With the second actual week of school in season, activities of the year are beginning to dot the calendar. Holding the biggest interest for students is the coming football game with Washington State, which will be played Saturday in Pullman. Announcement has just come of the cancellation of a special train to the city for the big day. This means that the transportation problem for most students will be the factor determining how many Idahoans are in our rooting section.

However, by bus, car, or regular train—and even by hitchhiking—students can traverse the nine miles of territory to see what promises to be one of the most exciting games of the season. WSC won't be in full swing by Saturday, as that marks the final registration date for the school; this gives us the chance to outnumber the Cougar college in students attending—and we might have a corresponding lead over them in pep and spirit. Since there are only three home games this season, there are only a few chances for the Idaho student body to reveal its support of the team. This is one of them.

Plans for Homecoming on October 26 are speeding ahead with the large list of committee members being announced in this issue. Chairman Chuck Gilb has chosen a list which is immense enough to include several members from each house and campus living group. He and Joe Garner, assistant chairman, figured out a percentage which would give each living group the same number of committee members. This is an example of careful selection which should lead to no gripes from any houses. Now Gilb is confronted with only one problem—gaining the cooperation of his committee members. Jason feels that the spirit on the campus this year is such that cooperation is a thing to be expected—and that the committees will pull through with a Homecoming like Idaho hasn't seen in years.

Congratulations are in order to the Idaho Alumni association which has spent several hundred dollars in a search for a name band to play for the big week-end. Four members of the alumni group deserve special mention this week for their excellent preliminary work on Homecoming. They are: Clancy Childs, Joe Brunzell, Harlow Campbell and Gene Slade.

NROTC Unit Signs 30 Freshmen

Thirty freshmen have signed up with the NROTC unit this fall and fifteen advanced students with former training in the program have returned to complete their course of study leading to a commission in the Navy.

The unit at Idaho, which trained some 180 men last year under the wartime V-12 program, was established as a permanent peace-time unit on the campus this fall under provisions of the recently passed Holiday bill.

IR Club Discusses Wallace Thursday

A meeting of the International Relations club will be held Thursday at 7 p. m. to discuss the topic, "Was Wallace Right?" according to Sylvan Jeppeson, president. Speakers for the evening will be Dr. William Polz of the economics department, W. C. Banks of the English department, and Robert E. Hosack, of the political science department. Hosack is also club advisor.

The meeting will be held in the small lounge upstairs in the student union building.

WOMEN TO STUDY PROBLEMS

Women living in the home management house during the fall will study foods, purchasing, planning and other problems of the home, according to Miss Melva Meirhenry, director.

Gilb Chooses 158 For Homecoming Committees

Torches Herald Pajama-Clad Parade, Dance

Alice Marie Hoobing and Keith Griffiths last night were named co-chairmen of the permanent ASUI rally committee, and will handle arrangements for the pajama parade to be held Friday night.

Other members of the committee are Lois Beem, Billie Odberg, Bob Booth, Helen Harrington, Helen Moulton, Jack Mallory, Barbara Spaeth, Kenneth Carter, Kyle Bates, George Thorpe, Ed Kocheil, Gene Gardner, Gerry Stanfield and Betty Pyles.

Following a suggestion from the dean of women, the committee decreed that nightgowns will be out of order, and also announced that no one will be allowed to attend the one-hour pajama dance in the gymnasium without proper costume.

The torchlight parade will begin at the Ad building at 7 p. m. with each living group falling in along the line of march with at least five oiled-rag torches, the committee said, and cautioned rallyers to dispose of the flares only in the receptacles which will be placed near the gym.

The pep band will lead the parade and play for the dance which follows.

KUOI Adds Drama To Schedule

Campus station KUOI added its first regular dramatic program to its schedule with "The Paulsen Playhouse," a weekly half-hour of mystery and supernatural radio plays, written and produced by Maurice Paulsen. The program appears each Thursday at 7 p. m. complete with musical background and recorded sound effects.

The first play, "The Late Mr. Scarface," was produced September 26 with Roland Tipsword, Polly Bickett, and Bill Andrews in the cast. Thursday's program is "The Devil's Ticket" with Margaret Hickman and Luke Boyle in the major roles. Future programs will employ actors from each of the living groups.

NOTICE TO VETERANS

All veterans in the university whose certificates of eligibility were issued in states other than Idaho should request transfer of case file. Requests should be issued to the Veterans Administration at that state.

Veterans may check with the Veterans Administration on the campus if there is any question about the case file.

Rats Are Goats In Zoology Students' Experiments

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles introduced to better acquaint new and old students with their university.)

By DICK EIMERS

Today's quest for new and interesting facts led us into the malodorous depths of Science hall. Past lecture rooms and laboratories filled with embryonic young Pasteurs and Newtons, we filed to the office of Dr. H. B. Stough, head of the zoology department of the college of letters and science. He, with his associates and assistants, was busily engaged in teaching part of the more than 400 students who want to know more about animal and human bodies.

When they say "RATS" in that corner of Science hall is likely to be more than an emphatic statement that with the aid of rats, research is being carried out which the researchers hope will ultimately be beneficial in attacking some of the ills that beset humans.

Vandal Gridmen Return

When the 9:20 a. m. special pulled into Moscow yesterday, weary Vandal football players returned to the campus after their first tangle of the season. Hopes were high when they boarded the train for Stanford, but the Indians won a 45-0 victory over the Idaho travelers. Next game is slated for Saturday with Washington State at Pullman.

Last Registration Figures Show Ratio Of 3.27 Men Per Woman

Total registration figures reached President J. E. Buchanan's estimated 3400 yesterday, when Idaho student No. 3404 passed through Registrar D. D. DuSault's office, with more veterans expected to enroll today.

When they do, they may look with a gloomy eye on the registrar's tally sheet which, in cold figures, indicates that the ratio of men over women will amount to about 3.27 to one. Preliminary figures tallied as of September 26 showed that out of an enrollment then of 3361 students, 2574 were men, against only 787 co-eds. A horde of returning veterans reversed the score which last fall stood at 645 men and 726 women.

Here is the divisional breakdown of total registration figures compiled by the registrar as of September 26, including both graduate and undergraduate students:

Letters and science, 1053; agriculture, 288; engineering, 613; agricultural engineering, 31; law, 73; mines, 77; forestry, 252; education, 329; business, 645.

Director To Give Van Druten Play For First Drama

Taking the spotlight on the bill-board of the drama department's fall activities will be the production of "I Remember Mama."

The selection of John Van Druten's Broadway hit was announced today by dramatics director Miss Jean Collette.

The play is a two-act comedy adapted from the novel, "Mama's Bank Account," by Kathryn Forbes. It has a cast of 23 characters, which is larger than that of most former ASUI productions.

Over 150 dramatic aspirants attended tryouts last Monday and Thursday for parts in the year's plays. From these, Miss Collette will contact those most suited for parts in the fall play for "call tryouts" for specific characters.

Dormitory Adopts Appropriate Name

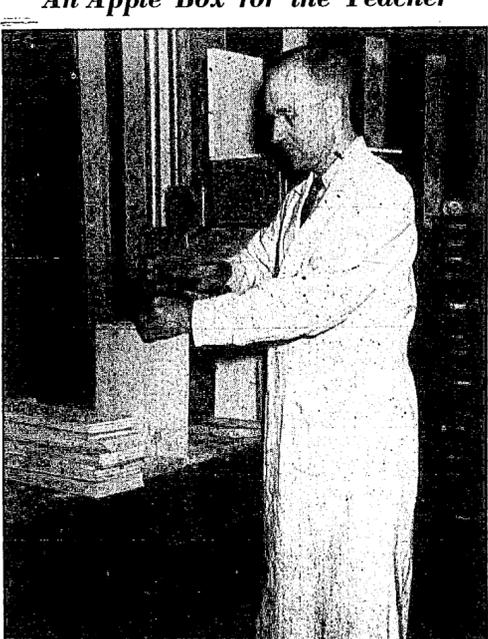

"We are long on names for dormitories, but short on dormitories," commented Robert Greene, director of dormitory facilities at the University of Idaho.

When it was suggested that new emergency dormitories should be named after Idaho trees, a check was made to determine whether there would be enough trees to go around. The School of Forestry reported that the woods are full of them, with at least 30 trees native to the state of Idaho.

The 386-man dormitory for veterans now under construction has been named Pine hall. The name is particularly apt as it is constructed mostly of pine. The former navy barracks on the campus have been named Larch hall. That leaves 28 names to go. Then there are the scientific names such as "Abies Amabilis," which could be used, with few persons spotting the repetitiveness.

The editors have plans to add the magazine to the regular list of ASUI publications, greatly revise the contents, and reduce the price to 15 cents.

An Apple Box for the Teacher

Cleon C. Cowin, instructor in chemistry, is shown above assembling part of 200 apple boxes—but not for apples. With 1,130 students in chemistry, the department finds itself woefully short on lockers so a hurry-up order to Potlatch Forests resulted in the purchase of the boxes which will be used as chemistry lockers.

Biggest Rumor of the Week

One of the most common rumors circulating about the colleges these days is this choice bit of gossip: A certain number of veterans, or any students for that matter, will be eased out of the nation's universities this fall, regardless of formerly acceptable grade requirements. This "squeeze play" on the veterans whose scholastic standing is below the average, goes the ugly "scuttlebutt," is designed to make room in our schools of higher education only for those who are best qualified for college work. For instance, if no "D's" were made, the students with "C's" would be automatically forced to leave the various campuses.

Many prospective students feared that this situation would prevail here in Moscow. Passing by the registration line, remarks by the new students were overheard to the effect that "the university's requirements did not mean a thing—if the classes were too crowded, the school would get rid of you some way or another."

Rumors about other schools were also prevalent: Oregon State had to get rid of a thousand students; Washington State was planning to lower all grades on co-eds' examination papers a flat 10 or 15 per cent in order to eliminate the overflow of women in Cougarville.

We are happy to announce that this will not be the case at the University of Idaho. The editorial staff of the Argonaut was assured recently by the administration that the requirements for staying in school would remain the same as they have been in the past. No matter how many of us there are registered, we will all have an equal chance to grope for the coveted sheepskin—whether we rest at the top or bottom of the intelligence curve. —S.H.G.

TIPS FOR VETS

By GEORGE

Here is an important address for all vets who kept their National Service Life insurance after they were discharged from the service. Previously all insurance premiums were mailed directly to Washington, D. C.; but recently, in line with the program to simplify somewhat the procedures concerning insurance, the address was changed. All veterans in the university whose home address is in the northwest should mail their National Service Life insurance premiums to:

Veterans Administration, Branch No. 11, Exchange Building, Seattle 4, Washington, Attention: Collections Division.

For vets who are studying here and are from other parts of the country other than the Pacific northwest there are also changes in the offices to where NSLI premiums are to be sent. The addresses of the different offices throughout the country are listed in the VA Guidance center and may be obtained there.

Another recent change in NSLI provides now six different types of policies which veterans may convert their service insurance into. These six policies are: ordinary life, 20-year-pay life, 30-year-pay life, 20-year endowment, endowment at 60 years of age, and endowment at 65 years of age. Of course, each vet realizes that has eight years from the date he took his insurance out in the service to convert it to one of these policies and it is usually recommended that while the vet is in school it is less expensive to carry his insurance as he did in the service (at the same monthly payment) and convert it later after he finishes school when perhaps everyone won't have to pinch the penny so hard.

These new changes, which allow for lump payments for insurance, should remedy a lot of the trouble with government insurance which has previously kept many vets from taking up policies. As it now stands, the government insurance is similar to civilian policies except it is cheaper to veterans in that many of the operating expenses, etc., are assumed by the government. More information on the six policies which vets can convert their insurance to can be obtained at the VA Guidance center here on campus or at the VA Contact office in Room 303 of the Post Office building.

Soccer Practice Begins

Women's soccer practice is now being held each afternoon from 4:15 to 5 p.m. on the playing field opposite the Memorial gym under the management of Bobbie Douglass.

Every woman who wishes to play in the soccer tournament, the dates of which will be announced later, must have a heart examination at the infirmary. Participants are urged to be dressed and ready to play by 4:15 each afternoon.

Foresters Choose Year's Officers

At an election held recently by the Associated Foresters, officers chosen for the year were Dave Wilson, president, Chuck Bigelow, vice president, Reade Brown, secretary, Kyle Bates, treasurer, and Art Brackenbush, ranger.

Announcement of the release of the Idaho Forester, the Associated Forester's publication, was made, and copies may be obtained by members who call for them at the office of forestry's office in Morrill Hall.

Dworshak Visits Campus Group

Kenny Lemon, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, joins in a "bull-session" with Henry C. Dworshak, candidate for U. S. senator and present congressman from Idaho. Cy Price, who is running for the office of Idaho secretary of state, and Dworshak's son, Henry L., also visited at the fraternity house recently.

Professor Accepts Position At WSC

Dr. R. J. Daubemire, botany instructor on the university faculty, has resigned to accept a similar position at Washington State College at an increase in salary. Dr. Walter W. Hansen from the University of Nebraska will replace Dr. Daubemire. Replacing Dr. John Roberts, who has accepted a position at Pacific University in Oregon, will be Mrs. Genevieve Lukman. Mrs. Lukman received her bachelor's degree from the University of Iowa.

Vet's Office Needs Marital Records

Veterans administration has requested that all veterans keep the office notified of their dependency status.

This is particularly important to the veterans who have been married or who have had children during the summer. Increased subsistence for dependents is granted only from the dated notification.

Here's More About Last Register

numbered 84; and there were 357 seniors; 499 juniors; 819 sophomores; 1600 freshmen, and two special students.

With Idaho's registration rush over, Registrar DuSault will take a breather this week and scout the Washington State college registration system. The Pullman school expects an enrollment of about 6000 and officials hope they can keep the registration lines unswarled. If they can, DuSault will be there to see how it's done, with an eye to altering the Idaho registration procedure which President Buchanan recently condemned as inadequate.

Landlords Agree On Rent Prices

Moscow landlords met Friday at the Moscow hotel and agreed to keep residential rentals "within proper bounds," and to support the findings of a "grievance" committee of five.

In answer to complaints by veterans, the chamber of commerce two weeks ago demanded solution of the problem of certain "exorbitant" rentals by a minority of landlords, or a request would be filed to the OPA for rental controls here.

Department Gives Dancing Invite

Seven to one was the ratio of women to men in the American country dance class's first meeting Thursday. About half the ladies present lowered their voices and took the part of gentlemen, but the situation wasn't too satisfactory, according to Mrs. M. B. Connolly, instructor.

Mrs. Connolly extends a special invitation to all men looking for fun and recreation to register for PE 101 with their dean. The class meets from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursday in the Women's gymnasium.

Play Party Takes Place of Picnic

Shortage of food in the Moscow area was the cause of the change from a picnic to a play party to mark the fall opening of the Women's Athletic association. The play party was held Monday evening beginning at 7 o'clock in the Women's gymnasium and all new women students were guests.

Working under Lalene Cargill, president of the association, were Madelyn Sanberg and Elizabeth Sutton as committee chairmen. Faculty advisor for WAA is Mrs. Irene Marks.

SAB Sponsors Dance Friday

The SAB-sponsored, all-campus dance held last Friday night was attended by 195 couples who danced to the music of Bob Olsen's orchestra until 12 p.m.

The dance is the first of a series to be held each Friday except when other all-campus activities are scheduled. Swede Swenson, chairman of the Activity board, was in charge of the affair with Zelya Hodge acting as co-chairman. Walter Smith was in charge of ticket sales.

Plans for another dance Friday have not been settled yet because of the pajama rally, but an announcement concerning it will be made soon.

Students Eat On Stoop As Cafes Reflect Conditions

By Garnet Storms

Did you see the crowd on the back stoop of the Nest? Or were you the one that walked in front and watched them drink their coffee outside? Or, at a last chance, you surely must have been the person that met half the forestry class while waiting for a table at the Bucket. If you don't fill any of the categories, either you are dead or you just don't eat.

The Campus Cafe has tripled the amount of students to whom they are serving regular meals. The Bucket has redecorated. The Nest (hope those plumbers get done, hope those plumbers, hope-) is opening a new addition just across from the present building.

Why Eat Anyhow
It's the people that are causing all the difficulties. Just people. They eat. They don't wash the dishes or serve the food. The eat. Especially in the mornings. Both the Nest and the Bucket need help very badly. If you can sweep the floor or cook, why don't you apply at the Nest? You would not only be helping the situation, but what is more, you would have an inside track to any food around.

Got a morning free? Or part of a morning? The Bucket says it might close (note advertisement). Then what would you do those days when you just can't make it to breakfast, and begin to starve at 10:30?

No Clean Dishes
The student enrollment doesn't show signs of declining rapidly, but the stock of clean dishes is already getting low. Even the stock of dishes is proving inadequate at the Campus Cafe with their greatly enlarged number of meals to be served, and more have been ordered. But even new dishes get dirty.

The moral to this story sticks out like a sore thumb. If you want to have your cake, you got to make it. And the eating places don't at all mind you asking for work. In fact, they'll pay you for any done!

Jobs Available
Students, veterans or non-veterans, or their wives who wish part-time employment have been urged to contact James Lyle, veteran's counselor, in room 210 of the Administration building. There are many positions open.

Long Rivalry Renewed With Washington State Saturday

Brown Emphasizes Pass Defense In Practice

"We are in a good frame of mind and we are going right to work in preparation for our traditional game with Washington State," Coach J. A. "Babe" Brown said last night. A listless Vandal eleven was tommyhawked to the tune of 45-0 last Saturday by Stanford university.

There was nothing wrong with Idaho in Saturday's game that can't be corrected, Brown said, and started proving his point yesterday by working his football charges on pass defense, which was exceptionally weak against Stanford. Also stated for emphasis in Brown's W.S.C. preparations is drill for the ends and general speeding up of the offense.

By comparative scores Idaho should have little chance against the nearby Cougar team. Surprising everyone, Washington State held a highly touted USC to a narrow 13-7 victory. The Californians are favored to win the Rose Bowl bid. Idaho's loss to Stanford by such a large score would indicate that the Idaho Vandals have little chance of breaking Washington State's long line of wins over the Vandals.

Brown emphasized the fact that his charges were in an excellent frame of mind and anxious to prove that there is a much stronger football machine at Idaho than the squad that made a futile stand against the speedy Indians of Stanford.

Sigma Nu Defeats Fijis In Opener

The defending Sigma Nu intramural football team opened their football season successfully Monday when they defeated Phi Gamma Delta 25-6. The Sigma Nu's scored twice in the first half on passes from Bill Williams to Jim Farmer and Norman Farnham. The Fijis struck back late in the first half, but the offensive Sigma Nu team sewed the game up in the last half with two touchdowns. Schoper took a pass from Williams and scored the third touchdown and then shortly after took another pass from Williams, lateralized it to Farnham who romped across for the final score.

Announcer Makes Disastrous Errors

Probably one of the toughest assignments a radio announcer can draw is the job of giving the public a play-by-play description of a football game when he is unfamiliar with the players of both teams. Such was the case in Stanford stadium last Saturday afternoon. The sportscaster tried hard enough, but most of the mistakes he made were disastrous enough to seem quite hilarious to those who followed the game closely.

Idaho was accused of being Washington, Oregon, Utah and Nevada throughout the afternoon, but joy first ran unconfined through one attentive little group of listeners at the Bucket when a Stanfordite was described as being a "great left-footed passer."

Jim Hatch, according to the California gentleman doing the talking, made a couple of nice gains for the Indians—the radio said so—and noseey Carl Munson came breaking out of the Stanford huddle on several occasions. Players were being continually knocked down off the midfield stripe, dragged back to the ten yard line, but remaining versatile enough to crawl a few meager feet up to the forty-yard marker.

The unfortunate announcer told us that "it's very warm indeed, here in Palo Alto, and those boys from northern Idaho must be extremely uncomfortable down there on the playing field." Apparently he made an understatement, for a few moments later he accused Vandal Quarterback Jim Hammond of "trying to run naked around his own left end."

That little play of words brought the final curtain down with a bang, and the combined patience of the little group was snapped. One fellow curled back his lips, bared his fangs, and growled at the sound of the announcer's voice. Another spat vehemently at the radio dial. This is not to condemn

RULES

It was decided in a "I" club meeting last night that all students wearing high school letterman sweaters should remove the letters from these sweaters immediately. This rule will be strictly enforced by the "I" club.

The rule that only seniors may sit on the "Senior bench" in front of the Administration building will also be enforced by the "I" club.

Sigma Nus Tromp All Over Fijis

Close scores marked the opening of the 1946 intramural touch football season yesterday afternoon when twelve teams, all using an aerial offense, played their initial game.

In the highest scoring game Sigma Nu trounced Phi Gamma Delta 25 to 6 in a league two game. In other league two games, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Tau Kappa Epsilon battled to a scoreless tie. The tie will be played off at the end of the season. Delta Chi piled up one more touchdown and conversion than did Delta Tau Delta to win its game 14 to 7.

In league one Beta Theta Phi licked LDS Institute 14 to 7 while Alpha Tau Omega was losing to Kappa Sigma 14 to 6. Sigma Chi walked over Phi Delta Theta 12 to 0.

"TAKE FIVE"

BY CLARK CHANDLER

In this issue some facts will be presented that will, it is hoped, clear up some of the misunderstandings concerning ticket sales at ASUI functions.

Individual members of the university faculty have expressed desire to purchase a book comparable to the ASUI student activities book, which would allow admission to all Idaho athletic events. "This will be made possible—if a sufficient number of faculty members will participate in such a proposition as to warrant such action by the Associated students," Gale L. Mix, graduate manager, reports.

The faculty, justly feeling themselves an underpaid but vital part of university machinery, have long felt the strain of paying full reserve seat prices at Idaho football games. (Note: There has been since 1941 a faculty section at reduced prices for basketball games.) Undoubtedly, the teaching staff has a just cause which will be reconciled, according to Mix, if there is a bona fide, concentrated effort by the sport-minded plaintiffs. However, there is a great deal of red tape involved in setting up such a program. Dealing with the board of internal revenue is an ordeal, and only a large representation of the teaching staff on the "faculty book sales record" would warrant consideration.

A faculty book can be offered for $10.20 including $1.70 federal tax, which would guarantee seats of the same type in which the students sit. Student books cost $8.50 of which 25c is tax. As soon as the present national emergency is declared over by the president, tax will be dropped from student tickets; and returned to the original ten per cent on other admissions. It is difficult to offer reserved seats at a reduced price since 50 per cent of all tickets sold fulfills a guarantee to visiting teams. Tickets sold at a reduced cost mean a loss to the ASUI. Last year .275 per cent of all reserved basketball seats were allotted to the faculty. Spring activities books covering track and baseball were made available last spring at $1.25 apiece. Approximately 10 were sold.

Kappa Sig's Gain Narrow Victory

In a game ending in a near brawl, the Kappa Sigma intramural touch football team defeated the Alpha Tau Omega team Monday 14 to 6. The Kappa Sig's crossed the A.T.O.'s goal line early in the first half as Dennis Sheehee, Kappa Sigma tailback, faded to his own 15 yard line and fired a pass to Tom Lyda, who was stopped on the 5 yard line. Lyda scored two plays later taking a short pass from Sheehee. Shortly before the end of the first half the A.T.O. team scored as Masingill ran across from the 5 yd. line. The Kappa Sig's then scored what proved to be the winning touchdown in the middle of the second half as Sheehee again threw a touchdown pass, this time to Mic Galloway, Kappa Sigma end.

The game was exceptionally rough due to the lack of strict officiating and several times during the game, fights broke out.

Idaho Has Won Fourteen Games In Fifty Years

Football rivalry which dates back to 1893 will be resumed Saturday afternoon when the University of Idaho Vandals and Washington State College Cougars meet in Pullman.

The game, the 50th between the neighbor-state schools, will see the Vandals seeking their first victory over WSC since 1925 when they won 7 to 6.

Thousands of fans from throughout the Inland Empire are expected to jam the Pullman stadium to see the two Palouse rivals, both using the T formation, in action. A seven car special train, which was slated to carry Idaho students to Pullman, was cancelled today due to a urgent need for railroad cars elsewhere. About 2500 tickets have been sold to Idaho fans. The contest holds special attraction for the Idaho student body because halftime entertainment is being recruited at Idaho.

Coach J. A. (Babe) Brown will be readying his gridiron for the contest all week and will run through a final workout Friday afternoon on the Idaho practice field. The team will move over to Pullman Saturday morning.

Since the Idaho-WSC rivalry was inaugurated in the spring of 1893, Idaho has won 14 games and Washington State 33. Two games ended in ties. Last year the Cougars won two games from Idaho, 45-12 and 21-0.
