THE GOLDEN FLEECE
By Jason

Last Wednesday night over two hundred students responded to a call from the ASUI publications board for workers. It was indeed a welcome sight for campus editors, who as yet have been fortunate if they have found office space.

Even more satisfying was the fact that the majority of students were interested in more than picking up an extra activity. Many had records of several years service and experience on high school publications. Others were upper-classmen who after dabbling in the pen and ink have decided to seek regular positions on the campus publications.

Something New
A bewildered frosh stopped Jason as he was leaving the Hackett and asked if there was any chance that he could get some kind of a job with the Argonaut. Always interested in new workers, Jason asked the inquiring frosh what experience he had had. "I've worked on the Boise high school paper for three years," was the reply.

This nearly floored Jason who can remember the day when he was considered a near veteran when he started on the Argonaut with one year of previous experience. Reports from all other organizations seeking new members has been the same this fall. Is it possible that the student body is going to take on the "new look" which has been associated with Vandal athletic teams the past few years.

Mossman Appointed
Another new turn of events in Argonaut tradition was set last Tuesday night when the ASUI executive board approved Jason's recommendation of Jack Mossman to the Advertising managership of the paper. Jack, a sophomore this year, was one of the frosh who started ad chasing last fall.

Always on hand to take an assignment which some one else could not get, Jack won rapid favor with the Argonaut business staff. This fall the new ad man lost no time in reporting for work and was always ready to lend a helping hand. It was indeed a pleasure for Jason to add the name of Jack Mossman to the masthead.

Expansion Plans Made By Flyers
The Vandal Flying club has announced plans for expansion and has issued a call for new members to fill a raised membership quota. The club, organized last December to give flying enthusiasts an opportunity to fly at cost and to give instructions to students, now owns a two place J-3 cub, and plans to purchase a new and larger airplane for use in cross-country flying. Planes operate from the Moscow Sky Ranch.

Where? That Is The Question

The loss of the facilities of the Student Union building has caused many a woeful sob from students. They have all been wondering where they are going to be able to hold an all-campus dance and how the special whirl will be maintained this year.

The ASUI Executive Board is expected to take measures to meet the situation. Information reaching this office tells that the Board is going to do an "about-face" on its former policy of restricting the number of major social functions a social group may hold per year and encourage these same groups to hold more functions.

The new policy would lift all restrictions as to the number and kind of social functions a living group will be allowed to hold in any one year. The executive board will encourage living groups and other campus organizations to hold more social functions this year than in past years.

Dean Lattig, director of student affairs, has come up with what will probably be the best solution to our problem of where all-campus dances can be held. Through his effort the Women's gym has been obtained for Friday and Saturday evening dances throughout the year.

Janitorial services will cost the students $10 per evening, and all decorations for any dances will have to be o.k'd by the calendar committee, who will examine the type of decorations desired to assure that decorations will not interfere with any classes in that building.

The faculty club has agreed to lend students the use of its upstairs lounge every other Friday provided there are no conflicts with that club's activities.

Janitorial services here will cost $5.00.

If Executive Board takes this stand and with the aid which Dean Lattig has given to us in obtaining the Women's gym and the Faculty club lounge, there should be no reason for a lag in the social whirl on the Idaho campus.

What Would You Have Done?

Ants in the pants can cause plenty of trouble. But that is little or no excuse for a school teacher to lower her shorts to brush them away—at least to some school board members.

The Polk county, Florida school board has suspended Mrs. Aline Overstreet for supposedly attempting to get to the bottom of her troubles. The board has now deadlocked on the issue of firing her. Justification of lowering her shorts will be decided by the board October 6 when additional testimony will be heard.

Two witnesses said they saw the 44-year-old Haines city school teacher tight as a tick at a fishing camp. Two others have testified they saw Mrs. Overstreet perform a combination strip tease and St. Vitus dance.

But three others have gone to bat in behalf of the school teacher. She was not kicking her heels with a tummy full of fire water and she did have ants in her pants, they said.

Whatever the outcome, let teachers take heed. Apparently educators should not be disturbed with some of nature's little pests. At least don't get caught with your pants down. —J. D.

One Bird In Seven Acres Is Idaho Hunters' Chance

If the 2,800-acre sector of the University of Idaho's experimental forest set aside for ruffed grouse research is typical of the country Idaho hunters will cover when gunning for this bird during the three-day season in early October, each hunter can figure on an average of one bird to every seven acres.

Kenneth E. Hungerford, assistant leader of the wildlife research unit at the university, believes the research area on Moscow mountain is typical of Idaho ruffed grouse country. He reported that there was a good ruffed grouse crop on the research area this year.

The one bird to seven acre figure came from the data secured by a four-man census crew that covered 28 miles of census strips in 2½ days — on foot. In the fourth fall census taken on the university research area Hungerford was assisted by Allan Morton, graduate student in wildlife management, and two seniors in the school of forestry, Leonard Hoskins of Wendell and John Rinafd of Caldwell.

Bird counts prior to the hunting season are but one check of ruffed grouse population being used by the university researchers. They also check drumming males and brooding counts when the birds congregate along stream bottoms in late summer.

Regents Approve Board Lessening

A cut in board from $1.38 a day to $1.35 has been approved by the board of regents, announced President J. E. Buchanan recently. As the university serves about 100,000 meals a month that add up to a reduction of $1,000 a month.

"Of more significance than the amount is the fact that board bills will be down instead of up," commented President Buchanan. "Meals costs are figured on such a close margin slight fluctuations in prices could again alter the board cost—up as well as down.

We hope to be able to operate successfully on the lowered figure during the next school year."

President Buchanan stressed that there would be no lowering of quality or quantity of food served. The current cut was effected primarily through a drop in wood costs, some what offset by an increase in operation costs.

Miners Elect

At a meeting of the Associated Miners held Thursday, Sept. 29, last year's elections were declared invalid. New officers were installed at the meeting of the 29. They are president Don Dahle, vice-president Harold Lynch and Sec.-Treas. G. M. Gharborg.

PLENTY TOMATOES

Planting of tomatoes in the United States for commercial production averages 400,000 acres for canning and about 175,000 acres for marketing fresh. In addition to a large acreage is grown in the non-commercial gardens. The tomato is of tropical American origin and was found growing in the corn fields of the natives when Europeans first reached Mexico. Tomatoes are particularly well constituted to hold their vitamin C value through the scalding and canning process and in storage.

Threat Of Flappers' Return Perturbs Males, Scares Fems

By DONALD HARDY
 As this reporter sat in his inner sanctum looking through the newspaper, the news that Russia had an A-bomb of her own left him unperturbed. Even the fact that the "Ducks" waddled over the Vandals left no undue nervous strain. Then a terrific blow was dealt a delicate nervous system. There in black and white was the horrible news that fashions were returning to the fringed Twenties.

Ten cups of coffee and a pack of cigarettes later your news-hound set out to find the Idaho students reaction to this nauseating news.

QUESTION!
 The question: How do you feel about fashions returning to the Twenties, and what will you do when and if they do?

Phil Leigh, Campus Club: "It's utterly disgusting. If they can't think up something new we might as well run for our lives. What will I do? I'll drop dead."

Ken Tolmie, Kappa Sigma: "Personally, I think they stink, but I've got to get a date Saturday night. If they do return I will get myself a pair of dark glasses and hide."

Don Brudie, Willis Sweet: "I am definitely opposed to them. I don't know just what I would do if they return."

Larry Rappaport, Campus Club: "I prefer my women to look like women, but if they do return I guess we will have to start an 'I hate Women Association!'"

Beverly Powers, Tri Delta: "I don't think they are returning to this campus."

Josephine Pence, Hays Hall: "I think they are terrible. I will keep on wearing the present fashions until the majority of the girls start wearing the Twenty models. Claire Cramer, Delta Gamma: I don't care for them. I don't think they will return for a while. If they do return I guess we will have to get used to them as we did the longer skirts."

Helen Brown, Forney Hall: "I think they are fine for some people. I would go right along with the fashions."

And so it seems that only one thing is certain, come what may, the girls will do as they doggone please.

General Coming

Brig. Gen. Robert A. McClure, commanding general of the northern military division at Vancouver Barracks, will visit the University of Idaho October 10 to observe the Army ROTC unit on this campus.

Board Of Regents To Act On $55,000 Budget For U. Farm

Five construction projects which will provide improved facilities for potato research at the Aberdeen branch station, beef cattle and dairy studies at the Caldwell branch station, sheep and poultry research at the home station at Moscow have been announced by Dr. Glenn C. Holm, research director for the University of Idaho agricultural experiment station, following approval by the university regents. Approximately $55,000 has been budgeted for these agricultural research facilities.

Major item is a new home for the sheep flocks on the university farm. They have been living in emergency quarters for the past three years. Fire destroyed the sheep barn in the fall of 1946. Insurance from the old barn, will provide approximately half the cost of the new one.

New Men House
Also authorized for the university farm is a pumice block laying house.

"Poultrymen throughout Idaho are very much interested in and are asking many questions about this new type of housing," Dr. Holm explains. "While carrying on the customary poultry research, the university poultry department will be able to compare this type of housing with conventional frame laying houses used on most farms."

Fifteen modern cattle feeding pens, patterned along the lines of successful commercial feeding plants, were authorized for the Caldwell branch station. These new pens will replace 23-year-old corrals. Because of "the wide range of feeding trials carried on at Caldwell a mechanical feed mixer will replace the old method."

Cattle Sidewalks
Lodgepole pine posts and poles, treated with pentachlorophenol wood preservative, will be used extensively in the Caldwell station improvements. In doing this, one university division is profiting from the research of another, for it was the school of forestry that pioneered in showing farmers how a simple penta treatment could triple if not quadruple the

Alumni To Gather For Island Rites
More than 25 Idaho alumni will gather from throughout the Hawaiian islands to attend reinterment services for Major William James O'Neill, USMC, an Idaho graduate of 1937.

Major O'Neill was killed at Munda airfield when his airplane was struck with enemy anti-aircraft fire, Jim Lyle, secretary of the University of Idaho alumni association, said yesterday.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Julia M. O'Neill, a former dietitian at Lindley hall. Major O'Neill was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity and prominent in student affairs.

Reburial will be at the national memorial cemetery of the Pacific, Honolulu, T. H., within the next two or three months, after completion of the cemetery.

Lodgepole pine posts and poles, treated with pentachlorophenol wood preservative, will be used extensively in the Caldwell station improvements. Penney's is more strict than a country school "marm" when it comes to quality of fabric. Every suit bearing a Penney label is 100% virgin wool worsted (the long wearing, hard finished kind).

And every suit is cut over our own generously full, exactly sized patterns. Penney suits are comfortable, follow the easy natural lines of a man's figure.

Only an expert can know for sure how solidly built a suit is on the inside. But in every Penney suit those important inside details (interlinings, hand basting and facings) are performed with the greatest skill. You can close your eyes and choose a good Penney suit every time.

Penney's has a big selection of all-new 100% virgin wool worsteds; sharkskins, gabardines and stripes. There's a wide range of sizes and models in this season's smartest colors. # Idaho Invades Southwest First Challenging Texas

The University of Idaho football squad, victorious in one of its two contests played thus far, meets one of the top teams in the nation tomorrow afternoon when it tangles with the undefeated Longhorns from the University of Texas at Austin. This game will mark the first time in history that the Vandals have met a team from the Southwest conference.

Texas' squad boasts 44 men, of which 23 are sophomores. These sophomores will be furnishing one starting end and the reserve strength at five of the seven positions in the line. A sophomore will shine in the backfield also. The Longhorns have managed to score 97 points in two games this season and have held the opposition scoreless.

Vandals Should Score

Coach Dixie Howell of the Vandals believes that his squad will be the first to score on Blair Cherry's outfit this season, but thinks that they'll lose the game.

Like other southwestern teams the Longhorns will feature a strong passing attack built around singers Bobby Coy, Lee, Paul Campbell and Bill Allen. Lee is also an excellent runner, a fine punter and above all has the leadership qualities that appear to fit Cherry's requirements for a top quarterback. The Texas backs will be exceptionally fast as is true of such break-away runners as Billy Pyle and Perry Samuels.

Idaho Fast

The Vandals are expected to give the Longhorns plenty of trouble. Following their loss at the hands of Oregon last weekend 11-0, coach Howell's boys seem to be up for this contest. Idaho fields a great combination of players in the backfield, that are capable of outrunning the secondary back in the clear. The Vandals lack reserve strength in the line, and that could prove to be their downfall.

Many of Oregon's breaks in last week's contest resulted in fumbles and intercepted passes. Had these mistakes not happened, the Pacific coast opener may have been closer. Idaho's lone victory was scored in its opener, when the team rolled over Willamette to the tune of 79-0.

"Idaho is a darn good team" regardless of the Oregon score, said Howell before boarding the special. "We would give that Texas ball club reason to believe they have been in a football game."

The Vandals' traveling squad ends: Lowery Bennett, Ben Jayne, Billy Mullins, George Ballew, Orville Barnes and Rich LeDue.

Tackles: Bill Fray, Evan Richy, Jack Reager, Carl Killisgaard, Will Overgaard, Marvin Behrill and Max Herrington.

Guards: Tom Trees, Morris Rose, Jim Tallant, Steve Douglas, Wilbur Ruleman, Ken McCormack and Roy Colquitt.

Centers: Ken Larsen, Tam Ambrose and Vern Baxter.

Engr. Grads Find Work In Industry

Moss, test engineer, electrootive division of General Motors at La Grange, Ill.; Tom Magnuson, safety inspector, Employers' Mutual Liability at Milwaukee, Wis.; Roland Hughes, Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria, Ill. Four graduates are employed with the General Electric Company at Schenectady, New York. Earl Spencer has a special assignment in the publicity office of the consulting lab; John Angelo, turbine department; Vern Young, writing; and Jack Ellis, test stands.

Harlow Gives The Word

King Block, who's being blocked out, is in Texas by now; so is Wilbur (Percy) Ruleman. The guy who seems to know all about it here had to say goodbye at the station. The forgotten hero is line coach, Gene Harlow. It's his important duty to take a little note-book to certain football games on the coast so Coach Howell can know what to expect in future games.

Time Out

By COSTELLO

Let's hope there's no significance to the number when we're reminded that 1949 marks the thirteenth year our Vandals have called Neale Stadium "home grounds." Idaho initiated the stadium impressively by beating Oregon State seven to six in 1937.

If football before that time wasn't too skillful, it was at least mighty interesting. In the days that a football player had to be quick with his fists, (shut up, wise guy, I don't mean 1949) it became Idaho's first intercollegiate sport.

Aggies Like Rugby

In 1893 the grand-daddies of today's WSC cougars came to Moscow for a spring game. These boys attended an institution then known as Washington Agricultural college. Here they came all rarin' to go for their first game with the University of Idaho. What happened then may justify any feeling of disgust which either of the schools has retained for the other. The two teams ran with challenging shouts onto some vacant lot only to discover that Idaho was prepared to play football while the Aggies had a doggone good looking rugby team.

That same year Idaho suffered its first defeat. The team traveled to Spokane to be licked by the athletic club.

Four years later, in 1897, the Washington Aggies came across the border shouting again, this time ready to play football American style. Again, they went back to Pullman indignantly. They wouldn't play on Idaho's field.

Undefeated Team

1905 was a high spot. The team, under the direction of P. G. Griffith, came through the season undefeated.

A few years later, in 1914, things began to get tricky. Idaho was scouted for the first time when Oregon sent a man over to observe Idaho's strategy against Montana. This was the day McLean field was dedicated.

One of the great games of the Idaho-WSC series came in 1931 at Pullman when Calland coached Idaho. The Vandals hadn't beaten WSC since 1925. Things didn't change then because the Vandals were edged out nine to eight. Idaho still hasn't beaten the cougars since 1925 though they did draw a tie in 1927.

Broadcast

Scabbard And Blade To Choose Delegate

At a brief meeting last night, president Don Haynes announced that a delegate to the national convention of Scabbard and Blade November 3, 4, and 5 will be chosen at a special meeting next Monday at 8:00 p.m. "All of the delegate's expenses will be paid for the three-day convention at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania," added Haynes. Free tickets are provided to the Ohio State-Pitt football game that week end.

Intramurals

The good old game, football, is under full swing for another season. Though the Vandals won't be playing at home this weekend, students at Idaho will have an opportunity to see plenty of gridiron wizardry (?) Intramural football started Tuesday with LDS winning by a forfeit from TMA; PDT nosed out DTD on penetrations; ATO pulled a one touchdown margin of 13-6 over DC, and the KS shotted the WE's 14-6.

Wednesday afternoon also provided good football with the SAE's blanking the PKT's 12-0, BTP over LCA on penetrations; SC won by way of a forfeit from TR, and PGD edged the SN's in a thriller 7-6.

100 Idaho Alum's On Hand To See Clash At Austin

Ted W. Turner, '26 and former dean of men at Idaho, will be one of some 100 Idaho alumni now residing in Texas who will see the Vandal football team in action against the University of Texas tomorrow afternoon.

A call for University of Idaho alumni to assemble for a reunion in Austin October 1 was sounded by Mr. Turner last week. The reunion is being staged in connection with the ball game. Plans are for a pre-game get-together and a banquet at the Driskill Hotel, reunion headquarters, after the game. An association information booth has been installed in the lobby of the hotel.

According to a letter received by Jim Lyle, secretary of the University of Idaho alumni association, from Mr. Turner, assistance is being given in securing tickets for the game, transportation to the gridiron, hotel reservations, and any further aid to Idaho Vandal fans.

The governor of Texas and the mayor of Austin have been invited to attend the banquet, Turner revealed.

Larsen has stolen three for 78 yards to trail Lewis of Oregon who has 4 interceptions for 54 yards. Bud Riley, swift right half for Idaho, is in ninth position on the coast for total offense with 169 yards net. Al Schireman, Vandal fullback, dropped into a six-way
