Negro Chorus Appears At Pullman Tonight

University of Idaho students may use their ASUI books for admission to the concert to be presented by the De Pauw Infantry Chorus at 8 o'clock tonight in the men's gymnasium at WSC in Pullman.

This chorus of 35 Negro veterans, originally organized by Captain Leonard De Pauw for the army morale program, is making its first concert tour of the United States after giving more than 2,500 performances overseas.

Unlike most Negro choruses, the De Pauw ensemble features no spirituals, making up its repertoire from the music of the many lands the ex-soldiers have visited.

De Pauw was well-known before the war as a conductor, arranger and composer. He was choral conductor for the Virgil Thomson-Gertrude Stein opera "Four Saints in 3 Acts," and the Roark Bradford-Jacques Wolfe play "John Henry" which starred Paul Robeson.

The first concert at the University of Idaho will be November 20 and will feature Carroll Glenn, young American violinist.

The concert is the first of six made available through the combined efforts of the ASUI, WSC students, and the people of Moscow and Pullman. Three concerts will be held in Moscow and three in Pullman. The programs last year proved popular with students of both WSC and Idaho.

The first concert at the University of Idaho will be November 20 and will feature Carroll Glenn, young American violinist.

Sigma Chi Nominees Told Eleven Initiated Into Blue Key

At an initiation banquet held last Thursday at the Moscow hotel, Blue Key initiated 11 men pledged last spring before the close of school.

The new members are: Jay Garino, William Elmers, Dean Dennis, Mike Williamson, Jack Menge, John Taylor, Bob Eystone, Carl Neiwirth, Paul Wetter, Bill Sweet, and Pat King.

President J. E. Buchanan spoke to the group at the dinner held before the initiation ceremony.

Nov. 20 Deadline For Gem Pictures

Only three days remain in which students residing either on or off campus may have their pictures taken for the Gem, Elizabeth Robinson, editor of Gem, said today.

No individual pictures will be taken after November 20 for any reason, she announced, and urged that all students be sure to make appointments with either the Sterner or the Hutchison studio before the deadline.

Buchanan Warns Drivers About Icy Highways

Approximately 400 students are journeying to Boise this weekend for the last football game of the season between the University of Idaho and the University of Utah. The special car which the Vandal Booster club is sponsoring left Moscow at 5:45 Thursday with many students, businessmen and their wives on the train.

Rally Sends Squad Away

A fair-sized crowd, composed of both university students and downtown fans, was present at the depot last night to send the Vandal football team on its way to Boise where it will clash with the Utah grid machine tomorrow afternoon. Singing the familiar Idaho songs and participating in spirited yells, students in the crowd also carried signs and banners such as "Boot the Utes" and "A Good Indian is a Dead Indian."

The train departed at 5:45.

Foresters Meet; Discuss Topics

Extension foresters from Washington, Oregon and Montana met with Idaho extension foresters on the campus Tuesday and Wednesday to discuss mutual forestry problems, according to Vernon Ravenscroft, university extension forester.

Those attending were Knut Lunnum, Washington State college; John Drummond, Montana university; and Charles Ross, Oregon State college. Vernon Burdison, assistant extension forester from Idaho, also attended the meeting.

Among the topics discussed were tree planting, wood preservation, and working relationships with other agencies concerning farm forestry, Ravenscroft said.

Vets Reinstate 43,000 Policies

The Veterans Administration reports that 43,000 World War II veterans have reinstated their insurance policies, largely because of the present liberal reinstatement regulations which will expire two months from now.

Veterans can easily get back their insurance by filling an application form and paying two month's premiums. After January 1, however, physical exams will have to be taken in order to qualify as insurable risks.

Many policies have been converted to permanent plans. These are ordinary life, 20-pay life, 30-pay life, 20-year endowment, endowment at age 60 and endowment at age 65, with the 20-pay life plan most popular.

Naval Electronic Unit Organized

All naval reserve personnel who reside in and around Moscow are urged to join the Naval unit on the campus, James Dalton, commander of Naval Electronic Warfare Unit reserve said this week.

A meeting will be held November 19 in the Navy building at 7:30, and Dalton urged all naval reserve personnel either enlisted or officer grades, to attend.

The greatest need is for radiomen of any rate. Former radiomen, radarmen, soundmen, fire controlmen and all of the radio technician branches are invited to join the unit.

The 13th Naval District will provide equipment in proportion to the number of reservists enrolled, Dalton said.

Navy Unit Meets

The local naval reserve unit will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m., at the navy building on the Idaho campus.

Regular drill will be held for radiomen and electronics technicians after two movies, "Operations Crossroads" and "The Silent Service."

Plans Discussed For Miners Ball

Preliminary plans for the Miners Ball were discussed at a meeting of the Associated Miners on November 11.

A committee has been delegated to investigate the possibility of one or more joint meetings with the Associated Miners at Washington State college.

An announcement was made of a meeting to be held next Tuesday evening at which motion pictures concerning the Hawaiian Islands and the last volcanic eruption in that region will be shown.

Eagle Anchor Club To Sponsor Dance

The NROTC semi-formal dance will be held in the Student Union ballroom from 9 to 12 p.m. tomorrow night.

Captain and Mrs. S. H. Ambruster and the unit staff will act as patrons and patronesses for the dance, which is sponsored by the Eagle and Anchor club.

LAPEL ORNAMENTS

Oregon State floricultural majors are debating whether or not to wear a flower to school one day each week, according to an item in the Oregon State Barometer.

Rough on the Paper

That's the way quiz week affects the Argonaut. Arg reporters, unfortunately, are required to take nine-week exams, too.

Your ASUI paper varies greatly in the amount of copy available each issue. It also fluctuates widely in the amount of space ready for use. Sometimes the Arg has carried more ads than the editors, as well as the readers (both of them) wish for.

The Arg also varies decidedly in the number of persons working on any one issue. Forty-five students listed on the masthead are supposedly helping with the editorial part of each paper.

Small Crew

Sometimes, as with this issue, Jason swears that six or seven faithful "do-or-die" Arg-stuffers put out the whole paper. And it isn't easy—on the staff, or on grades.

Jason, and his crew, are beginning to understand why newspaper men don't set any longevity records.

National Holiday

Armistice day sneaked by quietly on Idaho's campus. Jason heard little mention of it—what with econ quizzes, plans to attend the Idaho-Utah game, and further ahead, Thanksgiving plans.

The only organization that observed the holiday, as far as Jason knows, was the ASUII executive board. It celebrated by not holding its unusual Tuesday night meeting.

Green And Finley Speak To Foremen

"Outlook for competitors in all sports from within the state has greatly improved," George Green, university athletic director told members of the Clearwater foreman's council this week.

The university's sports program is rapidly developing behind administration and state-wide support, he declared. Charles Finley, university basketball coach, outlined the team's chances this year.

Buchanan To Speak At Chemurgic Meet

President J. E. Buchanan will speak to delegates of the Northwestern Chemurgic conference which meets in Boise Monday for a two-day session, Wilbur J. Floyd, president, said this week.

The meeting will open at 10 a.m. Tuesday with Gov. C. A. Robins delivering the welcoming speech.

Gas Asphyxiates Former Student

A triple death occurred Tuesday night at Havre, Montana, when escaping gas asphyxiated Mr. and Mrs. Carl Landry and their four-month-old baby. Mrs. Landry was formerly Mary Valadon, who was affiliated with Tri-Delta two years ago on the Idaho campus.

Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Gilb, Moscow, left yesterday for Havre to attend the funeral rites for the three dead. Mrs. Gilb was the sister of Mrs. Landry.

FIGURED MATHEMATICALLY

It would take every man, woman and child in the world, writing twenty-four hours a day, 200,000 years to exhaust all possibilities of music arrangements, Richard Hittleman told a group of University of Miami students last month.

School Officials Meet In Capital

C. W. Hungerford, dean of the graduate school; Dr. R. Theophilus, dean of the school of agriculture; and Dr. Glenn E. Holm, vice-director of the agriculture experiment station attended the Graduate Section meeting of the Grant College Association in Washington D. C., this week.

Dean Hungerford served on a special committee November 7, which considered and discussed a plan for cooperation between the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Land Grant College Association. The meetings were held November 5-12.

The three men plan to return to the campus next week.

Weed Spraying Shows Increase Over Last Year

Using rigs all the way from hand sprayers to big power outfits with 50-ton booms, Idaho farmers spread three times as much 2,4-D on their weeds in 1947 as in the previous year, reports Lambert C. Erickson, university agronomist in the special weed research program. Wild morning glory received the most of the attention, for university research clearly indicated that this weed could be controlled while growing a grain crop.

During the past two years, under the special research program, the university has gathered a great amount of information on how 2,4-D performs on such old standbys as wild morning glory, Canada thistle, white top, and other weeds that contribute to Idaho's estimated $10,000,000 annual weed bill. The big jump in 2,4-D use is a direct result of farmers putting those research results into operation.

Twin Falls County Tops List

Checking the use of 2,4-D in six of the counties where the weed war has been most intensive, Erickson found that one county alone, Twin Falls, used in 1947 more of the weed killer than was used in the entire state last year. The six counties reported using a total of 46,510 pounds of pure 2,4-D acid, compared to 14,454 pounds in 1946, a three-fold increase. The breakdown by counties follows:

Twin Falls, 30,000 pounds this year, 10,000 last year; Madison, 4,816 and 400; Ada, 4,320 and 1,320; Bonneville, 2,989 and 1,494; Washington, 2,400 and 1,060; Fremont, 2,000 and 280.

Last year the university's statewide research program involved more than 600 test plots widely scattered throughout the farming sections of the state. This year it passed the 1,000-mark. Expansion in the weed research work followed the addition of C. I. Seely, formerly engaged in weed research with the U. S. department of agriculture, to the Idaho staff. Seely is devoting his attention to projects in the non-irrigated farming sections. Erickson has been specializing on weed control in the irrigated areas.

Idaho's Intramural Program

More interest has been shown in the university's intramural athletic program this year than has been shown in a long, long time. And well should the intramural program be popular among students—every man who is physically fit and attending the university may participate, if he wants to, in one or all phases of sporting competition embraced by the program.

That doesn't hold true for every college. Some universities are too small to sponsor a well-supervised intramural program; others have enrollments too large to allow participation for all sports-minded individuals. Idaho seems to be just the right size to sponsor a good program.

Idaho does not require veterans to enroll in physical education courses, as does, for instance, Washington State college. Many veterans on this campus find in the intramural program an outlet for physical energy and competitive spirit dammed up by lack of exercise and the necessity of mental struggles over studies.

A big bouquet to Leon Green, intramural director, and his assistants for supplying the university with a well-directed and balanced intramural program. —S.H.G.

Metallurgical Building Is Nearly Oldest On Campus

By MARY LOUISE WILL

Resembling a torture chamber, the Metallurgical building is older than the Administration building. Built in 1900, it is surpassed in age only by the Engineering building and Ridenbaugh hall.

Hidden carefully in back of the post office, and alumnal secretary's office, the square red brick structure appears normal from the outside except for the roof which slants sharply down on the west side, the windows of various sizes and shapes and a big red "W" painted in the doorway on the south side. Ivy growing on the north side of the building forms a perfect Y.

Seniors Accept Challenge

To the E. E. Class of '49. With reference to the challenge made in this paper by the presumptuous E. E. class of 1949 to the exalted class of 1948 to a contest to hook up a d.c. motor, we the E. E. senior class do not relish the thought of interrupting our evening's pleasure at the lab party with such a contest, the accomplishment of which would not tax the ingenuity of the greenest freshman.

The challengers, after a scant two months of fuse changing, show crass and unmitigated gall in deeming themselves the equal of us, the class of '48, who have made a lifetime study of the intricacies of our work.

Despite our hesitancy to trouble ourselves, we feel it only right that the class of '49 should be put, in their own repulsive low plane, so as to make them dangerous to anyone wearing a larger shoe size than 4 1/2 A.A.

Originally built as a stamp mill to give mining students practical experience in working with gold, the mill was planned to treat large tonnages of ore. At that time most western mining schools had a similar plant. When the mill was built a place was provided to accommodate the wagons hauling ore.

Nine people have offices in the building including Dean A. W. Fahrenwald, W. W. Staley and Joseph Newton. To make life interesting for these people working in the building, all the offices, old ore bins, are on different levels. An industrious student once figured out that the highest floor or platform (the 3 1/2 floor according to Mr. Newton) should have collapsed long ago. As a relic from the old mill days, a 20 horsepower motor is still sitting in the middle of the floor.

Some good points available for publication include the large amount of fresh air available, and the isolated position of the building which assures the absence of women.

All stipulations advanced in the trivial group of words, constituting their challenge have been accepted in good faith.

The handicap for our opponents will be agreed upon at the time of the contest, Friday evening, November 14.

Blue Or Brown-Eyed Dates? Asks Inquisitive Reporter

Inquiring Reporter: Newt Cutler
 During a big discussion on the various merits of campus women the other day, the subject of coloration of the eyes was brought up and debated at some length.

After the flying fists and broken chairs had been brought to a halt by the local campus police, it was decided that a poll would be run asking this question of the week: "When you go out with a (man) (woman) do you prefer a blue-eyed or brown-eyed partner?" George Brabb, Willis Sweet, cast his peepers at the gal next to him and said, "I'm not particular about the color, it's the light that's in them that counts."

Gloria Tyler, Alpha Phi, was sitting at a table with four blue-eyed men. After glancing at the upraised fists, she stated, "Blue, of course! All the best men are blue-eyed."

Dick Crowthers, Sigma Nu, looked critically at the girl he was with and remarked, "It really doesn't make any difference. My girl is a DG and her eyes are always red."

Blanche Frensdorf, Ridenbaugh, thoughtfully said, "I think that the current boy-friend has blue eyes, I'm not sure."

Joe Lepak, Delta Tau, came right back with, "Blue, natch! Who ever heard of 'gazing into the dark brown pools of her eyes!'"

Edith Stough, Kappa, looked around the room and said, "Brown. Fellows with brown eyes are always so much more intelligent."

Fred Farmer, TMA shutterbug, was undecided but answered, "Neither. I like green-eyed women because I like red hair and green goes well with red."

Argo-Nautics

Visitor at asylum: "Do you have to keep the women inmates separated from the men?"

Attendant: "Sure. The people here ain't as crazy as you think."

An impetuous young Idaho student named Wimpfheimer negotiated a date with a pair of Siamese twins one night.

"Have a good time?" asked his awe-stricken roommate later.

"Well," replied Wimpfheimer, "yes and no." Old lady: "Are you a little boy or a little girl?" Child: "Sure, what the hell else could I be?"

Perplexed Oriental: "Our child ren velly white. Is velly strange." Wife: "Well, occidents will happen."

We wonder why the iceman smiles so When his glance happens to meet The sign: "Please drive slow; The child in the street Maybe yours, you know."

A maid in the land of Aloha Got caught in the coils of a Boa Like arms the snake squeezed And the maid, not displeased Cried, "Go on and do it Samoa!"

One Kiss Leads To Another—if You're Lucky

By RICK MUNKWITZ

Many a male has concentrated on securing that first kiss good night, but there seems to be different kinds of strategy for every offense. A fellow may be lucky and find an offensive type, but this type seems to be rationed. The ways a girl can avoid those first-date kisses usually depend upon herself, the weather, amount of light, or concentration of couples around the rear and front doors.

There are several types of defense for those first night dates, and even defenses for those sometimes second night hopefuls. The Lovely Time type usually starts telling her date about the wonderful time she had while walking up the walk dodging all the tightly embraced couples. She may pause at the steps and progress one step at a time, backwards, each time her arms are about to be entwined. Before the boy knows it he is waving goodbye.

The Take No Chances type gives a fellow some hope by pausing about a few feet from any light or other disturbances, but it ends there. Before one realizes, he has his wrists in an iron tight grasp. She is taking no chances while the conversation may be about the weather.

The Cigarette Type
 The Cigarette type is the best stall for time technique that has been invented. While the fellow is groping around for a cigarette and match, she is retreating toward the door. After the cigarette is lit all one can do is smoke, smoke that cigarette.

The Studious type is a bookworm who constantly talks about her classes and hard courses that take up so much of her time. The kiss-off here ends in the statement of having to rush in and do that last minute cramming for tomorrow's exam.

Just think of all the time wasted in such maneuvers. Of course the kind that simply gives in is the most desirable. The one who dispenses with all operating procedure and becomes the aggressor will find herself the most popular.

Your writer is still looking for an aggressor.

Heard . . . Or Seen

Crumbly Evening: Bev. Schou and Caroline Jenkins, Alpha Chi, had a rough time trying to get along with the cracker crumbs in their beds the other night. Rooms Edith Harrop got the tubbing beating the guilty.

Beware the Warden: The ATO's hunting expedition was doing fine until the boys discovered they were in the middle of a game preserve.

Big Heels on Campus: The Fijis, confused because nobody knows who anyone is around their house, are being highly esteemed for the exchange their unknown social chairman forgot to tell them about Wednesday night.

No Suds: Ridenbaugh's Irma Slader, in a hurry to get her hair washed, picked up the wrong jar of what she thought was creme shampoo, and found that Mum is not an aid to shining tresses.

Off Again, On Again: Delta Chi Bob Newell, on the brink of pinning Alpha Chi, Verda Milander for the third time, should watch the weather. It's a little coolish for the tubbing his friends (?) are planning.

Notice: To the girls in Beta Stan Schmidt's life, he hasn't made up his mind yet who his true love is,

and there is still hope for all contenders.

Tough Luck: Fred Willet, Sigma Nu, is weeping in his coffee because the "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" contest is restricted to girls. Some people have the worst luck.

Vandals Given Slim Chance Against Redskins

Williams To Lead Vandals; Nelson Heads Utah Attack

The University of Idaho football team left Moscow Thursday evening for Boise where they will meet the University of Utah in an intersectional clash which renews the Idaho-Utah rivalry after a two-year lay-off. Most fans feel it will be a sorry day for the Vandals who are not expected to put much of a test to power-laden Utah.

Meeting the last time in 1944, Ike Armstrong's Redskins romped to a one-sided 38 to 12 victory. The teams have played a total of 12 games over the last 39 years with Idaho winning four of the contests, Utah seven and one tie. Leading the Redskins into battle will be scabback Frankie Nelson, who is the fourth leading ground gainer in the nation today. Little Frankie is one of the top scorers of the Big Seven conference and specializes in long gains off tackle or around end.

Another factor which points for a dark day for Idaho is Utah's spectacular pass defense. Against Oregon State the hard charging Utah line held Samuels and Carpenter, two of the outstanding passers of the coast, to a total of 17 yards net gain from scrimmage. In every game Utah's scoring has been aided by timely pass interceptions.

Idaho's Last Game
Against this devastating array of power Coach Millard F. "Dixie" Howell will field a team stronger in every respect to Idaho's squads in the last few years. The Idaho boys are gunning for a victory against Utah to strengthen their position in the hearts of faithful Idaho fans who will journey to Boise to witness Idaho's "Homecoming" away from home game.

Billy Williams will again point the way for the Vandals' offense with his deadly passing and scabback running. Williams, who ranked second nationally this week in total offense will be out for the personal satisfaction of setting a mark for future Idaho stars to shoot at.

Another important factor for Saturday's game will be the determination of Idaho's strong defensive line to stop Mr. Frankie Nelson. Linemen Will Overgaard and Jack Dana will be playing before a home town crowd and can be expected to play their usual hard charging game.

Tentative starting lineups will be:

Utah	Position	Idaho
Van Sandt	LE	Barnes
Adams	LT	Overgaard
Gleaves	LG	McCormack
Olson	C	Paasch
Neff	RG	Dana
Smith	RT	Killsgaard
Stevens	RE	Smith
Parkinson	QB	Moffett
Tate	LH	Williams
Nelson	RH	DeLorme
Summerhays	FB	Thels

Sigma Alpha Epsilon pushed the campus scrap drive up a few hundred pounds by donating their antique victory bell to the cause amid "much weeping and gnashing of teeth in the ranks of the members."

General Doolittle's famed bomb run over Tokyo from his Shangri La bomber base apparently made quite an impression in the University of California language department. Varsity Swimmers To Start Workouts Monday Evening

Varsity Swimming Coach, Eric Kirkland, announced today that initial tryouts for this year's swimming squad will be Monday at Memorial gymnasium. Men interested should see him about the time.

With only two returning lettermen from last year's squad, Kenyon Lyons and Winston Bishop, Idaho's chances do not look too bright but Kirkland expects to have several new men to come in and bolster the ranks. Leading prospects for this year's squad are Jon LaFrenz, Wally Warner, Jim Farmer, Jack Smith and George Vajda.

Idaho has meets scheduled with all Northern Division schools with Oregon, Oregon State and Washington State coming here to compete.

"Plans have also been laid for a frosh team," Kirkland reported, "although no schedule has been made for them yet."

Prospects for a frosh team are very good, according to Kirkland, who cited such men as Gust, Pearson, Edmark, Hill, Miller and LeGrone standing out in the recent intramural meet.

A fellow once loaned his watch to a girl. She gingerly slipped it onto her wrist, and a group of witty bystanders immediately came to the conclusion that she was WATCHED — not PINNED, but WATCHED.

After due consideration, the naive little girl returned the watch saying indignantly, "I refuse to be watched. It's just too embarrassing!"
