1000 Students Complete Registration During First Day

ASUI Board Discusses Governing Of Pep Band

Approval of a special committee recommendation for the governing of the pep band was the first item of business taken by the ASUI executive board at their first meeting this year held last Tuesday.

"Oh for the hands of a Chinese idol" was the plea of hundreds of Idaho students as they wound their way through registration lines yesterday and this morning.

Registration blanks, permit to register, class cards, veterans cards and time schedules are only a part of the gear necessary to get through the line. Early morning callers who took places in the lines in the wee hours of the dawn, were forced to find places for thermos bottles, and lunch sacks.

Happy Days
The most popular (?) man on the campus today was undoubtedly the kind (?) gentleman who stopped a frosh engineering student just as the engineer was coming out of the bookstore. After considerable juggling, the frosh gave up in exasperation and threw the last of his books down only to find that he did not have a match.

Another pleasing (?) soul is the buddy who told Jason how to beat the lines. After following the detailed directions which he gave, Jason wound up standing in Memorial gymnasium ready to complete his registration. Registration officials soon threw a block into the plan when the found that Jason's cards were not signed by an advisor. Friendship can be beautiful, they say.

"Gone Are The Days"
Very noticeable throughout the registration lines were the increasing number of young frosh. Gone are the days when Dad holds the baby while Mom goes through the line and vice versa. From all indications the post war vet students are becoming the minority.

Don't Worry
Boys, in case you have made the hasty decision that the Idaho coeds have fallen into some unknown wealth because of the number who are wearing small orchids, you have been misinformed. Jason has heard a semi-official rumor that business firms are giving them free of charge.

Jason would like to notify all house activity that all publications are holding a general meeting for all old members and anyone interested in working on any of the old student publications during the coming year.

Drama Tryouts
Tryouts for all ASUI play productions of the first semester will be held next Tuesday and Wednesday evening at 7 p. m. in the university auditorium.

Miss Jean Collette, head of the dramatics department, also asks that all those interested in play production report at the same time, as crew hands are needed.

The first production for the 1949-50 season is "Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams. It will be given sometime during October.

COMING EVENTS

- Monday: Hell divers meeting 8 p. m. in Memorial Gym. Election of officers and plans for tryouts. Homecoming committee chairman will meet at 7 p. m. in the Bucket.
- Intra-mural managers meeting at 4:15 in room 107, Memorial gym for organizing intra-mural program for the coming year.
- Tuesday: Students interested in ASUI drama report to auditorium Tuesday and Wednesday at 7 p. m. for part tryouts for all ASUI plays to be given this semester.
- Wednesday: ASUI drama tryouts again tonight in auditorium at 7 p. m.

2000 Brave Cold To Attend First Outdoor Dance

Approximately 2,000 students and townspeople braved the chilly night air Monday night to attend the first annual street dance sponsored by the Moscow Chamber of Commerce welcoming Idaho students back to college.

Held on Third street just above Main, the dance featured the music of Carl Painter and his 14 piece orchestra from Lewiston. Several Idaho student musicians appeared with the band.

Welcomes Students
Welcoming addresses to the University students were given by Moscow city mayor, R. K. Bonnett; the first annual street dance sponsor, William E. Folz, president of the Chamber of Commerce; and Mrs. Kola Gallaher, street dance chairman. Bob Moulton, ASUI president, made a response on behalf of the student body thanking businessmen for the reception.

Earlier Monday the Chamber of Commerce furnished "courtesy Cars" to assist students arriving on the "Vandal Special" with baggage. Twelve o'clock permission was granted by Dean Carter to University women attending the dance.

All-Student Mixer Tomorrow Evening

New students and old students alike get a chance to get together and get acquainted Saturday night when the first all-campus mixer will take place in Memorial gymnasium. Music will be furnished by Don Hannah and his orchestra.

Sponsored by the Idaho chapter of Blue Key, national men's society honorary to enable students to get acquainted at the first of the year, the mixer will last from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. Women will have 1:00 a. m. permission to permit them to attend the affair.

Sports dress will be in order with skirts and sweaters assigned for the women and slacks and sweaters for the boys. A program will also be presented for the benefit of those attending the dance. Included will be an address by Bob Moulton, ASUI prexy. Following his speech, vice president Ken Briggs, Secretary Phyllis LaRue and the other executive board members will be introduced.

This all-student mixer has been sponsored by Blue Key for the past several years to help students start the school year out in a friendly air.

R. O. T. C. Faculty

Three new officers of the regular armed forces will serve as faculty ROTC instructors, President J. E. Buchanan announced today. The following appointments had been approved by the regents: Captain William Sullivan, USMC and Lieut. W. R. Anderson, U. S. Navy, both assistant professors of naval science, and Major Jerry D. Miller, USAF, associate professor of air science and tactics.

First Student Finishes

Lines and conflicts did not seem to bother Burt Humphries, left, who was the first man through the opening day of registration. Humphries hands his papers to Gene Slade as he leaves the gymnasium, ready to begin the 1949-50 school year.

Committee Brightens "P" Tower

Homecoming committeemen carried paint and brushes to the top of the "P" tower to apply a fresh coat of paint to the traditional landmark of the Idaho campus. The tower has been the scene of several WSC invasions in past years. Working on the tower side are, left to right, Dean Mosher, Morgan Tovey, Gary Netzgar, Ann Harding, and Beverly Eggers.

Deadline Set For Saturday Residences To Submit Names

Tomorrow noon has been set as the absolute deadline for living groups to submit the names of their respective candidates for the 1949 Homecoming queen contest. House decorations theme must also be in by tomorrow, according to Morgan Tovey, Homecoming General chairman.

Queen candidate names may be turned in either to Marie Hargis at Hays Hall or Ann Kettenbach at Gamma Phi Beta. House themes are to be submitted to Mac Black at the Teke house.

During the rally to send off the gridders to Texas on September 28, 19 queen candidates will be introduced. On September 30 the candidates, which will be narrowed to five by the football team, will be announced and their pictures will appear in the Argonaut. The finalists will be entertained at men's living groups from October 3 to 9 and time schedules for each respective group will be listed in the Arg. At the kick-off dance on Monday afternoon, October 10, the five remaining hopefuls will be introduced and that evening at dinner, balloting will take place to choose Miss Homecoming of 1949. Her picture and name will be presented in the Arg the following day.

The traditional "yard high" traveling trophy, now residing at Phi Gamma Delta, which is presented every year to the living group contributing most toward making Homecoming a success, will again go to the abode accumulating the highest total of points during Homecoming week. Pointage may be garnered in the following manner: (1) Houses having the best float; (2) houses having the best decorations; (3) houses sponsoring winning queen candidate; and (4) houses participating in dance decorations and football rallies. Points will also be given to the houses holding receptions for visiting alumni.

As one set theme or slogan for homecoming has been too binding in the past, the committee chairmen have decided that this year there will be no one slogan or theme, but instead decorations have been left to the respective living groups' discretion. There will be no set limit on decoration expense, the "sky's the limit."

New appointments for homecoming chairmen have been completed. "Larry Peretti will handle reception for alumni and Betty Pyles will take care of house decorations," according to Homecoming chairman Morgan Tovey. Francis Flerchinger, publicity chairman, announces that Bob Burnham will be in charge of the technical department; Ruthella Evans, art department; and Earl Brockman, Jack Barnes, and Phil Schnell, photography.

Executive Board Lists Appointments

Several committee appointments were made by ASUI executive board members at their meeting last Tuesday night. All appointments will assume office immediately and serve for the school year 1949-50.

Bob Jonas, executive board member, was appointed to represent ASUI president Bob Moulton on the calendar committee. Dick Boyle, chairman of the Student Activities Board was appointed to represent that group on the calendar committee.

Disciplinary committee members selected were Lee Bath, men's group and Aris Peterson, women's committee.

Selected to work on the Student Faculty committee were Phil Beeson and Donna Jean Broyles.

The last appointment made at the meeting was for Dad's day which is scheduled for November 5. Allan Petrie was chosen chairman for the event and Eleanor Strange was appointed his assistant.

Iceland Student Given Scholarship To Study At Idaho

A 20 year-old student from Reykjavic, Iceland, Tomas Armann Tomasson, has been awarded a $750 scholarship to the University of Idaho by the Idaho State Federation of Women's clubs, President J. E. Buchanan announced today.

The scholarship is one of two provided at the university by the organization for deserving and qualified foreign students to promote better international understanding. The first scholarship was received by Kenneth Frederick Parkin, former RAF member and resident of North Wales, British Isles.

Approved By Panel
Planning to enter training for foreign service, Tomasson was recommended by V. V. Haygood, assistant director of the Student Program Institute of International Education in New York. Approval for the scholarship was made by a scholarship committee consisting of Dean C. W. Hungerford, graduate school; H. E. Lattig, director of student affairs, and Arthur H. Beattie, chairman of languages.

Tomasson arrived at the University of Idaho this week and will reside in a university dormitory.

Noisemakers Lead Rally For Vandals

Led by a "pep band" of cymbals and tin cans, last night's pep rally was attended by over 300 students bearing banners and best wishes for Idaho's Vandals, as they left for Eugene to play Oregon's ducks.

A traditional serpinetine gathered the representatives of the living groups organized by Spurs and wound through the campus to the railroad station, where Gary Netzgar, cheer king, led the voices in cheers and Idaho songs.

"Pluck the Ducks!" was one of the several banners displayed during the rally. Another was "Our fine-feathered" friends, you've had many victories, but this is the end!"

Vet's Subsistence Checks To Be Late

According to a letter received by President Buchanan from W. O. Lemon of the Veteran's Administration regional offices in Boise, veterans will not receive their first subsistence checks until about November 2.

The letter states, "This means that subsistence for the last few days of September and for October will be consolidated and paid in one check. This procedure seems desirable since all of the Idaho institutions of higher learning re-open late in September and considerable difficulty would be met in trying to make separate payments for the last few days in September."

Students Chat With Mayor

Number Plan Minimizes Time Spent Along Line

Registration is proceeding according to plan, D. D. DuSault, registrar, announced late yesterday afternoon. The plan has been set up to process 1,000 students the first day and 1,006 students completed enrolling when the gymnasium doors closed yesterday.

This plan which is set up to allow a certain number of students to register in a given time has been devised from observations and experiments made in the last several years. It is effected by using a number system which makes possible the regulation of those going through the various parts of registration.

DuSault stated that when the plan is coordinated as it was today it is possible to keep to a minimum the amount of time which the individual student stands in lines. It is also "the most feasible plan to keep registration confusion almost nil."

By allowing a certain number to go through a certain compartment of the registration proceedings in a given period, it is possible to have set up the clerks necessary to handle this volume of business. Student Union manager, Chet Kerr also complimented students and registering officials on keeping the bookstore lines down. "At no time during the day were there any excessive number of students waiting to go through the bookstore for texts and supplies," he continued.

Book Lines Move
Despite the temporary quarters of the bookstore clerks there were able to keep up with all business. Kerr announced that those who missed going through the bookstore lines when their group numbers were scheduled would have to wait until Wednesday to purchase their supplies and get books.

Also taken care of in this year's registration lines was the sale of B.L.O.T., the campus magazine; and members of the Spurs, girls underclassmen's service honorary, sold "T" hats in the gymnasium.

Women's "T" Club Planning Outing
Women's "T" club, honorary for outstanding WRA participation, is now making plans for a weekend outing, according to Sue Beardsley, president.

Although women's "T" club has been a campus organization for some years, a new constitution last year changed the system of entrance, allowing a larger group of women each year and allowing the club a wider scope of activities.

Instead of awarding letters on the point system as was formerly practiced, women are tapped each spring on the basis of their WRA activities and general interest.

An annual highlight of the organization is the Snake River trip. Each spring members ride with the Snake River mail boat on its run to the entrance of Hell's canyon.

Officers for the year are Jean Dammarral, vice president and Jean Wardell, secretary-treasurer. Last spring's pledge included Marjorie Johnstone, Jane Fisk, Margery Johnson, Betty Peters, Helen Way, Blanche Erickson and Maryanne Madison.

LSA Elects Officers

Recently elected officers of the Lutheran Student association will be inducted at the close of morning worship at the First Lutheran church by the Reverend Neal Nelson, advisor of the group.

Officers include Allan Ingebritsen, president; George Haugland, vice president; Carol Ingebritsen, secretary, and John Rosenthal, treasurer.

Library Hours

Library hours at the university for the coming year will begin Monday, as announced by Lee F. Zimmerman, librarian.

Monday through Thursday the library will be open from 7:45 a. m. to 5 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. Weekend hours include Friday and Saturday from 7:45 to 5 p. m. and Sunday, from 2:30 to 5 p. m.

Deferred Rushing

Another fraternity rush week has just closed and we hear the question raised again, "How about deferred pledging?" The need for such a system, already successfully adopted at many other schools, has become ever more apparent with the return of an almost complete non veteran population to the university. The time has come for Idaho to be thinking seriously about requiring entering male students to live independent for a semester before pledging a fraternity.

The inability of the university to house all of its incoming students in the past few years has made such a plan out of the question. With this year's crop of pledges down to 165 we are hopeful that we are approaching a time when housing will not present a problem.

Those who oppose the plan argue that fraternity houses will feel a pinch during the first semester while trying to meet expenses with a limited income. These arguments do have a certain amount of validity, but the effects described above would tend to become less each year as houses became adjusted to the system.

On the other hand a system of deferred pledging could eliminate many of the abuses of fraternity rushing. You can imagine the thoughts that went through the mind of one rushee who came to the university from a small town where he had never heard of a fraternity. Immediately upon his arrival at the Idaho campus he was thrown into the turmoil of rush week. He visited most of the houses on the campus and spent hours listening to hundreds of strange men give him their own brand of propaganda telling him why theirs was the only house on the campus. You can understand why he emerged three days later a confused and disillusioned boy. He wisely decided to wait for a semester until the smoke cleared and he could see for himself what he was getting.

Under a system of deferred pledging there is no place for the "hot box" and wild rush parties. The artificiality and fake gloss of rush week would be reduced to a minimum. Prospective pledges could study the various fraternities under actual conditions. The result would be to make all houses work harder to be in a better position to attract good prospective pledges.

By that same token men who wished to pledge a house would be on their toes and try to make the best possible record during their first semester. The houses could be protected, too, by having an opportunity to study the prospective pledges for several weeks before considering them for pledging.

The question is a controversial one, and one that the fraternities themselves will ultimately have to answer. If the fraternities on the Idaho campus expect to justify their existence and to meet the changing conditions of the years ahead, they must critically examine the present system and be prepared to work together for its improvement. —O. H.

New Game—Canasta

New fads come and push the old fads out of our lives and they are soon forgotten. In the past, we have witnessed many such "crazes" hit our campus. First, maybe you hear about some new way of doing something, some new article of clothing that makes either male or female look more "zootie," or just adds that extra something, which at the moment seems so important.

Last year we saw many of the sorority women buying monogrammed sweat shirts and hats, many of the students learning to do the "raspa"—it was all the rage for firesides and exchanges; many students are now just getting over the habit of saying "wot-hoppen?" whenever the opportunity presents itself, even the "yo-yo" boys are hoping for a resurging movement to the dime stores.

The latest fad to begin sweeping the Idaho campus is the game of Canasta. Also known in better circles as "Ca-nasty."

The game may be best described as "an off-rummy" game, or, if you wish, "an attempt by modern science to elevate the lowly game of rummy to the heights paralleled by bridge."

The game is played with two decks of bridge cards, with multi-wild cards, trick bonuses and "sneaky" plays.

To be able to explain the finer points of this game on paper, so that all readers could sit down and play the game, would be an obstacle which this writer could not surmount.

Want to learn how? It's way easier than six lessons from Madam Lazonga to learn to samba . . . not so strenuous as the Patois Glide or Rasba . . . nor as brain-bending as Culbertson's book and Blackwood bidding! Just "knuckle in" on some late bull sessions, keep your eyes above the card tables, arm yourself with a few rule pamphlets and before long you should know what the game is all about. . . —B. H.

New Nash On Display Here

New 1950 Nash Airlyte cars will be on public display beginning tomorrow at the Francisco Motor company, North Main street.

Two lines of the 1950 Nash cars will be offered, the Statesman in the low medium-price field and the Ambassador with fully automatic shifting in the medium price field. The "Statesman" replaces the "600" series. Two and four-door sedans, as well as a club coupe, will be available in standard-priced "super" and higher-priced "custom" models, according to E. K. Francisco, local dealer.

Reviewing highlights of the new Nash Airlyte cars, Francisco said: "We believe the 1950 models represent a new conception of motoring comfort. They are not only beautiful cars, but with aerodynamic design and a choice of three transmissions — hydraulic 'clutchless, shifting; automatic overdrive; or standard transmission—built in twin beds and adjustable reclining seats, the 1950 Nash Airlytes offer driving pleasure, comfort, economy and safety not available in any other car."

Introduction of Nash Motors' 1950 models marks the start of the company's 48th year of automobile manufacture.

Foremost among the mechanical improvements of the 1950 Nash Ambassador models is the hydraulic drive combined with selective lift starting offered as optional

Pledges Aid Homecoming

Kappa pledges Marilyn Pearson, left, and Marilyn Brodd assist Homecoming chairman Morgan Tovey as they place banner advertisement on the bumper of a campus automobile. Bumper cards such as these have been distributed throughout the state, Tovey stated.

Idaho's Own Sings Here

Anne Bollinger, soprano, well-known in New York as well as in eastern and western music circles, was born in Idaho. She studied at the Ward Belmont school for girls in Nashville, Tenn., the University of Idaho, and later received her bachelor of music degree at the University of Southern California.

In 1944 Miss Bollinger made her professional debut at the Hollywood Bowl and reappeared there under the direction of Leopold Stokowski. During 1947-48 the young artist sang at the Columbia, S. C., music festival and in Carnegie hall, New York as soloist in Mozart's minor mass. At the Tanglewood music festival, Miss Bollinger gave a highly praised performance of Mozart's "Idomeneo."

She has been soloist with the Dallas, Tex., symphony, has sung with the Pittsburgh orchestra, with the Erie, Pa., Philharmonic and at the Ann Arbor music festival, as well as at Central City Colorado music festival.

Miss Bollinger will launch the 1949-50 Moscow Community Concert series at Memorial gymnasium, September 29.

Youth Center Plan Of Episcopal Group

Plans to convert a large frame dwelling into an Episcopal student center are shown in a city building permit obtained today by A. E. Hagan, treasurer of the center.

The house, presently located on the northwest corner of Deakin avenue and West Seventh, will be moved to 618 Elm and remodeled with lumber and brick at a cost of about $10,000. The student center will measure 50 feet in width and 75 feet in depth. A contractor for the work has not been named.

Most college boys believe in the two party system — one on Saturday and one on Sunday.

Scholarships

Four $100 scholarships will be awarded to women students this year by the Associated Women Students. Women applying for a scholarship must have been freshmen and enrolled at the University of Idaho last year. The awards will be given on the basis of scholarship and need. Any student interested must obtain an application blank from Dean Carter, Friday, Sept. 20, or before.

Orchesis To Have Dancing Tryouts

Tryouts for Orchesis, women's modern dance honorary, will be announced in the Argonaut in the near future, WRA president, Val eta Herschberger, said yesterday.

Orchesis is an honorary for outstanding modern dancers. Last year the group traveled to Portland to perform in the Northwest Physical Education conference dance section as well as giving a successful concert Mother's Day weekend.

For information concerning this organization call Miss Herschberger, Tri Delta sorority, or inquire at the women's physical education department.

NOTICE

All publications members and those interested in working on publications are asked to meet at the Blue Bucket Wednesday afternoon at 4:30. The different divisions will be explained and general policies will be told. Campus publications include Gem of the Mountains, Blot, and the Idaho Argonaut.

Church News

Revised plans for the proposed new building to house Idaho Institute of Christian Education were studied by the building committee at the Presbyterian Manse last Tuesday. The committee, consisting of Rev. Donald W. Clayton, chairman, Albert Kienholz, of Pullman, and Elmer Sonville, Charles Paul and A. E. Jahn of Moscow, voted to recommend adoption of the new plans by the Board of Trustees subject to minor changes and the launching of a campaign to provide the amount needed to fully finance the project. The recommendations urged that construction be started at the earliest possible moment.

Students To Finish Painting Institute
Idaho Institute of Christian Education building will be painted by student volunteers in a service project of the religious groups of the city. Students willing to assist are asked to report at the Institute any time Saturday morning or afternoon. Reports of the football game will be given over a public address system and refreshments will be served. Students who have brushes or ladders are urged to bring them.

Church Receptions
Annual church open house and reception for students and faculty will be held by the Moscow churches on Tuesday evening, October 4th. Students are invited to attend the group of their choice. Brief programs and refreshments will be provided.

More Feed Means More Milk Given
Better feed and more of it can be relied upon to increase milk production of dairy stock to a marked degree, G. C. Anderson, Idaho dairy husbandryman, observed this week. By selecting the most suitable feed and dishing it up in liberal quantities the milk output may be upped 15 per cent or more, he said.

Such a practice, coupled with other good management principles, the dairy veteran declared, makes it possible to reduce the size of a herd by a considerable percentage without any decrease in yearly production. It's a labor saving policy and a means of increasing the herd income over and above the additional cost of extra feed.

MAKE-UP HINTS
A make-up expert has emphasized the point that ear-rings, like clothes, should be chosen with care. A woman with a round flat face should never choose large, round, clustered ear-rings, while women with long, thin faces should avoid long, dangling ear-rings.

Weddings Still Hold Spotlight As Three More Couples Vow

Summer weddings held the social spotlight among university students at their various places of residence. Three more vows were reported today with several more having taken place during the interim between spring and fall semesters.

Wagner-Vajda
The ceremony uniting Miss Elanta Wagner and Mr. George E. Vajda was read in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Vander Nampa parents of the bride, on September 4. Mr. and Mrs. G. Vajda, parents of the groom were also present. The bride, an English major, formerly stayed at Ridenbaugh Hall, while the groom, who is an engineering major, resided at Lindley Hall.

After a short wedding trip to Spokane Mr. and Mrs. Vajda took up residence in Moscow.

Kauffman-Eisinger
Miss Frances Louise Kauffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilson and Raymond Eisinger, son of Mrs. John Eisinger, were married on June 4 in a single ring ceremony at the Presbyterian Church by Rev. Donald Clayton.

Both young people are graduates of Moscow High School. The bride attended the University last year. The couple will make their home in Moscow.

Vandals To Meet Oregon; Both Coaches Are Wary

Harlow Reports Ducks Improved

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 p.m. in Eugene, Oregon, the University of Idaho Vandals will meet another undefeated squad, the University of Oregon Ducks in the opening Pacific Coast Conference tilt for both schools.

Guard Coach, Gene Harlow scouted the Oregon team in San Francisco last Friday evening when it trounced St. Mary's, 24-7. Coming back with Harlow was the report that the Webfoots are a better all around club than they were a year ago when they tied for the coast title with California. "But," said Harlow, "Our boys are eager to play Oregon and feel we have a chance to beat them—that's why we're going."

Maybe-T Fears

Oregon, on the other hand, fears Dixie Howell's new attack which features his new formation, "The Maybe-T." Bob McClure, Oregon line coach and head scout, pronounced the Vandals "fast and physically tough" and said that the Ducks will be in for a tough afternoon of football. McClure witnessed Idaho's only game thus far and watched them roll up 79 points without any trouble. Oregon's head coach, Jim Aiken, regards the Idaho game of tomorrow one of the toughest on his schedule. Aiken said that any team that can score as much as 79 points on another team has a right to be feared.

Stars Missing

The Ducks will be without the services of their ace quarterback of last season, Norman Van Brocklin, who chose the "play for pay" ranks while only a Junior. Other men from last year's championship squad who will be missed are Van Brocklin's pet end combination consisting of Dan Garza and Dick Wilkins. Also gone is Brad Eckland, stellar pivotman, who was always good for sixty full minutes of hard football.

Oregon Newcomers

The Ducks will have several outstanding new faces on their squad this year. Earl Stelle is expected to be as good at passing as Van Brocklin and he will handle the quarter-backing chores. Other men besides Stelle who will fill out the Oregon starting backfield will be George Bell, Johnny McKay, and Bob Sanders. The Webfoot line will be one of the heaviest to face the Vandals this year with a front line defense that will average better than 209 pounds. The Oregon backfield averages 190. The Vandals forward will be at a disadvantage with only an average of 196; speed may make up for the loss. The Vandals' fleet backfield will weigh in with an average of 180 pounds.

Led by Carl Killsgaard, the ASUI and Alumni Association's candidate for All-America tackle, the Vandals entrained last night for Eugene. They carried with them hope for the first real upset of the season. Almost 3,000 students were on hand to cheer Dixie Howell and his 36-man squad as they departed by train on the long Oregon jaunt.

Travelling Squad

Included on the travelling squad are 27 lettermen. Those making the trip are:

ENDS: George Ballew, Orville Barnes, Lowery Bennett, Ben Jayne, Rich Le Duc, and Billy Mullins.

TACKLES: Marvin Beguhl, Bill Fray, Max Herrington, Carl Killsgaard, Will Overgaard, Jack Reager, and Evan Richey.

GUARDS: Steve Douglas, Ken McCormack, Morris Rose, Wilbur Ruleman, Jim Tallant, and Tom Trees.

CENTERS: Tom Ambrose, Vern Baxter, and Ken Larsen.

Hang Tight!

Time Out

By COSTELLO

Those boys in the smoke filled rooms are hard at it again. Despite annual boostings by college football devotees about the cleanliness of their pet, we again have the singular opportunity of winning a fortune by choosing winning grid machines. One choice which stood out on the gamblers' list was what we suspect is an expensive miscalculation on their part. THEY'VE PICKED OREGON BY 20 POINTS. When we first noted this, it was hard to decide what we'd do with the fortune which glitters on the horizon of the near future. We voted out the world cruise and compromised on a trip to Eugene. We just have to see what the Ducks will do to make all those scores. They'll have to try something new. This through and over the line business is old stuff to the gentlemen on the Vandal squad.

Aiken Shines

One reason for their choice, we suspect, is a gravel-voiced man called Jim Aiken, who is now starting his third year at Oregon. When we first saw him two years ago he stood on a stage in Vancouver, Washington and announced to guffawing listeners that he would make a Rose Bowl championship team of an outfit that was generally thought to be less than mediocre. The 1947 team lost three of its four first games and the guffaws became snorts. Then the amazing Mr. Aiken's team went on to a six game winning streak to finish the season. Last fall only Michigan in the regular season and SMU in the Cotton Bowl could come out ahead of the Ducks. The snorts have become pats on the broad Aiken shoulder. This season is his twenty-eighth as a coach and his record of 183 games won, 53 lost and 63 tied, can't be anything but admired.

Heads May Roll

So you see this may be the reason for the wagers' madness. The only thing wrong with this figuring is that they forgot to consider a man named Dixie Howell who isn't a beginner either. They've also forgotten an Idaho team that is about three deep in every position. Yes, we're happy to travel Eugene way to hear that gravel voice when it's screaming and to note the falling of gambler's heads as Idaho fails to be beat by twenty points.

Crippled Child Expert Here

Mrs. Verna S. Carlisle, child development consultant for the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and Miss Barbara Peterson, Idaho executive secretary for the organization, were here yesterday to confer with university officials on possible cooperative plans for teacher training programs in the field of handicapped children. They also met with county health personnel and last night were dinner guests of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, whose national organization has been co-operating with the crippled children's society in its cerebral palsy service.

While here the visitors met with Dean J. F. Weltzin, of the school of education, and Dr. Eugene Giles of the psychology department. Mrs. Carlisle is in Idaho to develop state and local treatment and training centers for cerebral palsied children. She formerly was member of the Utah State college faculty and has had special studies in the care and treatment of handicapped children at Merrill Palmer school in Detroit and under direction of Dr. Meyer Perlstein at Michael Reese Nursery school in Chicago.

SEASONAL LABOR

Boise reports the receipt of advance orders for potato and sugar beet workers for work to begin in about two weeks. There was an ample supply of labor for all activities during the past week, except for the usual scarcity of stenographers.

Meet The Vandal Coaching Staff

Big Saturday Rates Idaho High On Pacific Coast

With last week's 79-0 victory over Willamette, Idaho now leads the Pacific Coast conference in both offense and defense. The team picked up 560 yards, 400 from rushing. Washington State College gained 231 yards in the air to lead in passing.

Schireman Leads

Idaho's Al Schireman leads the conference in scoring, having crossed the white stripe three times Saturday for eighteen points. He is closely followed by Glen Christian whose running and place kicking garnered sixteen points. A fullback turned center, Ken Larson, is in a three-way tie for third place with twelve points. Halfback Bud Riley takes second place honors in total offense with a total of 188 yards gained. He is surpassed only by Cougar Bob Gambold with 233 yards. Riley is also 4th in the rushing department.

Oregon Defense

Oregon's forward wall allowed St. Mary's only 35 yards which gives the Ducks top defense honors. California leads in pass defense after allowing Santa Clara to complete only one aerial, that for 20 yards.

Bob Gambold, WSC passing ace, leads in total offense including passing. He connected with 9 of 14 passes for 231 yards plus 3 yards rushing to lead his teammates to a 33-0 victory over Utah State.

Howard Hansen of UCLA holds a 19 yard margin over Oregon's George Bell in rushing while Bill McColl, Stanford end, leads in pass receiving. McColl landed five passes for 62 yards and one touchdown in the Stanford opener against San Jose State.

N.W. Conference Opens Action

Northwest Conference teams opened the season last week with three wins, one tie and a single defeat. That loss, the 79-0 licking given Willamette by Idaho, more or less overshadowed all other news in the conference over the weekend. But meanwhile the conference champs from Caldwell, the College of Idaho Coyotes, took a 31-6 win over Southern Idaho College of Education. Linfield took a 49-0 victory over Eastern Oregon while Lewis and Clark turned back Western Washington 19-0.

Pacific tied Pacific Lutheran 20-20. Whitman, idle last week, meets British Columbia at Vancouver Saturday.

Our friends, Willamette, meet Central Washington in Ellensburg Friday night and Pacific takes on an invading Western Washington squad Saturday night. Southern Oregon plays at Lewis and Clark

Backfield Coach Has Grudge On Vandals

Oregon's backfield coach, Jerry Lillie will undoubtedly be more than pleased at every successful offensive play his Webfoots can throw at the Vandals. He has more of a personal reason to be irritated at the Vandals than any other man in the PCC. It was his boys Idaho gave that 79-0 headache last Saturday.

Lillie, a veteran of seventeen years coaching joined the Oregon staff this summer. Before that he was head coach and athletic director at Willamette university. He held that post since appointment in 1946.

The Ducks have another new coach in Bob McClure, line coach. McClure is an Aiken product. He played tackle and end for the University of Nevada for four seasons and was named on All-American teams three times.

Bob Sullivan will make this his second year at Oregon. He assisted with the line coaching last year and handles the guards and centers. He is another Aiken Nevada product. His rugged play as a collegian earned him the nickname "Cyclone." He was with the Baltimore Colts in 1947.

Freshman Coach, Bill Bowerman, is an Oregon product. He earned letters as a football end and as a quarter-miler at Oregon after which he coached high schools with an outstanding record. He took over the Ducklings in 1948 and his team won three of its five games.

Episcopal Church Gets New Home

The Episcopal church of Moscow was granted the right today to purchase an old residence owned by the University to be remodeled into an Episcopal student center.

"The church bid of $1,055 was $195 less than the highest bid," explained President J. E. Bucharian, "but the board of regents felt the use of the building planned by the church would be of benefit to the university valued at many times the amount of the price differential."

Will Move Building

The building, now located at 631 Deakin avenue, will be moved to Elm street just south of the Episcopal rectory. The church plans to spend $8,000 to $10,000 on remodeling the building as a center for the meetings of the Canterbury club and other student activities. An apartment residence will also be provided for a student caretaker.

Saturday, Linfield will be at home to Humboldt State of California, and College of Idaho will entertain Idaho State in other games.

Pennant Races Near Final Week

With slightly more than one week remaining in the two torrid major league pennant races, it looks like another Yankee-Cardinal world series.

Although the injury-plagued Yanks currently lead Boston by only two games following their 10-9 loss to cellar-dwelling Chicago Wednesday, Manager Casey Stengel's ability to pick the right replacements for such men as Tommy Heinrich and Joe Dimaggio appears to have given the Bombers extended priority on first place. In addition, the schedule favors New York.

Meanwhile, the Cards, led by the perennial "big stick" of Stan Musial, are plugging along toward their world series goal atop a two game lead that grows larger by the day. St. Louis halved a twin bill with the second-running Brooklyn Dodgers Wednesday, winning the afternoon opener 1-0, and dropping the evening session. Boston has the hitters and Brooklyn the pitching, but odds favor New York or St. Louis to have the world's champion baseball team.

Pittsburg doesn't have a first-division club this year, but it has got Ralph Kiner, who is at present only eight home runs away from tying the mark of 60 set by

Saturday Brings Intersectionals

While the University of Idaho Vandals are making their initial 1949 Coast conference appearance against the Oregon Ducks at Eugene tomorrow, three other conference teams will be concerning themselves with intersectional battles.

Howie Odell's not too experienced Huskies will be the underdogs in their Saturday clash with the Minnesota Gophers at Minneapolis. Last year Minnesota bounced the Washingtonians 20-0.

The highly improved Stanford Indians, rated by many as the No. 2 team in West Coast football this season, rule as favorites over Harvard, whom they entertain tomorrow at Palo Alto. The Indians started strong last week by trouncing San Jose State 43-0.

At Los Angeles, the University of Southern California plays host to Navy. It will be the first game for the Trojans, who will be seeking to display the form that enabled them to hold Notre Dame to a 14-4 deadlock in their final 1948 appearance.

Coach Phil Sarboe's Washington

the immortal Babe Ruth. Kiner's current effort to smash the Ruth record is the best since Hank Greenberg poled out 59 round trippers while performing with the Detroit Tigers a few years back.

State Cougars, victors last week over Utah State by a 33-0 count, are given the big edge over Montana in a contest to be played at Pullman.

The University of Utah Redskins were dropped 14-7 in their opener against Washington last Saturday, but are favored slightly over the Beavers from Oregon State, whom they meet at Salt Lake City tomorrow.

Utah Stuff Causes Beavers Trouble

Utah tactics gave the Oregon State varsity a bad time yesterday. Coach Kip Taylor reported as his Beavers got set for their contest with the Utah Redskins in Salt Lake City Saturday night.

The reserves, utilizing Ute plays made substantial gains in both rushing and passing, Taylor reported.

Gene Morrow, sophomore from The Dalles, may relieve Ken Carpenter in passing duties this week. He added that veteran tackle, Jim Harker, will be back in the lineup. He missed the UCLA game because of a bad bruise.

Question: "All through the night I have to get out of bed to bring glasses of water to my thirsty daughter. What do you suggest?"

Answer: "Let her sleep in the bathtub."
