Five Dollars Or Many Lives?

Mayor R. K. Bonnett has sent a letter to officials of the two railroads that operate lines through Moscow, stating that unless some fast action is forthcoming, on the part of railroads, the city council is liable to take matters into their own hands.

In his letter to the two railroads, Mayor Bonnett stated, "Referring to your commitment regarding flasher signals at Sixth street and South Main street, at your railroad crossings in the city of Moscow, we understand that a meeting was held here December 6, 1948, including representatives of the Northern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads, the bureau of public roads and state highway officials, to discuss this problem.

"The meeting was held without advice to the city, although we feel that we have a definite interest in the matter. We hope the meeting developed some concrete results as far as the South Main street crossing is concerned. "Students at the University of Idaho have watched with interest the efforts of the city to secure adequate protection at these crossings, and various organizations, such as the PTA, have held conferences with us, urging action.

"The council feels that we have been stalled long enough in this matter, and it may be necessary for us to take action in the near future to protect our citizens from this hazard. Two suggestions have been made to the council, which might be enacted into an ordinance. First, we might require 24-hour watchman service at all crossings in the city, and, second, may be necessary to further reduce the speed of trains through the city to ten miles per hour maximum.

"I can assure you that we are serious in our approach to this problem, and we await some concrete information which we may pass on to our citizens, so that it will not be necessary for us to take further steps to remedy this very unsatisfactory situation."

A student committee has recently been appointed by ASUI President Dave Weeks to look into the situation and to take some kind of action to help correct the situation.

It seems that the two railroads concerned, along with the State highway department and the U. S. Public Roads commission, as large and as powerful organizations as they are, should be stalled by such a small project. As far as the financial aspect is concerned, this would be a mere drop in the bucket compared to lives lost each year. As far as the safety factor is involved, there would be a large number of lives saved every year. By quick action, the railroads can gain a good deal of good will in their favor. By stalling again their loss will be found in every area where an identical problem exists. —B. H.

Bustiest But Best

The pre-vacation week at Idaho is always one of the very busiest, but as far as we are concerned, one of the very best.

There are enough quizzes scheduled during the week to keep everyone busy . . . so many quizzes, in fact, that it has been dubbed by many "pre-Christmas final week."

There is plenty of snow and plenty of hills to slide on. There are a good number of fireplaces to gather around. There are plenty of parties, formal and informal, and nearly everyone will have at least one turkey dinner before leaving for home.

There are a number of Christmas programs—the Vandaleer concert has always been the highpoint of our Christmas season.

In short, the Idaho students have caught the Christmas spirit. They haven't enough leisure to let Christmas become boring. In spite of the quizzes, it's going to be a pretty nice week. —H. R.

PHI CHI THETA HEAD VISITS

Miss Gail Campbell, National Inspecting Officer of Phi Chi Theta, business honorary, visited the campus Wednesday. She met with members of the Idaho Chapter at the banquet, where a business meeting was held following lunch. Also present was Miss DeLancy, newly chosen sponsor for the group.

Abraham Lincoln was elected president in 1860 with no more than 42 per cent of the popular vote.

Politeness And Shrewdness Listed Among Dating Habits

Hints on dating habits and making introductions were listed in a recent "Daily Lass-o" edition by a feature writer of Phi Upsilon Omicron, national women's professional home Ec honorary.

According to the article, the first time a lady and gentleman meet after an introduction, it is up to her to make the first recognition. Introductions are everyday affairs in most of our lives and the etiquette fundamentals of them should be thoroughly understood.

Present Men To Women

With the exception of high ranking clergy or nobility, men are always presented to women, regardless of age, social position, or degree of distinction. Handshakes are exchanged only if the lady offers her hand.

Under dating do's and don'ts, the importance of never letting a man know you are chasing him, even if you are, is stressed first. Men should be subtly aware that each is not the only man in your life right up to the moment he slips that ring on your finger.

Don't Discuss Other Dates Successful "dates" never talk about the latest in shopping hazards, family details, or other dates. They are never rude enough to be tardy for the date or force their escorts to follow their entertainment suggestions.

Politeness and good sportsmanship in dating habits are also mentioned. Girls and fellows are warned never to be critical of their dates or make them the target of sarcasm.

Add Portraits To Memorial Project

Following death or retirement, a portrait of each faculty member who has been on the staff ten or more years is to be added to the University of Idaho's faculty memorial group, announced President J. E. Buchanan.

Fourteen such pictures now hang on the walls of the buildings in which the individuals served. The faculty memorial project was originated by the university alumni association when it presented the university with portraits of late Gen. E. R. Chrisman, for 45 years head of the military department, and Miss Permeal French, dean of women from 1908 to 1936.

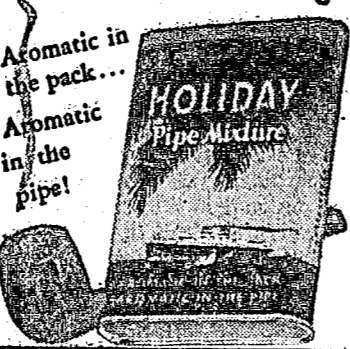

"We want to keep alive the memory of the faculty members who, through long years of service, have contributed so much to the development of the university," the president explained.

The total 1948 presidential vote fell short of the 1940 high by about 2,000,000 votes.

FCC Corresponds On KWSC Deal

President J. E. Buchanan, University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho. Dear Sir:

We have a report that students of the University of Idaho entered the premises of station KWSC, Pullman, Washington, on October 29, 1948, overpowered the operator and other personnel and made transmissions over the facilities of the station. In this connection we consider it appropriate to advise that under the provisions of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, unauthorized operation of a radio station is a serious offense. We refer you to Section 318 and section 501 of the Act, which specify penalties in terms of fines and imprisonment for violations of the Act.

The entire incident in this case appears to have resulted from relationships between Washington State College and your own University and we feel that the authorities of the two institutions should be in a position to see that it is not repeated. No further action regarding the complaint is contemplated but we do request that you take steps to see that students of your institution, particularly those concerned in the recent operation, are advised of the seriousness of the offense, as a means of preventing a recurrence.

Very truly yours, T. J. Slowie, Secretary, Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D. C.

The total 1948 presidential vote fell short of the 1940 high by about 2,000,000 votes.

Iowa Prof Tells Facts About Fears

College women are more superstitious than men, according to Dr. Earle E. Emme, associate professor of psychology at Bowling Green State university.

Horseshoes, wish bones, broken mirrors, fortune tellers, four-leaf clovers—all intrigue coeds more than their male classmates, the professor contends.

Dr. Emme has done more research on college superstitions than any other American. A financial grant from the Iowa Academy of Science in 1941 encouraged his studies.

"Most college students change their minds about most superstitions once they try them and no bad luck results," the psychologist asserts. He reports members of his classes have broken more than 50 "taboos" in a day—without ill effects.

Dr. Emme has found that persons become less superstitious as they grow older and advance in educational attainment, that emotion is not related to superstitious beliefs, that parents, not chums, are the major source of the beliefs and that athletes and actors abound in them.

"I have discovered no evidence to uphold any of the six most popular forms of quackery—astrology, phrenology, physiognomy, rod divining, fortune telling and the belief that red angers cattle," Dr. Emme declares.

We admire the wisdom of those who ask us for advice.

7,200 years of college . . . and still learning

THE Bell Telephone Laboratories is known as a leader in communications engineering. On its staff are 1,622 engineers and scientists with college degrees. Among them they have 7,200 years of college training . . . and they are still learning.

They study many things. How to speed your voice across the street or around the world. How to keep your voice natural in tone and volume. How to make central office equipment capable of switching your call even faster. How to produce in laboratories the materials which are hard to get in their natural form—quartz, for instance. How to conserve the scarce metals which go into wire and cable, by making one circuit carry many conversations.

From such studies they learn how to make your service better and better, and keep its cost low.

Vandal Frosh Open Season On 'Zag J.V.'s; Win 54-40

Both Teams Look Ragged; Show Promise For Future

Idaho's freshman basketball team continued their unbeaten streak last night with a whirlwind 54-40 victory over the previously unbeaten Bullpups of the Gonzaga junior varsity squad.

The contest was a preliminary to the varsity contest between Idaho and Gonzaga, and students and townspeople began crowding into the gym for the varsity meet during the half of the Frosh tilt.

The first half got underway with lightning-like speed when, Idaho took the lead with a foul shot and a field goal. These three points gave the Vandal youngsters an edge which was never seriously threatened after the first ten minutes of play. The first half went rapidly with few fouls or time-outs to slow up the action. Half time score: 23-18.

Slump In Third Quarter

During the third quarter the teams hit a temporary slump, and it wasn't until the last ten minutes that the play resumed its former lively gait. Fast little Art Previs, guard on the Gonzaga squad, figured in most of the 'Zags rapid play, scoring six field goals and three gift tosses to lead the scoring for both teams.

On the Idaho side of the fence, forward Earl Wheeler, who didn't see any action at all during the first half, really got going after the intermission, and he and Previs kept the crowd on their feet for the last ten minutes of the game. Wheeler's effectiveness was due to the "Finley style" of play, which features a weaving pattern that draws the opposition to one side, leaving Wheeler out in an open corner all by himself with a clear shot at the basket.

Previs Leads Scoring

Gonzaga's Art Previs garnered scoring honors with 15 points, while John Millard and Stuart Dollinger tied for high on the Idaho squad with 10 points each. The Idaho Frosh made 24 field goals, had 14 fouls called on them, and sank six out of eleven free-throws. Gonzaga connected for 15 buckets and 10 out of 18 gift-shots, while committing 11 personal fouls.

Inter-Squad Meet Set For Tankmen

Idaho's varsity swimming team will hold its first inter-squad meet next Tuesday, when the Silvers meet the Golds at 4 p.m. in the Memorial gym swimming pool. Such meets as these are designed to prepare the squad in training tournaments before they come into contact with other college teams. Kenny Lyons will captain the Golds, and Z. L. Pearson will head the Silvers.

Although some of the swimmers are lagging behind in training, Coach Eric Kirkland indicated that most of them are improving rapidly. Among those showing marked improvement are freestylers Z. L. Pearson, Norman Green, Don Miller, Carl Kinney, and Gerald Weaver, and backstrokeur Chase Barbee.

Kirkland said that several other members of the team deserved mention, including Kenny Lyons, last year's team captain and a great sprinter, and George Gust, a consistent winner on last year's team in the breast-stroke division. Jim Farmer, a distance swimmer, and Jack Smith, letterman diver, are both expected to be stand-outs on this year's team. Two new members who are showing promise are Ken Bailey in the backstroke department and Win Bishop in diving.
