The Golden Fleece

The ASUI is footing a $750 account to produce the annual Pep Band show in March. Many university students are contributing large amounts of their time to further the production which was so successfully staged last year.

Recently, however, a sad note has been injected into the work this season. The directors of the show have sought to obtain an additional night to present their production. This recommendation has been denied. Thus once again about one half of the student body will not be able to see this entertainment.

What About the Rest?

Seating is available in the auditorium for 954 spectators; therefore, the two night showing will allow approximately 1900 people admittance. What about the remaining 1800 students who are bona fide members of ASUI? These too contribute to the ASUI purse. Faculty members and townspeople would undoubtedly like to attend the production.

Last year between 200 and 300 people were turned away from the door; not to mention those who did not even speculate on getting seats. On the basis of the attendance at similar functions, it was estimated that over 3000 students would attend the show. However, only 1900 can be crowded into the auditorium during the two nights the production is being presented.

Show Doomed

The 1100 who do not attend the show will speak much louder than the 1900 who are able to obtain seats. Regardless of the quality of the 1949 Pep Band show, it is doomed to failure because of the wrath of those who will be denied admittance.

Considering the possibility that he might be one of those who do not get to attend, Jason made some suggestions to alleviate the situation.

Would it be possible to stage the production on Sunday night? However, the additional night sought before was turned down because it would interfere with classes the next day. So too would a Sunday night showing.

An afternoon performance is out because of the luminous paint used in many of the settings. Not knowing the complications of staging such a production, Jason suggested two performances on one night. Campus showmen then asked, "Have you ever tried to put on two performances in a space of three or four hours?" Fatigue and tonal durability limit any show.

Unified Planning

With every failure comes experience. Having viewed the situation more thoroughly, Jason would

Economic Expert To Give Commencement Address

The new chairman of the national committee on economic development, W. Walter Williams of Seattle, will deliver the commencement address at the University of Idaho this year, it was announced today by President J. E. Buchanan, following formal approval of the university's 54th annual commencement plans by the board of regents. Monday morning, May 30, Williams will speak to the first post-war graduating class to pass the 500-mark.

As successor to Paul G. Hoffman, who achieved international fame as the first chairman and organizer of the CED, Williams occupies one of the most important business posts in the United States. Largely because of his work in founding the CED—the American business man's own organization for business research and planning—Hoffman was picked by President Truman to head the European recovery program.

Served In World War I

The life story of the man selected to succeed Hoffman has a Horatio Alger touch. Following World War I, during which he served in chemical warfare, Williams became a high school teacher. After two years of teaching he became the first employee of Continental, Inc., a mortgage banking, insurance, real estate, and property management firm in Seattle. One year later he was its secretary; in 1927 its president.

Williams has served as president of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America and chairman of the president's conference on fire prevention. He is a director of the International YMCA.

Economic Chairman

Early in 1943, Williams was made Washington state chairman for the newly organized committee on economic development. His success in organizing his state's principal industrial and business communities for quick reconversion following World War II was a key factor in his being selected as the national chairman of the organization. During World War II he was chairman of his state's civilian defense council.

Of the many honors that have come to this Pacific Northwest business man now an international figure, the one he prizes the highest came in 1946. That year his fellow business men named him "Seattle's most useful citizen."

Lockery Attends Payette Festival

Glen R. Lockery, assistant professor of music and conductor of the Vandaleers, represented the music department of the university at Payette last week. He served as conductor of choral activities for the annual Snake River Valley music clinic.

Approximately 1,200 high school musicians attended the clinic, where Professor Lockery instructed a mixed chorus of 350 voices and a girls' group of 400 during the rehearsal sessions. The two choral groups appeared in public concert Friday evening in the Payette high school gymnasium.

"Campus Quizical" Presented Over KUOI Airways Tonight

"Campus Quizical," first all-campus telephone quiz program to be presented over the university radio station, KUOI, will be on the air Tuesday and Thursday from 9:15 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Plan New Features

Dan McDevitt and Jim LaGrone will feature a roundup of Northwest and national sporting news over "Spotlight on Sports" scheduled Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 5:15 to 5:30.

"Veteran's Information," another program still in the planning stage, will be announced later by the local veterans' administration counselor. This program is designed mainly for veterans in this area and will give information on activities of various vet groups.

Another program that has been put on a sustaining basis over KUOI is International Relations club meeting broadcast Thursday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the Blue Bucket lounge. Affairs pertaining to international problems are discussed and speakers, well acquainted with the topic under discussion, will present their views after which the floor is open to discussion.

Getting A Charge Out Of Things

Blot To Feature Spring Fashions

Spring fashions in Moscow dress shops will be featured in the March 25 issue of Blot, according to Sheila Darwin, fashion editor.

University co-eds modeled the spring frocks and Earl Brookman, Blot photographer, took the pictures, posing the models in attitudes imitative of those used in Mademoiselle. Models were Jane Wilson, Sally Khulman, Shirley Ball, and Colleen Christlanston.

Downtown stores participating in the style show were Davids, The Parisian, Creightons, Pennys, and Majors. The pictures were taken in Davids department store and furniture and background was furnished by them.

This is the first time Blot has featured a fashion page of this type, Miss Darwin said.

Senior Lists Due Saturday For Gem

Senior activities lists which were distributed last week will be picked up tomorrow, according to Charlotte Greenwood, senior section editor. Those who have not filled out the lists may obtain blanks from the offices of the deans.

As only graduating seniors will be pictured in the senior section, Miss Greenwood added, it would be of help if students classified as seniors but not eligible for graduation would indicate this on the list.

Summer School Will Offer 210 Courses For Students

A selection of 210 courses in 35 major divisions will be offered to students who attend the 1949 summer school at the University of Idaho when it opens June 13, it was announced today by Director J. Frederick Weltzin. The calendar for the session is arranged on a single eight-week term which will allow the completion of a semester of work in three courses at full credit.

Teacher To Leave

Benton Buttrey, teaching assistant in the zoology department, has received an appointment as assistant instructor at the University of Pennsylvania.

Buttrey will leave for Philadelphia in September, to assume his new position during the fall school term. While at the University of Pennsylvania, he will continue his work for the doctor of philosophy degree in zoology.

Man With A Powdered Wig

An aristocrat rather than a man of the people, George Washington has not been surrounded by the number of legends that are told of Abraham Lincoln. The name "Washington" calls to mind only a few stories concerning the first President.

They include a winter spent at Valley Forge, and a Christmas Eve spent crossing the Delaware. We remember being told that he wore a powdered wig and false teeth made of wooden pegs.

When he was young he chopped down a cherry tree and after he had served as President he retired to Mount Vernon. Sometime in between, he threw a dollar across the Potomac.

On these few bits of fact or fiction we must build our picture of Washington. It doesn't give us very much to go on but it does leave a lot of room to wonder and to hypothesize.

It is hard to picture the father of a country having his gums fitted with wooden teeth . . . but it's harder yet to think of him in the cold of Valley Forge. (We can think of the privates suffering; enlisted men are supposed to be used to it.)

We have wondered on several occasions why he told the truth about the cherry tree. The average American youth, we fear, would try to blame it onto young Alexander Pluvian (or some such person) who had dropped in for a visit from the next estate.

There is nothing in the framework to indicate that he was happy. His pictures never show him smiling (he probably didn't want to show his wooden teeth.) None of his speeches indicate that he was happy. None of the legends show him as a carefree man. Always he is either an honest child or a leader of an army or a nation. We have always thought he must have been a lonely man.

Probably many of our impressions are wrong. We recognize that to him we owe much. He was, undoubtedly, "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

We hope that he enjoyed the fireplace fires made from the cherry wood. We hope that his life was a happy one. We hope that he rests comfortably, not remembering the cold nights of Valley Forge. —H.R.

Physical Ed Club Schedule Speakers

Three prominent persons in the field of health and sanitation will speak before a P.E. club meeting to be held in the women's gymnasium Tuesday, February 22. Principal speaker will be M. B. McQueen, MD, director of the North Central district health unit, speaking on health education.

Latah county sanitarian, Mr. Bob Lepore, will talk on health and sanitation. Miss Judy Martin, physical therapy technician at St. Joseph's hospital, Lewiston, will talk briefly on physical therapy and how it affects health and physical education.

Preceding the panel on public health will be a short business meeting of the club according to Harold Jausi, chairman. Social events for the rest of the semester are to be scheduled and arrangements for an April 1 party.

Empire Foresters Meet On Campus

The Inland Empire section of the Society of American Foresters convened at the University of Idaho last Saturday afternoon, February 19.

Principal speakers for the afternoon were S. B. Hutchison, forest economist; and D. N. Matthews, silviculturist.

These experts have just completed a two-year study of the economics of blister rust control and its effect upon the economics of white pine management.

About 40 foresters of this region were presented a summary of the considerations which were investigated in the project.

Hutchison and Matthews were brought to the Northern Rocky Mountain Forest and Range Experiment Station as unbiased individuals to conduct this study.

NEW MAJOR

A new major, described as one which "will give students a chance to come in contact with fundamental problems of human life and to see how certain great minds have dealt with them," has been established in the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Iowa.

Barker And LaRue Have Top Corsage At Spinster Skip

Phyllis LaRue and Glenn Barker were awarded a prize for displaying the most originality in corsage design at the annual "Spinster's Skip" Saturday afternoon in the Blue Bucket ballroom. The winning mock corsage followed a Burma Shave ad pattern, using Mortar Board's Spinster's Skip theme for advertising.

Decorations for the informal event consisted of silhouettes of various Indian figures including Indian heads, tepees, and tomahawks. According to Pat Dwyer, Mortar Board president, approximately 100 couples attended the dance. Refreshments were served by members of Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics honorary.

Detain Dates

As customary when Spinster Skip time rolls around, men's living groups did everything possible to keep fellows in their groups from going to the 'dance, or at least to delay them. Several coeds had to untie their dates, or even go out in deep snow after them.

Norm Herzinger's orchestra provided dance tempos. Patron and patronesses were Dr. and Mrs. Boyd Martin, Dean Louise Carter, and Miss Jean Collette.

like to make one suggestion which might be a start in the right direction. The directors of the show could present the problem to the administration with a more open proposal. Instead of stating a specific date, ask for an extra day. Certainly these two groups together with the aid of the calendar committee could compromise on one extra date for the production to be presented.

Idaho should not have to follow the example set by larger colleges—that of allowing students to attend only every other campus function. Those with blue tickets could attend this function and would have to miss the next, while the ones with the red tickets went

IRC Will Discuss Africa Race Riots

Race riots in South Africa will be the subject of the International Relations Club meeting next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the upper lounge of the Blue Bucket.

Norman Siringier, English instructor, Alexander Williams and Don Mills, both students, will lead the discussion. The panel will be broadcast over KUOI.

Siringier has done extensive research in this field and will present the aspect of the situation as it may be applied to domestic race discrimination.

Williams is an agronomy student whose home is in South Africa. He will outline the situation in that locality from his own personal experience with it.

Mills, a student in sociology, will discuss the sociological aspect of race problems.

The meeting is open to the public. Betty Lou Jones, president of IRC said. Prompt arrival at 7:30 is encouraged since KUOI will be beginning broadcasting the program at that time.

Station KUOI Seeking Engineers

"KUOI still needs men on its engineering staff," says Chuck Hudson, chief engineer for the campus station.

Hudson sends out an urgent appeal for those with experience in the technical end of radio to join the staff. The station is now in the midst of a period of expansion of its equipment and operating facilities. Men are needed to help build, install, and maintain the broadcasting equipment.

Students are also needed in every phase of the station's work, script-writing, stenographic work and announcing. Those interested should report to the studio on the top floor of the Engineering Annex between 12 noon and midnight.

Gem Photographers Rush Schedule

Editor Says Gem Pictures Will Be Of Highest Quality

Photography in the 1949 "Gem of the Mountains" promises to be of high calibre, according to editor Phil Schnell, who terms his present staff of student photographers the best in many years of Gem work. He reports that more cameras suited for high quality reproduction are available now than there were for all the years prior to the war.

The trend in yearbooks has been toward more pictures and less copy, making the need for better photography more apparent. The 1949 Gem will display better pictures throughout with particular improvement in action scenes.

Taking pictures for the Gem for his third year is Pat Hamilton, who has taken numerous shots at campus dances during the past two years. His specialty for this Gem is featuring activities of the various schools and heads of departments.

Specialist in high-speed electronic sports photography is Dwayne Rosa, also doing his third year of Gem work. Rosa, the most scientific photographer on the staff, has a darkroom well equipped with technical apparatus.

Jim Brockie, a former war pilot, likes to do aerial photography and has made several pictures of the campus from the air. He is working on the Gem for his second year. Also in his second year is Fred Farmer who has been taking miscellaneous shots of campus life.

Jim Amos, one of three newcomers to the Gem staff, has been busy during recent months taking group pictures for the organization section of the yearbook. He has completed the major portion of his assignments.

Color Prints Planned

Earl Brockman, another newcomer to the staff, is a journalism major with experience in commercial photography. So far this year he has done mostly candid and miscellaneous shots of campus activities.

The 1949 Gem will feature more color photography than those of former years with most of the work being done by editor Phil Schnell, who has been busy since last spring taking pictures for the yearbook, high-lighting scenic shots of the campus.

DuSault Reveals Grade Average Takes A Dip

The grade average of the University of Idaho is showing a very slight downward trend from the average attained during the war years, according to a release from the Registrar's office yesterday.

During the year 1947-48, the average was 2.46 against 2.47 the year before and 2.70 in 1943-44, which was the highest grade average attained since before 1933-34 when the average was 2.40.

As a whole, grades during the war years were higher. Women consistently outrank the men as far as scholastic average is concerned. The men's grades averaged 2.40 during 1947-48 while the women had 2.66.

In 1938-39 the low for the four-year period was reached with 2.26 as the overall average, 2.13 for the men and 2.63 for the women.

It appears that students are as smart or smarter than they ever were, for the post-war years' average exceeds that of the pre-war years, according to Registrar D. D. DuSault.

Attic Club Dance To Be In Art Building

The annual Attic club dance has been re-scheduled for March 4, in the Art building from 9 to 12 p.m. according to Fred Farmer, general dance chairman.

New Instructors On Teaching Staff

Instructors in physics and zoology are included in university appointments recently announced by President Buchanan, following approval by the board of regents.

Theodore K. Freeman, who has been a research fellow at the University of Washington the last two years, will be acting instructor in physics. Born in the Dutch East Indies, he attended North Idaho Junior college and College of Puget Sound.

Acting instructor in zoology will be Mrs. Mariam A. Nielsen, native of Reubens, Idaho. She completed her work for a B.S. degree at the University of Idaho this month.

James C. Welch, assistant professor of psychology, was granted a year's leave of absence, starting July 1, to complete requirements for a Ph.D. degree.

Graduate Students Increase At Idaho

Law Graduates To Practice In Idaho Without Bar Exam

The best law to be passed since the G. I. Bill, according to law students on the University of Idaho campus, is one stating that law graduates may practice as attorney or counselor at law in all courts in the state of Idaho without having first passed the usual bar examination.

At the thirtieth session of the Legislature of the State of Idaho, the new law was passed at 1:02 p.m., Saturday, without the signature of the governor. The actual bill as enacted is as follows:

Exact Law
"Amending section 3-101 of the Idaho code annotated, by providing for the admission to practice as attorneys and counselors at law in all courts of the state of Idaho, without any examination as to their qualifications, of applicants who are residents of the State of Idaho and citizens of the United States over the age of 21 years, of good moral character, and who are graduates of the University of Idaho law school, or certain other approved law schools; providing the procedure for the admission of such applicants and declaring an emergency."

Esquire Finalists Named By ATO's
Five women were chosen last week as finalists in the annual Alpha Tau Omega "Esquire Girl" contest, according to Lyle Tapper, A.T.O. president.

Contest finalists named were Shirley Rivet, Christy Anne Sargent, Pat Rivett, Christy Anne Sargent, and Gaye Slavin.

The candidates will be honored at a dinner Wednesday, February 23, where photographs will be taken and forwarded to Esquire magazine. From the group one will be selected by the editors as "Esquire Girl of 1949." Announcement of the winner will be made at the annual Esquire dance March 11.

Ten Marksmen Win 'Sweater Awards'
Ten Air and Army ROTC marksmen nosed out seven Navy competitors for ten University of Idaho sweaters after shooting off a three way tie.

William Shaw lead the team scoring 190 of a possible 200. Air student Lenander, a veteran shooter, trailed one point with a 189.

Alan Pyrah centered 186 and Myron Hodgson picked up 184 to win over Prisky in a three way tie.

Other letter winners are J. Fisher, 187; R. Wilkinson, 186; Leonard Herriek 183; G. Van Hardenberg, 183; J. Wommack, 182; C. Meserve, 182.

Vandal Cagers Trounce Washington; Triumph In 2-Game Weekend Series

Scoring Spree By Pritchett Provides Spark For Idaho

NORTHERN DIVISION STANDINGS

Washington	4	10	.286	701	763	8	15	.348

The University of Idaho basketball squad, commonly called the "giant killers" of the Pacific Coast conference northern division cage race, completely overhauled the University of Washington crew in a pair of conference tilts at Memorial gymnasium last weekend. The double victory virtually lifted the Idaho squad from the depths of the cellar, thus giving to Washington, last year's conference champions, sole ownership of the bottom rung.

Idaho has proved to the basketball world that it has a team that should not be denied. In their last seven contests, the Vandals have been able to capture five. They include: three victories over Washington, and one each from Washington State and Oregon State. Idaho's other conference win came earlier in the season over the University of Oregon.

Pritchett Hot

In Friday night's fracas, forward Bob Pritchett led his mates to victory by scoring almost at will in the second half a total of 23 points. Pritchett was only able to garner four points in the first canto, but due to his concentrated efforts he gave to the Vandals a 62-55 victory.

With the score tied 26-26 at half-time, it took Pritchett very little time after intermission to start things rolling. Opening with a charity toss, he immediately followed with one of his unorthodox hook shots from the left side, and after making a distinct pivot sank one from the key. He made another from inside the key, and laid in a pair of charity tosses. All of this action occurred in the first ten minutes of the second half.

Pritchett's final tabulations for the evening totaled 27 points. Sammy White, Washington's mention for All-American honors, paced the losers with 14. There was a total of 44 fouls in the contest which saw two Huskies, Russ Parthemer and Bill Vandenberg, receive free tickets to the showers as a result of the rough play employed. Nick Stallworth surprised the Idaho rooters as he had but one foul called on him.

Second Game

The Vandals did it again Saturday night, this time with a 59-51 victory, thus dropping the Huskies further down into the dungeon.

The Washington attack was bogged down somewhat after the loss of their high scoring forward Sammy White, after 50 seconds of the second half had elapsed. The Vandals were never headed in this all-important contest and at intermission they held the lead with a 25-19 margin.

White was one of the four Huskies who fouled out, and due to the extreme number of fouls against Washington, Idaho was able to win out on the foul line. Each team connected on 18 occasions from the field, but the Vandals collected 23 points on charity tosses, while the Huskies were able to score 15. Of the 53 fouls called in the contest, Washington was guilty of 34.

The closest that the Huskies were able to come to the Vandals was 32-31 after six minutes had elapsed in the second half.

Brimhall Leads Scoring

When Idaho isn't hitting their usual shots, the Vandal rooters can count on All-coast guard Preston Brimhall to carry the burden for Coach Finley's surprising quintet. Brimhall hooked shots over the backboards and into the net on several different occasions and due to his efforts was able to keep the Vandals in the contest. Brimhall gained high scoring honors for the contest as he dunked in a total of 15 points. Keith Jefferson aided the Husky cause with his 12 point total.

The Vandals still have a mathematical chance to end up second in the conference standings, should they happen to defeat Washington State in the all important series this weekend. Oregon, who occupies third spot at the present time, has four games remaining on the schedule with their common rival, Oregon State. Oregon State gained first spot in the standings by virtue of their double victory over Washington State last weekend.

Boxers Drop 'Zag Meet 4-3; Battle Wisconsin On Friday

After dropping a close four to three decision at the hands of Gonzaga university mittmen in Spokane last Friday evening, Coach Frank Young's Vandal leather belters accelerated their ring work today in preparation for a rugged engagement with the University of Wisconsin warriors in a dual meet at Madison, Friday night, Feb. 25. Gonzaga's win was the first set-back suffered by Idaho this season and competition will be just as savage Friday when the Vandals mix it with the Badgers in the Wisconsin city.

No Injuries

None of Young's scrappers sustained injuries in the Gonzaga battles. However, Thane Johnson, 145-pounder, from Idaho Falls is in the infirmary with a throat infection. Young said he did not know as yet whether Johnson will make the trip to the mid-west.

The Vandals are scheduled to arrive in Madison Thursday evening and return to Moscow sometime Sunday.

Rough Stuff

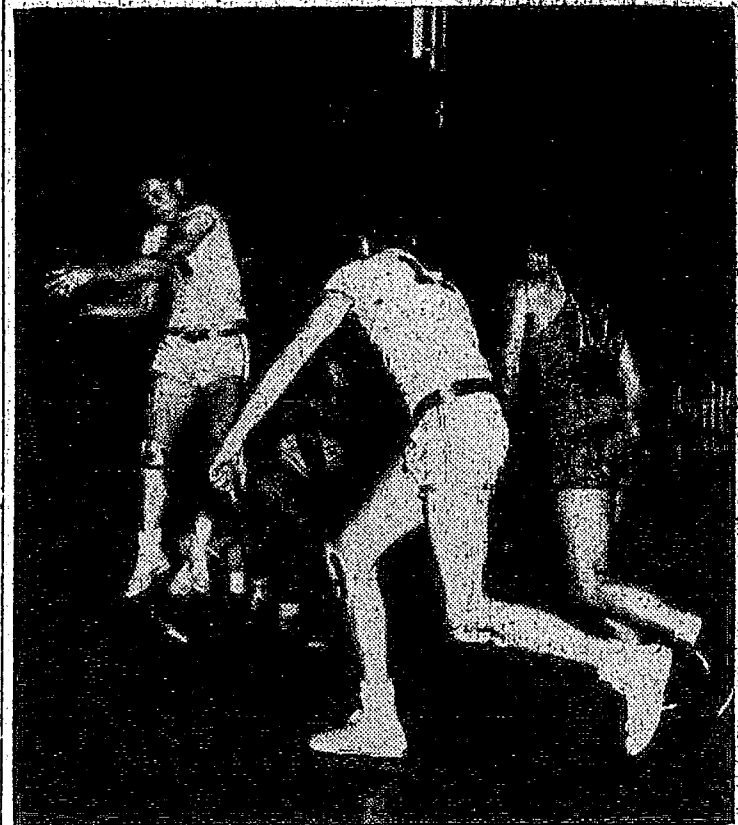

Three technical knockouts drew the limelight at Gonzaga's Boone avenue gym last Friday evening in the action-packed card between Idaho and Gonzaga. Herb Carlson, who is evidently anticipating a rough go with John Lendenski, kept himself in trim condition by applying the potion to Art Halpin, Gonzaga, in one minute and 24 seconds of the second round of their 165-pound match. It was Carlson's second TKO over an opponent in as many bouts.

Gonzaga scored two technical knockouts. Bill Macy, Gonzaga, stopped DeForrest Tovey in their 125-pound battle in 1:54 seconds of the second round. Gonzaga's classy Carl Maxey chilled Don Ellis in a light-heavyweight match, the bout being stopped at the conclusion of the second round when Coach Frank Young threw in the towel.

Pritchett Scores Two More

Big Idaho forward Bob Pritchett jumps a couple of feet nearer the basket as he prepares to score two more of the 23 counters he bucketed during the second half of Friday night's tilt with the University of Washington. Vandal Center Bob Wheeler (center) and Husky Captain Bill Vandenberg (right) look on. Pritchett tallied 37 points in the two games to spark the Vandals to a pair of victories which virtually clinched Idaho's claim to fourth place, and dropped the Huskies two full games into the cellar.

Lenander, Shaw Lead Rifle Team

Dean Lenander and William Shaw both scored 764 to lead the University of Idaho Rifle team in the Sixth Army Intercollegiate Rifle Matches which were completed last week.

Ten high scores from a team of fifteen men rolled up a total of 7468 points of a possible 8000 to bid for position to fire in the National Intercollegiate Matches during the month of March.

Results of standings with seventeen other schools in the Sixth Army area will not be known until the latter part of February.

Track Team

All freshman who are planning to try out for the track squad meet at room 109 in Memorial gym at 4:30 Tuesday.

Time Out

By DON RICE

One of the hottest conference pennant races in the country rages unchecked in Utah, Wyoming, and Colorado, where the members of the Skyline Six have been battling with the issue undecided ever since the first games early this year.

At the moment, it appears that the University of Wyoming Cowboys have the edge, with a two-game advantage over the nearest rivals—the Utes from the University of Utah. Nevertheless, this is a conference where every team is a potential pennant winner, and the Skyline coaches can't stop biting their fingernails until the last game has been played.

Features Rough Playing

As an example of the gusto with which the Skyline boys play, take the Denver-Utah series, in which all five of the Ute starters went out of the game on personal fouls. And at that, Denver was hard-pressed to secure the victory.

Outstanding player of the conference is probably Center Vern Gardner of Utah, who has rimmed the hoop for a total of 356 points, with a 14.8-point per-game average—an enviable record in any league, and particularly in this, the hottest of them all.

Howell Sees Good Year Barring Inclement Weather

Coach Dixie Howell arrived in Idaho to witness the wettest spring in 50 years and currently the worst winter in Pacific Northwest history. Last spring when it came time for football practice it rained days without end and this winter the snow has piled up so high that it looks as if it will be May before it melts.

"With all this stuff on the ground I don't see how we are going to get in 30 sessions of spring practice," Howell said. A native of Alabama, Howell has never seen so much snow at one time in his life.

Thankful For Field House

The only bright spot in the picture for the Idaho mentor is the new field house now in the course of construction. Eventually the field house will be 400 feet long and 175 feet wide. This winter the 100 foot unit is expected to be completed within a month or six weeks depending upon the weather. Deep snow and high winds have prevented the completion before this time. Howell says that much of the spring work will be held in this unit if the weather remains unsettled. He shudders to think of what might have happened if the field house had not been started this last fall.

Predicts "Healthy Respect"

"I was looking forward to this year," said Coach Howell. "It looked to me like Idaho would become one of the best teams in recent history. Not a champion, maybe, but every opponent would wind up the game with a healthy respect for the Vandal team. But if we don't get in the spring work, we shall be just like the farmer last spring who had to depend on volunteer wheat for his year's living."

Having lost only four members of last year's squad, and with at least forty veterans on the spring football roster, Howell's

INTRAMURAL

After a rugged, close season's play which began January 10, intramural championship finalists have been decided. Results of the "big two" semi-final games last night were: Sigma Nu 24, KS 26; and WSH No. 1 44; WSH No. 2 47. Therefore it will be KS vs. WSH No. 2 when the championship is played off Wednesday, February 23, at 8:30 p.m.

Other games last night resulted in these scores: IC No. 1 24, PH No. 2 21, DC 20.

The following games along with the above-listed contests are played for points and league standing and have no bearing upon the final winner.

Tuesday, February 22: ATO vs. TV, DTD vs. TKE, SC vs. PGD, BTP vs. LDS, CC No. 1 vs. CH No. 2, PH No. 3 vs. LH No. 2.

Wednesday, February 23: LH No. 1 vs. PH No. 2, PH No. 1 vs. CC No. 2.

A complete list of league standings will be published in the next issue of the Argonaut.
