

United Students Party Monopolizes Class Offices

Senior Candidates Win With Narrow Margin

Setting a precedent on the University of Idaho campus, the United Students' party landed all its candidates into class offices in yesterday's election.

The closest race was for senior class offices. United Students' candidate, Carl Spalding, defeated Frances Freeman, Associated, 41 to 35, for the office of president. Vice-presidency went to Elaine Thomas, who defeated Jean Gochnour, 39 to 37. Shirley West took the secretary's office with a vote of 44 to 32 over Lucille Cummings; and Marion Wilson won the treasurer's office, 45 to 31, over Warren Williams.

Tea To Introduce Organizations To New Students

Mortar Board's annual tea for the purpose of introducing organizations open to women will be held Friday, November 3, for new students from 3:30 to 5:30 in the small ballroom in the Student Union.

Each of the various organizations represented will have a display table of their activities and emblems. Members will explain the displays and the clubs functions during this time.

Mrs. Harrison C. Dale, Mrs. Louise Carter and Mary Mangum, Mortar Board president, will receive the new students and others interested.

In charge of refreshments for the affair will be Elaine Thomas and Jean Bruins. Frances Freeman and Frances Marshall will contact the various organizations to be included. The tea table will be taken care of by Beverly Weber.

Betty Ann Craggs took the office of president for the sophomore class with the vote of 85 over 59 for Richard Morse. The new vice-president is Ethel Jane Koppelman, who defeated Twyla Shear, 88 to 55. After defeating Ruth Abraham, 89 to 55, Lalene Cargill steps into the office of secretary. Dave Stidolph won the office of treasurer with the vote of 82 to 62, from Darrell Gallup.

Fresh Chose Woman
President of the freshman class is Virginia Campbell, who defeated her opponent, Walter Smith, 174 to 142. John Taylor was elected to the office of vice-president with the majority vote of 190 to 126, over Billy Justice. The new secretary is Bob Gardner, who defeated Margaret Arnold, 180 to 136, and Tom Kauffman took the office of treasurer from Edward Bybee with the vote of 177 to 139.

Election board members who took charge of checking the ballots, were Barbara Bloomsburg, chairman; Joan Clark, vice-chairman; Margaret Gorman, Jean Denman and Laura Burns. Other members were Eve Smith, Mack Kennington, Vivian McLaughlin, Audrey Hartman, Evelyn Fisher and June Williams, who was the alternate board member.

Students To Hear Dr. Hinton Speak
Dr. W. J. Hinton, formerly of the British Information Service, will visit the Idaho campus Tuesday under the sponsorship of the International Institute of Education. During his stay, Dr. Hinton will speak before two classes—Introduction to sociology at 11 a. m. and American government at 2:20 p. m. Both classes will meet in the auditorium. Students and faculty members who are interested are welcome to attend.

Dr. Hinton was formerly dean of arts and sciences at the University of Hong Kong and served as director of studies at London Institute of Bankers. He is interested primarily in discussing educational questions with social scientists, historians, and professors of education.

Editor Announces Gem Conference
Conferences are scheduled next week for discussion of the dummy lay-outs in the 1945 Gem, according to Beverly Weber, editor. Ralph W. York from the Boise printers of Syms and York, and Ken Miller of the Western Engravers and Color Type in Seattle will be present to advise and assist in the planning of these lay-outs. Mr. York and Mr. Miller will arrive in Moscow the first part of the week.

"Sales of the Gem will be continued this week in the various living groups and, also, in the hall of the Ad. Building," stated Miss Weber.

Staff To Receive Wage Increase
Upon recommendations of the Publications Board, the ASUI executive board Tuesday night granted salary increases to four members of the Argonaut staff: business manager, advertising manager, sports editor, and news editor.

The purpose of these increases, which are to be in effect for this semester only, is to compensate these staff members for the added work and responsibility created by wartime conditions.

The 15 per cent of the total income from local advertising, which the business staff formerly received will be increased to a percentage which will put the business manager and advertising manager on a parity basis with the editorial staff. Salaries of the sports editor and news editor will be upped to $2.50 per week.

U. Of I. To Observe Turkey Day Nov. 23
Turkey day will be observed by University of Idaho students November 23, in keeping with information printed in the catalog, Harrison C. Dale, president, and the academic council announced yesterday.

Examinations preceding mid-semester grades will be given before vacation, with reports due November 25, the registrar's office reminded students. According to regulations printed in the university catalog, 10 point grade cuts may not be given students who miss classes immediately before or after Thanksgiving, since it is a one-day vacation.

Artists Organize For Action
The first meeting of the year for the Art club was held last Thursday to elect officers. New officers include president, Ann Hite; vice president, Connie Melgard; secretary, Barbara Miller; treasurer, Dick Albin; social chairman, Barbara Bedwell.

Plans are under way for an active club this year. The meetings will be held at the Art Building on the second and fourth Thursday of each month, with membership requirements being a major or a minor in art.

Jeffers Attends Conference
Dean D. S. Jeffers of the school of forestry, and Vernon Ravenscroft, extension forester, attended a conference in Lewiston November 1.

The major topic discussed was fire protective problems of Idaho. Fire wardens, certain national forest supervisors, and some of the managing directors of the Forest Protective association were delegates at the meeting.

President Attends Chicago Meeting
"The general impression seems to be that the number of veterans returning to colleges and universities throughout the nation will not reach a peak until at least a year after the end of the war," President Harrison C. Dale said on his return from a meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities in Chicago October 23-26. Herbert E. Lattig, dean of men, and C. W. Hungerford, dean of the graduate school, also represented the university at the meetings.

President Dale pointed out that the general feeling is that colleges and universities must give these men a good deal of special attention and consideration, that many of them have been through harrowing experiences and will need individual counsel. Every effort should be made to help them with their adjustment. "There is deep concern and genuine desire on the part of these institutions to render every possible aid," he said.

Beecher Presents Welcome Speech To New Students

Sigma Alpha Iota, the music faculty and the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority have been invited to a reception to be held tonight at the Kappa house for Miss Elizabeth Ann Bollinger, who will present her recital early in the evening.

New music students and the faculty were entertained at a reception, October 31, in Hays Hall. Sigma Alpha Iota, music honorary, were hostesses to approximately 150 guests.

Jean Gochnour, chapter president, welcomed the guests and introduced the program. A. A. Beecher, head of the music department, presented a talk concerning the department and the two music honoraries, Sigma Alpha Iota for women and Phi Mu Alpha for men. He also stated that nearly one third of the total students at the university are enrolled in applied music.

On the program were Jean Armour, violinist; Mrs. Dorothy Frederickson Jacoby, soprano; and Lucile Thompson, pianist.

Debate Club Urges Attendance At First Meeting

Women students interested in intra-mural debating are invited to attend the first debate meeting of the year Saturday at 12:45 p. m. in Forney hall, Elaine Anderson, intra-mural debate chairman, announced yesterday. Representatives from each house or the teams desiring to participate must be present. The debate question this year will be: "Resolved: That the federal government should enact legislation providing for the compulsory arbitration of labor disputes."

These debates are open to all women on the campus who have not previously taken part in an intramural debate at the University of Idaho or on any other university team. It is an annual event sponsored by Delta Sigma Rho, national debate honorary, which awards a cup to the house having the winning team. The award was won last year by Ridenbaugh hall.

November 13-17 is the week scheduled for the tourney run-offs. Debates will be held beginning November 13 and will continue every night until all but one team has been eliminated. Double elimination disqualifies a team. Each team interested must be prepared to debate both sides of the question or two teams may enter from a single residence with two women debating affirmative and negative. Reference material pertaining to the question is on reserve in the library.

Mr. Watts States Conference Aims
J. W. Watts, acting assistant bursar and chief accountant, returned recently from San Francisco where he attended a conference of the Western Association of College and University Business Officers held October 22-24.

Post-war administration problems in colleges and universities was the general theme of the meeting, Mr. Watts stated. Considerable emphasis was placed on the part schools will play in training veterans. One of the aims of the association, the accountant also reported, is to secure harmonious cooperation of the schools and government in this training program.

These conferences are annual events, with representatives from western states attending. Due to travel conditions, however, this meeting is the first to be held in three years.

Engineers Gather At Annual Party

The annual smoker of the associated engineers, which serves to acquaint its members with one another, was held last Thursday in the armory.

Harvey Hemingway acting as toastmaster, introduced the engineering faculty and acting Dean L. C. Cady gave a short welcome to freshmen.

Entertainment included community singing led by Robert Walls of the music school, and accompanied by Jean Armour, pianist. Walter B. Smith played a violin solo and the civil engineering department introduced a new song for the group.

Harvey Hemingway was chairman of the entertainment committee. Cider and doughnuts were served at the end of the program by Jack Talent and his refreshment committee.

Independents Hold Leaf-Raking Rally

With the purpose of introducing party candidates for the election, the associated party held a leaf raking rally Monday evening.

Present at the meeting were the women from Ridenbaugh, Forney, and Hays halls, and the Moscow women students. Men were from the L. D. S. and the Campus club.

An interesting diversion was created when a group of associated women challenged the Campus clubbers to a gridiron battle. The game was close at all times, but the men finally won by a small margin.

GEM SALES

All Gem sales must be completed within the next two weeks, as copies will not be sold in the spring to anyone, was the statement issued by Miss Beverly Weber, editor.

"Last year many students waited until the end of school before making their purchases, and many of them were disappointed because they were not able to buy the Gem," continued Miss Weber, "so, this year be sure to contact the sales-manager assigned to your living group, and pay for your Gem immediately."

Chinese Treatment Adds Novelty To Production

As a member of the Opera Reading club of Los Angeles, which is producing the opera "Don Pasquale," Miss Bollinger will sing the leading role at the Biltmore Hotel next May. Early in November she will go to New York to study operatic roles with Fritz Lehman, brother of Lotte Lehman, for dramatic interpretation. She will also coach with Wilfrid Peletier, Metropolitan conductor.

Active On Campus

Miss Bollinger attended the University of Idaho for two years, and two summer sessions. After university work she was a pupil of Mrs. Bernadine Adair Cornelison of Lewiston. While at the university, Miss Bollinger was a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music honorary, and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. She sang in the Vandaleers and participated in other university music activities. She has since received her bachelor of music degree from the University of California, previously having attended Ward-Belmont school for girls in Nashville, Tennessee.

Interchurch Plans For Active Year; Delegates Chosen

Louise Schlegel, president of the interchurch council, has announced an incomplete list of representatives from various churches to the council. The representatives are as follows: Presbyterian, Ruth Leth; Episcopal, Mary Mathot, Phyllis Wells, Louise Schlegel; Nazarene, Donna Hoxie, Bob Smith; L. D. S., Elaine Anderson, Geraldine Merrill; Methodist, Marjorie Merideth, Marjorie Aishleman; Baptist, Arthur Humphrey, and Dorothy Cowin; Lutheran, Beverly Ford and Helen Campbell.

Plans for the year include a World Student Service Fund drive with Miss Mary Robe, traveling secretary, speaking on the campus, and the annual Easter sunrise service. W. H. Genne, national student secretary for the National Council of Student Christian associations, will speak to the interchurch council November 13.

Other officers of the interchurch council are Elaine Anderson, vice president; Dorothy Cowin, secretary-treasurer; Rev. W. E. Fowler and Rev. Tanner, ministers; and Dr. A. C. Lemon faculty advisor.

Regular meetings of the interchurch council are held Tuesday at 5:10 p. m. in the L. D. S. Institute.

H. C. Dale To Speak This Evening

President Harrison C. Dale will be guest speaker at a meeting this evening of the Latah county Chamber of Commerce at the Moscow hotel. He will discuss "Problems and Needs of the University."

Miss Bollinger Portrays Modern Success Story

Elizabeth Ann Bollinger

Acclaimed by music critics as a promising lyric soprano, Elizabeth Ann Bollinger of Lewiston, Idaho, a former university student, will bring the realization of a success story to the University of Idaho when she presents a concert in the auditorium at 8 p. m. this evening under the sponsorship of the public events committee. Elsa Peterson Hughes, also of Lewiston, Idaho, will act as accompanist.

Miss Bollinger's success came not as a sudden leap to stardom but only after years of persistent, painstaking effort. Public recognition was first achieved after auditions with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra in the Hollywood Bowl, August 20.

As co-winner of the audition at the Hollywood Bowl, Miss Bollinger was awarded an audition sponsored by KFI, the Daily News and the Southern California Symphony, along with Madaline Miller, dramatic soprano.

Reading club of Los Angeles, which is producing the opera "Don Pasquale," Miss Bollinger will sing the leading role at the Biltmore Hotel next May. Early in November she will go to New York to study operatic roles with Fritz Lehman, brother of Lotte Lehman, for dramatic interpretation. She will also coach with Wilfrid Peletier, Metropolitan conductor.

Costumes to be worn by Idaho thespians are identical to those in the original Broadway production and arrangements with the Hooker-Howe Co. of Haverhill, Mass., have been made for their use. To supplement these costumes, many town people have loaned their possessions and the costume crew has been hard at work making other additions.

"Lady Precious Stream" was produced successfully in New York and London, where it ran for more than 500 performances. It was translated from the original Chinese by the author, Dr. S. I. Hsiung, who is also of the Near Eastern stage. He made no attempt to alter his work in any manner so that the play could remain definitely in Oriental character.

Sound records, made especially for this play by Thomas Valentino of New York, will help to enhance the foreign atmosphere.

Winners Receive Trip To Chicago

D. E. Warren, 4-H club specialist, announced this week that the final winners of the Idaho 4-H club contest will receive a free trip to the national 4-H club congress, to be held in Chicago, Ill., December 3-6. Winners will leave Pocatello December 1, and will be lodged, upon arrival in Chicago, at the Stevens Hotel, the largest hotel in the world.

Idaho winners of the different divisions are: R. E. A., Roger Humbarger, 16 Idaho Falls; food for victory, Howard Jenkins, 16, Arimo; girls record, Della Connell, 18, Roberts; canning, Marybelle Carnie, 15, Coeur d'Alene; clothing, Gwen Powell, 17, Lapwai; food preparation, Evagene Russell, 18, Idaho Falls; style review, Beth Christensen, 18, Idaho Falls.

Other winners, not mentioned here, received $25 and $50 War Bonds, or gold watches.

Students Discuss Current Events

A student panel discussion on current events, supervised by Lucile Cummings, will form the main portion of the regular meeting of the International Relations club tomorrow night at the Blue Bucket at 7:30.

Special emphasis will be placed on the news from the last three issues of "Time" at the discussion in which all those attending have been asked to participate. "The March of Time News," originally scheduled for this meeting has been postponed until a later date. The first half-hour will be turned over to Robert Hosack and Dr. Boyd A. Martin for the usual summary of the news.

'I' Wearers Revive Organization

At a meeting of the "I" Club held last week, members decided to bring the organization back to an active status.

Officers were elected and plans were discussed to keep up the "I" Club traditions. Officers are: Len Pyne, president; Paul Olson, vice president; Sumner Johnson, secretary; and Rich Brown, treasurer. J. A. "Babe" Brown will act as faculty advisor.

The group decided to include all minor "I" winners in the club for this year because of the lack of major "I" lettermen.

Committee Elects Mary Holden New Yell Queen

Mary Holden will be queen of the six new yell leaders chosen by the student activities board last Tuesday night. Hot-steppers for the year will include Betty Newell, Peggy Estes, Mary Manssidor, Betty Ann Nelson and Shirley Brandt.

Twenty-three women appeared for the first tryouts a week ago Monday. Successive tryouts at games on the following Saturdays and a final competition Tuesday night narrowed the choice to six. The girls were chosen by the student activities board consisting of Ruth Leth, Marlan Krussman, Vera Anderson, Pat Kulzer, Shirley Stowell, Evelyn Thomas, Joyce McMahon, Zelva Hodge, Marina Doehios, Donna Freeman and Julein Paulson.

First appearance of the new yell leaders will probably be at the first basketball game of the year, Queen Mary Holden announced. New leaders will hold their first practice Saturday at 10:30 a. m. in the Blue Bucket.

Student Succumbs In Infirmary

Della Doumeccq, a leading senior on the University campus, was taken by death last Wednesday night in the infirmary. Her death was attributed to a generalized blood stream infection following an upper respiratory infection and to peritonitis.

Miss Doumeccq has been an outstanding student through her three years of college. She maintained a 3.7 grade average and was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, sophomore women's scholastic honorary. She served as treasurer of Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary and as a member of AWS council. She was elected vice president of Hays Hall during her sophomore year and treasurer of the Gertrude house during her junior year.

Miss Doumeccq is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Doumeccq of Craigmont, Idaho, and her sister, Dorothy, a sophomore at Hays Hall. She was born at Whitebird, Idaho, April 20, 1923.

Doctor Interviews Medical Students

Dr. Edward S. West of the University of Oregon medical school at Portland will interview AST men in pre-medical training Friday and Saturday, November 2 and 3. This is the final interview before these men are assigned to medical colleges for medical training.

Basis of the interviews will be grades received in the ASTP, personal aptitude, and personality.

Ever stop to think why Pop mortgaged the house and Mom decided to wear last year's coat so you could go to college, or why the family doesn't have a cook any more, since they decided it was cheaper to do it themselves? Well, maybe things aren't quite this bad, but you can bet your next week's coke money that the family didn't send you here to sit around on your dime and lead a lazy-daisical, razzle-dazzle existence.

Time to get out of the smoker, worm your way out of that bridge game, and stop hanging out of windows to get the bird's eye view of what's going to be in Mulberry Bush next week. Time to just plain hit the books and study. Jason won't let you down on the Bush—you may even get pricked once in a while!

Finals Around Corner
Already in its fifth week of existence, the first half of this semester isn't getting any younger. As you probably have noticed, the profs are getting generous with quizzes at rather frequent intervals—and, notebooks are getting quick brush-ups for mid-semester inspection! Mid-semester grades are due November 25, which isn't so far off — if you have a calendar handy. And, saddest of all is the fact that finals come before Thanksgiving, which may mean you'll be eating history notes along with turkey!

Outside Factors Enter
True — we've all been excited over recent war news—the hope of winning the war in Europe had us all in a celebrant mood, and MacArthur's invasion of the Philippines and the large number of Jap ships sunk had us fairly singing, but we yet have nothing definite to count on. This war isn't going to end tomorrow or the next day or even in time to make the profs forget about mid-semester finals. And, since we can't all be out there doing our bit on the battlefield, the next best thing we can do is do a good job where we are—in college.

National elections are always good for a red-hot discussion, and as November 7 draws nearer, each individual's favorite candidate is being upheld in these hash-sessions even more. To students who can vote this year, especially those in the "first-voting" class, this is an all-important subject just now.

Acclimation Is Problem
Jason wouldn't criticize interest in either of these subjects. Talking about the war and armchair politics is a part of the American way of life which shouldn't be denied to any individual and is a preparation for full living after college. Ideas formulated here may have an everlasting influence on the student later.

But, neither does Jason believe that war excitement and current interest in politics have been the main causes of students not studying on this campus. It's merely a matter of acclimation in most cases—getting adjusted to college ways.

We've all had five glorious weeks in which to make that adjustment, and now is the time to get in and dig—to begin to realize that you came to college for another reason. Start flirting with those textbooks!

Keep Libe Rules
For the benefit of those in doubt, librarians are human beings and they hear all those little noises that careless students make in the study sanctuary. They make signs, send out notices to scholarship chairmen and even "pounce" upon peace-disturbers for the benefit of the "booker," though not because they need something to do.

Between-class stampedes are reminiscent of grade school days. The signal of the bell has seemed the opportunity to rise and clutter! Some people expect to study in that extra 10-minute interlude.

If dropping into the library isn't compulsory, acquire the habit by all means, but when you arrive, arrive quietly, and renew your acquaintances later.

May We Enlighten

Campus politics take back seat today, in view of national elections November 7. We wouldn't attempt to tell anyone how to vote here—most of the eligible students have already voted absentee ballot, and those who haven't must by this time know their choice of candidates.

But, for the stragglers who haven't gotten around to reading the rules and regulations yet, it might be well to inform them of a few important facts concerning this matter of voting. First, if you were delegated to send an absentee ballot application in for some serviceman, it's too late—the deadline was yesterday.

Final day to register to vote is Saturday at 9 p. m., if you're a resident of Ada county, and absentee ballots for Moscow precincts will be accepted until 5 p. m., November 6. Other absentee voters in the county must have ballots returned in time to get them to various precinct judges by election day.

Befuddling Amendments

Most students, unless they read the Idaho constitution every day and keep up on current events besides, were befuddled by a slip of paper on which were printed five proposed constitutional amendments. Three of these originated in the Senate and two in the House.

Senate joint resolution No. 1, which is being voted upon, provides that the term for elected executive officers would be extended from two to four years and also that the governor cannot succeed himself. Senate joint resolution No. 3 would create a new state tax commission to take the place of the present state board of equalization. The commission would consist of four members appointed by the governor for terms of six years, and the new commission would take over the functions of the old board of equalization, which was an ex-officio board.

The third one on the ballot, Senate joint resolution No. 4, provides that villages and school districts be added to the list of areas of government whose property is exempt from state taxation. The proposed amendment also provides that the property of the national government is not to be taxed by the state unless taxation is authorized by the national government.

Two Boards Serve

House joint resolution No. 3, if approved, would eliminate the board of prison commissioners and leave the present board of examiners. For the last two years, Idaho has had two boards, the old board of prison commissioners and the newly-created state board of correction, both charged with approximately the same duties and functions.

House joint resolution No. 4, if approved, would dissolve the present board of pardons and place the pardoning power in the governor, "subject to such regulations as the legislature shall provide."

We don't know whether or not this throws any light on the subject—a thorough investigation should be made by each and every intelligent voting citizen—but at least, some of the legal language is reduced to the college student's level!

Wartime Week-ends Call For New Fun And Fads

By GWEN MCKAY
There are lots of Idaho guys and gals complaining about the lack of variety in wartime week-end schedules. We haven't anything against a little griping, but why not roll up our sleeves and fix up our own recreational program?

From our rivals at WSC and from Purdue university come enthusiastic reports of co-recreational parties, sponsored by the students for the students. "The Evergreen" at Pullman has given a lot of publicity to their two parties. Soldiers, sailors, civilians and co-eds turned out in large numbers both times for a gala evening in the gymnasium. Purdue had the idea, as the "Purdue Exponent" states, when they sponsored a "Fun Night" for everyone. The entertainment included ping pong, swimming, community singing, country dances, ballroom dancing, badminton, and bridge, and was climaxed by a huge treasure hunt. Our own PEM club has been toying with the idea, so why don't we back them up, and give Butch, the cougar, something to growl about? How about it, Vandals?

"Get-Acquainted" Firesides

"The Evergreen" also included in its society writeups the informal get-togethers between houses and halls. The Alpha Gamma Deltas there entertained the Pi Beta Phi with an informal fireside from 8 to 9:30 on Friday evening, with bridge and other table games and a community sing. We don't always need men for an evening of fun, so let's see a few more of these "get acquainted" firesides for just women.

Begged, Borrowed, Or Stolen

"College girls are copy cats," stated the irate fellow who couldn't find his striped suspenders, and then saw them on his sister. She liked his sweaters, too, so she bought the largest ones she could find in the men's togery. The kid brother didn't escape either, according to the "Oregon State Barometer," for OSC co-eds now wear grey flannel clam-diggers to match his short pants. And with the clam-diggers, you see these women wearing the army field jackets, or reasonable facsimiles. Navy pea-jackets are mighty popular, too, and not all of them have fellows inside.

Fad For Flannels

Betty Co-ed has haunted the stores until she found a huge flannel night shirt, and then added ruffles to them, states the "Oregon Daily Emerald," and they are really sweet. Also seen are sleepers, footie and all, copied from babies' snugglies, and they are really "all right" for warmth and comfort.

On the Idaho campus, as well as every other university campus, the gals have copied the farmers' jeans, and they are a familiar Saturday morning sight. The U. of Washington fems carried it even further, and have levis made of upholstery cotton in brilliant colors. Yes, our co-ed knows how to be a copy-cat, but she gets away with it, and nicely at that.

Tri-Delts To Hold Pledge Dance

Plans are being made for the Delta Delta Delta pledge dance which is to be held Saturday. Ralphine Strub is the general chairman and assisting her will be Margaret Sutton, in charge of programs, Beverly Ford and Jean Harmon, music, and Phyllis Wells, who is head of the refreshment committee.

The decoration committee consists of Ruth Leth, Jean Bonneville, Fidelia Zabala, Mary Pat Sylvester, Arline Durkoop, Mary Jane Hawley, Lois Walker, Shirley Clague, Maxine Miller, Marion Kittelson, Dorothy Snyder, Jerry Finnell, Ethel Jape Kopelman and Helen Morfit. Shirley Ann Moreland and Joan Clark have charge of songs.

Neophytes Baffle Upperclassmen In Year's Flings

Secretary of indeterminate depth shrouded the campus these past weeks with freshmen taking their traditional sneaks. Every former neophyte knows how easily secrets are kept from upperclassmen, so it's little wonder that half of the men this year were captured and retrieved before they even hit the road.

The 5:15 to Pullman pulled out for a number of evenings loaded with mischievous freshmen bound for a big dinner at the Washington hotel and a thriller at one of the Pullman theaters.

Robinson Lake and Pullman were the termination points of many of the girls' jaunts, while some of the groups found refuge in secluded Moscow spots.

Boarding cars and trucks for Robinson Lake were level-clad damsels, well doused by heaven's outery at such "goings on." Their ingenuity however, saved them from the dark and the damp, and before long a fire was kindled, hot dogs were sizzling on green willows, and everyone was happy for the time being.

Every good thing must come to an end, but this group felt more like cattle going to the slaughter house. In their case, as in all the rest, all the fishermen survived and made it to their eight o'clocks the following morning.

ASUI Recommends Election Tactics

At its regular meeting last week, the ASUI executive board outlined and recommended a program to be followed in selecting members of future election boards, clarifying the position of the election committee. The board is to be chosen purely on a merit basis, those scoring highest on the quiz to serve, regardless of political affiliation. The chairman is to be chosen by the election committee.

Board Seeks Assembly Talent

To provide more all-university assemblies the executive board asked Prof. A. A. Beecher to contact artists to ascertain their availability, and expressed its willingness to allocate student funds for this purpose.

Action taken last spring in granting a sweater in marksmanship to Earl Crea was repealed, owing to the fact that Crea has already received the maximum of three sweaters allowed by the ASUI constitution.

The appointment of Ralph Joslyn to the executive board by the Associated caucus to fill the vacancy left by Fred Watson's succession to the presidency was approved.

Billie Keeton, chairman, and Ralph Joslyn were appointed to check the ASUI budget and to make recommendations to the board.

Successful Sadies Drag Victims to Wedlock

With yells and howls of threatening females, Idaho co-eds garbed in typical yokel costume, chased L'I Abner's helter-skelter across the stadium Saturday afternoon. After extensive chase and struggle, Jackie Ritchie, Pi Beta Phi, was the first to succeed in bringing back her man, Bob Gardner, Delta Tau Delta. Undeatable Sadies Hawkins' struggled for their men until the last L'I Abner was captured.

Fred Keiper performed the marriage ceremony of the official "Sadies" and "Abner" in the presence of all the contestants and Fred Watson, the judge. "Marrying Sam" presented a rolling pin to Miss Ritchie as a token of her strength and persistence.

G.I. REPORT

By Pvt. David Greenbaum and Harry Silcocks

New Men Arrive

Next Monday, classes will begin for 29 new men of the AST unit. We, the personnel of SCU 3926 and the entire campus, welcome these men and hope they shall accept their new experience with vigor and enthusiasm.

The new trainees will be assigned to the basic engineering group for three semesters—roughly, nine months. They hail from California, Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho. Thirteen of them are Japanese-American (Nisei), the first to arrive in this unit.

We welcome each and every one of you and hope that you will contribute to campus life in the same spirit and degree of success as that of your predecessors.

Halloween Spirit Prevails

Halloween came to the barracks of Company A in the form of practical jokes, vocalizing and campus get-togethers. Mirrors were soaped and floors flooded. Some of the "singers" decided to stretch their vocal cords toward the Alpha Phi, Delta Delta Delta and Alpha Chi Omega sororities.

Thanks, girls, for putting up with our warbling, and thanks again for returning some beautiful harmonizing.

Soldiers Attend Party

Orchids to the girls of the Home Management house who asked some of the fellows to a Halloween party they were having. As if from nowhere, Dean Barth, Marvin Carr, Kenneth Birdwell, Clemente Cochran, John Burnham and David Greenbaum made a mad dash to accept the invitation. They reported a pleasant evening and delicious refreshments!

Don't worry, Sarge. We were all in before bed-check!

Former Fiji Visits Campus on Leave

Bill Stewart, USN, of Moscow, former student of the university and member of Phi Gamma Delta, arrived in Moscow last week where he will spend a short leave visiting friends and relatives. Stewart is to report back to Asbury Park on November 9, and will remain there for two months until receiving further assignment.

Bud Oylear Joins Hall of Fame At U. Golf Course

Bud Oylear who won the second flight of the mens division in the recent university tournament joined the golfing hall of fame Saturday by dropping an ace on the 145 yard second hole. Oylear used a seven iron for the shot that put him in the select group of golfers who have made holes in one on the university course.

Other golfers who have done the impossible on the university links are: Glenn Jacoby, Dean Lattig and Bill Stelson, 1939. Jacoby got his ace on the seventh. In 1940 there were three with Herman Rossi, Wesley Hunner and Ralph Siron doing the shooting on the second hole.

Cathryn Belko is the only woman ever to accomplish such a shot on the Idaho course. She "fired one" on the second hole in 1941 as did Corky Davidson, Chuck Bottigie, and Chuck Taylor. George Green made a hole in one on the seventh the same year.

Monroe Ruth was the only sharp shooter in 1942. His was on the short second. Last year was also slim with Robert Cain being the only golfer to get a hole in one and that was on the second.

The seventh hole is 235 yards which accounts for the few who have been able to hole out in a single blow.

Kappa Phi's Pledge New Students At First Meeting

Kappa Phi, the Methodist young people's organization, held its first meeting Tuesday, October 24, at the Methodist church. Elizabeth Sutton had charge of the drama "Women in the Post-War World." Devotions were given by Marjorie Aeschliman.

The next cabinet meeting will be in Mrs. Mildred Bliss' office Wednesday, November 1 at 7 p. m.

Forty-five of the 65 present were informally pledged Sunday, October 22. Those pledged were: Margaret Arnold, June Beasley, Lois Beem, Sidney Buchanan, Jean Buchholz, Betty Campbell, Kathryn Campbell, Mavis Carlson, June Carnie, Donna Chapman, Marilyn Daigh, Mary DeKlotz, Blanche Fernsdorff, Carol Garner, Marian Hallock, Betty Handlin, Arlene Hoefner, Beverly Hubbell, Martha Hull, Peggy Jellison, Margaret Justice, Marilyn Kerby and Marie Chapman.

Others were Pauline Lundgren, Lois Meister, Marjorie Merideth, Sharon O'Donnell, Norma Ploss, Gerry Potter, Joyce Reddekopp, Barbara Reichert, Patsy Robinson, Maxine Roland, Haru Sakamoto, Dorothy Setter, Eleanor Steinmann, Catherine Tegarden, Gracie Thomas, Frances Tilly, Helen Turner, Frances Very, Marian Watanobe, Elizabeth Wetter, Fleta Williams and Jeroma Zach. The formal pledging is scheduled for Sunday, October 29, at 4:00 in the church.

Courageous Women Handle Cuddlesome Rodents

In the subterranean depths of Morrill Hall is held a class which many red-blooded males would claim could never exist. To visit the laboratory of this class is an education in itself! One sees sweet young things who probably would once have shuddered at the very thought, calmly feeding rats with eye droppers, petting them, calling them endearing names and thoroughly enjoying the entire procedure.

The title of this course is Principles of Nutrition. It was first offered at the University of Idaho in 1938 by tall, friendly Dr. W. M. Beeson of the animal husbandry department, who is still teaching it today. The course deals with the relationship of foods—proteins, fats, vitamins, minerals, etc.—to human and animal nutrition. Using rates or guinea pigs, each student undertakes to produce a recognized deficiency disease in his animals by withholding the elements of the diet necessary to prevent that disease. Rickets, scurvy, eye diseases, and even gray hair may be developed in the animals in four to six weeks. At the end of this time, the animals are mercifully put to sleep, and autopsies are performed. In normal times, ag majors made up the classes for the most part, but now 15 dietetics majors outnumber three lonely males.

At first the girls in the class are dubious about handling the little critters, but since they have to feed and water them daily and weigh them once a week, they soon can do this with only a mild mustering of courage. Before long, in fact, the girls find that their rats have charm and personality, and give them names honoring sweethearts, relatives, and friends. An attractive set of triplets, "Neva," "Nava," and "Reva," romp in a wire cage next to "Emmett," "Warren" and "Mortimer." Another long-tailed pair, "Bjleruben" and "Bileverdin" were more practically named in honor of two bile pigments.

Whatever else they may learn from this class, dietetics majors will leave the University of Idaho braver women for taking this interesting course.

Spooks And Spirits Suggest Theme For Week-end Social Events

Halloween will be the theme on the campus this week as far as social events are concerned. Although pumpkin faces and sheet-draped figures won't appear in windows, the week-end promises to be full of fun and entertainment.

The Gamma Phi Betas and Phi Delta Thetas will carry out the idea with their traditional exchange. Dancing will begin at 8 p. m. at the Phi Delt house.

Delta Delta Delta has planned a soldier exchange for Saturday night with Halloween decorations and refreshments of cider and doughnuts. Other women's groups entertaining members of the armed forces this week are Alpha Phi and Forney Hall.

Last night exchanges were held between Pi Beta Phi and Kappa Sigma, Delta Delta Delta and Sigma Chi, and Delta Gamma and Phi Gamma Delta.

Sunday dinner guests at the Pi Phi house were Dean Louise Carter and her daughter, Miss Florence Carter. Wednesday the sorority entertained at dinner. Ensign Kent Barber, formerly a Sigma Chi here.

Service Men Return
Visiting the Phi Gamma Deltas last week were Allan Gray, USN, now stationed in Colorado Springs, Colorado, and Jerry Hagedorn who left for Phoenix, Arizona, after having graduated from his pre-flight training in the air corps.

Ensign Willis Pottratz of Spokane will be a week-end visitor of Sigma Nu.

Sunday evening the Phi Delt pledge class will attend their annual dinner at the home of Dr. Frederic Church, their faculty advisor.

Dinner guests at the Gamma Phi Beta house on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. D. D. DuSault, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Peterson of Spokane, and Mrs. Wallace Parker of Twin Falls. Mrs. Eric Stafford of Vancouver, province director of Gamma Phi Beta, will be a guest at that house Wednesday through Sunday. The sorority has planned a founder's day fireside for Thursday night. Alumni from Moscow, Pullman, Lewiston and Genesee have been invited.

Mrs. John Dailey of Marsing, mother of Jack Dailey, Kappa Sigma, has been a guest of the Alpha Phis during her recent visit in Moscow.

Last Sunday Dean Louise Carter was a dinner guest at the Delta Delta Delta house. After dinner a program was given by Clara Rowell and Vivian McLaughlin.

Tri Delt pledges entertained members at a Halloween fireside on Monday night. After refreshments were served, the group gathered around the open fireplace and enjoyed a community sing.

Sunday dinner guests at Ridenbaugh Hall were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Banks, Mrs. E. J. Iddings, Margaret Thomas and Jane Meyer. Visiting her sister, Marilyn Kerby, of Hays Hall, for the past week has been Miss Francis Kerby of Cascade. Other week-end guests of Hays were Mary Valadon of Havre, Montana, and Margaret Thoma of Spokane.

Alpha Chi Omega entertained Saxon LaTurner at dinner last Sunday.

Evans Addresses Bio-Chemists

Dr. Earle Evans, Jr., chairman of the department of bio-chemistry at the University of Chicago, addressed the Washington-Idaho border section of the American Chemical society last Monday in Science 110. He spoke on the subject, "Carbon Dioxide Fixation in Animal Tissues."

Dr. Evans is an authority on the metabolism of carbohydrates and was awarded the Eli Lilly research award of the American Chemical Society in 1942 for his outstanding work in this field. At present, Dr. Evans and his research group are engaged in war work on malaria.

Blaze Succumbs to Resourceful Cider Sippers

Cider is an excellent substance for extinguishing fires. Just ask the Cardinal Keys! Sunday night when members celebrated Halloween with a weiner roast in the arboretum, they were compelled by circumstance to put the famous autumn beverage to a new use. Nine of the 14 members set out at 7 p.m. by the clear moonlight for a big evening of eating and singing. Former girl scouts and campfire girls of the group collaborated to produce a rather feeble blaze to roast the weiners. When watches pointed to eight, the levi-clad crew began to think about extinguishing the now vigorous bonfire.

It was then that the problem arose. Have you ever tried to smother a fire with pine needles? Cardinal Keys testify that it is highly unsuccessful. The activity women blew, stamped, and muttered, but still the sparks glowed. The situation was becoming critical. Members cast anxious glances at their watches as lockout time grew near.

At last the only solution grew evident. Nearly two gallons of fresh cider had been hoarded to drink before going home. Sighing regretfully, Cardinal Keys carefully annointed the fire so as not to waste a drop. The coals steamed, a delightful aroma of apple juice filled the air. The fire was out.

Ribbon Kids Elect Pledge Officers For School Year

After the hectic rush of pledging, freshman sorority women on the campus have settled down to electing the officers who will guide them through the fall semester.

Gamma Phi Beta pledges elected Janet Madsen to act as their president; Rozales Bogert, vice president; Jean Kettenbach, corresponding secretary; Dorothy McKee, treasurer; and Nancy Pieroni, song leader.

Betty Isendurg will lead the pledges of Alpha Chi Omega with Marilyn Daigh as secretary and Janile Copper, treasurer.

Alpha Phi pledges chose Bonnie Burnside for president; Arlene Hinchey, secretary-treasurer, and Eleanor Stelna, song leader.

Marilyn Williams has been elected president of the Delta Gamma freshman class with Jean Glenn acting as vice president and Elizabeth Glenn, secretary-treasurer.

Pledges of Kappa Alpha Theta elected Pat Bridewell, president; Madeline Maberly, vice president; Pat Harris, treasurer; and Annabel Moore, secretary.

Frances Rhea was chosen pledge president of Kappa Kappa Gamma; Jane Thompson, vice president; and Marjorie Reed, secretary-treasurer.

Delta Delta Delta pledges elected Clara Rowell as president, Donna Condie, secretary-treasurer; Mary Mansidor, social chairman; and Shirley Douglas, song leader.

Pi Beta Phi officers are Pat Burris, president; Jackie Ritchie, vice president; and Marion Eisenhauer, secretary-treasurer.

Women Plan Dates Of Pingpong, Soccer Tournaments

Tournaments hold the spotlight in news of WAA activities. The soccer tournament will be held from November 13 to 16. Team captains elected Wednesday night are Frances Marshall, seniors; Joella Gage, juniors; Lalene Cargill, sophomores; Jackie Ritchie, freshmen. Team members will be chosen on Monday, November 6, by the captains, soccer manager Patty Kulzer, and Miss Sanders, WAA advisor. However, if poor weather prevails, the teams will not be selected until Wednesday. In order to make a team each woman must have attended eight practices. Those put on their respective class teams will receive 100 points and those on color teams will earn 50 points.

The fall tennis tournament has been halted because of bad weather, announced Julein Paulson, tennis manager. It will be resumed as soon as the courts are in playing condition.

Approaching its climax is the women's golf tournament. Semi-finalists include Joella Gage, Vera Anderson, Olive Dittman and Jackie Ritchie.

Mary Lu Adamson, ping pong manager, revealed that over 100 women have signed up for the ping pong tournament. The games will be played from November 1 to November 20.

Ex-student Writes Book on Taxation

According to recent press releases, a former university student and faculty member, Warren A. Roberts of Gooding, is the author of a 400-page book, "State Taxation of Metallic Deposits." This book, published by the Harvard University Press, is the first on mine taxation to give the background of the state laws, to analyze the reasons for the changes within various states, and to relate political and economic conditions to the difference in state mine-tax legislation.

Dr. Roberts was an ardent student of taxation, and his doctoral thesis at Harvard was a history of taxation in Idaho. He received his masters degree at Idaho in 1928 and was instructor in the school of business administration here in 1929 and 1930.

At present, he is on leave of absence from his associate professorship in economics at Western Reserve university and is serving as a special assistant in the Department of State. Dr. Roberts is one of the nation's leading authorities on mine taxation and has acted as tax consultant to several state governments.

We wish to express our gratitude for the kindness shown us during the recent illness and death of our daughter and sister, Della Doumeccq. Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Domecq and Dorothy.

FRED WATSON, acting as judge, and Fred Kiper, portraying "Marrying Sam," view the 1944-45 Sadie Hawkins and L'I Abner candidates, Jackie Ritchie and Bob Gardner, victors of the race Saturday at the half of the game between Company A and the Idaho Vandals.

Idaho Students Will Assist In National WSSF Drive

With a goal of $500,000 and a staff of eight traveling secretaries, the 1944-45 campaign of the World Student Service Fund is well under way. "Never have we faced such needs," reports the fund's office in New York. "Our relief committees overseas could spend ten times as much as we can supply."

News from the China front is serious. The Japanese armies are continuing to advance in Southwest China, and destruction of universities which had already migrated four or five times is being told. Thousands of students continue to move westward, while many of them have been killed or captured in first attacks. One eye witness account tells of a Japanese attack at midnight, when the leader of the students was stabbed to death, trunks were opened, and all valuables taken. "After their departure there was much confusion, mourning for the innocent dead, crying over lost property, hatred, revenge, fear all mingled together." The task of the administering committee in China is greatly increased as it faces the emergency needs of thousands of students.

Much better news comes from Europe, as the beginnings of post-war programs are initiated through student services in liberated countries. Two staff members are now in France, and have opened a rehabilitation home for 100 French students in the Savoie mountains. A representative of the French student resistance movement is already working in the Geneva office. Plans are being made for the first student relief workers from overseas to go to Europe.

The program among prisoners of war keeps its primary place in the European student relief program. Despite disrupted communications in Germany, thousands of books go each month from Geneva to individual prisoners. This work must continue long after V-E day, for the repatriation process will be slow.

For two years the W.S.S.F. has been aiding American students of Japanese ancestry here in this country.

"There is no doubt that American students can raise $500,000 for the relief of their fellow students who are victims of war. They can raise more than that if they set their minds to it!" says President Meta Glass of Sweet Briar College, President of the World Student Service Fund.

Although definite plans have not yet been announced, a W.S.S.F. drive will be started on the Idaho campus in the near future. It is hoped that Idaho will cooperate 100 per cent with the student leaders here in contributing to this wartime program.

At a meeting of the engineers' council, Howard Kambitsch was elected president for the coming year. Raymond Dill will act as editor of "The Idaho Engineer," a yearly publication, with Harvey Hemingway, business manager. H. E. Hatrup was named as faculty advisor.

Plans were made for a smoker to be held this evening at 7:30 p. m. in the armory. Jack Tallent is in charge of refreshments, with Harvey Hemingway in charge of entertainment.

GammaPhi Reveals Coming Marriage

Miss Mary Cosho, Gamma Phi Beta, disclosed last Wednesday at a candlelight dinner that she will leave school this week to marry Air Cadet Jack Haymond. After a November wedding, the couple plan to make their home in California.

Cadet Haymond was a senior at the University of Idaho in mechanical engineering and was affiliated with Delta Tau Delta fraternity. Miss Cosho, a junior in home economics, has been active in many campus activities including Minute Maids, Home Economics club, Phi Upsilon Omicron, and Canterbury. Both Miss Cosho and Cadet Haymond are from Boise.

She: "Fresh, who said you could kiss me?"
He: "Everybody."

Kappas, SAI Honor Singer Tonight

Elizabeth Bollinger will be welcomed back to the Idaho campus this evening with a formal reception at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house, following her recital at the university auditorium. Kappa Kappa Gamma and SAI will act as co-hostesses for the affair. During her two years of musical study here, Miss Bollinger was a member of the musical group and the sorority.

Members of music faculty, Miss Bollinger's party, and patrons and patronesses of Kappa Kappa Gamma and SAI have been invited to the reception.

Joy Ferguson, general chairman, has named committees who will plan for the event. Assisting her with refreshments are Pat Hagan, Dorothy Van Engelen, Enid Almquist, Jeanne Edwards, Margaret Gorman and Mary Holden. On the decorations committee are Tibi Rufinot, Joanne Hudelson and Eileen Quinn.

DAVIDS'

SPORT SHORTS

By TOM RYAN

To John Cermack goes credit for bringing Idaho Civics through to the mythical school championship. Big John, who played guard for the university under the late Francis A. Schmidt, was taskmaster for the Idaho team which ran past Company A Saturday in pursuit of the campus title.

John received his high school training in Lapwai, where he played center on the football team. His next step in the academic field was to Lewiston Normal. At Lewiston, Cermack was coached by George Green, who was later to become athletic director at the university.

John Cermack

Worked Under Green
Since leaving the university in 1942, John has been teaching at Sandpoint and serving in the capacity of superintendent at Peck.

Teaching is John's chosen profession, which is the reason we find the ex-Vandal working for his master's degree. On the side, he manages to work with the athletic staff for a few hours each day. It was in connection with his work in the physical ed. department that he managed to pull his winning football team out of the hat.

Believe It Or Not

While on the subject of football, who would believe that Ned Stewart never made a touchdown before last Saturday. It's a fact. He played four years of high school ball without seeing an end zone. That 70-yard dash to pay dirt Saturday didn't look like amateur stuff, nor did the pass interception which he took 20 yards for another td.

Tiny

Another interesting sidelight on the football picture—Ed Bybee nearly gave up the idea of playing this fall because he couldn't get shoes to fit. He finally found a pair of fives which he claims were a little "large."

WSC Runs

Congrats to Washington State on their crosscountry turnout. With these men competing in the big race at Spokane on Thanksgiving Day, Inland Empire fans will see runners from all major schools in this area.

Navy Surprises

Coach Wally Schultz came up with a good crosscountry team Saturday and was just edged out by this university. The sailors were running without their best man or the Vandals would have had to be satisfied with second. This week the navy will be at full strength against a weaker Idaho. Weaker because Dave Stidolph, a promising runner, failed to finish last week and hasn't been heard from since.

Reports from the maple courts have it that eight Moscow men are trying for berths on the university quintet. That should merit the support of the local fans.

Unofficial, but quite reliable sources inform us of the death of Bob White. White, you might remember, is the boy we mentioned a few weeks ago who turned down a field commission so that he might remain with his buddies. White was a distance runner for Idaho.

Wethern Recalls

Bob Wethern, who does the spotting for the Idahoian, wrote a swell column about EHS. Mike Sullivan Tuesday night. Said Wethern: "Most Idaho basketball fans remember Mike as a rubber-legged little guy who in the early '40s confounded conforming casabans by connecting from the most awkward positions. The Spotter himself remembers one shot by Mike on which he was all but horizontal on the floor before letting fly."

Crowd Pleaser

Reading Wethern's column brought to mind many stories that could be told about Mike Sullivan. Hot Steve leaguers still like to talk about his shooting and dribbling ability on the basketball floor. Mike was a natural crowd pleaser, not a show off. The further he was from the basket the more likely he was to make his shots good. And the way he would shoot! There was no regard for "form" in a basketball sense; his shots were more like baseball throws, and they were accurate.

Mike was five years the senior of any player on the team and he appreciated the humor of the thing more than those who used to kid him about it. On the road trips Mike was mistaken for the coach by hotel clerks, waitresses, etc., and came in for some ribbing when he was handed the bills for board and room.

Novel Idea

We have heard that Mike and some friends are now trying to get the Navy to have a picked crew of Irishmen man a destroyer to aid the old "Fighting 69th" regiment (now the 165th) in all their future Pacific engagements. With Mike pushing the thing don't be surprised if it materializes!

Pneumonia Takes Idaho Educator

Miss Bernice McCoy, 66, professor of education, director of placement, head of non-resident instruction at the University of Idaho, and former state superintendent of public instruction, died at St. Joseph's hospital in Lewiston October 14 after a two weeks' illness. Death came as a result of pneumonia and a resultant heart attack.

Miss McCoy was born near Mitchell, Oregon, August 21, 1878. Immediately upon leaving college, Miss McCoy was elected state superintendent. She served as dean of women at the North Idaho Teachers college and has been a member of the University of Idaho faculty since 1919.

Interested in university affairs, Miss McCoy was an active member of the Moscow Business & Professional Women's club and the American Association of University Women.

Funeral services were held at the Federated church in Lewiston October 17, with interment in the Normal Hill cemetery at Lewiston.

"I hear you were rejected again because of your feet."
"Yes."
"I have musical feet. They have classified me as B-flat."
"It certainly is a sad note!"

Honorary Elects New Officers

Gerry Merrill was elected president of the Spurs at a general meeting last Wednesday. Other officers elected were Ethel Jane Kopelman, vice president; Betty Ann Craggs, secretary; Ora White, treasurer; Eileen Quinn, historian; Lalene Cargill, song leader; Joyce McMahon, editor; Jane Meyer, junior advisor; Mrs. E. J. Marty, adviser.

Idaho Chapter of Spurs initiated 26 new members Sunday afternoon at the Pi Beta Phi house, according to Gerry Merrill, president. During the initiation, new members received pins and emblems. To start their year, the Spurs were at the football game Saturday, October 21, leading the rally and selling popcorn and candy.

Civilians Take Football Championship With Outstanding Performance

John Cermack's Civilians took the finale from Company A Saturday for the mythical school championship after a touchdown packed final quarter. Ned Stuart did most of the fancy stepping for the Civiles featuring a 70 yard run and a pass interception for two of the Idaho touchdowns.

Scoring opened in the first period when left end Wally Warner, Spokane, got loose for 26 yards and 6 points for the Civiles on an end-around. The Idaho team held this lead until the final period when Company A capitalized on a blocked punt on the Civiles '19. Here quarterback Dean Barth pitched one to right end Lanie Farrell for a touchdown. Fullback Jasper Munson's try for point was good and the Soldiers were ahead, 7-6.

It took the Civilians about three minutes to make up the deficit and they did it with the longest run of the game. Cliff Streeter, fullback from Coeur d'Alene, shot a short flat pass to Ned Stewart on the Army thirty yard whence Stewart went the distance to put Idaho ahead again. "Tiny" Frank Viro (235 lbs.) from Spokane added the extra point and the scoreboard read 13-7 for the Civiles.

Time was running out and the soldiers were throwing desperation passes, one of which the fleet-footed Stewart got his hands on and carried over for Idaho. Dick Hester's pass was meant for fullback Marvin Carr, but Stewart got there first and made it pay off. A bad pass from center didn't help Viro's try for point and the score remained 19 to 7.

Come Back

Company A wasn't out of the game yet and they proved it by connecting for a touchdown with a pass from Dixie Basile to Vern Malan. After the completion Malan went 39 yards on his own. Munson's pass for the point was blocked and the game for the afternoon was over.

Civilians were without the services of left half Ed Bybee during most of the last half. Bybee was the big inspiration in the ground gaining department for the first half, and Bybee was the big factor in Idaho's tie with Co. B last week.

Idaho's line play was largely responsible for the victory. Company A had the best potential backfield but they didn't get far when they ran into guys like Frank Viro in the Idaho forward wall.

In Basile, Barth, Munson, Malan and Carr, Company A had the most versatile backfield of the two teams. Any one of these men were capable of going places if they were allowed to get loose.

Coach J. A. Brown supervised the program which sponsored these games and he was assisted by Bill Ramsey and John Cermack of the athletic department. Mr. Brown said the three game schedule was completely successful in that it gave the students and soldiers something to do and it gave the fans some hope of seeing regular Idaho teams roam the gridirons again.

In fact, Coach Brown is anticipating fielding a regular Vandal team next fall to go into competition with the other colleges of the northwest.

Three Sororities Hold Initiation

Three Idaho sororities have recently held their fall initiations. Maizie McClaren, Lorraine Brassfield and Adalain Taft were initiated into Alpha Phi last week.

New members of Alpha Chi Omega are Geraldine Luce and Mary Louise Field. Norene Wallace and Elizabeth Halin of the WSC chapter were present at the initiation.

Denise Magnuson and Artys Powell were initiated into Kappa Kappa Gamma Thursday.

Dinners were given for all initiates.

First Practice Reveals 28 Promising Players

Twenty-eight men answered Babe Brown's call to the maple courts this week and though it is too soon to make predictions the Idaho team, after a week's practice, shapes up as one which will be fast and aggressive. The Vandals lack the height which they have had in past years but expect to make up for it in speed and shooting ability.

Three lettermen from last year's third place team will be missed, but Coach Brown views the situation as far from hopeless. Jay Gano, Dale Ablin and Tom Collins who graduated can be capably replaced when the newcomers catch onto the Idaho system.

Darwin Brown, who was being counted on to do some ball hawking this season, might not be able to report. Brown is a letterman from last year's team who was a power on the backboards and usually the one to come with a free ball. If Brown is able to report at all it will be late in the season.

9 Moscow Men

Nine Moscow men answered the initial call; of these, John Taylor, Bob O'Connor, Bob Smith, Whitey Nelson, Bill Shull and Earl Naylor will be pushing the lettermen for starting posts. Taylor is already being groomed to fill the shoes of Jay Gano at center.

Bill Carbaugh and Lenny Pyne of Spokane and starters on last year's team are quite sure of holding down their positions, but Babe Brown said every position is open to be filled by the most capable man, regardless of previous service. Paul Olson, who worked his way into a starting position last season, is going to be pressed for his starting post by the first year men.

Bob Smith of Moscow is an old pupil of Babe Brown's and knows the ins and outs of Brown's style of play. Smith attended the Nazarene college in Nampa for two years and was a starter on their basketball and baseball teams. Smith is a good all-around man and might work his way into one of the starting spots.

28 Turn Out

Brown released the following names which comprise the team roster: Bill Carbaugh, Spokane; Paul Olson, Pierce; Len Pyne, Spokane; Darwin Brown, Blackfoot; Rich Morse, Los Angeles; Chuck Schiferl, Boise; Chuck Henderson and Bob Pierce, Kellogg; Jeff Overholser, Spokane; Keith Finlyson and Oscar Orstein, Murver; Bart Chamberlain, Coeur d'Alene; John Taylor, Bill Shull, Bob O'Connor, Bob Smith, Max Call, Dale Nelson, Earl Naylor, Steve Shelton and Bill Helmsworth of Moscow; Jack Boder, Hollywood; Frank Gale, Boise; Harry Heath, Bob Neune, Ronald Kilborn, Council; Dick McKevitt, Spokane and Jack Anderson, Sandpoint.

Miss Markland was a sophomore at the university last year and is affiliated with the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Pvt. Inness-Brown is attending Idaho at present as a pre-med student under the Army program.

The wedding has been set for December.

U. Enrollment Rises

To date, 856 students have registered at the University of Idaho, D. D. DuSault, registrar, announced Wednesday. This number represents 10 more than were enrolled this time last year, he said. "Enrollment this year seems to be holding its own," the registrar pointed out, adding that for the last several years it has gone down.

Idaho Track Team Wins Cross-Country Meet

Running their first crosscountry meet of the season in triangular tourney with the Naval and Moscow High teams, Idaho emerged the victor. Individual honors went to Idaho's Jack Anderson, who negotiated the hilly 2.2-mile course in the good time of 12:12. Don Napean of Moscow High finished strongly in the runner-up spot, some 300 yards behind. The second Idaho harrier to finish was Art Humphrey, who garnered the seventh place points.

Navy Makes Bid

It was one of the most thrilling team races run in recent years, with the lead changing several times. A strong Navy squad consistently bid for the victory, but could do no better than a tie with Moscow High for second place.

Anderson Leads

Mike Ryan's harriers, harnessed by the lack of experience, stayed with the pack from the start of the race, then with one mile remaining moved into scoring positions, to give Idaho a well deserved victory. Anderson took over the lead on the top of the first hill, and after fighting off a determined bid by one of the Navy runners, he opened up a lead of 150 yards at the mile and a half mark, and finished the race far out in front. The ability of Tom Kauffman to finish in 12th place ahead of Wood of the Navy team, gave the Vandals the final points needed for the team victory. Gordon Meacham, and Oaks were the other point scorers for the Idaho squad.

Victory Hungry

With the first taste of victory under their belts, the Idaho hill and dalers will be a tough team to beat this season.

Next Saturday they'll go to the starting line against a stronger Navy team, and the Washington state squad. The next few dual and triangular meets should give the Vandal harriers experience enough to be a serious threat to

Miss Ritchie Tells Of Convention

Miss Margaret Ritchie, head of the home economics department, arrived Sunday night from Chicago, where she attended the twenty-seventh annual convention of the American Dietetic association. Representatives from all phases of the dietetics field and a large number of army dietitians were present.

Emphasis was placed on the importance of food management in hospitals, collective and industrial feeding programs, and community organization. Discussions of professional education were based on the study of college courses offered in food and nutrition. Miss Ritchie said that a most effective method of demonstrating the need for further national education on the subject of foods was directed by Dr. Walter Wilkins, U. S. department of public health. Dr. Wilkins conducted nutrition clinic demonstrations.

Former university students attending the convention were Pauline Brady, now a dietitian at Holmes hospital, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Phyllis Lowe Reed, student dietitian at Michael Reese hospital in Chicago.

British Columbia in the Coast championships on Thanksgiving day. Geiger field will be represented by former track stars Lt. George Reese from the University of Maryland, and Lt. Philip Compston of Virginia Poly Tech. It's Mike Ryan's aim to have the title back in the United States on Turkey day.

Coach Issues Call For Swimmers

Coach Bill Ramsey, today, issued a call for all swimming enthusiasts to report to the gym at 4:30 this afternoon so that a swimming program can be outlined.

Last year Idaho was the only school in the Northern Division with a team, but they lacked a schedule to go with it. Ramsey said the other schools were trying to form teams so there could be a collegiate schedule.

If enough students attend the meeting this evening, regular training schedules will be arranged. Since there are no holdovers from last year every position on the team is open.

Everyone with aquatic talent or interest is urged to attend the meeting.
