Thursday Dance Will End Holly Week; Traditional Processional Will Open Performance

Large Crowd Attends Assembly

Hall Asks All Sophomores To Help Decorate Gym

Moonlight and Mistletoe will lend Christmas spirit to the Sophomore Holly Dance Thursday night. The dance, which will be held in the Memorial gymnasium at 9 o'clock, December 18, brings to a close the traditional Holly Week which began last night with the Sophomore assembly and serenade.

The Holly Queen, who was elected at the assembly last night, will be crowned during intermission by Morgan Tovey, sophomore class president. At this time the queen, who will lead a procession to the bandstand, will be presented with a loving cup.

Need Sophomores' Aid
A crepe paper ceiling and effective lighting plus evergreens and pine boughs have been designed to soften the harsh square lines of the big gymnasium. Zane Hall, head of the decoration committee, says that he could use every sophomore to help with decorations Wednesday night and all day Thursday.

The following patrons and patronesses were invited to attend the dance: President and Mrs. Jesse Buchanan, Commander and Mrs. Ken Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hiserman, Prof. Glen R. Lockery and guest, Coach and Mrs. "Dixie" Howell, Coach and Mrs. Chuck Finley, and Mr. and Mrs. Perron Spemaker.

There will be mood music as well as seasonal music by the Rhythm-Aires; says Clint Anderson, dance chairman. And according to Weldon Clark, tickets will be on sale at the Student Union building from 1 to 5 on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. Sue Beardsley and Bob Jones have been in charge of publicity for Holly Week.

Co-ed Dorm Life
Co-educational dormitory life was the theme of the sophomores' variety show assembly held in the auditorium last night.

The presentation of the Holly Queen candidates by Morgan Tovey was a main attraction of the (Cont. on page 4, col. 1)

Costumes Add Color To 'Uncle Tom' Production

Catherine McClun has a job on her hands. She is head of the costume committee for "Uncle Tom's Cabin," forthcoming ASUI dramatic production. Outfitting a cast of 30 for the nineteenth century costume play is no small chore.

The ladies of the melodrama will appear in full satin and silk skirts over numerous layers of crinoline petticoats. Their costumes are trimmed with brocade and beads, lace and fringes.

The Southern gentlemen appear in Prince Albert coats, complete with top hats, walking sticks, and boots. Simon Legree, as played by Willard Barnes, appears as the typical villain, with curling mustache and whip.

Slave Costumes
The slaves, who constitute almost half the cast, are easier to costume. They appear in denim and flannels. Their makeup ranges from black to medium brown and mulatto. The only truly black Negroes in the cast are Uncle Tom (Rich Pennell) and Topsy (Bette West).

Some of the actors playing Negroes wear wigs, but others cast as white gentlemen are letting their hair grow into nineteenth century styles for the January 15, 16 and 17 production. Harry Dalva, Maurice Paulsen, Bob Miller and Oscar Finkenberg are among those making this contribution to their art.

Men Debaters Tie For First Place At Walla Walla
A three-way tie between Idaho, Washington State college and Whitman was the final result in the men's division in the tri-state debate held Friday evening and Saturday morning, December 12 and 13 in Walla Walla.

Each school, represented by two teams, debated eight times on the question "World Federal Government Should Be Established." One of Idaho's teams, comprised of Laurence Buckland and John Menge was the only team in the tournament that was undefeated. They won all four of their debates. This makes eleven out of twelve debates they have won so far this year.

Broadcast Debate
One of the debates given by Buckland and Menge was broadcast over KUJ in Walla Walla, Idaho, Washington State college and Whitman each won four and lost four of their debates.

Washington State college defeated Whitman and Idaho to win the debate in the women's division at Pullman. From a total of eight debates, Idaho won three, Whitman four and WSC five. Last year there (Cont. on page 3, col. 8)

Vets Announce Latest Regulation On Vacations

Veterans Administration today reminded all veterans attending colleges and universities full-time under the GI Bill of an important vacation clause in VA regulations.

Under a new procedure, which went into effect this fall, all eligible student-veterans will be granted leave automatically at the end of the first semester, unless the VA receives a request not to give the leave. Such a request must be received in writing at least 30 days before the end of the fall quarter or the end of the fall semester.

Allow Payments
The new leave policy was adopted in order to allow unbroken subsistence payments to all vets attending college full-time under the GI Bill. Under the plan, a veteran-student receives payment for the full enrollment period certified to VA by the institution he attends, providing there are no more than 15 days between terms.

Time on leave between terms and at the end of the school year is charged against the veteran's entitlement. VA said that many veterans probably would prefer to forego the leave privilege in order to make use of their entitlement for actual study.

No leaves, other than the automatic 15-day extension of training status, will be authorized by VA except scholastic leaves offered to all other students by the educational institution.

Veterans who do not want leave must notify VA in writing at least 30 days before the end of the fall term.

NOTICE
There will be no ARGONAUT Friday, December 19.

Substitute Cover
As a substitute, Blot will print a one color cut of the same picture on the cover, in order to get the magazine out before students leave for the Christmas vacation.

Copies will be distributed to campus subscribers by representatives in each living group late Wednesday. Off campus subscribers will receive copies by mail. Representatives will have a limited number of extra copies to sell to non-subscribers who desire copies before leaving for the vacation.

President Attends Meet In Spokane
President and Mrs. J. E. Buchanan, attending a meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers held in Spokane Friday evening. Walter Jessup, Western representative from Los Angeles spoke, and officers were elected for the coming year.

Frank Larson, president of the university student chapter of ASCE and Prof. G. A. Reidesel, head of the civil engineering department, also attended.

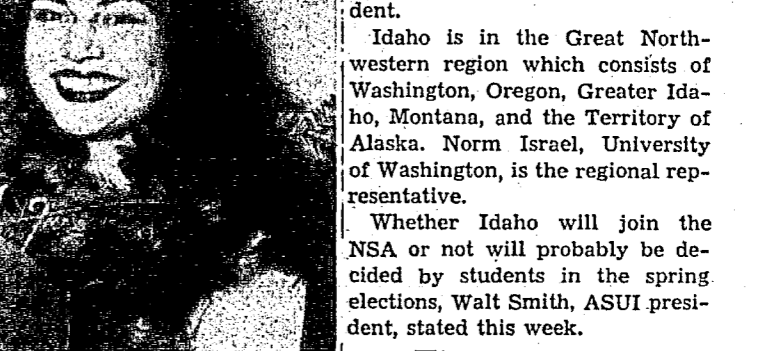

Spur And IK Reign Over Ski Dance
Rosemary Fitzgerald, Spur president, and Bill Sweet, IK Duke, presented gold cups to the honored candidates. The candidates did not know who had been chosen until the announcement and presentations were made during intermission of the dance at 10:25. The dance was broadcast over KUOI from 10 until 10:30.

A ski motif was carried out as decorations for the dance, with ski sweaters as general attire for the evening. Larry Spencer's orchestra furnished the music.

General chairmen of the dance were Shirley Tanner and Jack Peters. Other members were Marion Hartwell, Bette West, Elanore Strange and Al Denman.

LAWYERS TO MEET
A meeting of Phi Alpha Delta will be held Thursday noon at the Blue Bucket. A talk will be given by Pete Kalamarides on "Change of Venue in Criminal Cases."

Selected by the Intercollegiate Knights last week as "Spur of the Moment" was Jo Anne Elam, above. Chosen by the Spurs as "Intercollegiate Knight of the Night" was Vaun Bollingbroke. The pair were selected on the basis of service to their group as well as popularity. Each received a gold cup when the announcement was made during the intermission of the all-campus Ski dance Friday night.

"HELLO" DAY AT WSC
In a traditional activity, students at WSC spent one day recently saying "Hello" to every student met on that campus's Hello Walk.

This newspaper business is getting more interesting with each issue. Jason was jumped on by no less than three different parties one day last week.

First, Moscow businessmen informed him that the Pullman survey quoted from the Washington Evergreen in the Golden Fleece column on November 11 was not truly indicative of prices as it was limited in scope.

That's what it said in the quotation of the story but the merchants informed Jason that Washington's bothersome sales tax was not included in that state's prices, thus making Moscow prices lower.

They added that Moscow rents are much lower.

Open to Questions
Incidentally, these businessmen are anxious to work with university students. They intend to stage a round table discussion on prices, business conditions, etc., some time in January.

They have suggested that a representative be selected by the Independent Council (or some group that will adequately represent the independents), the Intrafraternity Council, TMA, the ASUI executive board, and each of the village governments.

These representatives are requested to phone Garth Haddock, 6951, for further information.

Robert Summerville, Chamber of Commerce secretary, explained all that last week to a class in Soc. 122, Community Organization.

More Troubles
Second, the Bucket employees almost refused to wait on Jason Friday after he had called their service slow. Chet Kerr, Bucket and Bookstore manager, conducted a stop-watch test yesterday. He stated that 67 students received coffee in 14 minutes.

That's 14 minutes faster than Jason's figure last week. Another example of the power of the press.

The third person jumped Jason because of that power. He regretted that he had suddenly become famous (or possibly infamous) because of a "Heard or Seen" item.

Best Wishes
With this, the last Argonaut for 1947, Jason wishes everyone a happy Christmas season and a (Cont. on page 2, col. 4)

Heard... Or Seen

Lament to the Past: SAEs were singing the blues Saturday night as they compared this Bowers party to last year's. Even the Can-Can put on by Jack Steneck and company couldn't entirely dispel old memories.

Victim: Wearing the beefsteak this week is Dwight Sutton, who maintains that either the gals at the Idaho club are Amazons or they got the fellows in the north wing to help in their snowball fight with Chrisman.

Virtuoso: Delta Chi Bumper Lyons, garbed in overcoat and tie, was the major entertainer at the Pirate Dance with his choice piano renditions.

Amusing Ourselves: Bored with infirmity life, Ridenbaugh's Lucille Cooper and DG Virginia Smith, the latter being garbed in six-sizes-too-large-pajamas, were just about to play Tarzan and the Ape for their fellow inmates when the nurse shoed them back to bed.

New Doorman: Phi Delta Bob Anno was shoeing fellows off the Kappa porch and kissing their girls good-night as he bowed them in the door Saturday night. The gals are trying to decide how much his services would be worth as a permanent addition.

Wants a New Job: The gate-keeper at the Willis Sweet Cabaret, one Jack Leverton, had a hard time keeping his mind on his work with all the pretty gals and other attractions distracting him.

Anything for a Woman: TKE Sam Webb, after wearing the hayseed type coiffure all year, finally was lucky enough to get a coke date Monday afternoon and combed his mop. Fellow TKEs passed him three times before recognizing him.

Paper Publishes Student's Article

The Spokesman-Review devoted a full page in its Pacific Parade magazine Sunday to an article by Joyce Hanson, senior in journalism.

The article, "Glass Keeps Cold Out," concerned insulated glass windows being used for the first time in this area, and is housed designed by Professor T. J. Prichard incorporating them.

Photographs by Charlie Diamond accompanied the story. It was written in the Vocational Articles class under O. A. Fitzgerald.

Buchanan Attends Engineers' Meet

President and Mrs. J. E. Buchanan attended a meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers held in Spokane Friday evening.

Frank Larson, president of the Idaho student chapter of ASCE, and Professor G. A. Reidesel also attended.

Dean Allen S. Janssen and Professor C. C. Warnick returned yesterday from Boise where they had attended a meeting of the Bureau of Reclamation Friday and Saturday.

Research to be conducted by the Experimental Station was discussed.

Horace Heidt Seeks Talent For Campus Radio Show

Collegiate entertainers are being sought by Horace Heidt, orchestra leader, talent scout and quiz master, who is touring the nation in search of undiscovered radio talent.

The week of December 1 he invaded Fresno, California, on the first leg of his tour. Auditions were held at Fresno State Teachers college and the winners were featured on the opening show of Heidt's new NBC program Sunday, December 7. Students from Southern California university and University of California were featured last Sunday.

Heidt will move east after his broadcast, December 23, seeking talent in Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Ohio colleges and universities.

$35,000 in Prizes
He expects in the next two years to audition 20,000 students and distribute prizes in excess of $25,000.

Weekly winners are awarded a cash prize of $250. Quarterly champions will get an extra $500 six months survivors will take down $1,000 and annual winner will get a grand prize of $5,000, plus contracts for stage and radio.

Heidt's talent scouts are expected on a college campus three weeks before the radio broadcast and stage appearances.

Here's More About JASON

Maybe some of us can catch up on slumber in the next two weeks. It's too cold to go out in the mornings, anyway.

On that vacation, Jason hopes that students will push Blue Key's program to boost the university. As Idaho students we should sell people, including prospective students, on the merits of our school. Some points we might mention are:

1. Unlike large assembly-line institutions, Idaho is democratic and friendly. One can make more friends.
 2. Costs are moderate at Idaho as compared with other schools.
 3. Idaho is a state university. A degree from a state university carries prestige.
 4. The university has one of the finest dormitory systems in the West. It is one of the few schools that provides co-operative dorms.
 5. Alumni and citizens of Idaho are giving the school more support than at any time in its history.
 6. Through the efforts of President Buchanan and his staff, Idaho is favorably known throughout the West. It will become better known as time goes on.
 7. The athletic program is rapidly improving. The intramural program is more extensive than that of most schools.
 8. Beginning next semester out-of-state students will again be accepted. Housing facilities should be available for all single students with satisfactory records.
- As Idaho students we are judged by our university. The more we boost it, the higher we stand in others' estimation.
Merry Christmas!

possible to have anything nice around this campus." It is not our intention to be naive.

Let us instead wish a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to whoever is now getting enjoyment from said bulbs. After all we appreciate the time and trouble anyone takes in doing a job if it is well done, as was the bulb-snatching done by a certain party or parties as they passed our corner on University avenue last Saturday evening.

Noel,
THE FIJI HOUSE,
Moscow, Idaho
December 14, 1947.

Dear Jason:
Several of us have been wondering what happened to Idaho's share (250) of the Rose Bowl game tickets. After asking a considerable number of students if they had heard any mention of their sale, we found that very few students even knew that Idaho received these tickets. It is certain that no announcement was made of this fact.

We also find that the students who tried to buy tickets were told, "They're all allotted." We're more than a little interested to whom the tickets were "allotted," especially since the papers report that Rose Bowl tickets are being scalped for $100 each.

Yours wonderingly,
R. S. and 5 others.

Requests for Rose Bowl tickets which start arriving in September are closed November 30. This year there have been 2000 requests for tickets and Idaho's allotment is 250.

Tickets are allotted by the graduate manager's office—approximately 1/2 to alumni and

1/2 to students. Originally the tickets were all for alumni.

In order to prevent "scalping" of tickets, the graduate manager's office demands proof that a student is actually going to the game before he is sold a ticket. Incidentally, if you could get one, it would cost $5.50.

Each school in the conference is assigned 250 tickets. Imagine the chaos in schools such as Stanford and USC.—Jason.

More than meets the eye...

One look and you'd say that a great deal of work lies ahead before this new telephone central office is completed. That's true. But already, much of the job is done!

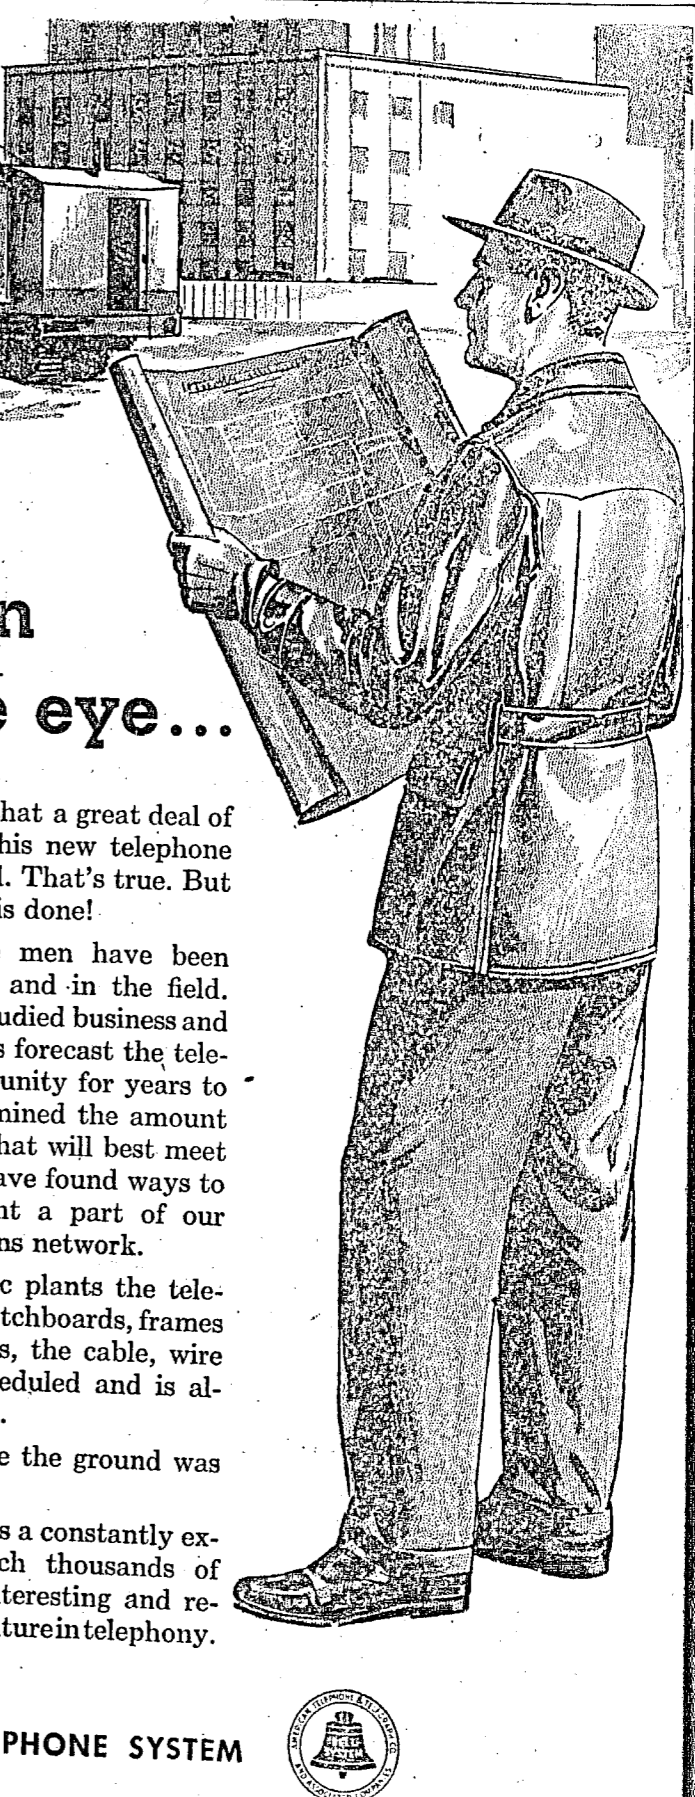

For months telephone men have been hard at work—in offices and in the field. One group has carefully studied business and population trends and has forecast the telephone needs of the community for years to come. Another has determined the amount and types of equipment that will best meet these needs. Still others have found ways to make this new equipment a part of our world-wide communications network.

At our Western Electric plants the telephone equipment—the switchboards, frames and switching mechanisms, the cable, wire and relays—has been scheduled and is already being manufactured.

All this and more before the ground was broken!

The telephone business is a constantly expanding business in which thousands of college men are finding interesting and rewarding careers. There's a future in telephony.

Politics On The Campus

"College days are the best days of a person's life!" Several years ago this statement meant days of raccoon coats, banners, and gold-fish swallowing but today all this has been replaced by students who have at last come to realize that college is a place to learn something.

College politics have progressed from the usual battle between two or three parties for the rule of the campus to student organizations delving in the problems of a world reconstructing in peace.

An article called "Politics On The Campus" by Dickson Hartwell, has been published in a recent issue of Collier's magazine. In speaking of campus political groups, Mr. Dickson says, "Their meetings are no Coke-and-soda outlets for effervescent, juvenile opinions. The small core of four or five percent of college students who qualify for leadership today is more interested in Greece than in Clark Gable. Spark-plugged by student veterans wise far beyond their years, undergraduates want the score on Europe, on China, and on inflation. When they find out, they want action."

College and university students have advanced from being just political "big wheels" on the campus to that of being leaders and organizers in national groups such as the Student World Federalists, Young Republicans, Young Democrats, American Veterans Committee, and many others. In many of these organizations can be found signs of influence from Communist groups, Socialistic groups, as well as those which front for Stassen, Wallace, Taft, and Truman.

Probably the biggest worry of some of these campus politicians is the ever increasing threat of "Red" organizations getting a firm hold in the college circles. The American Youth for Democracy is one such organization.

Of the AYD, Mr. Dickson states, "The AYD stimulates most of the charges of collegiate Communism. This is partly because the AYD objectives and programs are no thorn in the side of the Communist party and partly because the AYD was publicly described by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as a Communist front, formed in 1943 ideology and by much the same personnel as the Young Communist League. It was organized within 24 hours after the YCL to conform with shifts in the Communist policy."

Other college leaders seem to think that intolerance will be much more dangerous to society than Communism can ever be. At the University of Iowa resentment was aroused to the point where a Jewish faculty member was badly beaten. This is an outstanding case. Resentment usually does not flare in such extremes. Instead, those peoples who are subject to prejudice are merely shunned and sly little wisecracks are made about them behind their backs. These are just some of the things that our young college leaders are trying to do away with.

These are merely some of the problems that face the student leaders who have taken it upon themselves to see that ours is a better world to live in. Perhaps if more students were to take an active part in some of these organizations and live up to the ideals that they set forth the whole plan would be that much easier.

Be An Ambassador

This Christmas vacation will be different for Idaho students in one respect. When approached by the local sports enthusiasts on the athletic situation at Idaho students are going to talk a little different line of conversation, and as a result it will make the task of Vandal good-will ambassador much easier.

Jane and Joe College from up-state "U" will probably be asked to tell a lot about the victory over unbeaten Utah, or the "new Vandals" on the maplecourts. Old grads will probably want eye-witness reports on Coaches Dixie Howell and Chuck Finley. Here is where each Idaho student will do his or her part.

"Our best advertisement is our satisfied students" should be the central idea whenever we are talking about the university during the holidays. Perhaps we got caught on a surprise quiz or lost much-needed sleep on an early morning serenade, but it's all a part of the college life that we are sharing with a few thousands others.

Final Date Near For Fellowships

With January 2, 1948, set as the closing date on which applications for the Pepsi-Cola graduate fellowships may be made, eligible seniors should obtain the necessary recommendations this week, John M. Stalaker, national director for the program, has announced.

The completed application form, endorsed by the dean or president, must be accompanied by an official transcript of undergraduate credits through the junior year, the Pepsi-Cola scholarship board reports.

Further information regarding the fellowships may be obtained from the Argonaut office.

'Starlight Room,' which attracted over 115 couples, carried out the theme of the annual Cabaret dance this weekend. Decorations of blue and white streamers arching the stairway which led into the two rooms which were decorated at one end of the room, with a large mural in the effect of a city skyline at night. Large mirrored stars revolving in the center of each room threw a pattern of light on the floor. Camellias and programs were given to each couple at the door.

Music was furnished by Norm Herzinger's Orchestra. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Krier, Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Werth, and Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Cooper. Air Force Again Accepting Students As Flying Cadets

Wartime-qualified Aviation Cadets whose hopes for pilot training with the Air Force were ended by curtailment of the program in 1944-45 may be reinstated, Major William Cope, USAF, said today.

A travelling Air Force team will be here Wednesday and Thursday of this week to explain to interested young men the opportunities available in Aviation Cadet Pilot Training and Officer Candidate Training for non-flying, administrative jobs.

Several of these teams are visiting major colleges and universities throughout the country. Members of the team will interview students and area residents at the ROTC Headquarters in the Memorial gymnasium.

The Aviation Cadet program is currently training about 1,000 pilots a year and is being more than tripled, according to Major Cope.

Requirements
Eligibility requirements for the Cadets are: 20 to 26 1/2 years of age, unmarried, two or more years of college or equivalent, good health and a sound physique.

Those accepted for the 12-month pilot training course receive 35 weeks of primary and basic flying training at Randolph field, Texas, and advanced training at Williams field, Arizona, or Barksdale field Louisiana.

Candidates for Officer Candidate school get 6 months training in administrative work at San Antonio.

Detailed information may be obtained from the travelling Air Force team during its stay here.

evening. Ballots for the election of the Queen were passed out at the door before the assembly, and the audience marked them, and they were collected after the assembly was over. The winner will be announced at the dance Thursday night.

The variety show featured talent by sophomores who were under the influence of Christmas sprits. A doll dance was given by Marty Murphy and Shirley Smith, after which Bette West sang a solo. Following these two numbers, Rich Pennell, Dick Garlock, Gene Babin and Allen Atwood, who make up the Fiji quartet, sang to Clarice Hove. Clint Peterson and Ron Huffer presented a lively vaudeville number assisted by Tom Boyd from the audience.

After the queen candidates were introduced Miss L. Toe made a sweeping appearance and then strangely disappeared.

Jeanne Foster played "Rhapsody in Blue." Others in the cast were Bob Crabtree, Lolita Herschberger, Bob Anno and Gene Allen. Emmalyn Ball was to sing, but she was in the infirmary.

La Rue Leads Carol Singers
The sophomores started their serenade of Christmas carols at 10:30 after the assembly last night. Led by Phyllis LaRue starting at Pine hall they serenaded each house and hall on the campus with some of the following carols: "Joy to the World," "Deck the Halls," "Jingle Bells," "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Silent Night," including a solo by Barbara Collins, and "The First Noel" with a solo by Allen Atwood.

The serenade ended at the Phi Kappa Tau house and the serenaders topped the evening with coffee and do-nuts at the campus Cafe.

Educator Thinks High Schools Err

Only one out of five high school graduates go on to college in the United States, yet most of the country's high schools plan their courses as though all graduates were going to college, it was reported in Time magazine this week.

John Studebaker, U. S. Commissioner of Education, believes that high schools should train their pupils on the basis of these figures, the article stated.

Nine prominent educators met in Washington last week as the Commission of Life Adjustment Education for Youth and, according to Time, made the following recommendations:

"Every 'life-adjusted' youth needs to master practical English, social science, physical education, basic science.

"It is a waste of time for most high school students to read II Penseroso, Ivanhoe, Silas Marner and other compulsory classics. It would be enough for many to secure 'sufficient competence in reading to comprehend newspapers and magazines reasonably well..."

"It should be a matter of choice whether a student takes algebra, literature, Latin, foreign languages."

Resume Schooling VA Tells Ex-GIs

Veterans who have discontinued school or on-the-job training under the G. I. Bill or Vocational Rehabilitation Act may, in nearly every case, resume training if they so desire, the VA stated this week. A total of 166,483 veterans have started training in the Pacific Northwest, whose cases remain in the VA files. Of this number 91,575 have discontinued training.

Under the G. I. Bill, veterans who served 90 days between September 16, 1940, and July 25, 1947, and who were discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, are entitled to training benefits. The length of training depends upon the length of service, and the maximum benefit is for four years.

Frosh Reporter Requests Help On Stories

By Jerri

The other day when I was sitting in the Nest during library hours, I casually mentioned I'd maybe like to work on the Arg sometime. Meaning sometime when I'd made my grades and worked off my campuses and finished up a few other odds and ends which like that song says "It Takes Time."

Moreover I didn't think I'd said "I'd like to work on the Arg" loud enough for anyone but the other half of my split personality to hear. But evidently I overlooked those people about five booths back who, being reporters, had mighty darn sharp ears, mighty sharp.

Anyway, a couple of days ago I received a call and someone shrieked at me, "Why haven't you been handing in your Arg assignments?" I laughed off-handedly and said, "I'm not on the staff so why should I be handing in assignments." But the voice replied, "Oh yes you are." And I am, and I have been ever since I opened my mouth and stuck my size 10 1/2 shoe right in.

No News Hound

Well, they gave me an assignment and now I'm wondering what to do with it. I've never hunted a news story in my life. I told them I wanted to write a column like "Jack Shurman's" "Over the Hill," but they just laughed and said as a freshman I was too young and maybe someday, when I understood life a little better, they would let me.

So, if anyone would like to help me out, anyone tall, blonde and good-looking, that is, I'd certainly appreciate it. You can get my phone number by contacting the Arg office.

Miss L. Toe Hung By Sam

"Strangler Sam," insanely jealous lover of Miss L. Toe was apprehended early this morning by Moscow police as "Strangler" was in the act of leaving town.

Alert patrolman, "Bring 'em back dead or alive, or I'll tear all my heart out," Dillard stated that he first suspected the fellow when he saw him helpfully take a blind woman's arm and heave her under a passing bus. Keeping "Strangler" under careful surveillance, Dillard followed the creature and observed him stealing a baby's rattle, stuffing the baby into an ash can when the infant cried. Dillard stated that he definitely heard "Strangler" muttering something about "the little stool pigeon."

"Strangler" was placed under arrest when a passing sorority girl declared he was whistling a dirty song. FBI men said "Strangler" was a former U. of I. student and had been affiliated with the sophomore Holly week decoration committee.

Strangler's statement to the press was direct and simple, "Sure, I killed Miss L. Toe, she gave me the kiss-off once too often." (Mistletee is still hanging from the rafters in Memorial gym and

Original SUB Bond Paid Up By End Of 1951, Says Dean

Approximately $42,000 remains outstanding on the original Student Union Building bonds with the last payment scheduled for October of 1951, Dean H. E. Lattig said recently when asked to present data on the building.

Total expenditure on the SUB bond fund was originally $62,725, the original purchase of the building from Permeal J. French, former Dean of Women, amounted to $21,200.

At the time of the purchase in 1936, the building consisted of the space occupied by the present cafe and the small ballroom on the second floor.

North Wing Costs

Land for the north wing of the building cost $12,500 while the actual wing, constructed in the winter of 1936, cost an additional $23,445. Building equipment added $5,680 to make up the total bond indebtedness of $62,725.

An additional $4,000 is due on a loan used to pay Miss French for furnishings and equipment in the old Blue Bucket Inn, Dean Lattig stated. The furnishings were purchased from the former dean of women in October of 1936 on credit. When earnings of the SUB proved inadequate to make scheduled payments, the loan was secured.

Planned By Neale

The SUB was financed under a program planned by M. G. Neale, eighth Idaho president who resigned in 1937. The program called for a bond issue of $130,000 to finance a stadium, a nine-hole golf course, and the SUB.

Purchased to provide students with a campus social center, the SUB also provided additional classroom space by permitting the Argonaut, Gem, and Associated Student offices to move from other buildings.

These offices have received heat, light, and janitor service at no cost for the past ten years, according to Lattig.

Honored By French Government

Professor William J. Brockelbank of the college of law, and Arthur H. Beattie, associate professor of French, were recently awarded the Academic Palms by the French government. The awards are granted for distinguished service in teaching or for achievement in the arts or sciences.

MISSION TO MOSCOW

By Russki

I'm walking down University Avenue yesterday, minding my own business and trying very hard not to throw slushy snowballs at my favorite Dean, when a sweet young thing approaches me very cautiously and says:

"Have you heard the good news?"

"Not trying to appear coy, I replies 'Nope.'

"Christmas is only ten days away."

"Is that so?" I reiterate, trying to be very nonchalant. I see she is definitely a case for Orofino, but I endeavor to humor her the best way I know how. She's shaking like the last leaf on a cottonwood tree, and I keep wondering where she lost her strait-jacket.

"Yup," she answers, "only ten days away. I'm going to give my father Volume 5 of the Encyclopedia Britannica, and my little baby brother an old carburetor I found in the Moscow junkpile."

That's nice

I was shocked visibly. No one else was in sight. I hopes she won't get too violent. "That's nice," I said.

"I'm an Idaho coed. I flunked all my tests. I don't go to class any more. I never was in the Navy, but the V.A. keeps calling me in and reading me off."

"That's nice," I said.

She spat on the sidewalk.

"My little brother will enjoy sucking on that carburetor. Mother always said he was fond of gas vapor."

By this time I am shaking too. I keep backing away but she follows me down the hill. There was a wild light in her eyes and I got scared.

"Now I'm going to give you your Christmas present," she says, and flashes a toothy grin.

"No! I don't want any!"

"Yes, you do too! You seem like such a nice boy. Nice boys don't talk to me any more. I like nice boys, too. Most of 'em don't even get fresh."

She was bearing down on me like a steam roller on a freshly-laid pavement. "I'm going to kiss you, dearie," she kept repeating.

But then a miracle happened. She trips and stumbles on the curb and lands flat on the small of her back.

I was saved!

As I ran full speed to the Euclypt to hide myself behind Gale Mix, I heard her cry after me: "You got away this time, dearie, but I'll trap you yet."

Please, Santa, whatever you do, don't let me find an Idaho coed in my stocking for Christmas!

More Teaching Than Learning

CEDAR RAPIDS, La. (ACP)—Something new has been added to Coe College—students in the future will be given "time to think."

A day off now and then will be granted so students can study, talk to their teachers or "just sit and think through" some of their academic problems. Faculty members will stick around the campus for informal conferences, "preferably over a cup of coffee in the grill." Library and reference rooms will remain open.

"It's impossible," said Byron Hollingshead, president of the college, "to get an education in the modern colleges because the colleges make it impossible by rushing the student through the curriculum."

The average college, he insisted, is cursed by "entirely too much teaching and too little learning. It's about time we gave our students a chance to sit back and think about what they are told."

Eat Like A Pig? Then Go To A Sty

BOWLING GREEN, Ky.—(ACP)—Many definitions of the word "etiquette" can be found in the dictionary. Billed down, they all mean the same: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Cheerfulness and good manners go together. The rules which are etiquette are easy for anyone to learn and are the tools with which we carve our relationships with other people.

Because nearly everyone eats, let us consider this phase of good manners first. After seating yourself at the table, unfold your napkin and place it across your knees. Don't shake it out as though you were trying to flag a train, or tuck it under your collar, tie it around your neck, or anchor it under your belt. After the meal, place your napkin in loosely gathered folds beside your plate.

The knife is used to cut food and to butter your bread, if no bread and butter knife is provided. The knife is not designed to ladle peas.

Place the food in the mouth with the fork. Tender food may be cut with the side of the fork. A good rule to remember is never to eat with a spoon those foods which can be eaten with a fork. Spoons are used for soup, fruit cocktails, coffee, some desserts, and sometimes (at very informal meals) for sides dishes which are quite liquid, such as stewed tomatoes.

Try to eat without making any noise. You can tilt the spoons so that soup will enter your mouth without sounding as though it were being sucked up a mountainside by a hydraulic pump. Dip the spoon away from you toward the center of the table and eat out of the side not the front of the spoon.

In drinking your coffee or tea, never taste a spoonful to see if you have enough sugar and cream. Also never drink with the spoon in

Short but true, the following editorial appeared in Friday's edition of the Montana Kaimin:

Research Shows Importance Of Rapid Cooling Of Milk

Harold Brevick, research fellow in agricultural engineering at the university, has explained in a research report just what milk cooling means in the dairy industry of Idaho. His activity in this field is under a grant from the Idaho Power.

The next step in a research project by the agricultural engineer is the design of a milk cooler for the small Idaho dairy farmer who milks five or six cows and sells 20 to 30 gallons of milk a day.

Graduating from Wendell high school in 1938, Brevick served in the army in the Pacific area three and one-half years. He received his degree in agricultural engineering from the University of Idaho last June.

During the past summer, he visited 13 milk processing plants and nearly 200 dairy farms in northern Idaho, the Boise valley, south-central area, and the upper Snake River valley. In one day, he reported, one plant rejected 160 cans of sour milk, another plant rejected 155 cans.

Brevick Explains

"When a can of milk is rejected, everyone loses—even the truck driver on the route, who is paid by the weight of the milk accepted at the plant," Brevick explains. "The driver must return the rejected can of milk to the producer—without being paid for his time and labor. The processing plant doesn't get the milk which it needs. It is the producer, however, who loses the most. Unless he has hogs or chickens, that can of sour milk must be dumped out. And at today's prices, a can of milk is expensive stock feed."

Rapid cooling after milking is essential in the production of quality milk, he reports. When milk is quickly cooled there is little bacterial increase. Left uncooled for a few hours, the multiplication is staggering.

Large dairies are using the wall type and tank type coolers available, but the smaller farmers find them quite expensive. "Whether it will be best to devise an entirely new type of cooler for the small dairyman or re-design some existing type for his particular needs is difficult to say at this time," Brevick commented. "But we do know that anything that is done to help the small dairy farmer in meeting the milk cooling problem will pay off at the rate of hundreds of thousands of dollars every year in the state of Idaho."

Uncle Sam Urges Deactivation Of War Souvenirs

Veterans are urged to have their war trophies inspected now and made safe. In this way, one of the 4,000 deaths or 80,000 injuries expected to be caused this year by unsafe explosive war weapons may be prevented.

Weapons may be taken into the Treasury Field Offices or the local office of the War Trophies Safety Committee for inspection. If found to be dangerous, they will be made safe. Machine guns of all types should be deactivated and registered. There is no charge for this service.

"Booby Traps"

Many supposedly harmless war souvenirs have proved to be "booby traps" and considerable loss of life has resulted. Ammunition contained in some may react against the surface metal and cause a spontaneous explosion. Other deaths have been caused because many ex-GI's are not aware that American bullets should not be inserted in foreign-made guns.

Owners are entitled to keep their souvenirs but they are just as decorative without their deadly potentials. For further information contact your nearest chief of police, sheriff, or the Investigator in Charge, P.O. Box 2163, Boise, Idaho.

Writers Plug Idaho

Members of the Journalism editorial writing class have been writing and submitting stories and articles about scenic Idaho, and interesting characters. This information is mainly designed to instruct the inhabitants of the state and to attract tourists.

Joye Hansen, Roy Garrett, Melba Rae Barnett, Janet Billmeyer, and George Denman, are those students who have had their articles printed.

The articles were submitted to Tom Cuning, director of Idaho publicity in Boise.

Playhouse Gives Dickens' 'Chimes'

As a special holiday production, The Paulsen Playhouse will present Charles Dicken's memorable story "The Chimes" on KUOI at 9 p. m. Wednesday.

The story, sometimes called "The Christmas Carol" for New Year's, was adapted for radio by Maurice Paulsen.

DEANS ASK CHAPERONES

Men planning to entertain women in their homes over the Christmas holidays must have chaperones present, according to information received from the offices of the dean of women and the dean of men. This rule will apply to afternoon and evening, the directors stated.

Idahoans Display Speed And Power In 53-39 Win Second-Half Rally Smothers Pilots

The Idaho hoop squad chalked up their fifth win Friday night, defeating a scrappy Portland University five, 53-39, in their last home appearance until after the Christmas vacation.

Big Jack Phoenix opened the scoring with a free throw. Then diminutive Fred "Happy" Lee, speedy Portland guard, put the Pilots in front with a field goal. From that point on, the first half was a see-saw battle, with the Portland quintet leading by one point, 24-23, when the buzzer ended the initial period.

Vandals Open Up
The Vandals came to life in the second period, and sparked by the brilliant floor play of Dick Geisler, Joe Grove, and Preston Brimhall, rolled up nine points while holding the Pilots scoreless. The Portland squad couldn't get back into the ball game as the Vandals turned on the heat to increase their margin to 16 points a few minutes before the game ended.

Winters High
Jack Winters, Portland center, capped scoring honors for the evening, dumping in three field goals and eight gift tosses for a total of 14 points. Phoenix and Brimhall led the Vandals with 13 and 11 respectively.

Before leaving for Los Angeles where they will participate in the Helms Foundation invitational tournament during the Christmas vacation, the Vandals will meet Montana in a brace of contests in Missoula on December 19 and 20. The next home game will be on January 3 when the Vandals will attempt to even the score with EWCE, a team which defeated the Idaho squad, 45-44, December 9.

Ski Team Picked For Initial Meet

Headed by Luis Berriochoa, newly elected captain, the University of Idaho ski team is prepared to compete in the National Intercollegiate meet to be held in Sun Valley from December 28 through 31.

As a result of the tryouts held on Mt. Spokane last Sunday, and past performances in training, the following members have been picked to represent Idaho at Sun Valley: Hal Crawford, Larry Remaklus, Jack Numbers, Luis Berriochoa, Crusty Harmon and Dave Ulmer.

While at Mt. Spokane, the team received downhill racing instructions from Hans Hauser, who was national downhill ski racing champion in 1933.

Time Out

By Harry Howard

Immediately following Washington State's 55-51 victory over Portland University last Wednesday, a KWSC commentator remarked that Portland would pull some surprises when they met some of the "other" conference teams around here.

Apparently the commentator had in mind the Idaho Vandals since the Pilots had already met Oregon and Oregon State, and neither of the Oregon schools nor Washington could be considered as being "around here." Just for the record, it might be well to note that in contrast to WSC's 4 point victory over the Pilots, that "other" conference school defeated the same team by 14 points, 53-39. It would seem that most of the surprises were pulled in Pullman.

Need Heavyweight
There is a conspicuous shortage of heavyweights on the boxing squad. Just one freshman has turned out to take advantage of the fine experience and traveling opportunities that are offered.

Commander Butler, boxing coach, is strongly urging all who are interested to turn out and help bolster the squad that last year tied with Wisconsin for the national intercollegiate championship.

With the adoption of Olympic rules in collegiate boxing, it is possible that freshman may be eligible to compete on the varsity squad. There has been no official ruling on the matter as yet, but all indications point toward a green light for the freshmen.

Unsportsman Like
It is unfortunate that constant booing of the officials isn't the only example of unsportsman-like conduct that is prevalent in some fans. At the game Friday night, an unidentified individual was heard yelling at Jack Winters, Portland's Negro center, this bit of character display — "Hey Snowball!" This is not only unsportsman-like, but is the sort of thing that just doesn't set well at Idaho.
