The Golden Fleece
by Jason Student smokers have been commenting this week on the usefulness of the administration's latest gift to weed-beaters. A smoke-house has been converted from what was formerly a press box. Now, when the rain and snow beat down, students can dash the few necessary steps from the Ad building and take their inhalation under shelter.
By making a smoker, the rules on fire prevention for the Ad building will finally be observed. When the administration didn't prohibit smoking in the area, but merely arranged for another building, it recognized a student need that has long existed on the Idaho campus.
Some cagey characters have recently been suggesting that we choose a campus garbage and trash collector in the next student elections. When walking down an alley they are evidently overwhelmed by the trash in the back yards of houses and halls in this area. How it can be remedied is a mystery to us, but some action should be taken to ensure collection of refuse promptly.
New Entertainment Recently two new forms of entertainment have been introduced to members of the student body. The jazz concert given Sunday under the direction of the Gentlemen of Note was an innovation of which we can be proud. Former and future students combined their talents to bring to us an original show which proved such a terrific hit that several organizations tried immediately to book the combination for events way in the future. However, we're assured of lots more of the quintet are negotiating now same stuff because members of so that they may enroll here next semester.
Alpha Phi Omega, scout honorary, will sponsor the second of its series of Wednesday afternoon dances this week. With an orchestra, a low ticket price, and good dance floor the affairs should prove a boon to mid-week-bored students.
Sophomores have spent recent weeks in hurried preparation for their annual week, which will get a start Wednesday when an assembly is presented free of charge to Idaho students.
Although there probably won't be any Frank Sinatras, members of the sophomore class will give out with a serenade and then climax the week with their Holly Dance.
At this time another queen will be added to the roster of sweethearts, cover girls, queens, etc.
which steadily grows with the advent of each dance on the campus.
Lecturer Desires
Russ Cooperation
"Russia, America and the Peace" was the subject of William Mandel's address Friday when he appeared in the public events assembly.
Mr. Mandel stated that the so-called "iron curtain" that has been drawn around Russia is "absolute nonsense." He quoted statements made by several well-known Americans who have visited Russia to prove they were shown everything they wanted to see.
Regarding Russia's ideas on war, Mr. Mandel said: "On the basis of manpower, natural resources, atom bomb possession by the U.S., and Russia's foreign policy, it just doesn't jibe with the facts that Russia could be thinking of, let alone pursuing a policy . . . toward aggressive warfare."
In conclusion he stated, "Countries only wage war because they think they have a fighting chance of winning. If Russia and the U.S. can stick together, we are the two strongest nations on earth."

Miss Valerio To Present Concert On Thursday

Genevieve Valerio, soprano who is spending her first year at the university as an instructor in the music department, will be presented in her initial Moscow concert Thursday evening, with Miriam Little, cellist.

During high school Miss Valerio studied under Pietro Marchi, and Ludolph Arens, a contemporary German composer. She also studied under various instructors at Chicago Musical college, including George Graham, assistant professor in voice; Mme. Nell Gardini, head of the voice department; Dr. Gustav Dunkelberger, former dean of the college; and Edwin Kemp, Chicago Conservatory of Music. Her academic work was done at Chicago university and DePaul university.

Miss Valerio has given voice recitals at Chicago Musical college, Chicago Conservatory, Henry Booth Settlement, and has presented an original composition recital at Chicago Conservatory. A member of the Junior Chorus of the Civic Opera Company and Chicago Concert and Opera Guild, Miss Valerio has also had choral experience with the Apollo club and the Chicago Sunday Evening club. She has conducted the United Congregational Choir and the Crerar Memorial Presbyterian Junior Choir, both in Chicago.

Many Compositions
Among her compositions are a song cycle, "Poems by Sara Teasdale," a symphonic poem, "Passing Winds;" and "Olive Portuguese Non," a secular cantata with orchestra accompaniment.
Before coming here Miss Valerio taught voice and theory at Chicago Conservatory, and was music director at Henry Booth settlement there.

Station Schedules Holiday Programs

KUOI is scheduled to continue broadcasts over the Christmas holidays with the exception of Christmas day, Ted Cady, station manager, announced yesterday.
Starting at 7 p. m. Wednesday, the sophomore assembly will be broadcast by remote control from the auditorium of the Administration building. Also scheduled for transmission over KUOI are the Holly dance from 9:30 to 10 p. m. on Friday and the sophomore "Carrollade" from 9 to 11 p. m. Tuesday.
"Musical Quizzes," with free tickets to the Holly dance awarded as prizes, will again be conducted this week.

Ag Applications Due In January

Applications must be filed by January 2 for examination for Junior Agricultural Assistant in 19 fields, the federal civil service commission announces.
Persons appointed to these positions in the Departments of Agriculture and the Interior will assist in research work at $2,644 a year for a 40-hour week. Age limits, 18 to 35, are waived for veterans.
In addition to passing a written examination, applicants must have the equivalent of a four-year college course in their field by June 30, 1947. Application forms may be obtained at post offices or from the civil service commission, Washington, D.C.

Inland Empire Offers Paintable Landscapes

T. J. Prichard, head of the art and architecture department at the university, agrees with Bernard de Voto, writing in the current issue of Harper's, that the Inland Empire offers some of the world's "most paintable" landscapes. Prichard disagrees with de Voto, however, when the writer declares that artists have ignored the possibilities of the Palouse hills.
Members of Idaho's art faculty have painted dozens of pictures of the hills. A combine scene painted by Miss Mary Kirkwood, assistant professor of art and architecture, was purchased by Thomas

Graduate Attains Movie Contract

Hollywood beckoned another Idaho graduate when Howard Hawks signed Ray Hyke of Lewiston to play Walt Jargens, derby-wearing Brooklyn cowhand, in the $2,000,000 Monterey production "Red River," now on location in Arizona.
Recently released from the navy, Hyke, now 28, appeared in a bit part in "Best Years of Our Lives" before landing his present role.
Hyke's dramatic career started in university dramatics when he took leading roles in "Idiot's Delight" and "Paths of Glory." Miss Jean Collette remembers him as a good character actor with a "fiery personality."

KHQ To Feature Campus Singers

The Vandaleers, Idaho's well-known men's and women's chorus, will be heard in concert over radio station KHQ, Inc., at 11 p. m. on December 17. From KHQ the program will be beamed to all National Broadcasting Company's stations on the Pacific Coast network.
The broadcast will be made from the auditorium of the Administration building. Although the program will be given on two nights, Tuesday and Wednesday, the broadcast will be made only on the first night.
Staff technicians from KHQ will arrive in Moscow Saturday to install equipment necessary to carry the broadcast to the station's transmitter in Spokane.
An audience will be admitted to the concert on both nights.

Vets May Obtain Emergency Fuel

Any veteran in the Moscow villages who is out of coal and in urgent need of fuel for his stoves may obtain wood from the Consolidated Lumber yard to use as emergency fuel.
A huge pile of shavings is located across from the Northern Pacific freight depot on West Eighth street. Frank G. Crawford has offered the use of his truck to help carry the shavings away.

Prof. Wise To Gag Artists

Veterans with babies are given preference in choosing classes for engineering drawing. That is, the "little draft preventer" gives them a chance to enroll in an afternoon session in place of attending one of the "night owl" groups that meet from 7 to 10 in the evenings.
City slickers with the "19-year-old-baby" gag can forget it. It's been tried, "Bub," and it doesn't work.
To those wishing to take engineering drawing and still get their beauty nap, W. W. Tinniswood, assistant professor in engineering, offers this advice, "Don't."

Institute Workers Report Returns Still Incomplete

Partial returns for the Protestant goal of $1500 for a student lounge as part of the new Idaho Institute of Christian Education building indicate that the drive will be a success, although some groups have failed to turn in contributions. Among the first turned in were the contribution of Hays hall and Willis Sweet, which amounted to $80 and $70, respectively.
The deadline for turning in solicitations from living groups had been set for yesterday, Marian Eisenhauser is in charge of campus collections.
Individuals who have not been contacted, yet wish to contribute may do so by calling at the old institute building on the corner of Elm street and University avenue.
Jack Bohning and Maxine Bjorklund, in charge of town solicitations, report that the drive throughout Moscow will start Wednesday, George Hass has been chosen solicitor for the Idaho club.
Moscow ministers, speaking of the new building, unitedly issued this statement:
"The proposed new Protestant building adjoining the campus will add to the efficiency of our work, and increase the number of students we will be able to reach. In those activities which we can best do as denominational groups, we will have available a building, on a cooperative basis, much larger and more adequate than any of our churches could provide independently. We are all for the institute and its expansion program."
The Rev. Willard Stanton, acting treasurer and present director of the institute, has retired from the Methodist ministry in order to direct the state drive.
The announcement of the total funds contributed by Idaho students for the lounge will be made Thursday when an exact tally can be made.

Engineers To Make Plans For Rebate

Reasons for the non-appearance of the Cougar Men's orchestra at the Engineer's ball Saturday remained unexplained yesterday and plans to make rebate to couples attending the function awaited settlement at a committee meeting tonight.
Frank Ross, who attempted to contact the orchestra leader in Pullman, was informed that he was in Tacoma. Until the leader is reached, no explanation of the band's failure to provide music could be made.
Ross reported that the orchestra agreed to play for the dance two weeks ago when arrangements were made with the leader.

Local Men Enter Labor Debate

Dr. Boyd A. Martin, associate professor of political science, and Herman Wilson, Jr., Moscow, participated in a debate in Lewiston last Thursday in which the Lewiston Central Trades and Labor council and international affairs group discussed the subject of labor and management.
Dr. Martin presided at the debate and addressed the group, while Wilson represented management in the debate. Wilson is manager of the Washburn-Wilson Seed company here.

President Buchanan Tells Of Interest In University's Coaching Position

"University of Idaho alumni are very definitely interested in football," President J. E. Buchanan declared yesterday upon his return from a week's tour in the southern part of the state.
The university president and Jim Lyle, alumni secretary, met with alumni groups from Idaho Falls to Boise. Everywhere they found that "as soon as official business was cleared, everyone wanted to talk football."

With the compilation of grades for the nine weeks nearly completed, D. D. DuSault, university registrar, has released a list of top students during the period. Ten men and women, carrying twelve or more credit-hours, made a four point or straight "A" average.
The "A" students include Joseph Robinson Alley, Roger Elwood Batzel, Clifford Luther Davis, Harold Francis Haupt, Leonard Wayne Hoskins, Archie Milton Larson, Jr., Joyce Eleonore Larson, Calvin Thomas Long, Francis Laurence Sult, and Roland Fortner Tipword.
Thirty-one students, carrying at least twelve hours, earned grades of all "As" except one "B." Included in their list are Laurence Lee Bath, Walter David Biggers, John Manford Booth, Robert Bruce Boomer, William Cedric Burns, George Ralph Crane, and Roger Reed Cone.
Also included are Owen Frederick Karstad, Kenneth Meade Lemon, Shelby Dean Lenander, Luther John Linkhart, Ronald Ernest Magden, John Strand Mayo, Arthur Charles Packenham, Ivan Erland Peterson, and George Stanley Tanner.
Completing the list are John Richard Taylor, Charles William Thomas, Hannah Editha Warren, and Alexander Yarosky.

P-Vets Include Service Women

The Women's Veterans association has cast their lot with the "P-Vets, recently formed all-campus veterans' organization. Charlotte Johnston and Miriam Walker have been elected as the women's representatives on the "P-Vet council."
A unanimous vote was given by the ex-service women to participate in the all-campus veteran movement.
Living group sections of the "P-Vets are in the process of approving the constitution which was drafted by the council late last week.

Blot Sets Deadline For Second Issue

January 8 was set as the deadline for the second issue of Blot and all interested student writers were asked to turn material to members of the staff. It was disclosed after a meeting of the editorial staff yesterday.
Listed as writings most desired by the staff were humorous fiction, cartoons, poetry and feature material.
The magazine will be released during the first week of February and, like the current issue, will sell for 25 cents a copy.

APO Holds Second Matinee Dance

Alpha Phi Omega, men's service honorary, will sponsor another afternoon tea-dance in the student union ballroom tomorrow afternoon from 4 to 5:30 o'clock.
The tea-dance held last Wednesday afternoon was rated a success by the sponsors when 76 couples attended. The dance is open to all students.
Music will be furnished by the "Quarter Notes," and ticket sales will be made at the door only.

Tacoma Magazine Publishes University Of Idaho Story

By ART RIDDLE
"Idaho's University Says 'Hello!'"
That is the title of a four-page article on the university appearing in the December issue of The Gryphon, a magazine published by the United Pacific insurance company in Tacoma, Wash.
A full page picture of the Administration building appears on the front cover of the magazine. Five illustrations accompany the article which gives a brief review of Idaho's history and touches upon the university as it is today.
Explaining Idaho's humble beginning, the magazine writes:

Returns

President J. E. Buchanan recently returned from a tour through southern Idaho in which he spoke to various groups concerning the university. He reported great interest among alumnae in that section of the state.

Sigma Chi Chooses Six Finalists In Annual Contest

Sigma Chis this week are entertaining six finalists in their annual "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" contest which will be climaxed Friday night with the presentation of this year's sweetheart at a formal dance.
Finalists, named over the weekend, include: Geraldine Shepherd, Pi Beta Phi; Gladys Taufen, Alpha Phi; Patricia Barnes, Delta Gamma; Jean Lindemer, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Irene Kirsch, Ridenbaugh hall; and Erlene Bell, Gamma Phi Beta.
Fred Bagley, social chairman, said the finalists would be dinner guests of the fraternity tonight and Thursday night. All will be present at the Sweetheart formal Friday, and the sweetheart will be announced at intermission.
The contest, sponsored annually by the local chapter, was begun a week ago, and 24 contestants, two from each women's group house, have been participating.
Six finalists were chosen over the week-end after the candidates had been entertained at the chapter house at dinners and firesides throughout last week. The finalists were Sunday dinner guests.

Hundreds Attend 'Jam Session'

Something new in campus musical entertainment was introduced Sunday night when the Gentlemen of Note presented a "jam session" before a large enthusiastic crowd of between 400 and 500 persons in the Blue Bucket.
The 15-piece campus band introduced its guests artists, Johnny Powell and his all-vet quintet. The quintet features Pete Barrington, trumpet soloist, vocalist and master of ceremonies.
Barrington was recently cited by Downbeat magazine as one of the young musicians in the country who is destined for big things in the entertainment world. His vocal renditions of comedy numbers such as "Brother Beware," "Caledonia," and "Easy Street" won over the crowd.
Adair Hilligoss, leader of the band, announced that the quintet would enroll here for the second semester of school. They are now working in Spokane.

Johnson Returns

Professor J. Hugo Johnson, head of the department of electrical engineering, is to return today from Denver where he attended a national convention of Sigma Tau, engineering honorary.

Notice

The Greatest Statesman

Editor's Note: Occasionally a piece of writing stands out as a monument to the paper which published it. This editorial reprinted below, written by former Argonaut Editor Jack Anderson for the April 11, 1946, issue of the Argonaut, we believe is one of those masterpieces which will live on and on.

It may be wise for all of us to consider the scope these words cover, since the U.N. stands now as our strongest barricade against future strife and aggression.

The greatest statesman who ever lived had no name. His wife (or rather, his woman, for they were not married) probably called him either Huhh or Beeee, depending on whether she was a grunter or a squealer.

It will never be known how or when he got the Great Idea, the most revolutionary political conception ever to enter the mind of a man. Of course he couldn't talk, since he had no words to talk with. If he had been able to express it verbally, it would have gone something like this:

"Now that my son is big and strong, the time has come for us to fight each other, and for one of us either to kill the other or drive him out of this cave and keep him out. It has always been that way. But that guy in the cave on the other side of the mountain is bigger and stronger than either of us, and sooner or later he will get the one that stays here. But what if Junior and I don't fight? What if we both stay here and stick together? Then we're safe, from that guy or any other guy. This is a good idea. I'm going to do my best to explain it to Junior."

That fantastic idea, born in the brain of the greatest statesman that ever lived, known as Huhh or Beeee, has gone far in the centuries that have passed. It now dominates, for instance, the political structure under which 140 million Americans go about the business of living. It seems destined inevitably to continue its progress to the logical conclusion of a world government with world law to preserve the peace. For the statesman got the idea not only as a means of protection from the guy on the other side of the mountain, but also as a means of protecting himself from Junior.

And so the tiny twig, bent when humanity's wisdom tree was very young, is blossoming now into the flower of a United Nations Organization. If this one lives to flourish, one day it will bear fruit. And when it does, a grateful population might well erect a statue to that long-departed statesman who "explained it to Junior."

TIPS FOR VETS

By GEORGE

An article in last week's paper offered the writer of this column a financial reimbursement for "any literature advocating Communism which has been distributed on this campus and for information leading to the discovery of those persons who know that it has been so distributed."

This is a perfectly logical challenge for one who is devoting his life work to the study of Political Science and by all means any definite statements meeting this challenge should be carefully weighed and substantially supported with reliable authority.

For this reason no information will be published at the present time, for as was pointed out in last week's article in this column it is not certain at present whether there is actually an organized Communist group on the campus or not.

It was shown that there was a campaign to propagandize University of Washington veterans, there were recent Communist activities in Oregon, and that the recent spy exposure in Canada revealed the fact that there was a close harmony with larger groups in the United States.

All of this activity closely bordering on our own state only brought out the question, and I repeat, "to what extent does the Communist influence prevail at the U. of I.?" I am perfectly willing to work with Professor Hosack on answering this for the satisfaction of us both.

Six Women Debate At Walla Walla

Six women, representing the university in a series of debates held in Walla Walla returned to the campus late Saturday with a three-way tie, having won four and lost four debates. Contesting teams were from Washington college and Whitman.

The women were Geneva Ferguson, Carol Fitch, Joyce Taylor, Ethel Turnley, Joyce Keeton, and Rayola Ritchey.

The subject, "Resolved: that the Federal Government should revise its labor legislation to provide control over strikes and industrial disputes," was debated Friday and Saturday morning, and Saturday afternoon.

Dear Jason

Why is it that the Athletic Department cannot spend a mere $200 to send a runner of champion caliber, Vic Dyrigall, to the national cross-country meet? This man would have had an excellent chance to win, as was proved by his past record in district meets.

It was stated that the money was needed to send the football team on its trips. Wouldn't the publicity from a victorious cross-country man be as good as that from a series of football defeats?

Is this school advancing to the rear in its athletics? Must we suppress our good teams in favor of the bad ones?

Sincerely yours,
Art Humphrey.

P.S. Are we so poor that the cross-country men can't sleep in hotel rooms on the eve of their out-of-town meets? Does the football team need the $10 that a couple of rooms would cost?

The Executive Board and the Board of Directors of the Vandal Ski club are quite disappointed in the reaction of prospective club members who do not turn out for the work parties that are held every Sunday.

There is a lot of work to be done on the hill and on the lodge, and with a prospective membership of 240, we would certainly appreciate seeing "new faces" turn out for these work parties. The same 25 students volunteer every Sunday—and only the same seven fellows give their time to work parties during the week.

These fellows have been more than generous in contributing many hours to the lodge and the hill, but a few cannot do all the work. We need more volunteers! Very truly yours, Jack Numbers.

The prewar traffic on the old Alma Mammy's premises was just a drop in the bucket compared to the herd of automobiles, and a smattering of Ford V-8's that go wheeling around the many blind corners on the campus. The preceding was not a dirty dig at Henry Ford, since I am the owner of one of his creations.

Anyway, since my recent arrival at the university, the following things have been noted. The upperclassmen have the frightened look of a hunted beast due to a number of years of dodging jalopies. The freshmen don't know what it is all about as yet but their expressions are comprehensive and undecided.

All this is due to the driving of a few individuals who suffer under hallucination that this is the Indianapolis Speedway and that they are young Barney Oldfields. Speeding is fine in its place, but I wish someone would tell them the campus has a speed

It is impossible for us to conceive of democracy being imposed from above; no matter what its other virtues may be—call it what you will—a government so imposed is not a democracy.

I would wager, though, that many of those who would be the first to ignore Russia's progress from Tsarism and condemn her totalitarianism would also be charter member in those groups advocating the inauguration of the same abuses here in America. If is regrettable that there are so many among us lacking both knowledge of and faith in our fundamental traditions. They would destroy that which they seek to protect.—Freedom.

Early Sports Rivalry

Interesting to sport fans is the story of early Idaho-WSC rivalry contained in the magazine, Describing the first game in 1894 which took place on a snow-blanketed flat near Moscow, the writer says:

"The football suits consisted of baseball pants and old shirts. It was considered that nose-guards, shin-guards and padding prevented a player from hurting the other fellow, and, as the quickest way to keep oneself from being hurt was to knock out the opponents, all players stripped for action.

"The Teams played old-style football, mass formation, center rush, three downs to make five yards. Idaho won that game, its first, 10 to 0, and the rivalry has been keen between the two schools ever since."

You cannot believe everything you hear, but you can repeat it.

TELEPHONE men are hard at work extending and improving telephone service in rural areas served by the Bell Companies. They're pushing a $100,000,000 three to five year program to give telephone service to all who want it just as fast as possible.

To do this they had to look beyond conventional telephone practices. New techniques and new and improved equipment had to be planned, developed and proved. Now they are furnishing telephone service over rural power lines, over new steel wire that requires fewer poles per mile, over insulated wire that can be buried directly in the ground and by means of rural radio.

Men who approach every problem with open minds... who are guided by ingenuity and resourcefulness rather than by established method... find telephony an ever stimulating and interesting career.

Kentucky Bluegrassers Thump Luckless Vandals-But Good!

Idahoans Head Westward After 65-35 Walloping

After losing 65 to 35 to Kentucky, second-ranking team in the nation, last night in Lexington, Idaho's barnstorming Vandals today were heading westward for their game tomorrow night with Kansas, perennial Big Six conference champions.

In last night's game the Kentuckians, last year's national invitational champions, swept to an early lead, and the traveling Idahoans were never a serious threat.

After dropping a close 46-35 opening loss to City College of New York, Idaho's defending Northern division champs, continued their losing ways as they were nosed out by Georgetown 59-52 and blasted by a smooth St. Josephs crew 60 to 39.

Quinn Out
Although on the losing end of the scores, the Vandals were dwelt a much heavier blow during the Georgetown game, when their all-American star, Fred Quinn, reportedly, but not confirmed, suffered a badly sprained ankle that kept him out of the St. Joseph game entirely, and which may hinder him indefinitely. Up to that time, the Vandals were slowly closing the huge gap in scores which the Washington D. C. crew had gained on them during the opening half. The Hoyas, who were playing their first game, broke into an early 25-9 lead, but tired greatly in the late stages of the game to let the Vandals creep up on them until Quinn went out. Paced by forward Don Dillard, who racked up 15 big points, the rangier Vandals sought to keep up the rally, but the clock ran out on them with the score 59 to 52 in favor of the Georgetown quintet.

St. Joseph Hot
With Quinn on the sidelines two nights later, the touring Vandals ran into a red-hot crew of St. Joseph ex-G's, who put the Philadelphia college back on the basketball map with a rousing 60-39 victory over the Vandals. The two teams played evenly throughout the first half, but the speedier Catholics ran riot in the second half to win going away. As before, Dillard was the top Vandal scorer, racking up 11 counters. Center Jack Phoenix, who was taken out of the latter game in the second half with a badly sprained thumb, countered 10 points before he was injured.

"TAKE FIVE"

By CLARK CHANDLER

Idaho's barnstorming basketball team has turned in four straight defeats and the way things appear to be shaping up a victory won't be posted until it is back into Idaho and playing against the University of Idaho southern branch, and Boise Junior college. Against CCNY and Georgetown the Idaho cagers turned in creditable games, but reports garnered from players' correspondence has it that Idaho presented a very ragged team that committed many errors.

Two letter writers say that Fred Quinn was the best player on the floor from either team. Without Quinn against St. Joseph's the Vandals, although favored, were walloped. Last year Idaho had a 5-man iron team—will it be a one-man team this year? It is doubtful the last will be the case as Don Dillard has been scoring from his forward slot and although towering Jack Phoenix was classified by one New York sports writer as an "ineffectual player," the Idaho center has been hitting the basket for an above average number of points.

It would appear as if Coach Guy Wicks over-estimated the last year Walla Walla air base players, brought to Idaho this season, from their not-too-complimentary box scores. He may be wishing he had taken Johnny Taylor, an 18-year-old, 6 ft. 2 in. forward who can shoot accurately, along on the trip instead of six guards who until now, at least, haven't been scorers.

One question that comes to this writer's mind is why Bob Ryan, a letterman forward who scored 108 points in 1943 when conference play was tough, is playing guard, while one first string forward has scored 2 points—both free throws—in three games.

Let's not appear to be always looking for the worst. This is the main purpose of the road trip—to find workable combinations and to gain experience. Admittedly it would be nice to win a couple of games. Of the nine-game tour Wicks told this writer that he most wanted to beat the University of Kansas, coached by Phog Allen, nationally prominent basketball mentor.

Writing from Brooklyn, Bill McGowan, former Argonaut sports editor, an eye witness, gives this account of C.C.N.Y. game: "Anent the game: Idaho was in it all the way, and, in fact, dominated until the last eight minutes when C.C.N.Y. ran away with the game. Up to then, Idaho led all the way. 'Whimpy' Quinn was easily the best man on the floor, and he received a tremendous ovation when he left the game after fouling out. There seems no question but what his absence was the turning point of the game. I thought Bob Ryan played brilliantly and all the boys did a good job. "The officiating in the East is much closer so that fouls called here would never be called in the West and, of course the boys are not used to that. That is not an alibi—it is a fact. All western teams playing here say the same thing."

Congratulations to the "I" club! This letterman organization is meeting tonight in order to inaugurate a plan by which it may receive the names and pertinent information regarding all coach applicants to Idaho. After a thorough investigation the "I" club will offer its recommendation. Associated students should follow a similar plan. President Buchanan in his first year as head of the university has stated that he will gladly accept all opinions and recommendations. The associated students of Idaho owe it to themselves to make themselves felt as an influence in Idaho's athletic policy.

Jack Anderson, last year's editor of the Argonaut, had this to say in an editorial:

"One reason for lack of finance lies in the fact that Idaho is perhaps the only land-grant college in the Northwest that has to pay part of its coaching salaries out of its student body funds. About $8,000 a year goes out of the ASUI fund for that purpose. This amount of money, if applied to the Idaho athletic plant, would set it up as one of the finest in the country. The state pays the salaries of teachers in other departments; why not in the athletic department? Isn't the money available? Or hasn't any serious effort been made to put pressure on the legislature for enough money to run the school properly?"

"Colleges as a whole are coming out of the war period with the emphasis on expansion—Idaho will be left far behind unless facilities are improved both qualitatively and quantitatively."

released as soon as Graduate Manager Gale Mix returns from the Pacific Coast conference meeting in Pasadena. All jayvee games are expected to serve as preliminaries to the varsity's home conference games.

NO PROBLEM AT IDAHO
International relations offer no problem in the University of Idaho arboretum. Thriving peacefully side by side are Japanese cedar trees, Russian olive, Siberian pea trees, Scotch pines and California redwoods.

Lawyers To Dance
Phi Alpha Delta, law honorary, will hold a semi-formal dance at the Moscow hotel Friday night.

Abe Goff, congressman-elect from Latah county, and his wife will be among those present.

Other guests will be Dean and Mrs. William J. Brockelbank, Professor and Mrs. Henry H. Foster, Jr., Professor George B. Fraser, Jr., and Professor George W. Stengel.

Cold Water Makes Swimmers A Dry-Land Outfit

If you would like to talk to a man on the campus who really has troubles, you should see swimming coach Don Anderson. The student mentor of Idaho's splashers has a conference dual meet with the Washington State Cougars just a little over a month from now and has been forced to move his men to dry land for their training. Crux of the matter seems to be the fuel shortage now in effect, and until the university gets more fuel the watermen will remain high and dry.

Under normal conditions, the water in Idaho's pool is kept at 72 degrees Fahrenheit, and the pool room at 82 degrees. Present allotments which can keep the water some place in the low fifties and the room temperature only slightly higher make it necessary to keep the "Pool Closed" sign on the door.

This is bad news for Coach Anderson because he has had over 20 candidates training regularly and had hopes of fielding a strong team. Among those he has cited as showing up well in the early workouts are: Jim Crockett, Gene Pflug, George Vajda, Bert and Dean Dennison, Andy Hamilton, Charles Horning, Reuben Johnson, Neal Rowe, Ralph Sleep, Zeke Smith, C. E. Clark, Kent Wilson, A. L. Becker, and Jim Farmer.
