

With this issue the Argonaut returns to the Idaho campus—minus the large chip carried against the former administration. Our hats go off to President Jess Buchanan and his many revisions and innovations which were needed years ago. Of course, miracles are not going to be accomplished in a day—or even in a year—because of the many difficulties in overcoming the former set-up. For instance, lack of funds will delay the initiation of many projects which are now being considered, and for which the ground work is being laid.

Foremost in our grateful hearts is the fact that the President recognizes the Argonaut as the student newspaper. He is willing to cooperate in order to give us and our readers the inside dope on administration policies. He has put an "Open Sesame" sign on the doors which were closed by "Alibaba and the Forty Thieves."

The beginning of the fall term brings more closely into focus the picture on the campus. Hundreds of students have been turned away but the housing shortage continues to be our main problem. It's bad, all right—but we predict that it will also be fun. Many of us can remember the war days when the total enrollment in the university was about 900 civilians. The number of students might be a problem but it can also mean a lot more fun and activity than we have seen for several years.

Taken with this attitude, the housing shortage can be solved with better feeling on all sides. Since there are about 2,250,000 students who wish to enter universities and colleges in the United States and about 1,800,000 can be accommodated this fall, the Idaho campus in proportion will be no more crowded than any other. About 80 per cent of the potential students will be able to enter institutions of higher learning.

Rush week, with its heart-break and happiness, is now in full swing. Due to the already crowded conditions in many of the houses, some students who desired to pledge must live in town, go home or enter the dormitories. Our campus has some of the finest halls in the northwest and they contain some of the finest students in the university. We are still a comparatively small university and the difference between Greeks and Independents is slight. The Argonaut hopes that this will continue.

In this issue, the new students have been welcomed by University President Buchanan and by ASUI President Norm Fredekind. Jason wishes to greet them also and remind them that this is probably one of the most active years they will witness while in college.

President Starts Press Conference

Beginning Tuesday a regular schedule of press conferences will be inaugurated by President Jess B. Buchanan; the university publicity office announced recently. The first meeting will be held in the president's office at 4 p. m.

Present at the meeting will be Dr. Paul Scott, Dean H. E. Lattig, Gale Mix, D. D. DuSault, Ted Sherman, Raphael Gibbs, O. A. Fitzgerald, Louis Boas, Don Carlson, Ladd Hamilton and Romaine Galey.

The conferences will be designed in order to create a clear understanding between the administration and the press. This is the first time in the history of the university that such a system has been employed.

Farragut Drive On

To insure the opening of Farragut college and technical institute October 14, a drive to raise an initial operating fund of $250,000 will be launched throughout the Inland Empire within 10 days, Vice President George G. Green said during an interview September 5.

ACCOUNTS

All student accounts are handled by the cashier's department in room 109 of the Administration building, and not at the bursar's office, Kenneth A. Dick, bursar, advised today.

Room Shortage Grips Campus As Enrollment Soars

Donald R. Theophilus Dean Of Agriculture

Advancement of Donald R. Theophilus, member of the department of dairy husbandry staff at the University of Idaho since 1927 and department head the past 11 years to the deanship of agriculture has been announced by President J. E. Buchanan, following approval by the board of regents and the U. S. department of agriculture. As dean of agriculture, Dr. Theophilus also becomes director of the statewide experiment station and extension phases of the university's agricultural program.

On November 1, the date the new dean officially takes over, Dean E. J. Iddings, for 35 years associated with the college of agriculture—for 30 of those years its dean—retires at his own request and becomes dean of agriculture emeritus; and Professor C. W. Hickman, senior member of the agricultural staff and acting dean during the past year, returns to his post as head of the department of animal husbandry, also at his own request. Last fall, when Dean Iddings announced his desire to retire, the board of regents granted him a year's leave of absence and asked Professor Hickman to serve as acting dean until a permanent successor could be selected.

Hungerford Up
Assisting the new dean in directing the extensive activities of the university's agricultural program will be Dr. C. W. Hungerford, vice-director of the experiment station and head of the department of plant pathology, supervisor of research; Carol O. Youngstrom, assistant director of extension, with headquarters at Boise; and an assistant dean yet to be named. This post formerly was held by H. E. Lattig, who recently became director of student welfare for the university.

Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1899, and graduated from Pittsburgh high school, Dr. Theophilus came west to Iowa State college for his higher education. His college studies were interrupted in 1918 and he served a year as second lieutenant in the infantry in World War I.

Holds Several Degrees
Dr. Theophilus has four degrees from Iowa State. In 1920 he received the bachelor of science degree in animal husbandry. After a year as assistant herdsman at a Wisconsin purebred livestock farm he returned to Iowa State and, shifting to dairy manufacturing, received a second bachelor's degree in that field in 1922. Livestock has been his major interest throughout his life and as a college student he helped fit cattle for the commercial sales. Continuing his study at Iowa State, he received the master's degree in 1924 and the doctor's in 1935, both majors in dairy bacteriology. Much of the work toward the doctor's degree was done after he had joined the University of Idaho dairy husbandry department in 1927.

Prior to coming to Idaho he was assistant in the department of dairy industry at Iowa State for one year and in charge of dairying and animal husbandry at the Western Kentucky State Teachers College at Bowling Green for four years.

University Accepts Scholarship Grants

For the promotion of 4-H club work in the state, the university has accepted a grant of $1,000 from the Sears Roebuck Foundation. Accepted from the American Dairy Science association was a grant of $800 for research in the field of dairying.

Under an agreement with the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce, the School of Business Administration will conduct a study of the structure of Idaho business—prewar, war, and transition. All of Idaho's major industries will be studied in this comprehensive analysis of the economy of the state.

Less Elbow Room But We'll Make Best Of It

To New Students:
Let's face the facts right from the start. There isn't going to be the usual elbow room around Idaho this fall, in the residence houses, the classrooms, or the laboratories. When registration is over we should have somewhere between 3,400 and 3,500 students. But—we could easily have had 5,000 to 6,000 had we been able to house that many.

There is no immediate relief in sight. The regents and university officials are exploring every possibility for additional housing facilities. Something may come to us under Public Law 697, passed by the last congress and providing for educational quarters other than housing.

We are going to the next legislature with the largest budget request the university ever has made. We believe it an honest request. Right now the university is operating on a budget planned two years ago when there were less than a thousand students on the campus.

I regret it is necessary to welcome new students to what may turn out to be two or three crowded years. Yet those who are here are lucky, even though they are crowded. Even with the crowding on the campus and the wonderful cooperation of the people of Moscow in opening their homes to university students, hundreds of Idaho veterans and last year's high school graduates still can not get in. Over the nation the story follows the same pattern—2,250,000 want to go to college, living quarters can take care of only 1,800,000.

Sure, it's going to be a tough year, tough on the faculty, the university operations staff, as well as the students. But we are all in the same boat so let's make the best of it. This is the beginning of the long-promised payoff to the men who went to war.

To those who lived around war industry centers and military camps the rugged living that will characterize Idaho this year is neither new nor novel. The rush has merely shifted from there to the nation's schools. Those people survived and I am sure we can if we realize that as a result of our sacrifice and inconvenience another woman or man has had an opportunity to go to college.

We really can say "Hello" with a smile of satisfaction this year—satisfaction that we have done a good turn to someone else who wants a college education, too.

Truitt Cites Need For Workers

C. A. Truitt, superintendent of buildings and grounds, made an appeal today for student-veteran carpenters to work half day shifts on the new 395-man veterans' dormitory. More than 30 students are now working on emergency buildings, but many more qualified carpenters are needed to expedite construction of the large dormitory, Truitt said. About two months work will be provided.

Students desiring work should report to the superintendent at his office on Line street, across from the new prefabricated houses. They should furnish a schedule of their classes.

A student carpenter who has been out of the service less than 18 months can obtain a union working card without paying the initiation fees. The academic council of the university has also approved waiving of late registration fees up to September 30 for students desiring to work full time until that date.

Confident

Entering upon his first year as president of the University of Idaho, J. E. Buchanan this week predicted that, despite a critical shortage of housing facilities, Idaho students would "make the best of it." He will be the task of continuing a battle which former President Harrison C. Dale fought unsuccessfully—the battle of maintaining an adequate teaching staff in the face of inadequate appropriations.

Regents Name Alumnus To University Presidency

Jess E. Buchanan's appointment to the presidency of the university marks the first time in the school's history that an Idaho alumnus has been named to the state's top educational position. Buchanan, who succeeds Harrison C. Dale as president, was graduated from the University of Idaho in 1927 with highest honors and since 1938 had been dean of the college of engineering.

Passing up an opportunity to head one of the largest and most outstanding colleges of engineering in the United States at Iowa State college, Buchanan said, "the opportunity to become president of my own university, a chance which comes to few men, was too appealing to refuse."

Buchanan arrived at the university from Spokane 23 years ago and by working as a janitor in a Moscow department store, by grading professor's quiz papers and by his fraternity house manager, earned most of his way through college. In addition to working his own way and setting a high scholarship record, Buchanan engaged in a wide variety of campus activities, being named senior class president. In 1927 he received the bachelor of science degree in civil engineering with highest honors.

After graduation he served as instructor in civil engineering and received his master's degree in 1929. In 1936 he left the university to become research engineer for the Asphalt Institute at San Francisco, but returned in 1938 to accept the post of dean of engineering and director of the engineering experiment station.

When the national defense program was organized, Dean Buchanan was placed in charge of civilian pilot training at Idaho, and later assisted in setting up the naval radio training school at the university. He also directed the engineering, science, and management defense training program in Idaho's principal cities.

Upon his graduation from the university Buchanan received a second lieutenant's commission in the reserve. In 1942 he was called to active duty with the Army engineer corps with assignments including 28 months at the engineer school, Fort Belvoir, 8 months as plans and engineering staff officer for airfields in the India-Burma theater, and four months as executive to the air engineer in the China theater.

While in India he received the Legion of Merit award for work he had done at Fort Belvoir. At the (Cont. page 6, col. 3)

Homecoming Plans Nearly Complete; Name Band Coming

Several thousand alumni of the university will enter Moscow for the annual Homecoming weekend, scheduled for October 25-26, Chuck Gilb, chairman, revealed recently. Events which have been tentatively planned include the crowning of a Homecoming Queen, the Homecoming dance, a rally and fireworks, Gilb stated.

The Homecoming Queen will be chosen by the football team from the women nominated by each fraternity and men's living group. She will be crowned during intermission of the dance on October 26, at which a name band will play. Arrangements for the dance are still tentative, but a name band has been contacted. Alumni of the university are in charge of this affair.

House decorations will be judged at noon on the day of the football game between Oregon and Idaho. Two cups have been ordered and they will be distributed to the winning men's and women's living groups.

Friday, October 25 is the date for the rally and fireworks. The rally will be under the supervision of the yell leaders, while the freshman class is in charge of the fireworks.

Budget Increases Advised By Education Board

To keep pace with capacity enrollments at Idaho's higher educational institutions, increased salaries for instructor and larger expenses for construction and maintenance, the state board of education has recommended sharp hikes in budgets for the individual schools.

The state department of public instruction said the recommendations—for the two years beginning July 1, 1947—would be submitted to Gov. Arnold Williams and the budget director Alvin H. Reading before being presented to the next legislature.

The figure for the University of Idaho was up to $2,205,200, or $851,433 higher than for the 1945-47 period. This puts the university budget at 62.9 percent higher than funds available for the current biennium. The budget prepared for the southern branch shows an increase of 91 percent above current funds. Percentage increases for the other institutions are: Lewiston Normal school 43.8, Albion Normal school 66, and St. Anthony Industrial school 52.5.

The increased budget for the board of education includes the operations of the office of the state superintendent of public instruction and $25,000 for the state occupational guidance program.

Library Expanding

In order to ease the shortage of places to study, the classrooms on the second floor of the library in the Administration building are being made part of the main library.

Student Special Arrives In Moscow Today

Scheduled to arrive today at 1 p.m. is the first student special train in five years following suspension of the colorful tradition caused by wartime restrictions on travel. W. O. Baldwin of Spokane, traveling passenger agent for the Union Pacific railroad, announced the train left Pocatello

About 800 students are going to find themselves homeless unless more emergency measures are taken to ease the university housing shortage, according to pre-registration figures compiled yesterday by the registrar.

Housing arrangements have been made for between 3400 and 3500 students, and yesterday's total pre-registration roster numbered 3866. In addition there are, according to the registrar, about 400 yet to be processed.

President J. E. Buchanan, with the help of the university executive committee has adopted a seven-point housing program designed to lift the limit on accommodations, but for the student arriving in Moscow without a pre-arranged place to live the outlook this week is gloomy.

Following are the measures instituted by the president and executive committee in a concentrated effort to find just a few more beds.

1. Construction of the emergency veterans housing units will be pushed.
2. Robert F. Greene, director of dormitories and chairman of the emergency housing committee, and Dr. Harold Cramer, director of the university health service, are surveying university dormitories to determine the extent to which their capacities can be increased within the limits of accepted health and sanitation standards. Some two-student rooms might accommodate a third.

3. University officials will solicit the cooperation of the 20 fraternities and sororities on the campus in stretching fall pledge lists to the limit during the housing crisis.

4. Brink into the university housing picture every vacant room, attic or basement in Moscow where a student might live. In this the university will seek the cooperation of the chamber of commerce, service clubs, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled Veterans and World War II veterans now on the campus.

5. Explore the possibility of housing small cooperative groups in nearby towns of Potlatch and Genesee. Buses would carry the students the 18-mile trip, a common commuting distance in densely populated large city areas.

6. Consider the possibility of more students living in farm homes within driving distance of the university. Many will have their own cars, hence transportation would not be a problem.

7. Parallel with the vigorous campaign to develop more living quarters will be a complete survey of the university plant to assure maximum use of classroom, laboratory, and office space. A special committee headed by Allen S. Janssen, acting dean of the college of engineering, is handling this assignment.

Since February 1945, when the need for housing units for married veterans became apparent, representatives of the university have been negotiating with federal agencies in trying to obtain the desired units. Finally in the face of transportation difficulties encountered last winter, Veterans' Village No. 1 north of the campus sprang up with the arrival of 100 trailer houses together with contracts on 29 prefabricated houses.

This fall 105 dormitory units—two-bedroom furnished apartments—are being erected on the grounds surrounding the agricultural engineering shops on North Main and just north of the Campus Club. These new housing units—together with a hundred other apartment units and a dormitory—should accommodate approximately 500 students.

EXAM REQUIRED

According to Infirmary estimates, approximately 1,000 men will take the medical examination required of all new students between the dates of September 23-27. Women will take the medical examination from September 30-October 1. Appointments for these examinations will be made during registration.

STUDENTS

Only state residents and former students of the University of Idaho will be accepted by the University for the 1946-47 academic year, opening September 17, Registrar D. D. DuSault, announced following a meeting of the University executive committee of the board of regents with University officials in June.

Following is the official statement covering non-resident policy for the coming academic year:
"The University of Idaho will accept for the academic year beginning September 17, 1946, only students who are residents of this state or who have been former (prior to June 16, 1946) students at the University."

Fraternities Are Doing Their Share

As campus housing facilities staggered this week under a record enrollment, fraternity and sorority officials announced that basements, smokers, porches, annexes, and rented homes would be pressed into service to accommodate as many new pledges as possible.

Sigma Chi has found it necessary to rent rooms in three Moscow homes for housing its overflow of returned actives, and TKE has rented rooms in one neighboring private home.

Each living group is also cooperating by having its town members live at home, and at Alpha Chi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Sigma Nu and TKE guest rooms have been converted into rooms for two or three students.

Smokers are proving their usefulness and are being converted into rooms at the Kappa house, and at Forney and Hays halls thirty women are being temporarily housed in each smoker. The sleeping porch at Kappa Alpha Theta has become a room which houses six women, and Delta Gammas have given up their favorite sun room in order that they may have another sleeping porch. Closet space, a problem which always accompanies the "crowding in" process, is being partially solved by the addition of portable wardrobes. Thetas have solved the problem too—they've found that their chapter room makes an excellent closet, and Pi Phis are using their basement for extra closet space.

Much of the credit for increased housing facilities is also due Moscow residents, according to university officials who yesterday remarked that without their help and the help of civic and fraternal organizations the Idaho housing muddle would be even worse than it is now.

House On Wheels Is Wonderful, Says Bride

By MARGE SPRING

In case you've wondered about that big, beautiful trailer house on the corner of University and Deakin, speculate no more. Your inquiring reporter dashed over the other day and found Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Neil at the door ready with a big smile and friendly hello.

The newlyweds were married the first part of August in Jerome, Idaho, and are honeymooning now in their three-room trailer. The bride's mother is Mrs. Edna Burks and resides in Jerome.

"It's all so wonderful," chirped the pretty bride when questioned of her new marital life. She enjoys having neighbors too but adds "I hope it doesn't get too crowded here." It seems the walls have ears and Mary states if you don't keep your voices down everything can be heard in adjoining trailers. "I guess that means no squabbles."

Robin has put up the mail box and is soddling around the trailer to make it seem more home-like. Mary's comment on this: "Now if he'll only mow it."

Mary is having the time of her life trying out new recipes and finds her small but compact kitchen very adaptable to new culinary efforts but is having great difficulties securing the ingredients for the new ventures.

When asked how married life stacked up against living in campus houses they both exclaimed, "This can't be beat."

Comedy Produced

During the summer session at the university, the dramatics department presented George M. Cohan's melodramatic comedy, "Seven Keys to Baldpate." Produced July 19, under the direction of Miss Jean Collette, the play told of an author who comes to the secluded summer hotel at Baldpate to find solitude in order to write a novel in 24 hours because of a bet.

MISSION TO MOSCOW

By CHARLEY SUGAR

During the war, the term "M Day" became all but forgotten. The first "M Day" which occurred shortly before Poland was plunged into war, made headlines at the time and alerted America for an "M Day" which never came.

Now, long after all "D Days" are over and gone and V-E Day and V-J Day have taken their respective places in history, the University of Idaho is having its "M Day."

From all over hell, students, would-be students, could-be students and have-been students are pouring into Moscow. City officials are pouring some right back out.

Dandy D. Salt, officer in charge of inductions, reports that the housing situation is no reason to cause him alarm because he doesn't have anything to do with it.

"It ain't no damn business of mine!" he said testily, when interviewed.

When we arrived yesterday the town was buzzing with excitement and new students were aboard all incoming trains. The yard cops almost caught some of them.

Honeysuckle Levine, president of the Bamma Damma Gamma house, told us yesterday that she had rented the old Union stockyards in anticipation of a bumper crop of pledges. Her house, she pointed out, specializes in helping the neophyte freshman girl to become a sophisticated lady of genteel deportment. "They're never a single Kiooch as comes outa our club," she said. "They all bathe regular like and don't chase men on Sunday."

Yesterday afternoon, while walking to the Ag barn to see the Dean, we saw Stud Riboflavin supervising the final construction of the runways, ramps and chutes at the ETA house and told us that with new equipment which includes a two way leg iron, that they should be able to get enough pledges to pay off the mortgage and put a roof on the house, an omission that has been a constant source of dissension among the brothers.

As we were talking to Riboflavin, a car-full of ETAs drove up and stopped at the back door. Three big football players stepped out and dragged behind them a small, wizened creature with thick glasses and protruding ribs. His arms were tied behind him and both feet were chained together.

Stud called to the group, "Take him downstairs and weld him to the pipes in the coal room."

"He's our finalist," Stud said, turning to me, "he was a Phi Beta here in 1928 and he's been taking our finals ever since. Don't need him the rest of the time so we keep him outa the way, kinda."

As we continued up the street we saw a group of Delta Dis beating shrubbery with clubs and looking in trees.

"Did you see a rushee come up here?" one of them asked.

"No," I said with the air of a polished gentleman, "and what the hell if I did?"

"One of 'em broke loose," the D. R. said as she rolled a cigarette. "The rope you buy these days ain't worth a damn."

We agreed on that proposition and made another to which the D.P. replied negatively because, as she put it, "The house mother's out patrolin'."

We continued on to the Dean's office in the Ag barn.

He was out.

Men's Dormitory To Be Completed On December 1

December 1 has been named the date of completion for Pine hall, new men's dormitory now being constructed on Line street west of the trailer house park which will accommodate 386 men at the minimum.

Until completion of the building, men slated to live in it will take temporary quarters in Lindley, Larch and the Memorial gymnasium and the Idaho club and the Campus club. Student cooperatives have volunteered to board 50 of the future residents.

Part of a war housing project at Vancouver, Wash., the building is being demounted and shipped here to be reassembled at an estimated cost of $165,000. The cafeteria is a separate quonset building and is expected to cost $35,000.

According to Robert F. Greene, director of dormitories, a large backlog of requests for rooms still remains. He stated that approximately 800 men unable to be housed must wait until the second semester or enroll elsewhere.

Handbook Ready

Ready for distribution to freshmen and other new students in registration lines is the student handbook, publication of which was completed during the summer.

The time has come, for some it means the first and for others it means again, to indulge in a little book-learning, cramming for tests, making ponies, celebrating the end of exams, attending the Friday-afternoon clubs, going to ball games and many other things which make college life what it is. It can be a lot of fun if you want it to be, and at the same time be of much benefit to you. For those of you who are attending the University of Idaho for the first time you will find that it is very easy to become acquainted with most everyone on the campus.

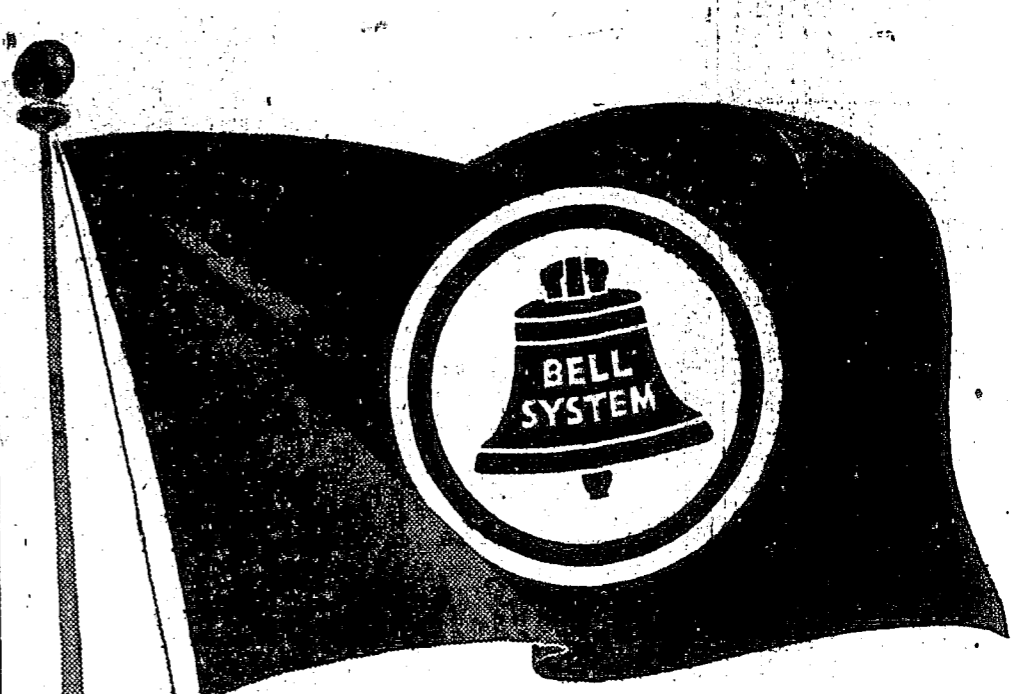

Last year many of the old traditions, which were laid aside during the war, were revived. This year, besides continuing them, we intend to bring back the others and, also, inaugurate new ones which will add to the betterment of the school. This is where you fit into the picture; we would like to have any ideas which you may have regarding this matter or any other matters pertaining to the student body.

The first all-campus gathering will be the Frosh Mixer on Friday night. Don't miss it because it is a lot of fun and will give you a chance to get to know each other.

New Staff Appointments Announced By President

Promotions and new appointments to the university staff announced by President J. E. Buchanan have received, because of their emergency nature, telegraphic approval by the board of regents.

Occupying a new administrative post, that of director of student welfare services, dean of men and professor, will be H. E. Lattig, since 1926 a member of the college of agriculture faculty and during the war, acting dean of men, administrative secretary and veterans advisor. Mr. Lattig, who will coordinate and supervise all student welfare activities, veterans welfare and health service, has been given permanent release from his duties in agricultural education and as assistant dean of the college.

President Buchanan also announced that Charles O. Decker, who joined the university staff in January and has been acting dean of men as well as veterans advisor during the summer, would become full-time veterans counsellor. Mr. Decker is a veteran of World War II, having served with the ferrying division headquarters of the air transport command at Cincinnati, Ohio.

To Help Veterans

Assisting Decker in working with the 1500 veterans enrolling in the university this year will be another veteran, James M. Lyle, an Idaho graduate with the class of 1929. A former superintendent of schools at Grangeville and assistant state superintendent of public instruction, Lyle is now on terminal leave from the army with which he served nearly four years in personnel and induction work at San Francisco.

Expansion in the public relations field include advancement of O. A. Fitzgerald, member of the staff since 1927, to director of information, professor and acting administrative secretary, and appointment of Raphael Gibbs, Idaho graduate with the class of 1934, as editor of publications, a post vacant during the war. For two years after graduation, Gibbs handled Vandal sports publicity and for five years was a staff writer on the Milwaukee, Wis., Journal. For the past five years he served in the army as public relations officer and at the time of his discharge was chief of the information bureau, office of the air inspector, AAF headquarters.

More Appointments

Other appointments, including two department heads, four professors, one associate professor, two assistant professors, eight instructors, two staff members each in the bursar's and veterans office, and six in the agricultural extension division were announced by President Buchanan following his return to the campus from the board of regents' recent meeting at Pond's Lodge, Idaho.

Hubert C. Manis was named permanent head of the department of entomology, and new head of the department of philosophy will be Robert L. Ormsby. New professors include E. B. Christensen, chemical engineering; George W. Stengel, Henry H. Foster, Jr., and George B. Fraser, Jr., all in the college of law.

Max Jensen joins the university faculty as associate professor of agricultural engineering and associate irrigationist in the experiment station. Miss Erminis, during 1943-46 a lieutenant in the bureau of naval communications and during the summer of 1946 instructor in German at the University of Chicago, comes as assistant professor of foreign languages. Joining the English department as assistant professor will be John K. Forrest. Agnes C. Schuldt, who taught piano at the university from 1927 to 1930, returns as instructor in music.

The top pen of five yearling Panama rams were sold at the national sale for $150 each and the second top ten of five yearling Suffolk rams were sold for $120 per head, he said. The sales were held at Salt Lake City, Utah, and Filer, Idaho.

After a discussion by the Moscow city council at its meeting Monday night, city police will again strictly enforce the city's parking laws, Chief Ray Harter declared.

Laws forbid double-parking on any business street and make it mandatory that cars park not longer than the posted time in any restricted zone. City police will begin giving tickets immediately to motorists who persist in double parking or parking overtime.

Cougar Students Choose Moscow As Trailer Home

Moscow has been invaded. The other day two men rented trailer space from one of the local trailer camp proprietors. The proprietor, wishing to aid the students as much as possible, had decided to save that space for those wishing to enter college. He asked if they were students and found that they were—at Washington State college!

They're going to commute to classes each day from Moscow. When the football season starts there will probably be a little difficulty in rooting, however, as the two WSC trailers are surrounded by about 28 from Idaho.

Students Eligible

All students, new and old, in any department in the university are eligible for musical groups on the campus this fall.

These groups include university concert band, university orchestra, military band, the pep band, university singers and Vandaleers, both mixed groups and other small musical ensemble groups.

Sororities Will Announce New Pledges Thursday

Women rushees will move into their respective houses Thursday morning when four days of rush parties end at the close of the first pre-school rush week here. Bids will be received at the Panhellenic exchange in the student union at 9 a.m. and the rushees will call for them at 10.

Rush parties scheduled today include luncheons by Kappa Alpha Theta and Pi Beta Phi; tea by Alpha Chi Omega and Kappa Kappa Gamma; dinners, Delta Gamma and Gamma Phi Beta; and fire-sides, Alpha Phi and Delta Delta Delta.

Wednesday's program includes dinners by Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Phi and Kappa Kappa Gamma; luncheons, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Phi and Alpha Chi Omega; teas, Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Delta Delta, Pi Beta Phi and Delta Gamma; firesides by Gamma Phi Beta, Pi Beta Phi, Delta Gamma and Alpha Chi Omega.

Rushing began Sunday with the Panhellenic tea when 155 rushees were shown through the eight sorority houses.

Exchange in Bucket The Panhellenic exchange, installed in the upper lounge of the Blue Bucket, will remain open during rush week with representatives from each house to answer questions pertaining to the group's rulings. LaLene Cargill, president of the council, stated: "Feel free to ask anyone in that office questions regarding rushing. Do not depend upon chance information or rumors. When in doubt as to rumors or chance information, check at the exchange."

Rushees are being housed in Forney hall, Hays hall, and Rid-enbaugh hall as well as in Moscow. Mrs. Louise S. Carter, dean of women, will direct the preferential bidding system Thursday morning. Rushees must call for their membership bids Thursday morning to enable them to eat in their new living quarters at noon of the same day.

Installed as part of the Panhellenic exchange is a bulletin board containing a list of rush parties, pictures of each sorority house and a display of each group's badge.

She's the type that whispers sweet little nothin' doin's in your ear.

Baptist Missionary Lives In China 33 Years

Plagues, famines, floods, wars—all these things the Reverend Joshua Jensen, Baptist missionary, had to contend with for 33 years in China, but not for once during that time did he forget that his home college was the University of Idaho. He graduated in 1907.

Once each year, war or no war, flood or no flood, Mr. Jensen sent a check to the University to pay his alumni dues. His check came as usual in 1942, but World War II had forced temporary discontinuation of Idaho alumni activities, and the check was returned to him with a letter of explanation.

When a Chinese postman brought the word to his mission in Ipin (formerly Suffu), Szechwan Province, at the headwaters of the Yangtze, Mr. Jensen felt sad. Being an active alumnus helped keep alive the pleasant memories of his college days, and that in turn helped keep him going through the rugged years in China.

Chinese Learns About Moscow

Through the missionary, more Chinese in Ipin probably knew about his home town, Moscow, Idaho, than Moscow, Russia. The place of which Mr. Jensen spoke so often and eloquently was strange indeed to the Chinese. It seemed that the University at Moscow was forever feuding with Washington State college, nine miles across the hills, but the arguments were always settled on the football field or basketball court. Very strange, these Americans.

Then, in 1944, the man from Idaho said goodbye to his Chinese charges for the last time. He had gone to America before on leaves, but this time he was retiring as a missionary to take a quiet rural pastorate in Masonville, N. Y.

Asked For Argonaut

In New York, Mr. Jensen thought more than ever about the University because it was so much nearer now. Also, he had two brothers, Samuel and Ernest, farming near Moscow, and a sister, Mary, living in Moscow. In August of this year, Mr. Jensen once more walked over the campus, his campus. The hills were still the same, but the buildings on them had grown and multiplied. He looked at the temporary structures going up to house 500 veterans. When he went to college, those buildings would have provided ample space for all his classmates and himself. Mr. Jensen called on the university editor, and the first thing he said was:

"Do you happen to have a copy of the Argonaut? Some years I got it in China, and some years I didn't. I missed it so much."

Even after years of ups and downs, fair weather and foul, the Idaho alumnus' thoughts still center on the university. He is attempting to locate any other member of the class of '07 who are interested in holding a big fortieth anniversary in 1947.

"I, for one," said Mr. Jensen, "will be there."

Pep Band Tryouts To Be Held Soon

Members of the Idaho pep band, newly organized after a lapse of several years during the war, will be chosen after tryouts Saturday afternoon according to Jack Furey, leader of the group. Edward J. Marty, instructor in the department of music, will act as faculty advisor for the band.

Tryouts will begin at 1 p.m. upstairs in the Student Union building for saxophone players who can double on the clarinet or flute. At 2 p.m. tryouts have been scheduled for the brass section doubling in baritone and at 4 p.m. rhythm tryouts will be held.

Furey has contacted Gay Jones of Seattle, who arranges for Freddy Slack, and has announced he will do several arrangements for the pep band.

Mrs. M. C. Houston Appointed By Gov.

Governor Arnold Williams has appointed Mrs. Maud Cosho Houston, Boise, to a five-year term on the state board of education and board of regents of the university. Mrs. Houston recently was discharged from the Women's Army Corps.

A 1907 graduate of Oregon State college, she has held several P.T.A. offices including presidency of the Boise city council, state first vice-president, and state treasurer. A son is a former student, and another plans to enroll this fall.

"Where does your brother hang out?"

"Around the belt."

Period Open For Filing Of Exam Applications

An examination for probational appointment to Engineering Aid, Scientific Aid, and Biological Aid positions, located in Washington, D. C., and the immediate vicinity, has been announced by the civil service commission.

Salaries range from $1,822 to $2,644 a year for a 40-hour workweek. The duties of these positions are of subprofessional nature and include activities in the principal branches of the above fields, such as civil, electrical and mechanical engineering, chemistry, physics, metallurgy, entomology, biology, horticulture, zoology, etc.

To qualify in the examination all applicants must pass a written test and in addition must have had experience, or education above the high school level, in engineering, physical science, or natural science, depending upon the position for which they apply. A combination of experience and education will also be acceptable. Age limits, except for applicants entitled to veteran preference, are from 18 to 62 years.

The period for filing applications will extend to October 10, 1946. Applications must be on file with the civil service commission, Washington 25, D. C., on or before the closing date. Announcements and application forms may be obtained from most first- or second-class post offices, from civil service regional offices, or from the commission's central office in Washington, D. C.

Seeding Of Wheat Important

While contour seeding of winter wheat is just one of the factors in soil erosion, it is a very important one, according to a statement by Dr. H. W. Klages, head of the agronomy department. Many thousands of tons of good Palouse soil would be saved every year if farmers would plant their winter wheat across the slope instead of down hill. The working of the field across the slope has a tendency to slow down the velocity of water, Dr. Klages stated.

Another precaution farmers can take is to leave the soil as rough as possible before and after seeding. A rather rough, cloddy field is not as pleasing to the eye as the smooth field, but much more effective in the standpoint of erosion control, he stated.

Local Building Union Asks More Pay In Campus Jobs

An "earnest appeal" for "underpaid" university personnel was included in a petition and three-point program drafted recently by the Building Service Employees International Union, Local No. 202 of Moscow, according to J. C. Faulkner, assistant secretary of the union here.

The request, which came from the "underpaid janitors, cooks, ground workers, firemen, farm workers, and all other low-paid but indispensable personnel" is an appeal to state legislatures to raise present wages to $165 per month. Action on the matter at the session of the legislature this fall in Boise was asked.

Second point of the petition requires a retirement system for state, county and municipal workers throughout the state as well as members of the local union.

Concluding the petition is a request for a salary increase for university instructors and those in other state educational institutions. The request points out that many instructors are leaving Idaho "because of low state appropriations and consequent low salaries," and asks "more liberal appropriations to take care of this serious menace." Faulkner stated the aim of the

Campus Bits

By STEW

Comes September, comes another year of readin', ritin', and 'rithmetic and with it comes thousands of new faces mingling with the old. Needless to say, we cheer to see the thousands mingle 'cause it means fine cuts of meat for our column's meals.

Perhaps the loudest rumble heard 'round the campus this season was that of senior Pan-Hellenic representatives—Lalene Cargill, Sooty Kopelman, Lucile Thompson, Romaine Gale, Evelyn Fisher and Betty Ann Craggs, as they rushed madly to the Senator Bench, brushed off leaves, dust, birds, and last year's freshmen and properly established their prestige as members of the class of '47. Imagine their disappointment—four years of waiting, only to discover that there just ain't room for all of 'em on such a tiny bench!

The TKE boys might find it interesting conversation should they inquire of their Dick Goodman, Warren Briggs, and "Just Plain Jim" just how they gained entrance to the Alpha Phi house last week. Shouldn't be a wee bit surprised if they claim they acted as expressmen and carried Marge Spring's trunks in.

Hurried checks for damages were made of two of the ATO's most "knocked-out" autos by their proud but worried owners when the train roughly met and clasped bumpers. Tom Feeney and Mark Kerby know not who to blame, and when asked if their cars had brakes they blankly asked "Brakes? — What are brakes?"

The Kappa's own private street light was purposely extinguished 'tother night and the girls are just sure that the guilty party was none other than Lole Hart and Bud Harris. We wonder where they hide their ladder. Speaking of bent fenders, the Beta boys are nothin' but worried since George Colner and Earl Hayes had auto mishaps. How, oh how can they impress pledges with an empty parking lot?

And here we might quote Fiji LaMar (Gus) Stewart and Ward Simpson who say, "We is available." Girls, they even give instructions on the art of mastering a unicycle—the car burns too much gas!

Dr. Strayer Urges Practical Subjects

"Resist the tendency to let academic preparation for college dominate their programs," was the advice Dr. George D. Strayer, noted educator, offered Washington schools after a survey of them last week.

He recommended a merger of the state department of vocational education and the department of public instruction in order that the teaching of such subjects as agriculture, homemaking, sales distribution and such newly developed skills as food production, general manufacture and construction methods, as well as subjects pertaining to the new light metals industry be facilitated. He also urged that more attention be paid to student health.

Bill and Sue were taking a spin along a country road. Nothing was said for the first ten miles. Suddenly, Bill stopped the car, turned to her, and said: "I'm a man of few words. Do you neck or don't you?"

"I'm a girl of few words. I don't, but you talked me into it."

Vivian McLaughlin and Dorothy Monko maintain they have found their vocations. With the help of their Tri-Delt sisters they successfully laid hall carpet. They only hope the thumb tacks hold. Evidently Chuck Gibb and J. T. Peterson are confused. Yes, boys, you do call for your dates, but please stop at the front door. The DGs do not have a reception room on the second floor—or did you have this matter cleared up for you? We understand the persuasion was cold, cold water.

Pi Phi girls are trying to locate a bow for Norma Grimmitt's arrow. Seems she lived in no less than a teepee this summer and just can't get along without some pow-wow atmosphere. Enough of this gab for now. Keep mingling you thousands. See ya'.

Kerr Expects Big Sale Of Books

In order to handle the expected increase in the sale of books this fall, the bookstore has been expanded to include the lower lounge of the student union building. A staff of 18 or 20 students under the direction of Chet Kerr, manager, will work during the busiest days.

Kerr advised students to be sure they were taking the course before purchasing the required book. Striking an optimistic note, Kerr commented that the "book situation is much better now than at the first of the second semester last year."

The reason love is intoxicating is because it's made in the still of the night.

Brown Picks 51 Men for Idaho Varsity Football Squad

Oldtimers Will Recognize Miklich And Zenkevitch

Coach James A. (Babe) Brown today named a 51-man University of Idaho varsity football squad.

Listed on the varsity contingent are many newcomers to this year's squad. They are players Brown says have "shown little regard for past records of individuals or so-called 'big names,'" and have beaten lettermen and other experienced gridders out of varsity berths.

Brown cut his squad today, just two weeks before the Vandals open the 1946 season at Stanford on September 28, after carefully studying the results of last Saturday's intrasquad game.

Listed on the Idaho varsity are: Quarterbacks — Carl Munson, Chicago; Charles Plastino, Jerome; Mel Weipert, Spokane; and Jim Hammond, Caldwell.

Halfbacks — Bill Miklich, Coeur d'Alene; Woody DeLorme, Plummer; Willard Beitz, Rupert; Jerry Diehl, Jerome; Jack Hatch, Coeur d'Alene; John Christensen, Nampa; John Kivus, Mankato, Minn.; Bob Barbour, Boise; and Andrew Walsh, Point Marion, Pa.

Miklich is Back — Bill Miklich, West Allis, Wis.; Sam Theis, Coeur d'Alene; Don Severson, Coeur d'Alene; and Laune Erickson, Salt Lake City.

Centers — Ralph Paasch, Idaho Falls; Ray Saras, Shoshone; Bill Last, Oshkosh, Wis.; and Donald Wright, Rexburg.

And So Is Viro — Tackles — Frank Viro, Spokane; Richard Nelson, Boise; Jack Jones, Sandpoint; Jim Greenrod, Boise; Mack Neibaur, Newdale; Len Zenkevitch, Auburn, Maine; Carl Killgaard, Bonners Ferry; Norm Miller, Lewiston, Maine; and Ed Watkins, Chicago.

Ends — Bill Greenrod, Boise; Glenn Lynam, Spokane; Allen Jackson, Boise; Richard Sickler, Barberton, Ohio; Ed McFaul, Ione, Wash.; Anthony Paverada, Portland, Maine; Merlin Aldred, Weiser; Bill Moad, Nampa; Wilford Overgard, Boise; Orville Barnes, Caldwell; Elmer Buoy, Ione, Wash. and Mark Kerby, Moscow.

Arbitration Panel Names Dr. Graue

Dr. Erwin Graue, professor of economics at the university has accepted an invitation to become a member of the national panel of arbitrators of the American Arbitration association.

"I consider this invitation a distinct honor," said Dr. Graue in a letter to Joseph S. Murphy of New York, director of panels, in accepting the appointment. The national panel board is composed of "public spirited citizens who agree to act as private, impartial judges in commercial or industrial controversies when called upon to do so by the parties involved." Panel members usually are called upon once or twice a year. Their service is honorary.

coming weekend at the Moscow hotel and the Student Union Building. Spurs are in charge if this, while Mortar Board will handle the sale of pom poms. Tickets for the dance will be on sale in every men's house and living group.

Food Problem Solved — The food problem during the weekend has been alleviated by the offer of the Grange to feed approximately 500 for the evening meal on October 26. House managers will meet soon to find other solutions so that there will be available food for all guests.

Alumni are advised to obtain rooms in Lewiston, Pullman, or other nearby towns as there are few left in Moscow for that weekend. Gilb stressed the fact that all students are to invite as many guests for the week-end as possible.

On the general committee are Bonnie Burnside, Earl Hayes, Pat Colvard, Marilyn Daigh, Claire Hale, Dick Saliday, Joyce Halley, and Alice Marie Hoobing. Other members of the committee are to be announced soon.

Coach Mike Ryan Takes Track Job At U. of Wyoming

Michael J. (Mike) Ryan, track coach at the University of Idaho for the last 11 years, resigned recently to accept a track coaching position at the University of Wyoming.

A former Olympics performer and coach, Ryan is rated as one of the country's outstanding track coaches. During his 11 years at Idaho, he produced some of the school's most outstanding track teams and brought many championships and records home from the cinder paths. His specialty was developing distance runners, and he popularized cross-country racing throughout the Northwest.

In addition to being track coach at Idaho, Ryan was also trainer for all Vandal teams. The care of the athletes always came first with Ryan, and he was popular with the men. When many of them were away at war, he carried on an extensive correspondence with more than 100 of them.

Greener Fields — "I hate to see Ryan go," commented George Greene, director of athletics at Idaho, "but the University of Wyoming opportunity, extended him by Glenn Jacoby, director of athletics at Wyoming and a former colleague on the Idaho coaching staff, was too good for him to turn down."

In his letter of resignation to President J. E. Buchanan of the University of Idaho, Ryan stated: "I shall always remember the friends I have made at Idaho and will cherish the many pleasant associations and experiences I have had here. My earnest wish is for the university to attain its greatest development and for it to take its rightful place as one of the nation's outstanding educational institutions."

VACANCY IN SCHOOL — Eighteen school age youngsters in Latah county are ready to go to school but no teacher has been found to fill the one vacancy existing in the Mountain Home school, Mrs. Nell P. LaFollette, county superintendent of schools, reported last week.

Applicants are eligible who have had seven months teaching experience on a valid certificate, or at least one year of normal or college training since high school graduation. Such applicants will be considered for an emergency permit.

By CLARK CHANDLER

Dear Sports Fan:

Everything seems to be running true to form this fall with football in full swing and the California sportswriters in the same old rut, automatically placing Idaho in the conference basement. There is an exception, however, for Idaho should win a few games this year.

Optimism sprang up in Vandal circles when approximately 130 aspirants answered roll call the first week of fall practice. Babe Brown has had a hectic time deciding just which player merited a varsity position, but has finally named a 51 man varsity squad. This announcement came after an inter-squad game played Saturday under actual game conditions. According to Brown weak spots were evident, but there were also many bright spots. He says most weaknesses will be ironed out before the Vandals tangle with the Stanford Indians September 28th.

Dopesters earlier claimed that Stanford would be in for a long series of defeats after winning the first game of the season against Idaho. Since then Idaho has risen slightly in some writers estimation and the Brownmen are determined to erase the defeatist attitude which has been in past years a natural part of the environment.

The important highlight of the varsity squad announcement is that "unknowns" have beaten out lettermen and "big names." This speaks well for the football material turning out and should dispel any rumor of favoritism on the gridiron.

Also running true to form is the number of good men slipping away from Idaho's faculty — both the classroom and coaching variety. "Mike" Ryan, long time track coach and trainer has accepted an excellent position at the University of Wyoming. Ryan is one of the most respected track coaches in the nation. First to notice "Mike's" absence are the Vandal footballers, who in spite of Ben Ryan's efforts are having to tape their own ankles with friction tape and nurse their own charley horses. (Ben, "Mike's" son is helping out as trainer until one is appointed). There has been no official word of an appointment for this position.

Gale Mix, Graduate Manager, has been showering Western Union with telegrams endeavoring to assure the arrival of game pants and headgear in time for the faracas with the Indians at Palo Alto. The shoe and jersey situation is under control, Mix reports, but admits a little concern over the pants as they are to be sent di-

Vandalville lost another respected coach this week when Mike Ryan, veteran Idaho track mentor, resigned to accept a position at the University of Wyoming. There has been no official word concerning a possible successor to the Vandal trainer.

Cinderman To Run Again This Fall

Victor Dyrvall, winner of the Metropolitan A.A.U. six mile run, has returned to the University of Idaho campus this fall where he will use up his remaining collegiate eligibility. A Pacific Coast collegiate and Coast A.A.U. cross country champion, he has one semester of cross country eligibility left.

After winning the army staged Icelandic meet distance championship, Dyrvall returned to the New York and traveled around the oval to take the six mile grind in the time of 30:51.1.

Other Idaho trackmen met with success this summer in the N.C. A.A. meet. Ted Lake, Twin Falls, reached the 220 yard low hurdle semi-finals in the National Collegiate Track and Field championships. In the same meet Dick Dexter, Walla Walla, placed fourth in the two mile event.

John Taylor, Moscow, who placed first in the Central Collegiate and second in the National Collegiate 120 high hurdle event in 1945, has been discharged from the navy and along with Lake will make formidable opposition for other Pacific Coast conference schools.

same time he received his promotion from major to Lieutenant colonel, his rank at the time of separation. The citation specifically commended him for "clarifying engineering problems where confusion and controversy existed. Through his initiative, sound judgment, keen foresight and exceptional leadership, he made material and timely contribution to the war effort."

ON AIR

The recorded voice of Football Coach J. A. "Babe" Brown will be heard over radio station KALE, Portland, Saturday.

The "Babe's" voice will be heard along with those of other Pacific Coast coaches in a sports round-up broadcast. Each coach will speak for three minutes on the football prospects of his own 1946 squad. Brown, accompanied by Don Carlson, ASUI news bureau director, made the platter at Station KRCL in Lewiston Sunday.

It is everyone's sincere hope that they arrive in time as we are assuming that pants are worn in California.

This is an attempt in the form of an open letter to give returning students a picture of the athletic plant this fall. This column will try to pass on more and better dope in the future.

All men are born fools so that women won't die old-maids. A woman, generally speaking, is generally speaking.
