

During the two weeks that the legislature has been in session in Boise, no school bills have been introduced — but announcement was made recently that legislators are "cooking" and a bill to grant independence to the southern branch of the university will not be on ice much longer.

Spokesmen said the bill will make it possible for the Peabody school to grant bachelor degrees in liberal arts — if passed, will answer a question commonly facing our elected representatives. If the legislators pass the bill, several of the recommendations presented in the Peabody Survey will have been legally carried out. Idahoans will then be supporting two four-year schools as is the situation in nearby states. Snuff said.

In the past, this recommendation has been perennially presented and perennially rejected. The results of this year's political haggling will indicate the real strength of the Peabody Report and interest in educational welfare for Idaho students.

Governor to Speak
Other news from Southern Idaho indicates that Gov. C. A. Robins will present his views on educational and budgetary problems to the legislature this week. Jason, therefore, recommends that students check the daily papers for latest reports on the immediate future of the university. These will be found in the columns spreading the word about the amount of money appropriated for the school.

New Campaign
As part of the general movement for advancement of the university, the school of business administration Chamber of Commerce has started passing the hat. These students, in order to aid expansion of facilities here, have begun a campaign to solicit donations for radio station KUOI.

With the money gained the station can record programs put on by the departments of music and speech, and make transcriptions. They can buy popular records and better equipment so that KUOI can function more exactly as the students wish. In return, the station will then be able to effectively advertise for the university.

If each hall and house arranges for its members to contribute from 5 to 25 cents or so, the amount of cold cash gained would be enough to start immediate expansion of the station.

Men Will Attend Commerce Dinners

Ten members of the university school of business Chamber of Commerce will attend dinners of the Moscow senior and junior Chambers of Commerce this week.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Founder's day dinner will be held Thursday at the Farmer's club with four members of the university Chamber of Commerce board of directors in attendance.

Glen W. Putnam, Leonard H. Bielenberg, Maurice David, Edgar R. Rye and Robert F. Dominick will go to the Senior Chamber of Commerce dinner Wednesday at 12 noon in the Moscow hotel.

James Defenbach, Joe Pickard, Egbert S. Pickard, Allen Twitchell and John Bacon will attend the Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner on the same day at John's cafe.

IRC Holds Election Thursday Evening

International Relations club will meet Thursday in the Student Union lounge to discuss constitutional changes and to elect new officers. Plans and ideas for continuation of the club meeting will be revealed.

During the first semester the group has met Thursday evenings at 7 p.m. but the council will welcome the suggestion of a more convenient meeting time. All interested students are urged to attend.

Dr. Berry To Speak

Dr. Ray M. Berry, professor of secondary education, will present information on the Peabody educational survey at a special meeting of the Historical club Friday.

Members and others interested in reviewing the Peabody survey will meet then at 2:30 p.m. in the Historical club rooms downstairs in the public library.

Singers Rehearse For Roles In Musical Comedy

Long hours of work, both during the week and on week ends, are rapidly shaping up "Sing, Sing, Sing," the original musical comedy to be produced for the first time on the Idaho stage February 27 and 28 and March 1. Daily rehearsals of the principals are taking place under the direction of Jean Collette, director of dramatics; and a crew call during the last week end got work under way on the set.

The Vandaleers, from whom the chorus is drawn, have been issued scores for some of the chorus numbers and have tried them out in one rehearsal. They will concentrate on the musical comedy immediately after their presentation of "Elijah."

Principals whose roles call for singing are rehearsing their musical numbers under direction of Hall Macklin and Robert Walls. Wide variety features the music of the show, which will include intricate choral numbers, novelty numbers, love songs, and even boogie woogie.

Dance Routines
Each of the four scenes will contain at least one dance routine. Patti Utgard of the women's physical education department will choose and direct the dancing chorus.

Singers will be accompanied by a specially selected pit orchestra, which will start rehearsals in the near future. Those in the orchestra are: violins—Walt Smith (concert master), Jo Anne Elam, Margaret Spring, Irene Brewster; cello—Maurice Ritchey; bass—Mary Sue Tovey; flute—Ruth Anderson; clarinet—Bill Barnes, Shirley Oakley; trumpets—Sig Norman, Earl Spencer; trombone—Don McKinley; percussion—Don Singer; piano—Hall Macklin.

Macklin made all musical arrangements for the orchestra and is coaching the orchestra in its preliminary rehearsals. Also assisting at the piano is Rose Ascuaga, regular accompanist for the Vandaleers.

A high spot in the preparations will be the first continuity rehearsal scheduled for February 12. At that time the entire show will be put together for the first time. It will be the first opportunity for principals to hear the full chorus numbers, and for the chorus to get a "look at" what happens when they are offstage. At the present phase of preparations, activities are split up into seven parts—all going on simultaneously at different places—rehearsal of principals in speaking parts, musical rehearsal for principals, chorus rehearsals, dance rehearsals, work on the set, work on the costumes, and orchestra rehearsals.

ROTC Reinstates Summer Camp

The war department order discontinuing ROTC summer camps during the war has been rescinded, and advanced ROTC students at the University of Idaho will again go to camp this year, Col. B. H. Hensley, commandant of the university training unit, announced today.

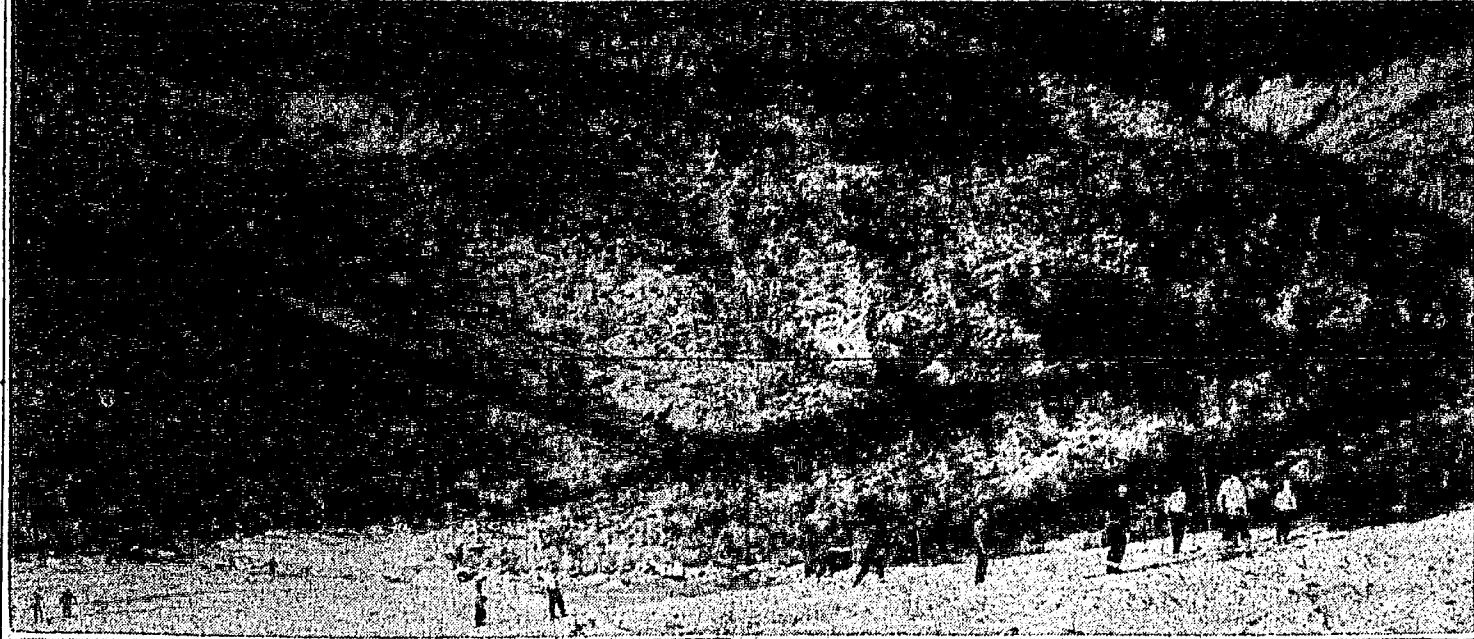

The encampments, as in pre-war years, will be for six weeks for ROTC students between their junior and senior years. Idaho students, who generally went to Fort Wright in Spokane when it was an infantry post, will leave for Fort Lewis, Wash., in June.

This year's students will have a financial edge over their predecessors of pre-war years. During the six-week period, the students receive the pay of a regular army private, which has now been boosted to $75 a month. The students also receive five cents a mile for travel from the school to the camp and return.

Staff Sets Deadline

Presidents of all honorary societies and clubs whose pictures have not been scheduled must arrange immediately with the Gem for pictures to be taken. Lists of officers and members of groups whose pictures have been taken must be submitted to the Gem office by Thursday to appear in the annual.

The Idaho Argonaut

Slopes of the ski hill on university-owned land are shown in the top picture, as sports fans turned out in large numbers to test their ability Sunday. Opening day for the Vandal Ski Lodge meant that students like those shown at left toasted their feet, drank coffee, and discussed recent spills as they sat near the fireplace in the lodge. At right, two members of the Ski club glide through the entrance gates which set the sports area apart from adjacent terrain.

Seniors To Meet, Discuss Plans Of Annual Week

With plans speeding ahead for Senior Week, slated for February 12-15, committee chairmen this week called meetings of their student members to make additional arrangements for the annual festivities. Under the direction of Adair Hilligoss, general chairman, and Betty Ann Craggs, assistant chairman, all committee members will meet tomorrow at 4 p.m. The gathering, which will take only a short time, will assemble in the ballroom of the student union building.

Marina Dochios, with Stuart Blackwell, will be in charge of decorations. On this committee are Joe Walsh, Bob McLaughlin, Dick Anderson, Mary Lou Scott, Rex Fox, and Harlow McKinney.

Ticket sales are under the direction of Bill Campbell, while programs will be handled by Glen Nogle, with Joyce McMahon as his assistant.

Dan Wakely is chairman of the publicity committee, with Romaine Galey assisting him. Other members of the committee are Leigh Steele, John Hornback, Louise Schlegel, Ray Brookhart, Ray Broadhead, Jim McClure, and Keith Boyington.

Moss Is Chairman
Special events committee chairman is Bob Moss, and Virginia Geddes will be his assistant. On this committee are Bob Pypier, Nancy Pilchard, and Dona Harding.

Head of the dance committee is Boyd Hansen, assisted by Mary Stanek. Dick Harland, chairman, and Ruth Gochour, assistant, are heads of a committee, but its function cannot be revealed until a later date.

Supervising work on Senior Week are the class officers: John Krier, president; George Walsh, vice president; Zelza Hodge, secretary; and Don Hyder, treasurer.

Winter Sports Area Open After Wartime Delay

A housewarming Sunday at the ski grounds culminated several weeks of student effort to develop a "Collegiate Sun Valley" on the 6895 acres of university-owned land in the Moscow Mountain experimental forest.

Students danced in the reconverted lodge, a former CCC building. In addition to small stoves, a large open fireplace constructed by students heated the large rooms.

To date the workers have succeeded in clearing two 300-yard slopes for slalom and downhill skiing and a gas motor operated ski tow is ready for use. Future work plans, according to Ski club president Jack Numbers, include clearing longer ski runs.

"Building this year is only temporary," reported George Green, athletic director, who also said that a long range program for building "one of the finest recreational areas" is now being considered.

Work on the area, located 17 miles from Moscow, received impetus earlier this year when university funds were allocated for improvements. The sum was in excess of the amount requested by students and the athletic department and also brought President Buchanan's assurance that he was behind the project.

Original plans to build the area began in 1941, when Darroch Crookes, nationally known skier and Sun Valley representative, made a ground and aerial survey of the region. Work on the area was interrupted by World War II. Following his possibility Crookes reported the possibility of clearing a 1300-yard downhill course.

Snowfall in a normal year is five to six feet in the canyons below the present lodge, and less than a mile from the building the snowfall averages one foot. Ice of skating thickness on the two ponds is available 90 days of the average year.

Plans to replace the present lodge call for one or two buildings to be built from natural timber and stone of the area. The new site would be near the ski runs and ponds on a bench overlooking a play field.

Shutter box addicts for the Gem of the Mountains will meet today at 4:30 p.m. in the Gem office. All photographers for the yearbook must be present.

WSC Team Wins Inland Empire Debate Tourney

Washington State college pocketed forensic honors over the week-end when their team, composed of Ralph Wood and Bill Aiken, remained undefeated after five rounds of debate and took laurels for winning the annual Inland Empire debate tournament held here Friday and Saturday.

Dr. A. E. Whitehead, university debate coach, presented the trophy Saturday afternoon to the WSC duo who were coached by W. H. Veatch. The trophy had formerly been in Idaho's possession. The Washington debaters were the only team out of 29 to have the record of five winning rounds.

Idaho's record was four wins with one defeat. Richard Boren, David Weeks, Robert Rigtrup, and Thomas Rigby represented Idaho in the tournament for freshmen and sophomore men and women and were successful in winning four debates from WSC, three from Montana and one from Gonzaga. However, each team lost one to the winning WSC pair. Several of the university's debaters were eliminated from the tourney because of illness.

Idaho High in Percentage
Idaho was high in the percentage of debates won and Gonzaga was second. This gave Idaho debaters 24 victories in 31 starts so far this season. The loss ended a winning streak for Boren and Weeks in which they racked up twelve straight victories.

The tournament was held in the Administration building. Following team registration two rounds of debate were run off Friday evening and three rounds completed the contest Saturday afternoon.

Each school furnished a judge.

Dance To Be Held For KUOI Funds

An open house and mixer to provide funds for purchasing new equipment for radio station KUOI is being sponsored by the school of business administration chamber of commerce February 3. Donations for this purpose will be solicited starting today. Students who contributed to the fund will receive yellow tags stating "I Donated to KUOI" to wear at the dance.

Music Dept. To Present 'Elijah' Thursday Evening

Presentation of the oratorio "Elijah" will take prominence among campus events Thursday evening in the university auditorium where the music department will sponsor the program. Curtain time is 8 p. m. and Alvah Beecher will conduct.

In addition to eight soloists, the Vandaleers and the University Singers will participate in the program. Genevieve Valerio, Pat Jordan, and Marilyn Clark were selected as soprano soloists and Betty Betts, Lalene Cargill and Madelyn Sanberg are the contralto voices which will be heard.

Tenor soloists will be Robert Walls and Delmer Bodker, while baritone roles will be taken by Norman Logan and John Hans. Gloria Raye and Hall Macklin are pianist and organist, respectively.

Four Couples Win In Final Bridge Tourney

Results of the final round of the intercollegiate bridge tournament played Sunday afternoon were announced yesterday by Jack Gray, student activities board chairman.

The four winning couples and their final scores are as follows: Dick Newport and Don Ogsbury, 258 points; Allen Stanley and Jack Ogsbury, 257 points; Jean Harmon and Steve Bisline, 256.5 points; Ed Greef and Bud Creighton, 252.5 points.

Other total scores are Fred Meech and Ken McCormack, 248; Sam Kaufman and Sumner Johnson, 245.5; Donna Trueblood and Joan Clark, 243; Bob Leeper and Tom Tudder, 239.5; Bill Andrews and John Feldhuson, 232; Don Howard and Jack Clark, 219; Mary Beth Garretson and Bob Kohls, 218; Dan O'Connell and Francis Auer, 199.5; Ray Brookhart and Dick Harland, 199.5.

Inter Area Tourney
There will be change of partners for the play-by-mail tournament in which the eight winners will contest sometime in the next few weeks. The contest will be held with 45 other institutions in this area.

Three rounds have been played in the tournament in order to eliminate all but four couples. Scores for the second round, held Saturday afternoon, are Stanley and Ogsbury, 113; Newport and (Cont. on page 4, col. 7)

Students To Hear Jonathan Daniels

Jonathan Daniels, former press secretary of President F. D. Roosevelt, will speak to Idaho students and faculty members Wednesday at 11 a. m. in the Memorial gymnasium.

Shortened morning classes, 35 minutes in length, will enable students to attend the talk which is being presented as the third public events assembly of the year. Daniels will speak on the subject, "Spotlight on Washington."

Author of "A Southerner Discovers the South," "A Southerner Discovers New England," and "Tar Heel," Daniels began his journalistic career as a police reporter, later serving as a correspondent in Washington.

On Fortune Staff
A member of the editorial staff of Fortune magazine, he had previously traveled through France, Germany, and Italy. In 1942 he was called to Washington again to assume the position of assistant director of the Office of Civilian Defense. After holding this position for a year, Daniels was appointed administrative assistant to the President, and in 1945 was named press secretary by Roosevelt. He held this position for a short time under President Truman.

Ag Honorary Holds Annual Banquet

Members of Alpha Zeta, agricultural honorary, held their annual initiation banquet Friday evening at the Moscow hotel. Gerald Chapman, chancellor, acted as toastmaster, and D. R. Theophilus, dean of the college of agriculture, spoke on "What Have You Gotten Out of College." Musical numbers on the Spanish guitar by Joe Hopper entertained the members and those who were initiated in November.

The banquet was delayed due to difficulties in finding an open date on the hotel's crowded banquet schedule.

DAMES CLUB TO MEET

Officers will be elected and installed at a meeting of the Dames club Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Faculty club house. It was necessary to change the date of the meeting, previously scheduled for Wednesday, because of the basketball game.

KUOI NEWS

KUOI will begin broadcasting from its new studio in the engineering annex building shortly after the start of the second semester.

New tubular steel furniture has been purchased for the new studio and a new carpet will be installed to aid the soundproofing.

The station manager has announced that the Jayvee preliminary basketball games with the Moscow All-stars and the Coeur d'Alene All-stars will be broadcast tonight and tomorrow night.

Glenn Southworth won the $10 gift record prize for contributing the new title of the Monday afternoon request program. The new title is "Yours for the Asking."

Comparison between the ten most popular songs here on the campus and the favorites throughout the country shows a close correlation. Normally, about seven or eight of the tunes that land on the national hit parade are also listed among the top ten on the Campus Hit Parade and their relative placings are surprisingly similar.

Notable exceptions to this are such songs as "Zippey Doo Dah" and "The Whole World Is Singing My Song" which have been among the top ten nationally but students on the campus have never listed them among their ten favorites.

The present Campus Hit Parade standings are as follows: 1. "For Sentimental Reasons," 2. "Oh, But I Do," 3. "A Gal In Calico," 4. "The Old Lamp Lighter," 5. "Ole Butter Milk Sky," 6. "You Keep Coming Back Like a Song," 7. "September Song," 8. "The Things We Did Last Summer," 9. "If I'm Lucky," 10. "The Girl That I Marry."

The Campus Hit Parade, conducted and broadcast under the direction of Orval Hansen and Wayne Tripp, is now a full 45 minute program presented every Friday evening at seven. The ten top tunes are selected as a result of a weekly house-to-house poll of all the living groups on the campus.

Campus Coeds Give Opinions On Winter Snowball Battles

Snow fight time has rolled around again, the limping coeds and battered fellows lead the inquiring reporter to ask this question of campus freshmen:

"What do you think of snow fights and their effects on the condition of the women of your group?"

In reply, a Theta freshman, Bette Ann McCune said, "I think that they're a lot of fun. The girls usually end up all wet, but I think that we do as much damage to the men as they do to us."

Concerning Ridenbaugh hall students, said Jo Ford, "I think they're good sport, but as far as the condition of the girls goes, they don't fare so well. Just ask the girl who got a broken rib for her efforts—No her name isn't for publication."

The Pi Phis were caught just after a fight with the Fijis and the comment of freshman Loreta Martindale was, "What a time to ask. We just finished one. All in all they're kinda fun, but one washing of your face in snow is quite enough. You might call it a kind of refreshing conditioner, but how fresh can you get?"

All's well that ends well and to prove it, Sally Norris of the Tri-Delts said, "We liked the last one that we had with the ATOs. We had one black eye and some bad bruises but everyone was intact enough to go to the Bucketer after it for cokes, etc. All in all, the boys were really chivalrous. After they'd knocked you down, trampled you and generally committed mayhem, they picked you up so they could knock you down again."

The inexperienced Alpha Phis (little knowing what they're asking for) are in favor of having one, said Beverly Randall, "We haven't had one yet but we're in favor of them. I think that most of the girls are. Sometimes they're pretty rough but they're pretty nice, I think."

Betty Hooper of Hays hall might advise them with her answer, "They're really fun, if the boys take what the girls dish out and vice versa. The condition of the girls over here is fine—just two injuries, one sprained ankle and a sprained knee."

Alpha Chi's Pat Budge adds a poignant note with, "They're awfully rough but I think they're fun. As far as conditioning, it kinda puts our girls in a bad way."

Jean Wimer of Forney hall, expressed her favor of the arduous sport. "I'm personally all for them. I don't think the girls get too battered. Nothing serious, at any rate, just bruises and a few broken bones, here and there."

Agreeing with Jean is Gamma Phi Erlene Bell who said, "Snow fights? I think they're fun. A few batterings and bruises—just good clean fun!"

Kappa Kappa Gamma's Janet Mackey bemoaned the fate of women's attractiveness. Said she "I think it's kinda hard on the girls, but fun. I sure hate to look in a mirror when I get done, though!"

DG Sue Beardley has another gripe against them. "They're colder than the devil (the snow fights that is). I don't think they affect the condition of the girls much, but they are kinda fun!"

Despite injuries suffered by Idaho coeds, they still turn out for them every year, so it would seem that the snow-in-the-face treatment was a beneficial one to the university women's humor. Ducking another snow ball, the inquiring reporter will hibernate 'till another year and more snow-fights.

Jones Composes Pep Band Music

Gay Jones, one of the outstanding composers of the northwest, has accepted the writing of the theme music for the forthcoming pep band show, according to Jack Furey, director.

Recently announced by President J. E. Buchanan following approval by the board of regents, the new division was created in the belief that greater benefits would be derived if all such services were coordinated and directed under a central office.

In the field of non-resident instruction, the aim will be to provide timely correspondence courses for residents of the state as well as students needing credits for graduation, and to develop extension instruction in various centers in the state where demand exists.

Plans for expansion of placement service includes the collection of records of every graduate desiring employment, as well as the contacting of industrial firms, and employers throughout the state to learn of available positions.

Employers will also be encouraged to visit the campus and become acquainted with department heads. Deans and department heads will be given opportunity to recommend candidates for positions.

Because of the demand for faculty members as speakers throughout the state, this office will provide a list of qualified speakers and will schedule forums in centers of the state at which speakers will appear under the auspices of the university.

Plays Available. Approximately 3,500 plays contained in the library of the dramatics department will be made available on request through this office to schools, service clubs, Granges, and other organizations for program material.

In the interest of audio-visual education, the development of university film service for organizations and schools throughout the state as well as students is the primary objective.

Vandals Host To Ducks Tonight, First Of Two Game Series

Hope Remains For Idaho To Emerge From Cellar

NORTHERN DIVISION STANDINGS

Team	W.	L.	Pct.	PP	PA
Oregon State	4	0	1.000	236	172
Washington	4	2	.667	340	286
Washington State	4	3	.571	307	340
Oregon	1	3	.250	219	235
IDAHO	0	5	.000	205	274

It is "now or never" for Idaho's basketball Vandals as they entertain a rumored strong University of Oregon quintet in a two-game series tonight and tomorrow night. The Vandals can climb out of the Northern Division cellar this week if they are able to emerge from the series with two wins. By winning both of these games with the Ducks the Vandals would move up one slot in the division standings and shove the Oregon quintet to the bottom of the heap.

The Ducks come to Vandalville with a not to impressive record of three defeats against one victory. Two of Oregon's defeats, however, came at the hands of the league-leading Oregon State Beavers, and Vandal Coach Guy Wicks regards the Ducks as a dangerous outfit. Oregon also split a two game series with the Washington State Cougars.

Starting Lineup
Wicks, who has been jumbling combinations all year trying to find a winning quintet, announced a revised starting line-up for tonight's game with the Ducks. Leading Vandal scorers, Johnny Evans and Fred Quinn will start at the forward posts for the Vandals. Between the two of them, they have scored 95 points of the Vandals' total 205 points to date. Both played good ball in last week's games with the Washington Huskies.

At the guard posts, Wicks will open with Bill Carbaugh, who is playing his second season as a regular starter, and John Taylor, who earned his starting post in the Washington series last week. Jay Gano, six-foot three-inch center, will star at the pivot post for the Idaho squad.

Guard Sparks Attack
Oregon's versatile coach, Howard "Hobby" Hobson is expected to throw a formidable array of players at the Vandals tonight, led by diminutive guard Stan Williamson. Williamson stands only five-foot, seven inches tall. At the other guard spot, Hobson is expected to open with veteran letterman Al Poplick.

Forward Kenny Hays and Ed Dick and Center Roger Wiley will complete the rest of the Duck's starting line-up. Hays and Wiley, both former lettermen for Oregon, stand over the six-foot, five-inch mark.

After their series with the Vandals in Memorial gymnasium Tuesday and Wednesday nights, the traveling Oregonians will move to Pullman for a series with Washington State Friday and Saturday nights.

Swimmers To Meet WSC Natators Again Saturday

The University of Idaho swimming team is now busily preparing for its oncoming return match with the Washington State mermen next Saturday in Pullman. The Idaho team suffered an overwhelming 66 to 9 defeat at the hands of the Cougars last Saturday but, according to Swim Coach Don Anderson, should be in better shape by next Saturday and will make it a little tougher for the Cougars.

The summary of last Saturday's meet is as follows:
300-yard medley relay: first, W.S.C. (Calderson, Fuller and Nelson); second, Idaho; time 3:35.5.
200-yard free style: first, Ramsbottom, W.S.C.; second, Canning, W.S.C.; third, Kummer, Idaho; time 2:34.5.
50-yard free style: first, Campbell, W.S.C.; second, Werner, W.S.C.; third, Anderson, Idaho; time 26.1.
Diving: first, Vawter, W.S.C.; second, Shattuck, W.S.C.; third, Bishop, Idaho; fourth, Farmer, Idaho.
100-yard free style: first, DeVleming, W.S.C.; second, Rohrs, W.S.C.; third, Kummer, Idaho; time 59.8.
50-yard backstroke: first, Nelson, W.S.C.; second, Johnson, Idaho; third, Pearson, W.S.C.; time 2:04.4.
200-yard breaststroke: first, Fuller, W.S.C.; second, Goodfellow, W.S.C.; third, Wilson, Idaho; time 2:54.1.
400-yard free style: first, Canning, W.S.C.; second, Palmer, W.S.C.; third, Bishop, Idaho; time 5:46.5.
50-yard free style relay: first, W.S.C. (Rohrs, Werner, Campbell and DeVleming); second, Idaho; time 3:58.8.

Hoopmen Continue Intramural Basketball Games

In an announcement today, Leon Green, intramural director stated that members of "A" basketball squads would be held ineligible for "B" ball.

Intramural basketball began last Thursday and more games are on schedule for this week. Vets team two defeated a game Idaho club by a close margin, 38 to 36, with Aldred ringing the backboard for 15 points for the Vets. Carter was high for the losers with 13. Idaho club came back in the second game to avenge the loss sustained by their second team overcoming Vets team one by virtue of a 29 to 20 score.

After playing on even terms during the first half, the Campus club one found themselves and won going away from Chrisman hall team one, 27-15. Gill's 9 markers were high for the Campus club. The Campus club two vs. Chrisman hall team two contest was postponed, but shall be played at a later date.

Lindley hall team one stayed on even terms with Willis Sweet hall team one during most of the first period, but Willis Sweet pulled away in the remaining minutes and established a lead that was never threatened; final score, 33-25. Hoffman paced Lindley hall with 14, while Price loomed in 11 for the winners. Making a clean sweep, Willis Sweet hall team two, with DeLay pouring in 17 big points, thoroughly trounced Lindley hall team two, 56-20.

Colleges Appoint Gridiron Heads

Football partially stole the spotlight from basketball last week as three leading universities changed head football coaches. The Universities of Oregon, Alabama and Mississippi all saw a reversal of gridiron mentors.

In Eugene James W. Aiken, football coach and director of athletics at the University of Nevada since 1939, found himself named head football coach at the University of Oregon to succeed Gerald A. (Tex) Oliver.

In the deep South, Alabama named one of its former assistant coaches, Harold Drew, to succeed ailing Frank Thomas. Meanwhile the University of Mississippi gave line coach John H. Vaught a four-year contract. Vaught replaced Harold Drew who was hired as head coach at the University of Alabama.

Students and fans on the University of Idaho campus are now awaiting the appointment of a head football coach for the Vandals. Participate in school activities.

Bill Carbaugh Is Top Guard On Idaho Squad

Perhaps the only shining light in the dark gloom of the cellar-dwelling Vandals is the stand-out playing of diminutive Bill Carbaugh.

His bullet-like passing, tricky dribbling, and fine defensive play mark him as one of the best guards in the Northern division circuit.

Nor is basketball the only sport in which he stars; he is a pitcher on the Vandal's baseball team. In 1945, he batted a hefty .360 average and led the team in five other departments, which adds up to nifty hitting in any league, especially for a pitcher.

Back to basketball, Bill is famous for his horizontal pot shots which he southpaws straight and true. It was this brand of ball that earned him All-city honors, while sparking his team at Gonzaga high in Spokane.

Like his best friend, Jeff Overholser, Bill is somewhat of an Izaak Walton with a fly rod. Between the two of them, they know the whereabouts of more good fishing lakes in northern Idaho than most old sourdoughs.

On crisp November mornings they can be seen coming out of the Sigma Nu house bright and early in the morning, donned in red shirts and hats, climbing into Bill's car and heading toward the hills in quest of game. And they seldom come back empty-handed.

This is Bill's last year in school, and this scribe wishes him a continuation of fine ball-handling for the remainder of the hoop season.

unpredictable Cougars; and if they are looking for the impossible, they will pick our Vandals to sneak in by winning their remaining 11 games.

Vandal Boxers Thump Gonzaga Bulldogs

The Idaho Vandal boxing squad started the 1947 intercollegiate boxing season with a bang by defeating the Gonzaga Bulldogs, five bouts to three, Friday evening in Spokane. Included in the card were two exhibition bouts, one ending in a draw, and Gonzaga gaining the decision on the other.

In the first bout of the evening, Gonzaga's Art Neumayer knocked out Idaho's Ken Clark in the second round. Clark and Neumayer, both in the featherweight division, were fighting on even terms during the first half of the first round, but Neumayer gained the advantage towards the latter half. In the second round Neumayer pressed his advantage with hard left and right hooks to the head.

In the 130 pound class, Dorset McClure lost a close decision to Dick Dulanty of the Bulldogs in the next bout. In the third round Dulanty's nose began to bleed. McClure's constant left jab. Neither batter was ever in serious trouble and both put up a good fight, making it tough for the judges to make their decision.

First Win
Ray Engerson put Idaho on the winning column in the third bout by gaining a clear cut decision over Les Scott of Gonzaga in the 135 pound division. Engerson was the aggressor for three rounds, and at several times staggered his opponent with well placed head and body blows.

Pacific coast champion Bill Williams copped the next bout for the Vandals by defeating Bob Latendresse in the 145 pound weight division. Latendresse suffered hard body blows at the hands of Williams during the first and second rounds and hit the canvas for the nine count in the third. The fifth bout was an exhibition.

Ski Captain

As much as home on skis as shoes is Jack Numbers, McCall, captain of Idaho's ski team and president of the ski club which recently opened its ski lodge on Moscow mountain.

Opposition Looks A Little Rougher For Jayvee Team

Coach Steve Belko asserted today that his Jayvees would have their hands full when they tackle the Moscow All-Stars and the Coeur d'Alene All-stars here tonight and tomorrow night.

The Moscow team is studded with many stars of yesteryear who played in the Northern division conference, among them, Rook Hilton, six foot nine inch center who paced the Vandals in 1938 through 1942, and Tony Romano, six foot six inch guard at Oregon State for three years. Ted Thompson, Vondy Hopkins, and Dick Sodorff, all pre-war lettermen at Idaho, round out the squad.

Like the Moscow quintet, the Coeur d'Alene All-stars also boast a couple of former greats, Sid Naslund, who sparked Eastern Washington at Cheney from 1938 to 1941 and Dean Hall (all-state center), Minnesota freshman star.

OSC Will Not Have A Boxing Team

Oregon State college athletic officials have cancelled a boxing meet with the University of Idaho which was scheduled to take place here, February 20th. Graduate Manager Gale L. Mix, Idaho, said yesterday he had received word from Corvallis that Oregon State would not participate in either intercollegiate boxing or wrestling this season.

The Oregon State report halted Idaho plans for a wrestling meet with the Beavers this season.

If all students who sleep in class were laid end to end—they would be comfortable.

The eighth bout of the evening was a close one taken by Fat Tacka of the Bulldogs over Howard Morton of the Vandals in the 165 pound-weights. Morton's nose began to bleed in the second, giving Tacka the decision.

Scores Knockout
Newly elected Vandal boxing squad captain Laune Erickson, knocked out Paul Gilcrest in one minute and one second of the first round. Erickson threw a hard straight right to Gilcrest's jaw, which sent Gilcrest to the canvas for the count of ten. Both batters tipped the scales at 175 pounds.

In the heavyweight division, Larry Hansen of the Vandals won a T.K.O. over Don Jaborra. The fight was stopped in the second round as Hansen was putting the finish to his opponent. Jaborra started the fight off aggressively, which proved to be his downfall. Hansen, being the better counter-puncher of the two, easily caught him with lefts and rights to the face as he bore in.

The Vandal boxing crew is now preparing for their next meet, which will be held January 31, in Moscow. Opposing the Vandal mittmen will be their near-by rivals, Washington State.

To All Barnyard Commandos:

WHEREAS, We, the members of that most honorable of all associations, Bench and Bar, for some time past have been bothered by a most peculiar rodent, to-wit: The Text Book Farmer. This creature, easily recognized by the overpowering stench that is peculiar to its ilk, has lately become even more obnoxious than before, to the extent of crawling out from under the horse barn, the sheep corrals, etc., to pluck at the clean coat tails of the honorable attorneys, all the while discoursing in some curious mumbo-jumbo language that is reminiscent of the wailing of new born lambs, love-sick bulls and sad sheep.

With the aid of a translator, two war surplus gas masks and a gallon of DDT, it was possible to approach close enough to the lowly plagues and worms that crawled out of the stinking muck to hear their pleas. They beg that the scheduled Tug-of-War be postponed until after examinations.

At first, we were adamant and insisted that it be held on time, but the Dean of the Ag School, a most Honorable man in his own right, and who is now paying dearly for his youthful indiscretions by having to play nursemaid to a group of hog-hoppers, craved audience with the Most Honorable Dean of the Law School, and after promising to leave his straw laden boots in the corridor, was granted one.

His plea was a simple one—a request to postpone the contest between his bull-headed proteges and our distinctive and well-bred society. His reason was that the loss of the contest would cause his fragrant, smelling charges to fall into a mood depressive, and would result in the flunking out of school of all ag students. A sad thing, for the closing of the ag school would then be a thing certain.

But the goodness that is always in the hearts of the up and coming, bright eyed, clear headed young lawyers along with their strong sense of decency, prevailed and we managed to acquiesce gracefully, even as against our better judgment.

NOW, THEREFORE, to you farmers we throw the gauntlet, in consideration of our acquiescence, in this matter, insist that you pick a date immediately after you have managed to worm past the examinations and we will be more than glad to wreak upon you, your assigns and devisees the long promised beating you deserve, by overpowering you in a basketball contest.

Over 1,600 Will Participate In Intramurals This Year

Athletic-minded Idaho men will have tested their collective and individual skill in almost a dozen major and minor intramural sports by the end of the year, according to Leon Green, intramural sports director.

From early fall until late spring intramural teams, representing the campus' 20 men's living groups, veterans and town men, compete for all-university honors in six major and five minor sports. Wherever there is an open field, you will find athletes in action.

"This year between 1,600 and 1,800 university men will compete in intramurals," Green said. "This represents half of the school's enrollment and two-thirds of the men students in school this year."

Nearly a thousand athletic contests will have been run off before an all-university intramural champion is named this spring.

Even Table Tennis
Included among intramural sports are touch football, volleyball, class A basketball, swimming, softball and track, all major sports; and class B basketball, table tennis, horseshoe, golf and tennis, minor sports.

During the fall months, six touch football games are played each night on gridirons marked off on playing fields over the campus.

Double-header volleyball games are held nightly on four Memorial gymnasium courts when the "muralists move indoors at the conclusion of the touch grid season, and three double-header basketball games are in session during both class A and B campaigns.

Other sports, held at the university swimming pool and on the school's nine-hole golf course, tennis courts and numerous play fields, tax athletic facilities to the limit throughout the school year.

Staff of 20 Scorers
To conduct the intramural program, Green employs a staff of about 20 scorers and officials, who are chosen from among physical education majors and Idaho varsity athletes.

Alpha Phi Chi, an organization of intramural managers from all competing groups, works hand-in-hand with Green to draw up schedules, divide teams into leagues, and see that contests are played on schedule and "according to Hoyle."

Intramural teams are organized in two divisions, one composed of Greek-letter organizations and the other of independents. These divisions, in turn, are divided into leagues. Winners of league competition compete for division honors and intramural points, which are tabulated to determine the organization which will be awarded the large intramural trophy for the year.

Members of university varsity teams are ineligible for intramural competition, and lettermen and professionals are not allowed to

Lewiston Is Scene Of Annual Debate

The annual triangular debate series will be held at Lewiston February 15, according to Dr. A. E. Whitehead, Idaho debate coach. Representatives from Washington State college, Lewiston, Normal and Idaho will enter the tournament.

Idaho has won the trophy presented by the Lewiston chamber of commerce for two consecutive years, and one more Idaho victory will give the Gem campus complete possession of the cup.

Honorary Holds Tea For Frosh Women

Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary for freshmen women attaining 3.5 grade averages, held their annual formal tea at Forney hall Sunday afternoon.

Guests of honor were Dean Louise S. Carter, Mrs. Catherine Chrisman, and Mrs. William Boyer, faculty advisor.

Jeanette Jensen, president, was in charge of arrangements with Jeanne Hofmann and Gerry Simons in charge of refreshments and decorations.

In 1933, 17 students from Persia attended this university.
