on post-war music.

The program includes "Prelude and Fugue in G Minor," "Choral Prelude," both by J. S. Bach; group two, "Garden of Gethsemane," by R. Deane Sure, "Will of the Wisp," by G. B. Nevin, "Legende," by Robert Schumann, "Intermezzo," and "Harmonies du Soir," by Mr. Macklin; final group, "Wienlied," by Johannes Brahms, "Londonderry Air," and "Evening Star," from Wagner's Tannhauser.

D.G. Pledges Dance In Starlit Set

"Swinging on a Star" was the theme of the Delta Gamma pledge dance last Saturday evening. Decorations consisting of pink and blue covered walls with white silhouettes of pledges and streamers with stars attached were enhanced by a blue lighting effect.

Julie Ann Ryan and Jean Denman acted as co-chairmen of the social affair. Patrons and patronesses included Mr. and Mrs. Howard David, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Stephens, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Marty, and Mrs. LeRoy Van Winkle.

The navy band furnished the music for the evening. A dinner and fireside have been planned in the band's honor tonight.

Mixer Climaxes Day

To furnish a suitable climax to Sadie Hawkins' day, the student activities committee, under the chairmanship of Julien Paulson, is sponsoring an all-school mixer Saturday from 9 p.m. to 12 p.m. in the ballroom of the student union building. Music will be furnished by the Navy Band.

The dance is definitely a mixer, not a date affair, Miss Paulson emphasized. Army and Navy men are especially invited. For civilians, plaid shirts, levis, and cotton dresses will be the correct attire.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair are Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Lantz of the naval radio training school, Col. Benjamin H. Hensley of the army specialized training program, and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Marty of the university faculty.

Cardinal Key Plans Weiner Roast

Cardinal Key will commence its social activities this year with a Halloween weiner roast Sunday evening in the arboretum, Patricia Hagan, president, announced. Arrangements for the affair are being made by Jean Thompson, Evelyn Thomas and Vera Anderson.

At the monthly luncheon Tuesday, the members decided to continue the work done last year by the organization which includes indexing the Argonauts in the university library. Tentative plans were discussed for holding exchange dinners between women's houses and halls and for sponsoring the annual bridge tournament.

Marty Arranges For Band Clinic

Plans are being made by E. J. Marty, official conductor, for the band clinic which will be held here November 17 and 18. Application blanks are being filled out now, and by November 1 the committee will know how many directors and students plan to attend.

Attending students will be housed in campus dormitories, fraternities and sororities. All meals will be served at the Bucket to members of the band clinic and registered band directors.

Climax of the two-day session will be a concert by the clinic at 2 p.m. Saturday. Conductors and sectional directors will be chosen from the leading high school band directors attending the clinic.

Coach Schedules Debate; Women Plan Intramural

Men and women students interested in varsity debating are invited to attend the first debate meeting of the year Thursday at 4:30 p. m. in Ad room 210, A. E. Whitehead, debate coach, announced yesterday. The debate question this year will be: "Resolved: That the federal government should enact legislation providing for the compulsory arbitration of labor disputes."

Those interested in speech work will have a busy year, Mr. Whitehead promised. Idaho speech students will be sent to the Washington State college extemporaneous speaking contest in November for the first event of the year. At least eight women debaters will be needed for the debates with Washington State college and Whitman college at Walla Walla, Wash., Dec. 8 and 9. In addition, Mr. Whitehead plans to have those interested in speaking hold discussions for local high school assemblies and civic organizations.

Women Plan Intramural
 Annual women's intramural debates on the compulsory arbitration question are to be held in November. Elaine Anderson, who has charge of the debates, will disclose more complete plans soon.

Student Marries Sgt. in Georgia

Tech. Sgt. Benjamin Jones, a former ASTP student at the university, and Betty Thompson were married at Columbus, Ga., October 14 in the Methodist chapel. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Graves. Larry Long, an ASTP student, played a piano solo. Wedding guests included 25 former ASTP students from the Idaho campus, the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. B. F. Jones of Maplowood, N. J., and the bride's mother, Mrs. Harold Thompson of Orofino.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Atlanta, Ga., where they spent a short honeymoon before Tech. Sgt. Jones was called back to his post. The bride was a student at the university and a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

Col. Miner Inspects

Lt. Col. Douglas F. Miner, office of the director of military training in Washington, D. C., made an inspection tour of the Idaho campus October 18 and 19. His tour included an inspection of facilities and representative class rooms, and talks with instructors. Colonel Miner is one of the organizers of the N-30 curriculum for the reserve program.

Kramer Schedules Rifle Practices For AST, Civilians

Nearly 30 men from civilian and ASTP enrollees reported to Staff Sgt. Charles V. Kramer Monday to begin practice for rifle team competition. From these riflemen, a group will be selected to represent the University of Idaho during the coming term.

So far, only dry firing has been practiced, with some getting instruction in positions and sling adjustment, Sergeant Kramer reported. Elimination matches will be held when the ROTC coach of the university teams, Staff Sgt. J. D. Morgan, arrives. Preparation for the intercollegiate matches then will begin in earnest, he added.

University of Idaho rifle teams consistently have been placed among the top-ranking teams in the nation in previous years, having won several national championships and numerous regional matches. Under the direction of Sergeant Morgan, this team should be able to maintain the same standard, as some of the men trying out have had experience in high school ROTC competition, Sergeant Kramer pointed out. "The men have a worthy reputation to uphold and we are quite confident that they will make an all-out effort to maintain it," he added.

Hallowe'en Parties To Take Spotlight In Social Events This Week-end

With the tinge of autumn in the air and Hallowe'en drawing near, groups on the campus have scheduled numerous social events for this week-end.

Sigma Chi has scheduled its annual pledge-barn dance for Friday night, carrying out the theme "The Surrey with the Fringe on Top." Decorations will consist of bales of hay, corn stalks and pumpkins. Music will be furnished by radio from WSC. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Campbell and Mrs. J. E. Gardiner will be the patrons and patronesses.

Sweaters and cords will be the fashion Friday, when Phi Delta Theta entertains at a "Sloppy Joe" fireside. Bert Dingle, as house social chairman, has made arrangements for the affair.

The Campus club and Sigma Nus have planned firesides for Friday also.

Hays Women Give Party
 Hays hall women entertained Forney women at a surprise party last night. Late in the evening, masquerading as fellows, they pranced to Forney and escorted the Forney women back to Hays, where square dancing and entertainment awaited them. Doughnuts and cider were served after the festivities.

Spooks and costumes will be prominent at Ridenbaugh's Hallowe'en party tomorrow night, according to Frances Freeman, president of the hall. It is a combination date and invitational affair. The phonograph will furnish dance music, and some surprise "home talent" entertainment will be presented.

Visitors Entertained
 Last week-end found many visitors on the campus. Those visiting the Delta Delta house were Mrs. Roger Guernsey, the former Billy Lou Van Riper; Peggy Dunn, who is enroute to begin her cadet nurse training, and Mr. John Condie of Boise.

Mrs. John Phillips, Jr., of Seattle, Alpha Phi district governor has been visiting with the local chapter this week. Last Sunday she was honored at a fireside given by the pledges.

Miss French Visits
 Miss Permeal French, dean of women at the university for 28 years, was a visitor here last week. During her short stay, Miss French was entertained by faculty members and various living groups and had the opportunity not only to renew old acquaintances but also to meet children of the students she had known formerly. Last Wednesday night Hays hall entertained Dean French

Miss Jensen Weds In Moscow Church

The marriage of Miss Marylu Jensen, daughter of Mrs. Frances Jensen of Spokane, and Walter A. Jensen of Portland, to the Rev. Warren E. Fowler, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, took place Monday, with the Rt. Rev. Edward M. Cross, bishop of the Spokane district, officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, who came from Portland for the wedding.

Miss Zelva Hodge and Mrs. Harold Chaney, schoolmates of the bride at the University of Idaho, were bridesmaids. The Rev. Ray Clark, Pullman, was best man. Ushers were Dr. William Swindler and Dr. Robert J. Bessey.

Miss Maybelle Gehrke was organist, and Miss Virginia Eggan sang.

The couple plan to make their home at the rectory, 612 Elm street.

The bride was graduated from the university last June. The Rev. Mr. Fowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle J. Fowler of Manchester, Vt., is a graduate of Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y., and the Philadelphia Divinity school, Philadelphia. He came to Moscow in 1943 to serve St. Mark's and Holy Trinity parish at Palouse.

Miss Marian Featherstone and Miss Jean Collette were dinner guests last night of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Exchange night found the Alpha Chi Omegas dancing with the Sigma Nus, Delta Delta Deltas with the Phi Delta Thetas, and Alpha Phis with the Sigma Chis. Kappa Sigmas, exchanged dances with the Kappa Alpha Thetas, and Sigma Alpha Epsilons danced with the Pi Beta Phis the same evening. Khaki uniforms will be in order Friday when Pi Beta Phi entertain Company A with an exchange, and Forney hall women dance with members of Company B.

Wednesday night Gamma Phi Betas held an exchange with the Phi Gamma Deltas.

ASTU Completes Final Exams; Furloughs To Be Reward

By PVT. ALAN WOODRUFF

According to Webster, "final" means limit or end. Perhaps if I read on down the page, I would find it to say "pertaining to or occurring at the end; last," etc. But the first part is enough to describe a final exam, many of which we just completed. Final exam: "the last straw, the limit of patience, the end of the rope." Any of these will do for a definition, as any student knows.

Of course there are always the "brains" or studious type that see no horror in finals. Perhaps if they led the life of the ASTP student for a while they would see the light. As for myself, I would just as soon have left on my furlough without waiting to take the finals, but the Army just couldn't see it my way. In my case, it was a waste of time anyway.

As for furloughs, Webster says, "leave of absence, esp. to a soldier." I don't care what Webster calls it—I call it a piece of heaven. Back to the old homestead with its soft beds and ma's cookin', for which you don't have to stand in line—all the old girl friends still in town, and very few of the fellows to run competition. The old jalopy waits calmly, as does the gas ration book with its pages and pages of saved-up "A" stamps. Ah, such luxury—why do they spoil it with the horrible memory of finals?

And the GI's? In case you're still in the dark, a GI is a final of all finals, and that really packs a wallop. All of the brains in the Army get together and think up the GI tests, while there are only a few heads in on the regular finals. We get a double dose of finals—first a session with the university, then with the GI's.

But, back to the furlough—what could be more desirable, more enticing or shorter than a furlough. Eight and a half days, with most of it spent on a train or bus, is all too short to rejoice

Mrs. David Keppel's account of personal impressions of the Nazi invasion of Vienna was featured at the meeting of the International Relations club, Friday evening in the SUB ballroom. After the lecture Dr. Boyd Martin and Robert Hosack summarized the week's news and led their weekly discussion on current events.

Mrs. Keppel, a graduate of Vassar, was in Vienna at the time of the Nazi conquest. She had gone there in October to study music at the University of Vienna and was in Vienna when the Nazis took control. Mrs. Keppel is now a resident of Moscow. Those attending the meeting had an opportunity to question the speaker during the discussion portion of the program.

“ . . . Sorta’ Look Out For My Kid Sister Till I Get Back, Will Ya’?”

Get this right—she’s a good girl. She walks straight and proud and unafraid, only . . .

Only . . .

She’s walking into a different world, a grown-up world. These are tough times for kids her age. Most of the boys she knew have left town, have gone to war. There aren’t so many parties, clubs, games . . . No, but there are still plenty of the same old ugly, dangerous things to do. War makes them look different. Exciting. Glamorous. Even patriotic.

See how good kids drift into juvenile delinquency?

Please . . . don’t let it happen to my sister. Sorta’ look out for her till I get back.

Will ya’?”

When you give to your Community War Fund you help fight juvenile delinquency here at home. Your dollars help supply recreational facilities, the wise counsel and practical help of trained workers for children of all families including service men and war workers. There are more children who need your help more than ever before.

They need that help now . . . Visiting Nurse Service, Family and Child Welfare Work, Recreation, Hospital and Clinic Services . . . And part of your gift, through the National War Fund, provides U. Lieutenant Frank Kara, who pasted his way into boxing history at Idaho, presented a familiar scene as he renewed acquaintances along "education hill" this week. Frank has just completed 50 missions over Europe as pilot in a B-24 and is now home for reassignment.

Your reporter and others who were anxious to hear some thrilling campaign stories found Kara as reluctant to tell of his adventures as the Germans were to get out of Aachen. Those of us who remembered how modestly Frank and Ted Kara punched their way down leather lane to become the most feared brother combination in collegiate boxing circles for three years understood.

This story is essentially about Frank but you can't tell about one of the Kara brothers without including the other. They came here together, fought together, made boxing history together, so a story of one is a story of the other.

Took National Titles

In 1937 the two came from Cleveland without too much fanfare and put on the silver and gold mittens for Idaho. Ted had been captain of the 1936 Olympic boxing team so we knew he must have been ring wise. Frank, on the other hand, didn't have the distinction of fighting on the Olympic team, but was said to have been just as good as his brother. He was! In three years of collegiate boxing neither lost a fight. Frank won three Pacific coast titles and one national title for Idaho. Ted won three Pacific coast titles and three national titles. Both fought in the Sugar Bowl meet along with the rest of the Idaho team in 1941. Idaho tied with LSU for the team title and both Karas won their fight.

For boxing finesse Frank had it over his brother. In the ring he was methodically smooth and clever, never getting hit too often. Ted was more for mixing it up and letting lots of leather fly in a crowd-pleasing fashion. However, each attained the top in collegiate boxing and it was a pleasure to watch either one of them tour the squared circle.

Frank is spending a few days with his wife (the former Myrtle Benson of Moscow) and 16-months-old daughter before going to Santa Monica for reassignment. Ted was declared missing over Jap territory about a month ago and to this time no further word has been received.

Sherman Tough

Back in the days when Boise was one of the wrestling capitals of the country Nick Collins opened a gym and became a manager and promoter in the grunt and groan business. Nick was once the world's champion welterweight, which qualified him for his chosen profession. The point of this story is, however, that our own Graduate Manager, Ted Sherman, took lessons at Collins' gym from Babe Brown, our present athletic director. Brown was the best wrestler who worked out in the "Collins cauliflower alley" and took Ted under his wing to teach him the game. Later both came to the university and Sherman wrestled for Brown on the frosh team of 1922.

Brown Down

Brownie, the big, good natured guy who is usually everywhere at once, was stopped Tuesday night by an attack of appendicitis.

Since it was a serious case it is too early to declare Brownie out of danger, we have been informed, but normal improvement is anticipated. Square that jaw, Mick.

Idaho Men Engage Company A In Final Battle

A crowd of more than 500 service and civilian spectators saw the Idaho civies and Company B battle to a scoreless tie Saturday afternoon, with the civies featuring a mid-field attack and the soldiers showing how a goal line should be protected.

Little Ed Bybee was the gent who carried most of the load in the ground gaining department. With his size five shoes proving no handicap, Bybee kicked and ran the Idaho team into scoring territory three times during the afternoon.

Bybee Hurt Twice
Bybee was injured twice during the game, the last time on the one-yard line, which halted the civilians' last goalward march.

Cliff Streeter brought the civies within six inches of paydirt on a fourth down for the most potent threat of the afternoon. Streeter will replace John Daily in the starting fullback spot this week because of an injury sustained by Daily last week.

Company B spent most of its time defending the goal line. The boys would loosen up in the middle of the field and let the civies run. When the situation became critical, they were there to do something about it.

Quarterbacks Chu and Torrosian at half were the defensive giants for the soldiers.

Civies-Co. A to Vie

This Saturday the civies will engage Company A in the final game of the season. Each team has the benefit of one game but Company A gets the nod if you are picking a favorite. It took Company B two weeks ago while Idaho was held to a tie by B.

Basile, Carr and Munson will be there to aid Company A and they rate as the best backs in the three-sided league.

In connection with the game, the students will stage their annual Sadie Hawkins day race.

Game time: 2:30 p. m.

LDS Explain Ideals At First Party

Lambda Delta Sigma held its first event of the year for members and prospective pledges last Sunday evening at the LDS Institute.

Eliza Taylor, president of the organization, explained the ideals and purposes of the group, and Donna Anderson took charge of the program. It consisted of vocal solos by Reed Fife, a reading by Elaine Anderson, and piano selections by Kenneth Cook.

Twenty guests participated in a community sing and refreshments were served later in the evening.

Tom Ryan Proves Champ On University Golf Links

By DAVE STIDOLPH

Tom Ryan came through three weeks of golfing competition without a defeat to be declared the men's university champion this week. Ryan, who was the captain of the last golf team at Idaho, was almost stopped in the semi-final rounds by Jack Anderson, who held a one-hole advantage going into the seventeenth. Steady golf on the last two assured Ryan of meeting Byron Anderson in the finals.

The finals, which were to have gone 18 holes, ended on the twelfth where Ryan held an 8 and 6 advantage.

In the second flight Bud Oyley defeated Jim Pieroni 7 and 5 for the championship.

A trophy will be awarded to the winner of the championship flight while the winner of the second flight will be given a prize to be chosen by Professional, Frank James.

Women Nearly Through
Women golfers are still swinging it out, and the results should be in by next week. As it now stands Betty Ann Craggs will meet Vera Anderson in the semi-finals. The winner will be match-

Frank James, commenting on the tournament, said it was the biggest boost that golf had experienced at Idaho and was sure it would find even more competitors out for next fall's tourney. "The end of the tournament doesn't mean the end of the golf season," said Mr. James. "We will stay open as long as the weather will permit."

Stewart Completes Radio Training

Private Robert M. Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stewart, has recently graduated from the AAF radio technician school at Truax field, Madison, Wis. For further air force training, he has been assigned to Chanute field, near Chicago.

Vandals Challenge Navy Track Team

The fence skipping Vandal harriers, led by stouthearted Jack Anderson, have passed the hardest part of their cross-country conditioning period, and are now concentrating on distance running. According to Coach Ryan, the hill-and-dalers didn't lose a single man during the period of grunts, groans, and stiff muscles. This week the x-country squad, working in individual groups, scampered their way over the university farm, and barnyard course in excellent order, and Coach Ryan was highly pleased. Smooth striding Dave Stidolph is holding down the number two spot, and is improving greatly under Ryan's tutelage. Quick-stepping their way to the title of the terrific trio are evenly-matched Don Strmac, Art Humphrey and Gordon Meecham.

This Friday will find the Vandal harriers lined up against a powerful Navy team, and barring inclement weather there should be many thrills and spills for the x-country fan to see. Although no emphasis is being put on speed, the Idaho team might surprise the
