

The GOLDEN FLEECE

The Idaho Argonaut

VOL. 49, NO. 21 THE IDAHO ARGONAUT, Official Publication of the ASUI THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1945

For two issues now students have snatched the freshly printed Argonauts from hall tables, turned eagerly to page two, and have slumped in glum disappointment when no Mulberry was found.

Obituary

To you who have followed the doing of Billie, Darwin, and Lennie from week to week with breathless interest, we wish to break this news—Mulberry is a dead bush. We have drawn curtains about the goldfish bowl existence of the select little group who wandered through the column.

Frankly, we're a little bored with Mulberry. The campus has shrunk—Mulberry was nothing but a well-tapped party line for small campus gossip. Not that we hope that Mulberry's death will keep people from being interested in others' affairs. It's just that the Argonaut would like to keep its ears clean.

For the "Elite"

More important, the "Bush" as it existed was not representative of the entire campus. It was written by one person, who could not, and through no fault of her own, manage to gather tidbits that would be of interest to anything except a small segment of the student body.

The "Bush" was a convenient way of finding out which persons in this set were intent on swapping romantic partners, or looking for someone else to include in their gay capers with Dan Cupid.

Other than this group (Jason counted one campus Don Juan who was in three weeks in succession, and each time with a different victim) the vast majority of the students were left in the dark. The "Bush" to them was nothing but a lot of eyewash.

Free Publicity

The main complaint is coming from those persons who stood a remote chance of being mentioned in the "Bush." They resent having their source of publicity shut off.

There are others, however, and they are in the majority, who also take part in campus life, but have remained in the background because their "love life" is more stable.

Substitute

There is more transpiring on the campus than the exchanging of fraternity pins and being "seen" with a cute Chi O from Washington State college. There are other incidents, amusing and ordinary, that happen to other people which henceforth will receive some mention in the Argonaut.

These items will not be in column fashion. They will be placed throughout the paper and those looking for their name will have to hunt for it.

So, we're not printing Mulberry any more. Any complaints? Some fiery letters to the editors are just what we need to brighten our next issue. (Type them double spaced, please.)

The arrival of George Denman on the campus next week to take over the newly established veterans' office in the university classroom building, will do much to enhance the university in the eyes of the veterans now enrolled.

Although Mr. Denman is primarily serving North Idaho, he will be something to which a confused veteran can turn. He should be able to offer constructive aid of the more personal type than the rush and bustle of university life affords.

The foundation of a veteran's program is being laid with the installation of this office. The ground work can be accomplished when 75 veterans are on the campus to prepare for the advent of, perhaps, hundreds.

Strange rumors abound on the campus concerning the dyeing of hair by men students.

Jason pursued one of the rumors through the administration building early this week to the effect that one male student had been called in by the registrar's office to have his identograph taken.

When confronted by the photographer, the student balked, claiming that his hair was really blond, not the raven black that he had dyed it. He asserted that he needed time to go home and rinse it out.

DANCE

All university students have been invited to attend a post-game dance Saturday evening at the Women's gymnasium on the Washington State college campus in Pullman.

ASUI President Fred Watson received an invitation from WSC this week.

Those in charge declared that dateless women are welcome.

Knights Initiate 10 New Men

Ten first-year men were initiated Sunday morning by Inter-Collegiate Knights at the annual initiation ceremony, held at the Kappa Sigma house.

Members Named

Bob Gardner, Alex Swanson, Jim Pierce, Jim Mann, John Mast, Earl Naylor, Dick Morrison, Warren Harvey, Kenneth Goldsby, and Gene Miller were listed as the new members.

Herb Rees, duke of the Idaho chapter last year, assisted with the ceremony.

Plans are being made for a social dinner, Sumner Johnson, duke, announced.

Dale Meets With State Educator

Increases in in-service teacher training in schools throughout the state and expansion of non-resident courses in the school of education are being considered by the university, according to President Harrison C. Dale, who returned early this week from Boise.

He conferred with State Superintendent of Public Instruction G. C. Sullivan while in Boise, discussing the possibility of the two programs.

Mr. Sullivan has urged the university to increase in-service training by sending members of the school of education to high schools throughout the state to aid teachers, and has asked that non-resident instruction courses be expanded in number to afford state educators more opportunities for further training.

Journalists Leave For Field Trip

Dr. W. F. Swindler, head of the university journalism department, announced this week that members of the News Editing class will leave March 20 on a field trip to Boise to put out one edition of the Daily Statesman.

Members will return March 24, Dr. Swindler said.

Students to Hold Pajama Rally For Campus Pep

With pajamas the style, cheer leaders will sponsor a pep rally this evening at 6:45 to arouse enthusiasm for the week-end Idaho-WSC games.

Beginning at the student union, the rally will wind through the campus with pajama-clad fans joining at each house.

Early Dinner

Dinner at all group houses will be held at 5:30 to make possible an early start for the rally.

Mary Holden, yell queen, urged wide campus attendance for the event which precedes the last conference games of the Idaho basketball season.

Following the rally will be dancing at the student union. Freshmen women have been given 8 p.m. permission by Mrs. Louise Carter, dean of women.

Formerly a tradition on the campus, the pajama rally has not been held for the past few years.

I. R. Club Chooses Ada Mae Rich

Ada Mae Rich was chosen new president of International Relations club at an election February 16.

Other club officials will be appointed by Miss Rich in the near future.

A movie of New England was the main feature of the meeting held last Friday night. Before the movie Dr. Boyd A. Martin led a discussion on recent developments in the controversy over presidential appointments. Robert E. Hosack then spoke on the three-power conference in Yalta.

Because of the Washington State college game tomorrow night, the regular meeting will be shortened to a brief resume of current news events by Dr. Martin and Dr. Hosack.

The meeting will be held in the Student Union ballroom at 7:30 p.m.

Idaho Students Fined In Pullman

G. M. Riddle, Boise, and W. A. Shaw, Orofino, were fined $25 each and costs in Pullman Monday after pleading guilty to stealing gasoline in the Washington city early Sunday morning.

The other men, both juveniles, were fined $10.

The hearing was held before Justice of the Peace J. O. Adams, Pullman.

Professor Resigns To Accept Navy Commission

Edward M. Shealy, assistant professor of law since 1940, last week announced his resignation from the law school staff to accept a commission as lieutenant, junior grade, in the navy.

Mr. Shealy left Friday for Washington, D. C., where he will be stationed in the office of scientific research and development to do patent and legal work on secret weapons.

From Wisconsin He graduated in 1935 from the University of Wisconsin in chemical engineering and in 1938 he graduated with honors from the same school in law. Before coming to the Idaho campus he was an attorney with the Aluminum company of America.

Other Subjects In addition to his law subjects he has, since 1943, been teaching physics and mathematics to army students stationed here.

Pendleton Howard, dean of the university law school, announced that no one would be named to replace Mr. Shealy.

Women Sing

The All Girl Singing Orchestra will present a half hour concert over KFPY at 5:15 this afternoon. This is the first broadcast of the singing orchestra, Alvah A. Beecher, director, said.

Displaying their drooping tresses for the Argonaut cameraman are Marjorie Ring, Earl Miller and Marion Kittleson. They are representative of the "Full Hitler" hair style that has swept over the campus.

Cuties Cut Up—And Off

By BETTE FAYE SOLBERG

"To have or not to have, that is the question!" Anyhow, I decided to tramp around and find out just what the various guys and gals thought of the new "bang, bang" hair-dos. Oh, what they think!

After looking up the meaning of "bang" in good old Webster's dictionary, I find out—quote "to cut short and squarely across, as front hair or a horse's tail," unquote. Yep, that fits into the thoughts of many of our campus cut-ups.

Going whole hog on this slashing of curly locks were the Alpha Chis who say that 27 out of their roll of 40 now have drooping crew cuts. Asking a few of them why they ever DID IT and how they feel about it now brought up many amusing remarks.

Marg Ring: "One of the gals looked good in bangs so thought I would try it. Now I wish I had some Scotch tape to put the hair back on. I just can't do a thing with it."

Marion Krussman: "I cut them but I don't think much of 'em. A fad's a fad, you know."

Ann Washaw: "I think it's cute and breaks the monotony of things."

Eleanor Gist: "I hate it. I think it's revolting because so few girls have the face for it!"

More Opinions Some men have their own opinions on this vital subject, and when asked just how they fall for the chopping block idea on their favorite gals—well, here it is.

Leroy Beeson: "If they would have lived 3,000 years ago, they would have driven all the little Egyptian boys to drinking spiced Papyrus juice and see pink pyramids; but as it is only a fad which isn't hair to stay!"

Jim Fieroni: "I suppose it's all right on some of them. It all depends on the gal."

Fred Kelper: "I hardly know what to say—"

Bud Brown with exclamations following each word: "I think it's wonderful. No foolin', I like it!"

Howard Kaufman: "It's rather attractive and causes lots of attention."

And then there are those who "just haven't noticed" like Kyle Bates.

Merlyn Churchill has quite an idea about the fad. She thinks "that the gals are copying the idea from the Sigma Nus who started this hair cutting business."

Bowl Cuts Kathryn Kenagy: "Well, it kind of takes me back to my childhood days of the good old bowl hair cuts."

Marilyn Williams: "It's pretty silly but cute."

Lalene Cargill: "All I have to say is that I wish they'd stay out of the weather."

Helen Collins: "It's easier to keep up, and I get this urge every February. Guess I'll wear it this way until someone tells me differently."

Now for the opinion of the one and only man who decided to try it for himself and see just what the novelty of it all was.

Earl Miller: "I think it looks pretty silly so I cut my hair just to show how silly it does look. I wanted to prove that I could do the gals one better."

Marion Kittleson says this with a note of regret: "I wish I hadn't cut it. I did it just for a change!"

So that's that. Take a look around you and decide for yourself whether this business is going over with a bang—Oh, what a pun.

Spokane To Hear Entertainment From Orchestra

The All-Girl Singing Orchestra left Monday for Spokane to present their Musical Varieties program before military and civic audiences.

The primary purpose of the trio is to entertain servicemen.

A. A. Beecher

Two Performances

The scheduled programs included two performances at Geiger Field Monday and an appearance Tuesday before the Early Birds Breakfast club in Spokane, at which time they were featured with the distinguished actress, Ruth Draper.

Wednesday, the group presented a short program at a luncheon meeting of the Spokane Ad club. During the afternoon, they appeared at Fort George Wright and later at Galena airport.

Radio Program

Scheduled for today are appearances before the Lions club of Spokane, a program to be broadcast over KFPY at 5 p. m. and a final program at Baxter general hospital. The orchestra is expected to make recordings after their radio program.

The women will return to the campus tomorrow.

Idaho Debaters To Attend Annual Meet In Oregon

With the triangular debate series trophy resting in the hands of Idaho debaters, the university team will attend the annual forensic meet of Linfield College, McMinnville, Ore., March 8, 9 and 10. Students from Pacific Northwest schools will participate.

ASUI to Entertain WSC Officials At Dinner Dance

Members of the Washington State college board of control and the ASUI executive board will gather March 10 at the Hotel Moscow for their annual dinner dance, according to officials here.

The exchange dinner dance has been held each spring for several years. Last year it was staged in Pullman.

Committee in charge of arranging for the dance are Lucille Cummins, Jean Ferry, dinner; Ralph Joslyn, Billie Keeton, programs; Beverly Weber, Elaine Thomas, invitations; Eloise Deobold, Barbara Ravenscroft, entertainment; Reed Fife, music.

Those in charge have estimated that approximately 50 couples will attend.

Spur's 'Nickle Hop' Set For April 17

Jeanne Parker was appointed chairman of the annual Spur "Nickle Hop" which will be held Saturday evening, April 7. Miss Parker was appointed at the weekly meeting of Spurs Friday night, and tentative plans were also made for the dance.

Open House Open house will be held by the sororities and women's halls, and dancing will be the entertainment of the evening.

Washington State college Spurs have extended an invitation to the Idaho Spurs to be their guests for the last basketball game of the season on March 3.

Prior to the game, Spurs will be entertained at dinner by various houses on the WSC campus.

Coeds To Make Up Slate For A.W.S. Candidates

University women will hear the slate of candidates for Associated Women Students offices read Thursday evening at a meeting to be held at 7 p. m. in the small ballroom of the Blue Bucket. Further nominations may be made at that time from the floor.

Jane Meyer New WAA Head; Other Officers Named

Jane Meyer is the newly elected president of the Women's Athletic Association.

The defeated candidate for president, Joella Gage, automatically assumes the position of vice president.

These two women, elected by WAA members last Friday, will lead the organization in its varied activities for the spring and fall semesters of 1945.

Executive Board Other major positions on the executive board were also filled last Friday. Selected were: Helen Morfitt, treasurer; LaRaine Stewart, recording secretary; Olive Dittman, soccer manager; Madelyn Sanberg, volleyball manager; Lalene Cargill, tennis manager; Phyllis Wheeler, golf manager; Bonnie Burnside, ping pong manager; Audrey Hartman, shuffleboard.

Meeting Held At a meeting held February 21 for the purpose of hearing nominations, unanimous ballots were cast for Kay Beaver as leisure points recorder, Pat Kulzer as secretary-historian, and Helen Moulton, as archery manager.

Installation The new officers were installed by outgoing President Ruth Leth at a general meeting of WAA members held Wednesday evening.

Because AWS election is one of the most important of the year, all university women are urged to make for their choices. The officers of AWS supervise and promote affairs of the university women.

Plans Go Forward For Spinster Hop

Plans for Mortar Board's annual Spinster Hop are well under way, announced Mary Magnus, Mortar Board president, yesterday. Date of the dance is Saturday, March 10, from 2:30 to 5 p. m.

Tickets for the woman-ask-man affair will go on sale in women's group houses Monday.

Tuesday and Wednesday evening's Mortar Board members will present a skit during the dinner hour, entitled "A Good Man is Hard to Find, But!"

Committee chairmen are Francis Marshall, program; Elaine Thomas and Jean Bruins Ferry, advertising; Ruth Leth, tickets; Elaine Thomas and Mary Magnus, orchestra; and Billie Keeton, ballroom.

Minute Maids Hold Competitive Drive

Sales of war bonds and stamps are expected to soar today when Minute Maids begin a new drive featuring inter-house competition.

In charge of the two-month drive is Fidelia Zabala, president of the group.

To indicate progress of the sales a thermometer will be placed in the main hall of the administration building. The thermometer will rise with the purchase of $10 worth of stamps within a house.

Sponsored by the national organization which started in Boise, the drive is part of the numerous programs to increase sales of stamps and bonds.

Group houses winning the competition will be announced by the Minute Maids at the end of the drive.

Dr. Beeson Makes Tour Of Idaho

Returning recently to the campus after conducting farm institute lectures in southern Idaho was Dr. William M. Beeson, associate professor of animal husbandry.

During his tour Dr. Beeson spoke at Preston, Downey, and Grace to audiences of farming and agricultural men which averaged between 200 and 275 in attendance.

Purpose of the one-day institutes is to benefit the agricultural interests of the state.

"DOWN THE STREET with laughter and shout, glad in the freedom of 'school let out,' came the boys like a flock of sheep." Anyone who has been in the vicinity of the North stail's of the administration building at 11:50 a. m. will recognize at once that we quote the grade school poem in reference to the departure of ASTR students from the halls of learning.

Starting from the third floor of the building, they burst from the classrooms, attain the first floor in a matter of seconds and run as fast as their 17-year-old legs can carry them down the long walk which leads to Lindley hall.

We recognize that the ASTR is held down by a strict schedule, that moments of freedom are few. Undoubtedly they look forward to being able to "stretch their legs" when the noon bell rings. Their eagerness to reach the lunch set out for them by Lindley hall cooks speaks well of the food served.

But innocent bystanders who have been caught in the noon rush, view this 500-yard dash with several hundred participants with honest apprehension. Those who don't flatten themselves against the wall to give the army right of way risk being rudely jostled. Instead of marching (or even walking) in an orderly column, the army sets out like a cross country team on a practice run.

Do the last men through the mess line go hungry? Is this stampede part of a game to see who can have the honor of being the first through the line? We admit their conduct is understandable, but it shows a lack of consideration for others and, in our opinion, is unworthy of the dignity of the uniform they wear.

MISLEADING AND INADEQUATE were the terms used in an article appearing in a recent issue of a national magazine to describe the education system of the nation. The report is neither the first nor the last in a long series of debate and controversy of which we, as the direct recipients of the educational system, are all too familiar!

Walter Lippman writes: "We have established a system of education in which we insist that while everyone must be educated, yet there is nothing in particular what an educated man must know."

Few students upon receiving their degrees have mastered even the essential elements of the social and economic principles which they are expected to regulate and advance. But elements and facts are not practical application. And ability for practical application is, in most cases, the desired result of an education. Applying this theory, it is not difficult to recognize the reason for the failure and limitations of our education.

In effect, therefore, practical application and experience are necessary beforehand in our present educational system if a student is to completely understand and become interested in any subject.

Teachers have found that pupils who have been associated during an interval between high school and college with business or some other practical pursuit are more easily able to comprehend subjects taught in universities.

In our times, however, for most of us this is an impossibility—formal education would be spread over too long a period, more than a high school education is required by employers in many fields and, in general, this plan would be met by limited cooperation.

What, then, is the solution to this problem of inadequate education? The need for a remedy has led, in recent years, to the growth of schools in which students are taught theory for part of the year and are employed for the remainder of the time in order that they may apply what they have learned. This can be only a partial solution, though, and one which would take years of reorganization to establish on a permanent basis.

There is a need for a better plan—one which would affect the University of Idaho as much as Columbia or other schools of wide reputation.

Current affairs have taken care of the need in part. Men returning to classrooms from war have been in contact with human nature and have seen the practical application of theory. This is an unnatural situation, however, and cannot be regarded as a solution.

As long as theory is divorced from practice there will be no immediate solution. Can we, as the educators of tomorrow, devise a workable plan which will cement theory and application? It's food for thought.

Grad Leads Attack On Berchtesgaden

A graduate of the university, Maj. John L. Beck of Post Falls, last week unknowingly led the first attack of the war on Hitler's retreat, Berchtesgaden.

He, along with six other Thunderbolt pilots, had been instructed to look for trains in that region and were unaware that they were over the famous mountain hideout.

Major Beck, 25, graduated in 1940 with a degree in agriculture.

He is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Chomphing At The Bitt

By JERS

The big new fat semester is now underway as the records go but for some of the population making changes it's still somewhat of a jumble. Then there are the apparent changes that seem to indicate many very different things. Take the administration building smoker for example. A scan at the census enumeration would seem to show that the ratio of girls has increased to 8 to 1 with a general decrease in both total numbers. Perhaps, though, it's just the cigarette shortage, with the girls having the upper hand (or rather quantity) since there are more of them who know soldiers and sailors than we men do WACs and WAVES.

Speaking of changes, wonder what the percentage of students is who change schools, majors, and dating status in one semester? Guess those three categories would include most of us.

Went in to see Dean Eldridge the other day but missed connections all around. In covering the fraternities, the Betas are not to be left out and without the good dean's sphere of influence it would not do the boys justice. Anyway evidently quite a knack is needed to get to see some of our boys, for he kept being "out . . . O-U-T meaning 'not in'". Class scheduled in the time table for that particular period but . . . come to think of it . . . it was last year's time schedule. Yes, times do change. To find his office room number I dropped in to see somebody's secretary (woops . . . that's giving away trade-knacks) and hence to the third floor. Thereupon finding he had no afternoon classes and patriotically stayed at home till time for the big meeting with our big prexie. So I'll keep on file such information gained until a later press time.

The library has returned to normal after a pre-quiz rush lasting about 10 hours a day for three weeks. It's good to be able to go in now without a priority or reservation. Good that is except for a little fresh grinding away at the pencil sharpener.

It's fine to see old Chrisman opening again with the civics taking over. It will offer a lot of competition to the fraternities and then it brings the independents a block nearer to the hum of the campus.

Back to the old grind after a big Senior Ball which we hope gives an indication of dances to come.

CALENDAR

Friday: Cardinal Key meetings will be held on Fridays at 5:10 p. m. instead of Thursday afternoons as regularly scheduled.

Thrills, Excitement Prevail As Spinster Skip Nears

Sharpen up the cleats on your track shoes, men, avoid the phone booth as you would a house quarantined with the screaming jebbies. You may have escaped capture during leap year in 1944, but the Spinster's Skip is rolling around when the upper state university females declare open season on all and sundry of the male population and no holds barred.

In case you've forgotten, the Spinster's Skip, an annual whirling sponsored by Mortar Board is the time when Idaho women do as they've been done to.

Men Escorted
In other words, they escort their he-men to an afternoon dance, usually followed by a guinea-bread under glass at some local eatery, then if papa's purse affords, a show.

All of this is done in the very best of style, with vegetable corsages, candy, and all the other little extras so dear to a fellow's heart.

Extend Courtesies
Not only must our heroine escort her date both to and from, but she must also walk on the outside of the sidewalk, open doors, furnish cigarettes (whose kidding who?), and carry her date's cosmetic necessities, such as shaving kit, face talc, etc., ad infinitum.

The men should not remain unwarned that this may be occasion for sweet, sweet revenge. If you're in the habit of letting a door slam shut in your jelly-bean's face, expect, then, to have your face similarly disfigured.

Perhaps a word to the women wouldn't be amiss now, either. When you call for your date, he may come running out of the house pursued by his erstwhile friends, all armed to the teeth with instruments of torture. Smile gaily and enter into the spirit of the thing. It's just an old American way of expressing disgust and preventing the desirable male element from attending the Spinster's Skip.

Curtain Initiates Two Sunday

Joy Ferguson and Joanne Hunter, recently tapped for Curtain club, were initiated by club members into the dramatic honorary Sunday.

Following initiation ceremonies a party was held for the new members at which the initiates entertained the group.

Next and final initiation will take place following the coming dramatic production, "Fresh Fields."

Qualification for Curtain membership is determined by the point system.

Prior to tapping, all future members must complete the required work on stage crews of productions as well as have an extent of interest and acting ability.

G.I. REPORT

As this week comes to a close, Moscow GIs will learn their four-week AST grades. Nervousness and tension is the keynote, as the dread day approaches. But for the exception of a few genius-blessed individuals, i. e. Pvt. Monty Draper, John Smith, and Jim Chu, most of the men are worried. Well, let's wish ourselves lots of luck. We'll need it.

One Saturday night, six weeks ago, Pvt. Dean Barth sat down at the piano in the USO and, to put it mildly, was a sensation.

Yes, he can play, and play well. His buddies had already accepted him as an expert in boogie-woogie, but when he played Gershwin and Chopin with equal ease, he amazed not only the girls, who had never heard him, but his buddies as well.

Judging from his music ability alone, it would not be difficult to assume that he is exceptionally talented. But Dean is not one-sided; he is the real all-American.

Central Valley high school, Spokane, is proud of him and not without reason. He held Central Valley's highest scholastic standing for 1943, had the leading part in the senior play and was captain of the football team.

As if all these activities were not enough to keep him completely occupied, he also won the county half-mile championship for 1943. And somewhere else along the line, he happened to become an Eagle Scout, but that's too far back for him to remember.

When Dean came to Moscow, he was determined to make a record for himself similar to that of his high school career. After eight months (less one month spent in Baxter with pneumonia) he can well look back, and say to himself that he has justified his determination.

He has acquired one of the highest scholastic averages in the unit; while playing halfback position for Company A, scored a brilliant touchdown; and with a sparkling personality that is positively magnetic, he is destined to go a long, long way.

Good luck, Dean, in whatever you do.

Academy To Admit Eligible Men To Coast Guard

Announcement that men between the ages of 17 and 22 years may apply for admittance to the coast guard academy has been made by Lt. L. A. Murray, naval procurement officer. Following acceptance of applications, the future cadets will be examined on May 9 and 10 at stations throughout the country.

Commission
Graduation from the academy makes the cadet eligible for a commission as ensign in the coast guard and for a bachelor of science degree in engineering. Educational requirements for an appointment are similar to those necessary for admission to engineering colleges.

Courses Named
Courses in the curriculum are basically scientific and engineering in character. During attendance at the New London, Conn., academy, a financial allotment is made to the cadets.

Applications for an appointment should be sent to the nearest coast guard recruiting office. Requirements include three letters of recommendation, a birth certificate, and testimony of physical soundness.

Air Line Presents Scholarships

To assist teachers who are interested in bringing into their high school courses the implications and potentialities of the air age, United Air Lines have given $200 in scholarships to the university for use in the curriculum workshop at the 1945 summer school, announced Dr. R. D. Russell of the school of education and director of the workshop.

"The purpose of the award," explains Leonard L. Eastly, assistant director of the school and college service of the air line, "is not to encourage the construction of separate school subjects in air transportation, or any of its related fields, but to aid in the reconstruction of the whole curriculum to conform to the demands of a world which has greatly changed because of new methods of transportation and communication."

Mr. Eastly and probably a personnel supervisor of the airlines will serve as consultants during part of the curriculum workshop session, Dr. Russell reports.

To help pass away the time of servicemen awaiting reassignment to the United States or other lands, the army will extend its present educational system to a much greater scale.

Among those men serving on the teaching staff of the vast program will be Sgt. G. F. Payne, an alumnus of the university, who will teach biology. He received his B.S. and M.S. from the university in that field.

Sergeant Payne entered the army in 1943 and has been serving in England since December of last year.

Fighting moisture and fungus-communication's jungle enemies

Ever-present dangers to military communications are the twin enemies of the jungle—moisture and fungus. By impairing the efficient working of telephones and radios, they can halt vital messages as effectively as cutting the wires.

The long experience of Bell Laboratories engineers in designing telephone equipment for use under all climatic conditions has helped the Signal Corps in counter-attacking these enemies of the jungle.

Lessons learned in this wartime emergency will aid in building better communications equipment for war and peace.

BENCH NOTES

By JACK ANDERSON

Brown's back, both from the Oregon trip and from the ranks of innocent bystanders. Because it has been oft mentioned before we won't say he was finally okayed by the medics last week, thus reaching the top of a long, uphill pull that started when a case of peritonitis suddenly turned the prospect of a season of basketball into the reality of days of such rugged invalid's sports as checkers, and reading.

Although hailing from Blackfoot, Brownie attended Pocateello high school, where he established a prep school record that no one could deny was outstanding.

DARWIN BROWN

His doings included such things as: Winning three letters in basketball, football, and track, playing three years of American Legion baseball, and breaking into the semi-pro league at the fuzzy age of 16. On the academic and political side the rust-topped Mick was a member of the school senate, Boys Council, and was named to the National Honor Society for high school students. The latter honor is one that few attain, believe me.

Stepping off the train at the University of Missouri, Darwin landed in the midst of the office of freshman class president before he had hardly found his way out of the station. He pledged Sigma Nu and became known far and wide as "The Whitefoot from Blackfoot." To prove that he occasionally cracked the books he kept a B-plus average during his freshman year, thus being initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, national freshman honorary.

From the U of M campus to the drill field was the next change in Brownie's life. Here he quickly worked his way up to a shot at officers candidate school. Just four days away from a commission, he and several buddies were on experimental patrol, when a live land mine exploded at their feet, injuring him seriously enough to warrant an honorable discharge from the army.

Aiming at a toga, Darwin again took up the scholastic path, and has established an enviable point average in our law school.

On last year's cage squad he alternated between forward and center, earning his letter in cäsaba play, and later covering one of the gardens as a Vandal diamondman.

This year . . . finds our subject occupying the chair of the Interfraternity Council president, now playing basketball, a member of Bench and Bar, on the United party council, a member of the I club, one of the Who's Who in American colleges, Honored President of the Friday Afternoon club (local Social Honorary—a highly spirited group), on the Arg staff . . . little man you've had a busy year, yes indeed. . . . Looking sharp . . .

In his loopy bars is ex-Vandal Irv Konopka, who this week is touring the campus. Former football, wrestling and baseball man, Irv left with the now widely dispersed advanced ROTC unit.

to the Vandal basketball squad was Bob O'Connor, high scoring freshman, when he had a mixup with the eligibility rules.

Wrong again . . . was Jose when he said a neckerchief was the president of a sorority. . . . Well?

Students To Lead Panel Discussion

Idaho's representatives for "College Days", a two-day program planned for March 8 and 10 by the AAUW of Spokane will be the old and new AWS president, Dean Louise Carter announced last week. AWS elections are being held early so that the new president will be elected in time to attend.

Plans were formulated for an Easter breakfast at a short business meeting held by Tau chapter of Lambda Delta Sigma. The day for the regular meeting was changed from Thursday to Monday and a house party was planned.

At the next regular meeting of Lambda Delta Sigma, election of officers will be held.

Idaho students who are interested in attending the luncheon and style show at the Crescent on March 10 should make reservations soon, Dean Carter advised. The style show is held primarily to give high school girls an idea of clothes appropriate for campus life, but other students may attend.

Battered Vandals To Tangle With Cougars

Clean Sweep By Oregon Schools

The annual swing of the Idaho Vandal hoop squad through the Willamette valley proved to be little more than a sightseeing trip, as four losses were marked on the slate in as many games.

It was a case of too much altitude for the control of backboard play, which limited the Brownmen to one shot each time they got the ball.

At Eugene—Idaho 45; Oregon 57. After a speedy start, the Vandal offense sagged enough for an Oregon lead of 22 points before the half, but with a rally of seven points, the score at the rest period ran 34-19 in Oregon's favor.

Long shots by guards Pyne and Carbaugh whittled the lead to 10 points in the second half, but a clicking Oregon offense, coupled with backboard control kept a constant margin between the two teams. Pyne led scoring for the Brownmen, canning 14, Overholser following with 8 points.

Oregon State jumped to a 10-0 lead, Carbaugh scoring for Idaho after 7 minutes of play. Rocha and Labhart added to OSC's lead ending the first frame on the long end of a 16-5 count.

In the second canto Idaho's shots continued to hit all parts of the hoop but the middle. Overholser finally started a belated rally to wind up with 10 points, high point man for the Brownmen. A tight zone defense kept Vandal shots out in deep backcourt, while Rocha continued to stuff "drop-ins" through the hoop.

A height advantage of 4 inches per man, an airtight zone defense, and again backboard control gave the Beavers their second victory of the series, over the scrapping but outmanned Brownmen. Displaying a fireball attack, the Moscovians jumped to an early lead, but weren't able to hold the scoring pace. Len Pyne, hard driving guard, netted 12 points to carry the burden of Vandal scoring for the evening, with Bill Carbaugh drawing second on 9 tallies.

10 More Men Are Needed For Track Coach Ryan Says

Twenty men have answered the request for track candidates, and about 10 more are needed, declared Coach Mike Ryan. Workouts are being held at present at Memorial gymnasium, but will move outdoors as soon as weather conditions will allow.

It was urged that all men intending to stay out for track, work out regularly, for regularity is more important in early season conditioning than lengthy turnouts.

Home and home meets with Whitman and WSC, as well as the Inland Empire relays and Northwest championship are part of a yet uncompleted schedule of meets, which will give all participants an opportunity to earn letters.

Coach Ryan stated that more men are needed for sprints, quarter mile, high jump, javelin and weight throwing.

The following men have begun workouts: Bob Deal, Gene Miller, Leroy Beeson, Art Humphrey, Alex Swanson, Bill Abbott, Ray Koll, Bud Gaily, Jack Anderson, Frank Henderson, Philip Einhouse, Carl Niwirth.

Practice Begins For Tourney

Sign-up slips for the spring badminton tournament, sponsored by the women's physical education department, will appear on the gymnasium and administration building bulletins March 26.

Scheduled to begin April 2, the tourney is being managed by Mrs. Earl Acuff.

The tournament, which lasts for four days, will be played in the women's gymnasium. Any woman may enter the competition. Prospective applicants may practice in the gymnasium on any Friday from 3:00 to 6:00 p. m. until April.

Women interested are urged to begin practices.

Final Week "Do-Or-Die" For Three ND Conference Clubs

By RUSS WARD

It's the final week of Northern Division basketball, but for three teams it means everything. Although our tail-end Idaho Vandals are definitely out as far as pennant contenders are concerned, nevertheless, we still have plenty to say about the final outcome of the standings. On our Vandals hang the responsibility of whether the conference finishes up this week or ends in a tie, thus necessitating a playoff.

One win in the coming series with Washington State would automatically crown the victor of Saturday night's Oregon-Oregon State tilt as champions of the '45 campaign. Two losses to the Cougars would place our cross-state rivals into a deadlock with one of the Oregon schools. Anyway you look at it, the coming battles will be as hard fought as they come.

Hansen Set for Record

Records are made and records fall. Only two short seasons ago Washington State came up with Galopin' Gale Bishop, and that gent calmly proceeded to hoist the division record, made the previous season by Idaho's Ray Turner, by 32 points to 224. But that was two years ago. Now along comes another Cougar—Vince Hansen—who seems set to extend the mark to even greater heights.

Hansen hasn't broken the record yet, but the 35 points he tallied in the Seattle games placed him exactly even with Bishop's mark. All the lanky Cougar needs against the Vandals is ONE POINT and the record is his. Oregon State's Red Rocha, second with 209, also may surpass Bishop's total, but with only one game remaining, it is doubtful if he can outdo Hansen.

Pyne Enters Select Group

At last the Vandals place a man in the first ten in scoring. Because Idaho was behind most of the other teams in games played throughout the majority of the season, the Vandals' top scorers were continually located "down the list." But now Len Pyne moves into the select group, thanks to the 42 points scored on the Willamette Valley trip, and with a pair of contests remaining, Lennie may still move up as far as seventh position. He's tenth now with 114, while Bill Carbaugh rests in 12th place with 106, and Bob O'Connor 15th with 88. O'Connor is out now, but both John Taylor and Jeff Overholser, currently tied at 85 points, have a good chance of reaching the century mark.

Song leader of the GPB house absentmindedly started the closing song instead of the grace just before the house sat down to lunch one noon last week. The strange part about it was that some of the members sang the wrong song through without even recognizing the mistake.

Week-End Games End Cage Season

The last conference games of the 1945 season for the Idaho Vandals and the WSC Cougars will take place in Moscow and Pullman on Friday and Saturday.

In Memorial gymnasium Friday night, the cellar-dwelling Vandals will be out for a Cougar pelt since they have nothing to lose, and a win would put the Wash-Staters out of the running for top spot.

Highlight of the game Friday night will be Vince Hansen's breaking of the Northern Division Conference scoring record, of 224 points. With two games left to play, and in view of the 40 points he scored in the past Idaho series, it appears that Hansen, now tied with the record, should boost the mark by quite a few ducats.

Idaho is finishing one of the worst seasons in years as far as the win column is concerned, but has turned in some of the best plays of the conference. Lack of height has crippled the Vandal attack by loss of backboard control, and no successful method of defense against the skyscrapers has been found applicable to "shorties."

The Cougar-Vandal frays are traditionally tooth and nail, and this year has seen no great variation from the pattern. The coming games promise to be more so than usual, as an Idaho team in its last home game has usually given the fans something to remember, as the University of Washington found, much to its bewilderment.

The return of Darwin Brown to the lineup adds reserve strength, which will be needed if WSC uses its regular policy of team substitution.

The game at Moscow starts at 8 p. m. Friday, the next night's game at Pullman begins at 7:30.
