According to some dateless females Jason overheard yesterday afternoon, things are looking up on the campus. It was the unanimous opinion of these individuals that a goodly portion of the males on the campus had lost their adopted home with the burning of the Sportsmen's Club, (known in some circles as Bob's Bistro) Sunday night.

Although this meaningless string of words is begun with a feeble joke, Jason regrets sincerely the disaster which destroyed the congenial business place of two good friends and former University students—Bob Hammar and Bill O'Meara.

It is an uncomfortable feeling to watch the livelihood of one's friends go up in smoke without being able to lend a hand. If you choose to reopen, Bob and Bill, more and better success to you. There are a host of friends on the campus who anxiously await the disclosure of your future plans.

Mourning Bands
The suspicions of those dateless girls are seemingly born out by the appearance in a campus cafe late yesterday afternoon of certain gloomy countenanced characters who felt the passing of the Bistro keenly enough to display physical evidence.

On the left arm of these mourning souls was a black arm band. Jason didn't have to ask why the arm band because the membership card to the Bistro was firmly superimposed on that band. Said one mourner, "It isn't like the passing of a member of the family. It is the passing of the whole family. Who ever heard of a bunch of guys gathering around a tree or the 'I' bench over a glass of milk to carry on the discussions of world importance that have been a feature of 'life at the Bistro.'"

Football Coach
Some of you may have been anxiously awaiting this issue of the Argonaut for news of Idaho's new football coach. If that is the case you had nothing on Jason and the crew. Everyone was all hotted up to splash the news all over the campus but the news was not forthcoming, and the people who know are not able to say when the announcement will be made.

We have been informed by a good source, however, that when the news does break, the people who are most keenly concerned—the students—will be the first to find out. It may take a bit of doing by the ARG staff but if it's possible it shall be done.

Many Coaches
In the short space of 20 minutes, Jason heard the names of no less than seven men who had definitely been given the football appointment at a salary of $45,000 to $80,000 per year.

Don't be misled by these baseless rumors, Readers. As ever, Jason, the vigilant snoop, has the dope, and it is none of the former. So many newspapers around the country are itching to break the story that Jason has decided to go ahead and spread the welcome news.

The new coach is a freshman in Rigby high school who is being groomed for the job, and by the time the lad is the right age to take over the job the announcement—(Cont. on page 4, Col. 6)

Sportsmen's Club Guttled By Sunday Night Flames

Sunday night's fire, which was witnessed by many university students, completely ravaged the interior of the Moscow Sportsmen's club, commonly known as Bob's Bistro. Here is a picture of the debris and wreckage that remains. The sky can be seen through the gaping holes in the roof.

Moulton To Be Election Chief, Polls Open 8:45 Tomorrow

Students Mourn As Bob's Bistro Burns To Ashes

Flames that reddened the skies above Moscow at 9:15 Sunday night brought university students to their windows and others to the scene of the second fire in less than a week.

The blaze engulfed the Sportsmen club, still known as the Bistro, and spread to the Nelson Upholstery and Co-Ed Beauty Salon, later reaching out to consume the Grill cafe. A fourth establishment, Shorty's pool hall, was damaged. Telephone operators told inquirers breathlessly, "The whole block's afire!"

Glass House OK Says Baldwin

People who live in glass houses are rare, but Douglas Baldwin, university veteran, does and likes it. He has lived in the back of one of the greenhouses since November.

British Consul To Address IRC

Mr. G. Edgar Vaughn, British Consul at Seattle, will speak to members and guests of the International Relations club, Thursday at 7 p. m. in room 110 of the Science hall.

Party Rallies Put End To Class Political Campaigns

Under the direction of the class election board, voting for second semester class officers will begin Wednesday at 8:45 a. m. at the two polls which close at 4:15 p. m., according to Helen Moulton, chairman of the board.

Junior ROTC Hold First Meeting Second Semester

Members of the Junior ROTC class of 1943, held their first meeting of the second semester Thursday evening. This group has been organized into a life time association with Lt. Col. William Hale, retired, as honorary president.

Student Board Will Supervise At Polls

Polls will be erected in the north end of the Administration building and in the hall of the Student Union building. Students are cautioned to vote early as 4:15 p. m. is the definite deadline.

New Traffic Policy Goes Into Effect March 1

A new campus parking and traffic control plan will be put into effect March 1, the Traffic and Safety committee and the Operations council announced today. This is necessary, according to the committee and council, because of the inadequacy of the present plan.

The essentials of the new policy, which has been approved by the board of regents, are as follows: (1) Space in the following parking areas will be limited strictly to visitors and cars carrying parking permit stickers: (a) The area east of the Engineering Annex building, (b) the area south and west of the Administration building, (c) The area behind Lindley hall and Science hall, (d) the area north of Morrill hall, (e) the service area of Willis Sweet and Chrisman halls and south of Larch hall, (f) the area west of the Dairy Building, (g) the area west of the Navy building.

Will Register Cars
2. Regular university employees will register their cars in the office of the dean of men and receive a permit sticker which will be placed in the lower right hand corner of the windshield.

Amputees Having Cars
3. Amputees having cars and students living outside of Moscow, who drive to and from the university each day, may register their cars in the office of the dean of men and receive stickers.

Owners of Cars, Aside from Visitors, who receive traffic violation tickets for parking in the restricted areas must pay a $2.00 fine to the cashier of the university. Fines collected from students. (Cont. on page 3, col. 7)

Vet Buys Town, Ghosts And All

Tucked in the heart of Idaho's primitive area, the little town of Dixie is awakening from a 40-year sleep. Ghost of a gold rush of 1864, Dixie is in for a face-lifting at the hands of Earl Thomas Scott, an ex-marine who bought the town with a G. I. loan guarantee.

Scott's town, which he plans to turn into a dude ranch and hunting resort with its own private airfield, includes a 153-acre site, several hydraulic and placer mining claims, an eight-room hotel, post office, general store and gas pump, a vacant saloon, a one-room schoolhouse, a seven-acre cemetery and several vacant log buildings.

Plans Completed For Spur Regional Meet

Local chapter members of Spurs, sophomore women's honorary, are completing plans for a regional meeting to be held in Moscow this weekend, according to Jan Garber, president of the Idaho group.

Delegates from WSC, College of Puget Sound, Montana State college, University of Montana, and Idaho will register for the convention Friday morning in the Student Union building. Following registration the group will meet in the coke room of the Blue Bucket Inn.

A tour of the Idaho campus will be conducted for the women Friday afternoon and they will attend the performance of "Sing, Singleton, Sing" Friday evening.

Saturday morning the delegates will travel to WSC where they will tour the Washington campus and be guests of the WSC chapter for lunch.

Concluding the two-day meeting, a banquet will be held for the group and Idaho and WSC members at the Moscow hotel Saturday evening at 6:30 p. m. Dean Louise Carter will be guest speaker during the dinner. Following the banquet a fireside will be held at Hays hall.

Delegates will be house guests at various women's residences on the campus during the convention. Margaret Walters, regional director and a former member of the Idaho chapter, will be present at all meetings. Marguerite Dore is in charge of registration and Myrna Ritchey is chairman of the banquet committee.

Takes Initiative Nine Into Local Chapter

Nine men became new members of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, at formal initiation ceremonies held at the local chapter Sunday night.

The initiates include Norris Beasley, Winston Bishop, James Clovis, Carl Kitchen, David Lowry, Walter McPherson, Calvin Sparks, Dale Stallings, and Robert Worthington.

Intra-Hall Party Held

Hays hall held a "get acquainted party" Sunday night for the new students who moved in at the semester. Refreshments were served in each room.

Curtain Rises Tomorrow Night On The Singing Senator Singleton

Long and frequent rehearsals have effectively brought "Sing, Singleton, Sing" to a point where cast, chorus, and orchestra can all do their parts to provide an entertaining evening when the curtain rises tomorrow evening on an auditorium stage that has become Ma Randall's Dude Ranch.

Curtain time for the play is 8 p. m. Those attending must be in their seats by that time or they will not be admitted until the end of the first act.

Tickets are on sale at the student union book store and Hodgins drug store down town. All seats are reserved and students must purchase 25 cent tickets in addition to their ASUI books.

The original musical comedy will run for four nights. Seats were going rapidly, according to reports from the student union book store and Hodgins. Indications are that more people will witness the efforts of Singing Senator Singleton to get reelected than have ever watched the trials and tribulations of any character who has stalked across the stage at Idaho.

Gem Pix

All students who have had their pictures taken recently for the Gem are asked to choose the proofs at once. Any seniors who have not yet turned in their list for Gem writings must do so at once.

Independent Candidates

Kathleen Proves A Contented Cow

Idaho Echo Kathleen, nine-year old Holstein cow belonging to the university, has just set a new state record for Holsteins milked twice daily in the ten-months division.

The cow's production for the period was 555 pounds of butterfat and 16,712 pounds of milk. Announcement of the new record came from D. L. Fourt, head of the department of dairy science, and was verified by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Announcements, Name Cards Here

Samples of Senior commencement announcements, and samples of individual name cards have arrived on the campus for display. "Orders are now being taken for name-cards", announced John Krier, Willis Sweet hall, president of the Senior class. "We cannot take orders for individual commencement announcements", Kreer added, "since they will arrive later in bulk packages."

Italian Student To Speak For World School Fund

The World Student Service Fund drive will be opened on the Idaho campus Wednesday evening when Giovanna Maria Ribet, active University of Rome student, arrives in Moscow to speak in behalf of world student relief.

Terminating Wednesday, March 5, the local campaign is for the purpose of raising money to contribute for student relief and rehabilitation in Europe and Asia. Every student and faculty member of the university will be asked to contribute one dollar to the drive, according to June Sutton, general chairman.

Several Talks
Miss Ribet, speaking on Italy and student relief in Europe, will address the Inter-Church council Thursday noon in the coke room of the Blue Bucket Inn. She will speak over KUOI from 5 to 5:30 Thursday afternoon. Thursday evening she will talk before an all-university meeting at 7:00 p. m. in the LDS institute building. Professor R. E. Hosack's political science classes will hear the Italian student Friday morning. Miss Ribet will address the International Relations group in a special

The World Student Service Fund meeting Friday afternoon at 4 p. m. in Navy 105.

Need For Legislative Planning

The State of Idaho's constitution requires the legislature to meet bi-annually, unless the governor calls it into special session. In our opinion, the fact that the lawmakers meet so seldom creates a hindrance to the necessity of promptly passing urgent legislation.

The need for attention to legislative matters during the time Idaho's law-body is not in session has become more apparent during the last two months than ever before. State senators and representatives engaged in private business in their home towns cannot be expected to keep in touch with all phases relative to the welfare of the state. Also, without the benefit of research and information at their fingertips at all times, they cannot effectively deal with outstanding problems when the legislature does meet.

Therefore, we believe that Idaho should pass an act creating a legislative council to meet periodically or whenever a state problem has become perplexing enough to demand discussion and remedial planning. Recommendations for legislation could be made by the council, since it would be in command of all available data concerning the nature of any question at hand.

In states which have adopted it during the last ten or fifteen years, the legislative council has met with considerable success. Nebraska has incorporated it into its unicameral form of government, and the "Model Constitution," sponsored nationally by political scientists (although it has never been adopted by any state) has made provisions for it.

In answer to a question by a newsmen in Boise recently concerning Idaho legislators' dilly-dallying with important educational bills, a state senator made a remark to the effect: "You cannot expect them to know much about it—they're mostly farmers."

Farmers have just as much right to be state representatives as do any other group, but they certainly cannot contribute many efficacious remedies to cure the state's political ills while they are concentrating on the potato crop, or on the falling milk production of a dairy herd.

This is no more true of farmers as a class than many other professions or occupations. We quoted the senator to serve as proof of the need for year-round consideration of serious governmental proposals.

State government is a function which is becoming more involved with the passing of each day—the formulation of a legislative council is one way to increase its efficiency, and render more capably the services Idaho's people deserve.

TIPS FOR VETS

By GEORGE

Subsistence Checks
To all veterans under the G. I. Bill comes this latest word from the VA concerning subsistence checks. There are approximately 13,500 veterans in the northwest who were mailed earning report forms to fill out and return in accordance with the $175-$200 ceilings on income. These had to be in to the VA so that they could be used in determining the amount of subsistence to be paid, and until they come in no checks will be mailed to veterans under the G. I. Bill. (Public Law 16 men are not subject to this law.)

Faults of Income Ceilings
Many veterans who are able to get out and earn extra money necessary to supplement their subsistence checks do not like the idea which is embodied in Public Law 679. They feel it is a curb on their initiative. Subsistence payments do not cover the many expenses which a college student must meet and for this reason some may be reluctant to file their earning reports. This action would actually be cutting off your nose to spite your face. No earning report, no check.

According to the VA there are some 4,000 vets in the northwest who have not submitted their earning report forms. These are required to be submitted every four months by law and the only thing the VA can do is to hold up the checks until they are in. Many vets who have not received the forms to be filled in need not worry until they receive them. The VA warns, however, that they are forthcoming and that a deadline will be set for their return.

Suggested Action
For any vet who feels that the income ceilings are unfair there is one course which is left open. By presenting a logical protest to the group representative of the I-VETS he could at least bring the question up for consideration. The job of the various I-VET representatives is to listen to any complaint a veteran has and bring it up for consideration at meetings. Each living group elects their own representative. By doing this there is a possibility of getting unified action on the problem. It is certainly the democratic way of getting things done and after all that is the purpose of the I-VETS. There are more than 2,000 veterans in the university and a majority of them belong to the I-VETS. No one could afford to disregard what they say.

Groups To Discuss Home Economics

Miss Lillian Navertail, state supervisor of home economics from Boise, will hold discussions Wednesday through Saturday with home economics juniors and seniors in education.

Miss Navertail will also visit neighboring high schools in Moscow, Bonners Ferry, Troy, and St. Maries.

The city of Boise is all agog. Everyone is talking about one Mr. Harry Schappel, who did the unheard of in that area—built a house with only one entrance, no back door.

Feudists Finally Play Game, But Outcome Still Doubtful

Farmers Scuttle Inept Lawyers Without Effort

By An Ag Student
For the first afternoon in many "moons" the shysters were sober.
Upsetting all dopesters' predictions, the Bar and Bottle basketball team actually rose to superhuman heights and scored one field goal plus one free throw in their annual battle with the Agricultural Scientists.

Getting off to the usual fast start, the noble sons of the soil tallied casually some thirty field goals. In a playful spirit, Sam Jensen, drop kicked one from the center of the floor which swished through the net. The Ambulance Chasers scurried madly around waving rule books printed in 1933 until the Agrarians good-naturally agreed that it should not be counted. Not contented the babbling book worms badgered the official until a technical foul was called on some outmoded pretext.

Winded Lawyers
Heaving and blowing, the wind-ed lawyers called for a thirty minute time out. Following this holiday which saw the scrawny aggregation almost unable to rise from the floor where they had fallen to quibble among themselves, a player with the number 11 on a white jersey bearing the initials OSCfurtively entered the game, cast the free throw successfully, and streaked back to a dark corner of the gym.

Near the middle of the second half of the so-called contest, another lawyer substitute entered the game. He was a thin, lanky individual who answered to the name of "RED" or EPHRAIM and had on one of those queer white jerseys with the letters OSC on the front. The number of the player was 33. It is admitted that he was the classiest lawyer to oppose the Soil Tillers and after a certain amount of blind staggering managed to sloop in one field goal.

No Trouble
Taken as a whole the game ran smoothly, although there were a few minor irregularities including the disappearance of Ag star Paul Wetter's size 12 shoes.
The Agricultural Scientists have gratulated the shysters for playing the game as well and as fairly as they were able.

1st Moron: Why did you ask her for a date?
2nd Moron: Because she's so different from other girls.
1st Moron: How's that?
2nd Moron: She'll go with me.

Aggs Plowed Under By Rampaging Legal Students

By A Lawyer
The University of Idaho lawyers celebrated their victory over the agriculture students downtown at the Bistrolast Saturday afternoon.
On George Washington's Birthday, February 22, 1947, at 2 p. m. in the Memorial gymnasium, the great basketball game began, and the lawyers came through with a score of 54 to 3.

One contributing factor to the runaway score was the superb physical condition of the lawyers. Kautman, in particular, was really on the ball. Senate "Luissetti" Taylor was high point man of the game, scoring 39 points.
In rare form, President Otley piled up all the scores for the farmers. He made their only field goal while the lawyers were substituting and had only two men on the floor. Then, when he made a low foul shot the ball hit a player in the face and careened into the basket, bringing the total to three points. Although defeated, the students of agriculture are heartened by their annual progress, one point more this year than last. There are enormous possibilities that they may win some time in the future—say 1955.

Several times the farmers resorted to the flying wedge tactic, but failed when Austin stepped in—they couldn't get around him.
Short Pint
Farmer McPherson brought his jersey cow to the game for a mascot, but her best efforts consisted of a short pint of milk.
Morgan played sleeper so much for the agriculture team that he had to be awakened at the end of the game, at which time he drowsily joined his teammates in a cheer. Even though defeated, the farmers' spirit was undaunted, and they gave three "moos" for the winners.

Arson
As a result of the fire downtown Sunday night, the lawyers have disbanded due to the lack of training facilities. It is highly suspected that the Bistrol was burned by members of some jealous organization who fear that the lawyers' team might rise to create insurmountable competition to the University of Idaho Varsity basketball team.

Relative Arrives

Larry Marvin Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Garrett arrived in Moscow, Thursday at 8:30 p.m.
That may not seem unusual, but it was Larry Marvin's first trip anywhere and he came without any clothes on—all five pounds, 12 ounces of him.
After leaving Mrs. Garrett at the Gritman hospital to meet the young gentleman when he arrived, Roy, an Argonaut staff member, pounded out a story for the paper instead of uselessly destroying his fingernails. Editorially speaking, both parents are to be commended.

Dear Jason

University of Idaho
February 24, 1947

Dear Jason,
As a result of attending athletic events in Memorial Gymnasium we would like to ask a question. Why should choice seats be held open only for members of "Y" Club? Since it costs regular students just as much for ASUI membership as letter men this regularization benefits only a minority of people who help support athletics.

Anyone who does sit in the "Y" Section and does not have an "I" letter is looked upon as a wicked criminal and the scorn of the lettermen. This is not selfish reasoning, but is only logical since athletics are supposedly for the benefit of all the students.

I wonder if we all have to be jitter-bugs to enjoy a dance? I suppose there are left very few remnants of the good old days but even our modern dancers would certainly enjoy a nice dreamy waltz once in a while.

Surely it would be no task at all for the talented players in our university dance bands to swing into some good old Wayne King arrangements, for instance.
How about it, fellows? Let's waltz for once—it might be fun! It would have been fun to do so at last Saturday night's Wood-chopper hall, instead of bouncing around like rubber balls on roulette wheel.

'Choppers Ball' A Success

Patrons of the realistically furnished soft drink bar at the Woodchoppers Ball are Bill Mahbutt and Anita Hamilton. Almost hidden behind the front couple are Don Westervelt and Lorella Eke. Forester Bartenders Tom Laurent and Duff Ross are dishing out the "pleas."

Church Groups Entertain At Club Meetings

Campus church news is highlighted this week by the meetings and various parties held by the clubs. Students are engaging in activities which accommodate the sudden change in the weather. The Christian Youth group went to Suncrest Sunday afternoon. The group hiked up Moscow mountain and enjoyed refreshments. Vergil Rissell led devotions on the topic "Time".

Tuesday evening the Canterbury club entertained the Pullman group at the Episcopal church. Initiation was held earlier in the evening. Approximately 30 students were present at an Ash Wednesday communion service. Communion services every Wednesday morning at 7 a. m. will be held during Lent.

A discussion led by Bill Barnes and conducted by Donna Chapman, Glen Barkley, Bob Passmore, and Miriam Walker was held at the Wesley Foundation meeting Sunday evening. Special music was furnished by Phyllis LaRue, Betty Thompson, and Gay Deobald.

A regular meeting of LDS Mutual will be held Tuesday at 7:15 p.m.

The Roger Williams club met Sunday evening at the Baptist church. Don Hyder led the devotional meeting on the topic, "Anger and the Christian Life." Keith Thurston and Tom Laurent were in charge of refreshments and games.

Here's More About New Traffic

Students will go to the ASUI general fund and fines collected from university employees will go to the Faculty Welfare fund.

Fay Fines
Students who fail to pay any fines will have grades and transcripts withheld by the registrar until such fines are paid. A duplicate of the traffic ticket, carrying the license number of the car, will be filed with the cashier. It will then be the owner's responsibility to see that the fine is paid.

5. All traffic violations, on city streets through and adjacent to the campus, excluding Campus drive, will be referred to the city police. Duplicate copies of the tickets will be sent to the chief of police. Persistent violators will be forbidden to drive a car on the campus.

6. Student and university employees will be held responsible for knowing the regulations governing the restricted parking areas. These regulations will be posted on the bulletin boards of major buildings on the campus.

More than 800 Cars
The traffic control plan is being put into effect because of unsatisfactory traffic and parking conditions existing on the campus. With more than 800 student and university employee-owned cars operating on the campus, parking space is at a minimum.

According to the Traffic and Safety committee and the Operations council, the present plan is not satisfactory for eight reasons:

1. The erection of the temporary classroom buildings west of the Administration building will require over half of the space of the largest parking area on the campus.
2. Many students living within three or four blocks of the campus persisted in driving their cars to classes and using parking space near classroom buildings.
3. Some students ignored the traffic tickets. Others, when asked by the campus policeman to observe regulations, refused to comply.
4. Many students were careless in parking and used twice the space required for their car.
5. In at least one instance, students deliberately removed traffic signs erected by the University.
6. Visitors coming to the campus were at times unable to find parking places.
7. Trucks, delivering supplies to buildings, were unable to reach the service entrances because of parked cars and, in some instances, refused to deliver the supplies.

Plan Adopted Elsewhere
Practically every major college or university in the country has had to adopt a similar plan for traffic control. Traffic authorities say that some institutions have forbidden students to operate cars, while others have banned student-owned cars from the campus proper.

The new control plan will be enforced 24 hours a day, and will be in effect at all times except during registration week in September.

Emily Post once commented in The Daily Texan that it is permissible for a woman to pay the dinner check when she dines with a man.

Art Club Sponsors Successful Dance

Approximately 100 couples attended the Art club dance held Friday night at the Legion cabin. The "Evening in Paris" theme was carried out with candlesticks in wine bottles and streamers covering the ceiling. Refreshments were served during the evening. The "Noteworthy" furnished the music and colorful souvenir programs were given to the guests.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Prichard, Miss Mary Kirkwood, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dunn, and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ellis.

Next year a Beaux-Arts ball will be held, according to Keith Boyington and Zelva Hodge. The ball, a costume affair, will be given in the hope of establishing a yearly custom as the one in New York City.

Students Prefer Magazines To Comic Strips

Idaho students do not prefer the comic strips. The results of a poll in the philosophy department showed that even magazines like the "Yale Review" and "Harpers" are selected by many for leisure reading.

As is natural for all classes of readers seeking relaxation, the highest percentage turned to the popular type like "Readers Digest," "Saturday Evening Post" and "Life".

Interesting results in percentages show a great diversity of taste. The popular magazines such as the "Readers Digest" polled highest with 40 per cent; the literary type such as the "Atlantic Monthly" was next with 20 per cent; the news type such as "Time" had 15 per cent leaving the high-brow publications such as the "Yale Review" with 5 per cent.

Remaining preferences are scattered among miscellaneous periodicals like "Charm," "Popular Science," "Radio Age," "Comic Strip," and one student preferred the "Negro Digest".

The conclusion is that students are alert to and interested in all phases of humanity and literary activity.

Or Seen Mags Gone

Thrown for a loss: Jim Brandon, Willis Sweet, blind-dating with Gamma Phi guest Jean Garber, attempted feeble good-night advances, discovered later that his date was an accomplished judo expert.

Theory in practice: Delta Chi Jerry Peterson studied Econ until four a. m., dreamt about Dr. Graue, slept through his ten o'clock Econ class.

What college will do: Ambitious Margaret Payne, Alpha Phi, while maneuvering a university truck down-town to pick-up furniture for "Sing, Sing, Sing", decided to obtain job as truck-driver after graduation.

A big "I": Cheerleader Steve Gilbert, Sigma Chi, lost his voice during the half of Friday night's game, drank two quarts of water; is still gurgling yells.

Courage, Lochinvar: When SAE Don Hansen plans to meet his girl-friend, Teddy Geise, Delta Tau Gamma, at the Nest, he always brings six or seven buddies along to bolster his conversational technique.

Week's best thought: Glenn Noge, engineering student, is campaigning for pavement on the Arboretum golf-course road. Perhaps he became stuck for an idea.

To be held in the Armory from 7:15 to 10 p. m., the event will include boxing, refreshments, music and other entertainment. An out-of-town master of ceremonies has been selected to lead the group.

All engineering students are asked to plan to attend.

When refined, all sugars are colorless and odorless and can not be distinguished by chemical analysis.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Fry of Moscow became parents of a son Saturday.

Pilots Cancel Meet

Meeting of the Navy-Marine aviators reserve tentatively scheduled for this week has been postponed due to the disturbance in reserve programs by the cuts in our national budget, according to Jim Paris. He added that he is keeping in touch with the reserve headquarters at Spokane and that the meeting will be held as soon as possible.

Added Population

A boy and a girl have been added to the Moscow population by university students according to Gritman hospital officials.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Hemingway Thursday.

PHI-U ON KUOI

A series of home economic career records will be presented over station KUOI this week Monday through Thursday from 5 p.m. to 5:15 p.m. every afternoon. The program is being sponsored by Phi-Upsilon Omicron, national home economic honorary, as a promotion program for future home ec students and high school graduates.

DON'T QUOTE ME

By GENE ROSE

About 3500 fans sauntered into Memorial gymnasium last Friday night and settled down to view the oncoming massacre. It would be amusement anyway, watching Oregon State's Red Rocha & Co. score almost at will against the hapless Vandals.

The jayvee game seemed to drag on endlessly and the comparatively small crowd became impatient. Then the final buzzer sounded. While Henry was sweeping the gym floor, last-minute bets were placed.

Finally the game was underway and with two minutes passed, the Vandals were leading one to nothing. Morrie Silver tied the count for Oregon State. After an exchange of attempts at the bucket, Oregon State came down the court and began their classy weaving offense.

Conversation fairly buzzed during the halftime intermission. The odds and the points lowered, but the majority were still laying money that Oregon State would win going away in the second half.

Amazement changed to disbelief when the Vandals failed to collapse and continued their torrid pace by looping in point after point. The same starting five, ably assisted by Dick Geisler, broke the Beavers' back as they smeared every offensive threat the Slats Gill-coached Beavers could throw.

Defensively the Vandals were a stone wall. Deadly Lew Beck, Cliff Crandall and Alex Peterson were bottled by the tight-checking Idaho mg. As for Rocha, the fans who came to watch the big Hawaiian clipper perform, soon found their attention directed to another tall lad, Phoenix's defense of Rocha was so superb that the Beaver record-holder ended with three points, all by free-throws.

What meaning does this upset victory hold? The general consensus of opinion among Vandal fans is that the Vandals have had the material to play ball like this all year. What do you think?

After the Oregon State game in which Red Rocha scored 38 points, Idaho's Jack Phoenix, who was side-lined with an ankle injury, gave indication that the Hawaiian would run into trouble when the two teams met in Vandalville.

Cougars Entertain Idaho In Friday Night Match

The Vandals will face the Washington State boxing squad in a return match this Friday evening in Pullman. In their first bout with the Cougars the Vandals bowled them over six bouts to one.

Idaho will be at full strength Friday evening when they tangle with their traditional rivals, the Cougars. Heavyweight Larry Hansen, who has been nursing a sore hand the past two weeks, will be ready to take over the heavyweight assignment.

Idaho was inactive last weekend, while the Cougars split an eight bout card with Gonzaga university. Idaho won an easy victory over Gonzaga in their last meet, eight bouts to none.

Tentative bouts for Friday are: 125-pound Ray Radford, Idaho, vs. Dick Watson, Washington State; 130—Dorsel McClure, Idaho, vs. Jack Nelson, Washington State; 135—Ray Engberson, Idaho, vs. Hugh Francisco, Washington State; 145—Bill Williams, Idaho, vs. Wayne Brock, Washington State; 155—Herb Carlson, Idaho, vs. Jim Ayward, Washington State; 165—Ted Diehl, Idaho, vs. Bob Painter, Washington State; 175—Laune Erickson, Idaho, vs. Vern Dimke, Washington State; Heavyweight Larry Hansen, Idaho, vs. Add Irwin, Washington State.

Important Head basketball and baseball coach, Guy P. Wicks, has announced that there will be a meeting for all prospective baseball candidates Thursday afternoon at 4:15 p.m. The meeting will be held in the armory of Memorial gymnasium.

Amazing Vandals Trip Astonished Beavers

OSC Moves To WSC After Split

Northern Division Standing table with columns W, L, Pct. for Oregon State, Washington State, and Washington.

Oregon State's fabulous Beavers learned that miracles can and often do happen. Coming to Moscow with a creditable record of 10 wins and one loss, the Beavers met the amazing Vandals last Friday and Saturday nights and when the shooting was all over, the Beavers had to be content with an even split with Idaho.

Oregon State's Beavers put the clincher on the Northern division conference title last night when they downed the Washington State Cougars by a 51 to 30 margin. The Beavers jumped into an early lead which they never relinquished.

A mediocre-sized crowd of 3500 had barely settled in their seats Friday night before a rejuvenated Vandal team exploded and left the astonished Beavers wondering what had happened.

There probably wasn't any individual star in the game as every man sent into the game by Coach Guy Wicks performed admirably. Jack Phoenix, however, gave proof of his effectiveness as he held the Beaver's high-scoring center, Red Rocha, to 12 points over the course of the two evenings.

Friday night's game, Phoenix completely bottled the Hawaiian clipper as he dunked in 12 points himself. Wendell Christensen also performed like a veteran by keeping Lew Beck, Beaver guard under control the entire evening.

Saturday night found the Beavers in their usual unbeatable form as they dunked shots from every angle to submerge the Vandals 69 to 35. The 4500 fans that gathered in hopes of seeing the Vandals repeat their Friday night victory, realized at the outset of the game that Idaho would be no match for the powerful Beavers.

Beaver forward Cliff Crandall led all scoring for the night as he rang the score bell for 14 markers. Mortensen and Evans led the Vandals with 10 and nine points respectively.

OREGON STATE and IDAHO player statistics table with columns G, F, PF, TP.

Free throws missed: Oregon State—Crandall, Beck, Silver, Idaho—Mortenson, Geisler, Phoenix, Carbaugh. Halftime score: Idaho 29, Oregon State 20.

Swim Team Loses At Missoula; Seventh Straight

The University of Idaho swim team lost its seventh consecutive swimming meet last Saturday in Missoula as the Montana Grizzlies drowned the Vandals 50 to 24. Next on the Vandals list will be a trip to Seattle, Washington where they will participate in the Northern division championships.

In the meet with Montana, the Grizzlies ran away from the Vandals as they swept 6 firsts, 5 seconds, and 2 thirds. Idaho took first in the 220-yard free style, the 150-yard back stroke and the 440-yard free style.

Winston Bishop was the outstanding Vandal tankster. He was barely edged out of first in fancy diving, but came back to cruise to an easy win in the gruelling 440.

This was the Grizzlie's second victory over the Vandals as they had defeated the Idaho mermen previously. Summary: 330-yard medley relay won by Montana (Kelly, Warsinske, Simpson); time, 3:28. 220-yard free style—Kummers (L), Hallberg (M.), Sawhill (M.); time, 2:44.5. 600-yard free style—McMannis (L), Anderson (L), Davis (M.); time, 31 seconds flat (new pool record). Here's More About JASON ment will be out. What? You want the name, too? That will have to come later, but I will tell you the salary—$4.80 a day during the football season and half pay for spring practice. And maybe, just maybe, mind you, an 18 1/2 cent raise the second year.

Poor Politics For Jason's money, the campus politicians have certainly gone to seed. This business of running for class office seems to involve little more than the honor of making a couple of committee appointments and keeping an eye on the class treasurer who handles no money.

Are the United Students too apathetic and the Independents so complacent that they can't bother to live up the campus with a little campaigning—or in the reverse order, of course. Jason doesn't pretend to prognosticate elections outcomes. When the passing of an entertainment spot makes more noise on the campus than the elections it's time for a reform. Give us the good old days of skulls hanging from telephone posts and stuffed ballot boxes. Criminal, perhaps, but it makes good news.
