University Day Program Has Wide Range Of Sports Events

Freshmen Plan For High School Guests

Seniors of high schools in the area will be the guests of the freshman class tomorrow at the University Day activities. Fresh committees have made plans to register, guide, and entertain their visitors while on the campus. Final plans were made by a committee which included (left to right) first row—Elizabeth Fitzgerald, Anne Pappenhagen, Rae Pharris, Virginia Orazem, Bert Johnson, and Tom Donaldson; second row—Jim Geddes, Hyde Jacobs, Nell Thornton, Andy Christensen, and Fred Stringfield.

The GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

President J. E. Buchanan yesterday sent to the Board of Regents a recommendation that the athletic dormitory plan be given a trial at the university next year. Only this final approval stands between the adoption of this plan which was first presented to the campus by Coach Millard F. Howell nearly two years ago.

The recommendation which the president sent to the board members is based on the plan drawn up by the athletic council in March. The Idaho club is to be used and the kitchen facilities which were taken from the dormitory two years ago will be replaced.

Voluntary Clause

The club will be used to feed and house athletes who are on athletic jobs effective September 1. Juniors and seniors now residing in fraternities and university dormitories will be permitted to make a choice between living in the dormitory or their present residences. The plan will not apply to married students or to students living with their parents in Moscow.

Advisory Commission

An advisory commission will have the authority to make exceptions to requirements for living in the dormitory. The president's recommendation stated that the plan had been fully discussed with the Operations council, the Executive committee, the Athletic board, and the students. At an open meeting held May 3, no student or faculty member registered any opposition. A secret vote taken among the football players favored the plan 38 to 12.

Professor Attends Washington Meet

W. W. Tinniswood, acting head of the civil engineering department at the university, left Tuesday for Bellingham, Wash., where he and other men from Idaho are taking part in the annual conferences of the Pacific Northwest Sewage Works association and the Pacific Northwest section of the American Water Works association.

Hangar Constructed

Various field improvements have been planned and are being completed this year. A four-plane all-metal hangar has been constructed with private funds. A new office and classroom building will be completed within two weeks so that ground school classes may begin. The Vandal Fly-

University To Have Annual High School Press Conclave

The third annual journalism conference of the Idaho High School Press association will be held at the University of Idaho on June 30 to July 2. Prof. Paul T. Scott, university department of journalism, announced today. High school newspapers and yearbooks will be criticized and ratings awarded during the conference.

Travel In Europe May Be Obtained For Low Cost

Many students will be able to obtain low-cost air transportation to Europe during June and July through a program initiated by Youth Argosy, a national youth organization. The use of air transportation for student tourists is made necessary by the unusually large number of students desiring transportation abroad. With 12,000 students seeking accommodations for foreign travel, this year will probably establish an all-time record for student movement.

Will Fly To Europe

When all scheduled ships for the summer are filled, Youth Argosy arranged for additional transportation in Douglas four-engine Skymasters. The cost to students will be relatively low because the same planes will bring back displaced persons from Europe. In the fall, student groups will return by ship. The cost for the round trip will be $340 per person. Additional information may be obtained by writing to Youth Argosy, Inc., Northfield, Massachusetts.

Flight Instructor Training Open At Local Sky Ranch

A three-course flight school at Moscow Sky Ranch—for primary, commercial and flight instructor training—has been authorized by the civil aeronautics authority, Pete Fountain, owner-manager of the airport, announced today. Contract for the school was negotiated recently with the veterans administration, he said.

Enter School In '41

The father is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wheeler of Spokane, and his wife, the former Phyllis Wells, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Greek Wells of Spokane, both of whom attended the University of Idaho. Jim and Phyllis entered the university together in 1941. Then in December of that year, he joined the armed services. Phyllis continued in school, and on November 29, 1944, her junior year, she and Jim were married in the Tri Delta house. A month later Jim went overseas.

Science Honorary Installs Janssen

Allen S. Janssen, dean of the college of engineering, was formally installed president of Sigma Xi, science honorary, at the initiation banquet Tuesday night at 6:15 in the Ad club.

Cattle Shed To Be Constructed Soon

John E. Thomas, Moscow contractor, entered the low bid today for a cattle shed at the University of Idaho. His bid was $3,465 for the construction of the shed to be used by the animal husbandry department in its beef cattle development program.

Faculty "Clamps Down"

The Faculty Senate at Roosevelt college recently voted to require all officers and managers in student organizations to maintain a 2.0 grade average.

Tenacity Marks Wheelers' Long Struggle To Graduate

A garter delayed Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wheeler of Spokane from getting their university diplomas, but now there will be three more interested spectators than they had counted upon at their commencement exercises. Patty, 3; Donald, 2; and Margaret, 1, will watch their mother and father at the 1949 graduation service as Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler are awarded sheepskins for which they have worked eight years.

Annual Card Party Set For Tonight

Almost a tradition on the Idaho campus, the annual Attic club card party is scheduled for 7:30 tonight in the Art building. Tickets are now on sale for 50c, or reservations may be secured by calling 8356.

Will Live In Caldwell

Both were out of school the following year, although Phyllis took some correspondence work. The next year both were back, determined to finish. Phyllis took more correspondence and registered for a class when she could, hiring a baby sitter at times. Jim received

Welcome To The Campus

The members of the Freshman class have been looking forward to meeting you. As a representative of the group, I wish to extend to you an invitation to be our special guest on the campus for the entire day. At the registration desk in the Student Union building we have ribbons which will be your free ticket to all events on the campus today.

Sincerely, Andy Christensen, President, Freshman Class

Grade Reports

Second semester grade reports may be obtained by leaving a large letter size, stamped, self-addressed envelope at the Registrar's office before June 10.

Music Department To Present Three In Mixed Recital

The department of music presents three advanced students, assisted by a faculty member, in a mixed recital Sunday, May 15, at 4:00 p.m. in the auditorium.

Cattle Shed To Be Constructed Soon

John E. Thomas, Moscow contractor, entered the low bid today for a cattle shed at the University of Idaho. His bid was $3,465 for the construction of the shed to be used by the animal husbandry department in its beef cattle development program.

Comic Books Boon Of Age

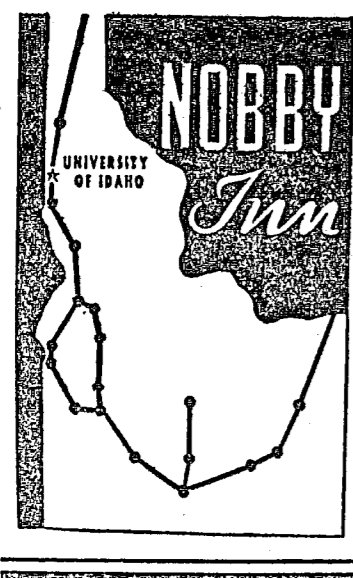

The comic section—once a part of the newspaper which children read to laugh—has changed its character almost entirely. The funnies are apparently written for adult readers. "Wash Tubbs" currently deals very realistically with the problems of an alcoholic—Gig Wilty. Gig, it seems, is now on the road to recovery, but he may yet backslide. "Wash Tubbs" is surpassed for realism in presentation of the commonplace probably only by "Gasoline Alley." In the "Alley," Skeezix and Nina are awaiting the arrival of their second child. It had not yet arrived yesterday morning but was making things uncomfortable for his mother. All of this was faithfully recorded by the author. Christie Sawyer (nee Jameson) is having her share of troubles in Africa, where a would-be lover is making life unpleasant for the whole Sawyer household. Rex Morgan, M.D., is having a bit more than his share of troubles—but he is also meeting more than his share of beautiful women. Some of the strips are full of satire, and some are full of fantasy. Some are brilliant and some are funny. Most of them are good reading. The cartoonists—from Chic Young, best cartoonist of 1949, to Al Capp—do an excellent job of characterization. So much so, that their works are probably the best fiction of the generation. H.R.

Woolgrowers Of Idaho Aid University In Sheep Study

Three southern Idaho woolgrowers, Harry B. Soulen of Weiser, John Breckenridge, Twin Falls, and E. A. Stolworthy and Sons, Idaho Falls, are cooperating with the University of Idaho agricultural experiment station this year in the shearing-shed wool-grading study. This investigation, to determine whether it will pay Idaho sheepmen to grade their wool as it is shorn, is being conducted in cooperation with the U. S. department of agriculture, announces C. W. Hickman, head of the department of animal husbandry at the university. Former Growers President When shearers start on the Southern bands at Midvale about May 5 an official grader from the department of agriculture will be on hand to classify each fleece. Soulen is a former president of the Idaho Wool Growers association. The grading study will shift next to Picabo, where sheep owned by Breckenridge, present head of the Idaho woolmen, will start through the shearing pens May 10. Grading of fleeces from the Stolworthy bands is scheduled for about June 1. Breckenridge and Stolworthy are second-year co-operators in the Idaho study. This 1949 study is a followup to last year's project, which included "skirting" of fleeces prior to grading, a practice generally followed in Australia. Skirting involves removing of sorts and tag ends from fleeces. Professor Hickman estimates that the Idaho study, which will get comparative data on various types of fleece handling and marketing, will continue another two or three years.

Students To Hear Educator Speak On Scholarships

Approximately 1000 representatives of more than one-million college students will hear Dr. John Dale Russell, director of the Division of Higher Education of the U.S. Office of Education, discuss Federal scholarships to permit capable young people to attend college, the U.S. National Student association announced today. Dr. Russell will address NSA's second annual Student Congress to be held this year at the University of Illinois at Urbana, August 14 to September 3.

Prominent Men To Speak
 Other prominent speakers who to date have accepted invitations to address the Congress include Father Vincent J. Flynn, president of the American Association of Colleges, and president of the College of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn.; Miss Helen C. White, member of the U.S. Commission for UNESCO, the Fulbright Commission, and professor of English at the University of Wisconsin; and Dr. George F. Zook, president of the American Council on Education.

Alben W. Barkley, vice president of the United States; and Adlai Stevenson, governor of Illinois, have indicated that they will address the Congress if their schedules permit, but will not be able to make definite commitments until a later date.

Here's More About—Press Conclave

York company, Boise, July 1 at 3 p.m. July 2, at 10 a.m. criticism of all contest entries will be made by O. A. Fitzgerald, University of Idaho staff editor; Rafe Gibbs, editor of publications; Archie Harney, university extension editor; and Prof. Scott. Ratings will be awarded. All high school journalism instructors in Idaho have been invited to attend the conference and participate in the roundtable discussions, Scott said. Any other interested individuals are welcome.

Here's More About—University Day

As well as for the Mother's Day song fest. Its fifty-four members also performed at all the home football games last fall. Professor Kermit F. Hosch, director, recently announced that one event remains on the band agenda this semester. It will be a concert given Baccalaureate Sunday, May 29, and is to be held in the natural concert bowl in front of the Administration building. The program for this concert has not yet been announced.

High Cost Of Education Cited As Major Problem

By ORVAL HANSEN
 One of the biggest barriers to higher education is its high cost. Cost keeps more people from coming to college in the first place and causes others to drop out before they are through than any other single factor. Education at the University of Idaho is within the range of more people in Idaho than in the case of almost any out-of-state institution. "Low price, high quality" is the claim commercial advertisers make about their products. That claim can truthfully be made about education at the University of Idaho. Idaho students pay less for their education. First, students from Idaho homes are not required to pay tuition. That provision was written into the bill that created the University of Idaho back in 1889.

Living Costs Less
 This exemption from tuition costs is a big initial advantage, especially when one looks at the tuition costs in institutions of neighboring states. At fifteen of the more important colleges and universities in the west, tuition ranges from $75 to $600 per year with the average of the 15 over $200.

Add to this the difference between the cost of living here and on other campuses. In a comparison on that basis several factors favor the University of Idaho. First, the university is situated in a small town where living costs are traditionally lower than in a large city where many western institutions are located.

Board Is Lower
 A second factor is that almost all Idaho students board either in fraternity and sorority houses or in university owned and operated dining halls. Cost of board in such cases is considerably below what it is in commercial dining establishments. Idaho is also famous for its co-operative dining halls where students help to work for their board. An Idaho education is a cheap education in terms of dollars and cents.

An Idaho education is not, however, a cheap education in terms of quality of instruction. Again we can look at the record and compare Idaho with other schools on the basis of quality of instruction. For such a comparison we can turn to the Peabody Report on Public Education in Idaho. With regard to the calibre of Idaho's faculty the report says that "especially does the University of Idaho stand out as having a faculty which, as a group, has a high scholarly competence."

Classes Small In Size
 The report points out further that the "standing of the University is gratifyingly high on most measures." According to the report, Idaho rates with the highest ten percent of accredited institutions in the Middle West. Another factor favoring the

BKTP Week To Be Observed On Idaho Campus May 15-22

We hate like mad to talk about the Arg staff, but we want to be sure of getting rip-snorting stories, so thought it might be a capital idea to devote a few words of reverence to "Publications." To this end, we have designated next week as "Be Kind To Publications Week."

The authority to hog seven days doesn't seem to come from anyone. However, the 31-day period which we call "May" seems to be dedicated to everything under the sun, so we thought that adding the Arg's name to the list wouldn't hurt anyone's feelings.

No Mummy Week
After choosing the forthcoming seven days as B. K. T. P. Week, we found that it is shared with National Raisin Packaging Week, Straw Hat Week, Frozen Food Week, Stewed Prune Appreciation Week, and Horse-fly Abolition Week. Poppy Week occurs there, too, but we can't see why Poppy gets a whole week when Mommy gets just one day.

We intended to devote our attention to publications during the opening days of May, but when we learned that the first week was Hospital Week, National Cutlery Week, and something about Undertakers Week, we postponed the observance.

100 Years Of Pins
At this point we mention the fact that the safety pin is 100 years old this month, but that means about as much as knowing that the shoulder muscle is called the acromiodeltoideus or that "Filet Mignon" is Puccini's most famous opera.

Getting back to the subject, the Arg staff seems to think that the idea of dedicating weeks to people is old-fashioned and out-of-date. It all goes to show that we can't have archaic and eat it too.

Softball Tourney Has Five Teams
Five teams will take part in the women's softball tournament which begins Monday at 4 p.m. on the women's athletic field. Teams this year will be chosen on the basis of classes instead of living groups. A student wives' group will also participate.

The freshmen nine will meet the juniors in the initial game of the tourney next Monday. Student wives will be matched against the sophomores in the second tilt. Because a bye was drawn, the senior team will meet the winner of the Monday night game.

Play will continue into the following week with schedules to be announced later. Captains will be

National Magazine Honors I. Speaker

The current issue of the national magazine, Vital Speeches of the Day, features the recent address at the University of Idaho by Dr. John Moseley, president of the University of Nevada. The magazine, published twice a month, selects for each issue the most significant speeches given throughout the world.

Speaking at a university assembly March 7 on "Training for Citizenship in a World That Is to Be," Dr. Moseley stressed the value of a broad education in making a broad-minded man.

"It is the business of education," he said, "to turn out whole men. Implementing education is the act of storing the mind with tools—some for practicability only, some combining beauty with utility, and some only for beauty; but all for service. If our homes, churches, schools and civic clubs are to train citizens for a world that is to be, it must be a training of whole free men, growing Godward in power and service."

"About all a college girl knows about a needle is that you have to change it on a phonograph."

150 Vandal Athletes Will See Action During Weekend

Intra-Squad Grid Battle Will Be Featured Event

Red, White Teams Assure Rough Tilt By Even Matching

Tomorrow afternoon will bring what may be the most evenly matched intra-squad grid tussle in Idaho history. Conditions for the annual classic will be ideal if the weatherman prolongs sunshine through Saturday.

The game, to be played before an expected capacity crowd at Neale stadium, will pit the Reds against the Whites for the climax of spring drills. The Red squad boasts 14 lettermen from last year, while the Whites carry 11.

Backfield for the Whites will be built around old reliables like John Brogan, Jerry Diehl, Jim Chadband and Bob Mays. Their opponents will be bolstered by such stars as Ted Diehl, Jim Hatch, Bob Mays, Bud Riley and King Block.

25 Lettermen

Lines for the two squads may tell the story. Lettermen that are line-men on the Red team include: Ends—George Ballew, Jack Beach and Billy Mullins; tackles—Max Herrington, and Marvin Beguhl; guards—Wilbur Ruleman and Ray Colquitt; and Vern Baxter at center.

Those lettermen on the White squad are: Ends—Orville Barnes and Rich LeDuc; tackles—Carl Kullsgaard and Will Overgaard; guards—Tom Trees, Gene Rose and Jim Tallant and center Tom Ambrose. Both squads have several outstanding freshman stars up from last year.

The Red team is being coached by Babe Curfman and Steve Belko with the assistance of three student coaches, Ralph Paasch, Dick Goodman and Win Bishop. White Coaches are Gene Harlow and Bill Godwin with John Evans, Jack Jones and Bill Beitz as assistants. Head Coach Dixie Howell is just an innocent bystander.

Kickoff for the big game has been slated for 3 p.m. in what will be the final event of a day filled with athletic festivities for the Idaho campus.

Cinder Marks Fall On MacLean Track

The warmer days have proven to be of an advantage to a certain Californian on the University of Idaho track squad. That individual is freshman star Dick Newton. Only Wednesday, the California flash ran the 100-yard dash in 9.7, thus eclipsing the mark set by Dick Armstrong in 1947 by one-tenth of a second. Newton's time for the century is not official, however, for he wasn't running against meet competition.

Newton does, however hold the school mark in the 220 yard dash. Two weeks ago, in a freshman meet with Washington State, he clipped the tape at 21.4. The previous record held by Dick Armstrong was 21.5.

Another Vandal record fell by the wayside last Saturday in the Idaho-WSC meet at Pullman, as the mile relay team composed of Dick Armstrong, Norm Farnham, Warren Johanson and Don Miller finished the race in 3.21 even. The old record of 3.23.3 was set in 1933 by Felton, Thomas, Livingston and Kalbus.

Idaho Track Team To Meet Montana

The Vandal track team will play host to the Montana thin-clads tomorrow at one o'clock, for the Vandals' last dual meet of the season.

Hurdler Bean and 2-miler Harper have recovered from their injuries, but may suffer somewhat from a lack of conditioning due to the layoff enforced during the period of convalescence. Another hurdler, Taylor, who pulled a muscle during the WSC meet last week, may not be able to participate.

The Montana squad is reported to be strong in the field events, hurdles, and the quarter mile; the prospects of good races when Idaho's Bean and Armstrong swing into action are very good.

The girl who swears she has never been kissed has a right to swear.

Time Out

By DON RICE

The sports calendar for today and tomorrow shows enough events to drive the ordinary sportswriter crazy and the fans wild. On the menu for the weekend are football, track, baseball, golf, and basketball. If there'd been anything else going on this week, we simply wouldn't have been able to make it for this issue. It's one of the heaviest sports schedules in the history of the university.

Feature attraction on Saturday is, of course, the intra-squad football game—the clash for which everyone on the campus has been waiting for months. This spring classic has taken on added interest this year, since it has begun to appear that the Vandal gridgers have the greatest striking potential in many years.

Our promised prediction regarding the outcome of the Red-White contest will probably cost us dearly in prestige if we miss, but here it is anyway. I'll be the Whites by one touchdown.

Weekend Schedule

Friday—3 p.m.—baseball, Idaho vs. Washington.

Saturday—8 a.m.—golf, Idaho vs. WSC.

10 a.m.—baseball, Idaho vs. Washington.

1 p.m.—track, Idaho vs. Montana.

3 p.m.—football, Reds vs. Whites.

All events are at the university here and no admission is being charged. Only Idaho's tennis squad will be away from home being at Pullman facing WSC Saturday.

Basketball Added To Weekend Sport

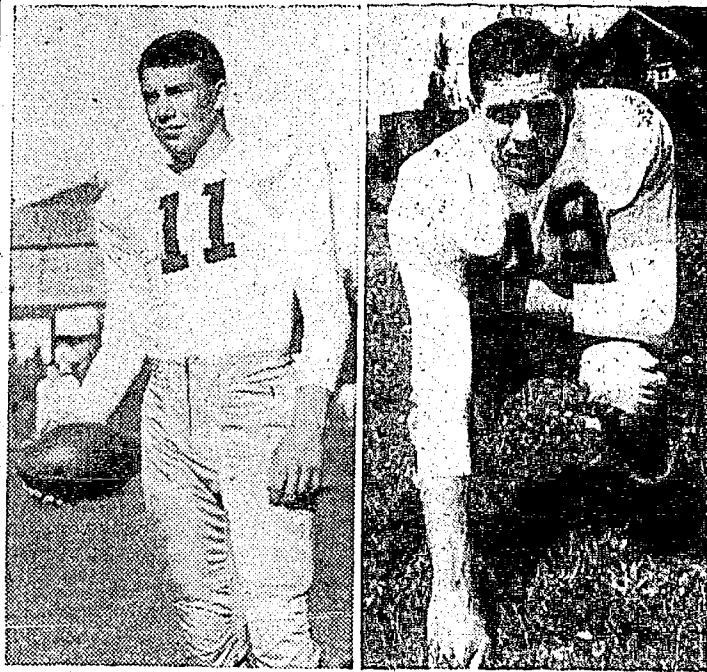

Not to be outdone by the baseball, football, track, golf, and tennis teams, Vandal basketballers are going to have their own scrimmages tonight and tomorrow to wind up their spring practice sessions.

Cage prospects for the 1949-50 season have been divided into four squads and a double-header will be played on both evenings. The time will be 7 p.m. and admission to the Memorial gymnasium for the tilts is free.

Until Thursday basketball was the only major sport not represented on the campus this weekend. It seems that Coach Chuck Finley has saved the day for Vandal cage fans. They'll now have an opportunity to look over next year's possibilities before cheers from last season have died.

Some persons are still talking about a worried freshman girl who came to the dean's office at registration to inquire if the instructor for her physical education class was Mr. or Mrs. Staff.

Fencers Seek Win Vs. WSC Saturday

The University of Idaho fencing team is out for revenge in hopes that they can knock Washington State out of the victory column, as the two schools meet for the second time this season tomorrow afternoon at Pullman. In the previous meet held here, the Cougar clawed the Vandal 6 to 3.

Coach Ray Weston has named Bob Munson to captain the Vandals in their third meet. The other two members of the team are Val Yurchenco and Walt Ward. Idaho holds a lone victory over Gonzaga 5-4.

Idaho Tennis Squad Loses To Cougars

In the last match of the season before the northern division tournament, the Vandal tennis squad lost to the WSC Cougars. Not one of the Idaho team members won his match. This makes the number of losses for the team a sum total of five, and the number of wins is two matches.

The results of the matches were:

Washington's Huskies Here; Games Today And Saturday

Another full weekend of baseball is on tap for Idaho fans. This afternoon and Saturday morning the MacLean field diamond will be the center of activity when the University of Washington Huskies pull into the Idaho camp to wind up a four-game series with the Vandals. The Seattle crew won two games from the "luckless" Idaho nine in the coast city earlier this season. Game time today is set for 3 o'clock with tomorrow morning's contest scheduled to start at 10

Golfers Lose One Then Defeat Zags; Cougars Here Next

Idaho's greensward boys had the weather on their side last weekend when they met the University of Washington Friday, May 6, and the University of Gonzaga the following day.

Washington came out on top Friday afternoon, 20½ to 6½. In the doubles matches Mallory and Draper, U of W, defeated Morley-Keenen, I, (2½-½); Greene-Holland, U of W, won over Mansius-Neibaur, I (3-0); and Rawling-Barwick, U of W, over Faylor-Peterson, I (3-0).

In the singles matches Idaho's Morley blanked the U of W's Greene (3-0); Mallory, Washington, beat Idaho's Mansius (3-0); Rawlins, Washington, won over Idaho's Neibaur (2-1); Holland, Washington, topped Peterson of Idaho (3-0); Faylor, Idaho, over Draper, Washington (2-1); and Barwick, Washington, over Keenan, Idaho (3-0).

Squelch Gonzaga

Saturday proved to be the better day for the team as it trounced the Gonzaga six 13½ to 4½. The individual results were as follows: Carpenter, Gonzaga, over Morley, Idaho (2-1); Faylor, Idaho, over Andre, Gonzaga (2-1); Mansius, Idaho, over Rotchford, Gonzaga (3-0); Ames, Idaho, over Vordahl, Gonzaga (3-0); Miller, Idaho, over Daho, Gonzaga (3-0); and O'Malley, Gonzaga, and Peterson, Idaho, 1½ each.

This weekend both the varsity and the freshman golf squad will meet the WSC Cougars at Idaho. Lineup for the freshman squad, according to Coach Frank James, will be S. Stringfield, V. Batt, F. Cushman, P. Clifton, C. Seeber, and D. Chaney.

Bremer, WSC, over Barnes, Idaho, (6-4) (6-5).

Witt, WSC, over Rainey, Idaho, (6-4) (6-1).

Richardson, WSC, over Baxter, Idaho, (6-1) (6-3).

Hazelwood, WSC, over Dollinger, Idaho, (6-2) (6-0).

Kafka, WSC, over Berger, Idaho, (6-2) (6-1).

Doubles: Soth and Witt, WSC, over Baxter and Barnes, Idaho, (6-1) (6-0).

Hazelwood and Richardson, WSC, over Dollinger and Rainey, Idaho, (5-7) (6-2) (6-2).
