EVENT OF THE WEEK

Rally Thursday Night

VOL. 52, NO. 17

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT, Official Publication of the ASUI

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1947

GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

Jason has been thinking lately about the number of married students now attending colleges and universities in the U. S. Since the close of World War II, since schools have had a sharp increase in the total of wedded enrollees.

Idaho, for example, listed about 650 married male students last year. Figures for this year are not available, but estimates place the number around 700. About 315 couples are living in university housing.

Modern Pioneers
Today's married students are probably pioneering the way for gradually increasing numbers to follow. Living under rough conditions in muddy villages and trying to stretch both time and money, they probably derive little pleasure from campus life. It's a job, and not play, for them.

A real place in the social life of the university has not yet been found for wedded couples, both because they have little time for social events, and because it is a new thing to have hundreds of married students.

Longer Courses
With medical courses, engineering courses, and other specialist studies increasing to five and six years, the average age of students is increasing. But the biological age and the mental age when a student is prepared for marriage has increased little, if any.

Probably the main factor that prevents hundreds of marriages among students is the economical one. However, future years will undoubtedly see more and more college weddings.

Pullman Survey
Of interest to married students especially, but also vital to most Moscovites is the result of a survey made for Pullman merchants recently. Reported in the Washington State Evergreen last week, the survey concerned relative prices for consumer's goods in Pullman and surrounding cities.

The itemized report, according to the Evergreen, "compared prices of foods, drugs, furniture, clothing, etc., by making spot checks on 140 items in 247 stores in Lewiston, Moscow, Pullman, Colfax and Spokane."

Checking only on standard brand items, the committee making the

Most 'Formerly' Pair

Sigma Chis Seek Sweetheart

The annual "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" contest has been announced by the local chapter, starting November 17 and climaxed by the crowning of the 1947 Sweetheart at a formal dance on December 6.

Two candidates will be selected from each women's living group. They must be freshmen or sophomore women enrolled in their first or second semester at the university, not pinned, engaged or married. They must not be related to members or pledges of Sigma Chi. All candidates will be entertained at dinner, luncheon, a fireside chat session and breakfast between Monday, November 17, and Tuesday, November 25. They will be divided into two groups for these events.

Six finalists will then be chosen and serenaded on Monday, December 1. The following week they will be entertained by the fraternity. One of the six will be chosen as the 1947 "Sweetheart" and presented at a formal dance on Saturday, December 6.

Names of candidates are to be submitted to Jack Lein, Sigma Chi social chairman, before November 12.

Safety Men Hear Prexy

President J. E. Buchanan will address the Monday luncheon meeting of the Idaho safety council scheduled for November 10 and 11.

Morning sessions will be devoted to a consideration of the industrial codes to be recommended to the Idaho state industrial accident board. The session Monday afternoon will be spent in a panel discussion of safety training which industry wants its college-trained employees to receive.

"The public is welcome to attend the various sessions and view exhibitions of modern safety appliances," said Dr. L. C. Cady, university representative.

Attic Club Sells Christmas Cards

A sample book of Christmas cards designed by the Attic club is on display in the Art building. Orders for the cards will be taken next week, according to president Leroy Anderson.

Students ordering 100 cards may have a special design and their name printed on the card free of charge. Those ordering 25 cards or more may have their name printed on the card. Prices range from 5 to 25 cents apiece.

Interested persons may contact Maxine Galvin, at Delta Delta Delta, or Jim Black at Willis Sweet hall. Special orders may also be placed at the Art building.

IRC Plans Panel

International Relations club will present a panel discussion on Latin America Thursday at 7 p. m. in the upper lounge of the Student Union building.

Betty Jean Ingram, president of the club, will act as chairman of the panel, which will be composed entirely of students. All students are invited to attend.

Dairymen Plan Annual Meeting For December 3-6

The twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Idaho Dairymen's Association, Inc. and the Dairy Conference will hold their meetings in Moscow on December 3, 4, 5 and 6, 1947. Registration for this four-day conference will be at the Moscow hotel.

Guest speakers from out of town will highlight the conference. A luncheon will be held in the Dairy Science building Thursday noon, December 4. Another luncheon, sponsored by milk processors and production sections will be held Friday noon at the Moscow hotel.

On Friday evening, December 5, the basketball game between Idaho and the University of Montana will be followed by the Yellow Dog Ceremonial.

Educational talks will be given. The University herds will be inspected, and reports will be given at the conference.

Ag Clubbers Hold Annual Farm Bowl

Approximately 300 couples danced, in a rural atmosphere Saturday night at the Blue Bucket ballroom as the Ag club staged its annual Ag Bowl.

Bales of hay, farm equipment, and caged live chickens lined the walls of the large and small ballrooms to provide the proper rural setting deemed essential by the Ag students.

Claire Jergensen and Dick Thomas (see cut) were awarded prizes for their costumes representing the typical farm couple. Judging was done on the basis of resemblance to a modern farm pair.

A box of stationery was presented to Miss Jergensen. Thomas received a men's toilet kit.

Music for the evening was furnished by the Rhythm-Aires.

Run-off debates held this week in the Women's Intramural Debate tournament find four houses in the finals with one run-off contest yet to be held.

Delta Gamma, Forney hall, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Ridenbaugh hall will enter the finals with two wins each. Pi Beta Phi and Hays hall with one win and one loss each will vie at 4 o'clock Wednesday for a place in the finals.

Finals to be held next week will decide the winner of the cup to be presented by Delta Sigma Rho. The tournament has been under the co-chairmanship of Frances Rhea and Geneva Ferguson with Dr. A. E. Whitehead, debate coach, as advisor.

The change was necessitated by conflicts with other events scheduled for use of the auditorium, but the change will give crews additional time to complete one of the most difficult plays of recent years from a production standpoint, she added.

She has scheduled no night rehearsals for the cast until after Thanksgiving.

Honorary Pledges 7 Law Students

Phi Alpha Delta, law honorary, held a meeting November 6. New members who were pledged at that time are: Theron Roberts, Watt Prather, Robert Stephan, Lou Garrono, James McClure, Charles Donaldson and Walter Smith.

During the business part of the meeting a dinner dance was planned for the first week in December. A talk was given by C. J. Hamilton on the "Rights of the beneficiary to take under the estate of the deceased where beneficiary has brought the demise of the deceased."

Gonzaga Bans Movie

Gonzaga student council last week adopted a resolution urging students to boycott the movie "Forever Amber" when it is shown in Spokane.

A council spokesman said, "We are well aware of the axiom, 'Ban it and they'll stand in line to see it.' We are appealing... to Gonzaga students to unite and show that we're not going to swallow this dirt."

MARTIN SPEAKS AT UNESCO

Dr. Boyd A. Martin spoke on UNESCO at a joint meeting of clubs and organizations sponsored by the toastmistress club Friday at Priest River.

Idaho Schedules Oxford Debaters

A debate with Oxford University will be held Tuesday evening, November 18, in the auditorium at 8 p. m.

He is on the Executive Committee, Oxford University Socialist Club, president of Oxford Union, and has been a member of the British Labor Party since 1942. He was selected Parliamentary Candidate for the Labor party in 1947 and was granted a Bachelor of Arts degree in Philosophy and Economics in 1946.

Interfraternity Council President Chuck Gilb returned late Sunday night from the University of Southern California where he attended a three-day Western Regional Interfraternity Conference.

The conference, attended by representatives from 11 western states, discussed various problems of the different schools, and settled routine business matters. Outstanding speaker was Chancellor Ruffus P. Von Klimesmid, head of the University of Southern California.

The attending delegates were house guests at their respective fraternities on the campus and were taken to the USC-Stanford football game Saturday afternoon.

The annual Interfraternity Council ball was held Saturday night at the Hermosa Biltmore hotel, Hermosa Beach, Calif.

States represented at the conference were California, Arizona, Utah, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and British Columbia.

The University of Oregon at Eugene was chosen as the site of the 1948 conference.

Officers for next year's convention elected at Southern Cal are King Cosho, Oregon State, president; Art Allsup, University of Washington, vice president; Donald Dudley, University of Arizona, secretary, and Johnny Lee, University of Nevada, treasurer.

Comdr. K. L. Butler announced today that the new NROTC armory building is practically completed and will be ready for use soon.

The armory, a quonset type structure beside the Navy building, is to be used only until a large Navy building planned is built. The building, 52 feet by 20 feet, is constructed of cinder blocks and sheet metal.

Finance and construction work is being done by the Navy and the university. The Navy plans to use the armory to store ordnance equipment and for laboratory drills.

A religious census of the University of Idaho reveals that more students here prefer the Methodist church to any other. Of the 595 students of Methodist preference, 315 are members. The census lists 478 students of Presbyterian preference, including 247 members.

The Latter-day Saints church has the largest actual membership on the campus with 363 members plus 29 others who listed the LDS church as their preference.

All Of Idaho's Counties Represented At U. Of I.

All 44 of Idaho's counties have students at the University of Idaho, a survey revealed today. More than 3,000 Idahoans are included among the 3,532 students who make up the university's all-time high enrollment.

Counties having more than 100 students at the university are Latah 672; Ada, 236; Twin Falls, 170; Nez Perce, 171; Canyon and Shoshone, 156 each; Kootenai, 148; and Bonneville, 124. The Latah county enrollment is unusually high due to the large number of married veterans who have listed Moscow as their place of residence.

For the last two school years, due to the heavy enrollment from within the state, the university has limited new students to Idaho residents. Returning students from other states and territories, however, total 436. Forty-two states are represented. Leading states: Washington, 154 students; California, 51; Montana, 24, and Illinois and Oregon, 21 each. Territories sending students to the university include Alaska, Canal Zone, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

By action of the board of regents, the out-of-state bars were lifted last month to permit a limited number of new students from other areas to attend the university. Out-of-state enrollment is expected to rise sharply in the forestry and mines schools, which drew many students before the war from all over the world.

Through special action of the board of regents in the interest of international relations, a total of 15 foreign students were permitted to enroll this year at the university. They come from Canada, China, Denmark, England, Paraguay, Peru and Turkey.

Vandals Praised At C of C Meet

University Chamber of Commerce members heard from basketball coach Charles Finley at their last meeting a thumbnail word sketch of the progress of his Vandal basketball squad.

Finley praised the varsity men for their willingness to work, although he made no prediction for the team's chances against other members of the Pacific Coast Conference.

Moving pictures of the Idaho City College of New York game in Madison Square Garden last year were shown with Finley commenting on the different systems used by the two teams.

Finley said the basketball squad is now mainly occupied with conditioning drills, and fundamentals of defensive play.

Special Planned For Utah Game

A special train, which will take football fans to the Utah-Idaho game in Boise on Saturday November 15, will leave Moscow at 5:45 Thursday evening.

The round trip will cost $45 and ticket holders will sleep in their berths at Boise.

To make arrangements or for further information, interested persons should contact Lawrence Huff, telephone 6571, or Harold Cornelison, 25-461.

Marine Birthday A Quiet Affair

November 10, the 172 birthday of the U. S. Marine corps passed almost unnoticed on the campus yesterday with the exception of a few ex-marines who staged private celebrations in local taverns.

Lt. N. H. Carver, U.S.M.C., said, although celebrations were scheduled in Lewiston and Spokane, no official observance of the day was made on the campus.

Ken Hunter, ASUI news director, accompanied Mix.

Ornett To Attend Military Meeting

Herb Ornett left yesterday to represent Idaho's chapter of Scabbard and Blade at the national convention being held at the University of Cincinnati.

He expects a full week of activities, including a dance which is to be given in honor of the delegates to the convention.

A Military Ball is being planned in conjunction with the Pershing Rifles for February 14, so ex-servicemen are reminded to bring those old uniforms back to school from Christmas vacation.

Train-Time Rally For Football Team

Students will send off the Vandals to Boise for the Idaho-Utah game with a rally Thursday at 5:15 p. m.

Lead by the sound truck, the rally will start at Hays hall, proceed to the Delta Chi corner where it will turn right, to the ATO corner where it turns left, and up to Willis Sweet hall.

At Willis Sweet it turns right to go past the Idaho club corner and then down Sixth street past the Alpha Phi house to the station where songs and yells will climax the all campus turn-out.

The team will return from Boise at 9:30 Monday morning.

Got Blue-Book Shudders?

The Associated Collegiate Press released a story a couple of weeks ago about a young man who called on his former grammar school teacher to prove to her that he made good, despite her dire predictions made about him when he was in the second grade.

The teacher flunked him in that class because, although he tried very hard, he couldn't learn at once to read or write and consequently rested at the bottom of the class. But thirty years later he was making over thirty thousand dollars annually.

The story is simply more proof in favor of the argument that the steady, constantly plugging student learns and retains more information than does the flashy, Grade-A scholar who uses his brilliant mind only when the occasion demands. Some educators even go so far as to demand a complete shake-up of the grade system, judging students by their aptitude to the subject matter only, and ignoring the practice of giving examinations. That might work in small classes, but not in large ones.

A little more credit, however, should be given by college professors to the student who knows the material at test-time but who develops a sudden case of nervous frustration whenever he sees a blue book.

Dear Jason

The Argonaut will print only signed letters. However, if requested, initials will be used upon publication.

CRITICIZING THE CRITIC

Dear Jason: I don't know Maurice Paulsen personally, but from this distance he doesn't appear to be a very good drama critic. Undoubtedly his article in Tuesday's Argonaut was sincere—but that's about all that can be said for it.

I would hardly say that Barrie didn't expect to have "Dear Brutus" presented to audiences of "college level." Golly! I never realized before how much higher intellectually we are than audiences in London and New York, for instance.

I wouldn't call the play "redundant," or lay all the blame on the author. After all, the performance was an amateur one—and while it was certainly up to "college level" acting, it wasn't professionally done. Perhaps Mr. Paulsen wouldn't find so many non-subtleties in a Broadway production of the same play.

Why does the Argonaut pass up the services of the experienced critics at its disposal? Wouldn't an article by a member of the English Department be much more definitive, in view of such a person's experience, which must of necessity be much wider than that of anyone of "college level?" I suggest Mr. Banks, since his courses deal with modern drama.

Yours very truly,
R. F.
Ed. Note: The headline over Paulsen's review, "Self-styled critic" (which he wrote himself) should indicate that neither Paulsen nor the Arg staff consider the criticism professional. As to the other, thanks for the suggestion.

NOT CHICAGO, PLEASE!
Dear First Assistant Jason and Thirteenth Vice-president in charge of Fleecce: This communication is to inform you that I am not matriculating at the University of Chicago, never have, probably never will. I dislike Chicago with an intensity paralleled only by my hatred for long skirts and wouldn't patronize the big city even if they started wearing 'em short again. Instead, I dwell in tranquil Badgerland, the University of Wisconsin, where the women have yet to acquire that "new look" and a strong breeze is sufficient to convince the most frustrated of souls that life can be beautiful.

As punishment for this gross oversight, I intend to throw a party at the Waldorf-Astoria next Saturday night and you're not invited.

But please don't think me unappreciative of the roses thrown my way. Nothing could afford me greater satisfaction than to know

Bridge Building Tough If Span Crosses Water

By CHUCK MAHER

Have you ever wondered how bridges are built? Suppose someone should hand you a river and say: "Here, build a bridge across this." Would you know what to do first? I have been thinking it over, and have come to the conclusion that the building of bridges involves many problems that the building of other structures would not.

This is especially true if one is building a bridge across water. When a building is constructed, the workmen start from the ground and build up. However, one cannot grab an armful of building material, row to the middle of the river, jump out and commence working.

No, it is not so easy as all that. The material used in mid-river bridge building is as follows: one length of garden hose, to breath through while working at the river bottom; one large rock to hold you secure to the river bottom; and a large sledge hammer used to pound the rock to pieces when one wishes to rise to the surface again.

There is, of course, more than one way to build a bridge across a river. There was one contractor last spring who struck upon an entirely new idea. He built a bridge in his workshop. This plan, however, was not too successful as he had no little trouble getting the bridge out of his workshop, and when he finally did arrive at the river with it, it was forty feet too short and twelve people were drowned before the mistake was discovered. He gave up contracting and went into the yo-yo business.

A third method, and one recently used, was that of dropping the bridge into the river from an airplane: after it has been constructed. The Humane Society did not approve of this plan however, because it frightened the fish.

As you have seen from these few examples the problem of bridge building is no easy one. The only conclusion that can be sensibly arrived at is that rivers should be abolished. They are a big nuisance anyway, running through everything as they do.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

Each year several thousand dollars are spent for maintenance of the grounds of this campus. Some of this money could be spent for other worthwhile purposes if the maintenance staff could have your cooperation. Signs of "Keep off the Grass," unless heeded, only aid in marring the appearance of our campus.

Now this isn't the most beautiful campus in the world but it is ours and for that reason a little more pride and thoughtfulness should be shown in respecting the efforts of the people in charge of the grounds.

Our creed should be "It's our campus and we should be proud of its appearance." T. R. S.

Vandal Harriers Win Again

Stan Hiserman's harriers made a clean sweep in their second meet of the year by placing men in the first five positions Friday morning when they met the Montana State university cross-country men in a four-mile run on the university golf course.

John Alicakos, New York, finished first for the Vandals with a good time of 22:18.1. Close behind were Humphrey, 22:24; C. Weimann, 22:43; Badger, 22:47; and Johnson, 23:01, all of Idaho.

First runner to reach the finish on the Montana team was McChesney who placed sixth and made the course in 23:07 minutes. The rest of the runners finished in this order: Johanson, I.; Regan, M.; Howard, I.; Widenhofer, M.; Hohman, M.; Denman, I.; and Churchill, M.

Howard, who finished ninth, was not competing in the meet as he is on the Vandal fresh team, but was running for the experience.

Idaho made the lowest possible score of 15 to 45 for Montana. In cross country meets the low score wins.

Scribe Reviews Frosh Team Of 1947

By GENE BUSH
Scoring a total of 83 points to opponents 53, the Idaho Frosh hung up their football logs for the 1947 season with a record of three wins and two losses. In the final two frosh games, they scored 58 points to seven for opponents to give evidence that they were an improving ball club.
The '47 seven edition of the Vandal Babes was an offensive minded club with such stars as Johnny Brogan, Harley Williams, Glen Christian, Ken Larsen, Max Graves, Rich LeDuc and Big Jack Beach figuring in the scoring.
The most effective T.D. combination for the Vandal juniors was a pass from Brogan to Beach, which accounted for four touchdowns through the year and any number of long gains.
The frosh started the season on October 11 against the University of Washington Frosh in a game played at Spokane. The battle was very close the first half but the superior reserves and experience of the Washington squad spelled the difference in the second half.
Bouncing back in their second game the frosh, led by the outstanding play of their line, downed the Washington State College Couababes 6 to 0 on a wet field at Rogers Stadium.
Their third game was against the powerful Boise Junior College Broncos at Boise. An inability to hold onto the ball set up two Boise scores resulting in an outcome of 19 to 12 for the Broncs. Both Idaho touchdowns in this game came on passes from Brogan to Beach.
In the fourth game the Babes opened up their big guns and swamped WSC in a return game played at Moscow 25 to 7. This game was also played in the rain and the Frosh, completely cured of their fumbling, did not drop the ball once while the Couababes committed five fumbles.
The fifth game, also played in rain and mud, did not see a single frosh fumble as Coach Steve Belbo's boys exhibited an offense that scored from pass, power and deception plays. The final score was Idaho 33, Eastern Washington College of Education, 0.
Idaho fans became interested in the 1947 frosh to an extent never before attained and their general opinion was that members of this year's Idaho varsity would be hard survey reported: "As a whole, for every $100 worth of these items which the average family in Pullman would purchase during the year, the cost in other communities would be:

$102.30 in Moscow.
$100.90 in Spokane.
$100.80 in Lewiston.
$100.30 in Coeur d'Alene."
A Pullman committee studying the survey report states that the survey is limited in scope, and does not contain an adequate coverage of non-standard brand goods and lower price range commodities.
But limited or not, there it is, just as we in Moscow have suspected.
Another Election
It's a little late, but Jason wishes to report that the Idaho class elections were 100 per cent successful. At least that successful when compared with elections recently held at the University of Alberta in Canada.
The Canadian class elections were declared illegal. The Gateway, student newspaper, presented evidence to the executive council proving that at least twelve students, required only to show campus cards, corresponded to our ASUT books, had voted illegally.
The telephone directory was used as the official voting list. Greatest surprise uncovered by the paper, however, was the fact that three candidates on the sophomore slate were found to be juniors, and pushed for positions by the oncoming freshmen stars.

Idaho Vandals Mauled By Grizzlies As Stiff Defense Limits Passing

The "Little Brown Stein" returned to Missoula with Grizzly football squad Friday evening after the hard-fighting Montana eleven took advantage of the opportunities thrust upon them by an off-pace Vandal team to win the gridiron battle 21 to 0.

The game saw Grizzly Roy Malcolm score a touchdown in the first minute of play with a successful conversion by Bill Preuninger, one of three for the day, to put Montana ahead 7 to 0. The game also showed Billy Williams usually brilliant passing attack to be off-key as was unable to hit receivers with the usual precision.

Errors Costly
Despite a one-hundred yard Vandal yardage margin over the Montana team, the men from Missoula capitalized on a misplaced quick kick and an intercepted pass to win the ball game. Idaho scoring threats were downed by fumbles and a determined opposing line.

Coach Dixie Howell in commenting on the game asserted that the passing attack was considerably slowed by the slippery condition of the ball. He added that Williams' passing was not as consistent as in previous games. Other factors in the defeat according to Dixie were poor blocking for the passers, sporadic running and fumbled opportunities. Coach Howell stated that much of the fumbling in the first half was caused by the over-anxious condition of the men.

Clock Kaput
In the second half the men came on the field determined to win as the opening play proved, Howell said, "but the confusion and time lost because of trouble with the clock allowed them to get cold."

Scoring touchdowns for the Montana squad were Malcolm,

Ski Club's Work Nears Completion

Don Hayes, president of the Ski club, announced that the ski movie shown last Sunday evening was a complete success with over 175 people attending.

Work on the ski area has been almost completed according to Hayes. Last Sunday's work party put the finishing touches on the ski run and built the lift shack. They also installed the lift.

One more work party will be held this Sunday to stretch the rope and put the pulley wheels on the poles. This last work party will leave from the bucket Sunday at 9 o'clock.

There will be no Ski club or board of directors meeting this Thursday due to quiz week.

The varsity ski team will meet today at 4 p.m. in room 107 of Memorial gymnasium.

MONTANA ST. VOTES ON SUB
Montana State college recently voted on whether to enlarge the student union building, leave it as is, or build a new one. Sixty-two percent of the students favored erecting a new building.

Pacing The Sidelines . . .

By ROY GARRETT

After a bad Friday afternoon we hope the entire university is still firmly behind Dixie Howell and the football coaching staff. There were a few cases of fumbling and confusion but after a full season of heads-up football it is our opinion that the team was about due for a let-down. It wasn't much of a let-down but just enough to allow a determined Montana team to win on the breaks.

In our opinion, Dixie Howell has done an excellent job considering the shortage of material he has had to work with. Three victories to four losses is a great improvement over the one solitary victory of last year.

Next Saturday the fighting Vandals wind up their 1947 football season at Boise when they meet the University of Utah Redskins. This promises to be the toughest game of the season as Utah stands undefeated. In their opening game the Redskins defeated Oregon State 7 to 6. Last week they clinched the Big Seven championship with a 19 to 0 victory over Colorado A. and M.

Since competition between the two schools was first begun in 1908, Utah has won 7, Idaho 4, and tied one. Idaho last won in 1937 when they defeated the Redskins 16 to 0. When the two schools last met in 1944, Utah won 38 to 12.

Red jerseys with white numerals have been worn by the Redskins in each of their games in spite of the fact that 45 brand-new white jerseys are in the equipment room. After the Oregon State upset the team decided that they would wear the red jerseys until they were defeated. We hope Idaho is just the team to tear those jerseys right off of their backs. It looks doubtful now but more surprising things have happened.

Mike Versus Ken

A late bulletin from the dark recesses of the Navy building would indicate that Idaho's chances for a winning boxing team this year may be marred by a very bitter rivalry between Mike Williamson and Coach Ken Butler. (Mike slipped us a fin to print his name first.)

It seems that as each edition of the Arg comes off the press the two gent's in question scan hurriedly through it looking for their latest press releases. Both Mike and Ken count the number of times their names appear in print and whenever one receives a slight edge, the other hurries down to the Arg office to complain loudly and long.

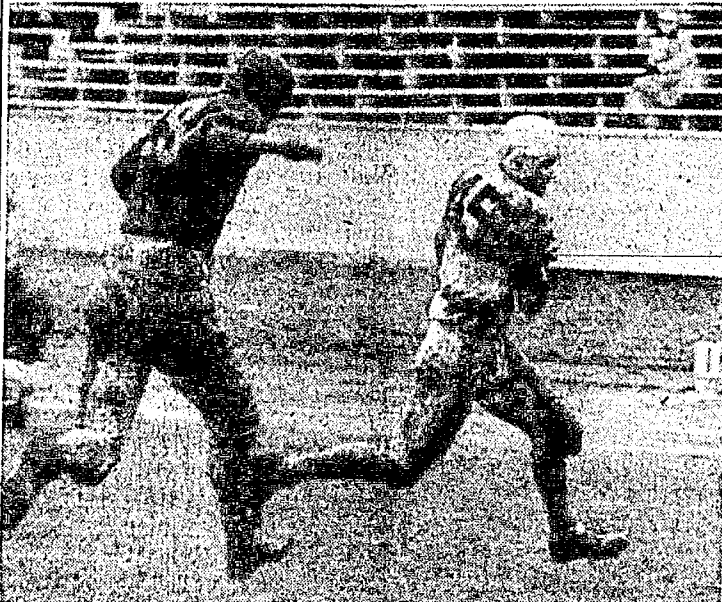

The count now stands at 93 for

Boxers Train For Coming Tilts

By GARTH FULLMER

Boxing news for the past two weeks has been slow, but the boys are down at the gym, getting in shape to make hot news in the weeks to come.

Champion boxers have to be in excellent shape to stand the gaff of ring competition, and from all appearances the boys who will represent the University of Idaho this year are going to be in that condition.

Flying fists, short jabs, uppercuts, right hooks, left hooks, and bloody noses are just a few of the things one sees as he enters the boxing ring in the gym.

Over in one corner a man is to be seen beating on a large leather bag with punches that would make one's feet ache imagining he was being hit; in another spot on the floor, another boxer can be seen beating a tattoo on a small punching bag, with rapid precision. Others are jumping rope, doing push-ups, and other conditioning exercises.

Idaho Participates In Home Ec Meet

Marion Eisenhauser, regional president of the College Home Economics club, will represent Idaho at a meeting of that club at Oregon State college Nov. 21 and 22.

The theme of the evening will be "Advancing With Home Economics" and Idaho's part in the program will be under the direction of Shirley Tanner and Jeanne Hofmann, assisted by Margaret Anderson and Gay Deobald.

The finals will be run-off at the gym pool and all spectators are welcome. Coach Eric Kirkland has urged that all living groups turnout to give the participants moral support.

Pyne Bowls High

Len Pyne, a member of Idaho's 1946 Northern division basketball championship team, bowling for Densow's in the Temple Classic league in Spokane, was high man this week with a scorching 198-197-244 for a three-game 603 mark. In the Men's B.O.F. loop Pyne tallied a neat 174-228-210 for a three-game 603.

At present Pyne is coaching at Colfax, Wash., and last year tutored the Palouse high school football and hoop teams.

Coach Kirkland announced that some new intramural records had been set this year in various divisions. George Gust did the 50 yard breast stroke in 33 seconds. The previous record set by George Vajda last year was 36. Z. L. Pearson completed the 100 yard free style in 1.2.6 as compared to 1.4.4 for the standing record. Tom Edmark, while not equalling the record for the 50 yard back stroke, came close to the 32.6 standing record by making the distance in 32.8.

Men who did not turn out for pre-season practice but who are looking very good according to Coach Kirkland, are Sherman Scott of ATO and R. Lenard of Pine Hall.

NICE Scheduled For Cage Opener

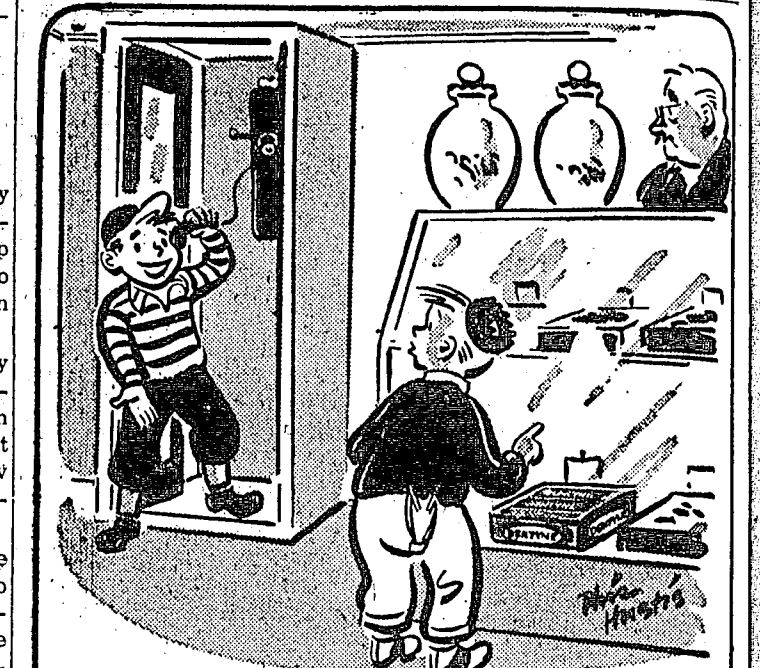

Basketball coach Chuck Finley announced this week that the Vandal cagers will open their hoop season against the Northern Idaho College of Education at Lewiston November 22.

The Vandals were originally slated to meet the Gonzaga Bulldogs December 2 for their season opener. A return engagement with NICE is slated at Moscow for the following weekend, November 29.

Idaho has nine pre-conference games scheduled before going to Los Angeles for a three-day, eight-team tournament sponsored by the Helms Foundation. They then return to Moscow for two more non-conference games before the conference opener with Oregon State at Moscow January 12.
