

For the first time since 1941, University of Idaho students can look forward to what might be called a normal school year. With the war over, returning veterans promise to boost registration to figures resembling pre-war levels. Women students will find that proportion of men to women has adjusted itself so that social activity will come out of its wartime slump.

To veteran students and faculty members, to new freshmen, to the naval ROTC trainees, and to returning civilian students, Jason extends a welcome made warmer by indications that Idaho will return for the first time in three and a half years to traditional college life.

The author of many of last year's sizzling Jasons has graduated from the Argonaut staff. Former co-editor Tom Campbell is now pounding out editorials for the Idaho Daily Statesman, and managing editor Pat Miller has stepped up to take his place. Starting Arg work as a freshman, Pat's quiet capability won her the position of rewrite editor. She was appointed managing editor second semester last year. A political science major from Boise, she is affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority.

Jason at this time wishes to extend his congratulations to Dean Louise Carter and Pan-Hell for promise of a smooth sailing rush week. In former years, it has been the custom for rushees to live at sorority houses during open rush, with confusion and general hubbub as a result. This year, women going through rush will be housed at the Campus Club where they will have a chance for private hash sessions and active sorority women will be able to entertain with a semblance of order in their houses.

Many Veterans To Return To Idaho For Autumn Term

In addition to the approximately 150 returned veterans expected to register for Idaho's fall semester, the campus may anticipate an even larger number the second semester. H. E. Lattig, dean of men, stated Monday. With former servicemen registering daily, the total number may be even greater than is expected at present.

To accommodate married veterans and their families, the university has applied for 100 prefabricated houses now being used at the Richland housing project. The new homes are expected within the next few months and will be erected north of the campus. According to Dean Lattig, approximately 30 per cent of veterans now enrolled are married.

Working in cooperation with university officials is the veterans administration guidance center. Chief advisor for the center is C. H. Bond, with Marvin W. McLoughlin acting as training officer. Purpose of the set-up is to facilitate processing of veterans training in the area served.

Socials To Be Held

Tuesday, October 2, church socials will be held at all Moscow churches. This is an annual event sponsored by the Ministerial Association during which time students are urged to get acquainted with their church.

Newcomers

Welcome to the University of Idaho. You are entering this school at a most opportune time. Your willingness and effort now, following the years of war, will insure a well-rounded activity program at Idaho for time to come. Enjoy the associations you make here, cultivate the training you receive, and, above all, make use of the traditional, friendly "Hello."

Sincerely,
Darwin D. Brown,
President, ASUI.

First Naval ROTC Men Arrive On Idaho Campus

Rushing Starts Today With Panhellenic Tea

With the Panhellenic tea scheduled for Wednesday, September 19, fall sorority rushing will begin at 6:30 today when rushees visit each house on the campus. Representatives from the women's groups will meet the new women at the Campus Club, where they will be arranged in groups of alphabetical order, to take them on the tour.

New feature added to Panhellenic to simplify rushing is a name plate for each rushee, Pat Hagan, president, announced. She stated that each rushee should register her name, home, and two possible references for use on recommendations. To aid the women, an information bureau under Panhellenic auspices will be established in the Bucket lounge in which representatives of all houses will serve.

Schedule Change

Rush parties begin Thursday, September 20, with luncheons which last from 12 to 1:30 p.m. Dinners during the week are from 6 to 8, and firesides from 8:30 to 10. Time of Thursday and Friday teas has been changed to 4:30 in order not to conflict with scheduled freshmen tests, but the Saturday afternoon tea will be held at 3:30 as in past years.

Skirts and sweaters will be the fashion rule for the Panhellenic tea, and sororities will specify on bids to the parties what the rushees should wear.

Fraternities Rush

Fraternity rushing will get under way this noon. Interfraternity Council President Paul Wykert stated. Rush dates for the men will end Saturday noon when houses and rushees turn in their preferences to the dean of men's office, and new pledges will move into their respective houses during the afternoon.

Men rushees will be houseguests of the fraternities for the week. Badges will be made for each man indicating the name, home, and year of graduation. Fraternity houses, with open kitchens will hold luncheons and dinners, but all smokers have been forbidden by the council.

In accordance with other council ruling, rushees may be met only in Moscow. Date cards have been issued to the new men, and all engagements made must be kept. Luncheon, afternoon, dinner, and evening parties will continue from Wednesday to Saturday noon.

Idaho Prepares For Homecoming

Tentative date for Idaho's first homecoming in two years has been set for October 20, day of the football game between the University of Montana and Idaho, ASUI President Darwin Brown, has announced. During the day, a homecoming queen will be selected by the football team, and her name is to be announced during the half-period of the game.

Prizes for the best decorated living-houses will be given. Plans to date include a prize for the best decorated men's house and one for the women's group.

Climaxing homecoming, a date dance will be held in the memorial gymnasium and a serious attempt to bring a name band to the campus is being made, Brown said. This dance is being sponsored by the alumni association in cooperation with the university and Moscow Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Chairmen and committees will be appointed at the first meeting of the executive board.

New Housemothers Arrive On Campus

Three new housemothers have arrived on the campus to assume their duties. Mrs. Ord Chrisman will be the new housemother at Forney hall, while Mrs. J. E. Gardner is to be with the Delta Delta Delta; she succeeds Mrs. R. M. Bollen who resigned last June. Gamma Phi Beta's new housemother is Mrs. J. W. Gwinn, who takes the place of Mrs. T. W. McCartney, who also resigned.

Many Professors On War Leave Return This Term

Seven of the 64 University of Idaho faculty members who have been on war leave will resume their teaching assignments when the first classes convene September 24, reports President Harrison C. Dale. Others are expected to return during the year.

Returning to the school of business administration following two-year leaves are Professor W. J. Wilde and Dr. William E. Folz. Professor Wilde has been OPA district price executive for the state of Idaho, with headquarters at Boise. Dr. Folz has been research economist for the department of commerce, bureau of the budget, and the OPA in Washington, D.C.

Professor Paul K. Hudson, who has been absent a year on civilian assignment at the U.S. Navy underwater sound laboratory at Fort Trumbull, Connecticut, resumes his post in the department of electrical engineering. Dr. G. W. Hammar is back as head of the department of physics after two years as special weapons designer for the national research defense committee at Washington, D.C.

Dr. Vernon A. Young returns to the school of forestry after two years with the soil conservation service in California, during which time his assignment was range restoration to increase beef production. Eyan Evans Jr. returns to the English department, following two years in the Army medical corps, assigned to the surgeon-general's office in Washington. Also returning to the English department staff is John A. Beckwith, who has been in the Army the past two years in charge of training Chinese pilots at Luke field, Arizona.

RECEIVES FELLOWSHIP

Ruth Lett, graduate of home economics department in June, 1945, has received a teaching fellowship in the school of home economics, Cornell university, Ithaca, New York, beginning in September.

Construction Work Goes Ahead During Summer

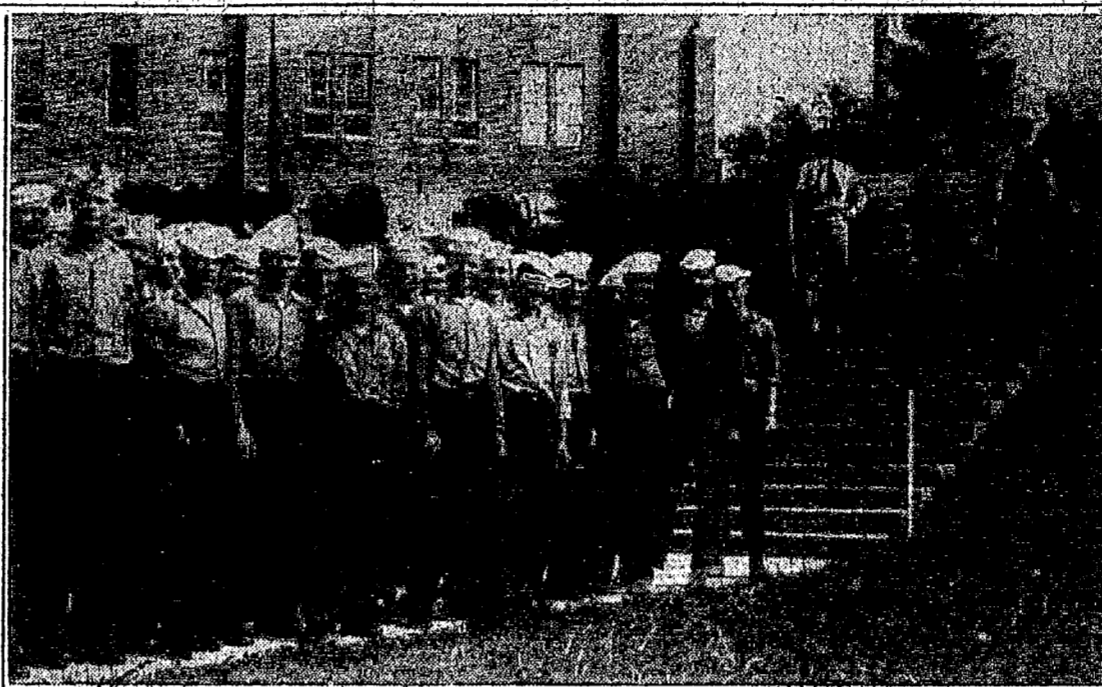

Building and construction on the campus has made progress during the summer months, according to President Harrison C. Dale.

Reconstruction of the art building has been completed according to plans prepared by T. J. Pritchard. The interior, having been redesigned, contains a number of features which are new, and is an example of modernistic architecture.

A new university warehouse and garage is being constructed north of the heating plant. Funds were obtained from the insurance money paid when the old warehouse burned. This will be a brick building to be used for storage purposes by the maintenance department and director of dormitories. The garage will be used for storing university motor vehicles and will accommodate about twenty cars.

Plans for Home Arts

The architect selected to design the women's building, which will be known as the home arts building, has completed preliminary plans and sketches, Dale said. This building will be constructed between the administration building and the women's gymnasium, and will be used to house the department of home economics. The Naval ROTC has taken over Fifty naval ROTC men who arrived Monday pose with their officers in front of Willis Sweet hall where the trainees will live. Ship's company will occupy Ridenbaugh hall annex. The remainder of the unit is expected to arrive today.

Enrollment Expected To Rise Fifty Percent; Many Students Transfer Here

Approximately 50 per cent more permits to register over last year have been issued to new students, D. D. DuSault, registrar, announced this week. A large number of transfer students from Southern Branch is expected as well as an increase in out-of-state enrollment.

Registration will begin tomorrow immediately following the new student assembly at 9 a.m. in the university auditorium. Prof. E. C. Taylor is chairman, and short addresses will be made by President Dale, Dean of Men H. E. Lattig, Dean of Women Louise Carter, and J. A. Brown, director of athletics and head football coach. Hall Macklin, member of the music faculty, will play the organ, and A. A. Beecher, head of the music department, will lead new students in Idaho songs.

New students must attend conferences with deans and advisers or heads of the departments in which they intend to register. Conferences are scheduled to begin at 10 a.m.

Psych Tests Required
Psychological tests are required of all students who have not previously attended the university. This procedure has been introduced for the first time on the campus this year with Dr. Allan C. Lemon, professor of educational psychology, in charge.

Registration will be continued Friday and Saturday in the women's gymnasium, at which time new students will have their Identograph photos taken. The all-school mixer will be held in Memorial gymnasium, Saturday evening.

All classes will convene Monday, September 24. If changes are to be made in study schedules, they must be handled through offices of the deans.

Students To Sign Early For Gems

"Gem of the Mountains," the university yearbook, should be paid for at the time of registration; either a one dollar deposit may be made or the whole sum of four dollars can be paid at this time," stated Ted Sherman, graduate manager. Mr. Sherman stressed the point that students failing to sign up for their Gems now are very apt to be disappointed next year when the annuals come out. The approximate number of Gems ordered from the printers are taken from these lists.

If the one dollar deposit is made, the remaining charge is taken from the student's general deposit. Veterans will be asked to pay the whole sum when they register, for they make no general deposit. However, if they are unable to purchase their Gem at this time, arrangements have been made to enable them to order the annual later in the school year, Sherman said.

WELCOME

Students of the University:
The war is over. For four years, a college generation, the women students and a handful of men have succeeded beyond all expectations in keeping alive the fine customs and hallowed traditions of this campus. This year you who are new to Idaho and who are returning to the University are pledged to pursue your college life untroubled by the menace of war. Rich experiences and great opportunities are ahead of you. The University welcomes all of you, including especially the men of the Navy who from now-on will share our common life and our common purposes.

Harrison C. Dale.

Church Attends Teachers' Meet

Dr. Frederic C. Church, professor of history, expects to leave the end of this week for Princeton, New Jersey, where he will attend a conference of instructors who have charge of the course Foundation of National Power, a course required for all juniors and seniors in the Naval ROTC.

The conference begins September 24 and ends September 27. Dr. Church's departure date has not been definitely set until travel arrangements have been completed.

Beecher Announces Music Schedule For Next Week

Professor Alvah A. Beecher, head of the music department, has announced the schedule of the meetings for musical organizations on the campus. The all-girl orchestra will hold a rehearsal Tuesday evening at 7:15 p.m. in the university auditorium. All types of try-outs will be held at this time, and everyone interested in music is encouraged to try out.

University singers first meeting will be Monday during 8th period. The organization is open to all and no try-outs are needed. Ruth Erickson is the director.

Vandaleer try-outs and plans for the coming year will be announced in the next Argonaut.

Dr. Bruce Benward has joined the music department's staff as a piano instructor. Dr. Benward is a graduate of the University

Trainees Will Participate In Campus Activities

The first 50 of the 200 naval ROTC trainees who will receive training under the program being introduced here this fall arrived Monday and the remainder of the unit will arrive today at noon, Capt. S. H. Ambruster, commanding officer of the unit, stated.

Faculty To Open Clubhouse Today At First Meeting

The club, which opened its doors to faculty members with a housewarming last spring, serves as a lounge and recreation club. So popular were its coffee and sandwiches during the summer that all facilities are being increased 100 per cent, Mrs. M. C. Albrecht, purchasing agent, stated.

Volunteer faculty members kept the club open this summer and now the services of a part-time stewardess have been obtained.

Officers of this group are Prof. William Brockelbank, president; Dr. Robert Hosack, vice president; Miss Margaret Ritchie, secretary; and Dean Ralph Farmer, treasurer.

Acting committee chairman for the coming year include: H. W. Steffens, house and social; W. C. Banks, membership; Mrs. Albrecht, purchasing; Ernest Wolletz, dance; Merrill Deters, bridge; and Marion Featherstone, interior decoration.

Purchases of the club are thus far a davenport and chair and dishes. Other equipment is being loaned through the courtesy of the university.

The use of the club is also available to the faculty club women's organization and a program of dances and bridge parties is being prepared for the coming year.

New Instructors In Women's Sports

Opening of school this fall will see two new instructors in the women's physical education department. To handle swimming and W.A.A. activities, Mrs. Irene Marks, Cottonwood, Idaho, has been obtained. Mrs. Marks taught last year at the Lewiston State Normal. Mrs. Minnie B. Connolly from North Dakota has been secured to teach leisure sports and to supervise the "I" Club.

Mrs. Connolly has been an instructor at the State Teachers College in North Dakota. Mrs. Marty, acting head of the department, says that the program for the year for the physical education department will come out next week.

Dr. Brockelbank To Head Law Dept.

Appointment of Dr. William J. Brockelbank, associate professor of law, as acting dean of the University of Idaho college of law, and addition of Blakeley M. Murphy to the law faculty as assistant professor was announced by President Harrison C. Dale. Professor Murphy will handle the courses previously taught by Professor Bert E. Hopkins, who resigned to go to the University of Indiana.

Professor Murphy has a bachelor of laws degree from the University of Arkansas, practiced law for several years at Stillwater, Oklahoma, received his master of laws degree from the University of Chicago, and now is a candidate for the doctor of jurisprudence degree from the same institution. He had already accepted a professorship in the University of Kansas law school but one of the regular faculty members on military leave returned, making it possible for him to accept the Idaho appointment.

NOTICE

Vacancies exist on both editorial and advertising staffs of the Argonaut. Naval ROTC students, as well as civilian students, are urged to try out for the open positions. Feature writers are especially needed.

To Rushees

Freshman girls will meet at 6:30 at the Campus Club on Wednesday evening, September 19. At that time, they will be divided into eight alphabetical groups. These groups will then be conducted by various representatives to the eight sorority houses. At each house, the rushees will stay 20 minutes and will be taken by representatives to the next house. Skirts and sweaters would be the most appropriate dress for the tea. After visiting the last house, those freshmen interested in going through rushing will go to the Student Union lounge and sign up for rushing. Dean Carter will be in charge of the office in the lounge and girls will have to wait their turn to sign up.

Each morning during rushing, rushees will call at this same office to receive invitations. Please keep in mind that at eight each morning these invitations will be ready for you. On Thursday, the first day of rushing, a rushee may accept four parties, providing they don't conflict. On Friday, the same is true; again, four parties may be attended, providing they don't conflict. On Saturday, two parties only may be accepted. These two parties on Saturday may be at two different houses or they may be at the same house.

Saturday evening at 9:30 the Dean of Women and her helpers will be at the Student Union lounge. After attending your last party, your minds should be made up and your choice of which house you want to pledge will have to be put in writing. So come to the lounge anytime after 9:30 and cards will be given you to state your first, second and third choices. After doing this, you will be free to go to the Freshman mixer in the Student Union ballroom. Be sure you have given Dean Carter your preferences. You may then remove your nameplates before attending the mixer.

On each invitation you receive each day, suggestions for the proper dress will be made. Try to be prompt for all parties you attend. During the period you are going through rushing, you will be expected to wear nameplates to all parties and other functions. These nameplates will be given you when you sign up for rushing Wednesday evening in the lounge. Teas on Thursday and Friday afternoons will begin at 4:30, thus they do not interfere with the program for freshman orientation. On Saturday, teas will be held at 3:30.

Dr. Russell To Act As Vet Advisor

Dr. Ralph D. Russell, professor of education at the university and acting dean of the college of education in 1937, has been appointed vocational adviser to aid veteran-students entering the southern branch at Pocatello this fall.

Dr. Russell resigned from the faculty August 1 and will assume his new duties about September 20.

On Sunday morning at 10, invitations will be ready for you at the lounge. Please call between 10 and 11 for them. You will then be free to go to the house of your choice. Sorority girls will be waiting at their houses to welcome you. Any time during the rest of the day, you are free to move into the house you have pledged. All rushees should be moved by 7 Sunday evening.

PAT HAGAN, Panhellenic President.

News of Last Year's Grads

The start of the 1945-46 school year, finds last year's graduates scattered far from the university. Perhaps the farthest away from Idaho is Carl Spading, who is now working for the Sinclair Oil company in Venezuela.

Last year's seniors who have gone into the teaching profession are Rae Parkinson, head of the commercial department in Soda Springs; Betty Cardwell, typing instructor in Coeur d'Alene; and Marion Wilson, drama and English instructor in Buhl.

Helen Campbell is teaching journalism and physical education in Cornell, Washington, and Muriel Fugate Haegle is in Aberdeen teaching journalism, world history, and English. Maxine Pence, Frances Swantek, and Geraldine Finnell are also teaching high school, while Jean Mariner is instructor in the music department at Ion.

Tom Rowland is located in Twin Falls as hygiene teacher, and Tom Ryan is assistant athletic coach and instructor at Jerome. Virginia Dempsey is teaching home economics at McMinnville, Oregon, and Maxine Statter is in the commercial department at Pocatello.

Bette French and Darwin Brown are now Mr. and Mrs. and are living in Moscow. Bette is working in the high school superintendent's office, while Darwin will again be in classes at the university. Mary Jane Tsenburg is entering the University of Chicago to receive her master's in dietetics. Interning in dietetics are Rosemary Blackwell at a school connected with Stanford; Nadine Ann Comnick at Harper's College in Detroit; and Julien Paulson at Ann Arbor.

Ruth Curtis and Billie Keeton are working for the army in Washington, D.C., and Jean Bonneville has a music studio in Coeur d'Alene. Interning as a lab technician in Seattle is Jean Spencer, while Marjorie Spencer is a bookkeeper in the same city. Ann Wheeler is now in Portland but is going into air line work in the near future, and Virginia Snyder is located in the Camp Fire headquarters in Spokane. Shirley West has taken over the job of society editor, and Tom Campbell as writer on the Idaho Daily Statesman. Sue Wittmann is working in the Red Cross office at Lewiston.

Ruth Leth is at Cornell University on a fellowship, and Roberta Jordan is working in the state house at Boise. Beverly Weber is working on the Spokane Chronicle and expects to go to Northwestern in January. Pat Pugh is in training in the Marine Corps, while Betty Jean Rice is working in California. Noreen Merriman is working in the First National Bank in Spokane, and Ralph Tallent is an electrical engineer in New York state. Helen Howard is now at the University of Chicago, taking advertising work.

Beif Martin, Leonard Wilson, and Betty Worley will again be seen on the campus this year.

AWS Women Act As Frosh Guides

Organizing the representatives to meet buses and trains bringing new students to the university was the purpose of the A. W. S. meeting held yesterday at 5 p.m. Betty Scott, orientation chairman, read the time schedule of incoming buses and trains on Wednesday and Thursday, and appointed girls to meet each.

Three extra railroad coaches will arrive in Moscow Wednesday at 10:30 from Southern Idaho, with connections being made at Pocatello, Boise, and Nampa.

"Counselor" ribbons were distributed to the representatives, and their duties explained by Jean Thompson, president. Counselors will be present in the hall at the administration building to answer questions during registration also.

Next meeting of the A. W. S. will be held Wednesday, September 26.

Flotation Process Is Further Enhanced By Research Here

That significant improvement in the efficiency of the flotation process for mineral recovery is in the offing is suggested by research by the Idaho bureau of mines and geology and the University of Idaho school of mines. For several years Dean A. W. Fahrenwald of the Idaho mines school, an international leader in the development of this process, has been engaged in what is believed to be original research seeking to improve flotation efficiency.

An article by Dean Fahrenwald, which appeared recently in Engineering and Mining Journal, dealt with the question of the mechanical efficiency of the flotation machine as a maker of bubbles. A statement in that article that this efficiency was of the order of "a fraction of 1 per cent" created much interest. Now, Dean Fahrenwald, with Lewis S. Prater, assistant metallurgist with the bureau, as co-author, report in Idaho bureau of mines and geology pamphlet number 69 on research which dealt with the efficiency or efficacy of the bubble on its own account.

Bubbles the Answer
"Flotation is a mineral recovery process, employing bubbles as the mineral collector," says Dean Fahrenwald in explaining the research project. "The ore to be concentrated is ground to a fineness of table salt grains and smaller. At this fineness the mineral particles—ore and gangue—are freed from each other physically. The ground ore—mixed with water and doctored-up with a few molecules of specific reagents—is subjected to mechanical treatment to effect intense aeration of the pulp. The valuable ore minerals are collected by the bubbles and carried to the surface where they accumulate in a froth matting—and are removed by skimming. The worthless mineral particles—water wetted—remain in the pulp to be rejected as tailing."

"The efficiency of the process, among other factors, is related to the number of bubbles made in the pulp, their size and the rate at which they may be caused to accumulate on the pulp surface. "The research covered in this pamphlet deals with such factors as (1) the volume of air used in flotation operations and the size and number of bubbles escaping from the pulp surface in unit time and (2) the number of mineral particles recovered by each bubble. "Bubble size is of the order of 1.5 to 2.0 millimeters in diameter. The number of particles recovered by each bubble ranges from one, when it is the size of a grain of table salt, to as many as a million when the particles approach the fineness of, say, tooth powder."

Holds Promise
"The efficiency of the bubble, however, in terms of its theoretical capability, never exceeds 4 per cent. It was this efficiency figure particularly that we were interested in. If this bubble-efficiency figure is reasonably accurate it is obvious that there remains much room for improvement. "In the light of the well-known high performance of the flotation process, in the absence of absolute data, it is easy to gain the impression that the efficiency might be close to 100 per cent. However, if the efficiency actually is only of the order of 4 per cent an improvement of even 1 per cent, would represent a major forward step."

A third contribution dealing with flotation fundamentals will appear in an early issue of the Engineering and Mining Journal. Copies of pamphlet number 69 may be secured for 50 cents by writing to the University of Idaho school of mines, Moscow, Idaho.

Many Idaho Co-eds Become Brides During Summer Vacation

"Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue," was the familiar verse running through the minds of many Idaho co-eds this summer. June, the month of brides did not go by without including several women from each house in her traditional rites and ceremonies.

Delta Gamma Graduates Married
Joy Ferguson, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Lt. Harry Miseldine, were married September 8 at the Baxter General hospital chapel in Spokane. From the Delta Gamma house, Marjorie Call, graduate of '44 and Jack Butler were married August 12 at the E.D.S. church. A double-ring ceremony was read by George S. Tanner. The couple will make their home in Baltimore, Md., where Butler is affiliated with Johns Hopkins hospital. Elaine Thomas and John McCormick were married in Idaho Falls. Joanne Hunter and Lt. In the Kappa Alpha Theta house, Alice Wootter was married to Rock Hutchings in Coeur d'Alene. June Stoiberg and Guy Knox, were married in Emmett. Jean Jordan and Ward Stroschein were also married.

The Alpha Chi Omegas hold first place on the marriage list this summer with the marriage of Betty French to Darwin Brown, ASUI president, and a member of Sigma Nu. Virginia Campbell, last year's freshman class president, and Capt. Clarence Wells, were married in Anaconda. Mont. Marion Krussman and Dale Dykeman were married in Pocatello during the summer. Also married this summer were Mary Louise Fields to Sgt. Wally Mahoney in Newport, Wash., and Virginia Johnson to Joe Biellus in Nezperce. Shirley Coldeen received a ring from Harold Hills, Alpha Tau Omega, as did Ray Parkenson from Fred LeClaire, they will be married sometime this fall. Sharon Engan and Harry Thompson will be married in Santa Ana, Calif., the latter part of the fall.

From the Delta Delta-Delta house, Ralphine Strub and Harley Grieves were married in Preston, on the 14th of June. Lois Walker and Ray Dills, Phi Gamma Delta, were married in Filer, Idaho, on June 17, and Beverly Ford and Pfc. Gerald Becker were married in Coeur d'Alene on July 6. Receiving engagement rings were June Cone from Ted Gregg, and Helen Morfitt from Ora Durkin. In the Phi Beta Phi house, Betty Newell is pinned to Charles Schiferl, Sigma Chi and Lavonna Craggs is now wearing Leonard Wilson's Kappa Sigma pin. Jean Pugh and Art Kennedy, a Lambda Chi Alpha from WSC, were married in St. Maries last Tuesday. Jean Reed has joined the WAVES, and Pat Pugh has joined the Women's Marine Corps.

Betty Dodd Marries
Marriages in the Gamma Phi Beta house include those of Jean Parker to Dave Wooters, who were married in Twin Falls, on August 26; Jean Taylor and Bill Hopps, who were also married in Twin Falls; and Dot McKee to Earl Senden, a former student at Idaho and a member of Beta Theta Pi. Betty Dodd and Ken Chatten, Sigma Chi, were married in Coeur d'Alene. Beverly Weber announced her engagement to Lt. Dicic Phiffer of the army. Joyce Latzig was married to Phil Schinabel of Sigma Chi.

Faculty Reception

An annual informal reception will be held Sunday afternoon, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., for all faculty members and their wives at the home of President and Mrs. Harrison C. Dale.

Thirty-three Seek Berths On Vandal Eleven As Grid Drills Begin

Silver-and-gold of the Vandals will return to the gridiron this fall as Idaho rejoins the Pacific Coast conference and fields her first post-war eleven.

Practices for the 36-man squad have been a twice-daily occurrence on the field in front of Neale stadium the past week. The initial call for grid aspirants brought 25 prospects to don their moleskins for practice sessions. Additions to the squad have been steady, and several more gridgers have signified their intentions to turn out.

The navy ROTC unit which arrived on the campus Monday is expected to supply a few candidates for the Vandal eleven.

Drills to date have been mostly instruction in fundamentals and conditioning, with grass drills predominating. Heavy scrimmages will begin this week as Coach Brown readies his charges for the opening fray with the Washington State Cougars just two weeks away.

Freshmen make up 90 per cent of this year's squad, which has the largest proportion of Idaho boys that a Vandal team has had for over a decade. Five members of the '45 pigskin brigade played on the all-civilian team last year, when the Idaho civilians won the inter-school playoffs. Returning from last season are: James Brown, John Dailey, Cliff Streeter, Frank Viro and Ronald Walker.

Coach "Babe" Brown hasn't named a first string yet, but indicated that several boys have shown up well in early practices. Frank Viro, 235-pound tackle from Spokane is almost certain to find a spot; also Alvin Baer, 200-pounder from Lewiston, who is holding down a guard position. Bob Cochran will most likely work in the other tackle spot. Albert Vallarano, 175-pound fullback from Spokane, and Jim Hatch, 185 pounds of passing, kicking and running halfback, will form the nucleus of the backfield.

Thomas Hanson, 189, Wallace, is showing class in the pass snagging department, and should see service at end. Big John Dailey, Marshing, seems set for the center spot. Quarterbacking will probably be handled by Phil Litzberger, Coeur d'Alene, and Nick Nelson, Spokane.

The squad to date: Alvin Baer, 200, Lewiston; David Brown, 135, Moscow; James Brown, 175, Weiser; Bob Cochran, 190, Kooskia; John Dailey, 175, Marsching; Bert Garner, 145, Emmett; Thomas Hanson, 189, Wallace; Richard Johnson, 166, Twin Falls; Fay Johnstone, 150, Spokane, Wash.; Melvin Kawasoe, 226, Weiser; Willis Rea, 237, Weiser; Raymond Saras, 170, Shoshone; Sherman Saylor, 155, Rupert; Oscar Stone, 175, Walla Walla, Wash.; Cliff Streeter, 150, Coeur d'Alene; Frank Viro, 235, Spokane, Wash.; Ronald Walker, 184, Pierce; Wallace Warner, 160, Spokane, Wash.; Ronald White, 175, Lewiston; Jim Hatch, 185, Coeur d'Alene; Louis Ottosen, 145, Lewiston; Richard Nelson, 175, Spokane, Wash.; Phil Litzberger, 180, Coeur d'Alene; Lloyd St. Clair, 185, Coeur d'Alene; Albert Vallarano, 175, Spokane, Wash.; Carl Munden, 186, Clarkston, Wash.; Stanley Dragos, Spokane, Wash.; Leo Jordan, Bonners Ferry; Bill Emerson, Jerome; Dick Johnson, Kellogg; Ben Steelhead, Coeur d'Alene; Warren Shephard, St. Maries.

The ostrich can run a mile in two minutes.

Big Jim Hatch, 185-pound, 5-foot 10-inch halfback candidate for the Idaho Vandals from Coeur d'Alene. He is a passer, punter and runner.

Ben Dobbs Is New Assistant Coach Of Vandal Squad

Meet W. B. "Ben" Dobbs, newest addition to the Idaho coaching staff. Really no stranger to the U of I, Ben has been bringing basketball and baseball teams to Vandalville as head coach for the Whitman Missionaries.

Football has played a big part in the life of this genial migrant from Walla Walla. At his home town of Ashland, Ky., he was a member of a state championship football team as a high school sophomore, and a member of a national championship basketball squad.

After a three-sport career at prep school, Ben entered the University of Michigan. He starred there in football, basketball and baseball, but transferred to Ohio State for his sophomore year. Again he made a regular position in all three major sports.

A sacro-iliac injury cut short his brilliant college career, but didn't halt his football. After recovering, he played several years of professional football, and was an outstanding end for such teams as the St. Louis Gunners, Pittsburgh Americans, and the New York Yankees. In his last season with the Yankees, Ben was chosen for the all-American league team.

He entered the coaching game as line coach at Kearney State college of Nebraska, and from there was line coach at the University of Maine. While at Whitman he turned out hard-hitting, scrappy teams which proved a perennial thorn in the side of larger schools, who often surprisingly found themselves holding the losing end of the scoreboard.

We welcome W. B. to the silver-and-gold coaching staff.

Institute Offers Religious Courses

Resuming its work after being closed for two years, the Idaho Institute of Christian Education offers classes which will carry university credits. All students are eligible to enroll. Dr. John D. Furnas will be director of the institute, and Mr. Willard E. Stanton will assist as instructor. Mr. George S. Tanner will teach classes offered by the L. D. S. Institute. Time schedules of both institutes are printed and placed in the university time schedules. The university will accept eight credits of religious work toward graduation.

Ryan Issues Call For Cross-country

Coach "Mike" Ryan, Vandal trainer, cross-country and track coach this week announced that the annual Thanksgiving day Pacific Coast Conference cross-country race will be held as usual on the Downriver golf links in Spokane.

In issuing his first call for candidates, Ryan said that every aspirant would be welcome whether experienced or not. Cross-country is a major sport, with major "A" sweaters awarded for participation. Idaho will again set its sights on the Pacific Coast Championship which rested in Moscow for six successive years before the war.

A tentative schedule has been arranged, but has not as yet been fully completed. Meets are assured with the Washington State Cougars and Whitman. Montana and Cheney are other possibilities, but definite word from these schools will await turnouts.

Prospects for this year's squad are not known, except that only three members of last season's hill and daleers will be back. These include Art Humphries, Ray Hall and Jack Anderson.

Three Grid Games On Home Schedule

Football fans of Moscow and the surrounding area will have three chances to watch the 1945 Vandals in action in home games this season, so indicates the schedule released this week by the graduate manager's office. The first home game will be a tangle with the Washington State Cougars on the 29th of September.

Homecoming will be on the 20th of October when the Vandals meet the University of Montana Grizzlies in Neale stadium. This clash will be the battle of the old beer leaves many positions on the squad open, Ryan declared, and all men interested in running should contact him at the training room in Memorial gymnasium.
