VOL. 52, NO. 29 THE IDAHO ARGONAUT, Official Publication of the ASUI TUESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1948

'Uncle Tom's Cabin' Opens 3-Night Run Thursday, 8:15

The Argonaut has had relatively smooth sailing so far this year in regard to Independent-Greek friction. Staff members have been harassed at times by over-zealous (or is it jealous) members of one faction or the other, but generally there has been little trouble. However, Jason got the word indirectly this week that some Independents are calling the Arg a "Fraternity" paper. This column challenges that statement.

There is no favoritism shown to members of either group in the selection of Arg personnel for staff positions. A hasty count of names on the Arg's masthead—which incidentally is in need of revising—revealed 31 Greeks and 23 Independents.

The Advertising and Circulation staffs were not counted as they have little to do with the news content of the paper.

More Greeks Show Up

Jason knows as well as anyone that there are more Independents on the campus than there are Greeks. He also knows that many more Greeks than Independents turn out for work on the paper.

The Arg staff with its mixture from both parties, chooses the contents of the paper for news, entertainment, and informative value. Whether a story is about Pine Hall or Delta Tau Delta has nothing to do with whether it is used or not.

There is relatively little friction between the two major divisions at Idaho. Jason hopes it will remain that way.

In some schools the feuding is carried to extremes. Nine miles across the state line for instance, rivalry is carried farther.

Evergreen Has Troubles

A writer on the Washington State Evergreen stated Sunday night that competition there has reached the point where staff members have to check story against story.

Items appearing before and after elections at WSC must be counted for words. If 100 words concerning Independents appear, then the Greeks must be given 100 words, according to our informant.

Jason hopes that Idaho students don't get carried away like that.

Prof's Troubles

Also from across the state line comes this tale. Dr. Zeno Catterly, WSC professor, told it to members of TKE fraternity at their 20th anniversary banquet.

It seems that the Doctor, at the time he started instructing there, was determined to make his lectures virtual examples of clearness. He worked hard on those lectures and was happy in the knowledge that his students were understanding him.

Happy, that is, until one year he enrolled a student who showed up for the first lecture, never reappearing until the final exams at the end of the semester. The student cracked a 95.

Calling the student to his office the Doctor asked him, "How can you appear for one lecture and then get a 95 in your final?" Replied the brain-boy, "Well you see, I think I would have got 100 per cent but your first lecture confused me."

Vet's Cooperative Plans Opening Before Semester

Set Up To Fight Cost Of Living

Having been approved by Idaho's secretary of state, the veterans cooperative association of Moscow is completing its plans to be in operation prior to the first week of next term. The store, located in the Moscow Meat company building on West Sixth street, has been painted and all shelving and fixtures necessary for operation installed.

Organized after a year of extensive preparation by students of the University it is limited to those persons and living groups attending, employed by or associated with the University of Idaho and residing within Latah county. Its only purpose as a non-profit organization is to offer members a saving in the present day battle against the high cost of living.

Fee Returned

Cost of membership has been set by the temporary Board of directors at twelve dollars and fifty cents, this sum to be returned, in proportion to its value at the time, to the member upon leaving. In addition, a bi-annual dividend will be declared and paid.

A completed set of by-laws has been put into effect, of which the following are the main points:

1. The directors of the corporation shall be at least five in number.
2. Election to the Board of directors shall be determined by the members.
3. The power to further make, repeal, or amend the by-laws shall be in the membership by two-thirds.
4. The rights and interests of all members shall be equal and no member can acquire or have a greater interest than any other member.
5. The number and qualifications of the members shall be (Continued on page 3, col. 3)

Debaters Meet For Tournament Here Next Week

The University of Idaho will be host to 35 teams for the Inland Empire Junior College debate tournament which will be held Friday and Saturday, January 16 and 17.

Teams from Oregon State, North Idaho Teachers College, Whitman, Whitworth, Washington State College, Gonzaga, Coeur d'Alene Junior College and possibly the College of Idaho and Idaho State College will participate in the tournament. Idaho will have six teams.

Six Debates Per Team

Beginning Friday evening and continuing all day Saturday, the debates will be held in rooms in the Administration building and in the temporary class rooms No. 2. Each team will debate six times and the winning team will be the one that wins all six debates. Only freshman and sophomore students will take part in this Junior college tournament.

Faculty representatives from each school participating in the tournament will act as judges for the debates. Dr. A. E. Whitehead is the faculty advisor for Idaho.

Twelfth Year At Idaho

This is the twelfth year that this tournament has been held at the University of Idaho. A trophy will be given by Idaho to the winning team. Washington State college won the tournament last year with Idaho in second place.

Members of Idaho's debate team that will participate in the tournament are: Don Bunge, John Gibbs, Grant Saulle, Ed Aschenbrenner, Perry Dodds, Tom Rigby, Henry Curtis, Arthur Sutton, Julius Peterson, Paul Rigrup, Mary Louise Will and Shirley Jacobson.

Catching the stilled atmosphere of 19th century melodramatic acting, the St. Clairs of this week's ASUI dramatic production "Uncle Tom's Cabin," pose for a typical family daguerreotype. Seated are Nancy Buchanan, who plays Little Eva, and Maurice Paulsen, as Papa St. Clair. Standing are JoAnne Elam, cast as Ophelia, the Northern cousin, and Pat Jordan, as Marie, St. Clair's wife. The play is being produced Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in the university auditorium.

Cast Of Thirty Present Classic 6-Act Melodrama

Cracking ice, snapping whips, pistol shots, top hats and full skirts catch the atmosphere of the ASUI melodrama, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," opening a three-night run Thursday at 8:15 p. m. in the university auditorium.

Done in the typical 19th century melodramatic style, from the programs to the curtain calls, the classic of the American stage incorporates a cast of 30 and six acts, broken up by olio numbers by members of the cast and a quartet.

The Davis brothers were originally from Burley, Idaho, but are now operators of a chain of grocery stores in the southeastern part of the United States.

The awarding of these scholarships is in the hands of a committee comprised of Dean Farmer, Professor Graue, and the President of the School of Business, Chamber of Commerce. The amount to be granted to individual students is left to the discretion (Cont. on page 3, col. 8)

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE — FIRST SEMESTER 1947-48

(Three-hour examinations — two examination periods each day)

Regular class rooms will be used for the examinations unless instructors make arrangements through the Registrar's Office. Examinations in courses not included in the schedule will be arranged by the individual instructors during examination week as scheduled. Examinations in courses comprised of lecture and laboratory periods may in most instances be scheduled according to the sequence of either. Announcement of time and room should be made by the instructor. Rooms should be reserved in the Registrar's Office for "arranged" examinations in order to avoid conflicts with scheduled examinations. ## Professors, One By One

All in fun we hereby submit, after no consultation whatsoever, and surely with no aid from our subjects, a comprehensive but not authoritative classification of that horrible creature—the university professor.

The Sly Type—The second bell rings, no professor, an impromptu consultation begins among the students and after very little discussion it is agreed that everybody will take off. Then who should slip through the back door but Professor Simon Legree. "Had ya guessing, didn't I?" he says, smiling coyly at the class sweater girl.

The Pompous Type—Timing his entrance to class at the precise minute the bell rings Professor Pompo bursts in with a flurry of notes, books and other authoritative looking papers, and as if waiting for a fanfare from a quartet of trumpets, stands majestically before his quivering audience.

Mousy Type—Always early to his classes, Professor Milktoast likes to be there in plenty of time to smile and fraternize with the students to soften them up for what he feels to be a torturous assignment. Then at the end of class he holds back a tear while he assigns the next day's lesson.

Absent-Minded Type—The earth-shaking events of the world bear too heavily on Professor Oversight's broad shoulders. He rushes into class with a copy of Esquire in one hand and his wife's shopping list in the other, hurriedly reminding the class that last week's assignment will be due next week.

Optimistic Type—Professor Utopian meets his students in the hall, and after a few rounds of backslapping and jolly words, suggests that class convene in order that the lucky students may hear the reassuring words that milk and honey is just around the corner.

Nunchalant Type—To Professor Phlegmatic the whole darn world is a bore. Impending war or inflation is commonplace, and as to attendance he says, while polishing his fingernails on his coat lapel, "I don't care if you never come to class." But watch the grade cuts at the end of the semester.

Pessimistic Type—"The world is headed for hell," warns Professor Hopeless while he paces the floor and mops his fevered brow. Beating the desk in a mad frenzy this bird of ill omen leaves his students seriously considering suicide after an hour's lecture. —G.D.

Want Breakfast In Bed? Then England Is The Place

Breakfast in your room, one exam every two years, and classes if you're in the mood—these are a few features of college life in Britain. A life that's being shared by several hundred Americans—mostly veterans—currently attending English universities.

Living and studying in colleges built before Columbus discovered America, these Yanks are enrolled in institutions ranging from Oxford and Cambridge to the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art and the Leathersellers, Technical College. And according to Paul Pearson, reporting on college life abroad for Varsity, the young man's magazine—Americans are deeply impressed by England's system of education.

English Are "Casual"

"Casual" is the word to describe the English student, says Pearson. He is more serious than his American counterpart (but no more "eager"), is jolly without being back-slapper, and tends to "talk shop" constantly. Instead of cheering wildly at a soccer or cricket game, he can be counted on—in cases of extreme excitement—to say, "Well done, Cambridge!"

Modest and quiet application, the Varsity article states, is the keynote of the English educational method. Degrees are awarded only on the basis of long exams given at the end of two or three years of study. Classes are optional, but "tutors" require essays at the weekly meeting with students, and follow these with long, involved discussions. The luxuries of breakfast in your room are countered by heavier restrictions on leaving the college area in the evenings or for week-ends.

Pearson concludes his overseas report to Varsity by saying that English school officials expected the Americans to act like "coveys." Instead, he declares, they now say: "The Yanks are kind, thoughtful, and quick to return hospitality. And their personality is second to none."

Robinson Releases Second Clue In Gem Contest

For each of you,
A second clue;
"A flunk, a color, a mule,
And a cup of coffee going to school."

Mister Mysterious left his second clue to persons seeking his identity in the Gem of the Mountains' contest.

Elizabeth Robinson, Gem Editor, said that Mr. Mysterious' second clue limits possibilities for his identity to a very few people on the campus. Clues published in the Argonaut until the Gem dance January 24th will make solution of the problem easier. First clue of the contest was published in Friday's Argonaut.

Winner of the contest will be one of the persons attending the dance who correctly identifies Mr. Mysterious. Numbers will be drawn, and persons with the corresponding numbered tickets will be given an opportunity to identify the unknown personality. Prize for the contest is a duo-control electric blanket.

The dance—only one of the pre-festival week-end, was scheduled to give students a chance to relax from their cramming.

1500 Ballots Cast; Six Win Smokes

Six Idaho students won a carton of Chesterfield cigarettes each last night when the ballots which they submitted to name their three favorite songs were drawn from all the votes submitted.

Winners were Horace Wood, Lindley Hall; M. B. Haggarty, Moscow; Lee Balderston, ATO; Pat Daubner, Gamma Phi Beta; Dick King, Chrisman Hall; and J. E. Officer, Willis Sweet Hall.

Approximately 1,500 ballots were cast. Idaho's three top tunes will be played Wednesday, January 21, on Peter Potter's "Salute to Idaho."

Dear Jason

I contest the declaration of Jack Sim, Campus club, as the MOST INSIGNIFICANT MAN. Mr. Sim is well known here at the club and in the second quadrant of the medical circle.

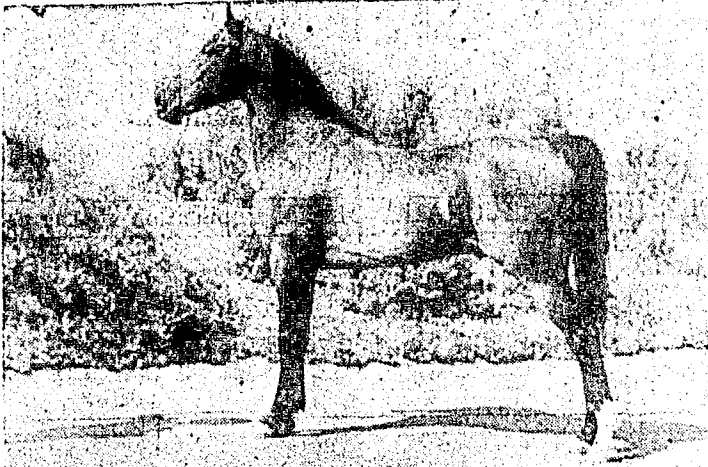

His roommate, Walter Henry (Henry is Walter out of control) Kelm, newly crowned 1947 ASUI golf champion and a noted dabbler in witticisms and also the only known living authority on Pitt Wheel driven powerless-type engines, used Mr. Sim as a test case in the recent establishment and perfection of the Kelm Theory of a diet of WARM MILKSHAKES in the treatment of ulcers.

In addition to participating in this unique medical discovery Mr. Sim is chief talent scout for the "Kelm - All You Have To Do Is Whistle - Club", Committee chairman of the forthcoming "Protect Your Girl From Kelm" week, and a staunch supporter of the "Kelm Univ. of Idaho from Moscow to Lewiston Movement".

Any man contributing so much to the advancement of society is certainly not to be coined by a staggering vagrant as, INSIGNIFICANT.

Bill Creel
Ed. Note:—You have scooped Joe Mediocre who was pecking away at a story stating: "Jack Sim, named "Insignificant" man Wednesday, was disqualified today. Sim was caught raising his eyebrows significantly after a coed walked past..."

Idaho Receives Prize Stallion

This prize stallion is soon due to arrive at the University of Idaho farms. Going by the name of "Farana," the stallion has been assigned to the college of agriculture by the U. S. Army.

Arabian Stallion Given To University Farm By Army

One of the foremost Arabian stallions in western states has been assigned to the University of Idaho by the western remount service of the U. S. Army, it was announced today by C. W. Hickman, head of the department of animal husbandry. He is Farana, sire of Nasik out of Farana, whose ancestry traces to the Great Darley Arabian stallion, sire of 87 per cent of all the English derby winners.

"We believe we have secured a sire that will be of great value to stockmen and pleasure riders of Idaho," commented Professor Hickman. "We sought a sire that would serve both needs. There has been a growing demand for better stock horses in Idaho. Most rapid, however, has been the expanding demand for pleasure and trail horses. With so much mountainous country, and with trail riding increasing, Farana should contribute materially to the improvement of riding horses in the state."

Solid Color

Farana is a solid mahogany bay, 15.2 hands high, and weighs 1,100 pounds. He was bred at the world famous Kellogg Arabian farms in California and foaled in 1929. He was developed by Mark Smith, trainer, as a stock horse. In 1933, Farana was shown to the championship as an Arabian model stallion, at the California state fair.

"Farana has demonstrated his ability as a fast, enduring and sensible stock horse," is the compliment of H. H. Reese, manager of the Kellogg farms, who thinks so much of the stallion he has a large oil painting of him in his home.

For the past several years Farana has been maintained at the depot stallion at the western remount area headquarters at Pomona, Calif. He is expected to arrive at the university some time in March.

A plan will be developed to make the stallion available to stockmen and horse breeders throughout the state.

Here's More About Uncle Tom's

and Jack Rowe is in charge of makeup.

The melodrama follows the debut Uncle Tom through a series of adventures, beginning with his sale away from wife and family to pay his white master's debts. Fortunately, he is purchased by St. Clair for his sickly daughter, Eva, and in the New Orleans home of St. Clair he has his pleasantest moments. St. Clair promises to give him his freedom, but dies before he can do so.

St. Clair's slaves are sold at auction and Uncle Tom is purchased by Simon Legree, who hates him because he can never purchase Tom's soul, and eventually beats him to death. Tom and St. Clair are received in Heaven by Little Eva as the final tableau of the play.

Unsung Vandals Dump High Flying Oregon State, 47-43

Surprising Idahoans Tip OSC From Division Lead

Idaho's Vandals, displaying excellent teamwork and clever ball-hawking, defeated the favored Oregon State Beavers last night in Memorial gymnasium by the score of 47 to 43. The game was the opener for the local team as far as the Northern Division Conference race was concerned.

The game was closely played throughout, and the jammed spectators were thrilled time after time as first one team, and then the other, took over the lead. Idaho led at the half, 23-19, but the Beavers quickly tied it up, 23-23 as the third period started.

Most of the second half was a see-saw affair. Near the end of the third quarter the Vandals were again out in front, 34-30, but quick OSC baskets made the score 35-34 in favor of the Beavers.

With three minutes left the score was tied, 39-39. Scores by Christensen and Phoenix put the Vandals four points in front, and they were never again headed. Catterall and Torrey put the Beavers in a threatening position with the score knotted once more, 43-43.

But the last minute saw Jack Phoenix and Preston Brimhall put the game on ice and the final gun sounded with the score 47-43 in favor of Idaho.

The Beaver's Dah Torrey and Idaho's Jack Phoenix were tied for high-point man with 13 points each.

In the preliminary game the Idaho freshman quintet ran roughshod over the Denver Development team of Kellogg, 68-38.

Idaho and Oregon State play the second game of their two-game series tonight.

Hoopmen Turn Asst. Janitors

"There's more than one way to skin a cat!" It's been proven that there are other ways than the conventional method of using a ticket to get into a basketball game.

Standing outside the ticket office at the WSC-Oregon State game Friday night, Jerry Gunnels, Dexter Linck, and George Woodie were stymied as to how they were going to get in. The tickets had been sold out.

At that moment, going to wash the backboards, a gentleman went by carrying a ladder. Without hesitation Gunnels grabbed one end of the ladder and walked through the door.

Linck and Woodie, not to be outdone, waited until the man appeared with the ladder again and followed him when he put it away. When he had disappeared, they put the ladder on their shoulders and walked by the attendants at the gate, telling them that a basket needed repairing.

Once inside the ladder was discarded while Linck and Woodie joined Gunnels and the rest of their friends.

Idaho Ring Squad Leaves For South And Title Defense

The Vandal boxing team left Monday morning for Louisiana and the fights which open the defense of their share of the N. C. A. A. boxing title.

Time Out

By Harry Howard

The fellows who picked the veteran-studded Washington State squad as the team to watch in conference play this year are looking for another hole card now. The Cougars could hardly hit the backboard as they dropped two games to Oregon State's Beavers, and dropped quickly into the cellar. Washington and Oregon didn't tell anyone anything as they split their series, both picking up 127 points in the two games.

The Oregon State series in Moscow should answer a few questions. If the Vandals are going to be in it, they should get their start here against a tired team of Orange Beavers.

The officials at Saturday's Washington State-Oregon State basketball game made a wise move. In response to wide scale booing which followed every called decision against the Cougars by the partisan audience, the officials conducted a halftime demonstration designed to clear up a few misunderstandings. The misunderstandings were not only cleared up, but so was the booing.

Idaho's Herb Carlson has an opportunity to be the first collegiate boxer to win four national championships. Carlson won the national crown last year in the 155 pound class. He has moved up to the 165 class this year, but should repeat. Herb was voted the outstanding boxer in the Pacific Coast conference tournament last year.

I Club To Initiate 25 New Members

The major "I" Club will hold an initiation of new members at halftime tonight during the Idaho-Oregon State basketball game, according to George Neumayer, senior football manager. Neumayer requested that all men to be initiated be in the dressing room attired in gym clothes five minutes before the half.

Football lettermen to be initiated are as follows: George Smith, George Ballew, Maurice Rathbun, Gerald Diehl, Ken McCormack, Jack Jones, and Thomas Trees.

UTAH MAN RATED TOPS

Writing in the December issue of "Sports" magazine, Louis Effrat of the New York Times placed Utah's high-scoring Vern Gardner on the first string of his "Crystal ball all-America" basketball team.

'I' Club

There will be a meeting of the "I" Club today at 12:30 at the Blue Bucket. Gem pictures will be taken of all major "I" men. All men are requested to wear "I" sweaters and ties. Members and initiates are urged to attend.

Vandal . . . . . Portraits

Ed. Note: This is the first of a series of features designed to better acquaint the students with the men who carry upon their shoulders the hopes of those in the stands.

Jack Rainey, stellar sophomore forward, is in his second year of varsity basketball here at Idaho. Though he did not win a letter last year, Jack has developed very fast.

and has become an integral cog in the Vandals' "new" look. Last year, he won a letter in junior varsity football, but Jack has confessed that his first love is on the maple courts. He is one of the smaller men in this year's quintet. He is five feet, eleven inches tall, and weighs 170 pounds.

Born In Ventura

Jack was born in Ventura, Calif., on May 3, 1927. He began his education here, and his career as an athlete. He won a letter in basketball, one in football, and three in tennis, two in junior high school and one as a freshman.

The following year, his family moved to Jerome, Idaho, and Jack took up where he left off. He earned three more letters in basketball, two in football, and two in baseball. In his junior and senior years at Jerome high school, Jack was chosen "all-district center." In the latter year, he scored an average of 24 points per game.

Jack graduated from high school in 1945, and is now majoring in physical education here at Idaho. He plans on getting his master's degree either here or at UCLA, and then becoming a coach.

Vandal Swimmers To Meet Huskies

Two new meets have been scheduled for the Vandal swimmers, according to Coach Eric Kirkland. January 23 at 3 p. m. the University of Montana aquatic team has been scheduled to meet Idaho in Memorial gymnasium. January 24, Oregon will meet the Vandal swimmers, also at Moscow.

Idaho lost to both these teams by a very close margin last year, and Coach Kirkland is optimistically looking forward to these two meets.

The eight men scheduled to make the January 17 trip to the University of Washington are as follows: Free style 100 and 220—Ken Lyons; free style and relay 50 and 100—John LaFrenz; breaststroke and relays—Wally Warner; breaststroke—George Vida; diving—Jim Farmer and Jack Smith. The remaining two spots will be filled from the following men: Jack Kriebal, Gene Hirschi, Ken Bailly, Wayne Stewart and Don Osgbury.

The University of Washington's Pete Powlison, who took second place in last year's National Intercollegiate free style swimming events, will be a serious threat to the Idaho squad. A number of other excellent swimmers promise to make the Washington Huskies an outstanding team again this year.

CHALLENGE

WHEREAS, it has come to the attention of the most honorable of all professional groups, namely, the BENCH AND BAR SOCIETY of the University of Idaho, that certain unnamed and unmentionable characters, whose chief claim to glory is in imitating and emulating the members of the human race, and whose habitat is the hog pens and the cow barns, which fact is readily ascertainable by reason of the permeating change in atmosphere when within a half mile radius of any of them, have made certain disparaging and slanderous remarks about their betters,

AND WHEREAS, on a certain night in November or October, the date is of no consequence but the act great, whilst decent people were about their business, these foul-smelling, besmattered book-worm farmers, not daring to encroach upon the persons or bodies of live students of law, procured, secured and obtained one straw dummy which they labelled lawyer and proceeded then and there to hang the members of an honorable profession in effigy, and then as though to celebrate a brave and heroic deed, did then and there have an affair, namely a dance, appropriately called the AG BRAWL, res ipsa loquitor, and dared to invite decent, clean members of the human race to attend the stinking premises wherein said was held,

AND WHEREAS, it is the constitutional duty and privilege of the members of the BENCH AND BAR SOCIETY to see that all civil liberties are protected, especially from the ravages of the class of persons who congregate themselves away and apart from the decent people of the world and roll and toss in the muck and mud which surrounds their abode,

AND WHEREAS, these same characters, who upon receiving undeserved degrees from this honorable institution, tie themselves with hue and cry to fertilizer industries, and there obtain positions as seed and fertilizer salesmen, have become more recently even more obnoxious than ever before and it behooves their betters to teach them their proper place and station in life,

AND WHEREAS, the members of BENCH AND BAR, knowing full well the volume of vile epithets and abuse that will be directed at this challenge, and also contemplating in advance the puerile efforts and puns of these text-book farmers nonetheless are willing to brave the onslaught, per aspera ad astra, now then be it

RESOLVED: the fair-minded and clean-bodied students of the College of Law propose a contest, commonly known as basketball, to be played at a future date between the members of the BENCH AND BAR SOCIETY and the scabby society of soil tillers, to settle peaceably all differences between the farmers and the human race and to prove conclusively once again the vast difference between culture and agriculture, and be it

FURTHER RESOLVED: that in order to make the contest even, the lawyers will field five men who with flashing smile and shining eyes will play with one shoe off and one arm trussed behind their back, and even so handicapped will give their opponents the trouncing they deserve.

HONORABLE MEMBERS OF BENCH AND BAR: QUARE? If words are the tools of lawyers, what then are tools of farmers?—book-worm farmers, that is.
