VOL. 53, NO. 40

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT, Official Publication of the ASUI

TUESDAY, MARCH 1, 1949

Wanted - One pair of GI shoes, size 9. Please deliver to Argonaut office before 1 p.m. Friday.

Yes, Jason lost his bet with Bill Gasman of the WSC Evergreen. However, it was very pleasing to know that the one game which the Vandals did win practically knocked WSC out of the conference race.

It is also supposed that Mr. Gasman will either come up with the names of the Idaho spectators who spoke in protest against the "Stallworth incident" or admit defeat in this matter.

Orchids to the SAB

With the completion of the current basketball season, members of the student activities board can look back with a measure of pride at the halftime entertainment which they arranged for both the football and basketball games.

Most of us are likely to take this duty of the SAB too much for granted. Much work and a great deal of planning are necessary to coordinate the intermission entertainment. This is a job which not only requires seeking out individual entertainment, but also seeing that various campus organizations are given a chance to do their traditional functions.

No football season would be complete without Homecoming and Dad's day. The Spur Waddle and the I club initiation are as much a part of the basketball season as keeping the referees posted on the opinions of the crowd.

Sign It, Please

Nothing is more pleasing to a paper than well-written letters expressing individual opinion on its editorial policy or a suggestion on some current event. One thing is necessary, however, the letter must be signed if it is to have reader value.

In the past few weeks several readers have submitted letters expressing dissatisfaction with some campus affair as handled by the Argonaut. The letters are signed with such fictitious names as "Downright Flabbergasted," "An Ex-Social Outcast," "For Heaven's Sake," and "Neglected." It has been the policy of the Argonaut to publish only letters which have been signed. This will continue to guide this problem.

Queen Will Grace Agriculture Show

Preparations are now under way for the "Little International" show which will be held in the latter part of April, according to Agriculture students. The show is to be sponsored jointly by Alpha Zeta and the Ag. club. A queen will be chosen for the affair and, among various contests, there will be judging and a show of live stock. These are to be presented by the different departments in the school of agriculture.

A public speaking contest has also been scheduled by the Ag. club, to be held in early March. After an elimination series the final contest will be held on March 17 in the Administration building.

Finley Contract Renewal Follows Improved Season

Charles L. (Chuck) Finley, who turned an aggregation of University of Idaho sophomores into a potent basketball team during the current season, has been signed to an extended contract, President J. E. Buchanan announced today. The extension at an undisclosed salary followed recommendation by George W. Greene, director of athletics, and approval by the executive committee of the board of regents.

"One of the most popular coaches to supervise maple court action at Idaho, Finley has a knack for taking new men and making them perform like veterans," stated Green. While in the Navy during World War II his naval air station basketball team, composed of recruits with only high school training, took the Gulf Coast Service championship.

Made All American

During a period of five years, teams he coached won three championships, two in the New Mexico conference and one in a naval service conference. He came to Idaho in 1947 with a record as coach of 772 wins against 106 losses. As a player himself, he made all-American with Marysville Teachers of Misouri.

At Idaho, he started the present season with a squad running about 60 per cent sophomores. The first string that emerged numbered three sophomores. At the start, play was at times both brilliant and ragged. During the last half of the season, the play has been heavy on the brilliant side.

Vandal Record Listed

The Vandals proceeded to knock over every member of the conference, performing this feat three times in the case of Washington. Then Friday night they scored a major triumph, defeating Washington State college, 39 to 31, for the second time. Total wins for the season number 17, including seven conference games, against total losses of 15 games for the season; Nine of the losses were included in the conference series.

Leeper Appointed

Robert D. Leeper, senior pre-medical student, has just received word of his appointment to the College of Physicians and Surgeons Columbia university.

He will enter the freshman class at the New York City medical school next September. Leeper is the twelfth University of Idaho student accepted by medical schools so far this year.

Geiger Counters Replace Mineral Hunters' Gold Pan

Have Idaho's mineral hunters traded gold pans for Geiger counters? Dean A. W. Fahrenwald of the University of Idaho school of mines has begun to wonder.

Correspondence during the past year to the Idaho bureau of mines and geology, of which Dean Fahrenwald is the director, would indicate there are more prospectors than most people realize poking Geiger counters here and there in the Idaho mountains searching for radioactive material. Letters to the bureau have asked about uranium, at present the most sought for of the radioactive minerals, and how to interpret the antics of a Geiger counter.

Information Given

To meet this new turn in mineral hunting the bureau has just issued a leaflet containing hints on uranium and thorium prospecting. It was prepared by Lewis S. Prater, metallurgist with the bureau.

The leaflet presents the different methods of detecting radioactive materials. These include ultraviolet lamps and photographic film as well as the newer and more spectacular Geiger counter.

The Idaho bureau, Dean Fahrenwald explains, will test free of charge samples from Idaho for radioactivity. Those passing this first test can be sent to the atomic energy commission, which maintains a free assay service for uranium-thorium samples.

STUDIES ABROAD

The American - Scandinavian foundation announced May 31 as deadline for applications for graduate study courses at Danish and Swedish universities.

Vandal Coach Inks New Contract

The paper Charles L. (Chuck) Finley, basketball coach, has just signed is a new contract stating that he will be around to groom Vandal quintets for years to come. Looking on are George W. Greene, director of athletics and Gale Mix, general manager of the ASUI.

Weidman's Troupe To Give Concert Dance In Pullman

Charles Weidman, recognized as one of the most important figures in American concert dance, will bring his group to Bryan hall in Pullman, March 9. Brilliant choreographer as well as soloist, Weidman has created more than 100 compositions. Many of these, though serious in theme, are humorous in treatment, for Mr. Weidman believes the dance should "amuse, entertain, and astonish" audiences, as well as arouse them.

Accompanying Weidman and his troupe is Peter Hamilton, modern dance master in his own right.

The dance will include "Fables For Our Time," themes of which were taken from James Thurber's stories. Miss Billie Steelman of the Idaho physical education staff, who has seen the presentation, urges students to attend. "A House Divided," which centers around a period of Lincoln's life, will also be given.

McKeever Awarded Technology Rating

Paula McKeever of Kendrick has realized her ambition. She is now a registered medical technologist, qualified to serve in any hospital in the United States.

Word that she had passed the final examination given by the registry of medical technology of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists came today to Dr. V. A. Cherrington, head of the department of bacteriology at the University of Idaho, her major professor in college.

Miss McKeever graduated from the university in 1947, majoring in the medical technology curriculum in the department of bacteriology. Following graduation she went to St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, Ore., recently completing her internship.

$250 Dairy Award Given Troutman From Korter Fund

Jack Troutman, a sophomore from Meridian, Idaho, has been awarded the John R. Korter memorial scholarship, Professor D. L. Fourn, head of the department of dairy husbandry, announced today.

The award, amounting to $250, is one of the four given to the school in 1947 by W. L. Korter of Moscow. Korter presented the fund to the university in memory of his son, John R. Korter, who died in naval service during World War II.

Four Scholarships

Four scholarships created from the fund are for students, either graduate or undergraduate, majoring in dairy manufacturing. Given on the basis of need, interest in dairy manufacturing, scholarship, and leadership ability, the awards were granted to stimulate research and to encourage students to major in the field of dairy manufacturing.

Milan Bush of Malad received the Korter scholarship in 1948.

NROTC Display In Library Showcase

An ROTC display has been set up in the show case outside the library in the Administration building, displaying the insignia of this organization.

Pictures of last summer's cruise are presented, together with instruments used in the study of navigation and weather.

The main purpose of the display is to give the students on the campus an idea of what members of the NROTC are required to learn. Another interesting exhibit is on display in the main hall of the Navy building.

Play Nears Production Date

"Time of Your Life," current production of the ASUI players, will be presented in the auditorium Friday and Saturday nights. Kitty Duval, portrayed by Colleen Christensen, chats with Joe, the wealthy young gentleman. Neale Christensen is cast in the part of this central figure. Nick, the bartender, characterized by Jim Ford, looks on in the background.

Woodchopper Ball Saturday Night

Paul Bunyan will make his annual visit to the campus Saturday night from 9 to 12 p.m. at the "Woodchopper's Ball" in the Blue Bucket. Norm Herzinger and his orchestra will furnish the music to herald the coming of the fabled Bunyan, who will bring his famous "Blue Ox," Babe, and a well. The well is to dispense punch to all the thirsty loggers and their friends, under the direction of Joe Venishnick and Paul Hoskins.

The small ballroom of the Bucket is being decorated in the style associated with the giant forester and his ox.

Tickets are available in all living groups. Off campus groups may obtain tickets from Merle Stratton at Chrisman hall.

Attic Club Dance To Show New Ideas

Attic club's dance, scheduled for March 4, promises to be a completely new idea in the way of school dances. The theme, "Abstraction Personified," is giving both art and architecture majors an opportunity to exercise their talents for the decorative scheme. Complete details for the decorations and the intermission program has not yet been revealed, but indications show that they are built around the theme of the dance.

The dance will be held in the Art building from nine until twelve with the B and K Combo providing the music. Tickets are now on sale in the houses and in the Art building for $1.20. Committee chairmen are Art Troutner, decorations; Sally Jo Koon, programs; tickets, Bob Kerr and Marge Thompson; and clean-up, Teddy Giese.

HANDICRAFT TAUGHT

The Dames club will offer instruction in handicrafts and bridge at their next meeting on Wednesday evening at the Faculty club.

Students Find 'Life Of Bliss' Making Pottery At Bliss

A "life of bliss" has been found by two former art students of the University of Idaho by turning the creative hobby of pottery-making into a livelihood at Bliss, Idaho. The February issue of Mademoiselle magazine tells the story of Drich and Di Bowler making prize-winning pottery from buttery red clays of Hagerman valley in Southern Idaho.

Drich and Di, leaving stage careers in New York, enrolled at the university where Drich had graduated from the school of education before the war. After a year of taking pottery-making and related courses from the art department, they were ready to start on their own.

Pottery Handmade

In the spring of 1947, they moved to Bliss. There, they lived in a trailer and a tent while Art Troutner, now a senior at the university majoring in architecture, helped them build their house. Troutner designed the house while the Bowlers were still in school.

Communists' Place On College Staffs To Be Discussed

Both the man-on-the-street and America's educators will be interested in "America's Town Meeting" for Tuesday, March 1, when the subject "Should Communists Be Allowed To Teach in Our Colleges?" will be discussed by distinguished educators and avowed liberals over the ABC network at 8:30 p.m. EST.

The panel will include Dr. Raymond B. Allen, president of the University of Washington; Dr. T. V. Smith, professor of philosophy and citizenship, Syracuse University; Dr. Harold Taylor, president and member of the Board of Trustees at Sarah Lawrence college, Bronxville; and Roger Baldwin, Director, American Civil Liberties Union since 1917. George V. Denny, Jr., president of Town Hall, will be moderator.

Will Give Case

Dr. Allen, center of the recent storm in connection with the dismissal of avowed communist professors at the University of Washington, and Dr. T. V. Smith will present the case against communist infiltration of college faculties through professors who attempt to inculcate students with communist doctrine.

Campus Chest Drive Nets $1,423.27; Goal Not Reached

A total of $1,423.27 was collected from living groups and the Veterans' Village during the campus chest drive of February 9-19. Pine hall and the Vets Village led the parade of largest lump sums contributed with $205.22 and $102.30 respectively.

Honorary Meets

Phi Upsilon Omicron entertained Omicron Nu, the Washington State college home economics honorary, at a coffee hour in the home management house Sunday afternoon, according to Jeanne Hofmann, president.

Phyllis LaRue and Gay Deobald presented a musical skit. Committees were headed by Elsa Matson.

Individual Returns

Finance chairman was Donna Jean Broyles. She was assisted by Janis Rankin, independent women's groups; Ruth Lotspeich, sororities; Bob Dahlstrom, fraternities; Harry Howard, Pine hall; Glenn Barker, other independent men; and Tony Carvalho, Veteran's village. Betty Peters headed the publicity committee, aided by Tom Rigby.

Bought Nationally

Called Snake River Pottery, the Bowler products are now marketed on a national basis. American House in New York, International House in Chicago, shops in Boise, Sun Valley, Shore Lodge, stores in Philadelphia, Winchester, and Portland, Ore., handle their work. In November the Bowler pottery took first prize for crafts in the Idaho Artist's Show in Boise.

Idaho Debate Team Wins Second In Speech Tourney Held At Linfield College

Members of the Idaho debate team garnered two second places in two divisions and scored finalist in impromptu speaking at the annual Intercollegiate Forensic contest held at Linfield college last week.

Women's Honorary Taps Six Co-eds In Journalism

Theta Sigma, women's journalism honorary, tapped six Idaho co-eds last night during the dinner hour in the various living houses.

The girls tapped were: Sally Norris, Helen Means, Mary Jane Breier, Betty Peters, Gerry Early, and Sheila Darwin.

Selection into the honorary is based upon scholarship and interest and work done on the various campus publications.

Announcements of the tappings were read by Pat Colvard, president of the organization. Initiation services will be held later.

Plans are being made to hold a breakfast honoring all women working or interested in journalism work.

Officers of the group include: Pat Colvard, president; Aris Petersen, vice president; June Thomas, secretary, and Margaret Orme, treasurer.

Graduates Obtain Teaching Places

Six University of Idaho graduates from the school of education have received teaching positions during January and February through the university placement service. Harlow H. Campbell, director, announced today.

Appointed were Lewraine Nichols, Lancaster, Pa., elementary schools, Coolee City, Wash., John Evans, head high school football coach, Lewiston; and Roland Magden, high school social science, Orofino.

Harold Klobucher was appointed teaching assistant, University of Idaho psychology department; Katherine Thometz elementary school, Nez Perce; and Jack Wing, high school social science, Sunnyside, Wash.

All are now teaching with the exception of Evans, whose appointment is not effective until September.

Famous Pianist To Give Concert March 14 In Gym

The Moscow Community Concert association and ASUI will present Rudolf Firkusny, internationally known pianist in concert, March 14, in Memorial gymnasium.

This Czech pianist was chosen by Serge Koussavitsky to play in the world premiere performance of Howard Hansen's new piano concerto with the Boston symphony orchestra. Leopold Stokowski selected Firkusny to perform the New York premiere of a new concerto by Gian-Carlo Menotti with the New York philharmonic symphony. His debut in the San Francisco symphony orchestra took place after outstanding success in his recitals in that city.

Internationally Known

His recitals are also popular internationally. During the last six months his tours have included South America, Central America, France and Italy. He also appeared at the famous "Ravinia Festival" at Ravinia Park near Chicago.

His program includes: Organ Fugue in A minor-Cernohorsky, Firkusny; La Consolation, Op. 69 by Dussek; Sonata in E, Op. 109 by Beethoven; Chopin's Ballade in A flat, Op. 47, No. 3, Nocturne, and Scherzo No. 3 in C-sharp minor, Op. 39; Two Polkas, by Smetana; Funerailles, by Liszt; Barbes' Excursions; and Prokofieff's Tocata.

He received recognition from the Chicago Sun as a "first class concert pianist," and by the New York Times as "an interpretive artist in his own right and with his own approaches to music."

Chilean Mine Has Job Opportunities

W. J. Turner, consulting mining manager of Kennecott Copper company, New York; George C. Helkes, Kennecott Copper company; and C. D. Michelson, general superintendent of Braden Copper company visited the school of mines February 25 to discuss employment opportunities for mining, metallurgical, geological, and civil engineers in the Braden Copper mine in Chile. This is the largest underground mine in the world.

Interested students may contact Dean Dahrenwald, Professors Scheid or Staley, or H. H. Campbell in the school of mines, or write to Braden Copper company, 120 Broadway, New York City, New York.

A Joke's A Joke, But Can Go Too Far

When is a college prank funny and when is it just a dirty trick? This has been a subject of age old controversy on college campuses. College students somehow have the mistaken notion that being college students is sufficient to excuse them from the rules of conduct observed by other people. What is termed a "harmless" college prank is too often just short of a felony.

College would, indeed, be a pretty dull place if everyone minded his own business and spent all his spare time in creative activity. Pranks add a lot to college life, but like everything else, there is a limit to how far they should go. Too often in the past that limit has been reached and exceeded. We will probably never agree on where to draw the line, but some pranks are obviously out of place. Others often show originality and are quite humorous.

We laughed one morning when we woke up and found a baby Austin on the front porch of one of the women's houses. At noon a mock auction was held and the car sold. A short time later it was back on the street and we all had something to talk about. We laughed again when we saw an out-house parked on the front lawn of one of the sororities early one morning.

It wasn't quite so funny when a cow was tied in the living room of one of the fraternities. It was still less funny when the pranksters had to dig down into their pockets to pay for repairs to the house. It wasn't funny Sunday night when a skinned coyote was discovered hanging from a light globe in the dorm of one of the sororities. Such unfunny jokes result only in ill feeling and bad publicity for the university.

We can have fun at college and still keep it clean. We don't want to lose our sense of humor, but at the same time our behavior should resemble that of college students and not irresponsible children.

Arg Contest Seeks "Claims To Fame"

The "claim to fame" contest sponsored by the Argonaut, with prizes of Phillip Morris cigarettes, will feature its first official weekly winner ending this Friday.

The contest is composed of claims to fame, such as a person who may have a cousin who married an Australian headhunter or an uncle who designed costumes for Gypsy Rose Lee, would be entitled to send in an entry. The entry must be in a paragraph of from 25 to 50 words and must be mailed to the Argonaut office. Each weekly winner will be awarded a carton of cigarettes and his particular fame claim will be in line for the grand prize of $5.00 after the regular contest is over.

All university students are eligible to enter the contest, but each entry must be signed and addresses given. Doubtful statements will be checked for falsification as all entries must be valid.

The winning entry will be printed each week in the Argonaut, with the first week's scores coming out in Friday's paper. Modest statements will be weighed equally with those of more magnanimous stature. So if your grandmother married thirteen times without one success, send in your statement and let us judge it.

Housewives Want Small Spuds According To Ag Survey

More housewives than the potato trade originally thought want smaller potatoes, says Milton F. Eberhard, assistant agricultural economist with the university agricultural experiment station. His statement is based upon preliminary results of a consumer preference study by the experiment station in Los Angeles, Cincinnati, and Kansas City.

"But what the trade considers a small Idaho potato still is a good-sized one when compared to one of the round varieties," he quickly adds. "Most home gardeners would be happy with a crop of them."

Giants Popular
Although housewives in the areas studied want smaller potatoes, hotels and restaurants continue to pay a premium for the giant sizes. Idaho potato growers therefore have the interesting production problem of making their plants produce more medium-sized potatoes and also more giants.

"Los Angeles may go in for super-colossals in movies but not potatoes, however," comments the Idaho economist. "The potatoes should be only a little larger than average."

For the past two years Eberhard has been checking the sale of sized Idaho potatoes in three cities. In all three cities, this test, aimed at the household consumer, has followed the same pattern.

Uniform Sizes Preferred
First, the housewife has been given her choice of four lots of Idaho potatoes, all packaged in 10-pound mesh bags. All were priced the same to determine size preference. In all cities, Eberhard reports, at least 80 percent of the women have chosen uniform sizes in preference to the bags of mixed sizes.

Bags of potatoes ranging from 7 to 10 ounces in size—medium ones to the grower—were most popular. Next best seller was bags containing potatoes 2 inches in diameter to 7 ounces in weight. Slowest to move were larger size potatoes, 1 1/2 to 13 ounces, and the bags of mixed sizes.
"The trend everywhere in potato merchandising is toward pre-packaging," Eberhard comments.

PhiChiTheta Plans Semester Rushing

Marion Forrey was recently installed president of Phi Chi Theta, business women's honorary, and Margaret Barron appointed vice president.

Spring rushing plans are being scheduled, according to Miss Forrey. All women in the school of business administration who have completed three semesters in school and have maintained a 2.3 grade point average are eligible.

Barbara Schaff and Marjorie Lampman are in charge of rushing arrangements.

AWS Changes Constitution; Prepares Nomination Slate

A proposed change in the AWS constitution provides that the woman receiving the second largest number of points for the presidency shall become vice-president. The amendment was proposed at a meeting of the Associated Women Students' council last Wednesday.

At that time it was proposed that Article II, section 3, of the constitution should include the sentence "Nominations for the offices of president and vice-president shall be made together."

A second amendment would change Article II, sect. 5 from "A majority of all votes cast shall be necessary for the election of an officer," to read, "A majority of all votes cast shall be necessary for the election of all officers except vice president. After the run-off elections, the nominee for the office of president receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared president, and the other shall be declared vice-president."

Make Nominations
At the same meeting, AWS officers for next year and May Queen and attendants were nominated. Nominated were the following: president—Colleen Christensen, Rosemary Fitzgerald, Rosemary Harland, and Patricia Slack; secretary—Donna Jean Broyles, Helen Means, Colleen MacDonald, Rose Ellen Schmid; treasurer—Sue Beardsley, Carolyn Craddock, Janice McCormick, Bernadeen Reese, and Mary Louise Will.

Other nominations were: orientation chairman—Emmalyn Ball, Marie Hargis, Ruth Lotspeich, Laura McVicker and Betty Peters. May Queen—Gerry Johnson, Jan Garber, and Jeanne Hofmann. Maid of Honor—Kathy Burleigh, Clarence Hove; Louise Miller, and Bette West. Page—Bonnie Graham, Beverly Halliday and Jean Wallace.

Nominations will also be made at an open AWS meeting in the upstairs lounge of the Student Union at 4:30, Wednesday. At the same meeting the AWS council will vote on the proposed amendments.

Jan Garber, AWS president, urges all women to attend the meeting.

AWS elections are scheduled for March 9 with run-off elections March 16.

Training Schedule For Marine Corps Disclosed Today

Annual spring and summer active duty training schedules for Marine Corps Volunteer (inactive) Ground Reservists were announced today by Colonel H. G. Newhart, USMC, Director, 13th Marine Corps Reserve District, from Headquarters at the U. S. Naval Receiving Station, Seattle, Washington.

The fifteen day periods of active duty training, to be conducted at Camp Joseph H. Pendleton, Oceanside, California—the Leatherneck's largest base—will start on April 18 and continue until September 30, the close of the training schedule. Applications for the two-week assignment should be submitted to the Director's office at least sixty-five days before the start of the training period selected.

Reservists who have never been assigned to active duty training will be given preference when selections are made. Non-veteran applications for the Marine Corps Volunteer Reserve, accepted prior assignment to this year's "boot" training program.

"He" Poses As "She"; Enjoys Sorority Row's Rush Week

A dozen sorority houses at the University of California learned to their consternation today the true identity of Mary Lou Ullrich. "She" is Walter Robert Ullrich, a 20-year-old junior from San Diego.

Ullrich wanted to find out how the better half lived so he posed as Mary Lou during rush week on sorority row. That's the time the girls pick out prospective new members.

Tense Moment
With the help of French heels, a borrowed new look dress, a head scarf, and the strategically situated paddings, Ullrich counted these souvenirs of his foray into no-man's land:
Seven return invitations to sororities.
Fourteen cups of tea and a dozen tiny sandwiches.

"Leeches Of Society" Challenged To Basketball Game By Ag Boys

TO: Bench and Bar—
We, the highly respected, omnipotent, beloved tillers of the soil, tillers of the sod, workers of nature (known in the better circles as nature boys), do hereby challenge the emunior, steatopagous, emaciated, dehydrated men of big words and small minds to an honorable encounter on the court of basketball.

If any of you paltry, agrophobic, antidromic, neanderthalic, Paleolithic, prototrophic leeches on society find time enough to partake of enough super-vitamin pills to enable you to lift a pen and accept this challenge, the sporting event will take place in Memorial gymnasium at 3:30 p.m. March 5, 1949, L. D. (Lawyer's Demise).

This challenge is made habeas corpus, ex post facto, corpus delecti, magna cum laude, ad astra per aspera, semper fideles, E pluribus unum, esto perpetua, and in hoc signo vinces.

Sincerely submitted for
The Ag Club,
By the Man With a Hoe.

Tiny "MYCRO" the NEW Miracle in Quality Cameras!

Takes brilliant pictures, yet . . . it's half the size of a pack of cigarettes!

Just imagine . . . a tiny precision-made camera which gives you performance comparable to most $50-$75 miniature cameras. It's yours . . . an expensive camera for only $12.50

Consider these features:

- Anastigmat color-corrected 20mm, f/4.5 UNA lens
- Shutter: speeds B-1/25, 1/50, 1/100
- Between the lens cocking shutter
- Direct vision optical viewfinder
- All parts, milled, threaded and machined, as in highest priced cameras!
- Uses daylight loading rollfilm, 10 exposures, fine grain
- Splendid enlargements up to 8 x 10
- Unconditionally guaranteed
- Chrome tripod, sun shade and filters available.

A revolutionary new precision camera that takes brilliantly clear stills, and sharp, unblurred action shots. . . yet so small it slips smoothly into your purse or pocket! Sturdy and solid, beautifully finished in chrome and leather. Comes with genuine leather Eveready case and strap!

Leading professional photographers were shown faultlessly clear photos taken with miracle "MYCRO"—saw enlargements that held the true pin-point definition of the original shots. They were skeptical. So they all snapped their own pictures with MYCRO—and enlarged them in their own studios.†

Result? Unconditional praise—to a man—for this newest of all camera miracles!

The University of Idaho basketball squad called it quits for another season after splitting a two-game series with the highly regarded Cougars of Washington State last weekend. The Vandals, having completed their best season of basketball since 1945-46, won seven contests while dropping nine.

The Vandals were able to win the first contest, played in Memorial gymnasium last Friday evening 39-31, but when the second contest moved to Pullman the following night, the Cougars soundly trounced the invaders 55-37.

Defense Underscored

Friday night's contest featured defense more than it did offensive punch. It seemed evident that the close checking used by the two top defensive units kept the teams from scoring too freely.

Eddie Gayda, WSC's touted scoring sensation was held to nine points, as Joe Grove, Idaho's sensational guard, kept the All-America candidate bottled up for most of the evening. It was through the efforts of Gayda that the Cougars were able to stay in the contest. Had Gayda been hitting in this fracas, the score may have been different. Many of his shots went astray as he was rushed by nearly every Vandal on the floor.

Stallworth Leads

Eight of the eleven Vandals who saw action in the so-called "civil war" battle counted points for the victorious Idahoians. Stallworth connected for 13 points (actually 15 as he bucketed one field goal for Gayda), to gain high point honors in this all important contest. The win by the Vandals gave Oregon State a boost toward the winning of the northern division crown.

The contest was fairly clean from start to finish. There were a total of 29 fouls called by the whistle tooters, which saw only one man leave via the five foul route, that being center Ron Button of WSC. Of these 29 fouls there were but 10 on Idaho.

Rough Second Game

It was double or nothing Saturday night at Bohler gymnasium as the referees blew the whistle 58 times in a contest that was much closer to a boxing match than a basketball game. It could hardly be said that it was a contest at all. Late in the second half, blood rushed from cut eye of Ray "Tiny" Arndt as tempers flared, in the so-called final game of the "civil war" contest. Eddie Gayda also received several bruises in the contest about the face and due to the mishaps, he has acquired the name of "Scarface."

Five Men Foul Out

Due to the roughness of play employed, the contest was spent almost entirely on the foul line. Five players left the contest on five fouls, three of which were from WSC. Ron Button, Tiny Arndt and Jud Heathcote were the guilty Cougars, while Dick Geisler and Roy Irons departed for the Vandals.

Eddie Gayda led the scoring for the evening as he garnered 17 for the victorious Cougars. Joe Grove led the Vandal scorers with 10.

Intramurals

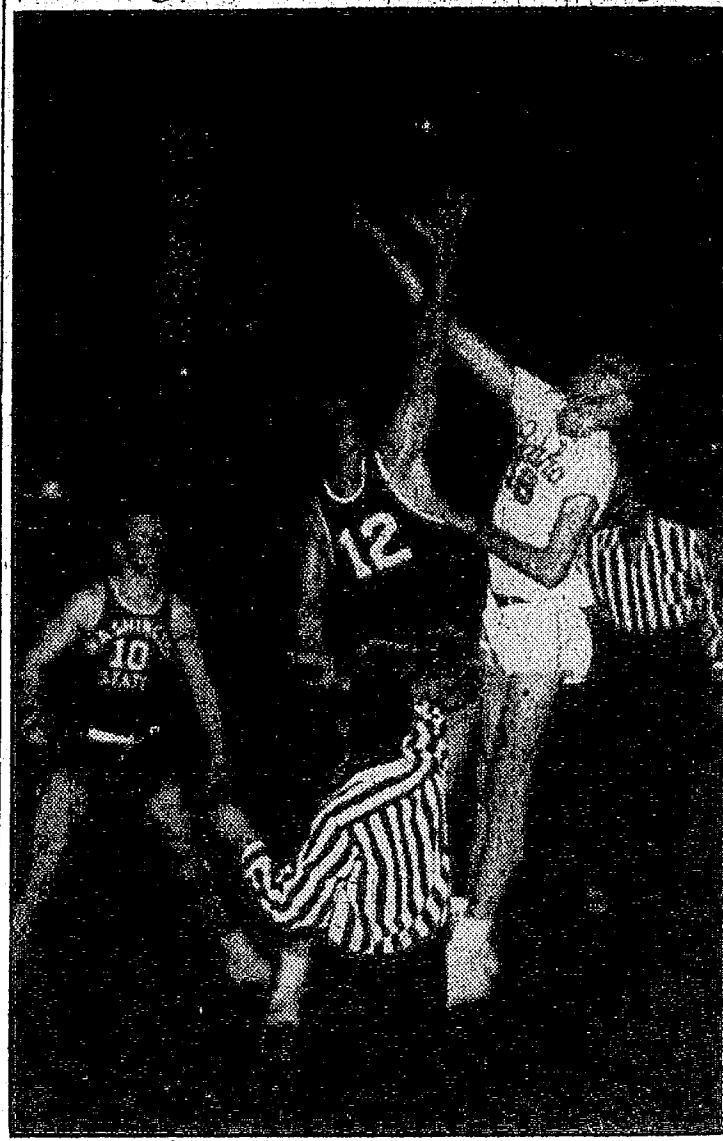

With the completion of intramural football, volleyball, fall tennis, "A" basketball, and swimming, this year's competition is approximately half way over.

Remaining schedules are in "B" basketball, table tennis, golf, spring tennis, horse shoes, softball and track.

Comparative standings and points tallied in over-all intramural activities so far are as follows:

House	Points
(1) Willis Sweet Hall	805
(2) Sigma Nu	778
(3) Kappa-Sigma	771 2/3
(4) Pine Hall	765
(5) Phi Gamma Delta	730
(6) Sigma Alpha Epsilon	690
(7) Delta Tau Delta	685
(8) Alpha Tau Omega	680
(9) Idaho Club	678
(10) Sigma Chi	640
(11) Tau Kappa Epsilon	610
(12) Traller Village	548 2/3

"Big Nick" Controls The Tip

Idaho's big Center Nick Stallworth displays the range which has made him a powerful threat under the backboard, on the court, and in the center circle. Here, he out-stretches Cougar Center Ron Button to control the tip in the opening center-jump of Friday night's game which ended in a Vandal victory of 39-31 over WSC. Bob Gambold, Cougar forward, looks on helplessly.

Idaho Boxers Bow Before Wisconsin; Carlson Stopped

When the PA system announced the results of Idaho's fistic action in Madison, Wisconsin, Friday evening at the conclusion of the Idaho-WSC basketball game, Vandal boxing fans were shocked. Not at the 5-3 decision chopped out by the Badgers over Coach Frank Young's well coached, aggressive outfit, but at the thought of Idaho's two-time NCAA champion, Herb Carlson, having his winning streak of 21 consecutive college bouts so abruptly snapped by a technical knockout.

Approximately 13,000 spectators witnessed John Lendenski, Wisconsin's 1947 NCAA 165-pound champion administer the setback to classy Herb Carlson, and then watched the Big Nine school extend its winning streak to 22 straight dual matches. The string runs through 1946, 1947, 1948 and the current stretch in 1949, but victory was in doubt for the Badgers Friday night, up to the final match on the thrilling card.

Carlson Fight Dramatic
The savage contest between Carlson and Lendenski rated as one of the most dramatic encounters ever fought in the Wisconsin field house, with Carlson, the aggressor, pouring it on and keeping his opponent moving, Lendenski, countering and stabbing back with a sharp left jab. Carlson impatiently brushed aside the left throughout round one but never got a straight shot at Lendenski.

Brother Act Wins Out
The two Walker brothers then punched Idaho to a 2-1 lead by defeating Wisconsin's Paul Kotrodimos and Dick Rebel Curran, respectively, in the 130 and 135-pound battles.

Wisconsin also had a pair of fighting brothers in the Dickinsons, not to be outclassed by Norm and Len Walker, followed the same line and tactics. Don Dickinson stopped Tudy Marks at 1:45 of the second and Dwaine Dickinson decisively defeating Vern Bahr.

Then came the Lendenski victory over Carlson, a win that assured the Badgers no worse than a tie, but that possibility of a tie still held after Ted Diehl of Idaho knocked Ted Kozuszek around in the 175-pound division to gain the verdict.

Ellis Tries, Falls
That left the deciding factor to the heavyweights and Don Ellis, although putting up a game fight, could not cope with Wisconsin's Bobby Ranck, who won the decision over Ellis for his own string,

Idaho Youngsters Split Cage Honors With WSC Kittens

The University of Idaho frosh basketball squad finally broke the jinx that had been hanging over them all season, as they won a hard fought 44-42 contest over the Washington State college Couababes last Friday night in Memorial gymnasium.

The Vandal Babes, a team that had led throughout the contest, saw their hopes dwindle near the end of the game as the Couababes passed them 42-40. It was at this time that guard Herb Miller set the stage for the rampaging Vandals as he dunked in two quick field goals for the Idaho victory. Millard with 15 and Jenkins with 13 led the Vandal scorers. Rosser of WSC led the Couababes with 15.

Lose Second Night

The Couababes bounced back onto the victory trail the following night in Pullman's Bohler gymnasium as they knocked over the Belko coached Babes 48-33. The Idaho team was unable to hit from the floor and as a result a walk-away seemed quite evident. Four men tied for scoring honors in the contest with seven points apiece. They were Dollinger of Idaho and Conley, Roffler, and Roberts of WSC. Herb Millard of the Vandals followed closely with his six.

I CLUB

There will be an I club meeting Tuesday at the Kappa Sigma house at 7:15 p.m.

'B' League Cagers Take Over Courts

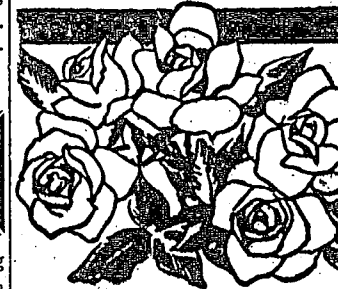

The "B" basketballers took the limelight in intramural sports on the Idaho campus after conclusion of the "A" league season last week. The various men's living groups have entered a total of 42 teams in this combination round robin, elimination and divisional basketball tournament which will last until March 31st.

Games played Saturday afternoon were in the first rounds of the round robin tournaments. The results: CH No. 2 trounced CC No. 2, 30-19; SN No. 1 defeated PH No. 2, 23-18; CH No. 1 dumped SN No. 2, 30-19; ATO No. 1 edged WSH No. 4, 25-23; and PGD laid BTP, 18-16.
