Spur-Ik Boxing Tournament To Enter Finals Tonight

Executive Board Favors SUB Enlargement Plans

Board Of Regents To View Project In Next Session

Several entries have been mailed to the Arg in the "Miss Lush" contest, including one guess claiming Jason, himself, was the mysterious person. With so many entries coming in when the clues are so general, the office will undoubtedly be flooded with letters before the contest is over.

A word to the wise. The contest is not a joke. The clues will become more and more definite as time goes by. The clues are self-containing. The advertisement in which the clue is buried has no bearing on the solution. There are no trick clues. They will, as time goes by, develop until "Miss Lush" can be only the beautiful woman that she is. Then and then only will some lucky male win the date and all of the gifts that go with it.

One Entry Per Week

To eliminate random guessing to a certain extent, Jason and the judges have set a limit on the number of entries. One entry a week will be accepted by the judges. The first entry sent in during that week will be the one accepted. All others will be discarded.

A complete list of prizes will be printed as soon as the Argonaut chasers can contact the advertisers interested in participating in the contest. Over 20 merchants have expressed interest and desire to give prizes.

Waiting Or Worried?

Yesterday afternoon Jason was sitting in the Bucket stirring his coffee when Oswald, the Baffle Snaffler, climbed up on his cup and leered painfully in his face. Jason looked quickly around and hurriedly took Oswald, coffee cup, and all to his office and closed the door.

"Oswald, you know better than to bother me in public," Jason said. "What's the matter with you now?" "Public! Public!" Oswald screamed. "If you would ever stay in that office where I could find you I wouldn't bother you in public."

Better Education?

"Jason," Oswald sneered, "I thought that you were on the side of fair representation, freedom of speech, and better education. If so, tell me, what has become of your teacher rating plan the Executive Board worked on for so long?"

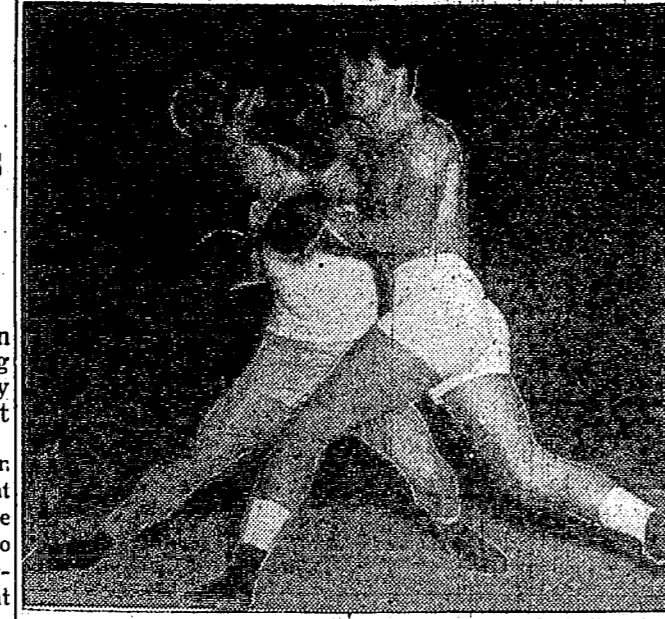

"Well, it was taken to the Deans of the various colleges for use in their departments. I've even sent an Argonaut reporter around to find out what they think of the plan," Jason said.

"Ya-a-a, ye-a-a!" the pink and green little Baffle Snaffler jumped up and down on the desk. "And do you know what happened when that reporter went around? No, of course you don't. You haven't got the intelligence of an overgrown gopher. That reporter went to seven different Deans' offices and

Amateur Fights Under Way

Novice sluggers of the second annual Spur-IK boxing tournament provide some excellent entertainment for boxing enthusiasts, and the crowd for the three-night affair is expected to exceed last year's 10,000 persons. Here, Bill Chetwood (right) and Larry Bell come together in a slug fest in one of the high-lights of Wednesday night's preliminary card. Chetwood took the decision after a hard-fought third round.

Student Heads Approve Plan To Consolidate Money Drives

A campus chest program is being organized following action taken by the ASUI executive board approving the plan for local use. The Interfraternity council brought the measure before the board after gathering information on similar projects in use on other campuses in the West.

Shirley Tanner was named chairman of the program. She will present possible selections for heads of the various committees to the executive board at its next meeting.

The campus chest will conduct a drive once a year, usually in the fall. This will be the only drive held on the campus during the school year.

Requests Screened

Each of the organizations which ordinarily conducts fund drives on the campus will submit a request to the chest committee in charge of disbursements. All other appeals for money will have to be similarly screened by this committee before they will be put on the list which will receive a portion of the total sum collected.

After the drive has been conducted, the committee will appropriate the money among the several charitable groups whose requests have been approved.

Eliminate Small Drives

Ray Stommel, president of the Interfraternity council and member of the executive board, stated that the new system would eliminate the numerous drives which have been increased so greatly on the campus in the past few years. He continued saying that the organizations will also be aided in that they will receive a sum approximately equivalent to the amount received formerly without the necessity of conducting a fund raising campaign.

When passing the proposal, board members agreed that immediate action should be taken to get the drive plans completed if the campaign is to be put in operation for this school year.

Top Rate Skiing Instructor To Promote Sport At Idaho

Mrs. Janet Taylor, who has instructed skiing classes at Syracuse university for the past two years, is being employed by the University of Idaho to develop ski talent on the campus.

Mrs. Taylor was secured because of the desire of the university, especially among physical education department instructors, to present a more well-rounded athletic program to sports-minded men and women.

A general meeting for all students interested in learning or improving skiing techniques will be held in the women's gymnasium at 5 p.m., November 22. At this time Mrs. Taylor will explain what equipment is needed.

"Skiing classes," she said, "will be arranged in a regular schedule but in accord with the times most available to students." Mrs. Taylor will hold two weeks of indoor practices beginning December 13. During the first week she will explain the equipment needed, such as skis, binding, poles, wax, and clothing.

Five Teams Hold Practice Debates At Spokane Meet

Five debate teams left today for Spokane where they will compete against teams from five other schools in a practice debate tournament at Gonzaga university.

Question of debate will be "Resolved: That the federal government should adopt a policy of equalizing opportunity in tax supported schools by means of annual grants." All debates will be judged, but no winners will be declared. Dr. A. E. Whitehead, faculty advisor of Idaho's debate squads will accompany the group and will act as one of the judges.

Other schools entered in the tournament are Washington State college, Coeur d'Alene junior college, Whitman, Whitworth, and Gonzaga.

B. Hansen To Head Service Honorary

Bill Hansen was elected president of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, Wednesday. Other officers named were George Lea, vice president; Robert Strom; secretary; Al Kiler, treasurer; Burt Humphrey, historian; and Tom Shull, corresponding secretary.

Delegates attending the northwest regional Alpha Phi Omega convention jointly sponsored by Idaho and WSC last week were Al Kiler, Ray Miller, George Lea, Jim Grant, Tom Shull, and Bob Shelley. Fifty delegates representing Idaho, Oregon State, University of Oregon, Southern Oregon college, Washington State, University of Washington, and Eastern College of Education, Cheney, attended the conference.

Idaho To Meet 35 Schools In Debate At Seattle

Idaho's debate squad will compete against 35 other schools from the coast in a forensic tournament at the University of Washington, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, November 29, 30, and December 1.

Topic of debate will be "United States should abandon free economy in favor of a system of economic controls." All debates will be judged and winning teams will receive awards. Dr. A. E. Whitehead, advisor of Idaho's debate teams, will be one of the judges.

Student Congress

The squad will also participate in a student congress where "What shall we do about Communism?" will be discussed. Other special events they plan to enter are the extemporaneous and impromptu speaking contests. Topics for these contests are "Foreign policy of the United States" and "Education in the United States" respectively.

Montana Couldn't Muster Marksmen

The University of Montana ROTC rifle team forfeited their match with the university last week because they said, "We are unable to fire a match since everyone has gone deer hunting."

Five to Debate

Members of the team and the division in which they will debate include: senior division, Shirley Jacobsen and Tom Rigby; men's junior division, David Ulmer and James Paxton, and the one-man debate, Orval Hansen.

Montana Couldn't Muster Marksmen

The University of Montana ROTC rifle team forfeited their match with the university last week because they said, "We are unable to fire a match since everyone has gone deer hunting."

Winners To Get Awards In 8 Weight Divisions

With the sixteen bout semi-final matches in the Spur-IK boxing tournament over last night, the boxers move into their final battles for the campus championships tonight, in Memorial gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. Chairman Herb Carson, assisted by Bob Moulton, will award medals to the first and second place winners in each of the eight divisions immediately following the last fight.

Clyde Announces Sophomore Week Committee Heads

Mary Clyde, general chairman for Sophomore Holly Week, November 29 to December 2, has announced the committee heads for the week of festivities. The annual Christmas celebration will come early this year in order to feature Skinny Ennis and his band for the Holly Dance. December 2 is the date of the big semi-formal dance.

Other highlights for the week will include the annual serenade and the assembly. The serenades will be given Tuesday night November 30.

Religious Week To Bring LA Speaker To U Of I Campus

George L. Thomas has been selected to be a speaker for "Decision for Living Week," December 5 to 9.

Thomas is a member of the Southern California Congregational conference in Los Angeles, and president of the Advancement of the Colored People association. He received his LLD degree from Terrell college of law, Washington, D. C., and studied pre-law at Overlin college.

He will be on the campus the entire religious week.

Houses Request Speakers

Fourteen organized living groups have put in their requests for speakers this week, who will be available to living groups a week before and a week after this religious emphasis program.

All houses are urged to have as many speakers as possible. Information or requests may be sent to Dr. Oscar M. Adam, director of the Christian Institute.

Student Delegates To Boise P E Meet

Four student delegates will officially represent Idaho at the State Physical Education convention in Boise, December 3 and 4.

Harold Jaussi, chairman of the PE club, and Valeta Herschberger, vice-chairman, have been named as student representatives with two more delegates slated to be chosen this week.

Accompanying the group to Boise will be Miss Mabel Locke, head of women's PE department, and Leon Green, Frank Young, and Eric Kirkland, of the men's PE department.

Barbara Traeger, pianist, will play "Sonata in B Minor," first and second movements, by Chopin, followed by two Italian art songs, "Pur Decetti, O Bocca Bella," Lotti, and "O Del Mio Dolce Ardor," Gluck, sung by Joyce Walser, contralto, Joyce Fisher, accompanist.

Recital To Feature Madrigal Singers, Student Musicians

The first in a series of public recitals will be presented Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the auditorium by students of the music department, Hall M. Macklin, department head, announced today.

Highlighting the program are the Madrigal singers, under the direction of Miss Ruth Erickson, who will present a group of Old English and Italian songs. Included are "All Ye Who Music Love," Donato, "To Shorten Winter's Sadness," Weelkes, "Matona, Lovely Maiden," Lassus, and "My Bonnie Lass," German. Yvonne Whiting, Betty Tellin, and Mary Driscoll, sopranos, Joyce Walser, alto, Burke Sower, and Delmer Bodker, tenors, and Henry St. John and Roger Vincent, baritones, comprise the group.

Piano and Voice
Barbara Traeger, pianist, will play "Sonata in B Minor," first and second movements, by Chopin, followed by two Italian art songs, "Pur Decetti, O Bocca Bella," Lotti, and "O Del Mio Dolce Ardor," Gluck, sung by Joyce Walser, contralto, Joyce Fisher, accompanist.

"Romance in F sharp Major" by Schumann will be played by Dudley Carson, pianist, and Irene Brewster, violinist, accompanied by Mary Jasper, who will present the "Symphony Espagnol," Lalo. Other numbers include "Sonata in B flat Minor," Chopin, Helen Rice, pianist; "Schone Wiege Meiner Leiden," Schumann, and "Morgan," Strauss, Yvonne Whiting, soprano, Marjorie Jordan, accompanist. "Intermezzo" by Brahms, played by Mary Jasper, pianist, will close the individual solo group.

Challenge Flung By EE's To See Sparks Fly In Contest

By "Watts"
 Let it be known that it is the opinion of the honorable and intelligent Electrical Engineering Class of '50 that the class of '49 has its mind so cluttered up with the study of circuit analysis, communications, and methods of decreasing illumination in the arboretum, that they have forgotten the simple fundamentals of electricity.

We the class of '50 challenge you, the class of '49, to a contest of skill and mental ability. Namely, connecting a DC Shunt motor in such a manner as to bring a motor-generator set up to operating speed.

CONTEST RULES:

1. Two men shall represent each class.
2. Each team shall have five minutes before the contest to alter the other team's equipment. Nothing will be permitted which will damage the equipment.
3. The first team to bring their MG set up to speed will be declared the winning team.
4. Faculty members present will act as judges.

If the lowly members of the E.E. class of '49 have enough nerve to answer this challenge and attempt to apply some of the knowledge which they have been exposed to, but failed to absorb, then let them be present at the Electrical Engineering laboratory during intermission of the annual Electrical Engineers' Lab party to be held Friday, November 19, at 8 p.m.

Signed, E.E. Class of '50

Insurance Paid Annually Allows Greater Savings

World War II veterans may obtain even greater saving on their national service life insurance by paying premiums other than by the month, the Veterans Administration states.

G.I. insurance premiums paid by the quarter, semi-annually or annually are discounted up to three per cent annually, the VA explains. Premiums paid in one of these manners not only reduces the cost but also the chances of the veteran accidentally allowing his policy to lapse by missing a monthly payment.

See Local Office

Veterans can take advantage of this savings feature of G.I. insurance by writing or visiting any local VA office or the VA branch office insurance service, Exchange building, Seattle, requesting the type of payment desired.

The VA also is reminding some veterans of the need for renewing or converting G.I. term insurance prior to the expiration date of their original term periods.

G.I. term policies taken out prior to January 1, 1946, have eight years from the effective date before they must be renewed or converted to permanent policies. Those which became effective after January 1, 1946, must be renewed within five years.

Black Death?

Our day, like that of quite a number of Idaho students, begins and ends with a cup of coffee. In between the first and the last one, we consume from two to four more. We know quite a number of people who are able to get through school without consuming any coffee; but for most of the Idaho students, coffee is as necessary as a text book.

Coffee-drinking habits vary with time of day. The first one is usually gulped hurriedly before the first class. The remainder are more leisurely.

At the Nest, the coffee comes in the biggest cups; at the Perch, the cups have very nice cardboards in the bottom (cardboards are a geometric design caused by spherical aberrations) and at the Bucket, the coffee is free on Sunday, and occasionally comes in a cup with a limaçon (a more elegant type of spherical aberration).

Allowing the average student three cups per day, coffee consumption approaches 10,000 cups a day. That is about 400 gallons of brew.

Annual consumption probably reaches 100,000 gallons. It takes about 33,000 pounds of coffee beans to supply the campus for a year. The 100,000 gallons of water would weigh about 375 tons. And if all of that coffee were consumed in one day, it would take care of quite a hangover.

Idaho Takes Lead In Onion Standing

Idaho is slated to take over, nationally, in hybrid onion seed production. Formal agreement between the University of Idaho's agricultural experiment station and the U. S. department of agriculture will put the Parma branch station second only to Beltsville, Maryland, the main onion breeding center.

Dr. J. E. Kraus, head of the department of horticulture, will supervise the project. D. F. Franklin, superintendent of the Parma branch station will supervise the field work. Dr. Henry A. Jones, chief of the national program, will represent the U.S.D.A. and spend some time at the Parma station each growing season.

"When the new hybrid varieties come along, Idaho's onion seed production percentage should rival that for hybrid seed corn, of which Idaho now produces around 80 percent of the national supply," commented Dr. G. C. Holm, vice-director of the university's agricultural experiment station.

Cannons, Campus Landmarks Will Be Replaced

When the Spanish-American war officially ended, Idaho's returning veterans brought with them three war cannons as mementos of their historic skirmishes. University officials at that time placed these cannons in prominent positions on the Ad lawn north of the monument erected to commemorate University of Idaho students who gave their lives in the Spanish-American war.

Will Be Replaced

Recently, these deteriorating cannons were removed from the campus. To date, further plans for the preservation of these cannons have not been disclosed. Following pending repairs, however, the cannons will probably be replaced to their positions on the Idaho campus.

An interesting feature concerning one of Idaho's most cherished traditions is that H. E. Lattig, now dean of men, was once, while in his freshman year at the university, given the honor of firing these cannons. This occasion was offered when freshman and sophomore classes were required to spend a week of encampments. Because Dean Lattig had sprained his wrist and was unable to handle a rifle, he was granted permission to fire the cannon salutes.

Figures Indicate Idaho 'Way Ahead Of Huskie Squad

The University of Idaho football squad may not rate high on the Pacific Coast as a grid power; but the up and coming Vandals have given many of the teams somewhat of a scare as to the way they have played in all of their contests so far this season.

Tomorrow afternoon the Vandals will take on the University of Washington in Seattle. To date, the Idaho squad so far as statistics are concerned lead the Huskies in all departments.

Rushing Offense

The Vandals have shown up brilliantly in rushing offense. The two Rose Bowl contenders, California and Oregon, lead the Vandals by a margin of 65 and 14 yards respectively. Idaho backs have carried the ball a total of 377 times for 1757 yards in eight games for an average of 218.6 yards per contest.

In rushing defense the Vandals rank fifth with a 177.5 yard average against them. Total offense and defense show the Idaho squad holding seventh place in both categories.

As far as individual statistics are concerned, only three Vandals were mentioned. John Brogan ranks 15th in total offense with 457 yards in 135 plays; twelfth in passing with 21 completions out of 55 tries, and first in punting with an average of 42.1 yards per try on 16 punts.

Mays Ranks High

Bob Mays Idaho's brilliant half back placed 20th in total offense making 422 yards in 85 tries; twelfth in rushing with 355 yards in 55 carries for an average of 6.2 yards on each play. Mays also ranks high in punting along with Brogan with an average of 39.2 yards on 21 kicks.

Who said that Idaho doesn't have a placekicker. Will Overgaard the giant Vandal tackle has booted for extra points on 20 different occasions and has split the uprights 13 times. It wasn't until the Montana contest of October 23 that

Fijis Leading Men In Debate Tourney

Phi Gamma Delta is leading the four remaining houses in the men's intramural debate tournament. Following are Sigma Nu, Willis Sweet, and Lindley hall, each with one defeat. Two losses are needed to eliminate a team.

Monday evening Delta Tau Delta won over Beta Theta Pi, eliminating them from the tournament; Phi Gamma Delta defeated Willis Sweet, and Lindley lost to Sigma Nu.

The Fijis eliminated Delta Tau Delta Tuesday, and Willis Sweet was victorious over Sigma Nu. Last night Lindley met Willis Sweet and Sigma Nu met Phi Gamma Delta. The tournament will be completed sometime next week.

Judges are Professor A. E. Whitehead, Dr. Hausse, Norman Springer, Warren Freyer, and C. Morton Coe.

Infirmary

Ten students were admitted to the infirmary this week. They include: Lois Hodgins, Jean Watson, Noama Grant, Phyllis Schultz, Martin Macedo, Phillip Battaglia, Jerry Hansen, Pat Watson, Peggy Wade and Lloyd Spicer.

John Bloodworth and Robert Young were discharged.

Will converted. He made three of six in Idaho's lop-sided win over the Grizzlies 39-0. Since that time Overgaard has kicked 10 without a miscue.

What do you suppose the answers were?"

"Sorry, No Comment"

"Don't know," Jason stammered. "What were the answers?"

Oswald perched on top of the typewriter and leered down. "Every answer was, 'I have no comment to make,' or so indefinite that no answer at all would have been better. How do you expect to bring this thing out in the air if you don't do something about it?"

"Well, what would you suggest, wise guy?"

Something Could Be Done

"Anything is better than doing nothing. Personally I don't think that bunch up on the hill want the student to have any say in whether they are getting a decent education or not. They don't stop to realize that university students are grown up and have a right to say what they are spending their money for. Maybe the subject should be brought up to the executive board. They originated the plan. Or maybe it should be taken up with the faculty welfare committee. They put in a good many hours work on it too. But then you're so far in the mud, you'll never do anything. Jason. How dumb can you get?"

Ornithologists Call Burleigh As Fellow

Thomas D. Burleigh, of the university co-operative wildlife unit, was recently elected a Fellow of the American ornithologists union.

Membership is divided into three classes: associate membership open to anyone interested in sciences, active membership limited to one hundred members, and the Fellows, who choose the active members.

A vacancy occurring from the death of a fellow is filled by an active who is elected annually by the remaining Fellows. A Fellowship is the highest recognition of attainment conferred by American ornithologists on their colleagues.

World Federalists' Delegate Returns

H. R. Crawford Jr., student representative to the World Federalists' convention returned this week from Minneapolis, Minnesota, where he attended the national convention held November 10 to 16. The student world federalists on the campus will meet Monday evening at 7:30 in the upstairs lounge of the Blue Bucket.

GREEN—BY GORRA!
Freshman girls of Oregon State college are required to wear green ribbons on Wednesday to designate their greenness to campus affairs. This tradition originated when all of the little Beavers were in their Gay Nineties and since then the Talons, a sophomore women's service honorary, has taken over the duty of seeing to it that the green-horn girls carry out this custom.

lounge and checkroom will also be included on the first floor, as well as the office of the General Manager.

A small theater, a ballroom, dining rooms and service kitchen will be the major features of the second floor. The third floor will have meeting rooms, additional dining and banquet space, and will be the home of the various ASUI offices.

The new construction will increase the space of the present building by three times. It is designed to provide approximately 17 square feet of space for each student in the university. This the amount recommended by leading designers of similar student plants.

Idaho Language Department Offers Solid Major Courses

Language major courses in French, Spanish, German, and Latin are now offered in the university language department with elementary Russian included. Intermediate Russian will probably be added to the curriculum next semester.

Languages, along with English, drama, speech and journalism, have constituted a major subject matter field within the department of English and allied subjects since 1946 when modern and classical language majors were merged into their present category.

Reading is the primary objective of freshman and sophomore class instructors in general development of language skills. Intelligent reading of a language requires thorough understanding of that language and its pronunciation. Simultaneous use of eye, ear and vocal organs swiftly develops these skills. Gestures and proper use of muscles in writing all facilitate language learning and understanding.

Courses in written and spoken language usage and literature background permit advanced students to gain first hand knowledge of the thought, ideals, and literary doctrines of major writers and scholars of various languages.

Faculty Has Traveled Extensively
Six of the eight language faculty members have studied or traveled abroad. Included among the instructors is Chairman Beatrice B.A. and M.A., University of British Columbia. Professor Beatrice has also studied at the University of Paris, Harvard, and Middlebury college.

Associate Professor Arthur S. Howe, A.B. William and Mary, and M.A., University of Idaho, is a Phi Beta Kappa and has lived and taught in the Caribbean, Puerto Rico, and Virgin Islands.

Idaho Graduate
Assistant Professor Claude W. Ashby, B.A. and M.A., University of Idaho, did his graduate work at Yale and has traveled extensively in Europe. He teaches Spanish and German.

Assistant Professor Mabel Renfrow received her B.A. and Phi Beta Kappa rating at the University of Idaho and her M.A. at Radcliffe. She has traveled in France and Italy and is teaching Spanish and German.

French Instructor, Paul Lombardo, who received his B.A. and M.A. at Boston University, served in Europe with World War II intelligence.

Brooklyn, Also
Miss Ellen Silverman, recipient of B.A. and M.A. from Brooklyn college and Boston university, instructs German classes. Spanish instructor, A. Kathryn Beasley, received her M.A. and Phi Beta Kappa rating from the University of Idaho.

August R. Vavrus, B.A. and M.A., University of Chicago, was

"Family Portrait" Opening Changed

Opening night for "Family Portrait," ASUI Christmas drama production, has been changed to December 3 because of a date conflict with the Holly Dance scheduled for December 2.

Running December 3 and 4 in the university auditorium, "Family Portrait" deals with the family of Christ during His gospel preaching years and just after His crucifixion.

Directed by Miss Jean Collette, drama department head, the "Family Portrait" production just precedes campus observation of Religious Emphasis Week, December 5-9. Edward Cebull has been named technical director.

WELTZIN TO GO OVER PLANS
Dean Weltzin, who is to act as consultant in respect to future building plans for the Kellogg school district, will go over plans and judge the rating of existing school buildings in the area at a meeting in Kellogg Thursday, Friday and Saturday with the Kellogg board of education.

Lady Hell Divers Plan Demonstration

Ann Dingle, Mary Ellen Stetman, Albert Pappenhagen, and John Harris were appointed, as committee members to prepare a demonstration of water safety and life-saving at a meeting of Hell Divers Monday.

This demonstration will be presented at the physical education majors' splash party on November 23.

A game period for all Hell Divers will be held at the pool next Monday night.

Vandals Meet Washington For Last Game Of Season

Idaho Is Underdog In Seattle Contest

The University of Idaho football squad 37-strong left last night for their final contest of the season, a battle with the favored University of Washington Huskies in Seattle tomorrow afternoon. The Washington squad will have but one contest remaining on their schedule after playing the Vandals; that being with the "Irish" of Notre Dame the following weekend in South Bend, Ind.

Comparison of scores give the Huskies a slight edge over the Idaho team. They held the Oregon State to a 14-14 deadlock; while the Vandals were toppled by the same team 27-12 in the opening game of the season for both schools. Washington's only victory thus far was convincing as they completely walked over UCLA 27-6. Idaho, on the other hand, fell before the Bruins at Los Angeles, 28-12.

Idaho In Top Shape
Dixie Howell's squad, with but one victory in conference play, that being Montana 39-0, will be in top shape for this encounter. Carl Killsgaard, Idaho's giant tackle, who saw little action against Portland last week, is expected to be ready to go, as is Bud Riley, the Vandals' speedy right half. Both were on the injured list prior to this time.

Free of injuries during most of the season, the Huskies will go into Saturday's contest without the services of starting center, Bill McGovern, and Charlie Judd, who has been an understudy of Alf Hemstad, Washington's all-coast guard. It has been reported that Mike Michael will get the call at center replacing McGovern.

The Idaho attack will be built around Johnny Brogan and Bob Mays, who alternate at the left half spot. Jerry Diehl, who had a field day against Portland last Saturday, will start the contest at right half.

25th Meeting.
Tomorrow's tussle will mark the 25th between the two schools. Of the 24 games played so far the Huskies have won 20, the Vandals twice, and two resulted in ties. Idaho scored their last victory in 1905, that being by an 8-0 score.

Travelling Squad

Probable Starting Line-ups
Idaho LE Ballew, LT Overgaard, LG McCormack, C Ambrose, RG Ruleman, RT Killsgaard, RE McPaul, QB T. Diehl, LH Mays, RT J. Diehl, F Block.
Washington OL Olson, Prechek, Levenhagen, Michael, Hemstad, Bayer, Stein, Scanlan, Dallas, Biddle, Kirkby.

Average line weight Idaho, 195; Washington, 200.
Average backfield weight, Idaho, 180; Washington, 167.
Average team weight: Idaho, 189; Washington, 188.

ATHLETICS PLANNED
Badminton, table tennis, volleyball and shuffleboard are included in the student wives recreational program to be held tonight in the women's gym from 7:30 to 9. Student wives may bring their husbands to take part in the activities.

Time Out

By ALLEN DERR

Thirty-two post season bowl games will be played this year from Thanksgiving day to New Years day but the three top teams in the nation, Michigan, Notre Dame, and Army, won't play in any of them. Under no circumstances will any of these three grid powers play any post season games, according to officials.

The only other major teams to hold unbeaten, untied records this season—California and Clemson—are expected to play in the Rose and Cotton bowls, respectively. California's opponent will probably be Northwestern and Clemson is to play SMU.

A perfect score last week, except for the Oregon State-Utah tie which can't be counted, brought the predicted average up to 82% in the "correct choice" column as the 1948 football season enters its final stages. Oregon's and California's perfect conference records and the Pacific Coast's pride against outside competition are the only things at stake in the coming weekend's games which (we hope) will turn out as follows:

Oregon vs. OSC
Another miniature civil war is in the offing here and though OSC's season record isn't as impressive as Oregon's, she will put up a whale of a battle. Without Van Brocklin we might pick OSC, but with Van Brocklin it's Oregon 7.

Michigan State vs. WSC
The "poor Cougars" and their fans are destined to a dismal finish to this year's football season with Michigan State and Penn State still on the agenda. WSC has completed her entries in the win column for the year and Michigan State draws the favored role—20 points.

California vs. Stanford
Although Stanford has improved, nothing short of a miracle could keep the Bears from "scalping" the Indians by an easy four touchdown margin.

USC And UCLA
UCLA seems to have adopted a "devil may care" attitude since their early season loss to the University of Washington. Southern Cal. 12.

N. Dakota vs. Montana
All we can say here is—North Dakota.

Idaho vs. Washington U.
The "battle of the Cellar" as this game has been termed features two teams with nothing at stake but the immediate win or loss. Both are at the bottom of the conference standings, (numbers 8 and 9) with their positions insured to stay as they are. Many favor Washington on the basis of a distortion of statistics but we feel safe in picking Idaho by 6 points, in a rough game.

Boxers Meet Today
Varsity boxers will meet in the boxing room at the Gym annex today at 4:00 p.m.

Four Gridders Play Last Game Tomorrow

Sports fans will bid a fond farewell to four Vandal players who will probably be playing their last collegiate football game when Idaho meets the Huskies from the University of Washington tomorrow in Seattle. These four are, left to right, Elmer Buoy, guard; Bill Beltz, end; John Christenson, halfback; and Ralph Paasch, center. Buoy and Beltz are completing their third year on the Vandal roster, while Christenson is finishing his second, after laying out all last year with a leg injury. Paasch, Idaho's only three-year letterman on the squad this year, will use up the last of his college eligibility in tomorrow's game, after having been an Idaho mainstay since 1945.

Vandal Intra-Mural Volley Ballers Portraits To Resume Play Monday

Idaho football fans have nothing but praise for the Vandals' first string right halfback, Bud Riley. Although this native of Guin, Alabama born November 30, 1925 weight only 158 pounds, he more than overcomes this handicap with his speed and shiftiness afield.

Bud's high school career at Guin was interrupted during his junior and senior years by a 31 month stretch in the Navy; but Riley returned to graduate in 1947 with an enviable total four letters in football, three in basketball, and one in baseball, and one in track. Last year Bud attended East Mississippi junior college and his ability to play football won him a commendable praise throughout the state.

Riley's trick running has consistently been a thorn in the sides of Idaho's opponents all season. His wide end sweeps have accounted for 12 of the Vandals' total points, this year; and his 13 yards per running play against Utah was the outstanding performance of the game.

Bud is majoring in physical education at the University and plans to enter the coaching field after graduation.

Badminton Will Pit Guys Against Gals

The novice badminton tournament ends this weekend which will enable the intramural volleyball tournament to continue its fast and furious pace. The second week of play resumes Monday evening at 7:30 in Memorial gymnasium.

Wednesday's play was interrupted by the novice leather pushers but is scheduled to be re-played Saturday afternoon, December 11, at 1:30.

In Tuesday evening contests, Chrisman hall dropped Lindley hall 2 to 0. Campus Club No. 2 won from Pine No. 4, 2-0; Idaho club No. 1 lost to Willis Sweet No. 2 by a 2-0 count, and Lindley hall No. 1 edged out Chrisman hall No. 1, two games to one.

In other matches, Pine No. 3 beat the Campus Club No. 1, 2-0; Trailer Village won a forfeit from Campus Cafe; Sigma Nu outlasted Delta Chi 2 to 1, and Phi Gamma Delta outpunched the Betas by a 2-0 score.

Schedule
Next week's schedule is as follows:

Monday
Monday, November 22 at 7:30: IC No. 2 vs. LH No. 2, CC No. 2 vs. CH No. 2, SN vs. TV and DC vs. BTP. At 8:15, CCAfe vs. SAE, PGD vs. PDT, ATO vs. SC, and PKT vs. LDS.

Tuesday
The games Tuesday, November 23 at 7:30, feature KS vs. DTD, Pine No. 1 vs. Pine No. 3, WSH No. 1 vs. LH No. 1, and IC No. 1 vs. CC No. 1; at 8:15 it's Pine No. 2 vs. Pine No. 4, WSH No. 2 vs. LH No. 2, IC No. 2 vs. CC No. 2, and SN vs. BTP.

Wednesday
Wednesday, November 24, at 7:30 TV meets SAE, DC takes on PDT, C Cafe battles PGD, and ATO takes the court against LDS. At 8:15 it's SC vs. TKE, PKT vs. DTD, Pine No. 1 vs. LH No. 1 and Pine No. 3 vs. CH No. 1.

"Did you get a hair cut?"
"No. I washed it and it shrank."

Co-operational Badminton Will Be Played Every Wednesday

Co-operational badminton will be played every Wednesday, from 1 to 2, and at 4 p. m. and every Saturday from 10 to 11 a. m., she said. Students are asked to bring their own birds, but rackets will be furnished and nets set up.

A women's singles tournament will begin Dec. 1. Miss Walton asked that all students interested in this play-off sign the tournament sheet in the women's gym by November 23. A doubles tournament is also being planned.

Idaho Swordsmen Diligently Train For Future Fights

For the first time since 1942 the University of Idaho will have a fencing team ready to take part in competition with other teams in the Northwest. Signs of revival of the sport have been backed by enthusiasm from all over the campus.

R. A. Watson, fencing instructor, has a class of seventeen men turning out preparing for collegiate competition. Fundamentals are being stressed in the workouts at the present time. The fencing schedule starts next spring and Watson says his team will be ready for collegiate competition.

One of the top flight teams which Idaho will meet is Gonzaga.

Last year at the Northwest international fencing tournament held in Vancouver, B. C., Gonzaga's Herbert Denny won the junior division title and Mario Saccamanno was runner up in the junior division. Dan Drumheller, another Gonzaga ended up in the semi-finals of the senior division.

Challengers

Idaho's swordsmen will be in the challenging position this year but an air of optimism exists, attributed in main to Dennis Brian and Walt Ward, Vandal swordsmen. Ward and Brian entered competition in the Northwest collegiate fencing tournament at Pullman last year. Brian battled Herb Denny, Gonzaga's star fencer, and lost a very close decision in one of the best matches of the tournament. Walt Ward lost a close decision to Mario Saccamanno, another Gonzaga standout.
