Confusion Reigns As Students Riot

Refreshments At Commencement To Set Social Precedent Of 1949

President Mess Buckingham announced today that three more honorary degrees would be awarded at the spring commencement. In the statement released this afternoon, Buckingham nominated Mr. Skoop Broomster, noted educator who has traveled extensively around the Administration building. Mr. Skoop Broomster is known by a large majority of the students here at the University of Idaho because of his activities, which involve sweeping the floors, emptying wastebaskets, waxing floors and raising cats. The degree of Master Cleaner will be conferred upon him.

Roundhead Becomes Wheel

Mr. Oswald Q. Frink will be offered the degree of Master Wheeler. Mr. Frink can well be remembered by all Ydeehoo students because of his masterful "jockeying" of the small wheelbarrow the Bldg. and Grounds division possessed earlier in the year period to the granting of new appropriations. Frink, on November 32, 1888, upon seeing a colored butterfly flitting across the Ad lawn, gave chase, forgetting to drop his wheelbarrow, pushed it all the way to Pullman while observing the butterfly's characteristics. (Incidentally, the wheelbarrow is still in Pullman.)

New Degree Instituted

A new degree of Forester-at-Large will be given this year for the first time in the history of the University of Ydeehoo, and will be awarded to one of the state's foremost authorities on forest behavior. He is Professor P. King Tom. Professor Tom, whose research into the annals of unknown activity, (at least to some poor saps) has conducted exhaustive tests in Ydeehoo's Jungle, located on southwest corner of the campus, next to McPain Field.

In his thesis, entitled, "Where, Why, When, Who and How," Tom reveals many startling facts about behavior in the institution's Jungle. His thesis was published 23 years ago by the Backwoods Tissue and Book Co. It was well received in Ydeehoo but later was banned in Baston.

Refreshments will be served at commencement this year. Mr. Himmel Six, sixth son of Select Six, has donated this month's output so that those who attend will not be forced to adjourn to town for a short snort.

Why Serve Soup When You Have Flies In Abundance?

By THE SWATTER

Prof. Horace S. Shucks of the Antymology department has announced that he is beginning another of his famed "Flies In Idaho" campaign next October 1. Prof. Shucks explained that the ordinary house fly has been too long regarded as a pest and something must be done about it.

Barrel Bottom

By BOCK

Forgive me readers. Bock had no other choice but to let you down on his recent attempt to aid the cause of alcoholism. After writing what he thought was a fair and unbiased account of the recent campaign to establish refueling stations on the campus for dire alcoholics, your faithful servant was summoned to appear before the Dean of Men.

Upon entering Dean Lagree's office, Bock was forced to sit on the lap of the dean's secretary, Sexy LaFemme for fifteen minutes. Seeing that this was not going to alter your columnist's opinion, Lagree forced Bock to take two of his special El Stinko cigars. After this Bock's spirit was weakening. He consented to petition for only one large corn liquor hole on the Ad lawn.

Tried In Vain

The dean was still not satisfied. He threatened your faithful servant with the "jealous women" treatment. Bock remained firm. The very thought of the smooching Amazons made him quiver, but he would not let the students down.

The three beauties pinned Bock against the wall and forced him into an overstuffed sofa and began caressing him. It was terrifying, six hundred pounds of feminine pulchritude in three bodies kissing and petting one puny male. Bock tried in vain to escape their grasp as Lagree blew smoke into his eyes.

The cause was lost, Bock staggered to the typewriter and printed his abandonment of the corn liquor hole. Let the rioting continue, but Bock will not raise a pen against Lagree and his smooching maulers.

Don't Let This Stir You Up

Proposed addition to the university's architectural scene is shown in a drawing above. It will be formally known as a penitentiary; commonly termed a "big house," jail, pen, or that place "up the river." The institution will have at least 300 cells, enough to hold all parking-ticket violators.

Monarchists Seek Control Over Fearless Fosdick

Orchestra Leader Will Be Crowned On His Head

Sam Canyon and his eighteen hundred piece impressionistic ensemble have been hired to play at the Hand-Holders' club dance, announced Sweaty-Palms, organization president.

"Canyon's style is terrific" said Palms. "I doubt if a single couple will be able to dance all evening. He has no rhythm. A lot of people have dislocated their pancreases trying to dance to his music. He's great!"

Goody, Goody

Enthused, Palms did a swan dive into a partable fishbowl. He came up with the additional statement that the Hand-Holders' club will crown Canyon an honorary king of the club if he can make his singer, June Crispy, warble the Wild Irish Rose to the erratic beats of a logrhythm equation.

Tickets will be available to General Public and his staff. Refreshments will consist of cheese on tripe and baked shinola.

Dirty Old Weed Incites Doctor

Dr. Amoeba Phylum, eminent head of zookeepers union, local No. 122 (ask for Elsie) recently reported a harrowing experience to the Gazette. Pursuing his peaceful path homeward the evening of February 3 he encountered a ferocious, burning cigarette (specie liggett nonirritatum) which attacked without warning.

Dr. Phylum told the Gazette, with blushing modesty, his tale of his fearless counter-attack and added that on the conclusion of the encounter the cigarette was left harmless and that he himself had escaped with only minor first degree burns.

The hero rubbed a sore spot and smilingly told this reporter, "It's just a charred butt now."

GORY STORY

By A PATRIOT

Rat-racing broke out over the campus yesterday and this morning as monarchist agitators and the students' Citizens, Inc., association lambasted each other with crumpets and Yorkshire stew. As early as four a. m. this morning Royalists and Redcoats were chasing Puritans from the Nest and Perch, and cutting down the Fiji flagpole.

Hearings

The Phi Delts tied a cow to their bell and the Tekes wiped their hands on their cannon in expression of alarm over the affair. Sixty professors received their last paychecks yesterday when they admitted to the Freshman class treasurer that they had once used Royal typewriters.

Dr. Viscount Halfanaxe, dean emeritus of the School of Uncommon Law, admitted to investigators Wednesday that he had once eaten Royal pudding and he was lynched on the spot.

Redcoats swarmed into Chrisman hall with burning coals to make hotbeds, while others plastered campus sidewalks with signs like "Gorge with George" and "Sizz with Liz." One band of Royalists were stoned by student Citizens with much gall.

Moscow Manicure

Moscow's Main Street was bathed in finger nails as Redcoats were manicured with gleeful abandon. Forty students were reported missing late last night when their charging steeds threw them and joined the Royalist forces, neighing "We want Whinny."

Classes will be held at 8 o'clock as usual tomorrow morning, despite the throwing of tea in the first floor water fountain. Moaning infirmiry patients, some gashed beyond recognition, moaned some more when reminded they were allowed only three cuts a semester.

Enjoy Yourselves While Studying

Lee Zipperman, university librarian announced yesterday that he is going to make booking more interesting in the second floor libe. From now on there will be pool tables, roulette and crap games from 8 a. m. to 19 p. m. only.

Cueball Finlaydotter of Thisman hall has been named to head the new project. Zipperman said for the benefit of students who lose their pants in the games, a stock of old newspapers will be provided to cover their lower extremities.

The Neotranscendentalists

If we were asked to define neotranscendentalism we would change the subject.

In upstate New York last week a female cocker spaniel gave birth to four pups—all normal.

If you were a horse you would probably feel differently about oats. On the other hand, if you were a sack of oats you would probably feel differently about horses.

Dixie Howell will celebrate his 52nd birthday the day he is 52 years old.

If you wanted to know how many cows there are in the U. of I dairy herd you could count the faucets and divide by four. You would be better off if you counted the legs and divided by four. There might be some bulls in the crowd.

All of which leads us, undoubtedly, to a conclusion. Just now we've forgotten what it is.

Card's Examiantion Scheme Promises Better Grades

Dean T. S. Card of the college of Sweaters and Science announced today a revolutionary new final system for that dvision of the university.

Card said he knew that students were in the habit of worrying all semester about finals, and in order to cure this all students registered in Sweaters and Science will be given a copy of the final when they register, so that they will have plenty of time to leek up the answers before the finals, 18 weeks later.

Good News

When told of the new plan, the Bisma Thi's were overjoyed. They said now they can burn their old test files and have enough heat to keep their house warm next winter.

Dances Discussed In Statement Of Dean

The Dean of Men, in a hundred-page statement, released the decisions recently reached by the Calendar Committee as to the number of dances allowed to be held of each living group during the year.

The Dean stated that informal firesides held in the university phone booth are to be limited to six each semester. Chaperones are necessary, he stated, at these functions.

Tippling during lectures, the Dean stressed, is to be encouraged. Professors who forbid pocket flasks will probably lose their pensions and be forced to serve as parking attendants behind the Ad building.

A Stinking Subject

Another portion of the statement discussed the practice, recently in vogue of burning dead skunks in voodoo rites. These rites are designed to cast bad luck on coeds who wear spiked shoes at exchanges. "The Administration" said the Dean, "frowns upon spiked shoes but the burning of skunks only creates an ill wind about the campus."

Conclusion of the statement determined that next year each living group will be allowed twelve house parties, nine gripe sessions, and fifteen spirit seances.

DEAR BOCK

Dear Bock:

I gotta get it off my chest. Will you help me? Someone simply must understand how I feel.

Marie was the first. She shouldn't have caressed my left widow's peak. She lies in the garden, under the dahlias.

Emily had a nasty habit of tweaking my mustache. She, with Alice, who kept swiping my height-builders, are in the refrigerator on ice. Katy was fourth—the woman was maddening when she kept picking her nose. I picked it for her, all right, with a flat edged shovel.

Now, my conscience bothers me. I must confess all. My last was worst. I'm sure of that now. Her name was Barbara. I stoked the furnace with her. You know what she did?

Babes In Danger Of Lug Wrenches

"Women's Friday night late permission has been extended to five a. m." announced Dean Louise Liverpills at a press conference last Tuesday at the Nest.

The authorization of the extended permission came as a result of prolonged propagation in interest of the measure. Women favoring the move claimed that it would allow them more time in which to commute from night spots on Main Street to the campus.

Detractors of the new late permission however, insisted that the use of the "flat tire" excuse would go out the window. "Our dates will not have time to change their tires" said Miss Xan Garbage, spokesman for the group, and added, "and we'll have to help them jack up their damn cars."

Double Whammy

Muscles O'Leary, burly grappler from Hog Hollow, Ill., will soon be seen in action on the mat in Memorial Gym. The hairy-chested wrestler has scored in outstanding matches in the East and local promoters promise grunt-and-groan fans that his gyrations and impromptu belly-tosses are "indeed pleasing to the eye."

On Deck, Swabbies

"Naval ROTC students at Idaho will no longer be landlocked sailors" said Captain Steeple of the naval unit today.

Steeple told an amazed audience of 3819 persons assembled in the Bucket coke room, that through money made from the coke machine in the Navy building, a slightly used battleship has been purchased and will be put into service on Robinson lake as soon as possible.

Named to captain the sturdy craft has been Cadet Midshipsman Left-handed Third class Money Machinists mate, John Baymond Sinnenkamp, who was dishonorable discharged from the Idaho unit in 1927 for putting cracker crumbs in the Dean of Women's bed.

Watch Out Fur Mix And Curr

Captain Bones of the Moscow Poleece department told reporters today that he hates to alarm the local populace but he feels it necessary that all residents of this area be on the lookout for two gunmen and bankrobbers traveling under the aliases of Stale Mix and Chet Curr.

This pair is said to be armed and dangerous and may attempt to shoot their way out if cornered for a coffee check.

Baffling Mystery Solved At Last

Three university scientists who have spent most of their lives working on a mystery, accidentally stumbled across the solution this morning in their laboratory. The three men who were unable to remember their names because of their excitement said they have been trying to determine how a grasshopper hears.

The men took a male grasshopper and enclosed him in a box; they then placed a twelve inch bell within two feet of the box and struck it with a hammer causing the grasshopper to jump every time they hit the bell. Confident that the insect heard through its legs they took him out of the box and amputated his legs. After placing him back in the box they again struck the bell and the grasshopper failed to jump. Their conclusion: a grasshopper hears through its legs.

Monthly also announced that all club members, in regard to common decency, will hang laundered panties out to dry behind the Tri-Delt woodshed.

DATING PROBLEM SOLVED

In line with the university's building program, a new dormitory for students will be constructed this summer. Qualifications for admission to the hall are rigid. Applicants must prove that they belong to one of the two sexes. The plan is expected to meet with little resistance.

STUDENT MORALE UPPEd

City public-health officials have declared that water is deteriorating the pipes serving the university living quarters. Immediate plans are under way to convert to beer. (Note: important meeting of Rally Committee, 4 p. m., Spruce Tavern.)

"Well, my boy," said the minister to the three-year-old. "What did Santa Claus bring you?"

"Aw, he brought me a little red chair. But it isn't any good. There's a hole in the bottom of it."

"Did you hear about the girl who went to the fancy dress ball in a suit of armor?"

"No, what happened to her?"

"Nothing."

The professor was leaning over his rostrum delivering a dissertation on the mode of talk of the "younger generation."

"Now what's that silly saying the girls on the campus are in the habit of saying?" he mused to the discomfiture of the coeds in the class.

"No!" shouted a male from the recesses of the back row.

Faculty Members Spread It On

Unusual costumes and original head-dresses marked the annual Faculty Ball last night at the Arboretum from nine 'til ?????. Under a heavy blanket of North Idaho fog, professors and their wives jitterbugged to the music of crickets, pausing occasionally to sample university water with its titillating sulphuric after-effects.

Easily the outstanding hit of the affair was Miss Wilhemina McGonigle, who attended wearing a lovely Grecian costume complete with urns and miniature Parthenons. Her escort was draped in sack cloth and ashes to convince any state legislators who might wander around of his meager clothes-allowance.

Cutting Remark

All went well until the middle of the dance when an elderly Dean tried to give a final to a pine tree. Whereupon the Dean sawed down the unfortunate tree and was heard to mutter, "I guess I stumped him!"

The ball was nearly brought to a rather abrupt close when six of the musicians folded up their hind legs and held out for higher pay. Undaunted, faculty members quickly formed their own orchestra by opening their luncheon kits and holding a jam session.

Conference Considering New Sport

Idaho Athletic Dept. Gets $6,000,000 Bullfight Fund

As a direct result of recent congressional actions approving bullfighting in the U. S., the University of California at Los Angeles has held the first collegiate bullfight in our nation's history. This experimental affair held yesterday in Los Angeles' Memorial Coliseum attracted and held breathless an enthusiastic crowd of 100,000 fans.

A special meeting of Pacific Coast Conference representatives is being held in Portland this week. According to school officials there is no reason to expect opposition to a suggestion made by UCLA officials that bullfighting become a major competitive sport in the PCC.

California Acts

The state of California has appropriated two million dollars for initiation of the new sport. Upon hearing this, Idaho's governor chuckled derisively and announced that this state was supplying the University of Idaho with six million dollars for the same purpose. "This is just a starter," Robins laughed.

Because he speaks Spanish even better than English, Peon Green was appointed chief scout for the Vandal bullsters and left this morning for Mexico City where he is to contact and attempt to hire a head coach. Leading the list of desired candidates to the position is Carlos Hemo, one of the greatest living matadores.

Green—C.B.S.

It is almost certain that Green will have to outbid California scouts but considering the money at his disposal Idaho boosters needn't worry. While addressing a host of fans from the train's observation platform, Green stated that "Hemo is in the bag." It will also be the scout's job to select good-strained fighting bull's to be shipped north. His contract contains a clause making him Chief Bull Shipper.

Schedule Suggested

Rules haven't been drawn up yet but roughly the competition will consist of a schedule of three matadores and their assistants along with two alternate matadores travelling to each of the schools in the conference and meeting bulls that have been supplied by the institutions' "Ag" schools. Each bull will be in the charge of a livestock major who will be awarded major sport letters if his bull collects enough points during varsity competition. One point will be tallied for every scratch on an opposing matadore.

COMES THE REVOLUTION

In order to insure that a college education will always be worthwhile, the A.S.U.I. executive board has just voted in favor of a $5,000 a month pension for all graduating seniors. Officials are investigating.

Droop Decides Bullfights O.K.

Droop Pearson, well known analyst, has declared that he considers the much discussed "bullfight legality" legislation as being "delightful" and says it is the most important accomplishment yet to come from our present administration. Our president immediately replied that Pearson's statement shows the columnist as an "s.o.b." (symbol of barbarism). The nation anxiously awaits Mr. Pearson's retaliation. It is expected that tomorrow's column will insinuate that the president is a "panty-walst."

I'm Out

By GRUNTLUND RICE

Peon Green, Intramural Sports Director, has announced that all persons participating in intramural sports will hereinafter be housed in a common housing facility. Many places are under consideration, including the Dairy Barns and Neale Stadium.

Chief objection to the Dairy Barns as a place to live comes from athletes who say that noise will protrude through the thin stalls and disturb study hours. Cob Greene, director of dormitories, stated however that the athletes must live in a house large enough to keep rental and dining charges to a minimum.

Objection to the move comes from fraternities who want to keep their vaunted stars around to impress prospective pledges. "Besides," said Snob Snorerack, spokesman for the Greeks, "we are thinking of the boys themselves. If this deal goes through they'll develop an intramural complex that will exclude any academic approach to life's problems."

ROTCs To Polish All Saddle Shoes

Fighter planes from Spokane and a part of the Moscow tank battalion were needed to restore order in the armory at the Women's gym yesterday when Kernel Chuck Chevrolet announced to an assembled ROTC force of 34,782 students that purple and chartruese kilts would be the uniform of the day for the remainder of the semester. He also announced that saddle shoes will be worn on all formal occasions.

Cape Saves Matadore

This scene from yesterday's bullfight at UCLA shows varsity torero, Nudes A. Chihuahua, shortly after his trousers were ripped from him by Ferdinand VIII. Such dramatic scenes as this will soon be seen by Idaho students. Readers may be interested to know that Chihuahua came through his ordeal unscathed while fourteen spectators were injured by trampling co-eds.

Idaho's Fieldhouse To Be Sacrificed For New Bullring

The hum of bulldozers and dump trucks will be heard on the campus beginning next week as contractors begin to raise the unfinished fieldhouse back of the gymnasium. Space is needed to make room for a bullfight arena. Contractors said if they receive a break in weather the ring will be complete in time for fall practice.

Well-equipped

Chief contractor, Cancha Builder, estimated the project would cost approximately $2,500,000. The university architecture department decided tentative figures on general characteristics of the arena yesterday afternoon at a bull session. In the bowels of the building will be located stockyards equipped with all modern luxuries of bull life. Automatic fertilizer forks are to be installed at regular intervals at the arena to prevent pile-ups during intermissions.

Unconfirmed estimates placed seating capacity at 40,000. Elevators will be placed at every gate to take patrons of the cheaper sections to their seats. The structure will be as high as a fourteen story building.

Voodoo Portraits

Modest and retiring is Bill "Mumbles" Creep, Idaho's national champion mumbly-pegger. An avid sportsman who loves all games—jacks, skip-rope, marbles, and hop-sotch, Creep is a credit to all Voodoo fans.

Shown above in contest uniform, Creep is typical of the "new-south" Idaho attitude toward athletics. He was born. He graduated from Hominy high school in Face Rouge, La. Where he starred. Creeps' favorite mumbly shot is a double back-flop with extended blade protruding from the right shoulder toward the grass. Mumbly-peg lovers applaud his flawless style and control.
