THE IDAHO ARGONAUT, Official Publication of the ASUI

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1947

The GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

While the regular Jason is feeding his face at the Idaho Executive Board-WSC Board of Control banquet, the first assistant and thirteenth vice-president in charge of Fleece becomes guest writer of this column. Jason was especially eager to go to the banquet, because he heard that cute little Editor Jean of the WSC Evergreen would also be present at the affair.

Of Ads, Etc.

Numerous complaints were received concerning Friday's issue of the Argonaut, and they can be boiled down into these three words: "Too many ads!" Probably the complaints are justified, but the casual reader of this sheet fails to take into consideration (because he doesn't know about them) certain problems peculiar to the publication of the Argonaut, as well as other newspapers.

First, the Argonaut survives by revenue received from its advertisers. Not entirely, however, since a portion of the ASUI fees paid by the student body help pay the expenses of the paper. But of the $150 it costs to publish a four-page issue of the Argonaut, advertisements carry the heaviest burden.

Second, and most important reason for the amount of space given to advertisements, is the "time element." It would take four linotype operators, working at top speed, all night long to set enough type to fill six eight-column ad pages. Linotype operators who work all day on another paper, cannot be expected to also work all night.

Jason hopes this helps to clear up the question of why the Argonaut must print advertisements.

Picture Problems

Since we're on the subject of gripping about publications, a kind word might be put in for the men and women who control the destinies of the 1948 Gem of the Mountains. Every year students kick about the yearbooks' late arrival, but they fail to take cognizance of the fact that they hold up production by not complying with the deadline on individual pictures.

Gem heads have requested, at first softly and finally firmly, that students cooperate in this matter. And yet, hundreds of picture schedules have not been met and hundreds of proofs have not been checked.

For the information of sophomores and upper classmen who want their last year's pictures in the Gem, a trip to the studio and separation of a dollar is absolutely necessary.

"Over the Hill"

A letter from one Jack Shurman, now a student at the University of Chicago, and formerly (two years ago) a V-12'er at this university, brings to mind some pleasant memories of bygone days. Jack, who wants the Argonaut sent to him at Chicago, wrote a weekly column in this paper that had a certain flavor that other columns have never seemed to achieve.

For the benefit of those who never had a chance to read "Over the Hill," we reprint a portion of (Continued on page 2, Col. 1)

Halloween Hop To Highlight Busy Weekend

A "Hallowe'en Hop" will be one of the highlights of the campus celebration of All Saint's day. The dance will start tonight at 9 p. m. in the Student Union with music being furnished by the Six of a Kind.

Tickets will be on sale at the door for fifty cents each, and the dance is not strictly a date affair. The time has been set at 9 o'clock so that there will be no conflict with the first performance of "Dear Brutus."

Students attending the dance are urged to come to the "Hop" in costume, although it is not compulsory. Prizes for the best costumes will be awarded during intermission.

Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha, men's and women's music honoraries, are sponsoring the affair, with Louise Miller and Marilyn Clark, SAI, and Warren Johnson and Calvin Lyons, Phi Mu, in charge of arrangements. This is the first jointly-sponsored dance to be presented by the music honoraries since the war, according to the group spokesman.

Chaperoning the dance will be Professor and Mrs. Hall Macklin, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Logan, Miss Miriam Little and Professor Glen H. Lockery. The patrons and patronesses will also act as judges of the best costumes present.

Coaches Discuss Athletics At Booster Meet

Moscow Vandal Boosters yesterday heard discussion on a variety of athletic topics at their weekly noon meeting at the Moscow Hotel.

Track Coach Stan Hiserman, Freshman Coach Steve Belko, and Boxing Coach Ken Butler, all introduced by Director of Athletics George Greene, gave the current picture of their respective sports.

Hiserman discussed his coming cross country meeting with Washington State college at the golf course at 10:30 a.m. Saturday; Belko discussed the Washington State-Idaho freshman football game set for Neale stadium Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and Butler gave a two-fold boxing discussion.

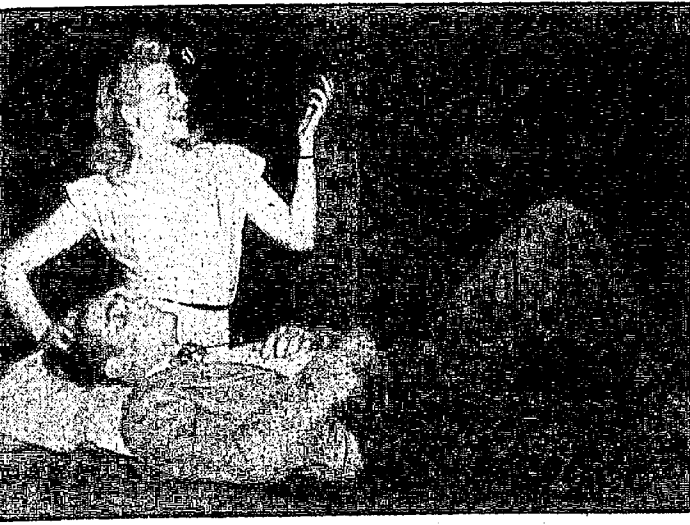

Butler reported plans of group houses to sponsor the novice boxing November 19, 21, and 22, and also gave an early report on the Vandal varsity boxing program.

All boosters were asked to be on hand at 9:30 Sunday morning at the station to welcome back the football team after its meeting with Oregon Saturday.

FAHRENWALD ON BOISE TRIP

A. W. Fahrenwald, director of the Idaho Bureau of Mines and Geology, left Thursday on a business trip to Boise. Mr. Fahrenwald will return Friday evening.

Anything Goes In 'Dear Brutus'

Sophisticated Lady Caroline (Dorothy Greaves) "lets herself go" with Matey the butler (Bruce Stucki) in this scene from the fantastic second act of "Dear Brutus." In the first act she will hardly speak to him.

Actors Become Artist And Model In Play

Death (Bill Davidson) under the guidance of his imaginary daughter Margaret (Colleen Christenson) takes up painting in the "might-have-been" woods of Barrie's comedy-fantasy, "Dear Brutus." Coade (Guy Terwilliger) serves as a model and "makes like a bird." The play will open tonight and will be repeated tomorrow night.

Justice To Act As Election Board Chairman

Eleanor Justice of Ridenbaugh hall became eligible to act as election board chairman as a result of a quiz given Tuesday, according to Pat Colvard, election chairman and Dean Foley, assistant chairman.

The fourteen students receiving the highest grades were eligible to act on the board with the person receiving the highest grade acting as chairman. The board is composed of half Greek and half independent members.

Others who will act on the board are: Carol Fugate, vice chairman; Mary Sue Tovey, Barbara Deerkop, Ruth Wymer, Carolyn Phillips, Bernice Evans, Forney hall; Barbara Schaff, Delta Gamma; Louise Miller, Delta Delta Delta; Margaret Orme, Delta Gamma; Phil Schnell, Sigma Chi; and Joann Hutchinson, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Two alternates selected were Margaret Weitz, Delta Gamma; and Robert Moulton, Chrisman hall.

Class elections will be November 5 instead of November 15 as erroneously stated in the Arg last week. Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 4:15 p.m.

Villagers Elect Councilmen

Recent elections at the Trailer Village resulted in the election of the following precinct councilmen: Mack Niebauer, No. 1; K. J. Newman, No. 2; Jim Defenbach, No. 3; Jack Stover, No. 4; and J. W. Cole, No. 5.

Retiring councilmen are C. A. Bigelow, Thomas Dunn, L. A. Bunn, Robert Moldenhauer and Gene Littlefield.

Precinct councilmen elect a head tempore from their group. Village government was organized a year ago to delegate authority for the accomplishment of diverse problems common to all living in the village.

Other aims of the organization are to provide defense against fires, control traffic, promote general welfare and health of the community, solve social problems and promote the meeting of common social entertainment.

Foresters To Run Sawmill Here

A sawmill, secured from war surplus, arrived this week from Fort Lewis, Wash., and will be used in the school of forestry, according to Dean D. S. Jeffers.

The mill is Corinth Mills model, 2-C. Capacity is 20,000 board feet of lumber a day. Use of the mill is expected to speed up cutting in the university's 7,000 acre forestry farm on Moscow mountain, Dean Jeffers said.

The new mill will also provide on-the-job instruction to forestry students, who will operate and run the mill themselves.

Noted Authors To Debate 'Is Russia A Peace Force'

"Is Russia a Force For Peace?" will be debated by Hallett Abend and Jerome Davis, noted authors and foreign correspondents, Thursday, November 6, at 11 a. m. in Memorial gymnasium.

Both men possess experience in their respective fields and disagree on Russia's policies. Dr. Davis who takes the affirmative side, strengthens his argument by stating that: "Now again Russia is leading in disarmament proposals. Her people are unanimous in wanting peace and not war." Stal-in repeatedly stated that he wants peace. All this is an indication that Russia is a force for peace.

On the negative side, Abend declares that "Russia has flagrantly broken the promises made in the Atlantic Charter, has made the Four Freedoms a mockery in many conquered lands."

Lived In Far East
There are few men so well qualified as Hallett Abend to speak with authority on these problems.

He spent fifteen years in the Orient as chief Far Eastern correspondent for the New York Times. His early career is of interest because he was a reporter for the Spokane Chronicle and spent four years as managing editor of the Idaho Statesman.

Abend is the author of many

Support Asked WSC Planning Expansion Program

Washington State college is making room for an expected enrollment of over 10,000 students within a very few years. Many buildings to house veterans were moved to Pullman after the war, and these are now occupied by several thousand students.

Additional residences are being completed and construction is going steadily ahead on a huge new classroom building of permanent type construction.

And Now A Touch Of Rouge

While the rest of the campus is enjoying dinner tonight the cast of "Dear Brutus" will be applying greasepaint and eyebrow pencil. Here Betty Ballaire applies the finishing touches to the face of Colleen Christenson in a recent dress rehearsal. Bill Davidson is visible in the doorway.

Curtain To Rise On First Night Of 'Dear Brutus'

The hush that falls over the audience when houselights dim for the first night production of "Dear Brutus" tonight will not be broken when the curtain rises.

The James Barrie fantasy-comedy opens with an empty stage, dark but for the waning light in the garden that shows through the French doors in the rear. The play proceeds in growing suspense as a group of English ladies and gentlemen invited to a remote summer house for Midsummer Night's eve begin to wonder why they have been picked for the occasion.

In Memoriam

All Oregon is mourning today for Governor Earl Snell and two top state officials lost in a plane crash in a remote section of the Oregon mountains.

Flying through a lonely section on a hunting trip, the plane crashed into the mountain killing the three officials and their pilot.

Suppose that it had been the president of the United States that had been in that plane with the vice-president and the speaker of the house. In that case a man would be moved up to take over the president's position.

But think for a moment, what would happen if we were living in a monarchy or a dictatorship? In such a case there would probably be a national revolution with any number of different groups seeking power.

Living in a democracy, we have the advantage of full control of our government by men we trust at all times. The governor of Oregon will be replaced by a man in whom the people will have faith. That is just one more advantage of our life in a democracy.

Students at the University of Idaho wish to express their deepest sympathies to the relatives of the Oregon men lost in the tragic accident.

Will Education Soak In?

About this going to college business, they say it's to develop a well-rounded education. For four long years the student attends classes, crams for a quiz the night before, and plays buddy-buddy with the professor. The diploma is awarded for this.

But we wonder just how much a student remembers out of the dozens of books he has waded through. It used to be said of Teddy Roosevelt while he was in the White House that he was a man of much knowledge but no common sense.

Here is where the teacher's job ends and the responsibility rests on the student. The whole thing is a matter of application. Any normal person can read over printed matter and memorize enough of it to pass a quiz on it. But when the test comes in applying what was learned many of us are lost.

The college diploma doesn't mean intelligence; it signifies the exposure of the person to knowledge. No employer takes the diploma as an absolute guarantee of a higher salary, in fact much more is expected from the college grad on a job. There is where a person finds out if all the knowledge that he has been exposed to has sunk in.

A Date On A Dime?

Cloud-flying coeds might as well hear the sad news now. Joe College is on the verge of bankruptcy. Room and board, entertainment, gasoline, everything costs more. But those checks are still made out for $65. Moscow banks report that university accounts have shown a steady decline. War bonds and terminal leave checks that tided veterans over last year have been cashed. The barrel is run dry.

Campus males have done a heroic, gentlemanly job in an attempt to hide the truth. They are secretly counting pennies, hoping to have enough left from that date to pay for their laundry. We think the girls can help. We think they will if they know how things stand. We've met a few who do know, are sympathetic, and are willing to settle for a cup of coffee, some good conversation, and a short walk.

Unfortunately there are others who don't realize just how close a lot of men are calling things, and who think a fellow doesn't "care" if he hasn't arranged a big evening.

Maybe we're being forward and maybe the girls won't like it but come to think about it, ten years ago in the not-too-gay 30's, guys and gals used to have a whale of a time with practically no cash. It can be done again.

Here's More About JASON

his column in the Argonaut of January 31, 1946. These words seem to be exceptionally timely:

"I had a fifteen minute appointment the other day, so I made the trip up to the photo studio to have my picture taken for the Gem. I spent twelve minutes trying to convince the lady behind the counter that I didn't want five proofs for only five dollars, two minutes massaging my gums, fifty-five seconds shaking hands with the photographer and five seconds posing.

"I wouldn't say they rush a person, but it's the first time I have ever had my picture taken as I ran past the camera. "Happy" Furgate walked into the wrong make-up room and chanced upon a Miss preparing for a picture in which she'd wear drapes. They were a little short of drapes that day, so she had to be satisfied with Ventan blinds. Happy told her he was the window washer and I caught him as he came flying out."

So ran the temper of the Argonaut of 1945-46. If Jack Shurman ever writes a book, we'll be sure to buy it.

FARRAGUT MAN SEES THINGS
 After two days of diligent search on the part of the students of the zoology lab, Cecil Guile, budding scientist, shrieked "I've got him, I've got him!" It seems that under the slide of Guile's microscope there swam into view the one-celled animal—the AMOEBA.

Fag Famished Multitudes Fiendishly Await GI Checks

By NEWT CUTLER

The other day one vet was speaking to another, "Say, Mac, how about lending me a quarter for a pack of cigs?"

"A quarter!" the outraged vet shouted. "Do I look like Henry Morgenthau?"

Well, the girls who have been supporting their guys for the past two months will be glad to hear that the GI checks will be here soon.

The question of the week is: "What are you going to do with your GI check when it comes in?"

Fat Day over at the Delta Tau house brushed the hair out of his eyes and said: "First of all, a dollar for a haircut. I don't trust the four-bit jobs that my brother gives."

Paul Day from Sweet tried for a long time to think up a comeback for his brother's answer but failing, said: "What a silly question! I'm getting hitched soon."

Ted Cowan, who lives across town dropped the usual pile of photographs on the table and stated: "Me? Why I'm just going to pay up the bills I've collected since I got paid last June."

Johnny Martin, connoisseur of the finer beverages from Pine simply remarked: "Hell, I've rented a booth at the Varsity."

Ed (Meatball) Wilkinson, exiled SAE, gazed at your reporter through the small end of a Rainier bottle and said: "I've got a date in a small town west of Pullman."

Olevia (Smitty) Smith peeked over the top of her typewriter and remarked: "Someone has to support the Spruce Tavern."

Jack Culbertson, ATO, stunned with surprise at the question and stammered: "I'll drop dead if they ever arrive."

Spinner Henderson, Fiji, used to spend most of his money on his car but now he says, "No love—no car—no nothing until my money comes home."

Heard . . . Or Seen

Personally Elites: Cal Morrison, Lindley, being original, had his record player in the phone booth and was playing requests for E. Davis, Idaho club, for about an hour the other evening. Hard on other would-be phone bugs.

Some Technique: Curly-headed SAE Joe Shinn, was seated in the Nest surrounded by six girls. Could be he's getting returns from those chain letters.

Impeached: Jim Mitchell, Fiji, president of SIM, is on the verge of being replaced as the members have discovered that he has joined the Spruce club, thus disqualifying him as insignificant.

Sucker: Harry Howard got the bite for his last quarter only to find it was to enable Harry Lamson and Wilson Merrill of Pine hall to coffee at the Bucket.

Safety in Numbers: At the end of the Forney-LDS football game the other afternoon the men discovered the reason that the girls were everywhere at once. Opposing the nine male players were 15 of the weaker sex.

With Interest: Pat Knox, Tri Delta, reported her lost wallet containing 10 dollars to police who later called to say it had been turned in—with 10 dollars and six cents.

Modern Decor: Pink socks and red plaid skirt were worn by Hays Margee Gambin. What with drinking coffee, cokes, and such she hasn't a minute to wash.

Accused: Chuck Owens, Phi Delta, at the recent SKALAS was said to be the only soldier in the U.S. Army to carry an MI whip for a sidearm.

Farmers Award Comstock Prize

Don Lee Comstock, freshman agriculture student, was awarded the national first prize in the rural electrification contest at the Future Farmers of America convention at Kansas City last week.

Comstock, who won the Washington contest which boasted a $100 prize, received $250 for the national honor. Most of the work on his project which consisted of home electrification was done while attending Palouse high school last year.

Chemists Gather

A meeting of the Idaho Chemical Society will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Science 312. Officers will be elected and the club reorganized. All chemistry majors are urged to attend, especially sophomores, juniors and seniors.

SCHOOL RECEIVES DATA

The school of education has recently received some new material from the Committee on School Reorganization in Boise. Information they offer on this subject includes "Conduct of Election and Procedure on Return" and "Plans for School District Reorganizations."

The steer was purchased by C. A. Grief of Uniontown, Wash., and Jim Valentine Heppner.

Only Two Halls For Men Back In 1932

Looking in the 1932 Arg will indicate the changes in the campus today. Ridenbaugh and Lindley were the only men's independent halls on the campus, and these were being greatly improved at a large outlay to the bursar.

The sleeping porch at Ridenbaugh was completely rebuilt, locks were installed upon the doors, new electric fans were installed in the kitchen.

A new rule regarding hushers forced them to live in the men's dorms in which they worked, and changed the pay from board to thirty cents an hour, which gave a cash margin of one dollar a week to those who worked all three meals.

The reduction in the board to five dollars a week made Idaho have the lowest charges of any of the fifty colleges in the northwest area.

Student Engineers Journey To Dam

Student chapter members of the American Society of Civil Engineers from the University of Idaho, Washington State College, and the Spokane section will journey to Grand Coulee Saturday, November 1 to inspect the dam.

The visit will include an inspection of new construction at the dam, and a business meeting and dinner banquet at Coulee city. The members will return late Saturday evening.

Some books should be bound, others should be gagged.

Dear Jason

MANY WOMEN DATELESS

Dear Jason:
 Upon reading your bi-weekly news sheet I find that the fellows seem to think all the girls are dated up til Thanksgiving or later. Granted a large percentage do have their social calendar filled, however, each weekend finds several attractive, less aggressive girls "sans" dates.

Remember fellows it's you who ask for the dates, not the girls. Maybe they aren't Betty Grable but chances are you aren't Tyrone Power. To quote an old saying, "No one is wholly good nor is anyone wholly bad."

I might add this is not a personal plea, but a plea for the Idaho Co-ed.

And then: "It's better to thought a fool than open your mouth and remove all doubt."

The wedding will take place in December.

The 'New Look' Emphasized In Home Ec. Dept.
The "New Look" is featured in the dresses which the home economics seniors in Drafting and Draping class are designing and constructing. The new silhouette is starting at the shoulders with more natural shoulders, narrower and less padded. Neat waistlines are made to seem smaller by the rounding of the neckline.

Hiplines are made apparent either by actual padding, pleats or big pockets. In their original designs the students have been padding their hips and using pleats to achieve the effect of a slim waist and curving hips. The skirts are perfectly straight or really wide, many are being shown with pleats.

The women draw their own patterns, or take a picture and work from it. They pin the material on a form and then cut it according to the design. Longer hemlines are favored as being graceful and slenderizing.

Infirmiry Admits Nine Students
Making up for the week end "slump," the infirmiry admitted nine students compared to the seven discharged.

Those admitted were: Jacque Falls, Glen Marshall, Richard Anderson, Arlene Weichbradt, Ross Walker, Patricia Taylor, Gladene Brown, John Gibbs and Edna Brown.
Released were: Elmer Davis, Elizabeth Bean, Jack McClaren, Edna Brown, William Minor, Roger Hartman, and Phillip Kinnison.

Women Battle Through Men To Goal

Screams of "Leggo, ya big bum!" referee's whistles, black eyes, and muddy slacks were the result of two football games played on the campus Saturday afternoon.

Alpha Chi pledges (with the help of the referees) tromped the burly ATO 13 to 12 while the Fijis won over the Alpha Phis to the tune of 6 to 7.

Alpha Chis claim that they won fair and square but the Alpha Phis say that there was a little over officiating in their game with the Fijis or they would have won their game too.

In the Fiji-Alpha Phi game, favoritism toward the Alpha Phis on the part of Tom Tutter almost got him a tubbing from his frat brothers.

It all adds up to the fact that maybe football is a woman's game after all.

Ask Me Another
Should the Government Compete with Business?
ANSWER: Not in those fields where business is able and willing to stand on its own feet and do a good job. For example, business-managed electric companies have constantly increased service to the public at steadily decreasing rates — at the same time paying great sums of money as taxes to maintain the essential functions of government, such as education.

Irish Colleens From Dublin Desire Pen Pals In Idaho

By BETTY PETERS
Shades of St. Patrick's Day! Well, perhaps we are rushing the good Sainy's day a bit, but a U. of I. student has received, directly by airmail from Emerald Isle, the names and addresses of five Irish colleens who would like to correspond with Idaho pen pals. These young women who live in Dublin, the capital of Eire, are:
Pat, who is 18 years of age. Among her hobbies are movies, reading, and dancing. She enjoys both light classic and swing music. Her address is: Miss Patricia O'Donovan, 42 Belvedere Road, Drumcondra, Dublin, Eire.
Pat would like to write to both men and women.
A medical student at the Dublin university, Gladys would particularly enjoy corresponding with students majoring in medicine. She is 21, and enjoys movies, reading, and music. Address her letters: Miss Gladys Wilson, "Parkview", 1, Annesley Bridge Rd., Fairview, Dublin, Eire.

Describes Miss Laura Wilson. She is 22, and likes dancing, movies, swing music, and reading. Her address is the same as her sister, Gladys.
Phil, who is 19, lists guiding, hiking, camping, dressmaking and acting as her interests. So dramatic students, here is an opportunity to become acquainted with Irish play production. Phil's address is: Miss Phil Crowley, 69, Lourdes' Road, Dolphin's Barn, Dublin, Eire.
And last but not least there is Betty, who is 18. She enjoys hiking, camping, reading, cycling, knitting, dressmaking, and music. Her address is: Miss Betty Bynne, 76, Old Thelmainham, Dublin, Eire.

From 8:00 to 8:15 every Thursday evening the Student Bull Session is broadcast. A student forum program, it is directed by Professor Ormsby of the philosophy department. The group holds discussion on affairs of the campus, national affairs, and other pressing situations.
Paulsen Playhouse, a mystery show written and directed by Maurice Paulsen, is back on the air at 9:00 on Wednesday.

Students Invited To Hear Dr. Nute

Dr. William L. Nute, medical missionary with the American Board of Congregational-Christian Missions, who is visiting his son, Cyril Nute, acting instructor in mathematics at the university, will speak at 4:10 p.m. Friday at the Idaho Institute of Christian Education. All students are invited.
In Turkey since 1914, Dr. Nute has been a medical missionary since 1924, and during the past 14 years has served as a physician in rural villages. Known among the Turkish villagers as the "Doctor on Horseback," he has traveled great distances over almost impassable roads which not even a jeep could traverse successfully. He is on sabbatical leave and is seeking to enlist nurses for his clinic in Turkey.
Dr. Nute will speak about rural and city life in Turkey and will show technicolor slides of scenes in and around Constantinople.

Sundeen Appointed Air Corps Officer

Sgt. William E. Sundeen, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Sundeen, Bonners Ferry, Idaho, was recently nominated for a permanent commission as a first lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force.
Photography editor of the 1946 Gem. Sgt. Sundeen was a member of Phi Delta Theta. He is presently stationed at Mather Field, Sacramento, California as a flying instructor at the Aerial Observer Bombardment school. He will take over his duties as a commissioned officer within the next several days.

Sulphur Research Shows Success, States Klages

Research by the university agricultural experiment station, both at the home station at Moscow and the branch station at Sandpoint, long ago proved that fertilizers containing sulfur gave an immediate and substantial boost to alfalfa fields. The more luxuriant plots show that when the alfalfa is plowed under and wheat grown on the land there is also a profitable increase in the wheat yield, reports Dr. K. H. Klages, agronomist with the university agricultural station.
"The value of sulfur-containing compounds added to alfalfa in the experiment can be stated on the basis of increased income," explains Dr. Klages in his report. "When the yields of alfalfa for the seven-year period and the yields of wheat for one year are evaluated at the rate of $10 a ton for the hay and $1 a bushel for the wheat, it is found that the returns above fertilizer costs for the various treatments containing sulfur ranged from $11.33 to $18.21 per year. For the eight-year period these increases amounted to from $90.62 to $145.72 per acre."

Farm Economist Writes Solution To Sale Problem

The October issue of "Capper's Farmer" carries an article written by Norman Nybrotten, university agricultural economist, prompting a safe solution to the problem of the sale of a farm by an older farmer to a young man lacking in capital.
The article recommends that the new owner pay the price in wheat or other farm produce at its current market value.
Illustrating the advisability of the plan, Dr. Nybrotten shows that the buyer would pay more as his risks would be lower and the seller would benefit if farm produce prices went up and if they fail, he would make less but his living costs would also be less.
Operating under contract terms this method becomes a safe and profitable way helping to stabilize the value of the dollar. Several farmers have tried Dr. Nybrotten's method and find it adequate to present conditions.

Contest Offers Musicians Bond

Campus composers have an opportunity to win a $100 U.S. savings bond, see their music recorded by top record companies, and hear it plugged by leading orchestras from coast to coast as first prize in a contest sponsored by the Association of Knitted Glove Manufacturers.
Entry blanks and lyrics are available at leading department stores in college towns. Proceeds from the sale of records will be given to the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for Cancer Research.

Masonic Temple Scene Of Banquet

Delta Mu, an organization of college Job's Daughters, began its second year of activity with a banquet held at the Moscow Masonic Temple Monday.
Job's Daughters who are in good standing and interested in belonging to this organization were invited to attend.
Approximately 23 girls will be pledged in the first November meeting. The time will be announced in the Argonaut. Girls interested in joining should contact their house representative.

YRs Go To Boise

Young Republican club officers met Thursday, October 30, and appointed delegates and alternates to attend a joint meeting in Boise on November 14 with delegates from the Young Republican groups from Ada county and the University of Utah.
Delegates appointed are Jim Day, Bob Briggs and Orval Hansen. Alternate delegates are George Haas, Jack Peters and Edward Ryan.

Wet Enough?

Current and constant gripe of all normal Idaho students against typical, i.e., rainy, Moscow weather is found to have a well-grounded basis in the weather reports for the past two months.
A record rainfall of 7.80 inches fell in Moscow during the last two months. This is 4.37 inches above normal. September saw 3.81 inches fall, while 1.27 inches is normal.
October is crowding an all-time high for the month with a total of 3.42 inches so far. Another "shower" might add the .08 inches needed to break the record, according to K. H. Klages, university weather man. Normal for this month is a mere 1.69 inches.

Pretty Cook Is Wolf Bait For Hungry Men

By B. B.
Scavenging for news yesterday afternoon, I noted a lonesome Delt consuming a milk shake in the Bucket. This close to pay day I wondered how he could afford it and scenting a story I wandered over in his direction. In answer to my query he replied:
"Paid for it with the dime out of my girls' loafers. She felt sorry for me as our cook has been sick the past week and that hungry look on the Delt's face is the real McCoy. But—"
He paused while I hung breathlessly on his every word.
"Can you keep a secret?"
While murmuring my sympathy for the poor boys, I assured him I never tell anyone anything, twisted his arm, and finally secured this information.
"Well—when our cook found out how long she was going to be in bed, she sent her twenty-two-year-old blonde granddaughter over to help us out."
"How does she get any cooking done with all those wolves under her feet?"
A System
"The house manager collects a fine from anyone except the hashers who is found in the kitchen, and none of the guys have any money as the checks haven't come. They stand and drool at the windows of the kitchen doors."
This I had to see, so, armed with paper and pencil for an interview, I trudged up the hill to the Delt house. Knocking on the back door, and getting no answer I went to the front. Six menacing men met me and threatened extermination if the tale got into print. They were afraid they would have all the independents trying to pledge Delt.

'Near You' Tops Campus Song Hits

Songs favored by Idaho students compare closely to those chosen by the nation as a whole. Results of last week's house to house poll proved the following selections to be the chosen ten hits:
1. Near You.
2. That's My Desire.
3. When You Were Sweet Sixteen.
4. I Wish I Didn't Love You So.
5. Our Hour for Love.
6. Peg O' My Heart.
7. Naughty Angelina.
8. I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now.
9. Tallahassee.
10. Whiffenpoof.
This poll was conducted by Clarice Hove, Betty Lenz, Eleanor Paulsen, and Jean Ottenheimer. Bob Miller will announce the Campus Hit Parade over KUOI tonight and every Friday night at 7 p.m.

Yearbook To Take Group Pictures

Gem pictures of group organizations are scheduled to be taken soon.
All organization presidents are asked to put the organization's name, a list of officers, and the regular meeting time on a postcard and mail it to Barbara Spaeth, Kappa Kappa Gamma.
Presidents of living groups who have not turned in lists of members should do so immediately, checking the names of those living outside the group.

HOME EC GRADUATES VISIT

Among graduates who have recently visited the home economics department have been Mrs. George C. Anderson, Boise; Mrs. Joyce Mercer Casper, Meridian; Alice Rigby, clothing specialist, University Extension Service, Boise; Helen Schlader, home economics teacher, Potlatch.

Board Meet, Dine At Get-Together

Members of the WSC board of control were entertained by the Idaho executive board at an informal banquet held in Johnny's cafe last night.
Problems common to both schools were discussed during the get-together, part of the campaign for better understanding between the colleges.
Following a steak dinner, Washington State and Idaho songs were sung. Each person present addressed a few words to the group. A formal dance is planned by the two boards for December 5.

Honorary Meets At Willis Sweet

Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's scholastic honorary, met Tuesday evening at Willis Sweet hall, with Dr. Erwin Graue of the department of economics as main speaker.
New members pledged at the meeting include: Charles Abshire, Don Baumgartner, Neal Christensen, Tom Kerr, Bill Marineau, Kenneth McCormack, Wilson Merrill, Robert Moulton, Charles Rohrer, and Neville Williams.
Date of formal initiation ceremonies will be announced later.

Alberta Student Decries Confinement Of Women

Following is a partial reprint of a letter to the Gateway, University of Alberta newspaper, from a student, E. W. Kemp.
"There are only two ways to insure the morality of our co-eds. One is to keep them locked up after dark; the other, to marry them. It is becoming obvious that behind the seemingly innocent exterior of the modern co-ed lurks a depraved mind. So obvious, in fact, that even the arbiters of campus morality have noticed, and have taken appropriate action.
"Girls who live in residence are required to sign a book... and must arrive 'home' at the prescribed hour to sign in again. Failure to do so results in varying degrees of confinement to barracks. Thus righteousness is presumably insured... this little regulation proves satisfactory that the female sex is still the weaker both in mental and moral fibre, for men in the residences are subject to no such indignity.
"... There are two main difficulties with the lock-up law. In the first place, it fails to exert pressure on a large body of the campus girls. Those unfortunate are condemned to degenerate to the same level of iniquity as that vast cess-pool of vice which is composed of non-university girls. In the second place, even the girls who are affected by the rule have some time in which to indulge their base desires. I suggest, therefore, that numerous old women be engaged to accompany the girls at all times when they are not in bed alone behind locked doors."

Three-Hour Labs Cause Of Woe For Frosh

By CHUCK MAHER
During my very limited experience with three hour laboratories I have come to look upon them with a mixture of fear and bitter hatred. A period of three hours gives a professor too much time to ask, and to tell one to do, too many things that one knows nothing about.
The main problem however is not in being able to get the work done. The main problem lies in one's ability to stay awake for such a long period of time. After all, it is just a little too much to ask of a person to make him stay in one little room for three hours and expect him to evade the snares of Morpheus.
Buzzing noises
I never get much out of the last hour of the lab as most of the men have their electric razors running.
If I had my way, a three hour lab would run something like this: twenty minutes of work, then a break for an hour. This leaves us with an hour and forty minutes to account for. As there is no sense in starting a class twenty minutes after the hour we might as well add forty minutes to the first break, leaving us with one hour.
Sick or Sleepy
Next, back to work for fifteen minutes. By the end of this lengthy period everybody is either sick or asleep. So another break is in order. This one, however, will have to be cut short due to the fact that we haven't accomplished too much, so we will make it forty minutes.
Now, back to work for the remaining part of the three hours, (five minutes) without interruption. The bell finally rings and we leave with a deep sense of satisfaction, knowing that we have added greatly to our store of knowledge.

Audience Hears Faculty Recital

An enthusiastic audience heard William Davidson, pianist, at the first faculty recital of the year held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the university auditorium.
Mr. Davidson, played "Cat's Fugue," Sonata in G Major, and Sonata in D Major by D. Scarlatti, his own composition, Sonata in E Major (First movement), and Twenty-four Preludes, Op. 28, by Chopin. He also played one encore number.
Now assistant professor of music in the university music department, Mr. Davidson received both his Bachelor's and Master's degrees in music from the University of Illinois School of Music.

Mental Hygiene Institute To Be Held In Moscow Nov. 1

Mental hygiene—straight thinking to build stronger minds—will be discussed at an institute of the International Mental Hygiene association to be held in Moscow November 1.

Membership of the association is drawn from eastern Washington and northern Idaho, with Washington State college and the University of Idaho alternating annually as hosts for the institute. Idaho is sponsoring the institute this year, with Prof. Harry C. Harnsworth of the university, who is president of the association, serving as chairman. The program will open at 9 a.m. in the Moscow high school auditorium. About 100 are expected to attend.

Following an address of welcome by President J. E. Buchanan, talks will be given by various authorities on mental hygiene. They will include:

"The Role of Mental Hygiene in Child Development" by Dr. Olive

Card, home and family life specialist, Extension Service, Washington State college; "Trends in Juvenile Delinquency," Milo Johnson, special agent, FBI, Butte, Mont.; "An Adequate State Mental Health Program," Dr. Max B. McQueen, district public health officer, Lewiston.

Elias, department of rural sociology, Washington State college; "The Need for a Sound Mental Health Program for College Students," Harold Klobucher, student from Kellogg; "The V.A. Program for Mental Hygiene," Dr. H. M. Houtchens, branch clinical psychologist, Veterans Administration, Seattle, Wash., and "The Role of Religion in Achieving Mental Health," Dr. Oscar Adam, director, Institute of Christian Education, Moscow.

Many Athletes In Law School, Reports Say

Two of three afternoons a week you can find quite a large group of Bench and Bar members on the Ad building lawn trying to shake some of those cobwebs that have accumulated from having a book in hand too many hours of the day. It seems that the new attraction is a rousing touch-pass game.

The boys aren't too polished but make up that with spirit. It may be noticed that the Law school is sprinkled with athletes this year. For years it has been contended that Law school requires too much time for any students to engage in any outside sport. This year we find several mixing the two.

Heading the list is Bill Williams of Vandaville football and boxing fame. Also to be included in active participation in Idaho athletics are Preston Brimhall, strong contender for the starting line-up on the Idaho basketball team, and Arnold Beebe, one of the mainstays of the baseball team's pitching staff.

Other athletes enrolled in the school are Tom Church, former all state basketball player, Cope Gale allround athlete and former football coach of St. Maries, Gene Miller, basketball player. Other such minor sport letter winners as George Redford and Sumner Delana, Steve Bisline, star halfback of an intramural touch football team at Idaho State in 1936, and Boyd Hansen, member of the undefeated frosh basketball team of '41 and '42.

Many of these men contend that if the study of law were not so strenuous, the Law school could field teams that would give the intramural league something to watch.

Argonaut Reviews Vandal Sports

Looking back on a sports page five years ago in the Argonaut we find many stories that are very similar to today. Here are some samples.

Sigma Chi defeated ATO 13-6 last night to win the touch football championship for 1942.

The Vandal Babes lost their first start of the season to a bigger and heavier Montana frosh team 6 to 0.

The travel weary Idaho Vandals entrain this afternoon for Missoula, to meet the Montana Grizzlies in the sixth game of a schedule full of road trips, Frances Schmidt, football, coach, announced last night.

Idaho played a very good first half but lost to Oregon 28 to 0 because of lack of reserves.

Underground All-Americans Lambaste Woodchoppers

Editor's note: In last Tuesday's Argonaut the foresters gave the version of the pigskin classic between the Woodchoppers and the Ground Hogs. In retaliation, the Miners present the true, original story of one of the greatest routs in history.

Hard Times Novel Well Written But Lacks Timeliness

By MAURICE PAULSEN
"Shanty Paradise," Katherine Moore Kingsbury, Caxton Printers, 1947. $3.00

Idaho's own publishing house, the Caxton Printers of Caldwell, won't make much money on "Shanty Paradise," although the novel is better written than most current best sellers. But then, Caxton is better known for its unique publications and "quality" Americana than for its best sellers.

The trouble with Mrs. Kingsbury's novel is lack of timeliness. It is the story of a family of three face to face with the depression of the '30s, homeless, jobless, and penniless. The old and basic plot of winning over difficulties is revarnished with a friendly and sincere approach, but we just can't feel too concerned right now with the problem of job hunting and living on next to nothing. We're too concerned with the problem of living on more than we've ever had.

"Shanty Paradise" reads easily with a conversational style and homely humor, but it is not particularly engrossing. For example, following a major turn of events, Mrs. Kingsbury writes:

"I could feel my emotions welling, preparing to drop me, weeping all over two manly chests, but the manly chests wouldn't stand for it. They pushed me back with loud and boisterous protests. Together they shoved me into the kitchen where they set up a howl for food."

"Food, woman, food. We want food! Food!"

If "Shanty Paradise" had been printed in, say, 1935, or if Mrs. Kingsbury had chosen a post-war problem for a plot, Caxton might have made money on her book. But the "ifs" are out of the question. For if Mrs. Kingsbury hadn't been writing about actual experiences and after a period of time that enabled her to see those experiences as a whole, she probably wouldn't have found a publisher at all.

Dill To Speak

Former Washington U.S. Senator Clarence Dill will speak at the Bench and Bar meeting on Saturday November 8. His speech will be on the "Constitution of the United States."

Mr. Dill is now practicing law in Spokane and is the author of several books one of which is "Our Government". He is being accompanied by Mr. Therrett Towles.

Coach Sees Game By Television

A new "assistant coach"—a television set—was at the bench in Copisky Park today with Jimmy Conzelman, coach of the Chicago Cardinal professional football team.

"I guess every coach has wished he could get a 'bird's eye' view of the game while directing his team from the field," Conzelman told reporters. "When Station WBKB arranged to televise our games, I got the idea of using a television set to supplement the information my spotter was sending me from up in the stands. We were able to put the idea to work today to help me get a better view of our plays and spot weaknesses of our opponents."

"It proved effective and I believe television will come to be an essential aid for football coaches."

The television set used by Conzelman was fitted with a special hood to keep the brilliant sunlight on the field from weakening the image on the screen.

Fans Organize Camera Club

Rex Speas, Bob Spiker, Fred Farmer, and Roger Spiker are organizing a camera club for all amateur or professional photographers. It will hold its first meeting Monday at 4 p.m. in room 103 in the Art building.

Photo lab facilities have been obtained and part of the club's activities will be the purchase of equipment for mutual use. T. J. Prichard, head of the Art department, is the faculty advisor.

High spot of the game came when the Miners unvelled their underground pass play. As the ball was snapped from center, the left end tunneled underground, the quarterback faded forward and flipped a shovel (pass that is) which the tunneling end came up with fifty yards downfield for the Miner's eighteenth touchdown. The scoring end later commented to reporters, "It wouldn't have taken me all those seconds to complete that play, but the coach said to play it safe, so I timbered my tunnel as I went along."

Previous to game time, the Miners received many requests to keep the game interesting. They complied in a manner befitting the true sports that they are by playing only four men against the 48-man team fielded by the Foresters.

Observers of the contest agreed that the Miners literally ran opponents into the ground.

Vandals Face Van Brocklin In Fourth Conference Tilt

They're Underdogs Again But Still Hope To Win

With almost two weeks of continuous drill behind them, the Idaho Vandals boarded the train yesterday evening for Eugene and what promises to be one of their hottest battles of the season when they meet the air-minded Oregon Ducks. The Vandals were idle last weekend after winning a close one from a Portland eleven the previous week. Dixie Howell took advantage of the lull to drill his team on fundamentals and polish the offense the first week, and the last week has been working primarily on pass defense. "We hope we've done some good," Howell stated, "but we won't be able to say until we take to the field Saturday."

According to coach Howell, the Duck eleven runs all plays from the "T" formation and since all previous Vandal foes used the "T" there was little need for drill on those plays.

Oregon Strong
End coach Perron Shoemaker has scouted the last two Oregon games against Washington and San Francisco and in his estimation, after a slow start, they are now one of the best teams on the coast. The Ducks opened their season by taking one from Montana State and then dropped three in a row to Texas, Nevada, and UCLA, all of whom are rated high in football standings. They moved back on the victory side of the ledger with a 6-0 victory over Washington and last week walloped San Francisco eleven 34 to 7.

Shoemaker says the Ducks have six of the best backs in the conference with Norm Van Brocklin and Jake Leicht heading the list. Van Brocklin rates first on the coast in total offense and passing while Leicht rates first on punt returns and kickoff returns. Halfback Jim Newquist is another definite threat to Idaho's chances and he has an able replacement in sophomore George Bell. Fullback Bob Koch has also figured strongly in Duck victories.

Air Battle
In team statistics Oregon is rated among the first five in all departments. Idaho holds down first in passing offense but does not even rate an honorable mention in the other departments so it looks like the Vandals will have to go all the way through the air if they are to score an upset.

The Idaho squad will be hampered by injuries to tackles Mack Neibauer and Carl Killsgaard. Coach Howell said that Killsgaard had recovered sufficiently to see some action if necessary but will probably not be included in the starting lineup.

Won in 1925
Since competition was first begun between Idaho and Oregon in 1901, Oregon has won 26 times, Idaho 2, and they have tied 4. The last time Idaho won was in 1925 and the Vandals were last able to muster a tie in 1927.

Others going were Phil Litzberger, Glen Lyman, Ken McCormack, Ed McFaul, Rus Moffett, Carl Munson, Will Overgaard, Ralph Paasch, Grant Potter, Maurice Rathbun, George Smith, Sam Theis, Tom Trees, and Bill Williams.

Probable starting lineups for the two teams are as follows:
IDAHO Pos. OREGON
Barnes LE Garza
Overgaard LT Dotur
McCormack LG Berwick
Paasch C Ecklund
Dana RG Chrobot
Buoy RT Stanton
McFaul RE Robinson
Moffett QB Van Brocklin
Williams LH Leicht
Diehl, J. RH Newquist
Bietz FB Koch

Coach Is Speaker At Booster Club

Boxing coach Ken Butler spoke at a luncheon of the Vandal Booster club in Moscow yesterday. Plans for the coming season were discussed by the Idaho mentor.

At present the varsity boxing team is going through light workouts in the afternoons. Freshmen who are not eligible for the coming tournament due to the lack of previous ring experience are also working out.

Pacing The Sidelines . . .

By GENE BUSH

We'll start right this week by going out on the usual limb and getting it cut off behind us. Way up north of Seattle this Saturday afternoon it's the rampaging Trojans from Southern California over the lethargic Washington Huskies by 4 touchdowns. At Los Angeles the Golden Bears from Berkeley regain their stride after their Southern Cal defeat to down the UCLA Bruins by two touchdowns. Oregon State will increase their victories with a lopsided score, probably four touchdowns, over Stanford's tired Indians. At Eugene the Idaho Vandals will again raise the eyebrows of coast big wigs with a neat one touchdown win over Oregon University's improved Ducks.

Stepping down in the Big Seven conference for a few quick ones, it's Utah remaining undefeated with a one touchdown thriller over Colorado University. BYU is due this week and will beat Denver University in a close one.

Dixie was passing out the usual bucket of woe this week. "Oregon is the most improved team on the coast and we will be playing them as they are reaching their peak." He's probably not far wrong, as Oregon's upset win over Washington two weeks ago and their tromping of San Francisco University last week, one of the coast's strongest independent squads, labels them as a definite power in the Northwest.

The frosh team plays their first home game this week. We don't want you to turn out for the game just because the boys have been out practicing hard all fall and they need the support. That's all true, but we want you to turn out because the frosh squad will show you some real Idaho football and give you an idea what to expect in the future, and that's plenty.

In the game at Pullman two weeks ago the Idaho babes completely outclassed the Cougar Kittens and Johnny Brogan, Idaho left half, exhibited an educated toe in placing punt after punt out of bounds next to the Cougar goal line. The frosh line, although outweighed in every game this season, has been a stone wall on defense and one of the hardest charging lines in the business on offense. Well, anyway, if you like football there will be plenty of it at Neale Stadium Saturday afternoon.

WHITMAN HEEDS PLEA

Dr. Winslow S. Anderson, Whitman president, announced recently that Whitman college is cooperating fully with President Truman's request for meatless Tuesdays and eggless Thursdays.

The board of trustees believes that the college should do its part in this emergency and should endeavor to avoid waste of essential foods, Dr. Anderson said.

Victory Starved WSC Students Sound Off

By ROY GARRETT

A situation that has frequently occurred at Idaho has now arisen at Washington State with students and alumni expressing their dissatisfaction with the football coaching staff headed by Phil Sorboe.

In the "Letters to the Editor" column of the Evergreen last week the following letter appeared.
"Dear Editor:
"Too bad our team has to play against 12 men, especially when the 12th man is Coach Phil Sorboe."

"We know that our team has the ability and will to win but the last two games have shown Sorboe's coaching has been interfering."

"A new coaching staff did it for Idaho and California. The same could put us in the winning column."

"This is a challenge for the Student Body of Washington State College to put their team on top with a new coaching staff."

In a later issue a letter signed by "The 1947 W.S.C. Football Team," the entire WSC squad assumed all the blame and expressed complete satisfaction with Sorboe's coaching. Football fans on both sides of the border are waiting with interest to see what it will all lead to.

We also noted in a column on the sports page of the Evergreen a prediction that WSC after dropping five games and winning one, would win the next four to end up the season with a .500 percent. This could possibly happen as we all know that Washington State can play very good ball. (For instance, October 4, 1947.) They can also play some very lousy ball as was witnessed last Saturday. They will have a very formidable opponent in Oregon State soon and Oregon is certainly no pushover.

If a certain player continues to work out the defeats in a local bar instead of on the gridiron, we cannot see how they can even get past Portland, who is about due for an upset.

Best of luck, Cougars, but we wonder if we might not be greeting you from about our position on the PCC standings comes the end of the season.

The class yell of the school of experience is "ouch."

Vandal Frosh To Meet WSC Kittens In Return Battle At Neale Stadium

University of Idaho students get their first chance to watch their freshman football squad in action at Neale stadium this Saturday when the Vandal Babes attempt to repeat their triumph over the improved Washington State college frosh squad in a game scheduled for 2 p. m.

Coach Steve Belko has been running his charges through heavy drills all week in an attempt to wipe out the "fumbling habit" which cost the freshmen their ball game last week against Boise Junior College.

Mullins Out

The Vandal juniors will be weaker for their second game against the Cougar frosh due to injuries to Bill Mullins, outstanding defensive end, who is out with a twisted knee; and Keith Bean, first string quarterback, who is out with two cracked ribs.

Expected to carry the load of Idaho's offensive maneuvers will be Johnny Brogan, triple threat halfback, who passed to lanky end Jack Beach for two touchdowns at Boise last Saturday. Stepping along with Brogan will be Harley Williams and Glen Christian, two fleetfooted ball carriers who are especially dangerous in an open field.

W.S.C. Improved

Against this array of talent WSC will field a team definitely improved over the squad that played Idaho two weeks ago. Since that game the Cougar Babes have downed a strong Montana University frosh team and have perfected a dangerous passing attack. Washington's chief weakness in the first game, according to dopsters, was their inexperience, something they won't be bothered with this Saturday.

Leading the Cougar team will to finish out the season with two wins.

Lineup

Hiserman's Squad Meets WSC Here

For the first time this season the Idaho cross country team will enter in dual competition with Washington State college runners on the three-mile Idaho course.

Three lettermen from the Vandals, who last year swept through to two dual victories over the Cougar harriers. The lettermen are Art Humphrey, Art Denman and Marvin Badger. Humphrey won both of last year's WSC meetings.

Several newcomers are expected to work hard for positions on Coach Stan Hiserman's squad.

His bullet rings a bell...

30 miles away!

Zing! . . . and the damage is done.

A bullet . . . intended for game . . . pierces an exposed telephone cable.

Instantly, hundreds of wires are open to the ruinous effects of moisture.

Instantly, too, nitrogen gas . . . stored in the cable under pressure . . . begins its slow escape, keeping dangerous moisture out. And, as the gas pressure falls, a small contact closes and an alarm is sounded in a Bell Telephone testroom many miles away.

Through mathematical plotting the break is readily located and, within minutes, an emergency crew is on its way. Repairs are frequently made before telephone service is interrupted.
