Foreign Student Drive Opens Here On Monday

A foreign student relief drive will get under way on the campus Monday and will continue throughout the week, announced Shirley Tanner, general chairman of the drive. Money collected in the drive, which is under the sponsorship of the World Student Service Fund, goes to needy students in Europe, Asia and China. It will be used for such essentials as clothing, textbooks, food and medical care. None of the money will be used for construction purposes, spokesmen said.

Funds Go to Switzerland
The funds will be sent to the regional office of the drive in Portland, Ore., and will be sent from there to Geneva, Switzerland, where a special board will act as a distribution center dividing the money among needy college students.

The local drive is in conjunction with a nation-wide campaign to raise funds. Miss Verena von Lieben, a medical student from Vienna, will speak to various groups on Monday and Tuesday in conjunction with the local drive.

Inter-collegiate Knights and Spurs of the various living groups will make collections in their respective houses. Students will be asked to contribute $1 each to the drive.

Committee In Charge
The committee in charge of the drive is as follows: Polly Harris, Pan-hellenic council; Bob Morback, Interfraternity council; Bill Eastman, Independent council; Rosemary Hasland, Spurs; Bruce Stucki, IK's; Ed Gronenberg, Inter-church council; Bob Eystone, Executive board, and B. J. Ingraham, International Relations club.

Standing are Jessica Krier and Robert Hooper, (twin brother of Betty Lou).

Emergency Dike Saves Vets' Houses

About 30 student veterans were called from their beds around midnight Wednesday night to build a dike to keep the swirling waters of Paradise creek from flooding the trailer camp and Vet's Village.

The usually placid Paradise creek was filled to overflowing by the sudden deluge of rain that fell on the Palouse area Wednesday afternoon and evening. President J. E. Buchanan and City Engineer Harvey Smith after viewing the situation shortly before midnight, decided the only course of action was to construct a sand-bag dike at a low spot on the bank near the cavalry barn.

Bridges Swept Away
The force of the torrent reached a peak at about four a.m. when the footbridge and the car bridge near the cavalry barn were washed out. Forethought on the part of volunteer workers, in securing a line to the car bridge saved it from washing down stream. But the footbridge broke loose from its mooring and was washed downstream until it lodged against the railroad bridge on the heating plant railroad spur. There it is being given this semester.

Europe's Needs To Be Listed By Austrian Medical Student

Verena Von Lieben, medical student from Vienna, Austria, will speak to student groups Monday and Tuesday, March 1 and 2.

The daughter of a professor at the University of Vienna, Miss Von Lieben escaped from compulsory farm labor in Southern Moravia when the Russians invaded Austria in 1945.

In Salzburg she found the first contingents of American troops, and volunteered her services as an interpreter. She then returned to Vienna in August, 1945, with the Americans, and enrolled in the University of Vienna. There she helped organize the Academic Union for whom she traveled through Germany. Her appraisal of student conditions and needs in Germany is based on this work.

Speeches Scheduled
The schedule of her speeches before the various groups is as follows: Monday, March 1st there will be an open meeting for everyone who wishes to come in the TC-1 building 7th period. At noon on Monday, Miss Von Lieben will speak at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house at 12:30. That evening she will be interviewed by B. Ingraham, president of International Relations club, over KUOI at 7:30. Also that evening, Miss Von Lieben will speak at Willis Sweet and Chrisman halls.

'Grab A Date—It's '48' Will Be Theme Of Dance

The Leap Year theme of "Grab a Date—It's '48" will headline the annual Spinster Skip scheduled for Saturday, under the sponsorship of the Mortar Board, senior women's honorary.

The one event of the year when the women foot all bills will begin with a matinee dance at 3 p. m. in the Student Union ballroom with the Rhythm-Airs playing.

Special intermission attraction will be the awarding of a prize to the man wearing the most original corsage. No limitation has been placed on the materials which can be used in contriving the ornaments and the only stipulation made by the judging committee is that they be handmade.

Students Given
Chance To Hear
Lady Diplomat

"There Is a Path to Peace" is the subject that the Honorable Ruth Bryan Rohde will lecture on at the general assembly Thursday morning at 11:00 in the Memorial gymnasium.

Mrs. Rohde, as Ruth Bryan Owen, was the first woman to represent the "Old South" in congress; the first woman to serve on the congressional foreign affairs committee, and as minister to Denmark, had the distinction of being America's first woman diplomat.

The list of Ruth Rohde's activities is long. For the past several years she has served as chairman of the institute on the re-education of the axis countries at New York university and also acted as the honorary president of the Women's Council for Post War Europe.

"Look Forward, Warrior," published in 1943 and widely read, was Mrs. Rohde's carefully thought-out plan for a United Nations organization. A well-balanced combination of idealist and practical woman, with long schooling in politics, diplomacy and international affairs, it is small wonder that many of her ideas in her book have been re-echoed in the World Charter.

Devoting her time and energies for many years past in the furtherance of world peace, Mrs. Rohde is highly commended by her listeners everywhere for her sane and intelligent discussions of our international problems.

Frosh Honorary Seeks New Men

He added that the secretary will be glad to aid any freshman in determining his grade point if there is any doubt as to eligibility. Interested men are asked to contact Lee Bath, room 123, Lindley hall, phone 25-031.

Do College Students Cheat? Student Writer Says Yes

By MARGARET WEITZ
Leave it to the college students to find new ways in which they can "crib" or "cheat" on a test. But they aren't all fool-proof—so don't get any ideas. You'll probably be the one that gets caught.

The latest invention used to "crib" on a test is the "dummy watch." This is how it works. The insides of a wrist watch are removed and in its place a small spool is installed which is connected with the stem. On the spool is a tiny scroll bearing all the answers to the "tough" questions. During the exam, the wearer of the watch can wind the stem and the scroll is rolled back and forth showing all the answers. Not bad—huh?

Dear Jason

Through your column I hope it will be possible to express the University's deep appreciation for the help given during the flood on 28 February. Through the combined help of volunteer veteran student workers, University crews, and city of Moscow crews, damage was held to negligible proportions. Particularly appreciated by the workers during the wet cold hours before dawn was the hot coffee provided by veteran's wives and the Elk's club through its thoughtful secretary, Kelly Cline. We were fortunate that the consequences of this flood were not more serious and I am sure the work and vigilance of the people mentioned are responsible for our good fortune.

J. E. Buchanan

The Limb Systems
The bare-leg system is another method used in cheating. A small sheet of paper is slipped around the calf of the leg and is held in place by two rubber bands. During the test, the boy pulls up his pant leg and comes through the test with flying colors.
Not to be beaten, the girls can use their legs too. Their method is to slip the paper with the answers under their sheer stockings just above the knees. Then up goes the skirt!
"True" and "false"—"yes" and "no" tests offer opportunities for mass cheating. Sometimes a whole row of students can make perfect scores on their "true" and "false" questions by prearranged signals with a brilliant classmate who is willing to co-operate. It's simple. The brain-of-the-scheme raises his right foot for "true" and his left for "false." Or maybe a pencil tilted to the right means "yes" and tilted to the left "no."
A "Unique" Method
Listen to this method used to "crib" in a test. It's quite unique. Before the test starts, the student glues his answer sheet on the wall in the lavatory. Then he goes to class and answers all the questions he can. When he can't answer any more, he pretends he is sick—puts his hand on his stomach and rushes out of the classroom. The student then goes to the lavatory, looks at his answer sheet on the wall and he knows the answers, returns to class to finish the test.
Probably all these ways of "cribbing" work, if you're careful. But watch out for the professor that is smarter than you are. In one university, a certain professor gave the test papers to his students and then walked out of the room. When he was seen wandering around in the hall, another professor asked him if he wasn't afraid that his students might compare answers on the test. But the "prof" said he didn't care—he had turned their grades in the day before.

Mission To Moscow

By Russki
Last Friday morning I was in a very elated frame of mind. My date calendar was full for the weekend, and three dates were, for this campus, gorgeous hunks of womanhood. My first full-date weekend since my vacation last summer in Petrozavodsk! I was sitting on air.

Then at noon the phone rang. This is Hazel, the receiver said, I'm sorry but I must break my date tonight. My dentist in Lewiston is going to work on my teeth tonight and he's working overtime just for me, I hope you understand.
Sure, that's all right, I said. I hung up. What did I care? I still had two wonderful dates left, on Sunday and Saturday nights. I spent the evening playing Crimean solitaire and in listening to Shostakovich classics. Then at midnight the phone rang again.

Horribly Sorry
Russki, the receiver said, I'm horribly sorry but I'm afraid I'll have to break that date tomorrow night. My sister in Orofino is having a baby and her husband is so upset about it all. Besides, the receiver added, my grandmother died this morning and they're having the funeral tomorrow night and I should go.
That's all right, Abigail, I said. I understand. I hung up again. Saturday night I sat up with a sick friend of mine named Johnnie Walker. We conversed for several hours, but then he became empty and boring, and I went to bed.
Sunday afternoon rolled around and just as I was about to call for Jaunita the phone rang once more. I'm exasperatingly sorry, said the receiver, but I fell in love with the boy I went out with last night and we are going to be married tonight. Also, the voice explained, my roommate is in the infirmary and after the wedding we are going to visit her and take her some chocolate ice cream cones.
That's fine, I said, make sure they're chocolate and not cherry-peppermint marvel.
As I put the receiver down in the cradle I consoled myself with the thought that one woman out of seven in America would be old maids.

threatened to form a dam, but this threat was quickly removed when the university's war surplus truck, equipped with a winch, pulled it out.

After immediate danger of the flood was past, President Buchanan took two steps to show his appreciation to the volunteer veterans to all members of the faculty, recommending that they be lenient in marking grades for veterans and other volunteer workers who were on the job most of the night. "In the wee small hours of the morning," he explained, "it was mighty welcome to have a cup of hot coffee. Veterans' wives put on their coffee pots when it became apparent an all-night vigil would be necessary."

Taylor Croons New Tune

"I have confidence and faith. I think I'll get to be vice-president." These parting words to the democratic party by Idaho's singing Senator, Glen H. Taylor, launched him on his biggest publicity stunt of his entire career. It far outdoes his earlier bid for headlines when he started across the country on horseback.
Typical of the vigorous manner in which the former road-show cowboy bids for headlines was the answer he gave to newsmen who asked Taylor if the talk of Communists swarming to the third party was true. Said Taylor: "I'm glad to have their vote. I'd be glad to have the votes of bank robbers if I can get elected to do what I think is right."

Idahoans wonder just what is right in Taylor's mind. He advocates that we either work with Russia or prepare for the end of the world. This country has tried about every technique known to get along with Russia, and is still doing her best. America's top statesmen are and have been doing all within the dignity of a nation to cooperate with Soviet Russia.
When the crooning cowboy makes the headlines with his cries that he wants peace and that he thinks we should get along with Russia, the main reaction of Idaho students is—"Who In The H--- Doesn't?"

Has A Man Got A Chance? Reporter Gets Inside Dope

If men ever had a chance of escaping from designing women, they will lose that chance tomorrow, according to confident women and despondent men polled yesterday by the Argonaut reporter. The question "Do the men have a chance for escape at the Spinsters Skip?" brought these replies:
The Mortar Beard: "The chances will be very, very slim."
Phil Schnell, Sigma Chi: "Not if the women can run as fast as was witnessed last fall at the Sadie Hawkins' Day race."
Carl Neiworth, LDS Institute: "The Spinsters Skip is a farce!"
Lois Nodell, Alpha Chi Omega: "They will probably try as hard as ever—which isn't very hard."
Abe Erlich, Pine Hall: "With all the good-looking women around, they haven't a chance."
Lorraine Johnson, Delta Delta Delta: "I expect they will all escape. I don't know of any worth spending $1.25 on."
Roland Ward, Idaho Club: "Who wants to escape?"
Maxine Minimum, bice: "If all women look like me, the men haven't a thing to worry about."
Les Ambitious, sim: "Three Sadie Hawkins day, three spinsters skips and a leap year and I haven't been caught yet. Unfortunately, I probably will escape again."

College Adds Value To Family Life Say Women of '22

New Brunswick, N. J.—(I.P.)—A college trained woman who marries is more useful to her family and community than she would have been without a college education, a survey of the New Jersey college for women's class of 1922 has revealed.

A majority of the 46 active members of the class agreed that the "family and community benefited, indirectly but definitely" from the women's college education.

College training stimulates and develops the ability to think clearly and fairly, fosters the adoption of new ideas, and aids in evaluating the choices life has to offer, the women said.

Other benefits derived from college according to the women are ability to act as a leader, a better understanding of children, and a sense of security in the event of a family emergency.

Cited also were the ability to entertain more graciously, more poise and efficiency, and a wider breadth and depth of interests.

Figures showed that 32 members of the original class of 54 are married and have a total of 69 children.

University Couple Wed Last Week

The bride is a senior at the university and Hamilton is a former student. On their return from a wedding trip to Seattle the couple will live in Nez Perce where the groom is employed.

Art Instructor Displays Paintings In Sunday Exhibit

Miss Mary Kirkwood, faculty member in the school of art and architecture presented an exhibition of painting in the Art building, Sunday afternoon, February 22, to approximately 250 people.

The collection represents Miss Kirkwood's work for six years. Recent work includes landscapes from the Palouse area as well as Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene areas, "Madonna of the Palouse Hills" was claimed as one of the favorites of the group. This painting represents the painter's response to a suggestion of stained glass and cathedral feeling which she has always felt, she said.

Miss Kirkwood stated that everyone is welcome to the exhibit in the Art building until March 6.

Painting Shown
She came to the University of Idaho from the University of Oregon, where she obtained her master's degree in 1930.

The exhibit includes the following paintings: "Madonna of the Palouse Hills," "Sacred Picnic," "Waiting," "Skeltons," "Portrait Mary-Louise Perrine," "Landscape, Tomer's Butte," "Three at Table," "Anne Poses," "Clearwater River at Flood Stage," "Kamiah Ridge."

"Portrait, Mrs. Kerl," "Spring Landscapes," "Julia," "Portrait," "Sea of Wheat," "Julia Reading," "Landscape near Moscow," "Wheat," "Morning Reverie," "Jones Boat Works," "Old Apple Orchard," "Paradise Ridge," and "Yacht Basin."

Former Scouters Elect George Lea

George Lea was elected president of Alpha Phi Omega, Boy Scout honorary, at a meeting on February 17. Other new officers are vice president, Bill Hansen; treasurer, Dick Johnson; Secretary Alvard Kilen; corresponding secretary, Cecil Tru; and historian, Bob Pettygrove.

Plans for this semester include publication of a student directory and the traditional "Gaudy Gert," and "Ugly Ike" dance.

On February 7 Joseph Scanlon, scout executive from Seattle, and five University of Washington men were guests of the Idaho and W.S.C. chapters in a conference at the Blue Bucket. Plans were developed for the coming sectional conference in October and the national meeting in January.

FREE MIXER GIVEN
OSC students took advantage of a recent no-charge exchange to renew acquaintances. Prices were removed to promote interest in the mixers.

This program would consist of a series of discussions at the evening meal or at 9:30 p.m. led by an assigned speaker at the various living groups. The speakers and topics would be picked by the group. Such a program is now in effect at W.S.C. under the supervision of the Religion and Life commission.

Garnet Storm is now chairman of the radio committee of Moscow churches that sponsors the program.

Gorilla-Gripper Unpopular At Dances Says Expert

He says, "Shall we dance?" She says, "Let's!" Then he dances in the dark. In the dark about the right way to dance!

There are probably any number of mistakes that can be made on a dance floor; but it's the considered opinion of Maya Boleyn, international dance instructor, that they all come down to five major floor flaws. Commenting in Varsity, the young man's magazine, Miss Boleyn appealed to the American male to check his dancing against her list.

Freshman-Studded Ring Squad To Meet Savages

Walker Brothers Featured Tonight

Four Vandal freshmen, Len and Norm Walker, Vernon Bahr, and DeForrest Tovey, will make their ring debut before a home crowd tonight when the Idaho mittmen tangle with the Savages of Eastern Washington in Memorial gymnasium.

Idaho's TKO artists, Herb Carlson and Dale Hammond, will look on tonight, as Coach Butler takes this opportunity to give needed experience to some of the other boys who have been working for a spot on future ring squads.

The Vandals will be after their second win in dual meet competition. They won their first card from John McNeese junior college at Lake Charles, Louisiana, dropped bouts to Louisiana State, Gonzaga, and Washington State, and tied the Pacific coast champion San Jose State Spartans.

Marvin Earl, newcomer to the Vandal squad, will make his second appearance tonight. Coach Butler is pleased with the improvement the big heavyweight has shown, and stated that with a little experience, he may give his opponents plenty of trouble.

Clark Moving Up
Ken Clark, 118-pounder, will move up to the 127 pound division, Howard Morton will fight at 160, and Don Ellis, who showed plenty of ability in his win in the San Jose bout, will tangle at 175.

The complete line-up scheduled at this time is as follows: 127 pounds—Ken Clark, Idaho, vs. Virgil Heyalt, 135 pounds—DeForrest Tovey, Idaho, vs. Red Iseli, 145 pounds—Norm Walker, Idaho, vs. Gene Liksdal, 155 pounds—Len Walker, Idaho, vs. Earl Hynton, 160 pounds—Howard Morton, Idaho, vs. Carl VanTyne, 165 pounds—Vernon Bahr, Idaho, vs. Wes Newville, 175 pounds—Don Ellis, Idaho, vs. Bud Newville; heavyweight—Marvin Earl, Idaho, vs. Herman Pein.

Butler indicated that if EWCE brings more than eight fighters, there may be more bouts that are not scheduled at this time.

Here's More About JASON

completed a national poll on the subject.

According to Dean E. G. Williamson, University of Minnesota, chairman of the polling committee, veterans over the nation rate 89 per cent of college instruction from "average" to "very good".

Broken down, the figures are: "average", 33 per cent; "good", 35 per cent; and "very good", 21 per cent. Only 7 per cent rated instruction as "inferior" while 1 per cent branded college teaching as "very poor". Three per cent had no opinion.

Nearly Finished
Word that the Independent's investigation of dormitory feeding costs is nearing completion also drifted in to the Arg office this week. The preliminary part of the investigation is completed, spokesmen say, but it may be two weeks before a report is forthcoming.

The investigators have uncovered some possible inefficiencies in university buying and distribution policies, but indicate that on the whole, Idaho's feeding setup is sound.

Danger of Fire
If any campus buildings burn down within the next few days, the cause will probably not be hard to find. The coming of the jet-driven match-stick to Idaho will undoubtedly be behind the conflagration.

Jason doesn't know who started the fad, but tin foil-wrapped, smoking streaks were much in evidence during the week.

In case anyone hasn't seen the process, tin foil is wrapped around a wooden or paper match with a hair-pin or straight-pin held along its length. The pin is then removed, leaving a jet-tube pointed toward the rear of the match. When the "rocket" is heated

Time Out

By Harry Howard

David slew Goliath but he had nothing on the Idaho Vandals. Giant killers in their own right, they rose again from the cellar to prove that fighting hearts and fine coaching are just as effective as David's slingshot. Crippled by the loss of Phoenix and Bob Linck, the Vandals still took a win from the best teams in the conference, and the season isn't over yet.

Tonight the Cougars try their luck away from home again. They open a two-game series with Oregon State, their strongest contender at this point, at Corvallis. Should the Cougars' luck hold out in the first two games of the grueling Oregon road trip, the Beavers will be out of the race. However, if the Cougars drop one game to Oregon State, they will have to defeat Oregon twice to keep the Beavers from grabbing a tie by knocking off their Webfoot rivals in the Oregon clubs' season finale.

Huskies Not Out

If Washington State should split the four Oregon games, the Washington Huskies could tie them for the title by sweeping their series with Idaho in Seattle March 5 and 6.

If a tie results, and it isn't an impossibility, the two teams will tangle for the right to meet the University of California, southern division winners, for the Pacific Coast championship. From there, the coast winner will go to the national regional playoffs at Kansas City.

Cheerful Chuck Orates

Idaho's coach, Chuck Finley, found a way to quiet the crowd in Tuesday night's Idaho-Washington brawl. When Tim McCullough approached the public address system to speak to the spectators, Finley also approached. The irate official went back to his job when the Idaho coach said that he "would tell them." He did, and they liked it. Finley told the public address announcer what he wanted said, and the rosters listened to Don Bylock as he said, Chuck Finley has asked me to tell you that "it isn't the fault of the Washington team." The noise subsided after a brief period of uncontrolled laughter.

Tekes Edge ATOs For League Title

The Teke basketball squad copped the league No. 2 intramural crown last night, edging the ATO's in a thriller, 29-26. The score at the half favored the winners, 11-9. Verne Baxter, Teke forward, copped scoring honors with 11 counters, followed by Tobe Massingill, ATO, with 8.

LDS emerged as the winner in league 1, and CC No. 1 and CC No. 2 were the victors in leagues 3 and 4 respectively.

The hall championship playoffs begin Monday, March 1. Thursday, at 8:00 p.m., the top independent team meets the No. 1 fraternity team for the university intramural basketball championship.

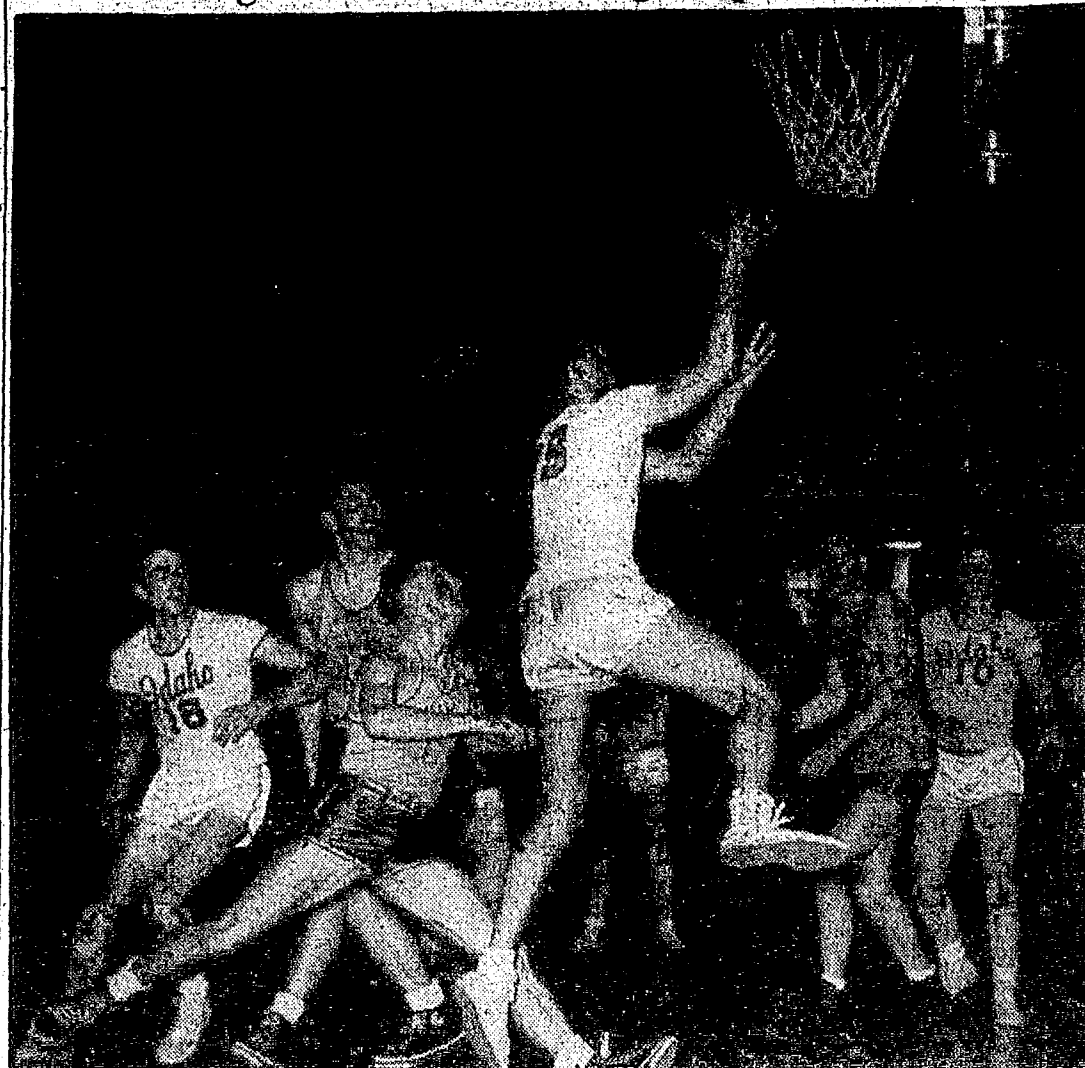

In games Wednesday night, CC No. 2 won from WSH No. 2, 47-32; CC No. 1 defeated WSH No. 1, 38-21; Tr. Village No. 1 dropped Pine No. 1, 43-31; West 6th won a close one from PKT, 32-30; LH No. 2 lost to CH No. 2, 38-36, in an overtime thriller; and CH No. 1 defeated LH No. 1, 26-32.

Idaho's Dexter Linck drives in for a lay-in as Washington's Bob Jorgenson executes a ballet split in a vain effort to stop 'the speedy forward. Jay Gano (16) and Dick Geister (10) of Idaho, and the Huskies' Jack Nichols (15) and Bill Vandenburg (17) look on.

Ending their 1947-48 home basketball season with a 43-41 victory over the University of Washington, the Vandals dropped the Huskies from a possible first place tie to third spot in the northern division race.

The Tuesday night contest kept Vandal fans on edge as they watched a late Washington rally cut the Idaho margin from 10 points to a meager one point lead with three minutes of play remaining. However, the determined Vandals dropped the Huskies from a possible first place tie to third spot in the northern division race.

Three minutes had elapsed before either team scored. It was the Washington scoring ace, Jack Nichols who broke the ice and put the visitors in the lead. A minute later Nichols made good a free throw. Idaho's first counter was tallied on a gift shot by Preston Brimhall with five minutes of play gone.

Scoring Spree Starts
The Vandals caught fire at the eight-minute mark. Dick Geister sank a free toss; followed by another gift toss by Brimhall. A minute later Brimhall made Idaho's first bucket of the game, and then the Vandal dead-eye sank another from the side. A long swisher by Joe Grove boosted the Vandals to a 11-7 lead.

Forcing the Huskies to slow down, the Vandals maintained their margin, but were not able to get a comfortable lead. At the half, the Silver and Gold quintet was ahead, 21 to 14.

It was the Washington team that again started the scoring after three minutes of close defensive play by both squads. Huskie forward, Bill Vandenburg was the first player to hit the hoop, and Nichols added a free throw.

Jay Gano, Brimhall, and Dex Linck found the range for a basket each in rapid succession. This gave the Vandals a 27-17 edge. Settling down in a tight defense, the Idaho quintet held on to the 10 point margin.

Huskies Rally
With the score standing, 33-34, the Washington cagers started to rally. Vandenburg connected, as did Bill Taylor and Nichols. An Idaho time-out cut short the Husky scoring spree. Brimhall and Wendell Christiansen got two baskets and eased the pressure for a time.

Nichols and Vandenburg copped three points for the Huskies, but Christiansen and Grove did likewise for the Vandals. The next Washington tallies were made by Taylor and Sam White. Grove was fouled and made good his free toss. Shortly afterwards, Nichols came up under the basket and made a two-pointer for the Huskies. This cut the Idaho lead to one point with three minutes left in the game.

A gift shot by Geister and a basket by Christiansen in the last minute lengthened the Vandal margin. Andy Opacich kept the Seattle boys in the game with a long push shot. Aided by two Husky fouls, the Idaho squad was able to keep 'the ball away from their opponents and finish the game with a 43-41 lead.

Brimhall High
Brimhall, with five field goals and seven free tosses, was high pointer for the game. Closely following the Idaho guard, was Jack Nichols with 16 tallies.

These two teams will finish the conference season in Edmondson pavilion in Seattle next weekend. This will be must series for the Huskies if they are to have any chance for the conference title.

Northern division basketball followers are turning their eyes toward Oregon for the next few days, where the Washington State Cougars meet Oregon State tonight and tomorrow night. Monday the Cougars face Oregon on the Ducks' home floor. These are the last games for the Washington State five who are leading in Northern division standings.

Frosh Cagers Top Wallace Quintet For Eleventh Win

Past records meant nothing to the Frosh hoop team, as they downed the Wallace Elks, 56 to 46, in a preliminary game to the Washington-Idaho varsity tilt Tuesday night. Three former Idaho basketball stars headlined the Wallace five.

Fred Quinn, all-American selection in 1945-46, Bill Gramer, all-coast in the mid thirties, and Bill English, regular Vandal guard in the late thirties, teamed up to try to stop the rampaging freshmen. Their attempt was unsuccessful, as the Vandal Babes chalked up their ninth successive victory.

Elks Lead At Half

The Elks had the lead throughout the first half, with Quinn making 11 points in this period. Towards the close of the initial half, the freshmen began to break through the Wallace defense and hit the hoop to shorten the Elks lead. Halftime score was 29 to 26 in favor of the oldsters.

Second half play began nip-and-tuck with both squads connecting with the basket. Midway through the final period, the Vandal Babes took over the lead and the tiring Elks were unable to keep pace with their younger opponents.

Herb Mead led the Idaho five with 18 points, and Quinn was high for Wallace, making 14 tallies. Saturday night, the Idaho Frosh will travel to Wallace to play a return game with the Elks in the Wallace high school gymnasium. This will be the last game of the season for the Vandal Babes.

Brimhall Continues Hot Scoring Pace

Preston Brimhall, sophomore guard, picked up 27 points against the Huskies Monday and Tuesday to run his lead over his nearest teammate in Vandal scoring to 58 points.

Dexter Linck, newcomer to the Vandal squad, still holds second place though he tallies only seven points in the two Washington games. Joe Grove, Brimhall's running mate at the guard position, continues as the team's bad boy with a total of 48 fouls in conference play.

Vandal scoring for conference games is as follows

Player	FG	FT	PF	TP
Brimhall	52	33	37	137
D. Linck	34	11	23	79
Geister	20	23	28	63

Swimmers Travel To Seattle Meet

Six tankmen will represent the University of Idaho at the northern division swimming meet in Seattle Saturday.

Coach Eric Kirkland hopes to better the Vandals previous week standing at conference meets through the performances of Farmer, Lyons, and Johnson. Farmer, who has performed well all season, will cut the water in the 440 event. Lyons will hold forth in the 220, and Johnson will cruise the lane in the backstroke.

The favored University of Washington team will play host for Saturday's competition. The preliminaries will be held in the afternoon and the finals that evening.

Washington State's team which broke three pool records at the last home meet in the Memorial gymnasium are also in the favored column.

$23,515,000 STORY...

TOTAL THESE FIGURES and you get the $23,515,000 story of Northern Pacific improvements in the last year. They add up to better service next time you take a trip or ship some freight along the Main Street of the Northwest.

$5,246,000 was invested by NP last year in new, streamlined passenger equipment for the NORTH COAST LIMITED—new diesels, diner-lunch cars, coach buffet-lounge cars—ALL now in service.

$8,556,000 was spent on our roadbed to give you a smoother ride on the NORTH COAST LIMITED. This included laying 30,000 tons of heavier rail, putting down new ballast, reducing curves.

$2,238,000 went into NP plant additions to keep our equipment—all along Main Street—in the pink of condition. A diesel shop, a freight house, a power plant were finished; other work was under way.

$7,475,000 bought new freight cars and power—500 all-steel boxcars (of 1,700 freight cars we're building at our Brainerd, Minn., shops), 250 all-steel refrigerator cars, a fleet of fleet 6000-h.p. diesels.

THIS STORY'S STILL NOT FINISHED—for we couldn't get all the equipment we had on order, couldn't complete all our planned plant and main-line improvements. So we've earmarked $18,490,000 more to continue the NP progress story this year!
