

P.E.? — PU!

Today we are playing that old parlor game called "Who Done It?" The topic will be Idaho's PE department. What instructor in the PE department hasn't held a meeting of a class all semester, yet will be giving a final exam in that class?

What instructor has charge of freshman activities, a supposedly diversified athletic program, and has spent 15 weeks on the royal art of fencing?

Why weren't officials available for intramural touch-football, and why was the entire program turned over to students to operate when a director had been appointed?

What PE instructor turned in an unfavorable report to the veterans office without warning when the veteran failed to attend four "classes" from said instructor?

What instructor attends his PE classes in street clothes and attends long enough to take roll?

What instructor in the opinion of the majority of his students is not competent enough to teach the courses taken by the average PE major?

What member of the coaching staff set a fine example for athletes to follow by getting roaring drunk on a road trip to Washington?

What instructor has classes in coaching basketball, in which students ask for instruction, and are told to read a book?

Who paid the doctor bills incurred on a basketball trip a year or so ago when a player known to have heart trouble was allowed to play without a physical examination, developed acute sinus and was hospitalized for two or three weeks?

Why aren't all branches of sports required to have physical exams before a participant can turn out?

Why hasn't the physical education department had a meeting of its members for nearly three years?

There are other questions we could ask, but they might prove embarrassing to the school as a whole so cannot be raised.

Why all the questions? What business is it of ours?

What's the matter, isn't the department running? Why raise a fuss, so conditions aren't ideal, we're lucky to have a department. These and possibly a few other thoughts may cross your mind. We aren't griping just to have something to say; we just feel that the conduct of members of the department does not coincide with the policies advocated by that department.

Trouble Is At The Top

Idaho has begun to beat the athletic drum. Vandal teams are beginning to come out of the door-mat stage in Northern Division athletics. Athletes will begin to come to Idaho, once the curse of lethargy and defeatism has been broken. Under the present program, athletes are handicapped in some respects instead of helped.

To cite a specific example—if an Idaho hurdler should set a Northern Division or Pacific Coast record using our athletic facilities, it would not be recognized, for our type of hurdles are antiquated by 10 years and hence are not official.

Students are not asking for luxurious and unnecessary equipment, or renowned high-paid coaches; they merely want decent, adequate equipment and instructors who do not show their ignorance by their arrogance. This is not too much to expect from a school which travels in as big a league as the Pacific Coast Conference.

Some will say, "Yes, but our school hasn't money to spend like other schools"—perhaps that is true to some extent, but if true, the fault lies at home. Maybe we need someone at the top who will put on some drive, and fight for appropriations, who will get behind and cooperate with the student body.

One reason for lack of finance lies in the fact that Idaho is perhaps the only land-grant college in the Northwest that has to pay part of its coaching salaries out of its student body funds. About $8,000 a year goes out of the ASUI fund for that purpose. This amount of money, if applied to the Idaho athletic plant, would set it up as one of the finest in the country. The state pays the salaries of teachers in other departments; why not in the athletic department? Isn't the money available? Or hasn't any serious effort been made to put pressure on the legislature for enough money to run the school properly?

Colleges as a whole are coming out of the war period with the emphasis on expansion—Idaho will be left far behind unless facilities are improved both qualitatively and quantitatively. —J.A.

Government Allocates Additional Veteran Housing

FPHA Retains Possession Of Eight Prefab Units

PICTURES

All veterans enrolling in the university next semester are requested to make arrangements with Hutchison's Studio to have their pictures taken as soon as possible—deadline date will be February 20.

Senior questionnaires should be turned in to the Gem office immediately. Town students, who haven't yet received questionnaires, may obtain them from the Gem office at any time.

Students still holding proofs are urged to turn them in to Hutchison's Studio immediately.

Allocation of 105 additional temporary housing units to the city of Moscow and the university this week brought the total number of dwellings for use of war veterans to 231. A telegram received by President Harrison C. Dale announced the allocation by the federal public housing authority.

Eighty family-type units were released to the university. These will remain the property of the federal government which will pay the cost of transportation and erection, while the university will provide water, sewer and heating facilities. The units will be set up between Third and Line streets, subject to government inspection of the proposed site.

Applications are pending for 21 more pre-fabricated dwellings to supplement the 26 already allocated, and 100 more trailers in addition to 100 in process of removal from the Hanford project.

Plans are under consideration by the Moscow Chamber of Commerce and the American Legion for sending delegates to Washington, D.C. Purpose of the delegation would be to stress the need for "cutting red tape" so surplus housing units could be made available to married veterans who will attend the university under veterans' welfare legislation. This action was a result of the suggestion made by Governor Arnold Williams that the chambers of commerce take the lead in securing adequate housing for veterans throughout the state.

Open House Planned

Independent Council is sponsoring open house at Ridenbaugh, Hays and Forney halls for all independent students on February 16 from 9-12 p.m. There will be games and dancing at all of the women's halls. An invitation to attend is extended to all independent students on the campus and those living in town.

Jersey Home Is Scene In U. I. Play

By MAURICE PAULSEN

Thornton Wilder's play, "The Skin of Our Teeth" promises to be one of the most unusual productions presented to the Associated Students of the University of Idaho.

The play is scheduled for production February 21, 22, and 23, under the direction of Miss Jean Collette.

It has been called a fantasy, a satire, a riotous comedy, making it difficult to classify it as anything. Because it romps through all eternity without thought to time or space, it is easily a fantasy. Because it has in many places brilliant analogy, it is satire. Because it is exceedingly funny, it certainly is comedy. But what do you call a play in which the scenery moves about of its own volition, where the actors step out of character every five minutes to chat with the audience, where the stage manager is forced to (Continued on page 2, col. 1)

Dean Weltzin Announces Requirement Changes

Academic Council has approved the changes made in the requirements for degrees in the school of education, according to Dean J. Frederick Weltzin. The following changes have been made in the degree requirements for B.S. (Ed.): From the former major requirement of 18 semester credits in two fields, to a requirement of a major of 30 semester credits with two minors of 15 semester credits, or a composite major of 40 semester credits and a minor of 18 semester credits; from a laboratory science requirement of 4 semester credits to 8 semester credits with Biology 1 and 2 recommended; from a requirement of Ed. 113, Secondary Education, 3 credits, to a choice between Ed. 113 and Ed. 111, The Junior High School, 3 credits; from a requirement of "3 or 4" semester credits of Student Teaching to a requirement of 4 semester credits of Student Teaching; deletion of the requirement of Ed. 55, Idaho Law, Manual and Civics, 2 credits; from "History, Political Science, Social Science or Philosophy, 6 credits" to State Government, 3 credits, and either American Government, Pol. Sc. 1 or 2, or American History, 3 credits; from a general requirement of 6-8 credits in "P.E. or Military" to a requirement that the work in Physical Education include, P.E. 88, First Aid, 2 credits; and the general requirements will total 53-55 credits, and a major of 30 credits with a minor of 30 credits, or a major of 40 credits with a minor of 18 credits. Changes were also made in commercial education and music education. These programs have been developed to meet the requirements of certification laws in Idaho and other states, the requirements of accrediting associations, the requirements of various city school (Cont. on page 3, col. 2)

Group Abandons Idea For New Recording Plan

Representatives of AWS decided yesterday to abandon the idea of installing a new women's activity recording plan, Jean Thompson president, announced.

The plan, which necessitated a change in the group's constitution, would have created the new office of recorder to substitute the honorary office of yell queen. The woman elected as recorder would keep a complete file of each university woman's activities.

Following discussion of the proposal, the group decided that for the amount of work necessary to install the plan and the responsibility placed on one committee, the file would not be used enough to warrant the change.

Next meeting of AWS will be held February 20 at 5 p.m., in the student union building.

Dale Defers Action On SUB Reports

President Harrison C. Dale, to whom the Student Union reports were submitted last Thursday, announced that he was "much impressed with the fine quality of the reports."

The president, who has been ill for the last few days, went over the reports only briefly, stating that he would call in for a discussion the people concerned with them at the earliest possible date. He has not yet disclosed the date when he will submit the papers to the board of regents.

A forum discussing the reports was held Tuesday over radio station KUOI with Darwin Brown, Gale Mix, Ada Mae Rich, Velma Wilkerson, Mary MacRae, and William Thomson participating.

Registrar States Enrollment Days

Registration for the second semester will be held February 11 and 12, according to D. D. DuSault, registrar. A number of new sections have been scheduled, and since many of them are not too desirable, students are urged to register early so they will not be forced to take afternoon classes.

No changes have been made in the test schedule. A new timetable with a number of corrections will be issued February 9. It is reported that approximately 300 new students and 300 former students plan to enroll second semester.

Expansion Planned

Provisions are being made to add another major in the field of psychology, in addition to the ones now offered in the school of Letters and Science, according to Dr. J. W. Barton, head of the department. This additional major will be under the school of education and will not require as much preparation in the biological sciences. It will offer new opportunities for students who may want to teach psychology or perhaps do some type of social work

Bookstore

Chester Kerr, manager of the bookstore, requested today that students use the lounge door to enter the bookstore during the first week of the new semester. Only this entrance should be used from February 11 to 16, inclusive.

Women Try Out As Singers For Orchestra

A talent hunt for outstanding feminine singers from Moscow, Pullman, and vicinity is being launched by orchestra leader Don Barnett of Pullman, in cooperation with KWSC. Barnett and his 11-piece band will start a new Tuesday evening 15-minute show over the college station at 7:15, February 5.

Women interested in trying out for a singing post with the orchestra are being asked to contact John Blake, head of the special events division of KWSC, by phoning Pullman 9021 for their preliminary audition. Those who pass this will then get an air audition on a Tuesday evening in the near future. A board of student judges, plus mail and phone vote of listeners, will determine the winners, who may also have a chance to sing on a series of Friday night broadcasts Barnett's band is tentatively planning.

Dean Of Women Issues Regulations For Second Semester Rush Parties

Women rushees will attend the Panhellenic tea February 13 when sorority rushing for the second semester will begin. Following parties by the six sororities that intend to pledge women, rushing will end Saturday, February 16. Houses that will entertain the rushees at dinner are Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Phi, and Delta Delta Delta. Firesides for the women will be given by Delta Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, and Alpha Chi Omega.

Mrs. Louise Carter, dean of women, announced the following procedure for rushees to follow. Rushees sign for rushing in Dean of Women's office by February 13.

Rushees meet at Hays hall at 3:45 p.m., February 13, for Panhellenic tea. Rushees call for invitations between 9 and 12 a.m., February 14, at AWS office in the student union.

Written acceptances or regrets should be written and returned to the dean of women. Dinners will last from 6 to 8 p.m., and firesides from 8:30 to 10 p.m.

Invitations to join a group house will be issued Saturday morning between 10 and 12 a.m., at the Panhellenic headquarters in the student union.

Waltzin to Speak

Dean J. Frederick Weltzin will attend a meeting of the National Association of Colleges and Departments for Education in Kansas City, Mo., February 20, 21, and 22. He will lead a discussion on possibilities for procedures for standardizing core, undergraduate, professional courses.

Soloists Present Program For Early Birds Club

Robert Walls, assistant professor of voice in the music department and tenor soloist, and Betty Meagher, junior voice student of Mr. Walls, sang before the Early Birds Breakfast club last Thursday night in Spokane.

Mr. Walls, by request, included in his program the ballad "Blue-Tail Fly," which reputedly was Abraham Lincoln's favorite song. He included Malotte's setting of "The Lord's Prayer," and "Sing a Song of Sixpence" for his solo group on the program.

Miss Meagher sang several numbers with Mr. Walls, including "Thine Alone," "Make Believe," "I've Told Every Star," and "With a Song in My Heart." Miss Meagher's own part of the program featured "Estrallita" and several other soprano selections.

Appearing before the same club in February will be Joseph Brye and Hall Macklin, who will do a program of duo-piano music and marimba selections by Mr. Brye. Mr. Macklin accompanied Mr. Walls and Miss Meagher for their program Thursday evening.

NOTICE

Men and women students are urged to take advantage of the mixed chorus group being organized for next semester. The course will be listed as University Singers in the time schedule, and will be taught Monday and Thursday during eighth period. No try-outs are required for membership in this class. The chorus will be under the direction of Miss Ruth Erickson.

Law Honorary Tells Of Pledging Three

Phi Alpha Delta, national law honorary, announces the pledging of Ben Martin, Gilbert Norris, and Darwin Brown.

Following initiation, which is to be held Friday a dinner party honoring the initiates and Professor Weldon Schimke, advisor of the group, will be held at the Moscow hotel. Delmar Daniels was appointed chairman of the initiation banquet by Bob Grieve, president of the organization.

Library Limitations

Students have overwhelmingly voiced a desire for a new student union building. The need is a natural one for a growing school. We are all hoping for an adequate building with the necessary "luxuries" which will accompany it.

Another structure we need in keeping with our growth, and to fill an entirely different want, is a new library. At present we have the dubious distinction of being the only state university or land grant college in the country which lacks such an essential building or the plans to construct one.

Brushing aside the lighter aspects of the library study hall—the sleepy pledges who sometimes find themselves confined within it, and the friendships that blossom and grow there in spite of the atmosphere or because of it—the library serves the function of a vital center of information and reference for the entire university. As a matter of course, every college on the campus refers its students to it for extra information.

But a library, accumulating and retaining books and magazines over the years needs growing space as does no other department. In the stacks, at present, the available shelves are already full, yet more periodicals come in daily. The study tables in constant use now will become crowded as more and more new students enroll. Thousands of late, interesting books which are now out of sight could be put on shelves easily accessible to us—if space permitted.

Considering the fact that the blue printing and building of such a structure would take years, it doesn't seem too rash to suggest looking into the future and doing something about the need now. If one of the means of judging a university is by its football stadium, another means is by the library it possesses. —R.Z.

Graduates Return To Civilian Work

Two university graduates in electrical engineering have recently been discharged from the navy and returned to civilian occupations. Ramey O. Syron, who graduated in 1942, has gone to work for Westinghouse in Pittsburgh. In a letter to Professor J. H. Johnson he reported seeing Keith Freeman and Fred Watson, both Idaho graduates, at Westinghouse.

Richard E. Boyce has been employed by the Star Machinery company in the new branch office being established in Spokane. He graduated from the university in 1935.

Another electrical engineering graduate, Jerry Richardson, '40, a first lieutenant in the radar division of the navy, may return to the university for additional courses when he returns to civilian life. He is stationed on Saipan, where he has been for 18 months.

Here's More About JERSEY HOME

come out and badger the actors into continuing? Prehistoric Features

That the human race is an eternal family group who are able to meet the challenge of advancing ice-blocks, floods, and war, and yet emerge relatively unmarred—is demonstrated in the Excelsior, New Jersey home of the Antrobuses, who run and overwhelm these gamuts—in successive order and in three acts.

Dinosaurs and mammoths, practically freezing to death, cavort in the first act through the Antrobuses home during the terrible Ice Age. The Antrobuses children—psychologically-unbalanced Henry, who grows up to be Hitler, Napoleon, and the anti-Christ combined and sweet little Gladys—are still small. But already the time-honored temptress, Sabina, the eternal threat to the security of the family, is busy displaying her wiles.

Convention The great convention of the Ancient and Honorable Order of Mammals is in progress in the second act. It proves quite convenient for Mr. Antrobuses, who in the guise of Noah and much to the disdain of the hurly-burly merry-makers at the Atlantic City boardwalk, hurried the animals two by two onto the ark when flood waters threaten.

Act three finds the Excelsior home in shambles from the war, and the Antrobuses searching for the hope to begin again. With courage from the great minds of the past and strength from their own love and faith, they turn to face the world again.

Curtain Initiates Five New Pledges

Initiation for five Curtain pledges was held Sunday at the home of Miss Marion Featherstone and Miss Jean Collette at 6:30 p.m., according to Elaine Anderson, president. Those initiated were Gene Roth, Louise King, Lois Fox, Mary Stanek, and Mike Oswald. Dramatic cuttings given by the pledges were taken from popular plays including "The Hairly Ape," by Eugene O'Neill; "Elizabeth the Queen," Maxwell Anderson; "Green Grow the Lilacs," Gene Ricks; "Saint Joan," Bernard Shaw; and "The Silver Cord," Sidney Howard.

Following the initiation ceremony a supper was served by the hostesses and games were played.

Talk To Be Given By Mrs. Compton

Mrs. Wilson Compton, wife of Washington State college's president, will address members of the Westminster Guild Tuesday, February 5, at a meeting to be held in the Student Union.

Topic of Mrs. Compton's speech is "Women at Work." She will discuss and explain various aspects of women's opportunities in new business and professional fields.

Musical entertainment for the program will be furnished by Esther Herndon, while June Conc will direct the devotional services. The meeting is open to all university students.

Bob Felton To Be Banquet Chairman

Activities planned by Bench and Bar, law student organization, include a banquet to be held February 15 at the Moscow hotel with Judge A. L. Morgan, local district judge, as guest of honor. Bob Felton has been named general chairman for the event.

Preparation is being made for a mock trial which will take place the second week in March. Darwin Brown and Martin Huff will act as the opposing attorneys.

Also discussed at the meeting of Bench and Bar was a party to be given between semesters for all students in the law school.

DEAN APPOINTED New dean of the University of Connecticut law school is Dr. Bert E. Hopkins, former member of the University of Idaho law faculty for 16 years.

Dr. Hopkins is a graduate of Yale university and received his master's and doctor's degrees from Columbia university. He served as acting dean of the University of Idaho law school several months before his departure to the University of Indiana.

WHO CARES

With the refrain of that beautiful old melody "I've Stayed Away Too Long" ringing in our ears, we trotted eagerly up the Hill to visit for the first time our class in Biology 103½, The Home Life of the Birds and Flowers. Our counselor signed us up for this class in the earlier part of the year, way back when all courses were classified under the general headings of "Snap" and "Super-snap." We learned much to our amazement that classes have been regularly held and that soon an examination is to be held to ascertain how much, if any, of the vast wealth of knowledge we have absorbed. This came as a shock to a delicate nervous system.

With our eyes filled with tears, we rushed from the room into the great outdoors and its friendly fog and sloppy sidewalks. In an attempt to escape we chanced by the SAE abode and saw a row of industrious females scooping the snow off the sidewalks. Upon inquiring, we were told that the girls were Thetas, trying to impress a mighty Minerva man—namely one Monte Johnson. Well, Monte, were you impressed?

While wandering down that general direction we spotted that chronic couple, Beverlee Wilson and Bob Moss were staging their own private snowball fight. Some people we know keep such frivolous conduct up even after they're married, for example Pete and Sally Flavin.

Now that he's all tied up with a brown-eyed DG, you should see the way Ralph Paasch perks up his ears when someone hollers "Lover."

The Delt house has been looking like the back-stage of the Follies lately. It's strictly torrid down there since the boys all purchased hand-painted Varga girl ties. Very disconcerting to a lecturer, no doubt.

For a really funny story, get Doc Lauke to tell you about centipedes. It seems the little devils bite when pinched between sheets. "But then," to quote Doc, "who wouldn't?"

Was His Face Red: When Bill Ganor jumped from a doorway late one night, with his arms in the air, and a horrible look on his face, he thought he was scaring Sig Norman. He was more than a trifle embarrassed when he found he was standing face to face with two very non-belligerent townspeople.

If you don't know them, you won't appreciate this, but Naomi Hobza and Rich Morse have a date. Wonder if it's go dancing?

Under the heading of a "Total Surprise To All Except The Parties Concerned" is the week-end pinning of Bob Booth and Helen Osterberg.

Do you want to be in good with Lon Green, Vice President in Charge of Cash Register at the Nest? Then punch his favorite piece on the juke-box, number 18, "Put Another Chair at the Table."

Did you check the tall TKE from Pullman with the toothpaste smile who dated three different women in only two nights on the campus?

The Betas are a little put out with one Ray Koll. Ray went over one night, told the boys he was a Beta from back east, listened to their parlor stories, drank all of their, ahem, coke, ahem, and then went back and climbed into his bed at the Phi Delt house.

The weaker of the species have already spotted two very, very welcome old-timers on the campus, one, Tom Spofford, and the other, Huey Long.

Congratulations to the ATOS. They finally succeeded in teaching Joan Benoit how to give the pass-word. It's a big deep "Fume" in a foggy voice.

After giving it careful consideration, Mary Mulder and Mary MacRae have found nothing left to take the last semester of their senior year, but Advanced Bean Bag.

The Fink, K. Finlayson to you, is out of commission again. This time he sprained his ankle, walking down the basketball floor. Speaking of basketball, the lucky girls who rated dates with Oregon State basketball players were Maybelle Harris, Dorothy Rongren, Jan Howard and Gerry Potter.

Isabel Garner hopped out of bed bright and early when she heard what she thought was her alarm clock ringing. Then she roused out her sister, Barbara, and buddies, Hazel Brodkord and Sally Fosket—who had all asked to be called at 6:30. The foursome was most chagrined to discover that the alarm was set by someone else for 4:30 a.m.

How's man hunting lately, girls? Any luck? Well don't take out your handy six shooter if the answer is no. Dorothy Wren on the second floor of Forney Hall has all but opened a dating bureau in room 206. Seems Saturday night

KUOI Program Schedule

Because of semester finals there will be no scheduled programs next week. However, KUOI will be back on the air February 13, with better programs for your enjoyment. Some of the programs planned for next semester are the weekly student forum, Friday night jam sessions, sports analysis and sports casts, plus many new programs by the faculty and students.

Below is the schedule for the remainder of this week:

Ag Confab Opens For Week At Dairy Science

Annual conference of the Idaho extension staff opened Monday for a week of discussion on Idaho's agricultural problems. Over 80 county agents, 4-H club leaders, home demonstration agents, extension dairymen, district extension agents, and federal extension workers were welcomed by C. W. Hickman, acting dean of the college of agriculture and director of the extension at the opening session.

Special meetings and general sessions are being held every day in the Dairy building. Many of Idaho's own specialists will be featured, as well as the following out-of-state speakers: Dr. W. B. Stout, Washington, D. C., economist and marketing specialist, and Fred C. Jans of the federal extension service; Dr. Fred R. Yoder, head of the department of sociology, State College of Washington; Dr. James Miller, Portland, Ore., Esther Pond Smith, Pullman; Charles Meanach, acting state 4-H club leader, State College of Washington.

Monday evening members of the Ladies Agricultural Faculty club entertained the wives of extension workers, home demonstration agents, and the home economics staff from the university at a dinner held at the Legion log cabin. The conference will close Saturday noon.

Ag Staff Meets At Conference

Meeting on the university campus January 22 were representatives to the annual conference of the agricultural research staff of the Idaho agricultural experiment station. C. W. Hungerford, vice director of the station, announced.

In charge of arrangements for the meeting were K. H. Klages, head of the department of agronomy, and Leif Verner, head of the department of horticulture.

Attending the conference were 60 staff members from university branch stations at Caldwell, Aberdeen, Sandpoint, Teton and Parma, and research workers from throughout the state.

An annual affair, the conference discussions center about livestock, crops, fertilizers, and other pertinent phases of agriculture in the Northwest.

Over the Hill

with JACK SHURMAN

This is you Willis Sweet Winchell, feeling much like an icicle with the chills, relaxing in a bath of liquid air. I've just returned from the Navy-Pi Phi snowball fight and have come to the conclusion that it doesn't pay to get up some mornings. It feels as if half the snow in Moscow is undergoing an endothermic reaction on my neck and trickling ever so slowly down my back. I'm so cold that three doctors have already quoted me prices on a "blue baby" operation. The ROTC's again came through victorious, ending the encounter with both the Pi Phi and Navy flags; but, believe me, it was a battle all the way.

Now that it is behind us though, I will admit it was lots of fun. It isn't every day that 30 fellows have an opportunity to carry out the same idea at the same time. Poor Jim Lewy bounced off the ground more times than a yo-yo with an eight foot string, and we ended up using Neils Kans as an ice pick to chop Earl Orner from the side of the drill field hill. Clay Ringgenberg, who runs from a woman as fast as Dick Berry reaches for a check, got hit more times in five minutes than the Legion quarter jackpot has been hit in the last five years.

Bill Hayes shouted, "Do you surrender?" three times, and when he received no reply, he resigned himself to the task of picking his teeth out of the snow. But all good things must come to an end, and it was suggested that everyone adjourn to the Hall. Bob Peters was engaged in a private tussle off to one side, and I had to tell him the fight was over. He told me to mind my own business, so I left him there.

Inside Willis Sweet, one glamazon pointed to a pool cue and asked its purpose, so Johnny Linnenkamp offered to show her the fundamentals of the game. Before he could get started, she had made two jump shots, seven billiards, and had run the table five times. Marlyn Milberg shook his head, muttered, "What's this world coming to?" and retired to the peace and sanctity of his room.

I had a fifteen minute appointment the other day, so I made the trip to the photo studio to have my picture taken for the Gem. I spent twelve minutes trying to convince the lady behind the counter that I didn't want five

Campbell Attends Boise Meeting

Harlow H. Campbell, director of the placement bureau and non-resident instructor, will meet with John Condie, state high school instructor; Miss Rita Hansen, elementary supervisor of the state, as well as other members of the staff under G. C. Sullivan, state superintendent, in Boise February 5. The purpose of the meeting is to work out some of the educational questions regarding non-resident instruction courses, and to set a standard for high school and elementary courses of study.

seeing eye dog, hitting his head on the floor and knocking himself unconscious. Star of the Adell-coached squad was diminutive Pat Fitzgerald, who, on a fast break, sprinted the length of the floor, eluding the entire opposing five. Disappointment was expressed when it was discovered that he did not have the ball. High scorer for the chubby boys was Dick Helmick with two touchdowns, a birdie, and a home run.

Half time amusement was provided by the University of Idaho "Vandals" and the Oregon State "Beavers."

Foresters Attend Discussion On Blister Rust

James Evenden from the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine in Coeur d'Alene led an all-day discussion meeting of the Inland Empire section of the Society of American Foresters in the forestry laboratory here Saturday.

Approximately 75 persons, including representatives from independent federal agencies, state agencies, and educational institutions, were present to discuss the blister rust program and activities in northern Idaho, western Montana and eastern Washington.

Questions submitted by members of the society in response to a circular telling of the purpose of the meeting had been sorted into various headings and subheadings for attention and discussion. These headings included all phases of the blister rust program — investigation, protection, eradication and financial, stated Dean D. S. Jeffers, head of the school of forestry.

Miss Navratil Visits

Lillian Navratil, state supervisor of home economics, from Boise, will be guest of the home economics department today, Friday, and Saturday.

Miss Navratil will meet with the home economics seniors and discuss teaching problems and organization and educational problems of school-lunch programs.

She has been visiting the home economics departments at Bonners Ferry and Kellogg.

Dinner guests Thursday evening of Pi Beta Phi were Laura Steple, Virginia Dreher, Helen Bergan, and Margaret McNamara. Miss Margaret Kehne was a week-end visitor.

A snowball fight was staged Saturday afternoon between women of Pi Beta Phi and members of the NROTC unit.

Winfred Watson, Alta Humphreys, and Rose Marie Vogel were Sunday dinner guests at Alpha Chi Omega. Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson and Mr. C. W. Daigh, who are visiting in Moscow for a week, were dinner guests on Monday evening of Alpha Chi Omega.

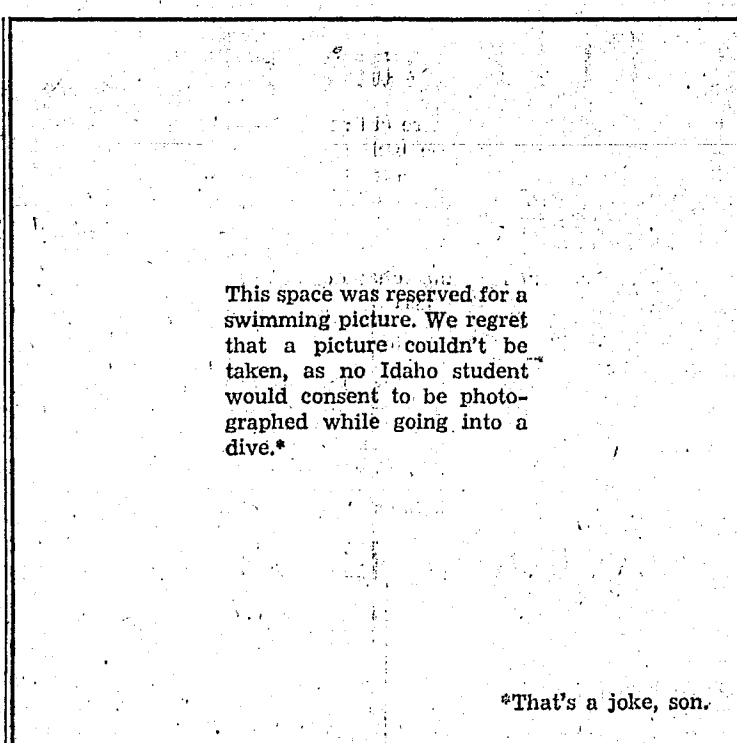

Dinner guests of Delta Delta Delta Sunday were Yvonne Whitting, Shirley McDowell and Sharon Donohue.

Mrs. Virginia Egan Stewart was a week-end guest at Kappa Alpha Theta. Guests of Elizabeth Hadley for Sunday dinner were her mother, Mrs. A. L. Hadley, and her fiancé, Lt. John Hunt. Lt. (j.g.) A. H. Maze was a Sunday dinner guest of Lalene Cargill.

Tuesday dinner guests at Alpha Phi were Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Jessup of Mountain Home.

Delta Gammas held their upperclassmen's dinner dance Saturday under the chairmanship of Barbara Twitchell. Flowers and candlelight were used for the decorations and radio station KWSC furnished the music.

"ON THE INSIDE"

By JACK GOETZ

It is appropriate for Len Pyne to step into the spotlight this week. Pyne, Vandal light-footed guard, has been in the hair of the coaches and teams of the Northern Division conference for the last three seasons.

Len is one of the few gifts that the University of Idaho has received from the state of Washington. The silver and gold front court man received his training at Central Valley high school, Spokane. There he was a three-sport man and a leader in student activities. His greatest accomplishment was being picked on the all-Spokane city basketball squad and holding down fourth place in the scoring race.

Pyne, deciding to attend some school of higher learning, selected the Gem State school to continue along the lines of athletics. The five-foot nine-inch fireball found a first string guard position open for him his sophomore year and also held down the infield position with the baseball team.

He is a Physical Education major and plans to coach when he is graduated. It is Len's idea that to coach the game one must be able to play the game. If the congenial athlete is as good at coaching as he is at playing, we will be hearing a great deal more of him in future years.

Last season Pyne was chosen on the all-Northern Division conference team and he acquired an 8.13 point average per game. He has been an outstanding factor in the games won thus far this season and ranked high among the nation's scorers earlier in the season.

The lightfoot guard is an ex-navy man and the only senior on the basketball squad this season. Here's wishing you a lot of luck, Len, and thanks for dropping in.

Of late there has been a great deal of discussion concerning athletic facilities such as field houses. The immediate question is when and how is the university going to have a field house? Taking into consideration the cost and time elements, it seems some arrangement could be made to help the athletic housing problem. It is this writer's suggestion that the university purchase a portable aerodrome or one of the huge drill halls at the Faragut Naval base. Certainly there are aerodromes available and the drill halls will be torn down anyway. Either of the two would make an excellent field house and would be sufficient for other athletic events such as swimming, intramural and other minor sports.

The University of Idaho students showed their colors last Friday and Saturday nights when they booted the Oregon State men when they were attempting gift shots, etc. I think the students of this school could certainly have a lesson in sportsmanship. This student body should find a copy of Webster and acquire the meaning of the word.

Pigskin Prospect Looks Favorable

An early picture of next year's gridiron machine for the University of Idaho came into view this week. Coach Babe Brown made known the possible return of several returning lettermen of the pre-war seasons.

Among the returning veterans will be Bill Micklich, two-hundred-and-ten-pound fullback who led the Pacific Coast in scoring back in the 1941 season. It is also reported that Len Zinkavitch, a two-hundred- and -twenty-pound, sturdy guard of the 1941 season, will be on hand for the initial turnout next fall.

Others to return are Chuck Chandler, two-hundred- and -twenty-pound guard of the '41 season; John Evans, 200-pound end of the 1943 season; Merland Aldred, six-foot three-inch, 210-pound end of the '41 season; Bill Plastino, a swift left halfback; Dean Lewis, 200-pound guard of the 1941 squad; and Dale Dykeman, another fast back of the 1942 season.

Commenting on the football possibilities for next fall, Coach Brown stated, "With the return of some of our old boys, plus the nucleus of the past season, we should fair well along the paths of the gridiron."

The Vandal football machine will meet the Stanford Indians in an opening game next fall at Palo Alto, California.

"How much is the toll, sister?" asked two old women of a Catskill tollgate keeper.

"Twenty cents for man and a horse."

"Well, then, get the hell out of the way—we're two old maids and a mare. Giddap, Jenny."

The University of Idaho Vandals humbled the Oregon State Beavers here last Friday and Saturday nights by capturing the first two games of the Beavers' Palouse Empire tour. The league-leading Beavers, at that time, went home after dropping the two games to the Vandals and one of the Washington State contests. OSC is resting in second place in the Northern Division standings, tied with the Idaho quintet.

Idaho started strong in Friday night's contest to lead most of the first period until the Oregon quintet overcame the lead by a 9-8 lead, Fred Quinn and Jack Phoenix, Vandal forward and center, but the silver and gold squad ahead with six quick points to see the Vandal leading 19-15 at halftime.

The second half opened to find Carbaugh, Phoenix, and Quinn pacing the winners as they built the largest margin of the game to 25-17. "Red" Rocha, Beaver, center, led his team in scoring with 10 counters.

Fred Quinn, was high for the Vandals with 12 points, followed by Bill Carbaugh with 11.

Sigma Nu and Delta Chi defeated Sigma Chi and Chrisman Hall, respectively, in Tuesday night's games at Memorial gym, to lead the Intramural basketball league with seven victories and no defeats. Following the leaders closely are Alpha Tau Omega, who have lost one game while winning five, and Kappa Sigma, who were dumped twice to win five games. The one defeat registered against the ATOs was at the hands of Kappa Sigma, while Kappa Sigma was defeated at the hands of both Sigma Nu and Delta Chi in close games. Delta Chi's toughest battle was against Chrisman Hall, which went into overtime, with Delta Chi coming out on top, 30-28. Sigma Nu had to go into overtime to win from Kappa Sigma, 33-31, in its toughest game.

The individual scoring for the league goes to "Red" Heap, Delta Chi, who has bucketed 71 points in seven games for an average of 10 points a game. The other nine leading scorers are as follows:

Vandal Five Meet Bishop-Cougars Here Saturday

The Vandals will tangle with the Washington State Cougars and Gale Bishop, last year's national leading scorer, this Saturday night, which promises to be a contest of contests. The game will commence at 7:30, and word from Gall Mix, graduate manager, is that every seat will be filled, as one of the largest crowds in history is expected for the game.

Commenting on the coming clash, Coach Babe Brown declares Washington State to be a tough team to beat. Coach Brown went on to say that by the time the Cougars hit the Vandals this weekend the rest of the Cougar squad will have had a chance to become acquainted with Bishop, whom the Idaho mentor considers a great basketball player. "Free throws will count a great deal!" exclaimed Babe.

"As far as the northern division race is concerned, it looks very much like a dogfight from here, but we are ready for the best and we are in good shape," stated the Babe.

Concerning the expected crowd, Graduate Manager Mix hints that the Idaho students might reach the gymnasium at least one-half hour before game-time, to be assured of a seat.

Intramural basketball schedule:

Thursday, January 31—

Track Turnout In Early Stage Slow

The track response thus far, according to Coach "Mike" Ryan has been very poor. With meets only one month away the cinder coach is wondering just how the track situation is going to shape up for the Vandals. Coach Ryan commented that so far only 6 or 8 men have responded to the first two calls for the track turnout. Ryan again pointed out that track men who plan to participate later in the season must get in as much early training as possible so as to be in best possible shape when the meets actually roll around.

Coach Ryan stated that the use of the cavalry barn on Sixth St. was being sought for the practice of events such as pole vault, broad jump, hurdles and some weight throwing. Ryan explained that the barn had been used previous to the war and if the building could again be used the boys would have an adequate place to practice.

Discussing the track situation with Coach Edmundsen of University of Washington, "It was the two coaches opinion that the Northern Division Meet should be set ahead so as to add one and possibly two meets to the track schedules."

The following pre-conference meets have been arranged:
March 11—Interclass Meet—Memorial gymnasium.
March 18—Intergroup Meet—Memorial gymnasium.

March 23—Inland Empire Indoor AAU Track and Field Championships to be held at Memorial gymnasium.

March 30—Inland Empire Indoor Intercollegiate Championship Meet at Pullman.

April 6—Whitman college at Walla Walla.

April 13—Idaho vs. WSC, Pullman.

A meet will be held with Eastern Washington College of Education and the date will be set when negotiations are completed.
