Meeting Is Held At Vancouver For Presidents

Walt Smith, newly elected ASUI president, and Norm Fredekind, this year's president, returned to Moscow Sunday from Vancouver, B. C., where they attended the annual meeting of the Pacific Student Presidents' Association. Smith left Moscow Thursday evening, arriving in Vancouver by plane Friday morning. Fredekind had arrived earlier.

Discussion groups and forums were held at the meeting. Suggestions were given to new student body presidents and addresses were made by faculty members of the University of British Columbia.

Nearly 80 incumbent and recently elected student body presidents attended the conference from schools in Idaho, Oregon, Washington, California, Nevada, Arizona, and Mexico. Delegates from Hawaii and Alaska were unable to make the trip. The groups were taken on sightseeing tours through Vancouver and the University of British Columbia. Smith and Fredekind flew from Vancouver to Spokane Saturday afternoon and arrived in Moscow Sunday.

Idaho delegates reported that the meeting was definitely successful and that many new ideas were presented to them. These ideas will be given to the administration and executive board for approval.

'Gay Ninety' Motif

The decorations committee for Freshman Week have completed the retreat to the Gay Nineties with the announcement that calico and gingham dresses will be in style for the dance on the tennis courts next Saturday night.

In keeping with the last century motif a decorated lattice fence is planned by the committee. Entertainment, planned at the intermission includes a "barbershop quartet" and a "Can-Can" dance by the Orchestris group.

May Blot Appears This Week With Eight More Pages

Appearing this week, the May issue of Blot has a wide variation of features, Sam Butterfield, managing editor, said yesterday.

First is an illustrated article on Harold Forbush, a blind student majoring in law. Shirley Cowan has a short-short story with campus locale entitled "Out of Danger." Jud Taggart contributes a poem, "Yeah, Yeah, I Know," and Dick Williams has two sonnets printed.

Of special interest is a double-page illustrated spread, "The Woman Behind Dixie," the story of Dixie Howell as told by his wife, Newton Cutler then pens a short-short story entitled "Sheila."

Occupying the next six pages is a section of what's ahead in men's and women's clothes for summer and fall. Information is based on a survey taken among 50 leading clothing stores in Idaho. Photographs of student models accompany the article.

Bill Andrews tells of his efforts to give up smoking in "The Smoke Ring." Three pages of photographs of students working in the art department followed this article. Maurice Paulsen concludes his serial "Thirty-Seven Sisters" with an episode entitled "Escapade." Short poems, cartoon, and jokes complete the magazine.

DEAN RETURNS FROM MEET

J. F. Weltzin, dean of the school of education, returned to Moscow Saturday from Boise. He presided over the teacher welfare committee's special meeting to consider certification requirements for Idaho teachers.

Library Gift

Examining a bone fox trap used by Eskimos are students Jean Harmon and William Chronic.

This ancient relic and the others on the table were collected in Siberia by the late James Scofield of Boise and were donated to the university in the will of his widow who died in Los Angeles.

Beginning at 1 o'clock Saturday morning the Spurs serenaded the women's groups, Dean Louise Carter, and Dr. and Mrs. Boyer.

Formal pledging was held at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the Pi Beta Phi house. Following the pledging a luncheon was served to the new pledges, members and mothers at the Moscow hotel.

Idaho Mothers Witness Annual Spring Festival

Ann Price was crowned queen of the annual May fete Saturday afternoon under threatening skies on the Ad building lawn. Her crowning concluded the processional, which was opened with music by the University Concert band under the direction of E. J. Marty.

Heading the grand march were Maid of Honor Margaret Arnold and Myrna Ritchie, who acted as Page. They were followed by the Campus Honorary groups; Mortar Board, Spurs, and Silver Lance.

Spurs Wind Maypole

Outstanding feature of the event was the winding of the Maypole by the retiring members of Spurs. It was followed with the University Singers who sang three selections, "Cindy," "She is so Dear" and "Ride the Charlot." A demonstration of Folk and Modern dances by the Women's P.E. department followed the singers.

University Host At Meeting Of College Prexies

Following on the heels of the Pacific Student President's convention at Vancouver last week, the student body head men of Idaho's colleges will arrive on the campus Thursday for a three day meeting.

Including the University of Idaho, six Idaho colleges will send representatives to the annual meeting. The delegates are: Dick Roberts, North Idaho college of Education; Bob Bishop, North Idaho Junior College; Howard Higgins, Idaho State College, (Pocatello); Paul Stowell, Ricks College; and Harold Lelleid, Farrago College and Technical Institute.

The first official meeting will be to lunch on Thursday where the delegates will be welcomed by President Buchanan and ASUI Norman Fredekind.

Discussion of problems facing college students will occupy Thursday afternoon and Friday morning. Gale Mix will be the Friday luncheon speaker. At the banquet Friday night Dr. Walter Steffens will give the main address.

After a Saturday morning breakfast the group will select the site of the convention for the next year and become the guests of the university at athletic contests on the campus the remainder of the day.

The visiting presidents will be the guests of several fraternities while they are on the campus.

GEM IS CHECKED AT BOISE
Ora White, Gem editor, has returned from Boise where she "checked copy" for the 1947 Gem at the Sams-York Printers. Miss White attempted to clear up problems to speed up the printing process in order that the yearbook can be delivered to students as soon as possible.

Finals To Be Held In Regular Rooms

Final examinations, which will be held from May 28 through June 4, will take place in regular classrooms, unless special arrangements are made by individual instructors, the Registrar's office disclosed yesterday.

Those courses not included in the regular schedule will be arranged through the individual instructors, so as not to interfere with the regularly scheduled examinations.

Students registered in classes composed of both laboratory and lecture sections must consult with their instructors, concerning time and place, since they may be scheduled according to the sequence of either section. In addition, announcements of the time and place of each examination will be made in every class.

'Taint A Hole; It's A Building

A 25 by 50 foot building is now being constructed on the east side of the University Hut to be used primarily as a central mailing room for the Office of Publications.

The new building is one of the second increment to be brought down from the Baxter Hospital in Spokane. Work is now being done on the foundation.

In the past all of the mailing of bulletins from the Office of Publications has been done from various scattered places on the campus. The new mailing room will supply a central point from which bundling and mailing can be done.

Trophies Are Won By Sigma Chis And Theta Singers

Judges awarded Kappa Alpha Theta and Sigma Chi top honors at the annual Mothers' Day song fest held on the steps of the Administration building Sunday afternoon.

Trophies were presented to the song leaders of the two groups, Lalene Cargill and George Hartwell, by Polly Howard, president of Sigma Alpha Iota, and Bud Walter, president of Phi Mu Alpha the music honoraries sponsoring the event.

The Thetas sang "Stumber On, My Beloved," by Ravel, and "Dream of Love," anonymous. The prize-winning songs of Sigma Chi were "Full Moon and Empty Arms," Rachmaninof, and "Hail the Cross," fraternity song. The two winning groups serenaded the campus Sunday night following the festivities.

Honorable mention was given to Gamma Phi Beta, led by Betty Meagher, and Phi Delta Theta, directed by Hal Champness.

Judging for the event was based on presentation and quality of the programs, including intonation, phrasing, accuracy, interpretation, and musical effect.

Twenty-one sororities, fraternities, and halls participated before an audience estimated at 1500.

WSC To Present 'Campus Showcase' In Moscow

"Campus Showcase," a bi-monthly KWSC broadcast, will give a Moscow performance Wednesday, May 14, at 7:15 p. m. Sponsored by ASUI in conjunction with the KWSC chapter of the National Collegiate Radio Guild, the production will be presented in the university auditorium with the "Gentlemen of Note" and "All-Vet Quintet" orchestras participating.

A cast of 15 to 20 are included in the show which ordinarily goes on the air Tuesday evenings. Top humorist on the show is multi-voiced Bill Powell who is the creator of such characters as "Dank-foot Snod," the hayseed, "Professor Abernathy," the lispng educator; "Prissy Footstone," "Dapper Dan the Hepcat Man," "Ominous Gloom," and a dozen other personality voices. Bill says his newest protegee, "Whoopie John Wheatfield," is a "rube of the low-grade moron category."

Other officers of the group included Marguerite Dore, vice president; Patricia Clark, secretary; treasurer; Mr. Arthur Beattie, faculty advisor. Members held a round-table discussion on "The Differences Between French and American Schools."

Adventuring Pastor To Tell Seniors Of Life Ahead

The Rev. Joseph I. Gulick, D.D., of Idaho Falls, the noted clergyman who rode the "River of No Return" in a rubber boat, will tell Idaho students what lies ahead of them in life.

President J. E. Buchanan of the university announced today that the Rev. Mr. Gulick would give the baccalaureate sermon June 1 at Idaho commencement exercises. His subject: "Upon This Mountain."

The widely known and popular pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Idaho Falls is well qualified to speak to youth, as he has never lost his own youth in the 57 years of his life. He still lists as his hobbies "fly fishing and adventure." In 1929, with three companions, he rode the "River of No Return" in rubber boats from Shoupe to Riggins, making the trip without a guide.

The Golden Fleece by Jason

The university can take to itself a laurel or two for the weekend show that was put on for Mother, Saturday's May Fete was accomplished with a professional air, and many were the beaming mothers who saw their daughters participating in some event during the afternoon.

Although it took longer than expected, the quality of the song groups entered in the Sunday Songfest attracted a large crowd and kept its attention long after the sun had disappeared behind the Ad building.

Few who attended envied the judges their job of selecting the winners from the 21 groups entered. The cups could have gone to almost any of the entries with no more than normal sighs coming from the losers. This was particularly true in the case of the women's song groups.

Dad wasn't exactly neglected. If he wasn't interested in the May Fete there was a baseball game and a golf match in the morning, and the track and tennis events with the wind-up of the golf match in the afternoon. If the attendance figures were available for comparison, Jason believes that the "Mother attendance" on the campus would set a new high.

Big Ad
A gripe or two sifted into the Argonaut office about the huge ad on the back page of the paper last issue. Just a word of explanation.

If you are under the impression that the dollar per semester you shell out for your issue pays for this rag you are allowed one more think.

The people who contribute most to this paper are the advertisers. Once in a while a concession must be made in their favor.

As a matter of fact, there was a normal amount of sports space in that issue, but spread on two pages. Incidentally, the Arg carries about 20 per cent less advertising than a commercial paper.

Deceased Canine

A very nice young lady came into this office with this to say, "Isn't there something that can be done about that dead dog up by Science hall? It makes me sick every time I go by there."

It's a touchy subject because Jason knows little of the activities in the "smelly cavern" that would result in dead dogs being left in trash cans outside.

This is sure, however. Everything can't be blamed on the Mos-

Seniors

Reservations for graduation exercises will be available at the first practice session. Two reservations per graduating senior will be the limit unless a surplus indicates that additional reservations will be available.

Senior announcements have arrived and may be picked up at the bookstore, Chet Kerr, manager, announced.

G.I. Bill For Everyone?

Government subsidization of education for deserving students should certainly be considered by our national legislators some time in the near future. This is a meritorious program that has been too long neglected by our government. The program should provide the means of higher education to students who show ability in high school, and should not be necessarily confined to academic achievements. It should also take into consideration athletic ability, leadership, and other factors which combine for the making of a future leader in our society.

The recent provision for veterans' education is a long step in this direction. It does not, however, include all deserving persons, nor does it take into consideration the individual's ability to pay his own way.

Most of the major European countries have had some type of government education in operation for many years. It is indeed unfortunate that America, which professes a doctrine of world leadership, should lag behind in this essential field of world betterment through education. —R.G.

Professors Have Problems

The University of Idaho needs more competent instructors. This is the case in every college and training institution in the United States.

Our school has misfits in its faculty, but we have a lot of good teachers along with the poor ones. Some of our instructors are to be commended for their efficiency, hard work, and the interest and attention they give the individual student.

Teaching in college these days is one of the most difficult of professions. The professor is allowed fewer mistakes than his pupils. Never before in the history of education have instructors had pupils of such maturity.

At present there is a shortage of teachers everywhere. This may not be true in five years. An instructor in any school, from this time forward, must study and work almost as industriously as the student. Or it won't be long until the students will be the professors.

The day of obsolete methods of instruction is passing. And the day of incompetent instructors is ending too. —J.B.D.

TIPS FOR VETS

By GEORGE

Rents went unpaid and grocery bills piled up for many vets attending college under the G.I. Bill in many parts of the country, as nearly three million veterans failed to receive their checks for subsistence or readjustment allowances. Idaho vets were more fortunate in this respect since the northwest division with headquarters in Seattle was not caught short financially.

Failure of Congress to reach an agreement on a deficiency appropriation bill caused the VA to run out of funds in some sections of the country. Hit by the shortage in the VA's treasury were some 1,660,000 vets drawing subsistence for school or job training, and 1,120,000 who were drawing unemployment insurance under the readjustment allowance program.

Trying to settle their differences both the House and Senate were in meeting at the time the April 30 deadline came around but had not reached any agreement on an appropriation bill. A similar crisis occurred early in March when the VA required an emergency appropriation to carry them until the regular deficiency funds were voted.

In the northwest veterans are hoping that such a situation might not develop for them. Well over half of the vets in school were affected by this lack of funds and it might well be a reflection on the efficient planning of the northwest division that Idaho and other adjoining areas were not affected by the deficiency. It may not be true but the record does show that the northwest has had an enviable record in administration of vets' affairs in the past.

Heard . . . Or Seen

It Pays to Advertise: Just because the "crooners" (Sigma Chis) won first prize at the Singing Festival a sign was up on the front door of the Nest advertising the Betas to use the back door.

Just out: Thirsty Phi Delt, Mike Oswald, asked for some water last Sunday at dinner only to receive the startling reply from Head Hasher Dick Harland, "Sorry, we don't have any more."

They Call Him Dizzy—Bill Eferetz, Idaho club, while practicing up with a baseball curved the ball through the windshield of his own car.

Voices in the Night: Early last Saturday morning when the Spurs were serenading the Alpha Chis, the Sigma Nus woke up and returned the serenade. The Spurs next serenaded the Delta Gammans only to wake up the ATOs. The ATOs liked their return serenade so well that they could still be heard long after the Spurs were home in bed.

Hope Jason doesn't see this: Dick Elmers, editor of the Argonaut, called a meeting of all Argonaut staff members for last Friday. He was heard apologizing to the members the following Monday for failing to remember the meeting.

University Accepts Applications For ROTC Course

Applications for the First Year Advanced course in Military Science for the school year beginning September 1947 are being accepted at the University Military department during the next two weeks according to Col. B. H. Hensley, Professor of Military Science and Tactics.

Those eligible to take the course are present sophomores who have completed the two years of Elementary ROTC and who can pass the examination and are selected by the PMS&T. Others eligible are veterans with more than one year of active service.

Strict Requirements
 In addition to the qualifications an applicant must meet the following: Be a citizen of the United States; be not under 14 years of age nor over 27 at the time of initial enrollment; successfully pass such screening tests and survey tests as may be required; be selected by the PMS&T and the head of the institution; be physically qualified as prescribed by the War Department.

Students selected for the course will be given the following compensations: Actual payment consisting of $0.66 per day for 370 days; an allowance for uniform or the issuance of such by the institution; $0.05 per mile travel pay for attendance at the ROTC summer camp from the university to the site of the camp; pay of $75 per month for the six weeks at summer camp; and all uniforms, food, shelter and medical care while in attendance at camp.

Earn Commission

Students enrolled in certain technical courses may receive a commission in a technical service by attendance at the summer camp of their chosen service.

All students interested are urged

Dear Jason

"Let's hit the Nest for a cup of Jo."
 "Can't make it, Bill. Betty wants to drag me up to the Auditorium for a vocal recital."
 "A what?"
 "A vocal recital. She says that the Idaho Music Department most every week presents a senior or graduate student in a piano, instrumental, or vocal concert. Might be O. K. Better come along and join us."

Yes, I was that very same Java imbibor in a similar conversation last fall. And, furthermore, I attended the recital that Tuesday night and haven't missed but three or four since. Here is a typical evening hour:

Programs are presented at the door by one of four formally-attired young ladies, and accompanying the programs are brief descriptions of the various musical numbers to be presented. Usually, the stage is set with the grand piano in the center and a bouquet of spring flowers to the right.

Last Tuesday evening I was fortunate in hearing a graduate student in a vocal recital. I am sure everyone in the audience was thinking of three or four friends, at least, who would and should have been enraptured by the music, had they been there. Two years ago I sat in a $5.00 balcony seat in Carnegie Hall to hear many of the same selections sung no more beautifully than they were at this Idaho concert.

I know the majority of us could stand to benefit greatly if we would take advantage of the opportunities offered us as a college group. About now some of you are probably arguing that the above dialogue might apply to Music Education majors, but not to the rest of the student body. Well, you're right, in a way. I am a M. E. major, and if an engineer (mechanical, that is) can afford to enjoy an hour of pleasant relaxation each week, surely a normal student can.

1—Note: Just a personal reaction to the poor support given these music recitals by A.S.U.I. students. Bill Barnes

Phi Pledges Fly; No Rights Left

Phi Delta Theta members knew there was something wrong at 6:30 yesterday morning. Gone was the pledge class, and gone were the right shoes of every man in the house.

Thus the fraternity men had "fun" wearing bedroom slippers, galoshes, ski boots, and "pairs" of left shoes to classes, while the pledge class took its annual sneak.

Jane Griffin, Kappa Alpha Theta, loaned a pair of saddle shoes to one member. After noting that they fitted perfectly, she warned, "Don't tell anybody. It's embarrassing."

Stidolph Writes Winning Script

A script written by David Stidolph, Idaho student, earned for KWSC second place in a nationwide contest for radio educational programs. Stidolph was a student at WSC last year.

The script was a semi-dramatization summary of others of its kind presented previously over KWSC, according to Frederic Hayward, manager of the student-operated radio system.

The award was made by the Institute for Education by Radio which recently met at Ohio State university to judge entries.

Captain Lectures On Romantic Showboat Days

Last Friday Capt. Billy Bryant entertained students in the auditorium with his tales of old river days. His topic was "Children of Old Man River," taken from the name of his latest book.

Bryant, a humorist and one of the few theatrical men in the lecture field, thanked the audience for the applause he received, but said it wasn't enough. "I'm the most famous ham actor in the business, and I know I'm a ham actor."

Captain Billy is an authentic river captain, holding a pilot's license allowing him to travel from Pittsburgh to New Orleans. He was raised on the Mississippi and stayed until the government took his showboat away during the war.

In Billy's own words, "The minute we hit that river it reached out and put its arms around me and never let go for over 46 years."

Last February John Hodjak and Janet Blair dramatized the life story of his family on the Cavalcade of America radio program. Amos 'n Andy now hold the option to make a movie from "Children of Old Man River."

Bryant's appearance at the Grand hotel in Walla Walla yesterday wound up his four-week coast trip, and he is now on his return trip east.

Captain Billy hopes that the showboat will come back into fashion. Then he will be able to quit lecturing, take his River Company off Broadway, and go back to the river.

INFIRMARY ALMOST EMPTY

Only three patients were listed in the infirmary yesterday. They were: Joyce Dunn, Russell Moffett, and Calvin Sparks.

Sourdough Wills U. Mastadon Tusk

The latest gift left in a will to the university, which was recently bequeathed a 440 acre farm for experimental purposes and $4,500 for scholarships, is the most unusual. It consists of oddities collected by an early Alaskan sourdough.

Most of the pieces consist of hand-carved ivory, but also included are the skull of a walrus and the tooth and part of a tusk of a mastadon found in Siberia. The articles were collected by the late James A. Scofield, native of Boise, and were bequeathed to the university in the will of his widow, who died in Los Angeles.

Scofield was an Alaskan scout and prospector about the turn of the century. At one time he was a cartoonist on the Nome Nugget, signing his cartoons "ZAZ." Old records have been carefully combed, but there is no indication that Scofield ever attended the university.

Thinclads And Baseball Team Schedule Weekend Events

Vandals Slate Montana For Meet Saturday

University of Idaho thinclads, smarting from an 89-42 defeat at the hands of the powerful Washington Huskies last weekend, take on the Montana Grizzlies in Moscow at 3:30 p. m. Saturday.

The fast-improving Vandals face a formidable opponent in the Grizzlies who piled up 97 points to win a triangular meet with Idaho State and Gonzaga Saturday.

Montana's leading performers are Dan Yovetich, Dick Regan, Bill Brandt, and Larry McLatchey. In the triangular meet Saturday, Yovetich won the low and high hurdles, and the 100-yard dash; Regan won the two mile; Brandt won the 880, and McLatchey won the 440. The Grizzlies are also strong in the pole vault, the weights, and the javelin.

Records Tied
Dick Armstrong and Max Lattig led the Vandal performers in Saturday's meet with the Huskies, by equalling the existing University of Idaho records in the century and pole vault, respectively. Armstrong tied the 100-yard dash mark of 8.8 seconds set by James Montgomery in 1908 and equaled by James Kalbus in 1934, while Lattig tied the pole vault, record of 13 feet attained by George Makela in 1940, and by Darrell Kerby in 1941. Armstrong also came within two-tenths of a second of the existing 220-yard dash mark, touring the distance in 21.8 seconds.

Though the Vandals have lost two of their three conference meets to date, they are improving very fast, and should provide their future opponents with plenty of trouble.

Brunson Back
Idaho's hopes took on new light when it was announced that Ted Lake and Steve Brunson would be able to compete against Montana Saturday. Lake, hurdler, was spiked in the hand in the Washington meet, and Brunson, who has covered the 440 in 49.7, has been out of action due to a leg injury.

Cowboys Take Over Pioneer Lead
The Twin Falls Cowboys, without winning a game, took over undisputed possession of the Pioneer league.
The regularly scheduled game with the Ogden Reds was postponed because of cold weather. After the Pocatello Cardinals had beaten the Boise Pilots, 15-11, and the Idaho Falls Russets had edged the Salt Lake City Bees, 14-13, the Wranglers were atop the league.

Irvin Rinder is one of six finalists in the selection of two delegates of the Pacific Northwest College Congress to attend the United Nations Assembly in September.
The delegates will be elected by the sixty-four students who attended the Congress. The finalists were judged by the effectiveness of their job of informing, stimulating, and polling the student bodies of their respective colleges on the issues discussed at the Congress.
Marshall Fisher is a finalist from the College of Idaho. Other schools with finalists are Whitman college; Marylhurst college; Vanport Extension center, Portland; and Oregon State college.

More than 1200 outstanding track and field athletes will meet in the 21st Annual West Coast Relays to be held in Fresno, Calif., this Saturday, May 17.
Eighteen world records have been established since the inauguration of the relays in 1927. Top-notch athletes from nearly every college institution on the coast are entered, and records will probably fall again this year.
Among top contenders are USC's Mel Patton and San Francisco State's Hal Fox, both of them 9.5 runners in the 100 yard dash. "Antelope" Craig Dixon of UCLA, whose best time in the 120 yard low hurdles is 14.3, also is a record contender.
In the field events, Willie Steele, broad jumper from San Diego, has leaped 25 feet, 2 inches, best in the world this year; Guinn Smith, San Francisco Olympic Club has soared 14 feet 8 inches in the pole vault; and Woodson Dickson, San Jose, has tossed the discus, 156 feet, 2 inches.
Jim Pieroni, former freshman athlete at the University of Idaho, has been elected captain of the Gonzaga university baseball team. He plays shortstop.
The Boston Red Sox and the St. Louis Cardinals, winners of the junior and senior major loops last year and picked by sports dopsters as an "easy" bet this year, are both having trouble winning games. The Red Sox have won eleven and the Cards, six.

Teams To Meet Saturday In Intra-Squad Game

The Idaho Vandal gridmen, who have used up 23 of the 30 practice sessions set by conference rules for spring training, will hold their last scrimmage in Neale stadium this Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p. m.

Last Saturday, Coach Howell ran his charges through a short one hour scrimmage in an attempt to more fully perfect the various plays. Quarterbacks were in complete charge of the teams on the field.

Howell still has 51 men in the fold, in spite of the many who are injured. Of the dozen or so men who are out of play, none has serious injuries; several have bad knees and pulled muscles, but none has been hospitalized for more than a day at a time.

This week, Howell will divide the squad into two teams; one squad will be coached by end coach Shoemaker, and the other will be under the direction of line coach, Ben Ennis. The two teams will hold separate practices, and meet each other in an intra-squad game Saturday. The game will be under actual playing conditions.

Golf Team Splits Pair With Zags and Huskies

Idaho's Vandal golfers, coached by Frank James, gained an even split in matches held over the weekend on the University course in Moscow.

Friday, they held a powerful University of Washington team to a 15 to 12 1/2 victory, and roared back Saturday to trounce the previously unbeaten Gonzaga Bulldogs, 17 to 9.

A driving rain, bolstered by the wind, swept the Friday matches with the Huskies, causing scores to soar. Jim Mallory, who Saturday toured the WSC course in a blazing 63 to set a course record, and Eddie Draper of Washington, turned in the best rounds, both carding 72 for 18 holes.
The Idahoans had little trouble disposing of the Gonzaga crew Saturday. Led by John Morely and Glenn Cushman, who both carded 72 to share medalist honors, the Vandals built up a commanding lead during the morning round, and increased it during the afternoon. Winning for the Vandals were Morely, Cushman, Perry Miller, Jack Keenan, Frank McGinnis, and George Weitz.
The final match on the Idaho schedule before the Northern division team championships which will be held here May 24, is Saturday, when the Vandals entertain WSC in a return match. The Washington crew holds an earlier win over the Vandals.

The Twin Falls Cowboys, without winning a game, took over undisputed possession of the Pioneer league.

The regularly scheduled game with the Ogden Reds was postponed because of cold weather. After the Pocatello Cardinals had beaten the Boise Pilots, 15-11, and the Idaho Falls Russets had edged the Salt Lake City Bees, 14-13, the Wranglers were atop the league.

Coach Guy Wicks announced yesterday that Lefty Auer was his selection to take the mound for the Vandals when they meet the Washington Huskies in the first of a two-game series Friday and Saturday.

Auer, in winning the first game of the Oregon series last week 5-3, avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of the Ducks by a 1-0 count. He now has a record of two wins and three losses.

Beebe Probable

Wicks reported that he was still in doubt as to who would be his other starting hurler but it is expected that he will either open with Arnold Beebe or Don Podrea. Beebe has been looking good in practice and has had no trouble with his arm which bothered him considerably earlier in the season.

In last night's practice, the infielders were given a good workout on both hitting and fielding. The remainder of the practices this week will be devoted to heavy hitting practices and a considerable amount of infield if the weather permits.

Four Remain

Only four games remain on the Vandal's 16-game schedule. After the games Friday and Saturday with Washington, the Vandals will play their last two games with the league-leading Washington State Cougars.
