

U of I Sponsors Education Meet October 19, 20

Inaugurated last year, a second annual conference for school administrators will be held at the university October 19 and 20. Last year's conference, sponsored by the school of education, was judged successful enough to warrant continuation of the program, Dean J. F. Weltzin, head of the department of education, stated. One hundred principals, superintendents, and board members attended last year.

The first conference of this type to be organized in Idaho, it is being expanded and improved to promote the welfare of education in Idaho.

Three Points
Devoted to three specific points, the conference will stress teacher retirement plans, high school guidance programs, and preparation of high school teachers.

Dr. John Brewton, formerly director of field service, Peabody College of Education, Nashville, Tenn., and newly appointed director of the north Idaho educational survey, has been invited to address the conference.

Delegates coming to the conference from schools throughout the state will include Dr. Ray Berry, superintendent of Moscow schools; George H. Fields, principal of Boise high school; Lee Click, Lewiston junior high school principal; and John W. Condie, state high school inspector.

The first meeting will be held Thursday evening, September 27. The ruling applies to students taking applied music courses whether they are music majors, minors, or non-departmental students.

The British organized the first "Airgraph Service" to maintain contact with troops in Egypt and India via microfilm.

Idaho Instructor Interns In Radio

Taking part in a new kind of teacher-training project, Elmer F. Beth, former University of Idaho journalism instructor, has been working in the news department of Station KMBC, Kansas City, Mo., according to University of Kansas summer session publication.

Mr. Beth is one of seven college journalism teachers appointed as "teacher interners" this summer by the council on radio journalism. The project, designed to raise the standards of radio techniques instruction in leading schools of journalism is supported by the National Association of Broadcasters. Mr. Beth has been selecting and editing the dispatches from five full-wire news services, writing broadcasts, covering city hall, police, and other kinds of local news, and generally learning the best methods used by a radio news department which makes 10 broadcasts daily, all staff prepared and produced. During the rest of his internship, he will work in other departments, such as advertising, research, promotion, script-writing, programming, engineering, and program production.

Home Ec Students Take Summer Jobs

Several home economics graduates and students of the university held responsible positions during the summer. Audrey Hartman, senior in food and nutrition, was acting dietitian at St. Luke's hospital in Boise. Clara Beth Young assisted at Scripps metabolic clinic, La Jolla, Calif.

Two graduates in home economics will conduct the Moscow community nursery school at Moscow high school this fall. They are Florence Hinkley Flay and Rena Eecher Herzog.

Hell Divers Meet

To plan for the coming year, Hell Divers, an organization for stellar swimmers, will hold a meeting Friday at 12:30 p.m. in the Blue Bucket lounge.

Renovation Gives Art Building New Features

Renovation of the art building, which is just being completed, has resulted in a modern department with none of the features of a conventional classroom building. Members of the department, assisted by art students, drew up the plans, using a small-scale model of the building. All rooms are designed for their particular purposes and are convenient, practical, and artistic. In addition to the offices and seminar rooms, there is a library containing architectural books from the Carnegie Harvard library; a projection room and lecture room for lantern and movie projection; a shop used for architectural models; a graphic arts laboratory; a photography darkroom; a ceramics laboratory with electric kilns; an architectural drafting room; and a design workshop. Drawing and painting studios occupy the north side and these have flexible wall arrangements which allow for expansion or contraction in size to fit need. Adequate locker space is provided for students' materials. The floors have been entirely refinished and the ceilings are lower. Lighting is a combination of overhead, indirect, and fluorescent, according to desirability.

The new entrance, which consists of solid doors surrounded by glass panels, opens into a large foyer. The Art Club will furnish and decorate this foyer, using funds obtained last May at their bridge party, according to Arlene Durkoop, club president. This entrance hall will also be used for continuous exhibits of art work.

Guests at Delta Gamma Sunday were Mrs. Mary Reed from Lewiston. Visiting the house Monday were Mrs. H. P. Knowles and Mrs. Howard Davis. Mrs. Davis gave a party in honor of the new pledges Monday evening in the Blue Bucket.

Musician To Give Concert Here

Miss Rogndahl, who received a degree from the University of Oregon recently, will be heard in the university auditorium Tuesday night. Following her Moscow appearance, the soprano will leave soon for further study in New York, where she will continue her operatic career.

Tickets will go on sale soon for reserved seats by students in the music department. Next week's Argonaut will carry the complete story of Miss Rogndahl's success and the recital she will sing while on the campus.

Coke Daters Jam Bucket

Social life on the Idaho campus is going into an upswing as a result of the return to a near-normal size student body, and students are getting a taste of what pre-war activity around the Bucket was like.

About a thousand customers a day come up, brunch, or catch an afternoon snack of that fattening, but oh-so good, cake, reports Howard Leslie, manager. Joes and Janes may be seen most any time in the Bucket lounge dancing to the tunes of Nick Eldonian's orchestra that plays Tampico almost constantly.

The long que in front of the bookstore, a familiar procedure to ex-GIs, was made not a bit more pleasant by the bestowal of generous amounts of very wet rain by Jupiter Pluvius.

R. F. Greene Lauds Veterans' Houses

Pre-fabricated houses the university is planning to lease from the government to house veterans are something to look forward to, according to R. F. Greene, director of dormitories.

The government has been developing houses of this type since 1933, to house workers at dam projects and other construction projects. Continual improvements have made them unusually livable and convenient, Greene said.

These which will be received by the university will have either one or two bedrooms. The kitchen will contain built-in cupboards, sink, an electric icebox, range, and heater. The bath will also be complete. The bedrooms will include a full bed, portable dressing table, and clothes-closets. In the living room will be a daybed which can double as a bed, a dining table and four chairs, and cupboard space. Along the entire side of the living room will run an arrangement of window seats and bookcases.

All furniture and woodwork will be of a light neutral shade, as will the linoleum which covers all the floors. There will be a large amount of window space and full insulation throughout. The houses will be heated either by steam heat from the main plant or by oil heaters.

The department of buildings and grounds is in charge of moving and arranging of the houses on a plot of ground on Third and Line streets. Landscaping will also be planned by this department. The rent for these dwellings will be set by the government and will result in no profit to the university, Greene said.

He disclosed no definite date when the buildings will be ready for occupancy.

Rome's first aqueduct was built by consul Appius Claudius in 312 B.C. He also built the great Apian Way.

FIRE RALLY
Master of ceremonies, Ann Coach Babe Brown will be introduced. University students will dance at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Bucket ballroom to the music of Carl Patten's seven-piece orchestra. The first date, sport dance of the year is being sponsored by inter-fraternity and independent councils in cooperation with the Moscow Junior Chamber of Commerce. Tickets will sell at $1.20 per couple and will be sold at the door. Intermission entertainment is being planned.

An estimated saving of more than $3,000,000 a year through new methods of packing, baling and shipping goods has been effected by the Army Quartermaster Corps at its Philadelphia depot.

WARMING THE BENCH

By MIKE MILDER and JIM LEWY

As the WSC game draws closer, Idaho's Vandals are concluding special drills on the T-formation defense.

Babe's main concern is the vaunted T-formation that WSC has been featuring this year.

Washington State features a triple-threat star in Jack Perrault; Jack teams with Dick Abrams, 215-pound fullback.

Coach Phil Sorboe is making the best combination of his new material. His only former letterman is 180-pound Rbd Giske.

Oregon University's Webfoot squad of 60 men recently lost Ted Alexander, star freshman tackle, as a result of Uncle Sam's call.

Farragut's naval training station bluejackets have added Chief Spec (A) Jerry Stannard to their coaching staff.

With the end of the war and the University of Idaho's male population on the upgrade, the hottest rivalry in the Northwest will be taken up again with Idaho once more bidding for complete victory.

Vandals Prepare To Defeat Traditional Foe

Reserve Strength Assured By New Arrivals

Vandal chances of dumping its traditional foe, WSC, took on a brighter aspect this week with the arrival of six navy ROTC men and eight new civilian hopefuls.

Coach Brown, with the season's opener a scant three days away, was still undecided as to his starting lineup.

Probable backfield starters are either Phil Litzenger, Coeur d'Alene or Dick Nelson, Spokane at quarterback; Bert Garner, Emmett, or Stan Dragos, Spokane, at wingback; Jim Hatch, Coeur d'Alene, at left half, and Al Vallarano of Spokane at fullback.

New navy candidates are Bill Last, center, Cliff Windish, line-man. Windish is from Tomah, Wis. He is 23 years old and weighs in at 200 pounds.

Other new men are Tom Lyda, 195 pounds, six-two inch tackle from Nampa; Don Bullock, line-man from Grand Rapids, Mich.; Bill Sweet, 18, 165 pound, half-back from Meridian; Ted Hepper, end, 192 pounds from Meridian; Pat McCormack, 22, 155, backfield candidate from Madison, Wis.

Vandal offense will be centered around big Jim Hatch, at left half. Hatch is a passer, punter, and classy ball carrier and is slated to be the main cog in the Idaho single wing offense Saturday.

WSC's Coach Phil Sorboe is still uncertain as to his backfield starters but leans toward a combination of triple-threat Jack Perrault at the quarterback post, Bill Lippincott and Darroll Waller at halfbacks and big Dick Abrams at fullback.

His search for a strong forward wall still far from finished, Sorboe and head line coach "Buck" Bailey find their greatest strength at tackles. Rod Giske, 180 pounds, only returning cougar letterman and Chuck Wilson, 190, two-year letterman for Sorboe at Central Washington college are the leading tackle candidates and the only experienced men on the squad.

Other promising men are Wayne Hinchcliffe, 195 pounds; Phil Claymore, 185 pounds; Bob Doornick,

Coach Ryan Calls For Cross-Country Candidates

Mike Ryan, veteran Vandal track and cross-country mentor, called this week for candidates for the cross-country team.

Discussing prospects for this year's team he pointed out Jack Anderson, returning letterman, and outstanding runner for the past two years, will be back again in the No. 1 position.

Intramural sports have been planned for this fall, although no definite arrangements have been completed as yet, announced athletic director J. A. (Babe) Brown this week.

Chicago, Ill., is the world's greatest railroad center, served by 21 Class 1 railroads, and 14 switching and terminal companies.

210, and Jim Martin, 215. Martin is a former teammate of Idaho's Frank Viro.

MANAGERS

Several assistant managers are needed for the football team, according to Jack Goetz, team manager.

Murals To Start Within Next Week

Intramural sports have been planned for this fall, although no definite arrangements have been completed as yet, announced athletic director J. A. (Babe) Brown this week.

Activity will probably start within the next week.

Navy Adds Men To Grid Squad

Grid Coach Babe Brown and assistant Ben Dobbs smiled briefly this week as several navy R. O. T. C. men checked out suits for football practice.

The navy R.O.T.C. unit arrived on the campus this week but registration took up most of the week and the men are just starting to come out for practice.

Six navy men turned out for practice so far, and showed up very well. Although too late to gain starting berths in the WSC game, they are expected to play a lot of football for Idaho this fall.

The week center spot in the Vandal line was momentarily filled as two of the six candidates announced they would seek to win the pivotal post.

Promising men include Bill Last, 21-year-old 190-pound center from Oshkosh, Wis. Last, a leading contender for center, has both weight and experience needed so badly by the Idaho team.

Although Vance has had no previous college experience, he shows a lot of promise and will see plenty of action this fall. Jack Vaus, 20-year-old, 210-pounder, is the only R.O.T.C. member to win a starting berth. He is one of the quickest starting linemen on the squad, and will give Idaho much needed weight in the line.

Navy men out for backfield positions include Fred Jonas, 21, 133 pounds, of Elgin, Ill. Others out are Joe Large and Clayton Reningberger.
