Regents To Hear From Exec Board On New SUB Funds

A quorum of the ASUI Executive Board voted unanimously Tuesday to recommend to the university Board of Regents that funds accruing from the payment of student fees be applied to planning and erection of a new student union building. Outstanding bonds on the Memorial gymnasium will be retired on April 1.

Included in the business of the regular board meeting was a decision to appoint a new Student Activities Board by choosing five members from each list of recommendations submitted by the two major political parties. The old board, headed by Chairman Jack Gray, was dissolved at the end of regulation. The new board will be selected at the next meeting of the Executive Board.

A motion was made and passed to send two members of the student body to a congress of Northwestern colleges to be held early next month. The congress will convene at Reed college in Portland to discuss and make recommendations on current political and social problems. The International Relations club has been asked to submit a number of proposed delegates from which two will be chosen.

Plans for the election of associated student officers were discussed, but no polling date was released by the chairman.

ASUI President Norman Fredrick, J. T. Peterson, Walt Smith, Don Anderson, Bob McLaughlin, Sylvan Jeppesen, Ann Price, Boyd Hansen, Dr. H. W. Steffens, faculty advisor, and Gale Mix, graduate manager, were present. Those absent were Geraldine Merrill, Frances Rhea, and Ethel Jane Kopelman, Associated Women Students representative.

Air Probe Deemed Worthy

Demands for funds by various departments of the federal administration are too often "padded" and needless, but the recent request by the Civil Aeronautics Administration is both necessary and urgent. The recent private plane and transport crashes which have often made headlines in the winter's newspapers testify to the fact that new safety methods and devices to be used in air transportation are essential to the nation's welfare, no matter what the cost.

During the congressional investigation of air disasters, which incidentally is still being conducted, CAA officials declared that budgeteers and economizing congressmen have slashed their $113,980,000 appropriation far too liberally for plane-passengers' good. Communication stations and control towers were discontinued this year simply because there wasn't enough money to keep operating them.

The United States prides itself on its economic and social developments. Americans are fond of telling the rest of the world that they are first in automobile production, agricultural advancements, sports attendance, and the like. Consequently U. S. citizens boast about their airlines, their aircraft, and their "short snorters."

Should we take a back seat in air transport and passenger service merely because the saving of a few dollars is affected by limiting the functions of federal air administration? Progress is always halted by penny-pinching—sooner or later even citizens of the "hustling" U. S. A. will lose their nerve and refuse to travel by air if the break-neck staccato of plane crashes continues throughout the country.

We are glad to see this certain foible in governmental circles finally come to light. We feel that one congressional investigation, at least, is going to do some good. —S.H.G.

TIPS FOR VETS

By GEORGE

The recommendation of the "I-Vets" for an increase of 33 1/3 per cent in teachers' salaries shows the demand prevailing for a high type of instruction. After reading headlines of Idaho faculty members resigning for higher pay elsewhere almost regularly in this paper the recommendation pleased the reader's eyes when he read of it in last week's issue. No one can blame the faculty for leaving. The classes are enormous requiring extra work of the profs, who are in many instances veterans themselves, and who perform these extra duties on the same salary they got before the war. It will take the proposed increase if Idaho is even to come out on a par with neighboring states. The increase asked of the Idaho legislature now amounting to 20 per cent would still put us behind other states for they are asking their legislatures for still higher pay.

The fact that the university receives an allotment from uncle reaching in the seventh number each semester should prompt the state legislature to match this allotment in some higher degree. The federal government is doing its share in giving veterans the education they were promised while fighting the war and it will soon be determined what action the state government will take. It's probably a good thing that Idaho veterans are not able to go to other state schools because of crowded conditions or Idaho might find even a higher percentage of its students leaving the state for higher education. Some states even provide a state fund for veterans who are attending colleges who need emergency funds, while others are giving bonuses and other aid. Idaho's legislature is hard at work on the problems facing our school and it will soon be a matter of record which course the university will follow.

CLASS CAN'T MAKE A DIME A trend of the times is indicated by the results of some imaginary speculation carried on recently by a journalism class. Thirteen students "bought" stock, held it three weeks, and sold it. All but two "lost" money.

Alumni Support Budget Request

Interest in helping the university has increased in meetings of the Idaho Alumni association, says James Lyle, alumni secretary.

In a meeting in Coeur d'Alene Tuesday, eighty alumni were present to discuss what could be done. Sandpoint, Kellogg, Wallace, and Priest River were represented. Helen Rice and John Hans, music majors, presented musical selections.

Nearly 75 members were present at a meeting in Nez Perce Saturday when Louise Miller and Marilyn Clark, also music majors, entertained. A resolution was passed to ask the Idaho legislature to act favorably on the appropriation request made by President Buchanan for the next two years.

Twenty members of the pep band played at another alumni meeting in Lewiston Wednesday, February 5. A. B. Curtis, president of the unit, asked similar resolutions from other alumni groups after the Lewiston group passed the said recommendation.

The cost of such summer sessions, including tuition, board and lodging, will approximate $40 a week at all schools. Courses are six weeks in length. Transportation and personal expenses are extra.

More Lines Form At Bookstore For Supplies

By BETTY WOOD

To look at the line of students in front of the bookstore yesterday afternoon one might think registration had only started.

All day students were pouring from the exit of the book store with their arms laden with books and supplies. The line has dwindled considerably since registration began, but the store is still overflowing with buyers. Waiting in line remains the only solution for getting books and supplies.

Approximately 2,000 veterans have acquired their supplies since the first day of registration. "An estimated amount of the average student's expenses for books is around $20 or $25 with an average of 6 or more books per student," stated Chet Kerr, manager of the book store. Law and engineering students averaged around $35 to $50.

Books, along with the students, are also pouring into the bookstore, with approximately 6,000 books still off the way. Many of the books that were ordered will not be used because of the lack of demand by students; consequently many books will remain on the bookshelves while students wait for more.

Flammables like benzene, naphtha and gasoline should not be kept in the home.

Winless Vandals Meet Cougars Minus Quinn

Wicks To Start Revamped Five

Idaho's basketball Vandals received a severe jolt this week when Coach Guy F. Wicks announced that he thought that veteran forward Fred Quinn would probably be on the sidelines for the remainder of the season because of a recurrent back injury. Quinn failed to suit up for last Saturday's game with Washington State, and Wicks expressed the belief that the all-coast star would be unable to compete in the Vandals' remaining eight conference games. This loss will hamper the Vandals' chances of crashing into the win column Saturday night in their third game with the Washington State Cougars.

Starting Five
With Quinn definitely out of the lineup for Saturday night's Cougar game, Wicks announced a revised starting quintet. At forwards the Vandals will open with leading scorer John Evans and Grant Mortensen. Towering Jack Phoenix will hold down the pivot slot. Guard Wendell Christensen will get his first starting assignment Saturday night against the Cougars with John Taylor starting at the other guard position.

With Taylor and Christensen holding starting assignments, Wicks will use Bill Carbaugh and Norman Fredelind, early season regulars, in reserve.

ATTENTION TICKET TAKERS
Be at the Gym at 5:30 Saturday for the W.S.C. basketball game.

The Cougars come to Vandalville resting in the runner-up slot in the Northern Division conference race with a creditable record of eight wins against three losses. They are at present in a current hot-streak which finds them unbeaten on their home court.

In their series of eight wins the Cougars hold three victories over Idaho, two over Washington, and three from Oregon. Since their early season tour into the Willamette Valley they are undefeated.

Cougar Coach Jack Friel is expected to open the Vandal game with the same regulars that have carried the brunt of attack for his quintet thus far this season. These include George Hamilton and Bing Dahl at guards; Gene Siverson at center; and Bob Sheridan and Ed Gayda at forwards.

Baseball Coach Guy Wicks has announced that he would like to have all pitching and catching candidates report to Memorial gymnasium on Saturday, February 8, at 1:30 p.m.

DON'T QUOTE ME

By GENE ROSE

Countless words of praise have flown around about the exploits of such court stars as Fred Quinn, Bill Carbaugh, Jack Phoenix and many others, but few fans know anything about the energetic little manager of the Idaho basketball Vandals.

Diminutive Donald (Butch) Dalberg presents a rather comical picture as he stands among the tall-timber of Vandal hoopmen. But don't let his slight stature fool you because incidents have proved that Butch can be a miniature dynamo at times. The next time you go to a Vandal basketball game, notice the antics of the little manager. Whenever a referee happens to render a rather questionable decision against the Vandals, Butch will literally leap from his position at the end of the scoring table, with a tattered score book in one hand, all of the time shaking a clenched fist high above his head and screaming unmentionables at the guileless (?) referee. Then, although still boiling with hatred for the "striped-shirt robbers," he will return to his customary seat at the scoring table and become deeply intrigued in the game until another decision arises and up he jumps to repeat the procedure.

Over at the ATO house where Butch occasionally hangs his hat he is best known for his love for good hot arguments and his ping-pong ability. If a controversial subject happens under discussion in the fraternity, chances are good that Butch's high voice will be heard far above the din of confusion. And Butch comes out on top in a majority of these arguments. As for ping-pong, there is probably no greater enthusiast for the game than Butch. He slashes and batters the ball as if he were hitting some unfortunate referee with the paddle. As the tension of the game mounts, so rises Butch's blood pressure and when the game finally ends he is almost in a complete state of exhaustion.

Butch's first love is naturally sports, which he proves by the positions he has held in Vandal athletic circles. Last year he was baseball manager for Coach Guy Wicks and this year he was the unanimous choice for the basketball manager who would make the eastern tour with the barnstorming Vandals.

Butch returned to the Idaho campus last year after spending 40 long months in the army, with the rank of a technical sergeant. Of his 40 months service, he spent 2 overseas. When May rolls around, Butch, who is a major in physical education, will add his name to the long list of prospective coaches. And the general consensus of opinion on the campus is that some school won't make a mistake if they hire Butch. Anyway, good luck to you, Butch.

Either the Board of Regents or a few footballers have made a mistake. With the failure of the board to name the new football coach for the Vandals before the end of the first semester, some athletes, already established on the gridiron, left Idaho for supposedly greener fields. Of course, maybe these athletes made the mistake because word via the grapevine indicates that the new Vandal mentor won't be a "has-been" or a "hope-to-be." This may be Idaho's last chance to climb back into big league football so let's hope that the new man will be an accomplished head.

Spring must be just around the corner for there is a notice in the paper this week for prospective baseball pitchers and catchers. Little is known of the strength of the baseball team this year but several lettermen are back from last year's squad to form the nucleus of some kind of a Vandal squad for the oncoming season.

Huskies Favored In Today's Meet

Capt. Don Anderson's swimmers will be out to defeat a highly favored University of Washington swimming team today at 8 o'clock in Memorial gymnasium.

Idaho will rely heavily on Anderson and Bishop, both of whom took two first places in the Montana meet last week. Reuben Johnson, the Idaho backstroke specialist, who made a new record for the Washington State pool in that event two weeks ago at Pullman, will also be relied on for points.

GREENE RETURNS

Athletic Director George Greene returned from an eastern coach-scouting tour yesterday with a "silence-is-golden" rule.

Greene stated only that he had interviewed prospective coaches, went as far as the Chicago and St. Louis areas in search of a coach, and that the new coach would be appointed well in advance of spring practice.

Skiers Enter In Four-Way College Meet

Ten University of Idaho skiers will participate in a four-way intercollegiate meet that is to be sponsored by Washington State college north of Pocatello Friday and Saturday.

Jack Numbers, student ski captain, announced yesterday that the Vandal ski team would be represented at this meet. Members of the Idaho team will include Numbers, Lou Berriochoa, Jack Robinson, Larry Remaklus, Don Hayes, Don Conley, Bob Jackson, Hal Crawford, Glen Kunau and possibly Bruce Hansen.

Among the colleges, Idaho, Washington, Gonzaga and Montana have already submitted entries for this meet which will feature jumping, downhill, slalom and cross country competition. No limit has been set on the number of entrants from each institution, but team scores will be determined by only the best five competitors from each school.

In the second annual running of the Paul F. Brooks giant slalom held at Bogus Basin in Boise last Sunday, the university skiers fared well. Out of the five Vandal skiers who competed, all of them finished among the top fifteen. Heading the Vandals were Jack Numbers and Larry Remaklus who finished sixth and seventh respectively.

Lou Berriochoa finished ninth; Jack Robinson, fourteenth; and Ray Watkins tied for the fifteenth slot with Bogus Basin's Ed Shafer. Watkins, however, dropped from school at the semester.

Wrestlers Answer First Ring Call

University of Idaho's wrestling coach, J. A. "Babe" Brown, handicapped by a late turnout and a lack of weight distribution in his present lineup, is working the boys overtime to whip them into shape within the next three weeks. During that time, he hopes to schedule the team's initial encounter, probably with the Cougars of Washington State.

Eleven men are going through the grunt and groan routine at present: Elton Miles, 136 pounds; James Paras, 145 pounds; James McClure, 157 pounds; Leonard Malstrom, 160 pounds; John Reeves, 167 pounds; James Day, 174 pounds; Luke Ellingson, 175 pounds; Henry Behrman, 175 pounds; Donald Ellis, 177 pounds; Ray Wood, 248 pounds; and Walter Risse.

Coach Brown issued an urgent call for more men, particularly in the lower weight divisions, since it is not probable that he will be able to schedule any meets until each weight bracket can be filled.

Jayvees Seek Win Over Strong WSC

With but two practice sessions under their belt, Coach Steve Belko's junior varsity cagers take on the Washington State Jayvees Saturday night. The baby Vandals will go into the fracas definite underdogs to their opponents who have won 12 games to date. Included in these are double wins over the Idaho boys by decisive margins.

Belko's cagers have been severely handicapped since Christmas by the lack of practice. Since that time, they have been able to work out on the average of but three times a week.

Belko was noncommittal on a starting lineup, but it was expected to include Gerold Bourland, Tom Mendola and Bill Eimers at
