Kappa Sluggers Win Title In Spur-IK Ring Tourney

Alpha Shi Theme, Kappa Sig Boxers Top Participation

Thanksgiving is almost here and there will be no Arg Friday. Jason and the staff breath a sigh of thanks for the short vacation which they will receive from the usual grind.

Speaking of Thanksgiving and vacations, orchids should go to the student body for the small amount of griping about not having a longer vacation that has been heard this year. In years past it has been a major issue with both students and administration.

Major Froebien With the large variation in student desires about when school should start in the fall, when they wish to get out in the spring, when this group wants a vacation to start, etc. etc. etc., the administration has had a rough time figuring out a schedule that would complete the year.

With Christmas holidays coming so soon after Thanksgiving, this week's holiday was not designed for students to undertake a trip home but more as a break from classwork to celebrate that day. Of course, the administration, as well as everyone, realizes that those who live close enough to get home will go. For that reason, among others, the ten percent cut for skipping classes before vacations has been done away with. Individual professors will still maintain the right to count a person absent should class be held before or after vacation and the student not be there.

To those who are going home over the weekend, Jason wishes to extend this bit of advice. Drive carefully. The roads are bound to be icy in parts of the country. Carry chains. There may be a time when chains are the only way you could get that car out of the ditch, should you slide into the ditch.

Perfect Example Back to campus activities. Next week is the perfect example of what Jason was trying to describe in the Golden Fleece a few issues back. During the week, sophomore serenades will be held, assemblies, the Holly dance Thursday night, then top the whole thing off with the ASUI play, "Family Portrait" on Friday and Saturday nights and you'll have to show Jason where there is time for anything but activities in that week.

It seems to Jason that something could be worked out whereby the two or three months of activities which jam the fall could be distributed through those dull months in February and March (Cont. on Page 2, Col. 3)

Programs, Talks Announced For Religious Week

Programs for Design for Living Week, campus religious observance program December 5-9, will be distributed to living groups December 1. The program will contain background information concerning religious emphasis in college life, a list of seminars and special panel discussions which will be offered for student participation that week, and a schedule of meetings and special Sunday programs slated to coordinate the program.

McAllister Is Speaker Dr. Charles E. McAllister, dean of the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist, Spokane, will conduct two student seminars on Monday and two faculty seminars on Tuesday of religious emphasis week.

Dean McAllister has an outstanding record of appearances in more than twenty colleges and universities throughout the country. He has recently published a survey on religion in higher education which is included in his book, "Inside the Campus, Mr. Citizen Looks at His Universities."

Other Speakers Listed Other speakers who will be featured during Idaho religious emphasis week include William Kerr, formerly on the Christian Science committee on publications, Boise, Idaho; and Walter Snackenborg, former dean of men at Pacific Lutheran college, Parkland, California. Snackenborg received his B.A. from St. Olaf's college and his master degree from Gonzaga.

Professors who wish to contact speakers for their classroom participation during Design For Living Week should call Dr. Oscar Adam at 26341.

No Arg Friday

The Argonaut will not be published Friday, November 26, due to the Thanksgiving holiday. Offices and organizations are asked to hold news until the regular issue next Tuesday.

Navy Publication Gives Boost To Idaho's Swabbies

The University of Idaho NROTC unit published the first edition of the "Vandal Middle," a unit newspaper publication November 10. Purpose of the Navy newspaper is mainly for naval personnel on the Idaho campus and for distribution to the other naval units throughout the United States.

Editor of the "Vandal Middle" is Theo Nowak, a sophomore in the Naval unit from Los Angeles, California. Richard Bellamy is assistant editor.

The paper covers all the activities of the unit, the position of Idaho's rifle team nationally, interviews with various members of the Naval staff and other items which are of interest to the unit as a whole. It is to be published twice monthly and is distributed free of charge. The masthead of the paper bears an Idaho Vandal wearing a midshipman hat, with the title describing a "V" beneath him.

The paper is edited and published entirely by the students of NROTC unit under the supervision of Lt. Comdr. Good.

Students Design Costuming For "Family Portrait"

Costumes for the coming play, "Family Portrait," to be given December 3 and 4 are in the process of being designed and made by students, according to a report from Margaret Harris and Sylvia Auger, who head the costume committee.

Nearly one-half of the costumes worn in this show will be ones which were used in the production of the play given at the university in 1940.

OSC PLACES SIGNS Oregon State College is circulating a petition with the idea in mind of getting suitable signals placed at all railroad crossings within the city limits.

Eight Debaters Meet Five Teams At Gonzaga Bout

Three university debate teams met groups from five nearby colleges in a practice debate session at Gonzaga university in Spokane. Each team debated three times during the afternoon, discussing both sides of the national question, "Resolved: That the federal government should adopt a policy of equalizing opportunity in tax supported schools by means of annual grants."

Two Judge Debates Dr. A. E. Whitehead, faculty advisor of Idaho's debate squads, and Charles Glib accompanied the teams participating in the tournament as judges. All debates were judged, but no winners were declared.

Students representing Idaho were James Aston, Jo Anna DeMeyer, Dick Patrick, Tom Rigby, Jane Schalkau, Meredith Glenn, Dan Pristby, and John Franks.

How About ASUI For KUOI

KUOI has, in its three years of broadcasting, become a valuable asset to most Idaho students. Its excellent coverage of the Spur-1K boxing tournaments made it possible for us to follow our favorite fighter without losing a lot of valuable time watching the other fights.

That coverage alone was worth whatever it might cost us for KUOI. But, KUOI costs us nothing because KUOI is not a member of ASUI. It has survived three years by playing records for dances and renting its PA system.

A USI membership for KUOI would allow KUOI the progress it deserves. ASUI backing would allow KUOI to accept advertising (several down-town merchants have inquired about the possibilities) and thus have more operating funds.

This could start quite a cycle of events. KUOI could immediately improve the range and quality of its output. KUOI staff members could do some serious thinking and some valuable pioneering in FM broadcasting (there are about 500 FM sets in Moscow). And KUOI could have a better broadcasting studio.

The result: Better radio service for the Idaho campus, better radio training for KUOI staff members, and very little expense to the associated students. —H. R.

"Miss Lush" Contest Rules

The Argonaut "Miss Lush" contest still has a few persons on the campus baffled. To straighten out the difficulties, "Miss Lush" is a real live campus coed. Her identity is known to only three persons, including herself. Clues to her identity, becoming more and more definite each issue are scattered through the local advertising of the Arg. Three clues appear in each issue of the paper. Here are the rules. Get in the swing. Send in your entry today. The contest is open to all campus males.

1. One entry per week per person will be accepted.
2. All clues must be submitted with the entry—either clipped from Arg or typed.
3. Reasonable explanation of correlation between clues and personality must be presented.
4. No hit and miss guessing will be accepted. All entries must present proof positive.
5. All clues will be self-containing. There will be no hidden meaning and the ad in which a clue appears will have no bearing on the solution.
6. There will be three clues present in each issue of the Arg until further notice. Each clue will be in a local advertisement.
7. In case of ties, the decision of the judges will be final.
8. All members of the Argonaut staff (editorial, circulation, and business) will not be eligible to enter the contest.
9. All entries must be in before noon, Jan. 19, 1949.
10. Entries should be mailed to "Miss Lush" Contest, Idaho Argonaut, U. of I., or dropped in the Arg mail box at the General Manager's office.

Managers of the contest had planned to publish a full list of prizes in this issue of the Arg but since the list is incomplete it has been postponed. However, over $60 in prizes will be divided between "Miss Lush" and the lucky winner at the contest's end. Persons who want clues from back issues of the paper may check the files at the Arg office at any time. Read the ads! Watch for clues to the identity of the lovely "Miss Lush."

Horning Awarded PDT Scholarship

The Foster Scholarship, set aside by Carol Howe Foster for the U. of I. Phi Delta Theta senior with high scholastic average for his sophomore and junior year, was awarded to Charles B. Horning of Wallace, this year.

Foster entered the university in 1903 and after two years transferred to Oxford university, where he graduated. The Phi Delta benefactor is with the United States consul service in South Africa, where he set up the scholarship. The yearly $125, to be used for University of Idaho fees, is income from stocks in Holland. The university had trouble during the war obtaining clearance to take the money from Holland.

Guest Editorial This Language Of Ours

One of the reasons for so many of the quarrels and petty bickerings we find about us are the misunderstandings caused by our ambiguous language.

I was riding up from town on the bus the other day and two school children were discussing their fast disappearing gum drops.

"What you got left?"

"Two blacks and a white."

I heard it vaguely and dismissed it from my mind until about five minutes later a woman across the aisle inquired of her husband, as he read the evening paper:

"Who were the defendants in the Detroit trial, Jim?"

"Two blacks and a white."

I smiled at the repeated phrase. When I got off the bus I stopped for a cup of coffee. As I approached a booth, I heard someone call up to the man behind the counter:

"Two blacks and a white."

Dictionaries define words, but they are inadequate in interpreting context.

"Two blacks and a white" may mean anything. Is it any wonder that arguments arise so frequently within families and close friendships? Or that misunderstood phrases form the basis of much of the political "mud slinging." Is it any wonder that in a world of so many tongues, it seems so difficult to draw up a plan of lasting peace?

Perhaps the trouble lies in a close friend, a presidential aspirant and a leading nation of the world not knowing if the other person or nation is speaking of candy, a race of people or a cup of coffee.

so that things would not be coming all at once. If the class weeks and other all-campus activities were figured out in the Spring for the following year it might help. At some schools a certain week each year is held for the class celebration. With the same week each year, there are seldom any conflicts. Perhaps it is a case of live and learn—or try to keep up and flunk.

Speaking of activities, The Argonaut "Miss Lush" contest is one that you can take or leave alone. In last week's issue a mistake was made in setting the advertisements. Only two clues were presented in the issue with the one repeated twice. In the future, three clues will be placed in each issue. Watch for them. There are many prizes to be won by some lucky male.

Huskies Dump Idaho 34-7 In Vandal's Last Contest

Brilliant Passing Spells Win For UW

Time Out

By ALLEN DERR

Another "jinx" by another Washington team, this one dating from 1906, prevailed in Seattle Saturday as the University of Washington Huskies rolled over the Idaho eleven 34-7. It was the first time this season that the Vandals from the Gem state had been beaten by more than two touchdowns, but they gained a moral victory by scoring, leaving their 1948 record free from shut-outs.

Approximately 17,000 sports fans turned out for the game and hovered, shivering, in their blankets as the clouded skies threatened rains. The field itself, green at the beginning of the game gradually turned to black mud and the main areas of action were clearly discernible.

Passing Spells Vandal Defeat
Forward passing told the story for the Huskies. All five of their tallies resulted from successful aerial plays.

The start of the game was heartening for the Vandal fans as Riley recovered a Washington fumble on the Husky 49. The Vandal eleven drove to the Husky 2 only to lose the ball on downs as the Washington line held like a brick wall.

Idaho Scores In Third
Idaho's lone counter came in the third period when they drove 72 yards in eight plays to reach the coveted pay dirt. Brogan initiated the drive from the Idaho 28 with a 13 yard heave to Ted Diehl. He fired to LeDuc for seven yards more and then to Bill Beitz for ten and another first down. Brogan again passed to Beitz who was pulled down on the Washington 13. The Vandals then changed their strategy and took to the ground and with Chadband, Riley, and Block carrying, drove to the Washington one-foot line in three plays.

Brogan went through tackle on the next play for the touchdown and Overgaard kicked his eleventh consecutive point after touchdown.

Huskies Tally
Washington's first touchdown came on a pass from King to Hungar from the Idaho 24 yard marker. Early in the second quarter, a pass from McCullough on the Vandal 35 to Dallas, who raced over from the 12, where he caught the pigskin, set up the number two tally moments later in the second period. Near the end of the second quarter the Huskies' 160-pound fullback, Roland Kirkby, fired the ball to Dallas who took the heave and scored his second and last T.D. of the game. Two of Rosenzweig's three kicks for conversion were good and the half time score favored Washington 20-0.

The Vandal gridmen wrote a finis to the 1948 football season in Seattle Saturday and their uniforms now go into mothballs to await spring practice. During the season we attempted to give you a little inside information on each of the players in our Vandal Portraits column, picking the team at random. Space and time however prevented us from including every player and with basketball season coming on we must divert from football to hoop stars. Perhaps some of the players missed were the best but they will all be here next year and it is certain, regardless of their omission from the Vandal Portraits column, the fans didn't overlook their performance this season and have great hopes for next year.

One Was Enough
One play beat the Vandals at Seattle Saturday, and Howell is admitting it. The Idaho team has been poor at pass defense all year and Washington's strategy of sending an end straight down and a halfback wide, then shooting a second halfback into the middle where the offensive halfback had been drawn out of position worked like a charm and brought four of the Huskie's five touchdowns. The only way Idaho can possibly regain some of the prestige they lost against Washington lies in the Huskie's showing against Notre Dame next week end.

My Achin' Heart
The Stanford-California game must have been quite an affair. Two people are reported to have died from heart attacks and 20 others were taken to the hospital after suffering minor heart attacks, a direct result of the excitement of the "big game" at Berkeley Saturday.

Rosenzweig made both tries for point after touchdown in the second half to make it 4 out of 5 for the game.

May Start In Whitman Game Friday

Idaho's hoop squad is hoping for a more successful season this year than last, with seven returning lettermen on the roster. Four players up from the ranks of the 1947 frosh squad, coupled with five Junior college transfers, make up a strong reserve for Coach Chuck Finley to work with. In the huddle above is the probable starting line-up for the season's opener here on Friday and Saturday nights of this week. Reading clockwise from the lower left hand corner, they are: Dex Linck, forward; Dick Gelsler, center; Jack Rainey, forward; Joe Grove, guard; and Preston Brimhall, guard.

Idaho Fans Sing
Over three hundred Idaho fans, alumni, and students, who attended the game, stood up and sang "Here We Have Idaho" at the end of the contest under the direction of an anonymous song leader. Then, all proceeded to the previously reserved Forty and Eight club for a supper and an evening's entertainment, including dancing.

Season's Basketball Opener Features Idaho vs. Whitman

The curtain rises on the 1948-49 basketball season when the Idaho Vandal five meets Whitman college Missionaries in a double header Friday and Saturday night at Memorial gymnasium.

Idaho ended up at the bottom of the conference last year but a host of returning lettermen and experienced transfers makes them a stronger team than last year.

Whitman comes to Idaho as a darkhorse.

Three Injuries
The Vandals have three players out of the lineup; because of injuries it is doubtful whether any of them will see action this week-end. Wendell Christianson is out with a shoulder injury. Dick Reed has a sprained ankle and Preston Brimhall is out with a cut wrist. Dex Linck, Vandal forward has been switched to a guard position this last week and looks very good in practice. New men on the team expecting to see lots of action are Pritchard and Irons.

The varsity squad will scrimmage the freshmen team tonight and tomorrow night to gain experience before the encounter with the Missionaries. Coach Finley is
