The GOLDEN FLEECE

by Jason

What's In A Name?

Vandal spirit rose to new heights Saturday; however Idaho Vandal was never meant to be synonymous with unrestricted vandalism, which is our topic for discussion this week. College pranks cover a myriad of lesser evils but we don't believe that common theft of private property can be classed with tradition and humor. Living groups worked hard on their decorations this year, not only in competition with each other but to help give the whole campus some semblance of the Homecoming spirit. Jason thinks it's degrading to the student body as a whole that these decorations could not have been left intact for the individual houses to put away for future use, but the general spirit of revelry apparently called for destruction by roving bands of souvenir-seekers. If valuable property had not disappeared because of this, little attention would be paid. University property, however, was involved and athletic equipment, particularly football helmets, which had been loaned to certain houses to carry but the theme, was stolen.

The campus has seen cases similar to this before—it was once a practice to steal nameplates from the houses until committee action was taken against it. We'd like to see the same thing done in this case if the articles are not returned. Oh, Spirit, Where Art Thou?

It was our misfortune to be standing near a group of wise-appears during the fireworks display the night before homecoming. Their constant griping on the conduct of the rally and display brought home with painful realization that there are people on this campus who feel they are honoring the institution by making their worthy attendance. The meaning of appreciation must indeed be a stranger to their vocabulary. A more negative grouping of characters could hardly be imagined. The majority opinion seemed to be one of satisfaction with the affair, with the exception that a bit more speed between salvos would have helped. We have been freed with criticism of what the school has not done, so indeed must we say that the arrangements for homecoming in general were well carried out. Oh woe be unto the little grippers and squealing bobby-soxers; what a rude ride will they have when they find the world doesn't hand out perfection on a silver platter.

Amity—Can Thou Be Realized?

The annual parley between representatives of the Cougar clan and ourselves was held last night to hash over the ever-recurring problem of relations between schools. Each year the same daring acts are perpetrated by each side. A group of soused Pullmanites proudly and with much decorum carry our blue bucket home with them. A retaliatory group of our own hirsute buckoes wrest the sacred pail from the offenders by force, and on the triumphal homeward trek, pick up the cougar cage and all, whereupon he is trundled to his position of adornment of some fraternity lawn, or sorority front porch.

The exchange is enlivened every other year or so by a fling at paint daubing, but in general the routine is the same. Relations between the two schools should, in our opinion, consist of more than prankish insults. The majority of individual houses on our campus have chapters at WSC, and combined social functions should be possible. Rivalry is keen between ourselves and the Evergreeners, but that should not be a prelude to anti-social feelings toward them.

President Dale Reviews Idaho Reconversion

"Reconversion" of the University of Idaho from a wartime to peacetime operation was sketched briefly to the chamber of commerce by President Harrison C. Dale at their meeting last Wednesday.

The president principally reviewed the university's wartime role as a trainer of army and navy personnel, and reviewed the trends of enrollment through last year's low to the current enrollment that indicates a new upswing of student enrollment.

He listed the principal "head-aches" of reconversion as housing for faculty and married veteran students, and the task of integrating the returning faculty people from military leaves into their former positions and of obtaining teachers on one-year contracts in the face of regular staff members returning soon from military service. At one time 68 faculty people were on leave, he said.

Seven capital improvement projects were listed by the president to go before the state planning board at its forthcoming meeting for formal approval. Their total cost is estimated at $1,786,200. The list includes:

An agricultural building, $595,000; engineering building, $265,000.

Mrs. Phillips Visits

Arriving in Moscow today is Mrs. John O. Phillips, Jr., district governor and national representative of Alpha Phi. After spending several days in Pullman, Mrs. Phillips, whose home is in Seattle, Wash., will be here until Sunday.

Delegate To Help Idaho Veterans

Contact representative for the veterans administration, with headquarters in Moscow, is soon to arrive, according to word received from the veterans administration office on the campus.

The representative, who is yet to be named, will attempt to aid veterans in solving their problems. He will not be connected with the northern Idaho guidance center located on the campus. Veterans having problems concerning mustering out pay, allotments, or unemployment insurance, will be aided through the contact manager, who in turn will refer veterans to other departments if he is unable to give them assistance.

Other local veteran personnel include Marvin McLaughlin, training officer; C. H. Bond, who advises and assists veterans in selecting a vocational objective; and Dr. Henry Hansen, service officer.

Students Are Urged To Attend Game

Barbara Morris, yell queen, has announced that a special section in the WSC football stadium is being reserved for Idaho students attending the football game Saturday in Pullman.

All students are asked to attend the game and sit in the special section for the convenience of the cheer leaders in leading yells throughout the game.

Conference Is Scheduled For Women Students

Conference of associated women students from several schools is being scheduled by the AWS at Washington State College for November 16 and 17. AWS President Jean Thompson has announced. Representatives to the conference from the university will be Miss Thompson and another woman to be selected at an AWS meeting on Wednesday, November 31, from among students who will be on the campus next year.

Theme of the conference will center around the activities for which the associated women students of each school are responsible.

Associated women students are planning a play party for November 15. Committee heads are June Williams, Joella Gage, Ethel Jane Kopelman, Evelyn Fisher and Jane Meyer.

Miss Thompson said that plans for the revision of the AWS handbook, "Co-ed Code," which will be issued next spring, will be discussed at the next meeting.

Students Attend Joint Meeting With WSC Board

A delegation of Idaho students attended a joint meeting at Pullman last night with student officers of Washington State College to settle any differences between the schools. Students who attended from Idaho were Darwin Brown, ASUI president; Jack Anderson, co-editor of the Argonaut; Barbara Bloomsburg, independent council president; and Pat Hagen, president of panhellenic council. They were appointed as the Idaho delegation at the ASUI executive board meeting Tuesday night.

At the same meeting the report of class elections was read by President Darwin Brown and approved. Bill Carbaugh, president of the "I" club, asked that letter sweaters be awarded at a public ceremony. It was recommended that an athletic dance be sponsored for this purpose.

Recommendation of the publications board for the appointment of Romaine Galey as managing editor of the Argonaut was approved.

A special meeting has been arranged for tonight to discuss the purchase of uniforms for the university band.

Radio Club Elects New Chairmen

Glen Southworth was chosen general chairman of the radio club at a meeting last Thursday evening. Other officers include Marie Hampton, chairman of program committee; L. B. Brega, technical chairman; and Betty Jean Ingraham, administration chairman.

About 30 people are members of the club, which has grown out of the organization "Hams," which was started before the war, primarily for learning Morse code and using a short wave transmitter. The new club will also plan programs and broadcast over the campus. In time they hope to have a studio where practice in radio work can be obtained. A larger transmitter will also be built.

CHALLENGE

Co-editors of the Argonaut Jack Anderson and Pat Miller and ASUI President Darwin Brown have accepted a mutual challenge by editor of the Evergreen, June Johnson, and President of Board of Control of WSC Doris Pearson for representatives of the losing school in Saturday's game to walk to the winning school. This challenge was made at the WSC-Idaho meeting held last night in Pullman to promote friendly rivalry between the two schools. Representatives of the losing school will start at 12:30 November 3 to fulfill the challenge.

HATS OFF

A vote of thanks is due all the students who helped make the 1945 Homecoming such a terrific success. I especially want to thank Russ Severn, general chairman for the events and the committees under him.

Ben Martin was rally chairman with Louise Schlegel as his assistant. Other members of the committee included: Carl Nieworth, Earl Miller, Kyle Bates, Marina Dochlos, Eve Smith, Betty Ann Nelson, and Jackie Ritchie.

The dance committee chairman was Fred Keiper. Virginia Geddes was his assistant. Committee members were: Bill Hechtner, Cecilia Goddier, Irv Wentworth, Mary Kay Crawford, Alex Swanson, Keith Bing, and Don King.

Lalene Cargill and Walter Smith were co-chairmen for publicity. Their committee members included: Gil Camm; Lucille Thompson, Arthur Packingham, Will Defenbach, Vivian McLaughlin, Joella Gage and Bob Smith.

The reception committee had Gerry Merrill as chairman with Bonnie Burnside as assistant; Margaret Arnold, Evelyn Fisher, Chuck Schirferl, Twyla Shear, Donna Harding, Shirley Brandt and Lynn Hopkins were the committee members. Barbara Bloomsburg was the chairman of the decorations committee with Eleanor Andrew as assistant chairman. Darwin Brown.

Hammar Returns From War Work; Resumes Teaching

Dr. G. W. Hammar, who has been in Washington, D. C., since the summer of 1943 doing research work, returned to the university two months ago.

Head of the department of physics at Idaho, he was called to Washington during the war to work on the designing, developing, and testing of secret weapons, and to train our troops in the use of them. He was in charge of physics and mechanical engineering research and development, and worked in the Maryland research institute.

Dr. Hammar received his higher education at three state universities—Michigan, Washington, and Idaho. He attended Idaho for one year in 1917, returned in 1920 for two years and graduated in 1922, after which he was placed on the administrative staff. From 1924 through 1928 he was a graduate student and research fellow at the California Institute of Technology, where he received his doctor's degree. Dr. Hammar also attended the university in Upsala, Sweden, which he said was founded 50 years before America was discovered. In 1926 Dr. Hammar returned to the University of Idaho as a professor in the Physics department.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, and of the American Physical Society. He is one of the two remaining members of this society for professional physicists in the state of Idaho.

Major Byrne Visits During Homecoming

Major Maurice Byrne of Lewiston, a Homecoming visitor here Saturday, is awaiting his discharge from the U. S. army signal corps. At the beginning of the war, Major Byrne was sent to England to study English progress in radar. He returned from there as a liaison officer between the signal corps and the army college at Fort Belvoir, Va.

During his military service, he has developed certain radio circuits for which the army is securing him a patent. A graduate of the university in electrical engineering in 1937, Major Byrne expects to return to this region to live when he is released from the service.

Jury Chosen From Audience Decides Ending For Play

Homecoming Festivities Draw To End With Saturday Night Dance

Beginning with the women's serpentine Friday night, Idaho's 1945 Homecoming week-end was activity-packed until the festivities ended with the dance held Saturday in Memorial gymnasium, featuring Nick Stuart's orchestra from Hollywood.

Russ Severn was chairman of all homecoming events, and Ben Martin was in charge of the fireworks display held at McLean field after the rally and serpentine Friday.

During Saturday afternoon students, faculty, townspeople, and alumni witnessed the Vandal victory over the Grizzlies, and the retention of the traditional brown stein by a score of 40-0.

Events during the half-period of the game were the crowning of the Homecoming queen, Elizabeth Glenn, blonde Delta Gamma from Boise, by Darwin Brown, ASUI president, and awarding of cups for the best house decorations. Phi Gamma Delta won the men's cup, and Forney hall received the women's cup. Runners-up for the contest among women's living houses were Alpha Phi and Alpha Chi Omega; men's houses runners-up were Kappa Sigma and Delta Tau Delta.

Memorial gymnasium was packed with students and alumni dancing to the music of Nick Stuart's Hollywood orchestra Saturday. During intermission the queen was introduced and her favorite song, "As Time Goes By," was played. Idaho hailed the return of alumni to its first Homecoming since 1942. As many alumni did not register, registration figures totaling 65 are not an accurate indication of attendance.

Delegates Discuss Current Problems

Annual conference for school administrators was held at the university on October 19 and 20, according to J. F. Weltzin, dean of the school of education. Approximately 100 school executives, representing many school districts of Idaho, met and discussed current educational issues and problems.

The conference was called to order by Dean Weltzin, and President H. C. Dale welcomed the visitors on behalf of the university. The group was divided into three discussion sections after the opening meeting. Each section formulated resolutions to be presented to the whole group on the problems of teacher retirement, preparation of secondary school teachers, and guidance facilities and services.

The first meeting of this conference was held last year when it was decided to make it an annual event for the purpose of taking note of current administrative problems confronting Idaho education executives, to analyze those issues, and to provide an opportunity for the discussion of them.

Newspapers Want 'Idaho Briefs' For State News

Even though censorship bans have been removed from national and international news, editors of Idaho weeklies are still urgently in need of state news. "Idaho Briefs," news copy made up of rewrites from Idaho weekly newspapers and compiled each week by journalistic students, are for the purpose of circulating more news of state interest to weeklies in the state. Dr. William F. Swindler, journalism department head, reported today. "Beginning their second year of editing and distribution by the Idaho state editorial association, the briefs are written every week of the school year, while accompanying editorials will only be compiled during the first semester."

Following the first distribution of the briefs October 13, a letter was received by Dr. Swindler from John Olmstead, Grangeville editor of the Idaho County Free Press, stating that the "Idaho Briefs" have been a great help in the editing of the Free Press. The first "Idaho Briefs" appeared in 1943, but because of the war, compilations ceased and are just being resumed this year.

Officers of the group this year are Jewel Mays, president; Elizabeth Robinson, vice-president; Eve Smith, secretary; Donna Chapman, treasurer; and Joan Wittman, historian. Junior advisor is Joyce McMahon.

Formal pledging will be held Thursday at 5 p.m. at Forney hall.

Engineers Attend Buffet Dinner Saturday Night

Talks by three prominent engineers of this district were given at the dinner meeting last Saturday night of the northern branch of the Idaho Society of Engineers, attended by 40 members and wives. The buffet dinner and a program and business meeting were held in the university engineering building, sponsored by the engineering faculty.

Carl Smithwick, Spokane, district engineer of the Portland Cement association, spoke concerning present engineering opportunities. District Highway Engineer James Reid, Lewiston, discussed plans for Idaho's post-war highways, and William F. Hughes, city engineer of Lewiston, talked on "Travels by Air Ways." Dean L. C. Cady gave the welcoming address. Throughout the dinner, furnished by wives of the engineering faculty, recorded music was played, arranged for by the university radio club.

At the business meeting following dinner, Prof. G. A. Riedesel was appointed temporary chairman. He selected a committee to nominate officers for the coming year. Voting on those nominated will be by mail before the next meeting here December 15.

THANKS

Howard Leslie and Chet Kerr wish to express their gratitude to the student body for their response and cooperation given to the ad of last week. Without student aid the Bucket fountain would remain closed Saturdays.

Honorary Pledges Five Women To Membership

Idaho chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta tapped five women Monday during the dinner hour. Those tapped were Barbara Newell, Phi Beta Phi; Doris Ring, Gamma Phi Beta; Pauline Schaplowsky, and Ethel Turnley, Hays Hall; and June Carnie, Forney Hall.

Tapping for the honorary is based on scholarship and its membership is composed of women who made a 3.5 or over grade average during their first semester or as an average for their entire first year.

Officers of the group this year are Jewel Mays, president; Elizabeth Robinson, vice-president; Eve Smith, secretary; Donna Chapman, treasurer; and Joan Wittman, historian. Junior advisor is Joyce McMahon.

Formal pledging will be held Thursday at 5 p.m. at Forney hall.

Paul Hudson Writes Engineering Article

Paul K. Hudson, associate professor of electrical engineering, has written an article concerning the calibration of decibel meters, which has been published in the July issue of "Communications," a technical journal of the radio industry.

The article describes a simplified method of calibrating decibel meters and a way to make it possible to calibrate volt meters as decibel meters. This information is being put into use in many laboratories and schools throughout the country.

Publisher of the journal, in which the paper appears, is the Bryan S. Davis company of New York City.

Engineers Elect

George Walsh was elected president of the electrical engineers at a meeting held Wednesday, October 17. Vice president is Robert Bailey, and Herman T. Tilly and L. B. Brega of the naval ROTC unit are secretary and treasurer, respectively.

A picnic was held last night at Robinson Lake, and proposed activities for the year have been discussed.

Did beautiful Karen Andre kill Bjorne Faulkner on the night of January 16 or is he still alive when she is put on trial for his murder? Is the mysterious stranger who appears so dramatically at the end of the second act of the ASUI mystery drama, "Night of January 16th," her accomplice? What is the verdict the jury will bring in?

No one knows. Not Miss Jean Collette, director of the production. Not J. T. Peterson, or Bob Booth, who play the prosecuting and defense attorneys. Not even Polly Harris, who portrays Karen Andre herself.

No one will know until the night of the play, November 16 and 17, for the jury will be members of the audience selected at random and called for jury duty at the beginning of the first act each night. They will sit on stage in the jury box, listen to the evidence presented, and render the verdict to determine Karen's fate at the conclusion of the play. The cast is preparing two endings, one for either verdict. The evidence is so evenly divided that both denouements are equally acceptable. It is quite possible the two audiences will see two very different endings if the juries for the two performances should disagree.

The audience is brought close into the action of the play in another way. The entire auditorium, instead of just the stage, is being used as the courtroom set. While the judge's bench and the witness stand are on stage, the audience of the play acts as the audience of the trial. When witnesses are called to the stand, they will come up from the audience as they would in a regular courtroom. These "planted" witnesses will have certain seats reserved for them at each performance.

These are only two of the unique variations that make "Night of January 16" a thrilling entertainment, rocking with uncertainty and suspense.

Rehearsals are proceeding as scheduled, according to Elizabeth Hadley and Lois Fox, assistants to Miss Jean Collette, director. Two changes have been made in the cast. Dean Mosher will play the bailiff and Don Bullock will portray Sweeney, the policeman.

Some student group is at work on the production nearly every hour of the day, the assistants said. The cast practices every school night in the auditorium, and special rehearsals are held Tuesday and Thursday afternoons for the three NROTC students in the play. Additional time is being given to bits of difficult stage business.

Individual direction is being given members of the cast during free periods, especially those whose lines require a special dialect, such as Patty Kulzer and A/S Maurice Paulsen, who play Swedish roles, and Jean Kittenbach, who is cast as a negress.

The technical staff, under the direction of Mary Stanek and Betty Smith, is doing its part in

TICKETS!

Students may obtain tickets for the Idaho-Washington State game at the Student Union Book Store until late Friday afternoon for 75 cents and ASUI slip No. 4. These tickets are good ONLY FOR THE STUDENT WHO BUYS THEM. If any non-student presents them at the gate, he will not be admitted.

Tickets are also on sale for non-students at the book store, Hotel Moscow and the Owl Drug store. These cost $2.

It is especially important that students buy their tickets promptly, for THE SPECIAL RATE WILL NOT BE EFFECTIVE AFTER THE TICKETS GO OFF SALE AT THE BOOK STORE FRIDAY.

Ted Sherman, Graduate Manager.

THE MOANING AFTER . . .

"Drink, chug-a-lug"—this gurgling ditty has become the theme song of a group of alcohol AIs on the campus who are pursuing the ancient art of tipping to lengths that would cause Bacchus to give a low whistle of admiration and awe. At the last football game, a couple of these hip-pocket Harries misjudged their capacity, and instead of stopping when they reached a rosy glow, soaked themselves into a state of being absolutely slopped. Gradually the enveloping arms of morpheus enveloped them and they were oblivious to what went on about them.

Unfortunately the participants in the debacle couldn't see the ludicrous spectacle they made slumbering woosily through the game. Drinking in moderation has little in the way of offense to society, but when publicly carried into excess, it presents a revolting aspect.

Recent occurrences on and about the campus recall the old stock phrase "gasoline and alcohol don't mix." Youth is being constantly scrutinized by an older generation, and untoward happenings are magnified under the microscope of public opinion. Young people as a class are inclined to be impetuous, to act first and meditate afterward, but it should not take super-intelligence to see that college students as a whole are judged by the acts of a few.

University authorities cannot be expected to take for granted such actions. A normal person of college age is expected to discern the difference between right and wrong, and to act accordingly. When the boom is lowered, the same parties will bleat piteously about the harshness of any ruling, but they will have no one but themselves to blame. —J.A.

Graduate Marries Personality Here Friday

The marriage of Miss Winifred Christianson, daughter of Mrs. Katharine May Christianson, to Robert John Bessey, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Bessey of East Lansing, Mich., was solemnized at the Presbyterian church of Moscow Friday afternoon. The Rev. John D. Furnas officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Staff Sgt. Earl Goerke. Dorothy Jean Ricks was maid of honor, and bridesmaid was Ann Smith. Virgil R. Baker, university geology instructor, served as best man, and Dr. Boyd Martin and Rev. Warren E. Fowler were ushers.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Idaho where she was affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority. For the past year she has been serving her internship in dietetics at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Bessey is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is assistant professor of physics at the university.

Co-eds Teach School

Among university home economic students teaching in Idaho schools as a part of the regular student teaching training are Marilyn Lester and Camille Labine. Miss Lester is spending this week in Grangeville, and Mrs. Labine is teaching in Orofino.

Theta To Wed Lt.

Miss Patricia Bridewell announced her engagement to Lt. Doh Erickson at a dinner given Tuesday evening at Kappa Alpha Theta.

Lt. Erickson is on leave from the army air corps and hopes to enter the university next semester. Both Miss Bridewell and Lt. Erickson are from Spokane and have made no definite plans.

WHO CARES

The Kappa Sig pledges, always noted for doing things in a big way, added their annual sneak in a sensational manner. With their usual verve, they filled their getaway car into a ditch somewhere between Lewiston and Moscow. The only serious casualty was the car roof, which suffered severe lacerations and bruises when Keith Finlayson poked the top of his noggin, through to view the surrounding countryside. Finny and head are doing nicely thanks, although he swears he's two inches shorter now.

Leroy Beeson has the unique distinction of being the only boy on the campus who has gone calling on his girl after hours clad only in, we blush to admit, his scanties. In this shameful condition Leroy was forcefully introduced to the housemother and several of the girls. Unabashed Beeson would be camped on the Gamma Phi steps yet except for the untie (ring) efforts of Frances Adam.

Jane Meyers proved herself the winnah and champeen of Hays hall last week when she engaged two of the huskier frosh in a friendly little tussle. The encounter was extremely lady-like—meaning all parties concerned could walk home. Spectators report that prexy Jane could give a grizzly bear the first two bites and still come out on top at the end of the third.

Jack Wolff, from the house with the big blue door, will probably wonder about his masculine charms when he hears that Helene Rogers has been slamming the DG door in his face a full half hour early. Helene, of course, will plead innocence on the grounds that even her best friends wouldn't tell her that sophomores have 9:30 permission.

When Lonny Mays sat down in a cozy love seat on the darkened Pi Phi sun porch, Ensign Harlow McKinney who used to call SAE joints, got extremely utico-operal in a hurry. Pulling out a chair on the other side of the room, "Dopey," McKinney, as he is known to his friends, was heard to murmur, "A fellow can't be too careful these days." . . . And you asked why they call him "Dopey"?

Kappa, Kappie McKalister (try that one with a mouthful of crackles) is a sadder but wiser little pledge this week. Mike Oswald, who ought to know better, talked her into chipping in on a football pool that the Phi Deltas have cooked up. As a football prophet, Kappie makes a swell tap dancer and as a result her jeans now jingle 75 cents lighter.

While we're on the subject of games of skill and chance, consider the case of Fred Keiper and Allan Stanley who can be found at a Wednesday afternoon at Shorty's amusement emporium helping to pay the overhead on the Fiji house with 25 cent rummies.

This week's silly story is about the plumber in a girl's house who wandered unawares into a shower room which was very much in use. As he dashed out he came face to face with the housemother who said with the poise and charm for which housemothers are noted "Skinny little thing, isn't she?"

Phi U Fireside Held For New Students

In honor of new students majoring in home economics, Phi Upsilon Omicron held a fireside Thursday evening in Hays hall. Clara Beth Young, president, gave a short history of the organization, and Miss Margaret Ritchie, head of the department of home economics, also spoke.

Other numbers on the program consisted of a vocal solo by Eleanor Stallna and a reading by Marilyn Lester. Refreshments were served, and the fireside was concluded by community singing.

Fountain Speaks At Sigma Zeta Meet

Dr. F. C. Fountain of the dairy science department was the speaker at the Sigma Zeta dinner meeting held Tuesday at the Moscow hotel. His subject was "A Comparison of the Nutritive Value of Certain Fats."

Approximately 40 scientists from the university and Washington State college attended.

Church Groups Active; Schedule Social Events

Tentative plans are being made by the Episcopal church for a hayride Sunday for all Canterbury members, Warren E. Fowler, pastor, reported yesterday. Eve Smith, chairman of the affair, reported that a definite meeting time and place would be announced later.

Installation of newly elected officers of the Lutheran Students association will be held Sunday at the First Lutheran church in collaboration with Our Savior's Lutheran. Officers elected Sunday for the school year include Wendell Swenson, president; O. K. Haugen, vice president; Lucille Nelson, secretary, and LaVerne Nelson, treasurer. Ida Mae Peterson and Betty Landvatter were elected as representatives to the inter-church council. Installation ceremonies will begin at 5 p.m., followed by a brief vesper service. A Halloween party will be held after the installation in the church basement. A reformation rally, to which all Lutheran students are invited, will be held October 31 at 8 p.m. at the church. A choir, under the direction of Joseph Brye, will sing several numbers, after which brief talks will be given by the Reverends J. M. Groschopf and Harold Belving of Spokane.

LDS Meet

A Tuesday night meeting of all LDS students was held at the LDS Institute, George H. Tanner, director, reported. W. J. Wilde of the school of business gave a talk on "Drifting or Planning." Lorraine Stewart also spoke briefly on the "Traditions of the Campus." Delva Curtis played a piano solo, "Romance."

First annual Westminster Guild dinner Tuesday, October 16, was attended by 133 university women. A meal was prepared and served to them by women of the Presbyterian church.

Between courses, women were entertained with musical numbers including a vocal solo by Evelyn Deering accompanied by Winifred Tovey, and a violin solo by Bernice Bakes accompanied by Beverly Allison.

The dinner meeting was concluded with group singing, and a brief resume of the guild program was given by Dorothy Bowell.

Members of Westminster Guild are planning a meeting November 6 on the campus. All Presbyterian students are invited to attend the church program at the Blue Bucket at 7 p.m.

Alumni took the spotlight at the First Methodist church over the week-end, when they returned to Moscow and their church Sunday. Former Wesley Foundation members gave brief talks. Included among them were Jean Beadles, Drexel Brown Hanley and Betty Ann Hayworth. Other short

'Seein' Salts

with Ed Keath

High 101 and forty-six wheels to home, with a friendly, if somewhat grubby, nod in the direction of Babe Brown's Montana reception committee, we settle down to review the latest arrivals in skuttle-butt harbor.

First, let's toss a pair of orchids to Clay Ringenberg and Morris "Chuck" Klein, those strapping salts who contributed so lustily to the bruising of the Bruin. You may be interested to know that Clay, who accepts counters only by the clusters, hails from Newton, Iowa, and has been wearing the blue for 28 months now, serving as a raderman in four major engagements before entering the NROTC program. On top of all that, we've heard that he's definitely a sky guy.

Husky Mr. Klein, mentioned here before as grand master of the P.T. department, draws on college guidance experience with the University of Miami and two seasons on the forward wall of the highly touted Great Lakes sailors. If he proves as effective in opening holes against WSC, both in the line and in enemy skulls, the Cougar may well crawl back to the lair with his tail in a splint.

Turning from bone crushing momentarily, we must certainly add, on behalf of the entire crew, a word of appreciation to the commanding officer for the special liberty granted all trainees last Friday night to attend the pep rally and mixer. Sighs of deep down contentment were echoed and re-echoed through Willis Sweet, becoming particularly heavy after reveille Saturday morning. The fellows, especially the more romantic salts who find it difficult to compete with civilian students on a Wednesday evening 'til 7:45 and Saturday afternoon-Sunday basis, were most grateful and expressed the hope that Friday's liberty was the forerunner of a slight liberalization in the liberty schedule.

The young ladies of Tri-Delt have planned an exchange for forty fortunate mariners October 31. . . . Apparently not to be out-done by their Moscow sister, Chi Omega chapter at WSC has extended an invitation to "trainees and their friends" to make the nine mile junket to Pullman for an open house after Saturday's game.

Here's something of an afterthought on Homecoming which should take the nature of a gripe. A number of the RO's who have attended college before have expressed the opinion that at least speeches were given by Marian Haddock, Carolyn Clear, Jean Seitz and Donna Chapman. Edith Schoch was in charge of the devotions, and Jane Meyer, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Kappa Phi pledges met at 5 p.m. Monday at Delta Delta Delta. Clara Rowell, vice president in charge of the pledge class, explained the point system to them. Another meeting will be held Monday at 5:15 at Delta Delta Delta. Officers will be elected at this meeting.

one aspect of Saturday's festivities could have been improved upon: the coronation of the homecoming queen. With all due respect to "Brownie," say they, the business could have been carried off less in competition with a performing band on the field, less like the auction of five pounds of smoked herring. The "crowning" touch was definitely the cardboard emblem itself which had apparently been tried on an elephant for size. Hardly a fit tribute to a lovely girl.

Golf Hears List As Minor Sports Season Begins

Although the material that has turned out for the various minor sports is good, there isn't enough in any one sport to warrant entry in the Northern Division Minor Sports Program. This program works exactly the same as the major sports, with teams taking trips to the various universities for their particular type of competition.

Coach Bill Ramsey, who is in charge of all minor sports at the present time, asserts that a man doesn't have to have acquired perfection in any sport in order that he turn out for it. The idea behind any sport is to come out when a freshman, and by the time the athlete is a junior or senior he will have a good competitive knowledge in the sport of his choosing. This not only helps build the student physically and mentally, but it shows a definite spirit behind his school.

The coaching situation is still acute, as Coach Ramsey cannot handle all the coaching duties. He is still looking for a boxing and wrestling coach. A student coach is perfectly in accordance with amateur regulations. If any man wishes to compete and also coach boxing or wrestling, he should contact Bill Ramsey immediately.

All minor sport turnouts take place daily at 4:00 p. m. at Memorial gym in their respective rooms.

Golf comes under the heading of minor sports, but it is handled strictly from the University golf course under the very capable direction of Frank James.

The golf team completed last year in local competition with Washington State, and, captained by Tom Ryan, won three out of

Vandals Down Grizzlies 46-0; Cougars Next On List

Bruins Dumped In First Idaho Conference Win

By JIM PEARCE

The Idaho Vandals, coming into their own for the first time in four starts, swarmed under the Montana State Grizzlies by a 46-0 count in last Saturday's Homecoming game at Neale stadium. Nearly 4500 chilled fans saw the Silver and Gold squad, behind the superlative ball-packing and passing of Jim Hatch and Clay Ringenberg, and Frank Viro and Chuck Klein's charging tactics at the forward wall, keep the visitors on the defensive through nearly the whole 60 minutes of play. Only once did the Grizzlies penetrate deep into Idaho territory, this on a recovered fumble on the 21-yard line.

Idaho's first score of the game came after 2 minutes of play. Hatch, carrying the ball on two reverses dashed over for the first tally. Viro's kick was good and the Vandals led 7-0. Six plays after Munden's kickoff, Montana had moved the ball up to their 30 where Hatch intercepted Gallagher's pass. The Vandals temporarily lost possession of the ball on a pass interception, but soon had it back on Montana's 36 when acting-captain Barnes recovered Gallagher's fumble. From there Hatch advanced the ball to the 10 yard line. Johnson smashed two plays through the center of the line to make the second score, and Viro's kick was good, giving the Vandals a 14-0 lead.

Soon after the start of the second quarter, Ringenberg gained 2 first downs on off tackle dashes and Sweet gained another on a 26 yard sprint to the Montana 25. Sweet and Ringenberg hit the line for another first on the Montana 11, from where Ringenberg bulled his way across the line for the third Vandal score. Viro again booted the ball through the uprights making the score 21 for Idaho.

Viro's kickoff was fumbled by Thorsrud and recovered by Jordan on the Montana 25. Ringenberg dashed through a hole in the Grizzly line and was finally downed on the 9 yard line. Paasch swerved off tackle for the remaining 9 yards to a touchdown. Viro's kick this time was wide, and Idaho led 27 to 0.

Soon after the kickoff, Paasch intercepted Stephens' pass and carried it 10 yards back to the Grizzly 37. Hatch was forced to kick the first Idaho punt which was taken by Kalisch to the Montana 24. Gallagher quick-kicked to the Idaho 24. Two plays later Hatch hit center and kept going 68 yards before being stopped on the Montana 5 yard line. Four plays failed to dent the suddenly stiffened Grizzly line and Montana took over on the 2. Gallagher punted Montana out of danger and the half ended with Idaho in possession of the ball on the Montana 26.

Ringenberg took the second half kickoff and carried it back 31 yards to the Montana 44. An exchange of fumbles put the ball in Idaho's possession on the Montana 46. Ringenberg took the ball and broke through guard, going 46 yards for another Vandal touchdown. Viro's kick was wide and Idaho led Montana by a 33 to 0 margin.

After three minutes of the final quarter, Hatch tossed a long aerial to Buoy, good for 46 yards and a touchdown. Viro's kick was good and the Vandals added 7 points to their total, making the score 40 to 0.

After taking Munden's kickoff on the 5, Montana started their only drive of the day by taking Clayton Ringenberg, Vandal left halfback and a navy ROTC student, steps into the spotlight this week for turning in a bang-up ball game last Saturday. Clay, better known in campus circles as "Ringie" clipped off a lot of yardage against Montana, setting up touchdowns which enabled the Vandals to soundly over score the Montanans.

After two and one-half years overseas duty, "Ringie" returned three months ago from Okinawa, coming directly to the Idaho campus. The speedy halfback hails from Newton, Iowa, and turned in one semester of "outstanding" ball at Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Iowa.

"Ringie" tips the scales at 175 and is 21 years of age, a freshman, and will undoubtedly turn in more mighty fine football before his collegiate career is finished. It's really great to see the way you have adopted the old Vandal spirit, "Ringie"; we'll be seeing you do your stuff against those Cougars this Saturday at Rogers field.

the ball to the Vandal 45. After two Montana penalties, Fleming kicked out of bounds to the Idaho 16. Hatch, taking the ball around right end, fumbled when hit hard, but Munden scooped up the ball on the 31 and ran the remaining 69 yards for Idaho's seventh touchdown. Viro's kick was partially blocked and the game ended with a 46 to 0 score over Montana.

The University of Colorado held its first big Homecoming since the beginning of the war, Oct. 6.

Harriers Prepare For Initial Meet With Cougars

Twenty-five men were on hand at the start of the cross country season, with one cross country letterman, Jack Anderson, and five other track aspirants from last year, as a nucleus, according to Coach Mike Ryan. Ray Hall, Robert Deal, Leroy Beeson, Bob Humphrey, and Dean Mosher are the running veterans from last year's track team.

A series of injuries, the most Ryan's team has ever had in one season, has definitely hampered the chances of producing a winning team. Sherman Saylor, number two man for the team, was injured in an activities class. Arthur Humphrey has a strained muscle in his upper leg as a result of the "I" Club skating initiation. Jack Rowe and Dick Harden received injuries while engaged in intramural football. Three of the above-mentioned men would normally be finishing in the first seven men, but Coach Ryan is doubtful if they'll be fully recovered for the first race of the season.

Saturday morning at 10:30 a.m. is the official opening of the Intercollegiate Cross Country season. The Vandals meet the Cougar harriers in the initial meet of the season. Fifty men will be running the three mile race, thirty from WSC, and twenty from the U. of I. The race will start at Rogers field and finish there.

Jack Anderson and Roy Nuckolls will re-open their feud for top honors in the Palouse Empire.

Mike Ryan, who is going into his second decade as cross country mentor, has a very creditable record concerning the Idaho-WSC cross country series. Varsity Vandal harriers have won seven out of nine encounters, while the freshman distance men have won eight out of nine encounters.

Representing the Vandals this week at Pullman will be Jack Anderson, Sherman Saylor, William Taubeneck, Arthur Humphrey, Dean Mosher, John Beuscocker, Alvin Denman, Leroy Beeson, Ray Hall, Jack Rowe, Bob Peters, Phil Johnson, Ken Curtis, Bryan Hopkins, Dick Harden, Charles Oaks, Joe Rumble, Robert McLaughlin, Richard Lingenfelter, and Robert Deal.

Coach Ryan announces an intergroup track meet will take place Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. The events will be as follows:

Monday—70 yard dash, 880 yard run, 60 yard high hurdles, pole vault, and discus.

Tuesday—150 yard dash, one mile run, 120 yard low hurdles, javelin, and running high jump.

Wednesday—Quarter mile run, two mile run, running broad jump, and the twelve pound shot.

I.R.C. Meeting Set For Thursday

Meeting night of the International Relations club has been changed from Friday to Thursday from 7 to 8:30 p. m. in the "Blue Bucket" due to the numerous activities scheduled on Friday night.

The meeting this week will consist of a news digest and analysis of the month's events and will feature Dr. Boyd A. Martin and Robert E. Hosack as speakers.

At a meeting of representatives of houses held Thursday, Romaine Galey was elected president of the group, succeeding Ada Mae Rich. Secretary of the club is now Cecilia Goodier.

The organization is voluntary and for both students and faculty; meetings are open to anyone who wishes to attend.

Here's More About JURY CHOSEN

bringing the show to completion. Louise King, stage manager, and A/S Preston Hagland report that work on the courtroom set is almost finished. Clair Becker says her only difficulty in costuming the show is finding civilian clothes to fit the three navy men in the cast, suitable for a metropolitan physician, a bookkeeper, and a gangster. A/S James Wolter and A/S Angus McKay, stage electricians, are planning lighting effects for a blackout sequence in the third act while the jury retires to render the verdict.

Football Star Dies In Auto Crash

Ted Bucklin, Boise, former university football star, was killed October 19, when his automobile crashed into the concrete abutment of the Idaho canal bridge, two miles north of Idaho Falls.

Captain of the Idaho Falls football team of 1921, he played varsity football at the university and later played professionally. He was district agent for the Texas company at Boise.
