

Before this typewriter gets out of hand, Jason wants to insert the notice that it is now Uncle Jason. That is a little misleading because it isn't the first time, but it is the initial uncleship from this particular source.

The credit line in this instance must go to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Elmers. A regular guard on junior varsity basketball team, Bill deserted the Jayvees at Pullman on Saturday night to get his exercise in the corridor of the Gritman hospital.

Idaho Coaches Association
There is an organization in southern Idaho composed of high-school coaches and named the Idaho Coaches Association, which let out a loud bray when Dixie Howell's appointment was announced.

The association made it known without hesitation that they were hurt because they had not been invited to confer on the matter and the choice was far from their liking.

Concerning the composition of the coaches association, spokesman in this instance was Rulon Judge, coach at Burley and an alumnus of Utah State Agricultural College. Other officers are "Rip" Gledhill, Pocatello high school principal who is a graduate of Brigham Young university, and George Hayes, Rupert coach, who claims North Dakota Agricultural College as his alma mater. These men are the big gears of the Idaho Coaches Association.

48 Members
The latest figures available here indicate that the organization has a paid up membership of 48. It is questionable that all members support the policy apparently originated by the small controlling group, since several members of the association have disclaimed a knowledge of Budge's statement.

Reports reaching the university say that Budge would be glad to eat his objections to the university athletic program if they weren't spread over yards of newspaper in many Idaho towns. A meeting between President Buchanan and Budge will probably run out any difficulties. The meeting, scheduled for today, was on Buchanan's itinerary when he left Moscow Sunday.

Enter Alumni

Loyal alumni associations, now covering the state, could make it exceedingly warm for any coach or school official not lining himself up with a reasonable athletic program at a state school. Although it was a little irritating to the press at the time, Athletic Director George Greene's "Silence is golden" motto might well be adopted by these chaps who are beginning to feel that they were "talking when they should have been listening."

Jason has additional dope coming up on the membership and the activities of this group which may indicate which side of the fence they line up on.

Clean Politics

At the time Jason was complaining of political activity reaching a new low on the campus, the ethics of at least one party reached a new high.

Women To Oust Men From Idaho Club Next Fall

Ingraham, Rinder Leave Wednesday For College Congress In Portland

Cover Man Makes Appearance Soon On March 'Blot'

"Any similarity between the Gentleman of Distinction on the cover of the March Blot and the advertisement series of a certain liquor concern is purely coincidental," say co-editors Maurice Paulsen and Bob Booth.

Fifteen men representing the men's living groups on the campus are already rifling through their roommates' ties and pipes to find the combinations that will give them "that certain air" when advance sale purchasers of the next issue of the campus magazine choose their cover-man.

As some houses have not yet named their candidate, the list of potential "gentlemen" will be withheld until the Thursday issue of the Argonaut, when it is hoped the list will be complete.

Wednesday Deadline

Tomorrow marks the advertising and contribution deadline for the forthcoming issue of Blot. In order to discuss the material received there will be a meeting of the staff, Thursday afternoon at four in the magazine's office.

Advance sales will be released Thursday night in the campus living groups and Friday in the Administration building hall. At that time the "Gentleman of Distinction," who will be featured on the magazine cover will be elected. Sales will continue throughout the week and will end on Friday, March 14.

Advance purchase tickets which were not turned in for the previous issue will be honored for the current issue and may be turned in at the respective living groups or at the Perch. Candidates are being elected by the men's living groups on and off the campus and will be elected by the votes of those making advance purchases of the publication.

Manganese Find May Have Value

Possibility of recovering manganese from low grade sand deposits in southern Idaho is being investigated by the Bureau of Mines and Geology here, reports Dean A. W. Fahrenwald, school of mines.

The deposits are those of the Payette formation in Washington county near Weiser. Although of too low a grade to be of present commercial importance, the large tonnages of the deposits are a potential mineral resource of considerable value. Lewis Prater, bureau metallurgist, is conducting the research.

CAMPUS REPRESENTATIVE

Carnival Spirit To Prevail At AWS-T Club Frolic

The "T" club-Associated Women Student's war-interrupted carnival will be fully revived Saturday, March 15, when the traditional all-campus affair will be held in Memorial gymnasium, Jane Thompson and John Daily, general co-chairmen, announced yesterday.

Featured this year will be the selection of "Sexy Sarah" and "Swoony Sam" from candidates nominated by each living group. Student votes will pick the winners who will be crowned during the intermission. The "Sexy-Swoony" couple will also be awarded cups.

Carnival booths under the proprietorship of women's houses and halls will line the walls of the gym. The best decorated booth will Betty Jean Ingraham and Irwin Rinder will leave Wednesday morning for Portland to participate in the second Pacific Northwest College Congress to be held March 6, 7, and 8 at Reed college.

Miss Ingraham and Rinder were named by the executive board to represent the university at the convention which will bring delegates from 37 colleges and universities in Alaska, Alberta, British Columbia, Idaho, Montana, Washington, and Oregon.

On hand to keynote the congress and address the final public meeting will be Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, recently named chairman of the section on human rights and civil liberties of the United Nations. She was a member of the American delegation which met the Congress representatives last year.

Delegates Research
Each delegate has done advanced research on some phase of foreign policy or international administration and prepared resolutions to be taken to the United Nations Organization. Miss Ingraham has done research on atomic energy and world disarmament and Rinder has studied world economic problems.

The congress, the only student organization which has been officially received at United Nations and is aimed at strengthening the student participation in international affairs, will be sponsored jointly by Reed college, the Northwest Institute of International Relations, and the Portland League of Women Voters.

Discussions will center around a survey of the United Nations and its agencies. Representatives will be assigned to participate in one of five sections where various phases of United Nations activities will be reviewed and criticized.

Mass Meeting
Meetings will be held at Reed college, with the exception of one public mass meeting to be held in downtown Portland. Student representatives will hear addresses by guest speakers who are authorities on the problems to be considered.

Representatives from schools outside the Portland area will be the guests of Reed college students in the college dormitories or of members of the Portland League of Women Voters. Meals will be served in the Reed college commons.

Following the Portland meetings the representatives will report to their own student bodies on the work of the Congress and will have the responsibility of conducting the balloting on the resolutions formulated by the Congress. A report of the results of this referendum will be made to the executive committee of the Congress which will prepare a general tabulation for distribution.

Law Courses Given Both Semesters

For the first time, students at the university may start their legal studies in the college of law in either the first or second semester, or during the summer school session. Previously, they could start only with the fall semester.

"The change was made to accommodate veterans being released at different times during the year," explained William J. Brockelbank, acting dean of the college of law. "So long as there is a substantial demand for the new arrangement it will be continued."

Famous Scientist On Tour Of U.S.

Dr. Ernest A. Gaumann, faculty member of the Institute of Technology in Zurich, Switzerland, visited the university yesterday.

Dr. Gaumann, an outstanding authority on plant pathology and the study of fungi disease, arrived in Moscow from Spokane Sunday evening. He left last night for continuation of his tour throughout the United States which made it impossible for him to give any organized lectures here.

Arrangements have been made for Lee A. Paine of Moscow, a university graduate student, to go abroad next fall to Switzerland to study with Dr. Gaumann for his Doctor's degree in pathology.

All faculty club members are invited to attend a square dance Friday night at 8 p. m. in the Faculty club building. Mrs. Mary Miles will accompany dancers and refreshments will be served.

Saturday Rally For Fight Team

Saturday at 5 p. m. a send-off rally for the Vandal boxing team who journey to Sacramento to compete for the Pacific Coast Championship will be sponsored by the Student Activity Board.

All living groups will carry appropriate banners in the parade which will start at the corner of Ridenbaugh and Forney halls and proceed through the campus.

Canvassers Begin WSSF Drive In Campus Houses

The annual WSSF drive sponsored by Interchurch Council began yesterday when five teams provided skits at residences and explained the needs of the drive.

WSSF is a fund supported by American students to help those in other countries. It provides direct, personal relief to students and professors in 18 countries. Help is given where it is needed most on an international, interval, non-sectarian basis.

Fully 400,000 students in foreign countries need this help, says June Sutton, chairman of the drive. All grants are directly student to student, and consist of nutritional aid for the undernourished, rest camps, necessary personal supplies, books, and research material. A part of the money to help students here who need it.

Every student and member of the faculty will be asked to contribute one dollar. Thermometers will be set up in the Administration building, with each residence represented. Each upon the percentage donation will be linked in. Clarice Hove, publicity chairman for the local drive, will be in charge.

Spurs and I.K.s will collect the donations from the living groups, faculty and downtown students, including those in the Vets villages will be contacted by committees under the direction of Donna Lou Taylor. Collections will be made Thursday morning.

Letters explaining the needs and the background of the drive has been sent to faculty members, states Jackie Shiel, head of the committee on communications to faculty and town students. Information pamphlets will also be distributed to students during the drive.

WSSF was created in 1937, with the second outbreak of war in China. Since that time it has helped students in 18 war-torn lands. The national fund-raising and relief committees represent three international student organizations: World Student Christian Federation (Protestant), Pax Romana (Roman Catholic), and International Student Service.

Hams Annex Studio Vacated By KUOI

WTUQ, the university ham radio station, has moved into the old studio recently vacated by KUOI. An entirely student supported organization, the station finds itself in need of rugs, table lamps, and card files for studio furnishing.

The station has two transmitters on voice or continuous wave. Students interested in operating or experimenting are invited by club members to visit the new studio on the third floor of the Engineering annex.

Anyone possessing candid shots of the campus please bring them to the Gem office if they wish them published in the yearbook.

'Singleton' Breaks Idaho Records As Comedy Ends

The musical comedy, "Sing, Singleton, Sing," concluded its four-night run Saturday night. With a record-breaking attendance for all four nights of approximately 3500, as compared with the 2850 to 2900 seats sold for "Gee Eyes Right" in 1944.

Many persons attended from out of town, including Mrs. Charles G. Maeklin, mother of the composer, who traveled from Illinois to see the play. Marian Featherstone, a former member of the faculty, came from Seattle, as did Alice Maxwell, a well known writer for popular magazines. Miss Maxwell made the statement that the production of the musical comedy was more professional than those produced in the try-out theater at the University of Washington.

Several amusing incidents happened during the four-night run of the play. For instance, the rear end of the horse, Ed Frandsen, was playing junior varsity basketball in Pullman Saturday night, and a special trip had to be made to get him back to Moscow in time for the play.

The box of Kleenex which appeared in the play's third scene had been placed within the reach of the actors, who used it to touch up their make-up while off-stage. When "Glady's" offered the box of Kleenex to the "Senator" for his hay fever Saturday night it was empty!

"Sing, Singleton, Sing," is the only dramatic production on record to run four nights at the University to a capacity crowd both Friday and Saturday nights.

Spurs Entertain Eight Delegates

Eight delegates from Northwest colleges and universities attended the regional Spur convention held here Friday and Saturday. Jan Garber, president of the Idaho chapter, and Marge Walters, national regional director took charge of the convention, which is held every three years.

The delegates visited W. S. C., attended the performance of "Sing, Singleton, Sing," and were guests at the Spur Banquet and fireside.

Dean Louise S. Carter, Mrs. E. F. Marty, faculty advisor, and Margaret Arnold, student advisor, were also guests at the banquet and fireside. The delegates were introduced to the group by Jan Garber. Wanda Meers gave a reading, and Mrs. Carter-spoke to the group on the subject, "Don't let Activities Run Away With You."

Evans Takes Debate Trophy In Linfield Forensic Meet

Five Idaho debate teams returned Sunday after competing with 33 western colleges and universities in a three-day forensic tournament held at Linfield College, McMinnville, Ore. A total of 365 contestants entered the speech contest representing Montana, Washington, Oregon, Utah, California, Nevada and Idaho.

Blaine Evans was presented a trophy for winning first place in senior men's impromptu speaking. Roscoe Buckland was also one of the five finalists out of 45 men in this division. Evans and Buckland were also among the six finalists in the senior men's extemporaneous speaking in which 54 men were entered.

Geneva Ferguson and Frances Rhea entered the finals in senior women's debate winning five out of seven debates.

All debates were held on the subject: "Resolved, that labor should be given a direct share in the management of business." Extemporaneous speaking included various phases of the general topic "Education in America." Current events supplied the material for impromptu contests.

Dr. A. E. Whitehead, debate coach, Mrs. Whitehead and son Edward accompanied the group.

Regents, Council Approve Housing Plan For Women

Living quarters for an additional 118 women students will be available at the University of Idaho next fall through the transfer of Idaho Club from a men's to a women's residence.

This transfer was announced today by Robert F. Greene, director of dormitories, following approval of the university operations council and the executive committee of the board of regents.

"This expansion in residence facilities for women students has been made possible through the addition of Pine Hall, the emergency men's dormitory with a capacity of 386," explains Mr. Greene.

Response Is Good To District Alumni Plans

"Organization of the state into alumni districts is completed," says James Lyle, alumni secretary. Accompanied by Harlow H. Cambell, Lyle has returned from a two-week tour of southern Idaho where seven new alumni districts were activated.

Lyle reports excellent response to the alumni program and a great amount of interest in organized alumni association was shown during his tour which covered almost every town in the southern half of the state. The completion of the state-wide association enables all Idaho alumni to begin a drive to "sell the university to the citizens of the state."

The main objectives of the state alumni organizations are to promote a continued improvement in the educational system of Idaho, and to assist with the placement of university graduates in Idaho teaching positions.

It will be the purpose of the association to encourage high school graduates to attend the University of Idaho, to cooperate with the university administration in the development and maintenance of the athletic program, and to develop an alumni program which will create state-wide interest in the university and the alumni groups.

'Idaho Engineer' Now A Quarterly

Transformation of the "Idaho Engineer" from a bi-annual publication to a quarterly magazine has been announced by Charles Ohms, editor.

Under the revised plan, the magazine will have two complete staffs, each putting out one issue a semester. The first issue under the new system is scheduled for publication in October or November.

Backing by national and state advertisers has made possible the increase in number of issues of the self-supporting magazine.

Ohms pointed out that there would be twice as many staff positions open for next year and that four juniors would be appointed as editors and business managers. There are also openings for three sophomores and two freshmen. Any engineer interested in obtaining such a position is asked to contact Paul E. Hudson, faculty advisor, or Ohms. The editor can be reached by phone at 2441 or by leaving a note in the "Idaho Engineer" mail box in the engineering building.

Win Five

Geneva Ferguson and Frances Rhea entered the finals in senior women's debate winning five out of seven debates.

All debates were held on the subject: "Resolved, that labor should be given a direct share in the management of business." Extemporaneous speaking included various phases of the general topic "Education in America." Current events supplied the material for impromptu contests.

Dr. A. E. Whitehead, debate coach, Mrs. Whitehead and son Edward accompanied the group.

More Women

Shifting the Idaho Club to a women's residence is the first step on the university's part to correct the disproportionate ratio between men and women students. Last fall, while expanding residence facilities for men, the university was forced to tell approximately 55 Idaho women students they could not enter the university because living quarters were not available.

"A state university should strive to have a more even balance between men and women students," said H. E. Lattig, director of student welfare. "At times the men students at Idaho have outnumbered the women three-to-one. The number of women students we can have at the university will, I believe, be in direct relationship to the dormitory facilities we provide for them."

Co-Op Out
Although the Idaho Club has been as a men's residence, it will be rearranged during the summer to accommodate women students. It will not be operated as a cooperative. Consideration is being given to serving meals to the Idaho Club occupants in the new Pine Hall cafeteria.

To provide still greater residence facilities for women is one of the major points in the long-time dormitory plan. A permanent women's hall, to be constructed as soon as possible, is on the new building schedule.

Cargill, Fischer In Senior Recital

Lalene Cargill's soprano voice and Evelyn Fischer's piano keyboard will high-light Thursday's senior recital in the university auditorium at 8 p. m. Lucile Thompson is accompanist.

Miss Cargill will sing Scarlatti's "Gia il sole dal gango," Secchi's "Lungi dal car bene," Donizetti's "Dehl non voler," Peri's "Invocazione de Orfeo," Gretchaninoff's "My Native Land," Rachmaninoff's "O Thou Billowy Harvest Field," Tyson's "Noon and Night," Homer's "Sheep and Lambs," Cargill's "Query," Watts' "Wings of Night," Edwards' "Joy," and Warren's "Heather."

Miss Fischer will play Beethoven's "Sonata, opus 2, no. 3," Chopin's "Nocturne, op. 15, no. 2," Rachmaninoff's "Prelude, op. 32, no. 12," Chavarr's "Legend of the Old Moorish Castle," and Scriabine's "Etude, op. 8, no. 5."

Park Rules Leave Student Spaces

The parking regulations put into effect March 1 will not prohibit student cars on the campus, Dean Lattig stressed this week.

Students may park anywhere no-parking signs are not posted. The south side of Idaho avenue from the Agronomy building west to Hayburn street has been newly opened up for parking. There will be as many available spaces for student parking as before the regulations.

Dean Lattig also suggested that car owners read the notices on parking that have been posted on the bulletin boards of the Ad building, Morrill Hall, Engineering building, and all men's living groups.

"Good Old Days"—Phooey!

Just what are the "good old days"? Why do some people live out melancholy day-to-day existences, and at the same time travel the road of reminiscence back to some by-gone day when actually they were just as muddled up then as they are now?

It is one of the fallacies of the human race. It must drive psychologists nuts. Men and women of all ages and in all walks of life are guilty of foolishly "living in the past." Not only the doddering grandfather who says, "Now when I was your age, sonny..." but the adolescent, the honeymooner, the tired businessman—they can all be equally afflicted.

We also find this type of homo sapiens on this campus. "It isn't what it used to be—the university is all fouled up—the women are ten shades homelier this year than they were when I was here three years ago." Et cetera, et cetera, et cetera. Beery ballads are still being gargled down at the taverns, engagements are being announced every week, athletic contests are still being won—or lost.

Of course we must admit we are not in favor of abolishing the tendency to cling tenaciously to memories renewed by the playing of a favorite tune or by the sighting of a beautiful sunset. But when such memory-fostering is driven to such extremes as to interfere with a healthy outlook on life, ambition, happiness, or prosperity it is time to take personal inventory of every thought and idea.

We've seen too many students right here in Moscow get off their mental sights merely because of some disgruntled notion about the glorious hey-days of yesteryear, and to them the past far outshadows anything today or tomorrow has to offer.

Memory is a tricky thing. Veterans even re-enlist because of it. They forget completely about the rigors and hardships caused by nights in the mud or by a miserable week or two spent on a rolling, tossing sea; but they remember a certain furlough in Brisbane, or a ship's party on the old Tuscarora, and boom—they're all signed up again, before they even know what happened.

The "good old days" are O. K. in their place. But in our opinion, they are just as head-as-the-obituary columns in the library's volume-bound newspapers stacked away in the A-1 building basement.

TIPS FOR VETS

By GEORGE

Study Abroad Via G.I. Bill

Any veteran who is eligible for study under the G.I. Bill in this country is also eligible to study abroad if he can meet the requirements of the school and country he selects. The requirements are at least 90 days of active service with a discharge other than dishonorable, or less than 90 days if the discharge was for a service-incurred disability.

There are approximately 600 World War II veterans attending foreign institutions of learning under the G.I. Bill. Two-thirds of these are schooling in countries adjacent to the United States. These include Canada and Mexico. The Canal Zone, Palestine, Switzerland, England, Scotland and France have 171 veterans attending schools. The average age of veterans in foreign countries is 28 years, while the average age of vets in this country is 26 years.

Insurance

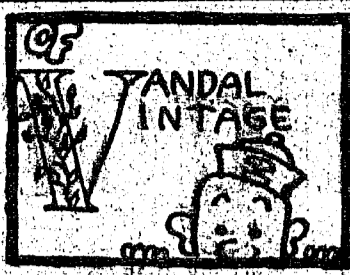

The VA conducts the largest mutual insurance system in the world, and its insurance activities affect more people than any other phase of its operations. Within the last six years, the VA has written approximately 19,000,000 policies on the lives of 18,000,000 veterans. The total face value of these policies amounts to 150 billion dollars.

The VA urges veterans to continue their term insurance during their readjustment to civilian life; and to convert only after they have become reestablished and know what their financial capabilities and insurance needs will be. Every veteran has until October, 1948, at the least, to convert to a permanent policy, and many have considerably longer than that.

The Veterans Administration is opening a drive to get veterans to continue their insurance. It might be said that G.I. insurance is the cheapest protection a veteran can get as well as the most reliable. Since the government assumes many of the operating expenses charged by civilian companies the veteran receives the benefit in lower premiums.

2, 4-D Weed Killer Effects Studied By U. Professors

Further study on the influence of the weed killer 2,4-D on nitrogen fixation in the soil is continuing under Dr. R. E. Carlyle and Don Thorne in the department of bacteriology. Also cooperating are Professor G. O. Baker and Dr. H. E. Dreigne of the agronomy department.

The herbicide is coming into common use before thorough scientific check has been possible. Dr. Carlyle fears that should the development act as a toxic, interfering with the nitrogen fixing attributes of legumes, the growing of legumes in the treated soil would be of no more advantage than the growing of wheat.

The new chemical combination is claimed to be superior in many ways to the weed killers now in use by farmers all over the north-west.

BLANKS ARE HERE

Standard Oil of California scholarship blanks are here, according to H. A. Winner, chairman of the scholarship committee and assistant dean of agriculture. These scholarships are available to the freshman and sophomore students in the schools of agriculture and home economics.

Application blanks may also be secured from Miss Margaret Ritchie of the home economics department.

Good Guess

Ike Echeriza has just become a citizen but he had to do it the hard way. As you know, to become naturalized you must first pass a test which most Americans couldn't. Ike must have had a pretty big night before he went up to take his test because after trying with the question "who was Abraham Lincoln?" for about ten minutes he wrote, "Abraham Lincoln is a well to do sheepherder who lives near Enterprise, Oregon." However, Ike passed and was recently seen in his American History class.

There have been so many girls receiving engagement rings and pins down Ridenbaugh Hall way that it has resulted in some confusion. The single girls decided to have a mass tubbing to save time and energy. So one night they herded Ethel Lacey, Myrna Ritchey, Irene Kirsch, Alice Clark and Lucy Rankin into the bathroom and proceeded to tub them in a tub-full of cold water. But the confusion resulting from trying to handle such a large number turned the tables on the single gals and several of them were amazed to find themselves in the tub. Better take them one at a time, gals.

It happened in accounting class the other day—Prof. John Jones' accounting 81 class. Those of you who are acquainted with Mr. Jones know that he will go to almost any length to get his point across to the students. Thursday afternoon he got a little carried away with the spirit of the thing.

It seems he asked a certain girl (unfortunately we didn't get her name) to explain the "rate of turnover." She didn't quite understand what he meant, so she asked him to explain further. Before he had fully thought out his answer (we are sure), he replied, "Well, if someone asked you to turn over..." and his sentence ended right there as he couldn't have spoken over the laughter had he wanted to do so. We overheard someone ask him a few hours later where he got the sunburn.

Heard . . . Or Seen

Apple for the teacher: Hays hall's Ann Price, practice-teaching in Moscow high school, was accosted by an athletic-looking young senior who demanded: "What are you doing here, little girl?"

Practicing for a Hades tour: Seen at the SAE house this week was shirtless, perspiring John Haag, religiously tending the house furnace, while alternately swearing and praying for controlled heat from the iron monster.

A big bouquet: To Willis Sweet hall inmates, who have furnished nothing but real orchestra music for all their Wednesday night exchanges.

Ode to the Bistr: Seal last Saturday afternoon—Thetas Rhoda Hill and Faye Anderson leading the Perch choral group in a rendition of "It ain't gonna rain no more; it's gonna be dry from now on." Disturbed was "Long" Green, Perch proprietor, who was kept from his afternoon nap.

Gumming up the works: Bill Call of Christmas hall, decided to withdraw from school and go back home to Rigby, then did his semester's washing in the hall's machine which included two dirty levis, parts of his car's engine and a pack of chewing gum.

They don't even sin: Close mouthed are the Tri-Delts, who when asked for a snooping scoop on any triangular transgressor, refused to tattle on each other.

A remedy for hangovers: Helpful Phi Deltis yesterday stormed suffering, sleeping "Mag" Cornwall's room; disturbed his painful alcoholic slumbers by stamping their feet and emitting throbbing guffaws.

Plans Take Shape For New Building

Plans are progressing for the erection of the Christian Institute building early in 1948, according to Rev. Willard E. Stanton, executive secretary of the Idaho Institute for Christian Education. The work could not be started this year due to shortage of building materials.

Tentative plans include a permanent director to be employed by the institute to direct work and help conduct classes beginning next year.

The increased enrollment in religion classes this semester has shown more than ever the need for a new building.

Dear Jason:
Thru your column I would like to write an open letter to L. E. F., the individual who is interested in national and international affairs. The International Relations meeting has been organized for quite some time at U of I, it catching my attention before my enrolling in school.

I'm sure that since L. E. F. has not heard the announcements or read the notices and bulletins concerning these meetings, we may be able to arrange a personal invitation.

Sincerely
D. WINSTON

Discussion Is Held For New Building

The nature of the facilities and the capacity of the proposed Student Union building were the subjects for discussion at an informal meeting of the sub-committee in charge of plans Wednesday in Dean H. E. Lattig's office.

A luncheon will be held March 13 at the Blue Bucket Inn for all members and further plans will be made.

Graduate Teaches GIs in Japan

Jo Betty Wickes, university graduate in 1937, is instructing in the Army Educational Program with the Fifth Air Force in Japan. She is stationed at Chitose, a small city near the capital of Hokkaido.

Miss Wickes plans to return to her home in Seattle during the latter part of the year. She left teaching at Bonners Ferry high school during the war to join the American Red Cross.

When Dixie Howell arrives next week (southern accent and all) maybe he'll bring a system with him that will help to abolish the Vandals' long-enduring defeatist attitude. Come what may, the Vandals will be playing from a different formation next year.

According to the rumors that have sifted through from Alabama, the footballers will work off the famed Notre Dame box offense this year. The system, as it has been displayed by the Crimson Tide in the past, all starts with the team breaking out of the huddle into the regular T formation. From the T, they switch into the Notre Dame box before running the play.

This sounds pretty good in this corner. After witnessing the Vandals massacre the T formation last year, any system should indicate improvement. With the type of material the Vandals had last fall, they probably would have fared fairly well from the Alabama system.

Bits of propaganda concerning Howell's work with the Crimson Tide's All-American Harry Gilmer reached the Idaho campus also. It seems that Gilmer was a little weak in the punting department. After working vigorously through a spring session with Howell, Gilmer's kicking left little to be desired. This columnist wonders what will happen if Dixie improves the kicking of Idaho's Carl Munson, for the Vandal quarterback was getting off boots of 50 and 60 yards consistently last fall.

Vandals Pound Out Fifth Victory, Defeat Cougars

The Idaho Vandal boxers continued their unblemished record of five consecutive wins Saturday night when they pounded out a 4-3 decision over the Washington State Cougars at the Bohler gymnasium in Pullman.

Ted Diehl, Idaho 165 pounder, was unable to fight. Saturday morning he was suddenly taken ill and had to be taken to the infirmary.

The Cougar boxers started early in an attempt to even the series with the Idaho punchers, as Marvin Perry decisioned Vandal Ray Radford in a close one-point 125 lb. event. Radford was in the fight all the way. Jack Nelson, scrappy 130 pounder, made it two straight over Idaho as he rushed his way to victory over Paul Williams. This was Williams' first appearance in the ring in silver and gold togs.

Engberson Wins Again

Idaho came back in the next match with Ray Engberson, fighting from his unorthodox stance, easily outpointing W.S.C.'s Wayne Brock in the 185 lb. division.

Bill Williams, who was moved up another weight to the 155 lb. class, was deprived of a potential victory when the bout between him and his slower opponent, Jim Aylward, was declared "no contest." The match was stopped when Aylward received a cut over the left eye.

In the feature bout of the evening, classy Herb Carlson showed 3000 fans why he is rated as one of the Pacific coast's top boxers as he outpointed Verbie Dimke, freshman 165 lb. contender of Washington State. During the first two rounds Herb constantly forced Dimke back with stiff left jabs to the face, and seemingly had him at the point of a knock-out. However, Dimke recovered from his rubber-leggedness and managed to land several punishing blows in the third frame.

Victory Assured

Laune Erickson, Vandal team captain, assured the Idaho victory as he walloped his way to a technical K.O. over Ben Clifford. Erickson landed numerous body punches to Clifford's abdomen, as he baited the inexperienced Cougar around the ring. Washington State coach Ike Deeter threw in the towel at the end of the second round.

Norwegian Guest Of Home Ec Club

Miss Ingelng Vonen, Norwegian student now attending WSC, will be the guest speaker at the Home Economics club meeting to be held today at 4 p. m. in the home economics rooms of the Ad building.

Jeanne Hoffmann and Wanda Merz are co-chairmen of the program. All members are asked to attend as final arrangements for the home economics-agriculture ball are to be made.

Mural Dope

Intramural director Leon Green announced today that a total of 163 contests were on schedule for the next three weeks. The contests include both B basketball and intramural pingpong.

Delta Chi, climaxing an undefeated season, captured campus laurels in A basketball as it outscored Willis Sweet team two, 24-25, to win going away. The game was hotly contested but Delta Chi gradually pulled away from their opponent and established a good lead. Pressnell of Delta Chi scored 13 points for the winners to top all scorers. Killgaard was high for the losers with eleven.

Following is the Intra-mural pingpong schedule for the next three nights:

Tuesday, March 4

Vandals End With Loss; Beavers To Meet UCLA

Idaho's Vandals closed down their 1946-47 basketball season last Saturday night in Pullman as they suffered their 15th conference reversal in 16 attempts.

The Washington State Cougars, who finished the Northern division conference season resting in the runner-up slot, whacked the lowly Vandals to the tune of 64 to 44. The loss was the fourth straight the Vandals have been handed by Washington State this year.

Eddie Gayda led both quintets in scoring as he racked up a total of 14 points during the course of the evening. Grant Mortenson, playing his last game in Vandal colors, gave his usual stellar performance as he amassed a total of 10 points to lead the Vandals in the scoring column.

Beavers Play Host

Oregon State's Beavers, winner of the Northern division championship, will play host to the University of California at Los Angeles this week-end as the two teams meet to decide the Pacific Coast championship. The powerful Beavers, losers of only one conference game all year, will enter the contest with a good chance of claiming the coastal crown.

Why did the stork...

have to leave a 6-pound 13-ounce baby boy for Mr. and Mrs. Bill Eimers just when the junior varsity cagers were playing the Washington State cagers last Saturday night? When Bill learned that the nerve-wracking event (for Bill that is) was near at hand, he informed Steve Belko that he would have to miss the Kitten game. Bill, who is unusually calm when driving in for a lay-in or stealing the ball from an opponent, almost "fouled out" Saturday night as he sweat out the arrival of his first son. While the jayvees were sitting in the Cougar dressing room between halves, Bill was wearing a path in the floor of the Gritman hospital and smoking enough Chesterfield cigarettes to buy the company three ads in the Argonaut. Word from reliable sources informs us that Bill was flustered, bemuddled, and on the whole, in a state of nervous prostration. Congratulations to you Mrs. Eimers, and we bet that your apartment will be filled with basketball equipment before long.

Swimmers Finish With No Wins

University of Idaho swimming team, winless in seven starts, were relegated to last place in this season's Pacific Coast swimming conference meet held at Seattle, last Saturday. For the second year in a row, the University of Washington swimming team took first place honors. The Huskies winning by a heavy margin, amassed a total of 108 points.

Reuben Johnson was the only man of Idaho's 5 man squad to place in the meet. Johnson took 4th place in the backstroke event for Idaho's 2 points.

This closes the swimming season for the 1946-47 year. Capt Don Anderson, however, was very hopeful about next year's squad. Most of this year's squad was composed of freshmen and will be back next year and also new talent is expected.

Jayvees Drop Last Game To WSC; End Season

Coach Steve Belko's up and down Jayvee cagers closed their regular season last Saturday night at Pullman, losing their fourth straight to the WSC Kittens by a 47 to 36 score.

The Vandal juniors, who sought to clinch a defeat on the only team that has beaten them this season, started strong and led most of the first half only to fold in the late stages of the game. Loss of Bill Eimers, captain and star guard of the Jayvee team, whose wife was expecting a visit from the stork, hurt the Idahoans noticeably during the game, for it was the WSC reserve strength that turned the tide.

Center Red Bourland and forward Tom Mendiola teamed during the first canto to keep Idaho out in front but the Vandals shooting floundered at halftime, and the Kittens pulled into a 23 to 20 lead.

During the second half, the Cougar juniors increased their lead steadily and were going away as the final buzzer sounded. The steady stream of WSC reserves proved too strong for the Idahoans.

The junior varsity's season record is eight games won, four lost out of a 12 game schedule. Included in the schedule was a trip to Couer d'Alene where they chalked up successive victories over the highly touted Lake City All-Stars and North Idaho Junior college.

Skiers Win Meet Over Week End

The University of Idaho ski team added another victory to their list as they walked away with the main event in the inter-mountain giant slalom ski championships held on Mount Spokane over the Selkirk run.

Ski captain, Jack Numbers, copied the top spot in the men's A division in 1:36, followed closely by Lou Berriochoa, who toured the run in 1:36.6. Berriochoa won the best individual time over the double course run in 44.5 seconds. Doris Galey took first in the women's run with a time of 1:55.

DAVIDS'

100th Anniversary of the Birth of Alexander Graham Bell • March 3, 1947

He gave the world a new voice

Alexander Graham Bell was a teacher of the deaf. He was also a trained scientist who made it possible for millions upon millions of people to hear each other by telephone.

The telephone brought something into the world that had not been there before.

For the first time people were able to talk to each other even though separated by long distances.

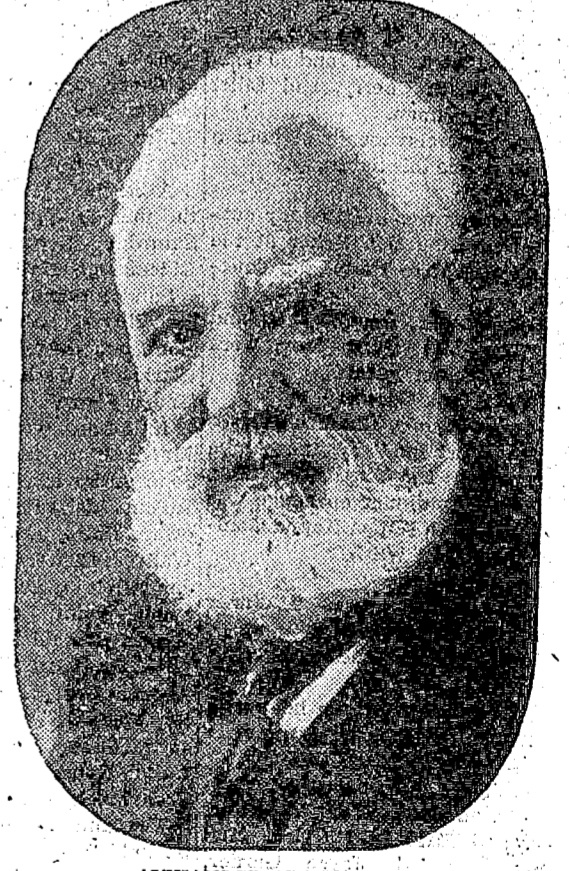

Horizons broadened. A new industry was born, destined to employ hundreds of thousands of men and women and be of service to everyone in the land.

Alexander Graham Bell was a great humanitarian, not only as a teacher of the deaf, but in his vision of the benefits the telephone could bring to mankind.

Bell's vision has come true. It keeps on being an essential part of this nation-wide public service.

Schools To Have ROTC Buildings

President Buchartan, when informed recently of a Washington Army and Navy bulletin stating that federal grants would be allotted to build military science buildings at several universities, said he had not been informed if the university was one being considered.

The bulletin said a plan had been agreed to by the war and navy departments to provide grants up to $150,000 with the understanding that the university would match the sum from its own funds and bear maintenance and operational expenses.

Two years ago the university was designated by the navy for a naval science building, the first unit of which was estimated at $60,000. The unit was at that time approved by the board of regents.

"Inclusion of army personnel in such a building would provide considerably more room in Memorial gymnasium for physical education and athletics," Buchanan said.

This meant that he held his announcement for almost a week. A small matter, but it indicated his desire to have no unfair advantage over the opposing party.

His reasoning included the squabble last year which arose over the insertion in the Argonaut of an advertisement by an unknown person which was particularly unfavorable to the Independent party. This matter was straightened out by a special edition of the paper. Walt wanted no part of any similar deal, no matter how court over the week end to pay small the chance.

Ag students will bid for decorated box lunches and their eating partners following an old-fashioned box-lunch scheme.

Folk dances will be lead by Miss Patti Utgard of the physical education department. Campus radio station KUOI will furnish the music.

The combined committee working on the dance includes Rex Otley, Ag club president; Virginia Geddes, Home Ec club president; Geraldine Potter, Shirley Tanner, Margaret Eke, Bonnie Kuehl, and Robert Ekstone.

Home Economics and Agriculture faculty members are invited as patrons and patronesses.

This meant that he held his announcement for almost a week. A small matter, but it indicated his desire to have no unfair advantage over the opposing party.

His reasoning included the squabble last year which arose over the insertion in the Argonaut of an advertisement by an unknown person which was particularly unfavorable to the Independent party. This matter was straightened out by a special edition of the paper. Walt wanted no part of any similar deal, no matter how court over the week end to pay small the chance.

And there was the freshman who couldn't get a man, so she purchased a monkey and waited for evolution to take place.

A man's desire is to protect a beautiful woman from every one but himself.

Plans Are Made By Honorary

Kappa Delta Pi, educational honorary, held its monthly business and dinner meeting last Tuesday at the Campus Cafe with Lois Little, president, presiding. Plans for a social evening in the near future were made and orders were taken for keys.

Mr. L. C. Robinson, superintendent of Moscow city schools, addressed the society on the topic, "You can't teach without it." Mr. Robinson emphasized to the group that imagination was one of the most important prerequisites for the prospective teacher.

Kappa Delta Pi will hold its next business meeting at 6:45 p. m. March 25, in the Educational Workshop.

IDAHO GRAD AT WSC

Miss Virginia Dempsey, recently appointed advisor for the home management house at Washington State college, will be the guest of honor at a reception given by WSC home economics students tomorrow. The reception will take place in the home management house.

Miss Dempsey was graduated from Idaho with a degree in home economics.

Blood Donors Aid Student's Wife

Mrs. Lowell L. Clark, wife of a university electrical engineering student, has been reported as out of danger and improving rapidly by the Gritman Hospital in Moscow.

Mr. Clark was reported in serious condition Wednesday as the result of severe hemorrhaging. After an emergency radio appeal by KUOI more than 50 university students offered to donate blood. Four transfusion were required to bring Mrs. Clark out of the danger zone.

Each team forfeited one bout. Beaver boxers won their matches against Warren Briggs and Darrell Lott.
