Idaho Prepares Gigantic Homecoming Celebration

Homecoming Will Open With Rally, Fireworks

Switching from the "usual" subject of this column, Jason wishes to extend a hearty welcome to former students at Idaho who are returning to their Alma Mater this week-end. They will note changes in buildings, in students and faculty — but there will probably be little change from the famous Idaho "hello" spirit.

Various organizations and groups have cooperated to their full extent in order to make room for the alumni. Already over-crowded houses will be jammed so that each returning alum may have a place to stay. Homecoming committee members spent the last few nights working until early morning hours so that all will be in readiness. Chairmen Chuck Gilb and the alumni committee are burning the candle at both ends while planning to make this the biggest Homecoming Idaho grads have yet seen. This is our way of saying, "hello, alums."

When the postman came around yesterday he brought Jason a letter which serves to prove that at least 71 students read this column—it also bolstered my morale by attributing to me the power to determine attendance at football games, whether or not card tricks will be given, and various other items too numerous to mention. These 71 veterans who signed gave me the complete credit for causing them to stay away from the recent football game. Thanks, fellows—but Jason denies that any woman, except maybe Helen of Troy, could exert that much influence.

In the first place, Jason does not make rules—but merely notifies students that such laws are in existence. Your illegibly signed letter said: "Loyal veteran boosters refused to be dictated to and refrained from taking part in activities such as card tricks, 'I' hats, and a great majority of them did not attend the game." These rules were made by the yell leaders, the ASUI executive board, and other student organizations. They felt that these methods were the ones to employ in correcting the situation which 71 people have denied they helped to create. However, Jason wonders if your school spirit increased any as the night wore on and this letter passed from one bar to another.

Jason's thanks to L. W. Larson for his recent letter protesting our article on the university Pep band. He suggests that we print such controversial articles under a byline of the author or on the editorial page. Constructive criticism is always welcome.

Town Men Pledge Large Number

Twenty-three men were pledged to Tau Men Aleph, town men's fraternity, at a meeting held Monday in the Bucket. An executive board of five was also named. Those pledged were: Bill Emerson, Leonard Eilenberg, Clint Benedict, Douglas Baldwin, E. L. Williams, Bob Baker, Ray Anderson, Jack Doyle, John Aills, C. R. Anderson, Robert Passmore, John Turnbull, John Burkhardt and Jim Graham.

Also pledged were Vance Bacon, Joe Lepak, Jim Torgenson, Tom Tweedy, Bob Todd, T. W. Hautmont, Fred Farmer, Bill Woodard and Vernon Holder. The executive board consists of Tom Brown, Francis Catlin, Glen Barker, Bob Todd and John Dills. Plans for a pledge dance to be held next month were discussed along with intramural activities. The next meeting will be held Monday at 7 p. m. in the Bucket, President Jack Wing announced.

WAA Requires Exam

All women turning out for WAA tournaments must have physical examinations, according to L. L. Cargill, president. Tournaments will be held indoors on rainy days. Soccer tournaments will begin Nov. 8. All those who are interested in turning out for golf should sign up in the Women's gymnasium.

WORKERS

Students desiring work during the Homecoming game are to leave their names at the ASUI office today. Call between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m.

Alumni Plan Last-Minute Details

Meeting Wednesday night were Joe Brunsell, Harlow Campbell and Gene Slade, alumni assisting with arrangements for Homecoming. Standing are Chuck Gilb, general chairman, and Gale Mix, graduate manager.

Thirty-four demonstrations, obtained at a cost of $500, will shoot into the sky above MacLean field this evening when the fireworks display culminates the opening rally of Homecoming activities. Handled by three representatives of the Spokane firm which furnished the fireworks and 12 Intercollegiate Knights, the display begins at 7:30 p. m. and will continue for 40 minutes.

Students are cautioned by Gale Mix, graduate manager, to enter the field at the rear of the Administration building and to remain in the stands as they observe the exhibition. Women will begin this evening's programs when they serpentine through men's living houses at 5:45 o'clock wearing "I" caps "sunny side up." Spurs will direct the group and lead songs after the women have assembled at the women's athletic field at 5:30.

At 7 p. m., the annual rally will lead out from the Administration building with cheer leaders and the pep band in front. After winding through the campus, the fans will assemble to watch the fireworks and hear speeches by Coach J. A. (Babe) Brown and members of the varsity squad. Master of ceremonies Sam Butterfield will introduce the speakers. Chuck Gilb, Homecoming chairman, and his committee heads stressed these points regarding the week-end:

"Because of danger of inflammable bits of fireworks falling close to those observing the display on Friday night, all people are requested to remain in the stand at MacLean field until full completion of the extravaganza. All living groups are requested to closely guard individual house decorations before judging Saturday morning in order that they may be in good condition at that time. Because of much vandalism which has been displayed by unidentified groups this fall, this measure must be taken.

All living groups are reminded that open houses will be regarded by them all day Saturday. Houses and halls are expected to feed and house their own alumni for the day."

Peabody College Commission Reports Favorably On University Of Idaho

"The University of Idaho stands out as having a faculty which, as a group, has high scholarly competence." This is an extraction from the recently published report of the George Peabody college survey commission which the 1945 Idaho legislature invited to critically examine the educational structure of the state at a cost of $50,000.

No changes were suggested by the commission with respect to the services presently offered by the university to its enrollees. It was stipulated that specialized professional courses offered at the university should be retained in their present status and not duplicated elsewhere in the state.

Journalist Speaks At Assembly On Latin America

Ramon Lavelle, noted journalist, diplomat and lecturer will deliver the first address in the public events assemblies to university students Monday at 11 a. m. "The Latin American Maelstrom" is the subject chosen by Mr. Lavelle for discussion.

C of C To Elect New Directors

Election of the broad of directors for the business school Chamber of Commerce will be held at 7:15 p. m. November 6, in the small ballroom of the Student Union building.

LIBRARY

Library will close Saturday at 12 noon for the Homecoming football game.

Students Reveal Plans For Largest Postwar Celebration At University

"Roast the Ducks, Brown," and "Welcome, Grads" became popular phrases this week as the university prepared to observe its largest postwar Homecoming celebration which will feature the Idaho-Oregon football fray tomorrow. Returning alumni will attend a fireworks display this evening and a parade, banquet and dance tomorrow as highlights of the celebration prepared under the direction of Chairman Chuck Gilb.

Planes To Soar, Demonstrate At Half-Time

Twelve naval aircraft will circle the field during the halftime as a navy gun band performs. The mock air attack of the Seattle squadron will be led by Capt. H. D. Young, fleet air wing commander, who will also broadcast from his plane through the public address system on the field.

A women's serpentine through men's living houses will begin activities at 5:45 this evening, followed by an all-university rally at 7 p. m. which culminates at MacLean field with the fireworks display.

Classes will be shortened Saturday morning and there will be no afternoon classes on that day. The schedule is: first period, 8-8:20 a. m.; second, 8:30-8:50 a. m.; third, 9-9:20 a. m.; fourth, 9:30-9:50 a. m. Women will receive 1 a. m. permission Saturday night, according to Dean Louise S. Carter.

Registration of alumni began, this morning at 8 o'clock at the Moscow hotel and the Blue Bucket Inn, and will continue through Saturday noon. According to chairmen Pat Colvard and Keith Whaley, separate registration logs for alumni and guests are at the booths.

Order Given House Floats For Parade

Order of the Saturday morning parade was reported Friday by chairmen Lois Seiter and Zelva Hodge, and living groups were instructed to follow the planned schedule.

Floats will lineup as follows: Alpha Chi Omega, Hays hall, Phi Gamma Delta, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Gamma, Lindley hall, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Ridenbaugh hall, Delta Chi, Delta Tau Delta, LDS institute, Pi Beta Phi, Forney hall and the Idaho club.

The line continues with Theta Theta Pi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Campus club, Kappa Sigma, Tau Kappa Psi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Willis Sweet hall, Phi Delta Theta, Gamma Phi Beta, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu and Alpha Phi.

Gale Mix Manages Funds Of Associated Students

Under his duties of finance manager comes the adjustment of the budget for each school year which is submitted by each department anticipating the use of funds. Gale and his assistants correlate and adjust these financial requirements before submitting them to the ASUI Executive Board for final approval.

Safety Urged By Jeffers

Dean D. S. Jeffers, chairman of the university traffic and safety committee, issued a warning yesterday to students participating in the serpentine tonight.

"The committee recognizes the accidents that have occurred in the past," he said. "It is anxious to support the tradition of the homecoming serpentine and to prevent so far as possible the possibility of accidents this year. The committee urges participants to be careful when going down stairs so as not to break the lines."

SENIORS

All seniors who will complete the required work for graduation at the semester should report immediately to their dean's office and file an application for a degree, according to D. D. DuSault, registrar.

What's Your Opinion?

Impromptu discussions and "bull" sessions were held all over the campus during the past two days concerning the release of the Peabody survey on Idaho educational problems. In general, students seemed to agree that the survey probably satisfied, at least in part, all the various factions and political elements within the state. Some flaws in the 517-page report do exist, and even a year's comprehensive study by competent professional educators could not eliminate them all.

Most worthy of consideration, in our opinion, is the call for a 60 per cent increase of the general cost of the entire state's educational program. We have known for a long time that the most potent remedy to cure the Gem State's academic ills is cash on the line—and enough of it to substantially increase teachers' salaries, and to provide much-needed physical plants for the colleges and schools throughout the state.

But how in the world are we going to get enough money to make this increase an actuality? Property taxes can be hiked up somewhat, but not enough to make a notable difference; cigarette taxes are sky-high at present, and liquor taxes (we could say something here, but we're not going to) could only add a drop or two to the monetary bucket.

Of course, the point in the survey providing the most heated arguments around the university was the advocacy of a four-year's liberal arts course at the southern branch, or "Southern Idaho State," as the Peabody survey recommended the Pocatello institution to be renamed. Would the existence of this new college, entirely free and separate from the university here at Moscow tax the resources of the state to the extent that neither that institution nor the University of Idaho would be able to retain their present standards? Will the start given the school in Pocatello be the beginning of an eventual domination of the higher level of education by that Southern Idaho college?

One student, a member of the senior class and considered to be of neutral opinion because of his out-of-state residence, told this little parable during a discussion about the survey last night:

"Once upon a time there lived an Arab and his camel in the desert and, since it was very cold at nights, the Arab crawled into his little tent to keep warm. But there was no room for the camel, and he was forced to stay outside and freeze. One night the Arab was moved to pity, and he permitted the camel to put his head in the tent—but as the morning approached, the camel forced more and more of his body in the tent. Finally the animal was entirely in the tent but, because the tent was so small, the Arab woke up to find himself freezing on the cold sand. There was not room for both of them."

TIPS FOR VETS

By GEORGE

Since the voting regulations have been broadened to allow veterans to vote in the coming elections, whether residents of Latah county or not, there should be a large potential voting body in the university. This vote will be large enough to carry some weight if it is properly used, and various political parties realize this. Many party members are anxious to get the veteran vote and are employing all kinds of tactics to win this support.

Some candidates urge that "we veterans must stick together," when the only service they ever saw was trying to establish a beachhead in a blackmarket line. Most candidates will promise to push for more veterans' benefits. The decision here is to judge which candidate is most likely to keep any of the promises, for no platform is considered complete unless some provision is made for the poor and battered veteran. Also, the veteran will have to judge if he wants his vote cast for a candidate who may be backed with thousands of dollars by some group seeking to control the state's vote by putting their own men in office, legally or otherwise. This was the type of politics that veterans in Athens, Tenn., did away with.

Then again you will find platforms under slogans such as "United for America," "America Forever," and others which only serve to remind one of the "America First Committee" before the war. The race is one between parties, each striving to outdo the other in passing or urging legislation for the veteran, with the potential voting strength in mind. The veteran vote as a whole could very well indicate either the approval or disapproval of the way the country was run during the war, and will show a desire for free and honest government.

Grey Appointed SAB Chairman

Jack Grey, Delta Chi senior, has been appointed chairman of the Student Activities Board, it was announced Tuesday night. Grey steps into the position vacated by Swede Swenson, who has filled that post for the past year.

Grey revealed that he and his committee will do everything in their power to insure presentation of those activities which will meet with the whole-hearted approval of the associated students.

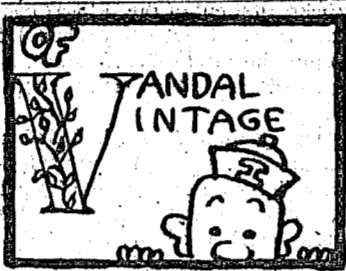

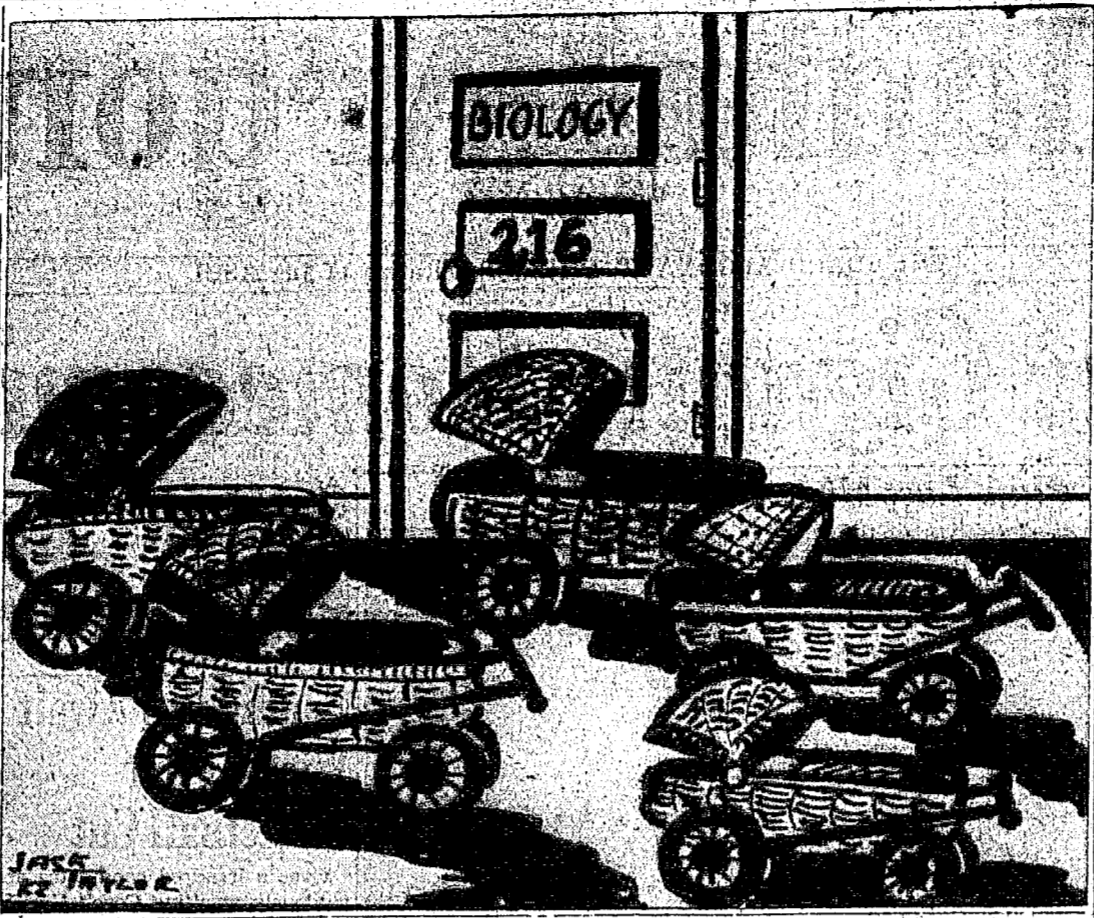

The average job is just a damn fool.

Labor Terms Good

Mrs. Virginia Christiansen, secretary to the graduate manager, will have a double celebration today. Besides attending the Homecoming festivities as an Idaho graduate, she will celebrate her birthday.

PEP BAND

Pep band rehearsal will be held today at 4:00 p.m. The meeting place will be Neale stadium and all members are requested to be present.

Comes the long awaited Homecoming! All the alums will be showing up and we anticipate many won't recover for days to come. It will be good to see a lot of these people back but there are others who break out in cold sweat at the thought. Take George Colner, for instance, of Beta Theta Pi. George isn't the least bit worried about a lack of dates for said event. Last spring he showered his affections on Kitten Stowell, of Delta Gamma fame. This year, he had kept pretty steady company with Kappa Naomi (H.H.) Hobza. This summer, he had Shirley Hayes, Errol's sister, on his mind. Well, George is going to get a chance to review his dreams all at once because they all are arriving Friday. Now George is an easy-going man, but when a male is placed in a position where all three flames are burning at the same time and place, we just can't blame Colner for hitting the Benzidine.

Dode Holen, an old Kappa alum, is also scheduled to be on hand for the festivities. Many of the older students will remember Dode as the Queen of May way back in the Olympia days of the Knobby. Chuck Leonard, of Sigma Chi, mentioned something about a brass band welcome, but we'll leave this in the rumor column. Things should be rollin' this week-end.

Down through the year at ye olde U. of I., there has been a never-ending search for a new and better place to throw the big mug-munching parties (smooch sessions, to the uninitiated) for which we are so notorious in north Idaho. The "I" bench started the parade, followed by the various love seats. There then was a mass migration to the ill-famed Arborium which enjoyed considerable popularity until the price of cars came within the reach of the students. With the trend going toward the "love seat on wheels," the golf course hill (on the old road to Pullman) came into its own and has since been the leader of the pack.

This brings us up to a cute little town chick named Anita Hamilton, of Delta Tau Gamma. It seems that every time she is with an automobile and a man (or vice versa), she very subtly suggests what a beautiful view there is from the old Pullman highway. "Let's go park on the golf course hill," she was heard to say. Thinking it was his idea all along, the handsome escort pulls his car to a screeching stop atop said hill. As he turns to her, she very enthusiastically informs the bewildered male that the lights of Moscow can be made to spell the word Vandal—not one, but three different ways! We have no comment except to say, there will always be individuals who

Have you characters ever heard of Gregory Millinkovich? No? Well, neither had we until the other day. Maybe you have heard of George Miller, of Kappa Sigma? Yes? Well, we had too. It seems that a few years back there was a young man in high school who was very prominent in football; in fact, he made all-state. He was a quiet, unassuming boy who didn't bother anyone except football announcers, and that wasn't his fault. They always had trouble pronouncing his name. One day, there was an announcer calling the game (in which Greg was playing) that was very high-strung and nervous.

He stood it as long as he could, but he finally went to pieces in the third quarter—of the game, that is—the announcer, that is—and started calling everyone Millinkovich. At least those present said that was the way it sounded. The last time he was seen, he was in a ward at the Blackfoot institution playing ten pins with cranberries and asparagus tips. Fearing a recurrence of the tragedy, Greg had his name changed to George Miller. Now George has a day set aside every year that he calls "Be Kind to Announcers Day."

the men's and women's group judged winners.

Chairmen Lois Selter and Zelya Hodge report the parade will lead down Main street to the campus, where it will continue up Elm street and Blake avenue to Neale stadium.

Interest in the selection of the Homecoming queen has reignited high during the past two weeks as election results were kept secret by chairman Claire Hale. Candidates were nominated by each men's group but final choice was made by the football squad last week.

Alumni Dance Committee

Alumni and students have been completing decoration of the gymnasium using the theme, "And Here We Have Idaho." Moscow alumni who have been in charge are Clarence E. Childs, J. A. Brunzell, James H. David and H. Eugene Slade. Student chairmen were Marilyn Daigh and Eve Smith.

Dick Salliday and Carl Nieworth have handled dance ticket sales through representatives in each men's group and at the Blue Bucket.

Members of the Alumni association who made up the alumni Homecoming committee are Harlow H. Campbell of Moscow, chairman; Jack Ward, Melvin Butterfield, Gene Slade, Moscow; Clay Spears, Coeur d'Alene; Howard Andrews, Kellogg; Clair Gale, Idaho Falls; Ed Benoit, Twin Falls; Lewis Williams, Boise.

Student publicity heads planned distribution of posters in the downtown area and report that the local taxi companies will paint their cabs with washable paint for the week-end. Committee members were Bill Hayes, Pat Magee, Darrell Babbitt, Jack Johansen, Pat Jordan. Volunteer workers were Melissa Guinn, George Fallett, Don Pederson Lois Herrington and Martha Spence.

JORDAN NAMED MANAGER

Clark (Deacon) Jordan has been named as senior track manager. His appointment was recently confirmed by the ASUI executive board.

Washington Takes Steps Against Veterans Absence

Concerning leave of absence for veterans pursuing courses of education or training under Public Law 346 or Public Law 16 the following appears in a circular from Washington, D. C.:

"Enrollees are expected to apply for and obtain approval for leave of absence in advance. However, when a veteran has absented himself from his place of training under conditions which would make his obtaining advance approval from the Veterans Administration impracticable and when the responsible officials of the training school have certified that the absence was not due to unsatisfactory conduct and has not materially interfered with the vetern's progress in his course, the manager is authorized to excuse the absence and to make charges against the veteran's leave.

Action Taken

When such absence is not satisfactorily explained, the manager will take such action as is deemed necessary including forfeiture of subsistence allowance for the days of absence.

Since the veteran's entitlement is charged for all time during which he is paid subsistence allowance, it follows that leave should never be granted automatically.

It is the opinion of the veteran's council on the campus that any special procedure will not be necessary for vacations granted all students during the school year.

Poets have found no words to rhyme with the words "silver" and "orange."

Greek Council To Support Two Orphaned Boys

Mojmir Stirrad, a Czech, and Rudolph Heesterman, Dutch, are the names of the war orphans adopted by the Interfraternity Council, announced Herman Renfrew, president of the organization. The council voted to pay $300 yearly toward the support of the children who were selected under the program sponsored by a philanthropic group known as the "Foster Parents Plan for War Children."

In a letter from the Foster Parents headquarters it was learned that Mojmir Stirrad is an exceptionally manly boy for his years and like most American boys, he likes all sports. An industrious scholar, he is interested in mechanical things and hopes to become an aviator.

His father was shot by the Gestapo shortly after the start of the war which left his family in poor circumstances and under the watchful eye of the German police organization. His mother has never recovered from hardships suffered during the war.

The letter also explained that the Dutch boy who comes from a family of six children is a quiet, obedient boy and like the Czech lad enjoys outdoor sports even though he is much younger. After the Germans killed his father and his mother was unable to support the family all of the children were accepted for adoption.

Organizers Visit Southern Idaho

Dean E. J. Iddings and O. A. Fitzgerald are visiting southern Idaho to strengthen and maintain contacts with organizations and individuals connected with the university.

On October 19 they went to Sandpoint and Missoula. On the next day they stopped at Challis and Arco, reaching Idaho Falls on the 21st. Other points on their trip were Aberdeen, Pocatello, Rupert, Twin Falls, and Nampa.

Dean Iddings and Mr. Fitzgerald will also visit Boise, Parma, Payette, and Weiser before returning to Moscow.

If this isn't enough, representatives of the Womens Athletic Association, the university publications, ie. the Argonaut, the Gem, the ASUI handbook and football programs, beat a deep path in and out of his office.

One more noteworthy cause can be listed as Mix's interest in the details of the Community Concert series which are arranged in conjunction with the Moscow-Pullman Community Concert Association.

"It wouldn't be bad," says Gale, "but people have gotten into the habit of tossing in here anything they don't know what to do with." Many of his worries fall to Don Carlsoit who manages the ASUI news bureau.

Mums Appear In Full Force At Homecoming

Hundreds of women will be wearing giant "Mums" at the Homecoming game Saturday. Each year the Homecoming game is "Mum" time as hundreds of the beautiful flowers appear.

Mortar Board, senior women's organization, is sponsoring the sale of "Mums" this year as it has done in the past. A booth is being maintained in the Administration building each morning from 9 to 11 o'clock for the benefit of students who didn't order their flowers earlier. Town people may call 2156 for their "Mums" and they will be delivered before the game.

The "Mum," actually a Fig Chrysanthemum, has been developed to its present giant size and beauty by years of careful horticultural research and selection. Each "Mum" plant is diligently tended. Only the terminal bud is allowed to develop, all others being removed.

It is expected that many "Mums" will be sold this year as "It's an Idaho Tradition."

forceable future the facilities of a college, said the report.

A list of 25 physical plant improvements for all institutions of higher learning was submitted. It included eight additions for the university. Four of these eight were among the eleven most needed. In order of their accorded priority they are: completion of the engineering building, a home arts building, a music building, and a forestry and mines building. Improvements to be considered later are: a library building, an agriculture building, campus drives and approaches, and an armory and fieldhouse.

Reorganization
Although it was granted that Idaho has a basically sound educational structure, a sweeping reorganization starting with the state superintendent's position was advocated. This position should be made an appointive post at a great increase in pay to attract one qualified to supervise the program. The reorganization should be carried through the county system into the school districts in the interest of eliminating time and money consuming administrative detail, as well as implementing the provision of the state constitution which guarantees that the state shall be responsible for furnishing equal education to its eligible members.

Criticism can well be aimed at the state for failure to adopt more of the burden of the education of its residents in living up to that portion of the constitution, the report revealed. At present 17 per cent of education costs are met by the often impoverished districts. Idaho's neighbor-states bear a

Students Offer Opinions On Education Question

Following the report turned in to the Governor and members of the state legislature by George Peabody college of Nashville, Tenn., The Argonaut this week conducted a poll of student opinion on the decision. The report stated that an institution be established at Pocatello, with a bachelor degree-granting status only in liberal arts.

The question asked the students was: "Do you believe that a four year college should exist in Pocatello? These are some of the replies:

Sylvan Jeppesen, Campus club: "I'm not in favor of it. The Idaho legislature hasn't shown itself willing to appropriate enough money to adequately support one university."

Bud Harris, Phi Gamma Delta: "No. Evidently the state can't take care of one, let alone two."

LaRaine Stewart Litzenger, Alpha Phi: "No. The state should concentrate on the one college and make the one university shine."

John Dalley, Kappa Sigma: "It's a fine idea, because the university cannot adequately support the students they have now."

Lorraine Mulrone, off-campus: "I think it's stupid. They can hardly afford to keep the university going, let alone a college in southern Idaho."

M. B. Rathbun, Delta Chi: "Not a very good idea because the state is unable to support two four-year colleges."

Frank Knapp, Willis Sweet hall: "Certainly, so the students in southern Idaho will not have to travel so far north to school."

Marjorie Johnson, Kappa Alpha Theta: "I think we should have one because, under the present two-year system at the Southern Branch, too many resident students go to Utah colleges to finish their education."

Richard Bier, Beta Theta Pi: "Definitely not. Idaho can't seem to finance this school as it should, so how can they finance another?"

Phyllis Williams, Forney hall: "Yes, it is a pretty good idea because it may lessen the attendance here and relieve the crowded conditions."

Barbara Brill, Delta Gamma: "No. We should pool our resources in Idaho and have one good four-year school."

Boyd Hansen, Sigma Chi: "Under the present conditions, no. Our state is too poorly financed to support two four-year schools."

Claire Hale, Kappa Kappa Gamma: "I think they should concentrate their attention on this university because as it stands now they haven't the funds to support this one, much less another four-year college at Pocatello."

Bob Bunting, Alpha Tau Omega: "No, because I don't think the present allowance of money granted by the legislature of Idaho would make it possible to support two four-year colleges. Furthermore if the liquor law is passed, I know we won't have enough money."

Jim Fowles, Sigma Nu: "No. A university here is plenty for the population of the state. In normal years they haven't enough students enrolled to support it."

Lola Tyler, Gamma Phi Beta: "No, because I believe we should spend the money here at Moscow for improvements."

Gless Bradbury, Alpha Chi Omega: "Yes. Wherever it is, it should be more centrally located and it seems to me that Pocatello is the best bet."

Marge Walter, Hays hall: "I think the funds that are appropriated should be put into one good institution here at Moscow."

Elmer Ness, Chrisman hall: "Yes. Give the students of southern Idaho the chance to get their education without having to come way up here."

Donna Chapman, Ridenbaugh hall: "I don't believe there are adequate funds to support two schools and there should be only the one we have here."

Willie Defenbach, Sigma Alpha Epsilon: "I'm definitely agin' it. I don't think Idaho could support two four-year colleges to its best advantage. They'd both be pretty pukey."

Wallace Kenyon, Lindley hall: "I don't think so because the increase in the number of students this year will not last and the student population will be much as it was in normal times. Thus, there would be no need or support for two four-year institutions in Idaho."

Chuck Urban, Delta Tau Delta: "Yes, so the southern Idaho students won't have to come so far."

Barbara Thompson, Pi Beta Phi: "No, because I don't think they have adequate funds to run the university and the funds should not be split when we have all the facilities here."

Dean Dinison, Phi Delta Theta: "I favor it because the southern students seldom come up here for their junior and senior years after going to junior college down there. Actually, I am not in a position to say because none of us have any definite knowledge of the cost of running a four-year college."

RIDDLE MADE EDITOR
Art Riddle will be editor of the ASUI handbook this year, according to an announcement by Norm Fredekind, student body president. Riddle was appointed editor at the executive board meeting held Tuesday night.

Figures Revealed About Idaho's Hello Walk

By JIM SPOERHASE

A University of Idaho engineering student, Robert N. Olsen, today revealed one of the most startling statements in the 57-year history of the institution: After several weeks of grueling research he made this spectacular find. When interviewed he said the Hello Walk is 9031 inches long!

"No, because I believe we should spend the money here at Moscow for improvements."

"Yes. Wherever it is, it should be more centrally located and it seems to me that Pocatello is the best bet."

Groups To Crowd Many Alums Into Houses

Reports of the return of numerous alumni began this week as group houses prepared to surrender all available sleeping space and act as unofficial reception committees.

Alumnae expected to appear at Alpha Chi Omega are Cecelia Goodier, graduate of 1945, and Molly Bradbury of Idaho Falls. Miss Bradbury is now a consular for Western Air Lines. Barbara Smith, house president of last year, will arrive from Coeur d'Alene where she is employed as demonstrator for Washington Water Power company, and Mrs. Leonard Pyne, the former Bette Wilson, will also be here. Among alumnae of war years who will return are Rae Parkison, Rexburg; Kay McCarter, Boise; Virginia Balduz, Nezperce; and Joyce and Ruth Howard, Boise. Jeannie Norris, who is now connected with the Pocatello chamber of commerce, arrived this week to begin an early celebration.

Eight Kappa Kappa Gamma alumnae will arrive on the campus today and tomorrow. Pat Bildersback, Boise, student of last year, will be among the visitors. Dorothy Hoken, Evanston, Ill., arrived by plane Thursday evening, and Mary Fran Marshall, former chapter president, is expected Saturday. Ramona Larkin, Lewiston, will visit the campus as will No-rene Merriman, Perry Merriman Mounsey, and JoAnne Merriman Ennis of Spokane. Mrs. Ruth Spaeth, the former Ruth Specht, and her husband, Delta Chi Bill Spaeth, are also expected.

Pi Beta Phi women will greet Mrs. David Campbell, the former Jean Bucholz, Mrs. Ed Williams, the former Zoe Bean, and Jean Thompson Werham, AWS president of 1945. Other alumni who have notified the house of their planned arrivals are Mary Ann Freeland d'Ekans, Cascade; Mrs. Billie Lou Murphy, Boise; and the Misses Dorothy and Esther Tre-kell, Coeur d'Alene.

Visit at Hays
Making headquarters at Hays hall will be four graduates of last year: Helen Jean Terry, Dora Dau, Dorothy Doumeq and Jean Gochnour Peterson. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dalva, former students active in dramatic productions, will be in Moscow as will Muriel Williams Amabisco, a graduate of 1945.

On hand to celebrate with women of Ridenbaugh hall will be Margaret Thompson, Dorothy Set-ter, and Jean Kilpatrick, all graduates of 1946. Two graduates of the class of 1944, Marjorie Moch and Betty Lou Kilpatrick, will also at-tend the game tomorrow.

Returning to the Delta Gamma house will be seven alumnae, among whom is Mary Jane Donart, house president last year. Arriv-ing from Twin Falls will be Julia Ann Ryan and Shirley Stowell, both graduates of 1946. Spokane alumnae will be represented by Helene Rodgers, Ann Hite, and Maxine Rowland, students of last year. Helen Howard, Boise, prom-inent in journalism circles two years ago, will also be here.

Sisters Return
Alpha Phi women will have as visiting alumnae Jean Spencer, Coeur d'Alene, and Carol Long, Burley. Coming from Boise are Ruth Marie Curtis, '45 and Del-phine Aldecoa, class of 1943. Alum-nae sisters of active members will be Margaret Burnside, Rupert, and Julienne Paulsen, Troy.

Appearing at the Delta Delta Delta house will be Shirley Ann Moreland, Filer, Arlene Durkoop and Mary Pat Sylvester, Spokane. All three women are graduates of 1946.

Two Spokane alumnae will visit at Sigma Alpha Epsilon: Verne Rudolph and Dick Kubby. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Abrahamson, Boise, will be celebrating on the campus, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Keeler report they are planning a week-end visit.

Four Boise men are expected to make their headquarters at Delta Chi. They are Robert Campbell, John Blaine, John Thomas and Carroll Sellars. At the Beta Theta Pi house will be Dr. and Mrs. Tom Cartney of Twin Falls. Ed Putnam, class of 1942, will re-new acquaintances at the Campus club.

Musicians Win Scholarships

These students were rated "tops" in music when they received scholarships entitling them to lessons in that department this year. Pictured with their instruments, the winners are Neva LaFavour, Jean Foster, Vernon Achenbach, Walt Smith, Sig Norman and Marilyn Clark.

Reporter Finds Interviewing Difficult

Sometimes even a cub reporter can be too inquisitive for his own good. Burman F. "Dutch" Schultz, trying out his luck as a beginner on the Argonaut reporting staff, received a tip that the crew members of the student union building were in the darkest corner of the student union building, huddled miserably over maple-nut ice cream cones, and chiding each other for not staying in Seattle.

"My name is Schultz. What do you think of Idaho?" Dutch questioned the sailors. The seven men looked at each other. After a few minutes of ear-to-ear whispering and cautious deliberations, a husky chief petty officer grabbed our reporter by the shoulder and carried him to the lounge.

Catholics To Hear Father Maier

Beginning Sunday and continuing for two days, Father J. J. Maier of Portland is holding a special mission for all Roman Catholic students on the campus. The mission opens Sunday with a mass at 8 and 10 a.m. in the large ballroom of the student union building, where all the services and lectures will be held.

On the general topic of the "philosophy of life," lectures by Father Maier will be at 7 p.m. Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday. At 5:10 p.m. Monday he will speak to the women for a short time and to the men at 5:10 p.m. on Tuesday. Father Maier, who spent two and a half years in the Navy as a chaplain, is now in his fifteenth year of mission work, mostly in the Northwest and California. Previous to that time, he taught Latin

Sr. Club Sponsors Tea For New Women Students

Displays representing 22 campus clubs and honoraries open to university women students were featured at the annual Mortar Board activities tea Thursday afternoon at the Student Union building.

Sponsored by the senior women's honorary, assisted by the AWS social committee, the tea was given to acquaint freshmen and other women students new to the campus with various opportunities open to them in social, religious and scholastic activities.

Representatives of each women's living group assisted in serving and explaining activity displays under the direction of Twyla Shear.

Activity displays included Gem, annual ASUI production; Theta Sigma, local women's journalistic honorary; Argonaut, ASUI newspaper; WAA, Women's Athletic Association; I Club, women's athletic honorary; S.A.L., music honorary; Delta Sigma Rho, debate honorary; Alpha Epsilon Delta, national pre-med honorary; Phi Epsilon Omicron, national home economics honorary; Home Economics club; Phi Chi Theta; local business honorary; Attic club, local art club; Vandaleers and music groups; Dell Divers, local swimming honorary; Curtain club, local dramatics honorary.

Veterans Hold Safety Meeting

Taking the initiative in civic affairs, five veterans met with C. O. Decker and Warren Cornish, veterans' affairs officials, yesterday to organize a temporary fire protection and safety committee for North Main Village.

The committee consists of Frank Cannon, temporary chairman; Edward English, Roy Brown, Kenneth Harding and W. Tinniswood.

Next week the committee will draft plans for fire protection and will discuss plans for a form of village government. A meeting of the entire village will be held in the near future to act on the plans made by the safety committee.

Homecoming Files Uncover Varied, Colorful Past

This week-end the students of the campus will be engulfed in the complex variety of activities which constitute the annual affair of Homecoming. Alumni from near and far will be speeding for Moscow; joyous excitement will be in the wind; flags will unfurl; campus jalousies will be loaded to the gunwales, and booking worries will be drowned out by the exciting week-end. The rocking suspense of the university tradition is already whirlwinding the campus. It is a tradition which has been carried on from the days when the Vandal's men, of might wore uniforms resembling long, red flannels, through the technological revolution to our present day. The tradition has born an event which is tops in popularity of the wide variety of entertainment, making it an event that is forever indelibly embedded in the memories of every student and alumni.

Homecomings of the past and their series of successful events have helped compose the remarkable history of this gala affair at the university. Perhaps a reconstruction of a few of these events will provide a more thorough understanding to the new students of what Homecoming really is, perhaps too—a few of the older students are still unaware of the homecomings that existed on our campus a few years ago.

Beard Theme
In 1935, the Homecoming theme was "Goatees and Sideburns," requiring all students of the manly sex to be bearded. Naturally a few students, those of the pre-adolescent age, appeared resembling a very mature peach, but as a whole the males of the campus provided the opinion to all that Moscow had an extremely acute shortage of razors. Homecoming was held on November 9th, and the face fur was cultivated from October 1st, thus providing the judges of the contest much confusion in deciding the winner. First prize for the most luxuriant beard was a shaving cup and for the most least growth, a hair ribbon. Despite the cheering of the unshaved and the rearing of the weird beards, the Vandals bowed to the Washington State Cougars, 6 to 0.

1937 Idea
In the year 1937, the Homecoming theme was "Grow-With-Idaho," adopted to enhance state-wide realization of a new Infirmary, new stadium, Student Union Building, men's dormitory, and a wing added to the Library. Governor Barzilla W. Clark, then governor of Idaho, and Wallace Beery, the movie villain, presented a football to the Vandals with the words: "All Idaho Is Depending On You," and "Give Them Hell," inscribed on the pigskin.

Beery, Godfather of the Vandals, had intentions of attending the game, in which the Vandals were playing Oregon State, but became involved in an accident in Hollywood in which he accidentally shot himself in the leg. He rushed a telegram to the team, explaining his misfortune and expressed regret at not being able to attend. His telegram also remarked, "If any of you boys need any guns to use on Oregon State, let me know because I have more of them just like the one that I shot myself with." This year also marked an unfortunate happening at the game when Dean Kostalek, Dean of Letters and Science, became so excited at the game that he died of a heart attack. However, all was not in vain, for the Vandals carried off the victory.

Idaho Goes Western
In 1939, the theme was "Western-Ways," with goatees and beards once more included on the program. Costumes of the wild and woolly nature were seen everywhere. A series of Tom Mix's, Hoot Gibsons', and Buck Jones' among the manly sex crowded the campus, while riding skirts, sombreroes, and flashy blouses were among the apparel of the Calamity Janes. Everything was included, even the little brown jug. Despite the slushy weather, the affair was indeed a fine one, even though the Vandals bowed to the Montana Grizzlies by a score of 13 to 0.

Dog-Patch Day
"Dog-Patch-Style" was the theme in 1940. During the half at the game, the scantily clad Daisy Maes' pursued their heroic Lil' Abners. Again we fell to the Washington State Cougars by the overwhelming score of 26 to 0. These are a few of the many events that have happened in the past days of homecoming. Now it is nearing our campus again. Another chapter will soon be born, a chapter that will be added to the pages of our past historic homecoming events, and will be looked-upon by the future generations as being as intensely great and historical as those chapters before us, those which set the tradition of homecoming, that tradition which will forever live on the campus at the University of Idaho.

Wesleyans To Hold Joint Meeting

Members of Wesley Foundation will go to Pullman Sunday for a joint meeting with the Pullman group. This pre-war tradition to meet at Moscow one semester and at Pullman the next, was revived last year. The Moscow members are in charge of the program, and Pullman students will provide the refreshments.

All the students will meet at the Methodist church at 4:15 p. m. Carolyn Cleare is in charge of devotions, and the program is being arranged by Dave Johnson.

LDS Meets
The LDS Mutual will hold their regular meeting Tuesday night at 7:15 p. m. at the Institute. Tuesday night, the Mutual members had a roller-skating party instead of the usual devotional meeting. Roger Williams club will meet Sunday night from 5 to 7 o'clock in the basement of the Baptist church. Dale Benjamin and Keith Thurston are in charge of the games and refreshments. Tom Laurent will lead the second of a series of discussions on the Physiology of the Christian Personality.

Members of the Christian youth group will leave the church at 2 o'clock Sunday to work on Sun-Crest lodge. A devotional meeting will follow.

Fly Supply Acute
Success of the "No Flies in Idaho" campaign sponsored by the department of entomology last spring and summer has backfired on its advocates. A six week search beginning in September has failed to yield enough flies for breeding stock in planned DDT spraying experiments this winter, according to H. C. Manis, chief entomologist.

Reports indicate that the same fly shortage exists throughout all major farming sections of the state.

Peterson Chooses Curtain Activities

J. T. Peterson was appointed chairman of a committee to determine the year's activities of Curtain club in the first meeting this year of the dramatics honorary held Tuesday.

The club, with Enid Almqvist presiding, also set a regular meeting date for the first Sunday of each month. The next meeting is scheduled for November 3 at 2:30 p. m. at Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Helldivers To Hold Tryouts Monday

The Helldivers announced that those wishing to try out for membership should be at the pool in swim suits next Monday evening at 7:30. Prior to tryouts there will be a meeting for members in room 109 at 7:15. All members are urged to attend.

Requirements for prospective members are: ability to swim four lengths of the pool, one length each of the crawl, the backstroke, and the sidestroke. In addition the applicant must demonstrate three dives: the plain front, the jack-knife, and the back dive. Other requirements are treading water and surface and duck dives.

At the last meeting, member Helldivers outlined their annual program, which will include a water carnival to be held in the spring. "Splash parties will be held with group houses as guests and special emphasis will be placed on group swimming," John Mattmiller, club president, said.

Two Will Attend Writer Confab

Miss Belle Sweet, librarian, and Professor W. C. Banks will attend the Writers Conference of the Northwest to be held October 31, November 1 and 2 at Reed college in Portland.

Educators, librarians, publishers, newspapermen and free lance writers from the entire Northwest area will be delegates to the conference.

Over 35 nationally and regionally known men are to participate in the program, which is sponsored by the library association of Portland and Reed college.

ASST. MANAGERS NAMED

History Repeats Itself Too Often

University of Idaho and Washington State college football fans are hoping there's no truth in the adage, "History repeats itself."

This Saturday Idaho clashes with Oregon in Moscow, and Washington State tangles with Oregon State in Pullman—and the last time the two Oregon teams invaded the Palouse hills on the same afternoon, on October 24, 1914, they carried home victories.

Oregon trimmed Idaho, 13 to 0, and Oregon State defeated Washington State, 7 to 0.

Both games were played in "seas of mud," according to old newspaper reports—and if rainy weather continues this week in the Palouse region, playing conditions will probably approach those of that "fateful" day in 1914.

T Club Proposes New Amendment

Announcement of a third amendment to be submitted to student vote in the class elections was made Tuesday evening following approval of the proposal by the executive board.

The proposed change, as submitted by the T club, reads: "It is proposed that the first year award sweater be a V-neck sweater with an eight inch I, with the exception of seniors who are receiving an award for the first time. All following awards will be up to the choice of the individual as to the style, v-neck or coat."

Previously announced amendment would make present minor sports become major sports and would provide an award for executive board members.

Vacancies in officer positions will be filled at the meeting of the local chapter of the national rifle association Monday at 8 p. m. in the armory of the Memorial gymnasium.

Through arrangements with Colonel B. H. Hensley of the military department the club has secured the use of the rifle range and rifles. An allotment of ammunition has also been received, with which qualifying matches will start in the near future.

Members would make present minor sports become major sports and would provide an award for executive board members.

Vandals To Meet Ducks Tomorrow In Homecoming Battle

Statistics Show Oregon Superior To Idahoans

Ranks thinned by injuries, the Vandal grid machine will enter Neale stadium tomorrow as definite underdogs in Idaho's annual homecoming football battle, which this year pits the silver and gold against the University of Oregon.

Oregon rests in second place in the Pacific Coast conference standings, her record marred only by a 0 to 0 tie game played with Washington State.

In a series of grid games starting in 1901 the Oregon Ducks have piled up a total of 471 points to Idaho's 112 and during the 31-game period in which the Vandals have managed to cop but two victories and to squeeze out four ties, Idaho won two games in succession in 1924 and 1925—13 to 0 and 6 to 0.

1946 FOUR GAME RECORD OF BOTH TEAMS

	I.	O.
First downs	23	27
Net yards rushing	193	467
Net yards passing	201	283
Passes attempted	59	59
Passes completed	19	19
Yards run back on K.O. and punts	442	228
Own fumbles recovered	6	12
Yards penalized	135	185

Hey, Fans! Here's Football Score Prediction

By D. M.

We didn't bounce very hard when we last ventured out on the limb reserved for foolish football forecasters. In fact, we didn't bounce at all because we didn't fall. It was three weeks ago when we gazed into a bowl of golden brew and saw the future grid scores shining in our eyes. We came up with six out of seven that Saturday and that's an excuse for a celebration in any school.

It looked like a perfect record the following week until we got one finger smashed by a typewriter and another caught in a beer bottle. We're back in action now and the scores look sad but true. Read 'em and weep.

Locally, our policy is still to pick the Vandals to lose. They looked good at times against San Jose last week but injuries have hurt the team, and San Jose isn't Oregon. Homecoming fans should see Idaho drop another game and that isn't unusual. We're even sadder because we couldn't see a Vandal victory in sight before the Portland game. We'll string along with the unbeaten Ducks.

There's a double dose of football in the Palouse hills tomorrow as Washington State tangles with OSC at Pullman. This game looms as one of the best of the day with possibilities of both teams ready to blossom out. From here, the choice is WSC by a touchdown.

Rumors Abound

Rumors floating from Seattle say the Huskies of Washington are hot to go against California this weekend. Rumors from Berkeley say the Bears of California are on the upgrade after losing a tight contest to UCLA last week-end. 'The bookies say you can't lose on California so we'll give the Bears the edge.

A long standing football rivalry between USC and Stanford flames anew this week at Palo Alto when the two teams meet for the first time since 1942. Pre-game records give Marchie Swartz's squad the nod but you can't laugh off the Trojan's impressive victory over Washington last week. Coach Jeff Cravath came up with a new backfield last week at Troy and this quartet functioned brilliantly in the Husky victory. Look for them to repeat their performance as USC dumps the Indians.

Choose St. Mary's

St. Mary's, fresh from a 33-2 trouncing of a weak Fordham team in New York, should chalk up another victory this week by stopping Nevada. Nevada's pass-happy squad will probably give the Gaels more trouble than they expect but Wedemeyer and company will still come out on top.

The rampaging Bruins of UCLA get a breather this week against Santa Clara. California almost derailed the Uclans last Saturday but Santa Clara isn't in the same league as the Bruin's fourth string, UCLA all the way.

Novacoe Returns

The third man mentioned who will make it a real homecoming with his appearance in Moscow is Tony Novacoe, who played football at Idaho in 1941 and halls from the same home town, West Allis, Wis., as Vandal fullback Bill Miklich.

Coach Babe Brown said today he had nine players who were in a questionable stage concerning injuries and the game tomorrow. Six of the players on Brown's list are starters.

Bill Miklich, fullback, is suffering from a broken hand; John Kivus, reserve halfback who turned in a splendid performance against San Jose, has a bruised hip; and Merlin Aldred, end, has a shoulder injury.

Ralph Paasch, center; Jim Hatch, halfback; Jack Hatch, reserve halfback; Frank Viro, tackle; Andy Walsh, reserve halfback; and John Christensen, halfback, have leg injuries.

From end positions Brown has shifted Ed McFaul, Wilford Overgard, and Elmer Buoy, to tackle slots in order to bolster the Idaho line. Brown said he was very hard up for halfbacks and would probably have to do more shuffling of players before meeting Oregon.

Big Game On Hand For Delta Chis

The traditional Army-Navy game will be brought to the Idaho campus Tuesday evening when the ex-Navy and Marine men of the Delta Chi house, engage their ex-Army brothers in what promises to be a touch football battle royal.

The Navy squad will be led by Don Black, intra-mural scoring champion while Army will depend upon Ivan Woods and George Nuemayer for their scoring punch. Pre-game information gives the edge to the Navy squad.

The game will be played at 4:15 Tuesday afternoon on the Ad building lawn and it is expected that a treat will be in store for all touch football fans.

"TAKE FIVE"

By CLARK CHANDLER

Over a hundred cagers greeted Coach Guy Wicks in the initial basketball practice of the year and there was some mighty fine material on hand. Present were 14 former Vandal lettermen among whom were seven lettermen of last year's northern division championship team. Also present were a host of some of the best high school basketballers in the state plus a few out-of-staters that will make tough competition out on the Vandal mapecourt in anyone's language.

Idaho will have a very good team, a talented crew that will be hard to beat, but it should be pointed out that last year's glories were won in war years competition and Idaho very nearly didn't win her first championship in 23 years. No team had too much in the way of potent material; this year every team in the conference will be loaded to the gills with top-notch players, which means championship calibre and fine reserves. This is evidenced with the news of large cage turnouts throughout the northern division.

It is unfair to Coach Wicks when individuals, some prominent, say in various parts of the state, from Panhandle to southern desert lands, "Wicks should have a winning team. He has the same team back that won the championship."

Although Idaho will have a very fine team and an above average season it looks from this corner as if Oregon and Washington will be battling it out for first place honors with Oregon State and Idaho fighting for the third high step on the conference ladder. Unless Washington State makes a remarkable recovery, the Cougars will remain quite cool all season in the conference bargain basement.

If history repeats itself, as it often does, Idaho may get off to a very slow start once the northern division race begins. Idaho has a tough pre-season schedule which will take them across the continent and back, playing the toughest teams in the nation. Oregon has gone east several times. Almost invariably she has returned a tired team and has started very slowly, dropping games to inferior teams. Idaho will have a couple of weeks' rest before the season officially starts and may not show the effects of one of the toughest road trips undertaken by any team in the country. At any rate, it will be an exciting basketball year in the Pacific Northwest.

It is heartening to see the spirit and hard football displayed by Steve Belko's junior varsity grid team. Playing Boise Junior college today, Belko will field a hard blocking and tackling team that will bring credit to the university.

Against Washington State the junior Vandals dropped a close one to the Kittens by a 24 to 20 score. It made the spectators see red when the officials ruled a State touchdown which was actually two feet short of the mark. Apparently officials lose courage out on the field. On the touchdown play, the linesman and this writer were standing on the goal line. There was no mistaking that the play was stopped short—yet the linesman did not refute his brother official, who ruled the score in spite of being away from the play and with players between the ball and him.

Washington State tried to wear Belko's crew down with superior reserves but the jayvees fought the entire game under the aforementioned adverse conditions which would have been the straw that broke the camel's back had it been many teams.

In the game with San Jose, two Vandal players drew much comment from the sportswriters in the press box. "Those two guys could play on anyone's ball club," was one expression heard. It referred to the hard line play of Len Zenkevitch and the combined spirit and ability of Bill Miklich, who is probably losing a good pro contract by playing his last year on a losing ball club.

Lawns have been planted by the university gardening staff to surround Kirtley laboratory, the Dairy Science hall, and the Faculty club.

Paddlers Schedule Season Meets

The Idaho swimming team will meet with all schools in the Northern Division this year, Don Anderson announced today. Idaho will play host at half the meets. The team will compete with Montana twice and travel to the Northern Division championship at Seattle.

The first month's practice has been spent in loosening up, muscle conditioning, and in exercises designed especially for swimming. The team, with Jim Crockett the only returning letterman, will go into the water November 2," Anderson reported.

Jayvees To Seek Their First Victory Tonight

The Idaho Jayvees, 33 strong, including players, managers, and coaches, left yesterday morning for Boise where they are to meet a strong Boise Junior college team. The Jayvees who lost to the Washington State college Kittens last week, will be seeking their initial victory of the year.

Although the Jayvees already loom as a powerhouse in junior varsity competition, they will probably have to go all out in order to win this game. Boise Junior college gave proof of their strength last week when they held the powerful University of Idaho southern branch team to a narrow 6 to 0 score.

The junior varsity has spent the past week improving their pass defense and down-field blocking. "Weaknesses in these departments led to our defeat last week," Steve Belko, likeable junior varsity coach, reported. Belko also revealed that two of his regulars, Jud Paris and Bob Irwin, would not be able to participate in this week's contest due to injuries. "Other than this, the team is in good shape and the boys still have high spirit," Belko said.

Coach Belko announced the following tentative starting lineup for the Boise tilt: Ends—George Ballew and Warren Briggs; tackles—Jim Greenrod and Jack Jones; guards—Ken McCormack and Winston Bishop; center—Don Ellis; quarterback—Don Underkofler; halfbacks—Jack Rainey and George Whitman; fullback—Marvin Earl.

For Dyrvall, former Pacific Coast champ and a big name all over the nation in cross country running, withdrew from the Vandal team. His motive is not known, but it is thought by team members that he is saving his remaining eligibility for next year.

Hiserman will see his first Vandal team in action since taking over the "hill and dale" running team this fall.

From a squad of 20 men, the following ten were chosen to make the trip; Denman, Mathews, Humphreys, Eystone, Plates, Kassens, Stroeschein, Johnson, Burkhardt, Badger and Manager Jordan.

Harriers To Meet Whitman Today

A ten man University of Idaho cross country team will have its first taste of competition today when it meets Whitman College in a dual meet at Walla Walla, Washington. "This being the first meet of the season, little is known about either team," Coach Stan Hiserman said today.

The hopes of the Vandal team were lowered last night when following tentative starting lineup for the Boise tilt: Ends—George Ballew and Warren Briggs; tackles—Jim Greenrod and Jack Jones; guards—Ken McCormack and Winston Bishop; center—Don Ellis; quarterback—Don Underkofler; halfbacks—Jack Rainey and George Whitman; fullback—Marvin Earl.
