Dr. Rous Speaks To Sigma Xi on Cause of Cancer

Dr. Peyton Rous of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research addressed the faculty members and guests of Sigma Xi Tuesday evening on the nature and cause of cancer.

Dr. Rous, who is lecturing to colleges and universities on a nation-wide tour, presented a series of lantern slides in connection with his talk depicting different cancer forms from different causes.

The speaker, pointed out the causes of cancer, how the tissue cells develop, and eventually destroy the very body of which they are a part.

"Cancer is the most singular of biological phenomena and among the most dismaying, even to the scientist," stated Dr. Rous.

Members of the Idaho chapter of the national scientific honorary fraternity held their joint dinner meeting with the Washington State college chapter in the Student ballroom prior to the address. Seventy-five people were present for the meeting.

"Fresh Fields" Tickets Go On Sale Tuesday

Modern stage technique has been used in making the stage setting. But using the "profile" set, a smaller than standard scale of settings and furniture has been built. Because of the nature of the plot which makes replacements of broken vases and statuary necessary, Frances Freeman has been in charge of making duplicate properties.

Heads of stage crews working on the behind scene production are Jerry Riddle, lights; Mary Dochios, dressing; Gerry Merrill, costumes; Lenore Mays, properties; Jean Pugh, make-up; Elaine Anderson, sound affects.

Junior Committee Reslates Rally and Cabaret

Falling in line with the nation-wide cessation of social events at the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, juniors slashed their program of festivities to a single event, the Junior Prom, which was held Friday night. The Rally, originally scheduled for Thursday, has been tentatively reslated for May 3 and the Junior Cabaret, planned for Saturday, will be held on May 4 instead, Burt Berlin, general chairman, said last night.

A serenade may be added to the plans for the continuation of Junior Week, Mr. Berlin revealed. However, definite plans have not been made. The serenade which the juniors originally intended to be a part of last week's entertainment did not materialize because many of the best singers were on tour in Southern Idaho with the All-Girl Singing Orchestra.

Army Men Get Refund

Committees and ticket salesmen will remain the same for the postponed Junior Week events, Mr. Berlin continued. Army men who expect to finish their term here before May 4 may turn in their Junior Cabaret tickets and have their money refunded, Mr. Berlin announced.

From Draws Crowd Approximately 116 couples attended the Prom Friday, Summer Johnson, chairman of the ticket committee reported.

White silhouettes against black panels, a stary ceiling, and long misty drapes of white gauze carried out the "Old Black Magic" theme.

Watson Announces Voting Hours

Polls for ASUI elections, slated for April 25, will be open from 8:45 a. m. to 4:15 p. m. and through the noon hour, Fred Watson announced last night. The polls will be located in the north hall of the Administration building.

An amendment to the ASUI constitution certifies a change of hours for polling from those printed in the ASUI handbook, 1942-43.

OUR FIRST SOLDIER fell in the line of battle last Thursday afternoon. His passing is not only our loss, but a loss to the entire world. President Roosevelt became known throughout the world as a courageous leader in emergencies. At no time since 1930 has the world been in a condition that might be defined as normal. Regardless of our partisanship, or whether or not we accepted the New Deal in whole or in part, Roosevelt proved to be a unique and successful leader in his efforts to bring the United States out of domestic turmoil. Internationally, he soon became the recognized leader in war, in democracy, and in peace. Under his leadership the United States developed the most powerful mobile army in the world, and the largest and most effective fleet in the world. Under his leadership the United States, through the Lend-Lease, became the world's arsenal of democracy. During war he assumed the leadership for the building of international organization to maintain peace. Such international achievements as the successful prosecution of the war, the Atlantic Charter, the Declarations of Moscow, Teheran, Dumbarton Oaks, Yalta, and Mexico City will place him among the great men of world history.

The mourning in the United States and in the world since his death definitely indicates that a nation and a people, and not just a political party, deeply regret his passing. He was an American like Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Wilson who influenced the course of human events and whose ideas for justice, equality, and peace will probably become symbols in American, if not in world, ideology. For the world and for him especially, it is a tragedy he did not live to see the culmination of his program.

Truman's Ability To Be Discussed

Possibilities and effects of President Truman's term in office will be the topic under discussion at International Relations club meeting planned for Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the Blue Bucket. Dr. Boyd A. Martin and Robert E. Hosack will speak on the subject and include a digest of the week's news.

A March of Time movie on Portugal will be shown at the meeting, and a charge of 10 cents will be made to cover costs.

Last week, members of the club attended the Institute of Inter-American Affairs held in Pullman, at which Joaquin Ortega and T. M. Ybarra were principal speakers.

Inspection Held For ROTC Men

Formal inspection was given university ROTC men last Thursday morning by Lt. Col. Glen M. Webster of Oregon State college army unit at Corvallis.

"Although no formal report has been received yet, we are satisfied that we made a good showing," Lt. John Swain, adjutant and personnel officer for the university, said this week.

Lt. Swain announced, "a graduation dance will be held April 19 in the Blue Bucket ballroom for members of the ASTRP graduating at that time. The dance will be open to soldiers and civilians."

Shoeless To Shine At Mixer

Student Activities Board and Delta Tau Gamma, in an effort to still the cries for action and something different, is sponsoring a "Stocking Brigade" all campus party Friday from 8:30 until 11:30 p. m. in the student union building. All students, army, and visiting firemen are urged to check those socks and keep the date in mind.

The suggestion is a perplexing one, but here's the story behind it. Everyone always enjoys taking off their shoes and relaxing. For a matter of fact, the individual is rare who hasn't enjoyed that particular treat. That is what the activities board was doing (relaxing before getting a fresh start on a long line of inspiration) when the suggestion came from the Delta Tau Gammas that there is nothing quite so congenial as people relaxing with their shoes off.

Brighter the Better The activities board thought the idea over and approved, so everyone on the campus is invited to wear their brightest socks to the Bucket tomorrow night. Upon arriving at the door of the ballroom, shoes are to be checked with the girls at the door. At the party entertainment will include dancing, ping pong, folk dancing or games. Since the affair is strictly sport, a plaid skirt with loud striped stockings is the right apparel to wear.

Prize For Size Prizes of the evening will go to the man with the largest stockings and the woman with the smallest pair on. Medium-sized feet can also compete for honors because a prize will be given to the wisest pair and the most unusual ones. Acting as judges as well as patrons and patronesses for the evening are Dean and Mrs. H. E. Lattig and Dean and Mrs. R. H. Farmer. Student judge is Helen Terhaar. Invited as special guests are Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hattrup and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wagner.

Claim Shoes In keeping with the original theme, all dancing for the evening will be done in stocking feet. By the way, it's guaranteed that all shoes will be returned to their rightful owners unless unclaimed within 30 days.

CALENDAR

TODAY: The Student-Faculty council will hold its second meeting of the year at 4 p. m. today in Dean H. E. Lattig's office. Examination for election board members will be given tonight at 7 p. m. in room 316 of the Administration building. FRIDAY: International Relations club meeting at 7:30 p. m. in the Blue Bucket. Visitors are invited to hear a discussion on President Truman.

RASPBERRY BUSH

The Bush humbly presents its apology for a fantastically inaccurate conversation printed last week as having occurred in the Art Studio. Evidently the individuals named did not speak as quoted, may not have spoken at all, may not have been at the scene of the crime, or may not even exist. In any event, the Bush now takes the stand, on request, that nothing did transpire between Grace Nesbitt, Arline Durkopp, and Mrs. Charles McKeon (who prefers to be called Florence.) Nothing has happened since, and so far as the readers of the Bush are concerned, nothing ever will.

Gathering himself together from blobs of astonished protoplasm your Busher reports that whilst rummaging through drawers at Ye Olde Agre Office he encountered, alone and unsequered, two packages of cigarettes. (Buildings & Grounds Dept. please note—north wing of SUB needs slight repairs by this time.) And then there is the plaintive subscript to a notice "Do Not Put Cigarettes in This Sink," to which some nicotenic has added pleadingly, "Leave Your Butts dry; Somebody Might Want 'em."

Now you've likely heard this one: A while ago the business proceedings of the Friday Afternoon club, Unlimited, were interrupted by the local gendarmes with some sort of contention about legal age. In the company of a couple of "sweet 16" 21-year-old college women, beardless ASTRs were deprived of their suds, only to lament manfully to the girls, "Now if you weren't with us, we could still be drinking our beer."

The Scourge is still spreading. Take a look at Chrisman hall men—black, brown, blonde, but short and plucky on the noggin, every one. Vanity, vanity, whither hast thou fled?

Our Aesthetics Dept. has passed on a memo, to wit: please suggest to the sirens of Ridenbaugh that balconies are to be seen on, not sat on, especially in overdupois red skirts—but what's the use... Note to the unwary: when Bev Weber stamps her foot it may mean she's irritated, or just pounding the heel back onto a wooden shoe. Once we learned something about a battle and a horseshoe nail, but that may not be appropriate here.

Nominated as ace yoyoer of Featherbed Rest (Thiela house to you) is Bonnie Jean Brown. Now it's not quite clear how Miss Brown comes by this magnificent distinction, since she neither whistles, dances, nor juggles during her exhibitions of the Yoyo. On the contrary, her countenance is one of sober concentration. But that may be the whole secret. This office will be glad to sponsor an intramural yoyo ladder if sufficient enthusiasm and bubble gum are guaranteed the judges.

Jackrabbits, salamanders, gentlemen cows, and such other creatures as were on hand to serve as passerbys may really have enjoyed a scenic treat (other day when eleven dietetics seniors AWOLed to Robinson lake for lab field work in picnic lunches. Data thus obtained are not yet organized for publication.

There just isn't any explaining some people. Charles Henderson, for instance. With a perfectly good bunk (so the report goes) his for the asking, or without it for that matter, or the Sigma Chi sleeping porch, we pause to wonder—why does this gentleman elect to retire for nocturnal repose in a sleeping bag on the hard, hard floor of his study room?

And that's 30 for this week. After income tax deductions, we'll get 24.5'long.

Dr. Lemon Speaks At Kiwanis Club

Dr. Alan C. Lemon, head of the educational psychology department at the university, spoke to the Moscow Kiwanis club on the gullibility of persons who patronize spiritual mediums, astrologers, palmistry artists and other fakery at a meeting of the club Tuesday night.

Dr. Lemon contrasted the unproven methods of these persons with the proven scientific approach of psychologists.

Pledges Present Water Pranks for Initiation

Eleven newly-pledged Hell Divers went into a huddle at the edge of the university pool. For fully five minutes they pondered. Then in a loud voice, one of them announced that Paul Olson, diving star, would be the first performer in the Idaho Aquacades. The critical audience—made up of members of Hell Divers who already have their sea legs—watched several spectacular dives, then were treated to another display of swimming skill.

Grunt, Groan, Splash

The neophytes, with much grunting, groanings and splashing, enacted several drowning scenes and showed the proper way not to rescue a struggling landlubber. When half of the pledges had succeeded in almost drowning themselves, the survivors were dragged sputtering from the pool and given their black and white Hell Diver emblems.

As a further distinction for having achieved this finny honorary all new pledges were invited by Jo Gage, president, to wear their bathing caps and emblems to school on the following day. Answering corny jokes like "Expecting rain?" for 24 hours is enough to prove any man water-worthy so the new members are now considered full-fledged Hell Divers.

Moffett Receives Red Cross Job

Tribute Presented At Boise Service

Idaho's All-Girl Singing Orchestra appeared before an assembly of more than a thousand persons gathered in front of the capitol building at Boise to pay final respects to the late president in a special memorial service held Saturday.

As Mrs. Albert J. Croats at an electric organ sent waves of music through the capitol grounds, the chorus sang Bach-Gounod's "Ave Maria," with Bette Scott as soloist and with Bernice Bakes playing the violin obligato.

Virginia Eggen concluded the service by singing "The Lord's Prayer," assisted by the entire chorus under the direction of A. A. Beecher, head of the university music department.

The schedule of the All-Girl Orchestra tour to high schools and army installations in southern Idaho was changed due to the day of mourning, and the group will return to Moscow Friday instead of the original date of Thursday.

Under the supervision of a graduate nurse, 80 hours of instructions will be given over a six weeks period.

After having had both of his feet cut off by a train, a man gazed mournfully at his wife who was weeping. To console her, he said: "Don't cry, dear. They were always cold anyway!"

Galley Romance! WAVE Weds Ship's Cook

When a WAVE "housekeeper" marries a Ship's Cook, who does the cooking at home? That's a problem for Peggy Skanse, Specialist (U), third class, and Wyckoff R. Rigby, Ship's Cook, second class, at the U. S. Naval Training Station at San Diego, Calif. They were married after a romance that began when Peggy discovered Rigby was responsible for the excellent cuisine in the WAVES' mess hall. If Rigby is elected to supervise the culinary department at home, he'll have to learn how to pare down recipes for 1,000 servings to the correct proportions for two. This romance is very complimentary to the food served WAVES, but at Navy Recruiting Stations and Offices of Naval Officer Procurement they'll tell you the excellent cuisine is only a minor reason for enlisting in the WAVES. The important thing, they say, is that women between 20 and 36, without children under 18, can serve their country during this war in no better way than in the ranks of the WAVES.

Journalism Group Limits Members

With an eye on membership requirements of Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism honorary, Theta Sigma, local women's journalism-honorary, voted at Monday's meeting to limit membership hereafter to journalism majors. Non-journalism majors who were tapped last year will not have their membership withdrawn, Mary Jane Donart, newly-elected president, explained, but this year only journalism majors will be considered for membership so that Theta Sigma's qualifications will parallel those of the national group should members decide to convert the local into a chapter of the national group within the next year or two.

Before members amended the constitution membership in Theta Sigma was open to women students who did outstanding work in publications activities and journalism minors as well as to journalism majors.

Other new officers for Theta Sigma elected at the last meeting are Helen Terhaar, vice president, and Betty Echternach, secretary-treasurer.

Plans for tapping new members were discussed at the last meeting. Members have not yet set a date for the initiation banquet held each year, but plan to hold the event soon.
