University En Masse Welcomes Howell To Idaho

'Dixie' Howell Meets 3800 Of His Supporters

At 11 a. m. yesterday Idaho's new football coach explained to his new fans very briefly what he intended to do in his new position. Howell was introduced by Athletic Director George Greene after President Buchanan had expressed the desire for a re-awakened athletic program at Idaho.

Alums On Hand To Greet Dixie

Three alumni, Harold Drummond, Jim Petano and Ozzie Walsh, proved their interest in their alma mater, yesterday when they drove the 150 miles from Kellogg to attend the assembly welcoming "Dixie" Howell.

Thompson Reveals Candidates Chosen For Gala Carnival

"Sexy Sarah" and "Swoony Sam", candidates for the AWS "I" club Carnival Saturday night have been selected by each campus living group, according to Jane Thompson, committee co-chairman.

Council Completes World SSF Drive For Foreign Relief

Over $700 has been collected in the annual Interchurch Council World Student Service Fund Drive held last week, announced June Sutton, chairman of the drive. Mortar Board assisted with the faculty canvass and Spurs and Intercollegiate Knights contacted students in the university residences. Members of Interchurch Council also collected donations.

Faculty contributions to WSSF are not as yet complete. Of the university residences, Alpha Phi, Pi Beta Phi, and Sigma Chi had 100 per cent donation, based on percentage of the house contributing.

City Schools Use Idaho Students For Instructors

Fifty-five practice teachers, 33 women and 22 men, are enrolled for practice teaching in Moscow schools this semester as compared with the 16 enrolled last semester, according to L. C. Robinson, superintendent of schools.

Robinson states that not all of the group will go into the teaching profession but said, "We can reasonably expect that more than one-half of these will be teaching next year. It is a hopeful sign in view of the teacher shortage."

The largest number of practice teachers in any department is the nine men practice-teaching boys' physical education. These men observe and direct group activities in recreation and exercise.

Practice teachers are given classes to teach in their major fields so far as is possible, according to Robinson. They receive cards authorizing them to teach in a scheduled class.

Arranging students' teaching assignments so they won't conflict with university classroom work has been difficult said Robinson, and added that the problem of getting in ninety hours for students in the four-credit course is one yet to be solved.

A new feature of the training program this year was the preliminary meeting in which practice teachers were introduced to their supervising teachers and indoctrinated with routine, policies, and regulations of Moscow schools.

"Moscow schools welcome the opportunity to give these prospective teachers an opportunity to learn first hand some of the problems of teaching," said Robinson.

Lt. J. Laurence Willhide of the department of naval science will be the featured artist at the French soiree Tuesday, March 18, in the Faculty club at 7:30 p.m.

The program, conducted entirely in French, will be devoted to French Impressionism. Lt. Willhide will play compositions by Debussy and give an analysis and commentary on them.

Impressionism in art will be represented by a display of reproductions of French painting of the present century. The spirit of French literature of the same period will be discussed by Professor Arthur H. Beattie, who will read examples of French Symbolist poetry.

The program will be followed by informal conversation and singing in French.

Idaho's 'Dixie' Is Received By Cheering Student Body

"Dixie" Howell was enthusiastically welcomed to the university by a cheering gym full of officials, faculty members and students at the assembly in Memorial gymnasium yesterday morning when he made his first official appearance on the Idaho campus.

Foundations Laid For New Buildings On Idaho Campus

An unprecedented crowd of 3800 led by the Pep band, and yell king Art Humphrey aided by Ozzie Walsh, an Idaho cheer leader before the war, welcomed "Dixie" with cheers and music as he walked down the aisle to the speaker's stand.

ASUI President Norm Frederick served as master of ceremonies during the assembly and introduced the first speaker, President J. E. Buchanan. President Buchanan stressed the importance of the various schools of the university keeping an eye on public opinion.

He also welcomed the appropriations granted by the last session of the Idaho legislature and commended the "I" Vets, the Argonaut and the university chamber of commerce for the part they played in obtaining this appropriation.

President Buchanan stated that the committee headed by Dean T. S. Kerr had chosen "Dixie" unanimously for head football coach and asked that the students continue to give him wholehearted support.

George Greene, director of athletics, gave a brief review of "Dixie's" collegiate and professional career in football and also his record as a coach at Arizona State and Alabama and closed by introducing "Dixie."

In a brief talk Coach Howell asked for the cooperation of the student body, the citizens of the state and the faculty. He announced the organization would be changed some and added that he hoped to build a football team that Idaho will not be ashamed of.

Also speaking were Harold Cortellson of the North Idaho chamber of Commerce, John Evans, president of the "I" club, Ethel Jane Kopelman, president of AWS, and James Lyle, secretary of the Idaho Alumni association. All pledged their support to "Dixie" and the new athletic program.

Clarice Hove, pretty Alpha Phi from Troy, Idaho, was chosen by the art staff of Esquire magazine as Alpha Tau Omega's Esquire Girl-1947.

Following is a quote from the magazine's promotion manager to John Mattmiller, who handled the contest for the ATO's.

"Well, you can go out and phone Miss Clarice Hove, and tell her that the Art Director and Art Staff of Esquire, Inc., have chosen her Esquire Girl of Alpha Tau Omega.

"Then you can phone Miss Margaret Cranston (whom I wouldn't mind phoning myself) and tell her that she is their second choice." Byron A. Bonnhelm Esquire Promotion

United Nations Delegates To Receive Recommendations Of College Group

Representatives from 34 colleges concluded their work at the second Pacific Northwest College Congress at Reed College in Portland on March 8, with the following recommendation which will be presented to the United States delegation to the United Nations:

- 1. Higher standards of living and economic security.
- 2. Basic political rights and civil liberties to all individuals.
- 3. Cultural autonomy to all peoples.
- 4. Eventual abolishment of national military forces.
- 5. Freedom of travel, communication, and the interchange of ideas.

Working in committees which handled different subjects, the congress adopted this as their basic resolution and augmented it by specific recommendations.

Idaho students will have an opportunity to observe the findings of the congress more closely next week when the resolution will be distributed in poll form. Students will be asked to indicate their approval or disapproval and return the forms which will be checked and the results compiled for comparison with that from other colleges.

Phi Deltas Take Old Bell Down; Hoist New One

Apparently confident that Idaho will be athletically powerful next year, men of Phi Delta Theta fraternity mounted a new victory bell on their front balcony Saturday afternoon.

A crowd of almost 50 people momentarily blocked traffic on Elm street as the old bell, cracked like one of its famous brothers in Philadelphia, was lowered to the ground.

Lifting the 700-pound bell into gineering problem to the fraternity position presented a difficult enemy, but the job was accomplished with the aid of two 30-ft. telephone poles, a block and tackle, and the combined muscle power of 20-odd men.

Onlookers gasped at one point in the proceedings when a rope snapped and the bell, halfway up to its balcony position, began to tilt to the left. It didn't fall, however, and enthusiastic cheers were raised a moment later, when it reached its cradle safely.

The new bell, which was presented to the fraternity by the Bunker Hill & Sullivan mines of Kellogg, will ring out whenever an Idaho athletic team wins a victory. Spokesmen from the Phi Delt group claim that its tone excels that of any bell in the Pacific Northwest.

Dailey Announces 38 IK Initiates

DEAN WARNS CELEBRATORS The new Idaho State College went wild with celebrations, parades, and expressions of joy recently, but Dr. Carl W. McIntosh, executive dean, added a note of caution: "We had best take a deep breath before we go into the future."

Competition On For 'Sam And Sarah' Tiles

Audience Receives Student Recital With Enthusiasm

Students, faculty members and towns-people attended the combined senior recital of Lalene Cargill, mezzo-soprano, and Evelyn Fisher, pianist, Thursday evening at the university Auditorium.

Miss Cargill, who was accompanied by Lucile Thompson, received several encores following her recital presentation. For the first part of her program she sang "Gla il sole dal gange," Scarlatti; "Lungi dal car bene," Secchi; "Dehl non voler (Anna Bolena)," Donizetti; and "Invocazione di Orfeo" by Peri.

Miss Fisher then played Beethoven's "Sonata, opus 2, no. 3," followed by Miss Cargill's singing of "My Native Land" by Gretchaninoff; Rachmaninoff's "O, Thou Billowy Harvest Field;" "Noon and Night," Tyson; and "Sheep and Lambs" by Homer.

Miss Fisher, a candidate for the B. A. degree in music, then played "Nocturne, op. 51, No. 2," Chopin; "Prelude, op. 32 no. 12," Rachmaninoff; "Legend of the Old Moorish Castle" by Chavarril; and "Etude op. 8, no. 5" by Scriabine.

Concluding the program Miss Cargill sang an original composition "Query," followed by "Wings of Night," Watts; "Joy," Edwards; and "Heather" by Warren. Miss Cargill is a candidate for the B. S. degree in music education.

The GOLDEN FLEECE
by Jason

If everyone else can do it—and they are—Jason can do it too... Welcome to the University of Idaho, Dixie!

This welcome is from the Argonaut staff. Every other soul attending this institution who has a pair of shoes was at the gym yesterday morning to say "hello" to you. And I don't want you to get the idea that some people here don't wear shoes. It's just that some of the veteran's checks are late... about six months late that is. Despite the fact that there isn't enough copy to fill the paper at this juncture, Jason is happy. Even happy enough to pass out printed bouquets.

Number One
First goes to the students for showing a dyed-in-the-wool southerner that hospitality is not monopolized in his locale. Not even that many people showed up when the Ad building burned down in '36. "Ghost" Mix (he writes speeches for everybody on the campus) estimated the homey little gathering at 3800. That's 97 more than have registered in school. Where did the extra 97 come from? The faculty, Son! It has to be some do to get that many of the faculty together in one place! The last time they did it, the announcement of an increase in pay was the cause!

Pep Band
Next in line is the pep band. That rejuvenated group of characters would have made O! Man Mose stamp his feet and clap his hands—and he's dead, neighbor—been dead for years. He killed himself kickin' the gong the last time Idaho beat WSC, so you know it was years ago. Like to do a little gong kickin' myself for that reason before I die.

"O! Ozzie"
Next handful of posies goes to Ozzie Walsh, and to Art Humphrey for sharing the platform with him.

Without discredit to Art, Ozzie could ring cheers out of a funeral party. The infectious son-of-gun doesn't have a self-conscious bone in his body. If you listen to him for a minute you're trapped. Your feet start stomping the floor your hands start banging painfully together, and you make more noise than seems right or human.

In the Soup
Some kid brought her grandma to the show just to keep her out of trouble. The old gal got the spirit and made more noise than the "I" club usually does. At the close of the rally, this was her remark, "If that 'damned Rebel' doesn't beat WSC next year I'll do him up brown, and serve him with turnip greens and black-eyed peas." That's quite an order Dixie.

OK Scotty
Last of the tulips go to the speakers at the rally and especially to "Scotty" Kopelman. She "out-shined" 'em all, for Jason's money. You can't fool me, Scotty, you've been taking a correspondence course in oratory.

The Veteran As A Student

To what extent has the influence of the veteran dominated the American college campuses? How have veterans reacted to student life after spending years in their country's service? Has the cause for universal higher education benefited by the colleges' experience with the veteran?

In attempting to answer these and similar questions, Newsweek magazine recently conducted an investigation of a typical college campus—that of the University of New Hampshire. Although this school is in the East, its enrollment, veteran ratio, and position as a state university so closely approximates the situation existing at the University of Idaho that the result of the survey warrants our attention.

The investigation was held last semester when New Hampshire had 3,476 registered students. Idaho had at that time 3,404 students. New Hampshire had 2,198 veterans; 2,133 were enrolled at Idaho. Women numbered 928 at New Hampshire. At this university 786 women were registered.

Newsweek writers found that veterans did not completely control campus life, but that all students and faculty members were visibly affected by their presence. Snowed under was the old "rah-rah" spirit of the two pre-war decades by the new atmosphere of students' striving to gain as much education in as short a time as possible.

The probe revealed the familiar fact that veterans' subsistence allowances were not high enough. Some veterans seemed to regard the monthly checks from the government as a "windfall"; others believed the subsistence a natural and rightful consequence serving as additional pay for enduring military life.

New Hampshire faculty members admitted they were wrong about two pre-conceived theories concerning the veteran influx: Ex-soldiers and sailors did not rush into technical training as they had anticipated, and the advance pessimism about the tough adjustments veterans would have to make proved misleading.

Durham, New Hampshire, and Moscow, Idaho, have equally troubling shortages. Newsweek discovered that Durham, like Moscow, offers few summer-time jobs, and that students, especially married veterans, have a problem in deciding whether or not to face the expense of moving to more lucrative areas during vacation.

In that respect, New Hampshire differs from Idaho. The eastern school offers students a twelve-week summer school session, equivalent to a normal semester's education. Such a program at Idaho would solve many individual veterans' difficulties, and enable them to bring nearer the glorious day of graduation.

We agree with Newsweek that the results of the New Hampshire survey parallel almost every institution of higher learning in America today. The colleges' experience with veterans is decidedly a strong argument for government-subsidized higher education in years to come. But the outgrowth of universal higher learning has not yet been tested. As it stands now, this part of the G.I. Bill has proved to be a success. Many economists, however, believe that a deeper scheme of mass learning for all who qualify and desire it. Only time will tell.

TIPS FOR VETS

By GEORGE

Varied responses were heard for some time last semester when this column came out with a story suggesting that it was possible that an organized communistic group operated on or near the Idaho campus. At that time it was most necessary to hold down all unconfirmed publicity about the university for we were hoping for an adequate budget appropriation from the state legislature. The story was therefore cut in parts by the editors and when it appeared it was not complete and lacked concrete evidence for any of its points. Due to this cut, the story, in simple words, made no sense, and prompted one university professor to ask for proof and to accuse this writer of vicious journalistic technique.

Admittedly the story, with important parts cut out, did have a high suggestibility of red activities with no proof whatsoever. For this we can thank the editors who, to avoid misunderstandings, cut parts which actually supported the assertions made. Now the legislature has met and has demonstrated their confidence by supporting the university financially and everyone was glad to see it. For this reason this writer believes that the whole story should be told and the facts behind it all presented for approval or disapproval by the readers.

It is doubted by this writer that to print facts of a veterans organization that veterans have the right to know about is a "vicious" type of journalistic technique. And so in offering the proof that the red allegation made earlier this year has some basis the full column in the next issue will be devoted to printing a summary of this material. A good majority of the readers prefer to joke on the idea of being whiskered bomb-toters roaming around the college campuses and this is fine for the Communistic idea is to cause worry, dissention and, if possible, open trouble. The aim in this whole business is to inform veterans of facts of the veterans organization in question so that they may then have both sides of the picture. There are too many phony vet organizations being established. More on this next issue.

Greek Houses Pick Heads For Coming School Term

Several fraternity and sorority houses held elections this week and announce their officers for the coming year. Gamma Phi Beta chose Geneva Ferguson to act as president; Phyllis Halley, vice president and social chairman; Shirley Raymond, corresponding secretary; Margaret Jackson, secretary; and Jan Garber, treasurer.

Eve Smith was elected president of the Kappa Alpha Theta house. Other officers are Jane Griffin, vice president; Paula Renard, corresponding secretary; Yvonne Whiting, treasurer; Reatha Inghram, social chairman; Gerry Stanfield, house manager; Pat Green, social chairman, and Sheila Darwin, rush chairman.

President of Delta Tau Delta is Bob Dahlstrom. Grant Young was chosen vice president; Maurice Paulsen, recording secretary, and Walt Jain, corresponding secretary.

Holding formal installation tonight will be Delta Delta Delta. Officers to be installed will be Pat Jordan, president; Eleanor Andrew, vice president; Pat Knox, social chairman; Vivian McLaughlin, marshal; Dorothy Monico, recording secretary; Marie Hamp-informal, Jack Culbertson, president, called Miss Hove forward to receive the gold cup signifying the choice. At the same time she received a large bouquet of spring flowers.

Patrons for the dance were Major and Mrs. F. V. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Kerby.

CHAIN LETTER FAD APPEARS
 An old fad, the chain letter, has reappeared in Moscow. Several university students have received letters, which instead of asking the reader to send a dime, threaten him with bad luck if he breaks the chain.

Of last year's opponents Idaho has won 2 from Oregon, tied 4 and lost 25. To Stanford, the Vandals have dropped 4 and won none.

With Montana we were on the right side of the ledger—22 to 7 with one tied. From Oregon State, Idaho has captured 5, tied none, and lost 14.

Well, that's the way it stands. Those big shoulders on meaty Joe Vandal come from holding every other team in the conference up, (from the cellar, I mean) and he's tired of it.

When you start at the bottom there's no place to go but up. Every student and the school is squarely behind you and your gang. Go to it, Man!

Schuldt Presents Musical Recital Tonight at 8

Mrs. Agnes Crawford Schuldt, pianist and faculty instructor, will be presented in a recital at the university auditorium at 8 p. m. tonight. Her program follows:

"Andante con Variazioni in F minor" by Haydn, "Gigue in Bb major" by Bach, "Sonata in Ab major, op. 110" by Beethoven (moderate cantabile molto espressivo, Allegro molto, Adagio ma non troppo-Arioso dolente Fuga).

Part two, three Brahms Intermezzos—A major, op. 118, Cb minor, op. 117, C major, op. 119, and the Brahms Eb major rhapsodie, op. 119. The three selections in the final group, all by Debussy, are "La Soiree dans Grenade," "Clair de lune," and "L'iste joyeuse."

Mrs. Schuldt has spent the past five years in the American Red Cross as a hospital recreation worker. "Clair de lune" was often requested by the wounded soldiers she helped in veterans' hospitals in Africa, Italy, and France as well as in the United States. For that reason she will present this universal favorite in this evening's concert.

Mrs. Schuldt received her bachelor and master degrees in music at Syracuse university. She studied piano with Ernest Hutcheson, New York City, Nadia Boulanger, Paris, and Harold Bauer, New York City. In 1930 she was a piano instructor on the Idaho campus. After leaving here, she was an instructor in piano for two years at Miami university and has also been assistant professor of piano at the Randolph-Macon woman's college.

March winds and general cold weather caused a lull in the social activities of the houses and halls. Initiation dances held the spotlight, with Sunday dinner guests running a close second. # DON'T QUOTE ME

By GENE ROSE

Dear Mr. Howell:

Today we of the sports staff would like to dedicate this edition of the Argonaut to your arrival on the Idaho campus and join the myriad of sports enthusiasts in wishing you luck in your attempt to bring the Vandals out of the conference cellar in football next fall. Your road to success will, however, be obstructed with the countless barriers that have loomed before other football coaches who have strived for the same goal that you seek to attain.

Primarily, you probably face three walls in your conquest for a winning Vandal football team and the first of these is to completely abolish Idaho's long-enduring defeatist attitude. Fans are so used to seeing the Vandals massacred on the gridiron that spirit has sunk to an all-time low.

Next, Idaho has long been regarded as a graveyard for new coaches. The Babe Browns, Francis Schmidts, and Ted Banks have all come with high aspirations of placing the Vandals on top but have finished with less hair and poor records. Banks came the nearest to placing the deflated Vandals at the top of the heap and Schmidt might have with fair material.

Finally, being the celebrity that you are, numerous fans will expect miracles from you the first year, which no average fan has the right to expect.

We know that with the fullest cooperation from the state, the university, the sport fans, and I Club, and your own gridsters, you will field a team next year that probably won't win the coast title, but it will be a team that will not take a back seat to any. Anyway, "Welcome to Idaho, Coach Dixie Howell!"

While attending a luncheon held in honor of Dixie Howell Monday afternoon, every guest's eyes (including mine) were focused on the actions of the striking young coach. As he walked into the room where dinner was to be served, it was easy to depict the springy, effortless motion of his walk that characterizes so many fleet-footed athletes. His every move seemed to overflow with grace and assurance of an All-American. At dinner, he professed the charm and confidence of an established after-dinner speaker. Stories of Alabama, of baseball, football, fishing and other interesting items flowed fluently from his natural vocabulary.

Your columnist naturally thought that the general trend of conversation at the luncheon would concern stories of fabulous Crimson Tide football teams or describe the exploits of Harry Gilmer or maybe Don Hutson. But we were shocked to find ourselves engaged in a conversation dealing with the planting and cultivating of peanuts in Alabama or the fattening of hogs by feeding them the peanuts. Knowing nothing of either hogs or peanuts, I waited patiently and finally struck a conversation on Alabama football. Dixie was "at home" with football for the main subject, and words of wisdom concerning the way football is played in the South immediately flowed forth. He was indeed a charming conversationalist and predicting linguists will be surprised to learn that Dixie didn't bring an extensive "you-all" accent.

Dixie stated four words that seemed to summarize the basic traits of the new coach and also transfuse new blood into the Vandals. When he said, "I hate to lose," this seemed to indicate the prevailing spirit of the Alabama football team and students that Dixie has carried to Idaho. If he can install this attitude into all footballers and Vandal followers, we can't remain at the bottom of the ladder very long.

Every person who has met Dixie has been deeply impressed by his sincerity and friendly air. After talking with the coach for a few minutes, it seems as if you have known him for years.

where his wife stands with the University of Idaho students (at least with the male section). That low, long whistle that some eager student emitted perfectly expressed the sentiments of the entire male group in the gym.

Howell Chooses Two New Assistant Coaches

Coach Picks Ennis, Shoemaker For Fall Aids

Millard F. (Dixie) Howell, new University of Idaho football mentor, today chose two former Alabama grid stars as assistant Vandal coaches. The appointments were announced by President J. E. Buchanan, subject to formal approval by the board of regents.

Ben Ennis, who played for the Crimson Tide in the late twenties, will coach the Vandal line. And Perron Shoemaker, Alabama end from 1935 to 1937, will tutor the ends.

Howell, who arrived in Moscow Sunday, said he expects Shoemaker here this week. Ennis will arrive later this month, after completing work on his law degree at Alabama.

The new line coach played under Wallace Wade when the Tide received its first Rose Bowl bid in the twenties. He served as line coach at Louisiana State university for 14 years and in 1944 returned to Alabama as an assistant.

After his graduation from Alabama, Shoemaker became end coach at Chattanooga university. He coached a service team overseas during the war and last year returned to Chattanooga as end coach and head basketball mentor.

Opening of spring football at Idaho "will depend upon the weather and the number of football players out for other spring sports," Howell said today. The new mentor said he is anxious to begin spring drills, but first wants to "explain my system" to prospective gridmen.

Cinder Squad Has Many Prospects

Coach Stan Hiserman announced today that prospects for the 1947 track team include fourteen returning lettermen.

Among distance runners on hand are Art Humphrey, Al Denman, Ward Stroschein, Bob Eystone, and Marvin Badger.

Lee Balderson, 880 yd., and Bill Mathews, 440 yard, comprise the distance sprinters.

Especially strong in hurdles, Hiserman can count on such men as Ted Lake, Leroy Beeson, John Taylor, who gained national prominence in 1945, and Jay Gano are expected to strengthen the squad further when they turn out.

In the field events, Lyle Fagnan and Dean Lewis are both experienced weight men, the same applying to Max Lattig, pole vaulter.

No Vandals Make ND Select Teams

Four Oregon State basketball players were named yesterday on the United Press all-northern division Pacific Coast conference first and second teams. Not an Idaho player was mentioned on either team.

Those placed on the first team were Rocha, Oregon State, and Sheridan, Washington State, forwards; Nichols, Washington, center; Beck, Oregon State, and Williamson, Oregon, guards.

Players making the second team included: forwards, Crandall, Oregon State, and White, Washington; center, Hayes, Oregon; guards, Jorgenson, Washington State, and Silver, Oregon State.

Beneath the spreading walnut tree The Village Smithy squirms, He had been eating walnuts, And they were full of worms.

Washington Water Power employees seem to like their work. The company service of these four men totals 145 years. Fifteen employees have been with the company for 40 years, 91 for 30 years, 78 for 25 years, 322 have over 20 years' service. Fair practices, considerate policies, keep "Washington Water Power folks" together, a long time.

Intramural Basketball Champions

Delta Chis Finish 'A' League Play Without Mar

With a whirlwind finish, the slow-starting Delta Chi casaba artists won the campus intramural basketball championship by overwhelming a hard-driving Willis Sweet team, 34-25. Undeclared in regular league play, the Delta Chi quintet earned its berth in the championship game by scuttling LDS in a semi-final playoff.

Phil Pressnell and Bob Pace, Delta Chi co-coaches, were faced at the season's start with a turnout of 40 men who varied little in ability. The coaches instituted a system of simple blocks and cutaways coupled with a fast break, and it was this combination offense which paid off on the scoreboard. On defense the Delta Chis switched from zone to man-to-man as the occasion warranted, and no team was able to score consistently against this flexible barrier.

Outstanding at the guard position for the Delta Chis was aggressive Carl Munson, whose spot-passing and evasive dribbling contributed much to the champions' offense. From the forward slot Phil Pressnell dunked in the lion's share of points with a tricky one-hand push shot. Jack Black did the heavy work under the back-boards, capturing more than his share of the rebounds. The starting five was ably assisted throughout the season by a host of capable reserves.

Cougars Pin Idaho Wrestlers Again

Washington State college wrestlers won five out of six bouts here Saturday afternoon to defeat the University of Idaho 21 to 5.

The Vandals lone victory came when Len Mahlestrom, 155 pounds, threw WSC's Charles Jackson in seven minutes and 30 seconds.

Idaho Marksmen Capture Sixth Army Area Trophy

The Idaho rifle team shot its way to first place in the Sixth Army Area, capturing the William Randolph Hearst trophy, Colonel B. H. Hensley of the ROTC unit here was advised today by Sixth Army headquarters.

Firing in a telegraphic match against 29 universities and colleges in Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Arizona, Utah, and Montana, the Idahoans out-shot their nearest competitor by 29 points to attain the high score of 938. They will represent the Sixth Army in national competition.

Yarosky High Alexander Yarosky, Elizabeth, N. J., dead-eye of the Idaho team, won the individual high score award in the Sixth Army Area. Competing against 144 other individuals for that honor, he splattered the bulls-eye to score 191 out of a possible 200. Until last September he had never held a rifle in his hands. But he is familiar with guns. As a member of an AAF bomber crew in World War II, he kept a machine gun chattering during combat.

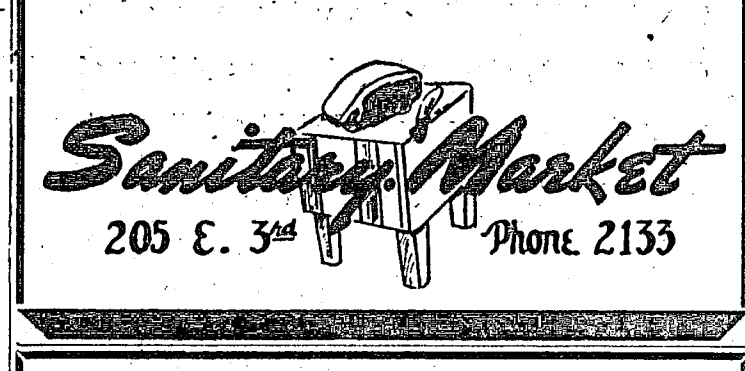

This year's victory for the Idahoans was the seventh consecutive year that they have finished "in the money" in Sixth Army competition, winning four firsts, two seconds and one third. One of the first places also won the national award.

Members of this year's team besides Yarosky are Shelby D. Le-nander, Wardner, Idaho; John E. Blair, Buhl, Idaho; Gene L. Sharp, Spokane, Wash.; and Von J. Johnson, Rye, Colo. The team is coached by M/Sgt. Jefferson D. Morgan.

Howell's Record Earns Top Spot In Vandalville

Millard "Dixie" Howell, popular new Idaho grid coach, and one of the more famous names in Southern football, has had a varied and successful coaching career since starring in Alabama's 29-13 defeat of Stanford in the 1935 Rose Bowl game.

"Dixie" began his coaching duties in the fall of 1935 when he signed as head coach of the University of Mexico, Mexico City. The following season he served as backfield coach at Loyola of New Orleans and after one year of pro football with the 1937 champion Washington Redskins, Howell became head football coach at Arizona State College at Tempe. He coached the Arizona team from 1938 through the 1941 season, winning the Border conference championship in 1939 and 1940. During those years, he tutored a team that went undefeated.

Howell joined the U. S. naval reserve in August 1942 and served 39 months, being discharged in November 1945. During the war years he was active in all phases of athletics. He was director of athletics at the naval air station, King City, California; director of welfare and recreation for the Marshall and Gilbert Islands in the Pacific area. He held the rank of lieutenant commander.

"Selection of a football coach for Idaho has been underway since the first of the year," explained President Buchanan in announcing the appointment of the 35-year-old All-American. "First the athletic committee, football players, associated students representatives and alumni leaders drew up a list of specifications on the kind of a coach Idaho wanted. It was an exacting list. Then we began searching for a man that would meet these specifications. I am happy to say that Howell does on all points. His championships at Arizona State College are ample proof of his coaching ability. I am confident that Howell, plus statewide alumni support and the support of others who are sincerely interested in putting Idaho back on the conference football map, will be the answer to our problem."

Howell, who can't understand why "Idaho is always on the bottom" and says he "intends to do something about it," is well on his way to that goal, stating that his formula is plenty of hard work all the time. The old adage, "all work makes 'Jack' and plenty of it," holds true with Howell as far as football is concerned.

Idaho 'Answer Program' Outdoes Radio Shows In Quantity And Variety

If all the questions asked annually on radio quiz shows were laid end to end they wouldn't stretch half as far as the questions that come each year from citizens of Idaho to the university and its various service agencies.

About 100,000 questions are received yearly by the university. The college of agriculture alone gets around 30,000 inquiries every year from farmers who want to know everything from how to use DDT to how to waterproof potato cellars. Moreover, this 30,000 total represents only questions coming to the main experiment station and extension offices and does not include the untold thousands of questions asked personally of the county agricultural extension agents and other agricultural field representatives.

Touchy Subject
Some of the questions in the university's mailbag are urgent. Take the one, for instance, of a miner living on a high mountain peak that was subject to lightning almost daily. His problem: how to prevent lightning from blowing his dynamite storage shack and himself off the peak. The college of engineering advised him to build a new storage shack out of corrugated steel and ground the whole thing.

Buried treasure was hinted in a letter to the school of mines. The writer wanted to know "whether there is any instrument that could be used to reveal the location of gold coins packed, presumably in a metal box, and buried in soil within two or three feet of the surface." He was advised that gold has no magnetic property and presumably neither would the metal box in which the gold might be packed have any effect on a magnetic needle or any other electronic instrument.

Bear Facts
Oddest request received recently by the school of mines came from a former Idahoan stationed with the U. S. armed forces at Walblingen, Germany. Having plenty of spare time, he had become embroiled in an argument with another former Idahoan as to whether impressions found in the ancient lava beds of the Craters of the Moon in southern Idaho were made by bears. The school of mines sent a reply back to Germany stating that if any bears had wandered over the lava while it was still hot and impressionable they must have been a specie that came equipped with asbestos shoes.

Many questions received are so general that they are difficult to answer, and university officials urge that persons with problems be as specific as possible. For instance, one writer wanted to know "all about doctors." The director of university health could only refer him to about 20 general medical books likely to be found in any library.

A large number of Idahoans are interested in the history of their state. About 500 queries are received annually by the American History department.

Philosophy Student
Idaho also has some keen philosophers as evidenced by a package that was recently received by the department of philosophy from a small logging town in northern Idaho. Enclosed was a new book on Aristotle, with about 100 carefully penned comments on the margins. An accompanying letter explained that the purchaser of the book thought the author had sorely misquoted Aristotle and had given many wrong impressions of the ancient Greek's philosophy.

Intrigued, Idaho's philosophy professors went over the entire book and compared it with the works of various noted authorities on Aristotle. The professors agreed 100 per cent with the logging town philosopher.

"His comments on Aristotle," said Prof. Robert L. Ormsby, head of the philosophy department, "were the most scholarly I have ever seen on the subject."

March Blot Runs Not-So-Gentle Satire, Pictures

Between its front cover presenting the "Gentleman of Distinction" and the cigarette ad on the back cover, this month's Blot shows some gentle sarcas and not-so-gentle humor.

The cover man is being elected this week by advance sale purchasers from candidates named by the men's living groups. In connection of the candidate list appearing last Friday, Jack Dana is the Sigma Nu contestant, and Earl Hayes represents Beta Theta Pi.

In the way of satire, Stan Godecke sticks a pin into a campus class in his "They Climbed the Golden Stairs." Bob Booth deflates high society with his satirical fable, "Beatrice, the Bare Bear." Mrs. Virginia Jackson aims her missile at the typical veterans' wife in her "In Search of Sympathy."

Spring Atmosphere
Shirley Cowan, catches the spring atmosphere in her short story, "It's a Mighty Nice Day." Maurice Paulsen continues his serial "Thirty-Seven Sisters" with the second episode. Marge Morris contributes both art and humor with "The Beachcombers." John Dillon relates an amusing campus incident in his "Tough Customer."

Miss Patti Utgard, the Idaho boxing team, and campus swing bands each have double-page picture spreads. Other articles, seven cartoons, and the usual four-line cartoons complete the issue.

Women Join Spurs

Spur initiation was held Sunday morning at Forney hall for Wanda Merz, Donna Lou Taylor, and Mary Little.

Two delegates to the United Nations meeting will be chosen from the representatives at Reed college. The 68 delegates at the Congress represented more than 75,000 college and university students.

Guam has a congress, but control of the government is in the hands of the U. S. Navy.

Here's More About United Nations

win Rinder were the official delegates from the University of Idaho. Miss Ingraham reported that the Congress was inspiring in its aims and the experience gained was of great personal value to her.

Miss Ingram was elected to the executive committee for the next year which will meet four times before the congress convenes for its third meeting at a college yet to be designated. The committee is composed of two delegates each from Oregon and Washington and one each from Idaho, Montana, and British Columbia.

Among the duties of the committee are the selection of a site for next year's congress and the formation of a constitution.

Mrs. Roosevelt
Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who gave the keynote address of the congress, met Saturday with the new executive committee for lunch. Mrs. Roosevelt outlined the aims of the organization and was enthusiastic about the attention given the studies of college people on international subjects by our own national congress and members of the United Nations delegation.

Impressed
Miss Ingraham said of her contact with Mrs. Roosevelt, "She impressed me with her honest sincerity, her deep knowledge of world affairs and her quiet sense of humor."
