Students Ready For Revival Of Annual Dad's Day

Independents Sweep All But Two Seats In Election Activities Begin Tonight; Football Game Tomorrow

Victors Promise Impartial Regime

The United Students Party joined the Democrats at the wailing wall as the Independent Party Republicanized them by taking fourteen out of sixteen offices in class elections held Wednesday. With the exception of the freshman class, where heavy independent majorities showed straight party line voting, races between most candidates were closer than the near sweep of the ticket would indicate.

Considering nearly 100 percent eligibility of enrolled students, a light vote of slightly more than 55 percent took a part in the balloting. The Freshmen class ranked first in this department by turning out 65 percent to decide who should fill their class positions. Sophomores followed with 58 percent while Juniors and Seniors registered 52 and 53 percent respectively.

Walt Smith, president of the Independent Caucus, issued the following statement:

"However gratifying the election results may be to the Independent Party, the 'fair play' policy of our party platform will be carried out and all committees, committee heads, and students chosen to participate in class functions will be chosen according to ability, regardless of party affiliation."

Senior Class Results

Independent candidates swept the senior ticket with the number of votes over their opponents indicated after the winner's name: President, John Krier, 6; vice-president, George Walsh, 14; secretary, Zelva Hodge, 19; treasurer, Don Hyder, 21.

United Students elected their only winners in the Junior class competition by placing Kenneth Lemon as president with a majority of 5 votes over his opponent, and Eve Smith in the secretary's post by 14 votes. Independent Donna Chapman is the new vice-president by 9 counters and Margaret Arnold holds the secretary job with 4 more votes than the United Student Candidate.

Independents Win

Independents hold all sophomore positions with the majority following the name: president, John Morley, 40; vice president, Otis Walter, 6; secretary, Robert Pettibohn, 45; treasurer, Herbert Greenberg, 32.

Humor Highlights Next Week's Play Production

Warmth, tenderness, and rich humor highlight the first ASUI dramatic production of the year, "I Remember Mama," which makes a two night stand here next Friday and Saturday.

The comedy is John van Drueten's adaptation of "Mama's Bank Account," Kathryn Forbes' reminiscence of her Norwegian childhood in San Francisco.

Mama is a gallant woman who fights stubbornly to keep her brood together. When a crisis occurs, she allays her children's fears by talking about a bank account she pretends to have.

Her philosophy is summed up in a reply to a daughter who asks, "Wouldn't you like to be rich?" Mama answers, "I would like to be rich as I would like to be ten feet high. Would be good for some things—bad for others."

Emotional Highpoints

One of the emotional peaks of the play is the scene in which Mr. Hyde, their silvery old actor-boarder, who represented to Mama everything that was chivalrous, cultured and fine, has departed, leaving a worthless check for a hundred dollars to pay his bill. This crisis comes on top of another. Uncle Elizabeth, the cat, has been so badly mauled in a fight they decide he must be put out of his misery. This task, naturally, falls to Mama.

Mama Undaunted

When she cannot stand the taunts of those who have always doubted the honesty of Mr. Hyde, she says, "I can't talk now. Maybe you don't have things to do. I have."

"What do you have that is so important?"

Mama is speechless for a moment with rage and humiliation. Then, grabbing up the bottle she cries, "I have to chloroform a cat!"

A cast of 23 students, led by Marjorie Dean in the title role, will present the play November 22 and 23 in the auditorium. Reserved seat tickets will be available next week to ASUI book holders.

Foresters Release Marked Pheasants

About 18 pheasants with banded legs and lacquered under wings, will be freed here today by forestry students at the university. The game management class of the school of forestry is cooperating with the State Fish and Game department in the project to determine what happens to released pheasants.

The university studies will be conducted under Kenneth Hungerford, game management instructor. He asks that anyone finding a marked bird report it to him.

Some of the birds may meet death by encounters with predators such as coyotes, cats, hawks or owls. Some may be killed by cars on highways. Hunters should get some next fall. Under any circumstances, the school of forestry wants to know what happens to them.

School of forestry students will also cooperate with the State Fish and Game department November 22 in taking a wild game bird census of the Potlatch game preserve. They will aid game wardens, headed by Michael Throckmorton, game bird biologist, in flushing and counting birds in the preserve.

Forester Explains Wood Treatment

Introduction of a new wood preservative will be made to farmers of Nezperce and Grangeville by Dr. V. F. Ravenscroft, university extension forester, in six demonstrations in that vicinity.

Ravenscroft, who left Tuesday for Nezperce, will explain the method of treating fence posts by a cold soak in pentachlorophenol to increase the life of a post up to five times its normal life.

The recommended treatment, developed by research at the university, costs from 4 cents to 8 cents per pine post, and is considered an important discovery since over $1,000,000 is spent annually for fence-posts in Idaho, Ravenscroft said.

Foresters Release Marked Pheasants

Jason believes that class officers are not necessary—that it would be a much better plan to have the student governing board appoint chairmen for the annual weeks according to merit of students recommended for the position, either by party caucuses or the board members themselves.

A Real Need

The money saved twice a year from elimination of these elections could be diverted to other channels. A notable need is that of a senior class alumni secretary who would be responsible for keeping up the records and other data on his or her own class. The salary, from the $100 that would be saved, would make the position worthwhile for a student who accepted the work involved.

Jason doesn't mean this reflects upon the recently elected class officers. It's merely one opinion. Until such a "revolutionary change" is made, Jason would like to congratulate the winners of this semester's class elections.

IDAHO-WSC ASCEs MEET

William Shannon, retiring member of the board of directors of the American Society of Civil Engineers, will address a joint meeting of the student chapters of ASCE of the university and Washington State college Monday at 7 p.m.

The meeting will be held in the Mechanical Arts building on the WSC campus at Pullman.

"Dog-Gone" Says Campus Catcher

Friends, or pseudo-friends, of Will Defenbaugh, who are undoubtedly anti-American Society For Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, indicated their friendship for him at the polls Wednesday.

Although the ballot did not list such a position and Defenbaugh's name was not regularly entered, more than 60 of his "buddies" wrote his name in on the ballot for official university dog-catcher.

Woofed Defenbaugh, "They are barking up the wrong tree."

Institute Solicits Building Funds

Plans for a campus-wide solicitation of college students to raise funds for a special project connected with the Christian Institute building will be finished by the first week in December according to Rev. Neale E. Nelson, publicity chairman of the Idaho Institute of Christian Education.

The funds, to be raised by a canvass of students handled by student foundation, may be used for a student lounge, Rev. Nelson stated after a meeting of the Inter-church Council Thursday.

Student foundations supporting the canvas together with their presidents are: Roger Williams club, Benton W. Buttrey; Christian Students Fellowship, Wayne Kious and Maxine Bjorklund; Canterbury club, Bobbie Douglas; and Lutheran Student Association, Jack Bohning.

Others are: Wesley Foundation, Verna Greenlee; Kappa Phi, Margaret Justice; Nazarene Young People's Society, Oveta Franklin; Westminster Forum, Barbara Mariner, and Westminster Guild, Betty Ann Craggs.

The campaign for $175,000 to build the Institute building is now in progress in Moscow and throughout the state.

Henshaw Resigns To Enter Mining

Higher pay of the business world will take another member of the university faculty February 1. Paul C. Henshaw, acting head of the department of geology in the school of mines, submitted his resignation recently to President J. E. Buchanan to become effective that date.

President Buchanan said that he was forwarding the resignation to the Board of Regents with regret.

In his letter of resignation, Prof. Henshaw stated that he desired to accept a position with a mining company in Mexico, adding that "it is economic stress alone which is forcing me back into the mining world."

Henshaw came to the university in January, 1946, from the Tamarack and Custer mine at Wallace, where he had been since 1945.

Swimmers Announce New Helldivers

Tapping new pledges during dinner hour last week at the various living groups on the campus, John Mattmiller, club president, announced the selection of 18 new members.

Those named to Helldivers are: Martin Luther, Margaret Lewis, J. E. Farmer, Ed Grimm, Zeke Smith, Joan Staples, J. B. Anderson, Gene Pflug, George Vadya, Betty Sneed, Bill Kummer, Arnold Saunders, Marilyn Reed, W. F. Stewart, Jean Miller and Shirley Tanner.

"Initiation will be held Monday evening, November 25. At the next regular meeting we will have a 'get-together' swim, Mattmiller said.

Ski Fans Repair Lodge At Winter Sports Site

University Ski club will take over the winter sports area Sunday to finish clearing the runs and the lodge on Moscow mountain. All those interested in helping should be in front of the Student Union building at 9 a.m. for transportation to the hill.

Last Sunday a volunteer work-party, composed of 10 women and 20 men, cleared away almost the entire hill and worked on the inside of the lodge. A rope tow is being built on the main hill for the use of beginners. Work is being done on the proposed jump-hill which should be completed in several days. An extra run has been cleared from the top of the hill to the lodge to provide a shorter route for the skiers.

Remodel Lodge

Plans for remodeling the lodge were discussed and a committee was named to construct a large fireplace for the building. Workers report that it will take about two feet of snow to make the skiing good all winter.

Nominations for officers to be elected Thursday were made last night.

The charter for the club has been drawn up and fully approved by the members. Upon acceptance by faculty members and the student activities board, the organization of the club will be completed.

Name Contest

A contest is being held to find a name for the club and a patch design to be worn by the members. Those interested in submitting entries should give their suggestions and designs to Jack Smith, Sigma, Chi; Bill Larson, Willis Sweet; or Bonnie Kuehl, Gamma Phi Beta. Tuesday is the last day entries will be accepted. First prize will be a membership card to the club and a season ticket on the ski lift.

Plaid shirts and levis will strike the costume note at the "Ag Bawl" in the Blue Bucket ballroom tomorrow night at 9 o'clock, according to Rex Ottley, Ag club president.

Climaxing the university Dad's Day program, the "Bawl" is a strictly costume affair with special prizes for the best dressed ladies and gents.

Camouflaging the ballroom with the aid of approximately 100 bales of hay to produce the rustic effect is the task of the "Aggie" decoration committee headed by Rex Herman Joahn, dance chairman. "Farm lanterns, rural relics, and maybe even a cow will be used for a real barn dance atmosphere," said Joachim.

Men

"Farmers" are requested by the Ag committee to retain those Dad's Day beards for the "Bawl" as well as corn cob pipes and pitch forks. Gals should come dressed accordingly.

Music will be provided by the 15-piece Gentlemen of Note. Judging of costumes by the patrons and patronesses will take place at intermission time.

Vets Organize Cohesive Body

Organization of the university veterans, a plan announced last week, will begin on Sunday with a membership drive to be conducted through Wednesday. It was explained that the membership will not be closed at the end of the drive, but the nucleus of the association would be formed in that manner. With the framework of the organization filled, an intensive effort to contact all veterans, on and off the campus, would then be possible.

A veteran representative from each living group will be supplied with membership forms and will contact all men and women eligible in their respective halls or houses. Off campus members not able to get their forms from the Town Men's Association representative will find a blank on veterans bulletin board in the Administration building.

The organization, as yet unnamed, hopes to include every veteran enrolled in school. The objective of the group was summarized: "To promote the provision of equal facilities for all students which will enable them to better discharge their responsibilities of citizenship; and to promote the procurement of acceptable accommodations for all during their residence at the university.

Individuals behind the organization of the veterans group have asked to remain in the background since their interest is in the activation of the organization rather than seeking publicity for themselves or paving the way for election to executive positions.

TIPS FOR VETS

By GEORGE

In the first nine months after the war's end there were over 220 different veterans' organizations created and recorded with the Veterans' Organizations Information Service (VOIS) in New York City. Set up by a group of ex-G.I.s, the VOIS is concerned with bringing some order out of the bewildering array of veterans' organizations throughout the country whose names may be on any topic—serious, silly, social or crusading. The VOIS, which contemplates the location of over 500 different organizations, maintains a roster and a detailed directory for the purpose of supplying centralized information service for the benefit of ex-servicemen and all agencies interested in veterans' welfare. In Michigan alone, 49 charters have been issued to new veterans' organizations.

On April 23 of this year there appeared in this column a proposal to organize a student veterans' organization here at the university with the main idea being to bring some unified voice to veterans. Plans are now underway for the organization of such a group, for the purpose of working toward the improvement of housing and educational facilities.

In the last issue of this paper there was an announcement of the plan and some of the details given. The whole idea is good and will serve to band veterans together for their own good. The only criticism of such a plan is that when U. of I. veterans are approached and given the opportunity to affiliate with this organization they will want to know just who is doing the organizing, and who are the individuals who are only referred to in the announcement as "the group."

It is true the organization is to be, according to the announcement, an impartial body free from any outside influence, but to make it all on the board the individuals doing the organizing should be known. Satisfied with knowing this the veterans on the campus should then give their whole support to such an organized veterans' body.

By JIM SPOERHASE

With the Dad's Day football game and the annual Saddle Hawk-Ins Day race but five days in the offing, the campus has turned into Dogpatch, U.S.A.

Dr. Caswell Speaks Of Idaho System

Curriculum revision in Idaho schools with more time for sec-ondary education and less for ele-mentary courses was discussed by Dr. Hollis Caswell at the educa-tion conference held in Boise Sat-urday, reported Dr. Ray M. Berry of the school of education.

According to Dr. Berry, the speaker criticized Idaho's high schools for spending too much time on the 35 per cent of stu-dents who will go to college. The result is a neglect of the 65 per cent of students who will not at-tend higher institutions of educa-tion. Dr. Caswell then pointed out that the change must be grad-ual and that a system designed for Idaho schools only should be adopted.

Dr. Caswell, who is connected with the faculty of Columbia uni-versity, appeared under the spon-sorship of the Northwest Society for Curriculum Study.

THE NEST

It's the first of the month—every few days.

The first few days of the month were once a time of feverish activity for tele-phone accounting personnel. In that short period millions of telephone bills had to be prepared, checked and mailed. But the Bell System accounting staff, seeking to level off this work peak, found a practical solution.

It's called "rotation billing." Now in our accounting departments, a new month begins every few days. Accounts are divided into six or more even groups, each with a different bill-ing date. This spreads the work evenly and eliminates the old last-minute rush. This special problem, solved by tele-phone accountants, is typical of those which often confront management in the many branches of our business. They present a stimulating challenge to the young men with initiative and imagina-tion who will find just such practical solutions...young men who find teleph-ony an exciting and rewarding career.

Hanging

The "cut-throats" pictured above are unidentified Idaho agriculture students hanging a dummy lawyer in effigy as part of their regular feud with the law students.

Aggies Threaten Party Crashers

Students going to early classes yesterday morning found a life-size dummy hanging about 10 feet over the "Hello" walk and strung between two pine trees. Pinned on the dummy's chest was a hand-painted sign telling the general public that this dummy was a "shyster" hung in effigy, after he had tried to crash the "Ag Bawl" (which is to be held Saturday night).

This method of advertising their dance will probably renew for the Ag students a long-time feud with the law students. Whether or not the shysters will be scared away from the Aggie dance remains to be seen, but rumors that thousands of feet of rope are being stored away for possible use on Saturday night to dedicate the "Ag Bawl" by "stringing up" genuine wandering lawyers.

Amendment number one which provided for sweeter awards to the Executive Board, failed to get the required two thirds majority and was defeated. A simple majority was cast in favor of the measure, however. Amendment number two calling for a change in the types of sweaters awarded athletes was approved. Number three which placed all sports on the same level and raised the requirements of former minor sports met the voters approval.

The election was quiet and conducted in an orderly manner, with much credit to Chairman Helen Moulton and the members of the board," said Election Chairman Rex ZoBell. The majority of the ballots were cast at the Administraffor building polls.

Counting of the ballots was completed and the results were posted by 8:00 p.m.

The Vandals defeated the Cougars last Saturday at Pullman and are looking forward to repeating their victory along with continuing as an undefeated team.

Jayvees Drill For Kitten Contest

Idaho's junior varsity football team relaxed long enough last night from regular sessions to run a series of Portland university plays against the varsity in hopes of preparing its "big brothers" for the oncoming Dad's day clash.

Coach Steve Belko said Jayvee players would return to their regular sessions tonight. "We will hold scrimmages both tonight and Monday in an attempt to sharpen our defense," he reported.

Practicing the remainder of the next week will be light in order to avoid further injuries.

Other than injuries to Paris and Irwin, the squad is in good shape for its final game with Washington State on November 23. It is still doubtful whether these two men will see any action against the Cougar juniors.

Department Gives Recreation Hours

Free recreation hours will begin this afternoon and continue every Friday from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Women's gymnasium according to Miss Patti Utgard, instructor of physical education.

Mixed groups will play ping pong, badminton, and other indoor sports. There is no charge if the student provides his equipment, but there will be a charge if the department's equipment is used.

"TAKE FIVE"

By CLARK CHANDLER

Spectators will have an opportunity tomorrow at the Portland University-Idaho grid battle to observe something slightly different in the way of the popular T formation.

The Portland Pilots use the orthodox T formation, but at times slip into a line-up that might cause the watcher at first glance to exclaim, "Wingback." Actually it is the same old system with added deception.

This is the line-up. A halfback lines up even with and a yard or so behind the end with the remaining halfback and fullback taking ordinary T formation positions. The outstanding thing about this scheme is that the quarterback, instead of crouching directly behind the center, takes a position behind and between center and guard.

Upshot of this is that the play can start with the center handing the ball to the quarterback who directs the play by handing it to the man carrying the mail. However, on some plays the center will pass directly to either of the other two backfield men. Such action makes it more difficult for the opposition to diagnose the play since the action can start from one of two places instead of the usual one.

It will be interesting to note the Vandals in action tomorrow. Will the gridsters live up to their statements? Direct quotations from team members indicate that it will be a determined Idaho team tomorrow afternoon. Bill Williams, quarterback: "We'll win!" Len Zenkevitch, guard: "We'll win, but it may be tough." Portlanad will have to go under the turf to get through the line." Chet Johnson, guard: "We'll be rough on this team." Mack Neibaur, tackle: "We're going to win this game even if it is the only victory this year." Bill Miklich, fullback: "I'm not talking!"

Three acquaintances will be renewed at Neale stadium during the game. Frank Viro, Idaho tackle, and Pat Sweeney, Portland's passing ace, both played football in Spokane while at Gonzaga high school. They both played under William Frazier, who is officiating as head linesman of the Dad's day contest.

Ring Coach Wants Larger Turnout

"We are wide open for competition," Boxing Coach K. L. Butler stated last night in an answer to questions concerning the oncoming boxing season. Other than one returning letterman, the team is entirely undecided.

At present 26 prospective fighters have been turning out for the team and a few more are expected at the end of the football season. These gridsters should bolster the heavyweight division considerably. All of the weights other than the 135 pound and 175 pound class are fairly well filled. In these weights there are only two men competing for each spot and boxers falling in these classes are sorely needed, Butler said.

A tentative smoker is now being planned for all non-letterman boxers. Coach Butler says this smoker will be held before the Christmas holidays. Prior to the smoker, eliminations will be held
