Regents Approve Construction Of New Building

"Aiming to make the university campus as attractive as in previous years for Commencement exercises is the department's purpose at the present time," announced C. A. Truitt, superintendent of buildings and grounds. One of the newest projects undertaken by the department is the conversion of the navy building No. 2 into a new faculty club. President Harrison C. Dale appointed Dr. W. J. Brockelbank as head of a committee to make plans for the club's organization. The upstairs of the building has been redecorated, and as a result the ladies will enjoy a large ballroom with a small adjoining kitchen. While the fairer sex are busy engaged upstairs, the male members of the faculty can be enjoying themselves downstairs with a similar set-up.

We can be grateful to the heads of the athletic department who were willing to arrange a sports program for the students, knowing that chances of a winning team were not great. Quitting is not a part of their creed.

But what of tomorrow? The post-war world has been described as an Elsyian dream world, with tires, and gas for all. Disappointment is in store for those who expect this state to arrive suddenly. Specifically speaking, the post-war sports picture for the U. of I. looks better perhaps than pre-
